Better Work Division Unemployment Key

HAMILTON, Sept. 22 (C.P.).—A more equitable distribution of available work and the co-operation of governments is necessary if the problem of unemployment is to be overcome, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen maintains. Addressing delegates to the Great Lakes Harbor Association convention at a banquet here last night, Mr. Meighen declared the machine was largely responsible for present-day labor conditions and that doctrines that sufficed in days gone by could not now be applied.

There is a real physical necessity to make the races happy in abundance—more so now than at any time in the history of mankind, the speaker said. The great need is for work for the human family. Machine has taken the place of man. The available work must be distributed which means fewer hours per day and fewer days per week.

Obituary

RICHARD GEORGE NURSE.

The death occurred on Saturday afternoon of Richard George Nurse, well-known Ennismore farmer, in his 78th year. He had lived all his life in this district. For the past four years he had been in poor health.

He was predeceased by his wife and eldest son, Wilbert. Surviving are three sons, Harold, Clayton and Elmer, and two brothers, William and Robert, of Fowler's Corners, and four sisters, Mrs. James Franks of Moose Jaw, Mrs. N. Franks of Peterborough, Mrs. George Nurse of Bridgenorth and Mrs. James Reid of Smith.

The funeral was held Monday, Rev. Mr. Werr, of Omemee, conducting the service. Pall-bearers were the deceased's three sons and three nephews. The service was largely attended.

Exports of passenger automobiles from Great Britain in the first six months of this year totalled 13,900, compared with 9,246 in the first half of 1931.

U. S. Awaits Keenly Interested on Stand League Will Take.

CRITICAL TEST.

GENEVA, Sept. 22. (AP). Consideration of the report of the league commission of inquiry on Japanese military operations in Manchuria, the dominating problem to come before the council of the League when it meets here to-morrow, probably will be posponed until next December, it was indicated today.

The council's session, which began three days before the opening of the 13th regular session of the league assembly, will be presided over by Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish Free State and native of New York. The council will continue with occasional sittings during the assembly sessions and after its adjournment.

Two Questions

The immediate questions which the Lytton report, forecast as unfavorable to Japan, will raise are:

1. The problem of whether the council or the assembly will proceed to employ the concerted international action described in the League covenant for enforcing the League's will.

2. Whether Japan will withdraw from the League if the League takes a firm position against her military police in Manchuria.

The United States government is keenly interested in the way the League will meet his critical test, which has been postponed many times during the past year. The position taken by Henry L. Stimson, United States secretary of state in criticizing the Japanese policy in Manchuria is considered in international circles here as being in advance of the League's pregent policy, but designed to encourage the League powers to take a bolder stand.

SPAIN EXILES REBEL LEADERS

Marquises, Dukes, Army Officers Off For Fever Ridden Africa.

MAY NEVER RETURN.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—(A.P.)— The soul of the old Spanish aristocracy, a forlorn group of marquises, dukes and high army officers whose ancestors commanded flotillas when Spain's power was mighty on the seas, was bound for exile in fever-ridden Africa to-day, in the rusty bunks of a prison ship.

Rounded up by the new Republican government following the recent Monarchist uprising under General Joe Sanjuro, the aristocratic group set sail last night in the Espana V, while on the dock, in the moonlight, weeping wives and sisters, sons and brothers waved sorrowfully, knowing many of the deportees never will return.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 16

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service, Inc.)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan of the Apes, dangling helplessly and facing death in the shape of the advancing saber-tooth tiger, heard the jungle silence disturbed by the sudden sound. The great cat heard it also, for it stopped in its tracks and gazed up into the foliage. And then Tarzan heard a rustling in the branches directly overhead. Looking up, he saw what appeared to be a gorilla glaring down upon him. Two more savage faces showed through the foliage, and then in other trees he thought he saw similar shaggy forms and fierce faces.

The figures Tarzan saw were like gorillas and yet unlike any such creature he had known upon the outer earth. He caught glimpses of great clubs wielded by hairy hands. He saw the huge saber-tooth tiger had hesitated in its advances and was snarling and growling angrily as it watched the savage beings glaring down at its intended prey. But only for a moment did the cat pause. Still snarling as though in angry defiance, it moved forward again. Then several things occurred at the same time.

As the beast was within a foot of the ape-man, one of the creatures in the tree above reached down, and, seizing the rope that held Tarzan dangling in mid-air, drew him swiftly upward. The saber-tooth leaped to capture his prey, and a dozen heavy cudgels hurtled through the air from the surrounding trees, striking the great cat heavily upon its head and body. Thes deflected the cruel talons of the animal just in the nick of time An instant later Tarzan was drawn well up among the tree branches, where he was immediately seized by three hairy brutes.

As Tarzan saw the menacing attitudes of his ugly captors he almost wished he had been left to the tender mercies of the saber-tooth. He felt he was no safer. For, one on either side of him, the gorilla-like creatures seized him by an arm. A third grasped him by the throat with one hand while he held his cudgel poised above his head with the other. And then from the lips of the creature facing him came a sound. It startled the ape-man's ears, as had the first unexpected roar of the saber-tooth, but with far different effect.

RASPBERRIES IN SEPTEMBER.
Raspberries, big, juicy, luscious juicy ones are still growing in the garden of George Morency, 106 Gladstone avenue, although the proper season for such fruits is long past. A shoot heavily laden with the berries was left at The Examiner office by Mr. Morency, providing undeniable evidence that they are of normal size and flavor.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will reside in Peterborough.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN HENRY FRANCIS
The death occurred on Wednesday evening of Esther Ellen Denyer, the beloved wife of John Henry Francis of 413 Sheridan street, following a brief illness. She was 56 years of age.
Mrs. Francis, who was a native of England, had resided in this city for the past eighteen years, prior to which she resided in Lakefield for some time. Besides her husband, she is survived by four daughters, Mrs. James Carr and Mrs. Arthur Lomax of Toronto, and Mrs. A. Pond and Miss Winnifred at home; also three sons, William, Ernest, and George at home; and two, sisters, Mrs. J. Cross and Mrs. W. Pallant, both of this city, and a brother in England.
The funeral is to be held on Saturday from the family residence at 2 p.m. Services will be conducted by Archdeacon Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

3 SCHOONERS FEARED LOST

RECENT HEAVY GALES.

HALIFAX, Sept. 22. (CP)—Fears for the safety of three schooners, believed unreported since recent heavy gales, were felt in Nova Scotia to-day.
Discovery near Drum Head, Guysboro county, of a yellow-pointed side and stern of a dory bearing the name of L. A. Dunton aroused some worry concerning the Gloucester fishing schooner of the same name. The Gloucesterman carries a crew of about 24. Douglas Manthorne found the dory wreckage following last weekend's gale, while he was cruising around Goose Island, near the village of Drum Head. As no other wreckage could be found in the vicinity, it was believed the discovery need not necessarily have ominous significance, but a search was continuing around other small islands.
At North Sydney, N.S., fears were felt for the Newfoundland schooner Maude Thornhill, and the small schooner Bebbe, with Captain Bart Dunphy and a crew of three. The Maude Thornhill, Captain Kearley, has been unreported since leaving Port Aux Basques, Nfld., a week ago, and the Bebbe has been missing since it was blown off the coast by last Saturday's gale.

QUEER MALADY FATAL TO LAD

Victim Develops Temperature of 105, Goes Unconscious —Fails to Rally.

DOCTORS BAFFLED.

CANTON, O., Sept. 22.—A strange malady to-day caused the death of 11-year-old William M. Johns. His two sisters and a brother are in a critical condition.
After an autopsy and examination of his vital organs by six physicians and Coroner T. C. McQuate, they said nothing was discovered to reveal the cause of death. Further examinations will be conducted.
The boy was stricken several days ago his temperature mounted to 105 degrees and he became unconscious. A short time later other members of his family became ill and developed high temperatures. They, too, lost consciousness.
All except William recovered consciousness early to-day, but remained in a critical state.
Examination of the fluid in the boy's spinal column indicated, Coroner McQuate said, the child was not a victim of infantile paralysis.

Hon. Cairine Wilson Appeals Income Tax

TORONTO, Sept. 22. — (CP) — Hon. Cairine Wilson, Canada's first woman senator, appealed to the appellate court here today from the judgment of Mr. Justice W. A. Logie who dismissed her action against the city of Ottawa in which she claimed to have been wrongfully assessed for income taxes in 1930 on her 1929 income.
Counsel who appeared for the senator argued the trial judge should have found the action of assessment commission of Ottawa in assessing the senator for income was contrary to the provisions of the assessment act and ultra vires.

Raid Upon Party Costs Victim $100

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 22.—Leonard Cook, 29, Hamilton, was fined $100 and costs, or three months in Police Court to-day for a breach of the Liquor Act. He was charged with illegal possession of beer following a raid on a party at the home of Jack Williams, a former Hamilton man. Williams was fined $25 and costs for permitting drunkenness, while Neil Williams, 35, also of Hamilton, paid $10 for disorderly conduct. Neil Williams received hospital treatment for head injuries received during a fight which resulted in the police raid.

SEEKING TO DISCOVER HOW PARALYSIS SPREADS

BYRN MAWR, Pa., Sept. 22. — Experiments are being made at Bryn Mawr hospital to discover how infantile paralysis is spread.
The experiments, conducted in an especially equipped laboratory in an isolated building on the hospital grounds, were studied and directed by two physicians from the Yale medical school, described by aides as well-known authorities on children's diseases but whose identity was not revealed.
Monkeys were used as subjects in the laboratory tests.

INJURED IN CRASH.
TORONTO, Sept. 22.— (C.P.)— Malcolm Heron, 25, was seriously injured in an automobile accident early to-day, and police are now trying to find out just what happened. Heron was found sitting on a dairy doorstep, with one arm so badly mangled it was later amputated. The car in which Heron had been riding was found by police hours later, and had obviously been in an accident. The young man was unable, however, to explain what had led to his injuries.

Will Open Jails To Save Expense

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 22.—Several hundred prisoners in the State Penitentiary soon will be freed—to save money and because Louisiana thinks they are not very bad boys.
Governor O. K. Allen's secretary said yesterday many short termers would be liberated when the Governor could act on recommendations of the general manager of the prison. A list of prisoners doing time for minor offences is being prepared for the Governor.
The Penitentiary general manager said the prison population had doubled in four years.

INCREASED CARE FOR TUBERCULOUS

More Than 8,000 Beds Available in Various Hospitals in Canada.

OTTAWA, September 22 (C.P.). —Statistics compiled by the Canadian Tuberculosis Association show that 8,068 beds for the care of tuberculous patients are available in the various sanitoria and hospitals in the Dominion, or an average of 77.8 beds per 100,000 populations. It is estimated that 17,200 patients are cared for each year.
The relationship of the beds available in Canada, by provinces, has been worked out by using the new census of 1931 and the deaths as they occurred and are reported for that year.
The ratio of beds per death is found to be much the highest in the Province of Saskatchewan. The Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League, after two or three years' experience operating the Provincial care of the tuberculous, financed by the pool of municipal and government funds, and furnishing free treatment to every citizen regardless of financial status has established the number of institutional beds necessary.

CITY FATHERS CHECK SLUMP

CUT RATE 5 MILLS.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Sept. 22. — The tale of this city was written in red ink until city fathers started paying bills with cash and collecting taxes on the installment plan.
It was necessary in 1929, when hard times started riding down main street, to borrow $24,000 to run the government. An economy program was ordered and next year only $10.000 was borrowed. Last year Bainbridge got $4,000 in a loan and this year no money was borrowed.
But working on the theory everything should be reduced, the city fathers cut the tax rate five mills and then fixed the budget within the income and held it there.
Tax payers were unable to pay promptly so an installment plan was started and citizens now can pay their taxes a little at a time. hopes of the club that once sold him

IN MEMORIAM
CHATTEN.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. John Chatten, who was killed Sept. 22, 1927.
Five lonely years have passed, dear Mother,
Since the angels came for you.
Yet through the mist of these long year,
Your face comes smiling through.
Each lonely hour that I have spent
Is woven through and through,
With golden threads of memory
Dear Mother, just for you.
—Ever remembered by her daughter, Mrs. E. York.

ROBERTSON NOT GUILTY

BRANTFORD, Sept. 23. — The jury at the Brant County Fall Assizes last night brought in a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity, ending the trial of R. Bruce Robertson, Burford Township farmer, charged with the murder of his wife. The jury deliberated twenty minutes.

NEW ALTITUDE MARK

LONDON—The new world's airplane altitude record established last week at Bristol by Captain Cyril Wins, British flier, was confirmed by the Royal Aero Club today. The official figures gave the altitude reached by Capt. Wins as 43,976 feet.

INVASION OF ANTS

GUELPH—An epidemic of flying ants seems to have struck this district and motorists entering the city have found their windshields literally plastered with the tiny creatures. The ants bite, too, according to authorities who have been bitten.

OPENS NEW SCHOOL

TORONTO—With a five-inch 10-karat gold key, J. W. Russell, chairman of the Board of Education today formally opened the High Park Forest School here.

TAKES OWN LIFE.

HAMILTON, Ont. — Cecil Heron, Fergus, Ont., committed suicide in a hospital here to-day. He slashed his throat with a razor. Police are investigating. Heron had been admitted to hospital for treatment yesterday.

SOMERSET DEFEATED 13-8.

LONDON, Sept. 22.— (Canadian Press Cable.)— Yorkshire defeated Somerset by 13 to 8 in a county match of the Rugby Union to-day.

DROWNS IN BARREL.

BELLEVILLE.— Colin Chisholm, Sidney township farmer, fell into a small barrel on his farm to-day and was dead when his wife found him.

HUNT MISSING GIRL.

PORT CREDIT, Ont. — Police to-day started an extensive search for Gertrude Noble, 20, who disappeared from home yesterday after leaving a note to the effect that her body would never be found.

GANDHI'S DEATH FAST NEAR END

Indian Leaders Expected to Have Agreement Settled To-day.

FOODLESS 70 HOURS.

POONA, India, Sept. 23 (A.P.)— Mahatma Gandhi's death fast may be ended to-day.

Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, one of his former lieutenants who has been active in the conference of Indian leaders to reach a compromise during the last two days, visited the Mahatma early this morning, and said afterward he hoped an agreement would be reached before the day is over which would enable Gandhi to partake of food again.

The compromise plan of Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, famous before for his arbitrations of Indian troubles with the Government, was the one which, it was understood, was partially accepted. It calls for joint electorates for the higher caste Hindus and the Untouchables, with safeguards for the latter. The part on which agreement has been reached concerns primary and final elections for Untouchable representatives in the Legislatures.

70 Hours' Fasting

Gandhi's face was drawn and his eyes sunken after more than seventy hours of fasting, but he still had energy enough to dictate many letters and to see a large number of visitors. Physicians warned him to talk as little as possible, however, in order to save his vocal chords for the strain of the conferences.

Several leaders of the depressed classes saw him and gave him full freedom to make the best possible arrangements in their behalf with Dr. Ambedkar, who is holding out for certain alternative safeguards for his followers.

Gandhi issued an appeal to the people of India to refrain from fasting with him, and insisting that instead of this they set about doing all in their power to remove the stigma of untouchability.

LIFE IN ARCTIC GRIM STRUGGLE FOR EXPLORER

Edmontonian Lies in Hospital After Cutting Off 3 of His Frozen Toes.

SCHOONER WRECKED.

Live Six Months Never Out of Sight of Wolves—Only One Dog Survives.

EDMONTON, Sept. 23. (CP)— Tale of a heroic battle for life in the bleak wastes of the far Arctic is told in a story copyrighted by the Edmonton Journal for the exploration journey of Noel Verville, 32-year-old Edmontonian, who now lies in an Edmonton hospital.

With Sandy Austin, 21, Scottish trapper who accompanied him on his journey, and who now awaits his return to the north, Verville set out from Baillie Island, lonely Arctic post, on July 13, 1931.

Lose Their Schooner

He was determined to check reports of federal authorities that no Eskimos lived on Melville Island. Up around the east shore of Banks Land their schooner was wrecked and with only 380 rounds of ammunition, 60 pounds of food and seven gallons of coal oil the men set out with dog teams to explore.

They found five uncharted and unknown islands on their way and crossed to Melville Land where they found well marked tracks of many Eskimo, proving their theory. They found also three bands of musk-ox and for six months were never out of sight of wolves.

Returning, they struck broken ice and ran completely out of food and water. For three days their only water was icicles broken from their beards and their only food one sea lion skin. Returning around Bank's Land they were caught by the Arctic night and made 150 miles in almost total darkness to reach Eskimo encampments at Storkerson Bay. From there, they set out to reach the mainland, but were caught by drifting ice and carried out to sea.

For seven days they struggled desperately on the ice pack that was carrying them slowly out from shore and finally, exhausted and foodless, reached Bank's Land again.

Kill Dogs for Food

He struggled 150 miles on frozen feet to Storkerson Bay, where he amputated three toes by the light of a blubber lamp, with an Eskimo's razor. Only one of their 18 dogs survived the ordeal of the trip. When Spring came, they were taken

Something Wrong

NEW HAMBURG, Ont., Sept. 23. There's something wrong with this world, declares a New Hamburg farmer who shipped one sheep to Toronto by truck. The sheep brought $1.20, or one cent per pound. Truckage cost 75 cents and insurance another 15 cents. That brought him a cheque for 30 cents. By adding another nckel, he paid his way into the Fall Fair.

MINE MANAGER RESIGNS, MEN NOT STARVING

Two Weeks' Supplies Are Sent Into the LeRoy Gold Miners.

HELD AS HOSTAGE.

Thirty Polish Miners Are Demanding $7,000 in Back Pay.

AMOS, Que., September 23 (C.P.). — Arthur Melkman, 24-year-old mining man, to-day annouced his resignation as manager of the Le Roy Gold Mine, where 30 miners have taken possession of the property on the Hurricanaw Creek, 80 miles from here, while they await payment of $7000 in back pay. Melkman, son of the president of the Le Roy Gold Mines Company, explained that he is practically in the same position as the men.

Melkman said the 30 Polish miners at the workings are in no immediate danger of starvation, as he has sent two weeks' supplies in to the distressed party. The manager announced his intention of doing all within his power to help the men to secure their back wages, and he will co-operate with the miners to this end.

Last week the disgruntled miners held young Melkman hostage for several days after the mine had been closed down and the workings flooded. The president of the company, according to reports from Montreal, has gone to New York in an attempt to raise funds.

$40,000 STORE FIRE.

BELLEVILLE.—Damage estimated at $40,000 was caused to-day when fire broke out in the John Shaw clothing store here. The building was badly gutted and the stock a complete loss. It was partly covered by insurance. The fire started from sparks from a bonfire, it is believed.

HUNTRESS WOUNDS HER HUSBAND SLAYS GIRL, THEN ENDS OWN LIFE

Woman Opens Tragedy By Shooting Spouse as He Enters Bedroom.

MOTIVE UNKNOWN.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., September 23 (C.P.). — Mrs. Irene Etter, 36, daughter of a retired Norristown, Pa., financier and known as a huntress and markswoman, shot and critically wounded her husband and then committed suicide to-day.

The husband, Earl Etter, 43, a travelling steel construction superintendent for the Bowman Steel Company, at Pottstown, Pa., was wounded twice as he entered the bedroom of his apartment in the Roxborough suburban section of the city.

Flees to Parents' Home.

His wife left him lying on the floor and ran, clad only in pyjamas, to the nearby home of her parents, where her companion, Miss Gwendolyn Shinn, 26, a department store sales girl, had stopped in to pay a visit.

Chasing the young woman to the rear yard, police said, she shot her twice and then fired the last bullet remaining in her pistol into her own brain.

Mrs. Etter died instantly. Miss Shinn died about four hours later in a hospital.

Lawyer Passes Away Following Accident

WINDSOR, Ont., September 23 (C.P.).—Stephen H. Smith, of Amherstburg, prominent in district legal circles, died to-day in Harper Hospital, Detroit.

Mr. Smith was injured in an auto accident last July in Ojibway. He lay at the point of death in Grace Hospital here for some time, rallied, and went home, suffered a relapse from which he recovered, and this week was taken again to hospital for an operation from which he failed to rally.

Just last Saturday suit was filed in Ontario Supreme Court by Mr. Smith, seeking $30,000 damages from the town of Ojibway in connection with the accident.

GENERAL ELECTRIC DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. —(CP)— The General Electric Co. today declared a regular quarterly dividend of 10 cents a share on the common stock.

The usual quarterly payment of 15 cents a share on the special stock was also voted. Both dividends are payable Oct. 25 to stock of record Sept. 30.

MAN AWAITED DEPORTATION SINCE JAN. 25

Grand Jury Discovered Man in Essex County Jail.

REPORT TO JUDGE.

Man is Said to be in Morbid and Depressed Condition.

WINDSOR, Sept. 23.—A prisoner has been confined in the Essex County jail awaiting deportation so long that he has become morbid and depressed, the grand jury of the fall assizes alleged in its presentment yesterday.

Report To Judge.

"It is in the best interests of this man's health and mind and to the financial interest of the county that we bring this case to your attention," they said in their report to Mr. Justice Logie.

Receiving the presentment, His Lordship remarked that if any justification was needed for their inspection of the jail, their discovery of the plight of the prisoner furnished it.

In Jail Since January

"On January 25, 1932, Coletti was deported by the United States to Canada and was on that date taken into custody by Canadian immigration officials, who placed him in the county jail to await disposition of his case.

"Coletti advised this jury," the presentment continues, "that he has signed the necessary papers for his deportation to Italy, and it is the opinion of this jury that the eight months which have elapsed since he was taken into custody, should be sufficient time to arrange this man's deportation."

LIBERALS HOLD CARDIGAN SEAT

TORIES GAIN WIDELY.

CARDIGAN, Wales, Sept. 23. (C.P. Cable).—By a greatly decreased majority the Liberal party retained the Cardigan seat in the House of Commons when D. Owen Evans, Liberal, won a by-election that had been watched keenly from all parts of the country.

Details of the polling revealed today show the votes recorded as follows:

D. Owen Evans, Liberal, 13,437.

Rev. D. M. Jones, Labor, 5,295.

In the voting in the last general elections, 1931, R. H. Morris, Liberal polled 20,115, to give him a majority of 13,738 over his Labor opponent, J. L. Jones, who polled 6,361.

Caused by the appointment of the sitting member, Mr. Morris, as a magistrate in a London police court, the by-election was the occasion of an interesting campaign which saw one of the Liberal ministers and David Lloyd George working to assure the Liberal victory. Trade agreements entered into between the United Kingdom and the Dominions, at Ottawa, figured importantly in the campaign speeches. Liberal speakers decrying the agreements as being of a partisan nature and not for the national good.

Liberal Seat Many Years

The seat has been safely Liberal for many years but in comparison with the general election the figures revealed the Conservative poll was almost entirely at the expense of the Liberal candidate, who failed to gain a clear majority. The total voting was about the same as in 1929 when 24,474 ballots were cast, yesterday's total being 27 598. This was the 16th by-election of the present parliament, two of which government lost to Opposition Labor, he remainder of the by-election left the party standing unchanged.

Two dogs were fighting in the yard of his home. To separate them he shoved the butt of a rifle between the animals. One of the dogs clawed the trigger.

AMALGAMATION OF 2 DIOCESES BEING PLANNED

Anglican Officials Would Unite Yukon and Mackenzie River.

UNDER DR. W. GEDDES.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 23. (CP)—Proposals which would reduce the number of Church of England dioceses in Canada from 26 to 25 today await a reply from Right Reverend A. H. Sovereign, Bishop of Yukon, to an invitation extended him last night, to become the Bishop of Athabaska.

Bishops and church dignitaries of the standing committee on the election of a bishop last night proposed to amalgamate the dioceses of the Yukon and Mackenzie River under the administration of Dr. W. A. Geddes, at present Bishop of Mackenzie River. But no final decision will be made to-day until the committee hear from Bishop Sovereign, now believed to be at Accepts Nomination.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 23 (CP.) —Bishop A. H. Sovereign of the Yukon to-day accepted nomination as Bishop of Athabasca in place of Bishop Renison, of Toronto, according to an announcement made at a combined meeting of Archdiocesan and lay delegates to the Anglican house of representatives in session here to-day. The Yukon and Mackenzie Dioceses will be jointly administered by Bishop Geddes of Mackenzie River.

Delegates continued discussion of the clergy, widows' and orphans' funds and the superannuation fund, depleted during the chancellorship of John A. Machray, K.C., who was sentenced yesterday for theft of University of Manitoba endowment funds and from a former partner. The missing Anglican funds totalled $119,000.

The missionary society already has undertaken the missionary work of the Archdiocese where endowment losses amounted to $275,000, and the meeting to-day is considering the problem of raising the balance of funds amunting to $585,000.

COLOMBIA GETS TROOPS READY

Planes Assembled and 2,000 Men Concentrate at Border.

WILL ATTACK PERU.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 23 (C.P.) —Reports from Manoas, in Western Brazil, to-day said Colombia was mobilizing troops and airplanes in the Putumayo district, near Leticia, over which there recently has been a clamor for war with Peru.

Six airplanes have been sent to La Chorrena, on the Botumayo River, the despatch said and the Colombian garrisons at Popayan, San Miguel and Puerto Assis were proceeding toward the lower Putumayo and probably would concentrate at La Chorrena, from where they would embark for Leticia.

It added that 2,000 Colombians would soon pass through Brazilian territory to retake Leticia, which was seized by Peruvian civilians recently. Leticia is a Colombian river port.

Large defence funds have been authorized in both Colombia and Peru this week and in the capitals of both the people have clamored for war. Large sums have been pledged to the Colombian cause by private individuals and organizations to swell the "war chest."

DARK SITUATION DEMANDS HELP OF EVERY MAN

EXCITEMENT HIGH.

LONDON, Sept. 23. — (C. P. Cable)—A strong plea directed at the Liberal ministers of the National Government not to cause a cabinet split over the differences of views concerning the agreements made at Ottawa, was made by J. H. Thomas in an address at a luncheon today in honor of W. Downie Stewart, New Zealand finance minister.

Mr. Thomas' appeal came on the eve of an important meeting of the National cabinet at which it was expected legislation necessitated by the Ottawa agreements would be discussed and the position of Free Trade Liberal ministers concerning the further preferences for Dominion goods would be clarified.

"I do not intend to apologize for the Ottawa agreements," said Mr. Thomas.

"Grave as was the position twelve months ago it is no less grave today. If it was necessary to subordinate personal interests then, it is no less necessary now. And above all there is less justification for a split at the present time which would involve Empire policy."

An optimistic view of the future was taken by Mr. Stewart who referred to the improvement in the trade position. He believed and hoped that the deficit of 8,000,000 in the national finances estimated would be considerably less and said if the present trend of economic conditions continued New Zealand would weather the storm.

LONDON, September 23 (C.P.).— Excitement ran high in political circles to-day because of the belief that Liberal ministers will resign when the MacDonald Cabinet meets on September 28 to consider the tariff agreements of the Ottawa Imperial Conference.

Appeals will be made to the proponents of free trade to remain in the Government despite their antagonism toward the Ottawa measures.

The flurry centres around Sir Herbert Samuel, the Home Secretary. (Sir Herbert informed the executive of the Liberal Party this week that Liberal ministers had agreed on the action they will take on Sept. 28. He did not say what this action would be.)

Awkward Situation.

If Sir Samuel leads the Liberals out of the National Government an awkward situation will face Prime Minister MacDonald. It is the general political opinion, however, that if Sir Herbert resigns over fiscal policies he will not become actively opposed to the Government, but will continue to support general policies of the national regime.

Liberal free traders in the Cabinet are Sir Herbert, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, Secretary for Scotland. Two other Liberal members of the Cabinet, Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, and Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, are more or less reconciled to tariffs.

Burglar Is Given 6 Years In Prison

HAMILTON, Sept. 23 (C.P.)—Six years in Portsmouth Penitentiary was the sentence given to William Routley, alias James Brown, when he appeared in police court yesterday on charges of burglary, housebreaking and theft, and attempted housebreaking. The sentences are to run consecutively.

"You are a dangerous man, and Hamilton is well rid of you," said Magistrate H. A. Burbidge in sentencing Routley. The latter was arrested last week outside an Arkledun Avenue house. Nearby a skeleton key was found. Police searched his rooms and found a large quantity of goods which they claimed had been stolen.

Brown's penitentiary term consisted of three years for burglary; one year on another burglary count; a year for housebreaking and theft, and a year for attemped housebreaking.

King Proud to Run Long as Wanted

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 (C.P.).— So long as the Liberals of Prince Albert continue to desire him as their candidate and the electors to approve the choice, he will be proud to represent that constituency in Parliament, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, stated to-day.

POWER TO STIR EMOTIONS TEST OF REAL POETRY

J. O. Herity of Belleville Addresses Local Kiwanis Club.

MOULDS HUMANITY.

Poetry Satisfies Man's Spiritual Side Speaker Declares.

In a brilliant and entertaining after-dinner address to the Kiwanis Club at the Empress Hotel to-day, J. O. Herrity of Belleville defined poetry as "the language of the imagination."

The great test of real poetry, he thought, was that it had the power to stir the emotions and kindle the imagination, and most certainly that must have been the very effect which the speaker had upon his audience, judging by the close attention with which he was followed throughout.

Mr. Herrity based his address on the life of James Whitcomb Riley, who he said has been referred to as "the poet of the common people," and he quoted many of that poet's most popular works, chief among them being "The Old Man and Jim" and "The Happy Cripple."

It has often been said that the world reads poetry no more; that this is the day of prose, Mr. Herrity observed, but he thought that all such assumptions were miles from the truth and betrayed a shallowness of judgment on the part of people who made such statements.

Poetry, he contended, still exercised a great part in the moulding of humanity. It was a force that had wielded much more influence for good in the world than even science. Poetry satisfied man's spiritual side and appealed to his religious instincts.

James Whitcomb Riley, Mr. Herrity recalled, was born on October 7, 1849, at Greenfield, Indianapolis, now a county town, at that time a straggling village. His parents were poor but honest, his father being the village lawyer. At the age of fifteen years, James Whitcomb Riley turned his back on school and became an amateur musician.

He had a strong penchant for sketching and for poetry in particular, and after touring the country with a group of medicine vendors, during which time it was part of his duty to recite poems of his own compecsition, he won recognition as a contributor to the Indianapolis Journal. He later appeared on the public platform along with Mark Twain and other celebrities.

GUARDS CONVOY MEN TO MINES

Tear Gas and Smoke Bombs Hurled to Clear Streets of Pickets.

ALL ROADS PATROLLED.

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Sept. 23 —Tear gas and smoke bombs of the Militia burst in the streets of Langleyville to-day, clearing the way for union miners to go to work through pickets of a new Miners' Union, who refuse to abide by the new $5 wage scale.

Through a jeering, jibing crowd the National Guardsmen pushed their way. Machine guns looked menacingly down the street from each end of the village. In platoons of six, bayonets fixed, the Guards marched into town, tossing gas bombs ahead to clear the way. The pickets converged in small groups overnight from nearby towns.

Many residents joined them in the streets. As dawn came, the soldiers marched in, warning that there would be no loitering or picketing. Roads into Langleyville from every direction were patrolled by the Guardsmen to make the way safe for the 200 miners to go back to the mine.

COMPLETE ALIBI IN LIQUOR CASE IS GIVEN COURT

Mrs. Russel Hill and Group of Defense Witnesses Heard.

DENY SELLING LIQUOR.

Two Mounties Repeat Same Evidence Given in Former Case.

Seldom has a more perfect alibi been presented in local police court than that outlined yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Mae Hill, her husband, Russell, and a group of other 9th Line Dummer witnesses in the trial of Mrs. Hill on a charge of selling illicitly distilled liquor.

Although two Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers swore positively that on the night of August 20 they visited the Hill farmhouse and purchased a quart of moonshine, paying Mrs. Hill two dollars for it, the Hill witnesses testified that such a transaction had never taken place and Mrs. Hill and her husband were away visiting a neighbor on the night of the twentieth.

Give Same Evidence.

The "Mounties" gave the same evidence that convicted Russell Hill two weeks ago on a charge of having illicitly distilled spirits in his possession. They stated that on the night of August 20, in company with David Lee, 9th Line Dummer resident, they went to Hill's house and purchased the liquor. Russell Hill gave them the liquor after making a visit outside, and his wife took the money in payment, she having first fixed the price, they said.

Taking the stand as a defence witness, David Lee swore that he never accompanied the officers to Hill's house and had never seen them until they served him with a subpeonea some days after August 20. His wife also testified that the two "Mounties" had never been to her house and that her husband had not been out with them.

Russell Hill and his wife, the accused testified that on the night of August 20 they had left their home shortly after supper and spent the whole evening with William Little, who was ill at his wood camp. "We took him a chicken because he was sick" they said.

Little Testifies.

William Little testified that the Hills had both been at his camp on the night of the twentieth, and Hector Parks, hired man at the Hill farm, also swore that he remembered perfectly that Mr. and Mrs. Hill had been away visiting Little

SECOND MAN SOUGHT.

CHATHAM, Ont., September 23 (C.P.), — Charged with robbing several shops in the eastern part of Kent and Lambton Counties, Gordon Vansickle, of Zone Township, was arraigned in Police Court to-day and remanded. Police are searching for Ernest Bean, of Tottenham, alleged to have aided Vansickle in the thefts. Both men escaped from Mimico Reformatory on August 21.

Vansickle was arrested yesterday at his home. Police state he and Bean are the two men who have been living in a bush near Moraviantown and raiding various stores in the vicinity. Surprised in their hideout by an Indian, the men, police allege, decided to part.

Complaint of the robbery of eight shops in Thamesville prompted Provincial Constable A. R. Peters to search Vansickle's home. He was found under a bed.

GLACE BAY MINERS PLAN STRIKE IF NEW SALARY CUTS ARE LEVIED

Amalgamated Workers Will Open Negotiations to Get Former Scale.

HOLD FIRST CONVENTION.

GLACE BAY, N. S., Sept. 23.—(C P)—If the DominionSteel and Coal corporation proposes another wage reduction the Amalgamated Mine Workers immediately will start a campaign for a general strike.

This was decided at the first convention of the New Miners' Union, which is in opposition to the United Mine Workers of Nova Scotia and enlisting their members.

The Amalgamater Mine Workers also resolved that at the close of the convention, its executive officers should enter into negotiations with the corporation with a view to having restored the wage-scale that prevailed previous to the recent reduction.

The new union will oppose any effort to place into effect the realocation scheme recommended in the report of Sir Andrew Rae Duncan.

AUTO MECHANIC FACES CHARGE

IN CAR ACCIDENT.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 23 (C.P.)—Investigation into the death of James McFarlane, well-known Ailsa Craig cattleman and farmer, in an automobile accident, took unexpected turn yesterday when traffic police obtained a warrant, charging Russell Thomas, a local auto mechanic, with criminal negligence as the driver of the car.

It had been believed and Thomas is said to have maintained that McFarlane was himself at the wheel of the death car when it crashed into the ditch on No. 2 highway, ten miles east of the city, last Saturday night.

Police, however, said that from their investigation of damage to the car, injuries of its occupants and additional evidence they were prepared to prove that Thomas was the driver.

Soviets Undecided About Manchukuo

MOSCOW, September 23 (C.P.).—The Soviet Government has no decided whether it will recognize the new State of Manchukuo, officials said to-day, denying reports published abroad that it was preparing to do so.

Although permission was granted fo restablishment of Manchukuo consulates in three Siberian cities, Vladivostok, Blagovestchensk, and Khabarovak, this, it was said, was not necessarily a prelude to diplomatic relationship.

Cavan Farmers Win In Grain Contests

CHICAGO, Ill., September 23 (C.P.). — Herman Weiss figured one robbery at his place of business in suburban Melrose was more than enough.

This was a month ago when robbers helped themselves to $2,600.

Yesterday two robbers came.

The buzzer system failed to bring the police until after the intruders had escaped with $1,300.

B. C. IS PLACED IN PREMIER POST AS TO FINANCES

No Danger of Passing Under Federal Government's Wing to Meet Obligations.

$110,000,000 DEBT.

VICTORIA, B. C. Sept. 23. —(C. P.) — British Columbia is in no danger of passing under the wing of the dominion government to meet its current or future obligations. On the contrary, with sinking funds set aside on a basis to retire $50,000,000 of its net debt of $111,000,000 in the next 10 years, the province occupies a premier position among Canadian provinces. This conclusion emerges from the official government statement of the Kidd report, made public last night.

The committee with the approval of the government some time ago conducted an independent investigation of provincial affairs and submitted certain recommendations, with a view to economy in the administration of the government.

The Blame

The text of the government's reply agrees with the Kidd report in its recital of 20 years of deficits, but places the onus for this on incessant public demand, fostered by public bodies.

The official statement concurs with the Kidd committee that it is time for cessation of unnecessary demands on all forms of government.

The government, the reply declares, will not hand over to the lieutenant-governor control of ordinary expenses as it is characterized as a reversion to pre-Cromwellian days.

Other declarations of the government in its comment are: Free education to pupils will not be limited; no immediate likelihood of abandonment of the University of British Columbia; the Pacific Great Eastern railway will not be abandoned though every effort will be exercised in the interest of economy; the provincial police will not be merged with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police; repeal of minimum wage laws will be regarded as a retrograde step.

NEW DISCOVERY IN DENTAL FIELD

Copper Amalgam Now Being Used to Fill "Dead" Teeth.

PREVENTS DECAY.

TORONTO, September 23 (C.P.)—Thirteen years' research has made available to Canadian dentists a new copper amalgam effective in filling "dead" teeth, Dr. Andrew J. McDonagh, Toronto dental specialist, told the Canadian Press to-day

The copper amalgam, Dr. McDonagh said, had permanent antiseptic properties covering an area over a radium of three-quarters of an inch from the tooth which it fills and effectively kills any micro-organisms which might lead to decay.

It is especially useful in filling teeth from which the "nerves" or pulps have been taken. These teeth previously had been especially subject to decay.

Research work, Dr. McDonagh said, was first conducted by the Dental Research Committee of the University of Toronto under direction of the late Dr. J. J. Mackenzie with financial backing from the Canadian Oral Prophylactic Association.

Later, he continued, Dr. F. C. Husband, Toronto, grasped the idea the new copper amalgam could be used to fill root canals which could not be reached with instruments.

It eliminates danger of abscessed teeth, of teeth with septic areas frequently blamed for inception of neuritis, rheumatism, and other constitutional disorders of similar nature.

MOTORIST RELEASED ON BAIL.

LONDON, Ont.—Murray Dryden, Hamilton, driver of a midget automobile which struck and critically injured 12 year old Hugh Larkin at Parkhill yesterday, was remanded for a week in police court to-day on bail of $500.

Dryden was arrested last night and will be held in bail pending the outcome of the boy's injuries.

HINT AT ARREST FOR COSGRAVE

De Valera's Press Warns Ex-President He May Be Tried For His Attacks.

STRIKES AT GOVERNMENT.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Sept. 23. (AP)—A possibility that former President William T. Cosgrave of the Irish Free State may be arrested and tried for his platform attacks on the De Valera Government, was suggested to-day by Cosgrave's supporters.

A speech which he made recently in Galway especially angered the government, these sources said, and led President De Valera's newspaper, the Irish Press, to warn the former president if he repeats the charges he may be tried before a military tribunal.

Set Up Tribunal Himself

The military tribunal mentioned was set up by Cosgrave himself while he was head of the government, to try cases of sedition under the National Safety Act. The practice was suspended by the De Valera government when it came into power, but the legislation setting up the court has not been repealed and presumably it could be made operative again.

Cosgrave, commenting on the edlorial, said he would repeat the charges in question in order to give the government an opportunity to carry out its threat to arrest him. He predicted, however, that De Valera would not have the courage to take such a step.

OUT OF BOUNDS

CHATHAM, Ont.—Bristling with rage, a porcupine was picked up on a downtown corner here and carted off to the menagerie. The police department had responded to a call for assistance when nearby residents reported the presence of a strange animal in the vicinity. During the transportation proceedings which followed, the porcupine voiced a few vocal and sharp complaints. The quills were in great demand from youngsters.

VITAMIN B IN BRAN, RESEARCH REVEALS

Also Has "Bulk" to Further Assist Elimination, and Iron for Blood

One of the functions of Vitamin B is to help tone the intestinal tract, and promote elimination. Now, laboratory experiments show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains this valuable vitamin.

In addition, ALL-BRAN brings a plentiful supply of "bulk"—which provides the "ballast" needed to exercise the intestines.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it is different from the way you see it in the package. It absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, milder, more palatable.

Another healthful element brought by ALL-BRAN is iron. Tests show this cereal has twice as much usable iron as the same weight of beef liver.

Check common constipation—with its frequent headaches, loss of appetite and energy—by eating this delicious cereal. How much pleasanter than taking pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

SALE OPPOSED OF INTOXICANTS

Lindsay Presbytery Goes on Record Against Aims of Moderation League.

FAIR POPULAR.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LINDSAY, Sept. 23.—At a meeting of the Lindsay Presbytery of the United Church, held at Little Britain this week, a resolution was passed protesting against the attempts of the Moderation League to provide further facilities for the sale of intoxicants. Another resolution urged that the machinery for direct relief be set up as soon as possible, and that the church should bend its energies to the Christianizing of the social and economic systems. Resolutions of condolence were passed on the deaths of Dr. J. A. White, of Lindsay, an outstanding churchman, and Rev. J. J. David, who for several years was active in the affairs of the Presbytery. Mr. Harry Lamb, of Omemee, was nominated to the Settlement Committee, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. J. A. White. A strong pronouncement was made on the proposed change in the maintenance of the Pension Fund and the recommendation made that the present legisation, which makes the Pension Fund the first claim, be maintained.

The death occurred in Aylmer recently of Mrs. Thos. Barnecott, mother of Mrs. Frank Sandy, of Lindsay, and formerly of Peterboro. The deceased was in her eighty-first year. Her father was a barrester in Peterborough for some years. After her marriage she resided for a time in Peterborough, and later resided in Toronto, Brampton, Tillsonburg and Aylmer.

A young man named Mortimer provided a feature at Lindsay Central Fair on Wednesday, which was not on the afternoon program. Consuming too much liquor, he proceeded to liven up things on the ground. Two special constables undertook to handle him, but the proposition was more than they could handle, so the third policeman was called upon. The young man during the mix-up toppled over the trio, and was making things lively until Chief Lawler took a hand in the proceedings. A fine of $15.50 was imposed on the offender Thursday.

Lindsay's Central Fair was officially opened Thursday (Children's Day.) School children were admitted to the grounds free. A half holiday was also observed by the merchants. The attendance, while not as large as the opening day last year, was most encouraging to the directorate.

RAIL COUNSEL ARE SUMMONED

Legislative Representatives of Four Running Trades Would Study Report.

WILL PREPARE CASE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 22. (CP)— Legislative representatives of the four ways decided to-day to issue an invitation for counsel and advice from representatives of other branches of the railway service in relation to the transportation commission report. A general meeting representing all the branches of the service will probably be held soon after the report has been tabled in parliament.

W. L. Best, national legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen; Byron Baker, Dominion legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and James Conley, Dominion legislative representative of Railway Trainmen informally discussed the implications of the Duff report at the regular meeting of the joint legislative committee of the railway brotherhoods. This is the meeting previous to the opening of Parliament to discuss proposed legislative recommendations.

A. H. Netherley of Sarnia, Dominion legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, was not present, but it is expected that he will be in Ottawa before Parliament opens.

TWO AWARDED DAMAGES IN CAR ACCIDENT SUITS

SAYS RAILWAYS TOO NUMEROUS SIZE OF CANADA

British Press Fails to See New Business Unless Immigration Laws Extended.

LAUD REPORT REMEDIES.

LONDON, Sept. 22 (C.P. Cable)—The proposals of the Royal Commission on the Canadian railway situation "appear to offer a well-balanced solution to the immediate problem," declares The Morning Post, commenting editorially on the report just issued. The Post contends, however, the root of Canada's railway problem is that she has too many railways for the present population, and it believes it is difficult to see where new business is going to come from unless the immigration laws of the country are extended.

The Morning Post adds that Canada's railway labor, "being largely members of the United States trade unions, the Dominion is saddled with wage scale adapted to the condition of the more populated country and therefore frequently ill-suited to her own situation."

Sound Move

The London Times congratulates Prime Minister R. B. Bennett on his "courageous decision to remove the issue between the two railways as far as possible from the political arena by placing it in the hands of an authoritative and impartial commission." Referring to the commission's recommendation to maintain separate systems, The Times says the day might well come when the Dominion's expansion has been so enormous that two systems will be economically justified.

From the summary of the report, continued The Times, it is clear the commission attacked the problem along sound lines.

To hold the balance with scrupulous fairness will not be easy even now, concludes The Times, "particularly under conditions of Canadian politics, but both Premier Bennett and the Duff Commission are to be congratulated on their endeavor to make it possible."

On the other hand, The Financial News says the findings of the Duff Commission are regarded in Britain as conferring no very considerable benefits to the Canadian Pacific Railway, "but seem rather to bolster the Canadian National than a constructive policy for the railways' system as a whole."

NOMINATION DAY SET FOR OCT. 3

Smith Township to Hold Nomination for Reeve.

SPECIAL MEETING.

As the result of an application recently filed in the Supreme Court of Ontario, the King upon the relation of Edward Morrow Elliott against Allan B. Mann, asking for an order to declare that Allan B. Mann has since his election as Reeve of Smith Township become disqualified and ineligible to sit or vote as a member of the Council, the Township is now without a Reeve, and a by-election is a strong possibility.

At a special meeting of the Township Council held at the Court House here yesterday afternoon, with Deputy-Reeve Herbert McConkey presiding, nomination day was set for October 3 at 1 p.m., Court House, Peterborough.

Mr. Mann, who filed a disclaimer of office after notice of motion was served on him, and who did not resist the application, is this week exhibiting his cattle at Lindsay Fair, and it is not known whether or not he will seek re-election.

It is understood that Mr. Mann as Reeve of the Township received from the Township treasury the sum of $31 for work done on the road division in his neighborhood. This work was formerly done as statute labor, and property owners had to do it or pay for the labor. Some years ago the law was changed to provide for payment of road work through the tax rate, and the road superintendent was authorized to engage men to look after the roads. It was in that connection that Reeve Mann was hired.

STOCK HOLDERS LOSE LAST HOPE

Judge Decides to Start Bankruptcy Action Against Insull Concerns.

3 MILLION INVESTMENT.

(By Milburn P. Akers, A.P. Staff Writer.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 23. — The last slender hope of stockholders that receivership proceedings might salvage part of their $300,000,000 investment in two of Samuel Insull's investment trusts have apparently been shattered.

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, who appointed receivers for the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and the Corporation Securities Company, the deposed utility king's most ambitious projects, has decided the best course open was to institute bankruptcy proceedings against both concerns.

Both companies have been operating under equity receiverships since April 16. Judge Lindle, at his home in Danville, Ill., last night consented to act on a bankruptcy petition against the concerns presented by a Chicago law firm which represents a group of bondholders in both companies. He will hear the petition next Wednesday.

Earlier in the evening the receivers for the Corporation Securities Company filed their report in which they held that the investment trust was "hopelessly insolvent."

Iron, Steel Official Confident of Trade

SHEFFIELD, Eng., Sept. 23. — (C.P.)—Qualified optimism was voiced by A. J. Grant, president of the Iron and Steel Federation, when he addressed a gathering of Sheffield makers here to-day after officially attending the Imperial Conference at Ottawa.

At the conference seed had been sown which should result in very much increased trade, declared Mr. Grant. There were various estimates as to what extend the trade would be increased, some of which were too small and some too large, but he felt if full advantage would be taken if the spirit now prevailing concerning Empire trade the volume of Sheffield business should increase to a very considerable extent.

SNAKE COURSES

STRATFORD. — Students at the Collegiate Institute here are studying zoology with real live specimens. One adult black snake and 46 youngsters are the subjects. George Dodds captured Mrs. Snake at Long Point in Lake Erie. Shortly after, Mrs. Snake brought her 46 youngsters into the world. Mother snake is getting along nicely, and is enjoying an occasional meal of frogs.

SIR HENRY APPROVES.

While Tom Moore, head of the Trades and Labor Congress, has voiced disappointment in the findings of the Royal Commission on Transportation, it is worthy of note that Sir Henry Thornton, late president of the Canadian National Railways, who of all persons should be able to speak with authority on such a subject, declares that the commission has done its work "quite well" and "in theory, at least, a good working organization has been provided."

It is Sir Henry's opinion that if the recommendations of the commission are brought into being in a spirit of tolerance and justice and a loyal effort is made to give these recommendations a fair trial much good is likely to result.

The views of the late head of Canada's nationally-owned railway system should carry considerable weight, and will do much to assure the people of Canada that the report of the commission is an agent that may bring about a marked improvement in the railway situation generally.

Certainly the need of bringing to an end ruinous competition and of eliminating unnecessary extravagance has been emphasized by the commission, and the plan proposed for dealing with that particular phase of the situation would seem to be admirably devised to bring about a betterment in conditions.

THE DOWNFALL OF HOUDE.

The resignation the other day of Camillien Houde from his position as leader of the Quebec Conservatives marks the end of a politician who in a few short years climbed to the heights, only to crash.

Mayor of Montreal, a political leader destined it would seem to eventually become premier of his province and possibly shine in the larger arena of federal politics, Houde was regarded as a powerful force in the public life of Montreal and of the province of Quebec.

And now after a series of setbacks that included his defeat at the hands of the people of Montreal and a bad trimming in the provincial field, he has resigned from the office of Conservative leader, a position that for some time has been merely a nominal one.

There have been many politicians who have gone up like a rocket and come down like a stick, but probably none who accomplished the performance in as short a period as did the former mayor of Montreal.

The reasons for this quick reversal of fortune are to be found in Houde himself; his own actions and his own speeches have dragged him down and destroyed the confidence of many of his own party, with the result that he now passes from the stage of public life and is not likely to return.

A TREMENDOUS TASK.

According to Government estimates, Canada has produced this year 465,000,000 bushels of wheat, while the carry-over reported from 1931 was estimated a few days ago to be 130,000,000 bushels, which makes a total of almost 600,000,000 bushels to be disposed of during the present crop year.

Allowing for Canada needing 200,000,000 bushels for the year's use and as a reserve, the Lethbridge paper points out that there will be left 400,000,000 bushels that must all be disposed of before the end of next July if there is not to be another big carry-over to depress wheat prices in 1933.

To get rid of 400,000,000 bushels entails, as the Herald points out, the daily export of 1,000,000 bushels either as flour or wheat from now until July 31 next or at double the rate of exportation which prevailed last year.

That is the situation in a nutshell, and it is equally clear that unless some workable solution is found for the problem of disposing of such a huge total, there can be little prosperity expected in this country.

To get rid of more than a million bushels of wheat a day is a task that will challenge the best business brains of the Dominion.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT.

The large amount of time devoted at the recent convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to discussing the cost of government and the heavy burden of taxation is to be followed up by a thorough study of this question by a national committee of the organization.

There is every need for serious consideration of this question.

The cost of government, municipal, provincial and federal, has increased with such rapidity that taxpayers are being swept off their feet.

When it is noted that so-called "ordinary" governmental expenditures have increased from $19.08 per capita in 1904 to $88.68 in 1931, the seriousness of the situation becomes apparent.

It will be even more graphically revealed by figures given at the Halifax convention by W. Sandford Evans, of Winnipeg, who showed that while in 1913 the total sum expended by all our governments for "ordinary" purposes was 50 per cent. of the value of the Canadian field crop, the various governments in Canada in 1931 spent a sum equivalent to 216 per cent. of the value of all fair crops.

It took over twice the value of what Canada's fields produced to carry on our municipal, provincial and federal governments during 1931.

In this connection there will be general agreement with the following from the Montreal Star:

"Clearly it is time to call a halt. Industry, commerce and agriculture alike are struggling under mountainous burdens of taxation. We can tax less only when we begin to spend less. In this depression we have had to make extraordinary expenditures such as the necessary disbursements for unemployment relief. But the depression has not been all loss. It has at least taught use that we have got to cut our Canadian coat according to our national cloth. On that opinion is solid."

EARLY RATIFICATION DESIRABLE.

Canadians in general will welcome the announcement that the first business to be considered by Parliament when it convenes on October 6 will be the ratification of the agreements entered into between Canada and other Empire countries at the recent Economic Conference.

While these agreements relate respectively to trade between Canada and the United Kingdom, South Africa, Southern Rhodesia and the Irish Free State, that to which the greatest importance is attached is the pact with the Motherland under the terms of which it is hoped there may be reciprocal benefits.

Ever since the conference concluded, business men in this country, at least, have been marking time pending publication of the full details of the agreement with Great Britain. They have known what to expect in the form of concessions granted by the Mother Country, but they have been obliged to remain in ignorance concerning the corresponding concessions granted by the Canadian Government.

In consequence of this, buying of British goods in this country has visibly fallen off. Importers will not place orders with British firms until they are in a position to know the new basis of importation. They are not inclined to pay duties and other charges which may be removed with ratification of the agreement, even though they are anxious to do a larger volume of business with the Motherland.

There has been nothing more vexatious to the merchant or manufacturer compelled to import goods and anxious to import them from Great Britain than to have such importations attended by all the duties, surtaxes and other charges which have been piled up by the Ottawa Government within the last year or two. That the conference should have reached a decision to wipe out some of these charges and to lower the tariff upon various classes of British goods, thus enabling them to enter Canada upon easier terms, was a proceeding hailed everywhere with much delight.

The greater the delay in putting into effect the decisions of the conference, the greater the loss suffered by Empire trade, and the more prolonged the annoyances and vexations which importers have been obliged to bear. There will be the greatest hope that Parliament, once it is in session, will proceed to ratification of the agreement with a minimum of debate and thus enable advantage to be taken of the new trade set-up that is in prospect.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

STATISTICS OF TWO DAYS.

One stands in perpetual amazement at the indefatigable industry of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the extreme variety of its product, the catholicity of its taste. With information on ten thousand subjects, the Bureau has opinions on none. It presents the raw material from which editorials are written, on which speeches are based, but writer or speaker must draw his own conclusions from figures which do not lie.

We have before us two issues of the mimeographed "Daily Bulletin" issued by the Bureau, and it is interesting to survey briefly the field they cover.

Index numbers for August of retail prices, rents and services went up from 80.8 in July to 81.5 in August.

Canada has 98,564 miles of provincial highway and 279,518 miles of local roads. Expenditures on construction last year were $66,350,229, and on maintenance $32,287,153.

Provincial highway debentures outstanding at the end of 1931 totalled $374,463,000, with annual charges for interest and sinking fund of $19,773,000.

Registration of motor vehicles for '31 was down by 33,062, or 2.7 per cent. There was a car for every 8.6 persons. The year before every 8.2 had a car. Seventy-one per cent. of Saskatchewan's automobiles are owned by farmers; in Ontario 25.7 per cent.

In '31 the total revenue collected by Canadian Provinces from the operation of motor vehicles was $42,231,027, which was a reduction of 1.38 per cent. from 1930. There were used 461,165,941 gallons of gasoline.

Automobile accidents caused 1,311 deaths in Canada last year. Railways figured in 254 deaths, street cars in 39, and airplanes in 35.

Smallpox caused only four deaths in Canada last year—two in Alberta, one in Ontario, one in Quebec. Typhoid fever took 415 lives—in 1927 took 1,112.

There are 122,920 Indians in Canada and 332,297 in the United States.

There are only eight divorced persons in the North West Territories' population of 9,723.

In April 35,376,975 gallons of gasoline were sold in Canada.

During June 566,569 barrels of petroleum were produced, Alberta assounting for 500,000 of the total.

These were not exceptional days, and the output of information is continued week after week, month after month. It is an uncolored picture of Canadian life and affairs invaluable to the student and the commentator.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The South Huron by-election is drawing some of the big guns of the rival political parties, and before it is over the electors may be deluged with oratory.

If the new railway policy ensures a fair break for the Canadian National Railways, it will be accepted hopefully by most people.

Parliament will sit on Thanksgiving Day, it is announced, probably on the theory that members of the House have nothing to be thankful about.

Fire drills in the schools are to be encouraged as a feature of Fire Prevention Week. Efficiency along that line is a safeguard that should be diligently sought.

A fantastic story of a mass agreement among Ottawa unemployed to commit suicide has been found to be a fairy tale. The whole thing was a drunken squabble that resulted in two drownings.

BEER AND WINE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

The principle of local option, like that of individual option, is sound. Where it asks for the restriction of a reasonable area it is just like that of a residential quarter and not to be condemned. But there is something vastly more important, and yet not referred to at all, in the present discussion, and that is the fact that for the purposes of the Liquor Act the room of a guest at a hotel is his "dwelling," and for the purposes of the act not under the control of the hotel-keeper.

This leads to debauchery, free and uncontrolled, in guests' rooms, with, as I have seen by the reports made to the management by floor superintendents, a result worse than anything that has ever taken place in the annals of drink, by permission of the law, and the equal of the foulest and worst that ever took place without that permission.

Whose fault is it that this grotesque and dangerous travesty of common decency is allowed? When hotelkeepers begged the Government to relieve them of this frightful burden they were told "the prohibitionists want the law that way and it must remain so. Wets must be reasonable."

Are the debauchery of women and girls (guests) and the ruin of young men to be encouraged and unrestrained actually by law? Are we going crazy?

Who's Who in Ottawa

By CHARLES ROSS, Jr.

JAMES S. WOODSWORTH, M.P.

He will be fifty-eight years old next summer and he doesn't look his age—not nearly. In fact, if you asked him, Mr. Woodsworth would assure you that he has barely reached his prime, and hopes to continue in that blessed state for several more decades. During the few short years of his working life, then, he has been successively an Oxford student, teacher, minister, longshoreman, university director, civil servant, social service worker and labor organizer, member of parliament, and (as he boasts) jail inmate. The latter episode followed charges of seditious libel during the Winnipeg strike in 1919, which still amuses Mr. Woodsworth, since a good part of the allegel libel consisted of word for word excerpts from the book of the Prophet Isaiah. Mr. Woodsworth and his colleague, Mr. Heaps, both of Winnipeg, have kept flying the flag of Canada's official Labor party. They were at one time credited in the House by their political opponent, Mr. W. W. Kennedy, also of Winnipeg, with holding and wielding the balance of power between Mr. King and Mr. Meighen, but this assertion was frowned on by the Speaker, and has never been one of Mr. Wordsworth's boasts. It is nevertheless the nearest approach to power which the official Labor Party in the House of Commons has ever been granted. Mr. Woodsworth is straightforward, clever and eloquent. While his views on the political and social structure have seldom been those of the majority of his colleagues, his sincerity and honesty have often carried more votes than his party as a party has ever received, and Winnipek folk have found him worthy of re-election year after year.

Scanning Canada

With Fred Hotson

Have you noticed the several announcements about Canadian moving picture production companies being organized lately?...One in British Columbia...another at Toronto, with studios to be secured, somehow or other, from the Ontario government. ...The whole story hasn't "broken" yet. ...'Tis said a former Canadian newspaper baron is behind a new scheme, wholly British and Canadian, to transfer Hollywood stars to England...maybe to Canada. ...Won't it be an achievement to see the U.S. purchasing pictures of their "pet" stars from England?...We'll see...maybe in a month or so.

A few of those U.S. "Sports" are resorting to their well-known alibis again. ...They've cooked up a story that C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville of London, Ont., won the amateur golf chamuionship of the United States simply because John Goodman of Omaha, Nebraska, had a grudge against the American Golf Association and, therefore, wasn't particular about winning. ...It's a wonder, then, that he couldn't have allowed "Sandy" a better lead...for it was a neck-to-neck game all the way.

Golf enthusiasts were so busy commenting on "Sandy's" splendid achievement they almost forgot that George S. Lyons, Canadian veteran golfer, retained his senior American championship the same day Somerville came into the limelight.

Hogs All Congratulations

We should like to add our word of congratulations to Mr. Somerville...but it's too late...The day after the finals the Toronto Mail and Empire said editorially: 'We have pleasure now in completing the congratulations to Mr. C. Ross Somerville—"... No chance for anyone else after that.

Another paper says the late Mr. Justice Hodgins served as the bar for 337 years. ...We had often wondered why some Canadian judges seemed a bit ancient. ... Justice Hodgins, on the contrary, would not have been taken for 78. ...He had been a judge for 20 years, and his knowledge of insurance and marine laws was an invaluable asset to the province of Ontario, which he served so well.

H. J. Reilly of Toronto won $8,498.35 for his $5 ticket in the daily duet at the Thorncliffe racetrack last week. ...How the news reporters ached to hear him tell of his dream castles built at last... or a crippled mothers provided for until her death. ...But Mr. Reilly proved so very unromantic. ...The story of his suddenly-amassed wealth...the unprecedented coincidence of only one person hitting on the right pair of horses...soon found inside space in the newspapers.

May just as well admit that Kaye Don stole a march on us all this time. He's demonstrated that his speed is not confined to power boats. Before anyone realized it, he went and married 21-year-old Eileen Martin of Greenwich, Conn. But he left her with her parents. He's gone home to face the music from Lord Wakefield alone. His bride will follow him to England later. You'll hear from Don again.

Church of England dignitaries have announced they will not press charges against John A. Machray, K.C., former chancellor of the diocese of Rupert's Land.... The crown has already charged that he dissipated large trust funds belonging to the University of Manitoba. ...Outstanding church leaders have declared that shortages of alarming proportions also exist in the church funds. ...Their latest decision must, therefore, have some significance. ...Watch the trial. If Mr. Machray recovers from his serious illness.

INSTALMENT 23

"Judy," Elton Day said, "you think I played a rotten trick on Jenks, don't you?"

"I don't know," Judy replied, leaning against the orange stand counter.

"Well, I didn't. He's a chiseler."

"A chiseler?"

"Yes. He gets an act for as little as he possibly can. You're worth every cent he's going to pay you, and then some. If nothing else, it's worth the money to him to be sure you don't take any other jobs. Because you could get other radio jobs now, Judy."

"How do you know?"

"I do know. It's my business to know. It's my job to find out how an act of mine is getting along."

An act of mine! You, Judy Allison, working for Elton Day. No use clouding it with any words or evasions or excuses. Elton Day is your employer, really; he got you the job with a trick, he got you more money with a trick, and yet you can do nothing but accept it.

"You don't like the way I do business, do you, Judy?"

"No."

"Do you think I like it?"

His voice was earnest, honest, for the first time since Judy had met him.

"Listen, Judy. I told you I hate this business. I do. I hate pulling strings and playing politics and being a chiseler like some of the others. But it's the only way I know to get what I've got to have. I can't save money, Judy. Never could. Unless I get more money than I can spend. And now I'm sure of more than I thought I could get. And Jenks will get value for what he's paying. Don't ever doubt it, Judy. The show will pull profits and more profits for him. You mustn't feel that he's being cheated. Because he isn't. He's used to doing business that way, that's all. And I had to meet him at his own game. No other way. If I talked to him, just said, "We're worth more," he'd laugh at me and at you. I tell you it's true, Judy. Every word of it!"

"Yes," she said dully. "I suppose so."

"But you don't really think so. You think you're under obligations to me and you don't want to be."

"Do you blame me?"

"Of course I don't. You've got a right to think anything you like, Judy. There's plenty wrong with me. I know that. But this time I'm on the level. Honestly."

"Yes."

* * *

"Won't you say something else?" He was actually pleading. Elton Day, the unapproachable, was pleading with a Judy Allison of Hiawatha to understand things that he—whose job was words—could not put into any but halting, broken phrases.

"There's nothing else to say. Except "Thank you."

"And you don't mean that."

"But of course I do. The money is going to help my family a lot. And having a job for a year—it's more than I ever counted on. So, of course, I must thank you.

"Must!" he said eloquently, bitterly. "That's just it. 'Must!' Not because you want to. Not because you've changed a bit in the way you think about me. Just because it's the thing you ought to do."

She was silent. Elton, moving restlessly, stared at himself in the long mirror back of the counter, straightened his perfect tie, smoothed his immaculate lapels. Now the momentary look of despair, almost; of a longing to be liked, was gone. He was the Elton Day she was used to seeing, smooth, slender, his chin set at just the right angle, his eyes confident and untouched.

"Well, let's go, Judy," he said casually. "No use standing here. Shall I drive you home? I'll get a taxicab."

"No," Judy said. "I've got to send a telegram."

"Of course. Well, I'll see you tomorrow, then. And don't lose your contract. Good-by, Miss Allison."

He hailed a taxibab with an elegant gesture, he stepped inside, disappeared.

Now Judy realized that she had news, news that would make her mother and father happy, make them send for the neighbors, make them telephone to cousins and aunts to say, "Judy's doing wonderfully in Chicago, on the radio. She just got a new contract, and—" Listlessly, she sought a telegraph office. Slowly, she wrote, "Just got new contract. A hundred a week for year. I'll be sending some home every week. Please buy a new dress with this, mother. Love. I'm very happy." She wired $50 out of the $200 Jenks had given her as a bonus, for signing her contract.

Then she went to Elsie's office to tell Elsie what had happened.

* * *

"Thought you were going to call me up."

"I couldn't Elsie. I was busy."

"Oh. Dick?"

"No. I—Look, Elsie."

She produced the contract. And Elsie, businesslike, knowing, ran through it hurriedly, read it a second time, then whistled, long and low.

"Judy! You're a millionaire! You're set for life! Here, woman! Shake hands! Dance a Highland fling! Do something, anyhow!"

Judy forced a smile.

"It is nice, isn't it?" she said.

"Nice! Elsie mocked her. "Nice! Yeh, and the Grand Canyon's a nice little thing, too! Nice? Hey—Mike! Tell the boss I'm taking the afternoon off. Got things to do. Hot business. Got to go to Africa for the week-end. You hear me? Have Judy, is my hat on straight? Is it? It isn't? It wouldn't be. Well, come on, woman! Come on! We've got to celebrate! Gee! A hundred a week!"

* * *

It was like that for a half hour, with Elsie talking, laughing, almost shouting; with Judy answering in monosyllables, only once in a while. Until, in the cool depths of the big motion-picture house, Elsie turned suddenly, whispering, "You're not tickled a bit! What's wrong with you, anyhow, Judy?"

"Nothing. Oh, nothing."

"Don't lie to me! What's it all about?"

Hesitantly, then more rapidly, Judy poured out the story. How she watched Elton force Jenks into giving her the contract, how she let him make Jenks think she was a party to it, how she said nothing when she should have spoken.

"Huh!" said Elsie suddenly. "I see right now that a movie is no place for me and thou. Come on. Let's go buy a hat!"

"But—"

"Buying a hat," said Elsie sagely, "is the best way in the world for a girl to get over feeling sorry. I'll prove it."

And, in the hat store on State street, Judy realized that Elsie was right. Spending $20 for a new, elegant hat—knowing there would be a $100 check waiting for her Saturday, knowing there would be a check just like it waiting every Saturday from now on for a year, for fifty-two long weeks—Judy knew that money is a good thing, that security in a job is a thing that changes your viewpoint and makes you see new values. And soon she was agreeing with Elsie that what Elton Day had done was not cricket, hardly fair; but that perhaps his specious excuse was right.

* * *

"He looked different," Judy said. "When he was trying to explain I got a feeling that he was trying to be somebody else. Trying not to be the way he's always been before. I almost felt sorry for him. Honestly, Elsie."

"Huh!" Elsie jeered. "Feel sorry for him? Didn't he try to cheat you out of that job?"

"Yes, but then he cheated to get it for me."

"What?"

"Yes, Elsie, I'm all mixed up. I'm worried, Elsie. That girl—that Burdette girl. She'd do anything to get even with me because I got the job. Because—" Judy flushed, but went on—" because Elton Day has been so interested in me."

Elsie stared. "You go too fast. You're 'way ahead of me. Better tell all, Judy."

So Judy did.

About the audition, and what was done to make sure that she got the job. About Lona, and her threats that were more suggested than said. About the sudden almost incredible change in Elton Day. About the luncheon with Jenks, and the way Day made Jenks sign a contract he had no intention of signing.

* * *

Elsie said, softly, "Poor kid!"

"That's not it. I've no right to cry about anything, Elsie. I'm getting money, and I've a good job, and as far as my mother and father are concerned I'm a success. I can't tel them about any of this. They wouldn't understand, anyhow. But it's Dick who worries me."

"Why?"

"That girl Lona was trying to see Jenks to-day. To tell him something. Suppose Lona should prove the audition was wrong? It's Dick they'll blame, not Elton. And I've a contract. They'll have to keep me on the program now, no matter what happens. But if Dick loses his job—"

"He won't," Elsie said confidently. "Not Dick Mason. He's the best announcer they've got."

That won't help a bit if they think he cheated to get a job for me."

"Then you'd better tell him all about it. So he can cover up."

"Why not?"

"Don't you see? He did want me to get the job, and he did help me all he could. And now if I let him see that it was a trick of Elton Day's that really did it—and I didn't tell him right at first; I've kept it to myself and this time—don't you see how he'd feel?"

"That isn't it, Elsie. I—I've never lied before in my life. But every time Dick says anything that lets me know he's really proud about helping me I feel like a liar for not telling him what really happened."

"You shouldn't. He did help. Maybe you'd have got the job anyhow."

"That's no answer. Maybe I would have. Maybe I wouldn't. But either way, I know and you know and Elton Day knows how I really got it. And suppose that Burdette girl finds out!"

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 23.—(CP)—Upturns in grain values predominated early today owing to relative firmness of securities. Argentine reports said some wheat had been irreparably damaged by locust. Opening unchanged to ¼ higher, wheat afterward scored additional gains. Corn started at ⅛ off to ⅛ up and subsequently held near the initial limits.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Sept. 23. — (CP)—With a few exceptions price changes were insignificant on the Montreal Stock Exchange today. Trading was exceptionally quiet and most issues closed unchanged. Leaders were mixed at the close after holding steady to slightly high for the better part of the day.

Among the leaders Canadian Pacific was up ¼ at 19¾, and International Nickel gained the same amount at 11¼. Brazilian Traction held steady at 11½ in activ turnover for the better part of the day, but dropped ⅛ to 11⅜ in the last half hour of trading. Shawinigan Power at 19 and Montreal Power at 37 were both unchanged.

The general list tended to soften. Canada Cement lost 2½ at 30½ after touching 30. Canada Steamships preferred was ¼ lower at 9¾. McColl Frontenac was a weak spot, selling at 10⅞ down 1⅛.

TORONTO EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 23.— (C. P.)— To-day's session on the local stock market was a listless affair. The market lacked the usual opening pep and continued dull to the close: Interlisted issues failed to provide leadership and the rest of the list displayed no initiative. Volume was well below that of recent sessions and prices while firm, failed to move far in either direction. Total sales of approximately 10,000 were only half of Thursday's total.

Interlisted issues were almost at a standstill. International Nickel and C.P.R. were up ¼; Brazilian Traction off 3-8 and Ford unchanged. Consolidated Smelters marked time, moved within a narrow range and closed unchanged.

Oils were soft and al downl ⅛-¼.

STANDARD EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Sept. 23. (CP) — Mixed price action in reduced turnover marked trading on the Standard Stock and Mining Market today, closing changes showing an indefinite mixture of minor losses and gains.

International Nickel retained a small part of its early gain but Noranda finished unchanged and Hudson Bay was off 5. Base Metals advanced 15 in a few sales. Lindsleys were buoyant in the forenoon but reacted to close at last night's finals.

Lake Shore wasu p 25 and Teck-Hughes firm but Hollinger slipped 10 and Wright-Hargreaves lost 7. Among cheaper golds Granada recovered some ground while Macassa, Howe, Harker and Alexandria recorded small losses. Vacuum Gas was a cent higher in brisk trading

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. —(CP)— After a brief period of profit taking in mid-afternoon, which erased about a third of the earlier gains, the stock market again became strong in the late trading today. Gains of 1 to 3 points were numerous, except in the oils which were heavy. Allied Chemical, Lackawanna, Dupont and United Aircraft were up 2 to 3. Harvester, Union Pacific, New York Central, Southern Pacific, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone and American Smelting advanced more than a point. Buying of motor stocks was a feature, advancing General Motors, Crysler and Nash a point or more. Sales were about 2,300,000 shares.

WINNIPEG GRAIN EXCHANGE.

WINNIPEG, September 23 (C. P.). — Fractional losses at the opening were recovered in the later trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. The market, however, mainly was influenced by the trend at Liverpool.

Export sales were a disappointment, and only scattered purchases were made by seaboard houses, but offerings in the pit were somewhat lighter, and it required just moderate buying to take the slack out of the market.

Liverpool owed its weakness chiefly to improved crop prospects in the Argentine where recent rains are said to have been of considerable benefit to the new wheat crop. The English market finished 1¼d to 1⅝d lower per 100 lbs.

STANDARD MART PRICE TREND IRREGULARLY HIGHER TO-DAY

NORANDA IS UP 20.

TORONTO, Sept. 23. — (CP) — Price trend was irregularly higher in reduced turnover of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market today. Opening changes were mixed but leaders developed a firmer tone towards noon. A total of 174,000 shares changed hands in the first two hours.

Metal prices were slightly easier in London but Nickel regained 25 to $11.15, Noranda 20 to $21.10, Base Metals 10 to $1.20 and Amulet cent to 28. Falconbridge was up 14 at $2.20 and Ventures gained a couple to 87.

In the gold section Lake Shore advanced 25 to $29.50, Pioneer of B. C., 5 to $3.90 and Teck Hughes 3 to $3.24. Granada recovered 10 to 90.

KIRKHAM LEADS MISS WALL 3 UP AT NINTH HOLE

Mrs. C. S. Eddis, One Up on Miss Doris Taylor in Other Semi-final.

FOR CANADIAN TITLE.

KANAWAKI GOLF CLUB, Kahawaki, Que., Sept. 23. — (By the Canadian Press.) — Miss Margery Kirkham, Forest Hills, Montreal, was three up on Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis., at the ninth hole of their 18-hole match in the semi-finals of the Canadian women's open golf championship at Kanawaki to-day. In the other semi-final Mrs. C. S. Eddis, Rosedale, Toronto, was one up on young Miss Doris Taylor of Kanawaki.

TORONTO LIST TAME TO-DAY

Trading Narrows and Price Movements Mostly Fractional During Early Session.

INTERLISTED SOFT.

TORONTO, September 23 (C.P.). —Forenoon session on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day was a tame affair. The local list could find no encouragement from Wall Street and dragged along with volume off sharply from preceding sessions, trading narrow and price movements mostly fractional.

Interlisted issues failed to provide leadership and the balance of the list displayed no initiativs.

International Nickel and C.P.R. were very quiet and fractionally higher at midday. Brazilian Traction met with a small loss.

Oils were soft in sympathy with this group on Wall Street and all lost fro m⅛ to ¼. Narrowness of trading and inacivity prevented other groups from showing a distinct trend.

Gains of 2 points by Royal Bank and a point aplece were recorded by Standard Paving and B.C. Power A., while International Utilities and Bell Telephone were off 1.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (C.P.) — Trading on the Toronto Lavestock Market was dull during the week, with prices generally unchanged. Cattle trade was dull; calves steady; hogs steady; sheep and lambs steady.

Receipts for the week were: Cattle 6,500; calves, 2,200; hogs, 4,000; sheep and lambs 6,900.

Left-overs at the close were 700 head. A few loads of choice steers were sold to packers at $3 to $3.70, and with some good to choice steers were taken as feeders at $4.85 to $5.40. Good and choice butchers brought $3 to $3.25, with a few tops at $5.50. Common butchers sold downward to $3. Fed calves ranged from $6 to $8.50 according to quality. Good butcher cows sold at $2.75 to $3. Bologna bulls brought $1.50 to $1.75, with butchers selling at $2 to $2.50. A liberal supply of store cattle met with a steady trade at a range of $2.50 to $4.50 according to quality. One load of good Western stocker calves sold at $4.85. Milkers and Springers were unchanged at $45.00 for tops.

Calf receipts showed an increase of 300 head compared with last week. Prices were steady on all grades with choice vealers at $7 to $7.50, with a few tops making $8. Common vealers sold downward to $4. The light run of grass calves brought $2.25 to $3.50 per cwt.

Hog receipts were 400 head heavier than last week. Prices were unchanged at $4.75 f.o.b. for bacon, at $5 off truck and at $5.25 to $5.35 off cars. Future prices are expected to be lower.

Sheep and lamb receipts showed a decrease of 700 from last week. Lambs dropped 25c per cwt, selling at $5.50 for good ewes and wethers, and at $4 to $4.50 for culls and bucks. Sheep sold slowly at $1 to $2 per cwt., according to quality with an odd top at $2.50.

MUST FACE TRIAL.

BRANTFORD. — Mrs. Mary Fetter, Stratford, charged with having performed an illegal operation, will be tried during the Fall Assizes here. Although her lawyer pleaded for a postponement, the Crown declared a witness, Mrs. Bessie English, Paris, now serving a five-year term in connection with the same case, was so ill she might not live until spring, and the trial will proceed.

TRAPSHOOTER DIES

A former blacksmith, who retired 15 years ago to devote his time to sport, "Wes" Hart gained an international reputation as a crack shot. He held the Canadian trapshooting championship for two years and the American for one. He also won the Hamilton centennial shoot.

THIS WOULD TICKLE AL CAPONE

This is the first of five sedan automobiles being built by a Pittsburgh motor company for the president of a South American republic, which will surpass the fondest dreams of Al Capone for security. As a protection against bombs they are lined with steel netting, bullet-proof steel and special glass one and a quarter inches thick. The cars will be installed with tear gas bombs and machine guns. To the observer the outward appearance of the car is no different than an ordinary sedan. Miss Mildred Black, in the picture, is pointing to the steel netting. (The name of the bomb-proof president is kept secret.)

SOMETIMES EMBARRASSING TO BE A NOTED MOVIE STAR'S DOUBLE

Claire Maynard Crashed Movies Without Stage Experience.

JOAN BENNETT'S DOUBLE.

BY BEN GOLDBERG
(Central Press)

TORONTO, Sept. 22—Claire Maynard, beautiful blonde film actress from Hollywood, who is appearing with a stock company in Canada, is one of the few girls to crash the movies without previous stage experience or qualifications.

"It was just a break that gave me my chance in the movies," declared the youthful actress, who is only twenty. "I think," she continued, "that it was because of my great resemblance to Joan Bennett that Winfield Sheehan first noticed me at a dinner party in New York and immediately signed me up. A week later found me in Hollywood ready for pictures."

After appearing in several outstanding pictures. Miss Maynard cided to forsake the screen, for a while at least, in favor of the stage.

"You know," said the former New York model, "this is my first trip away from home without my parents, although my cousin is with me this trip. My folks weren't a bit anxious to see me leave, because they thought I was too young."

Resemblance to a movie star often has its fun as well as its inconveniences. So Miss Maynard has found. And thus she recalled a peculiar little incident that occurred in Hollywood recently. It was the first day after Joan Bennett's return to the movie lot following a serious accident. She was hobbling around with the support of a cane, dressed in a white sport costume and wearing sunglasses. It happened coincidentally that Claire was also getting over the effects of a minor injury, which necessitated a cane. Peculiarly enough, she was also attired in practically the same kind of sport outfit and wearing sun-glasses. Miss Bennett's friends, seeing her for the first time after her mishap, were naturally elated, and showered her with congratulations and hand-shakes. The first thing Claire knew, she was also the recipient of profuse greetings.

"It was all great fun," replied Joan's double, "but I had a hard time convincing her friends that I was not Miss Bennett.

"I'm continually being kidded about my resemblance to Joan, especially by her sister Connie. Every time I see her somewhere, she looks at me and says: 'Darn it, you do look like one of the family!'"

CLAIRE MAYNARD

OUT ON $3,000 BAIL

ELECTROCUTED.

WELLAND.—Alfred Beaumont, 40, Humberstone, was electrocuted to-day when he slippedd and came in contact with high tension wires. He was painting an electric light bracket when the accident occurred. An inquest will be held.

GIVEN 3 MONTHS.

TORONTO. — Harold Dexter, charged with indecent assault, was sentenced to three months imprisonment and 10 strokes of the strap when he appeared in county police court to-day.

ASKS FOR HELP TO WRITE BOOK

Appeal is Broadcast to Veterans to Assist in Writing War Incidents.

HUMOROUS STORIES.

WINNIPEG, September 22 (C.P.). —The lighter side of war—humorous incidents and freak happenings —is to be featured in a book to be written by Frank H. Williams, Winnipeg newspaperman and private soldier in the Great War. He has broadcast an appeal to the half-million men who made up the Canadian Expeditionary Force to assist him in its preparation.

Mr. Williams has offered a prize of $15.00 for the best story of the war, regardless of its nature, and the contest will close on November 15, 1932.

The inside story of the war, Mr. Williams stated, will not have so much to do with the manner in which battles were fought and won, or how Canadian troops covered themselves with glory, as it will deal with the humor, pathos, and tragedy so close to the men during their period of servics.

"Some of the finest human interest material in the world has been bottled up all these years in the hearts and minds of Canada's soldiers," Mr. Williams continued. "I purpose to put these experiences into a book if the thousands of ex-service men will help me.

"I want Canadian ex-service men to write of their experiences, or the experiences of their friends in the late war. I am not concerned with deeds of heroism for they are a part of the official record. Rather I want the unnoticed deeds of heroism, the side-splitting jokes, the humorous incidents and the freak happenings, and above all I want as much of the current slang as the boys can remember. The trench slang is being pretty much forgotten by the men themselves, but some of them may resurrect the moth-eaten ones.

"I want names of officers and men who figured in these incidents and the units with which they were connected as well as the sectors in which the incidents happened. Stories or incidents in which reflection is cast on anyone are not desired."

throughout the evening of August 20.

John R. Corkery conducting the prosecution for the Inland Revenue Department, could not open up any weak links in the chain of evidence brought forth by the defence.

Both R.C.M.P. officers, recalled to the box, swore that there was no mistake that David Lee, who had testified in the defence, was the same man who had accompanied them to the Hill farmhouse and aided them in purchasing the liquor from Mrs. Hill.

Magistrate Langley, having heard the evidence which lasted until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, withheld judgment for one week.

J. A. O'Brien, who conducted the defence, in his address said that in consideration of the mass of evidence produced by the defence there must be more than a reasonable doubt that the sale of liquor had never been made.

WANTED.

TORONTO.—Local banks and police to-day joined in a search for an unidentified young man who yesterday stole a bundle of mail from local apartments and then tried to cash a stolen cheque for more than $3,000.

MILL OWNERS IN AGREEMNT WITH STRIKERS

Lancashire Officials Consider Reinstaement of Textile Workers.

AFFECTS 2,000 MEN.

Wage Agreement is Compromise Meaning 8 1-3 Per Cent Cut in Pay.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Sept. 28 (A.P.)—Mill owners and union representatives trying to end the cotton strike in the Lancashire district reached an agreement to-day on wages and began considering re-instatement of men on strike.

The wage agreement is a compromise which will mean a reduction of about 8 1-3 per cent. in pay for the men. The problem of reinstatement also is delicate, although it concerns principally not more than 2,000 of the men on strike. On the re-instatement of this comparatively small number, two conferences already have split.

Matrimony Costly But Hubby Must Pay

WINDSOR, Ont. Sept. 23.—(CP) —"She may be a dead asset on his hands from his point of view, but I think he ought to pay for her," commented Mr. Justice W. A. Logie, in supreme court today as he urged a settlement of the action brought by Mrs. Edward Zalex against her husband. The woman is endeavoring to secure separate maintenance allowance.

"If there was anything wrong with her he would divorce her. He married her and then he rued his bargain because he thought he could not afford it," continued his Lordship.

Mrs. Zalev had testified that she and her husband had separated seven and a half months after their marriage and one specific grievance by Zelev was that he found matrimony too expensive. Zalev, the court was told was $650 in arrears in agreed alimony in May, 1932. Efforts at settlement are being made.

CHEESE PRICES UNCHANGED.

MONTREAL, Sept. 23 (C.P.). — The cheese market continued quiet here to-day, with prices holding nominally unchanged. Last night's country boards failed to alter the price situation here. Westerns are quoted to 11 cents a pound and Easterns at 10½ to 10 5-8 cents a pound.

DEMAND ACTION ON WATERWAY

Harbor Association Takes Stand on Behalf of 40,000,000 People Represented.

READY TO COOPERATE.

HAMILTON, Sept. 23 (C.P.) — Calling upon its members to do their utmost to secure ratification of the St. Lawrence Seaway Treaty, the Great Lakes Harbor Association in convention here to-day passed a resolution urging immediate action.

"The Great Lakes Harbor Association owes a sacred duty and obligation to more than 40,000,000 people resident in the Great Lakes Basin and in neighboring States and Provinces of Canada, whose commerce naturally flows through this seaway, to employ its utmost efforts to procure an early ratification of said treaty," the resolution declared.

"It hereby pledges itself to use every legitimate and proper means to promote said ratification, and particularly to present the facts with relation to said treaty to the people it serves. It pledges itself to co-operate loyally with the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association to this end."

Spread Interest

Members of the association are asked to inform "the Senators of their respective States and the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations of their interest in and desire for an early ratification of said treaty by the United States Senate."

The resolution recommends also that a series of State or Regional conferences be held prior to the regular session of the American Congress, which convenes in December.

Gratification with the agreements between Canada and the United States is expressed in another resolution. "We rejoice over the fact the St. Lawrence Seaway has reached the stage of agreements where the two countries, the United States and Canada, have signed a treaty for its realization, and we pledge our earnest support towards the ratification of the same."

The convention also passed a resolution urging that the Supreme Court ruling as to the diversion of water by the City of Chicago be regarded as final.

AUXILIARY PLANS WINTER MONTHS

St. James' Church Society Holds Every Member Present Rally.

An "Every Member Present" rally was held by St. James Auxiliary of the W.M.S. on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. L. Woodley, Chamberlain street.

Group No. 9 was in charge of the splendid program given, and Mrs. Evans, the convenor, was assisted by Mesdames Payne, Byers, Whatley, Carter and Vannest.

While no holidays were taken during the summer months by this Auxiliary, still the September meeting was the time for gathering up the threads of past activities and uniting them with new plans for future work.

The president, Mrs. A. E. Moorhouse, presided throughout, and opened the meeting with an impressive devotional service. Several appropriate hymns were sung and prayer was offered by Mrs. Beavis, while Mrs. Evans led in the beautiful responsive Scripture lesson, taken from the Psalms.

Very interesting and comprehensive were the gleanings from the Peteborough Sectional Rally, recently held at Keene. This excellent report was prepared by Mrs. Frank Stevens, Presbyterial Press Secretary, and was read by Mrs. E. Benson.

Twenty-nine members responded to the roll call in a most satisfactory and unique way. As "Sacrifice and Service" was the theme running through the whole program, it was emphasized in the responses given. Members pledged themselves to self-sacrifice during the holidays and to earning talent money, with one dollar as an objective. This resulted in a most gratifying offering.

A "Do-Without-Box" was the title of the reading contributed by Mrs. Casey, and very much in keeping with the theme.

Mrs. Armstrong, secretary of Christian Stewardship, also gave a reading which showed the reward of denying oneself.

A delightful duet, "The Story That Never Grows Old," was sung in fine voice by Mesdames Monks and McKinstry, and the story of the Alabaster Box, was told as one of the first acts of loving self denial on the part of womankind, in an apt little reading by Mrs. Payne.

The prayer-hymn, "Breathe On Me, Breath of God," and the Mizpah Benediction brought to a close this successful Fall meeting.

The business of the day, which was quickly despatched by the president, included a very satisfactory report from the treasurer, Mrs. English, the minutes and a letter of invitation from George Street Auxiliary, by the Secretary, Mrs. Rose. The reception of fees and envelope offerings finished the business session.

The October meeting will be under the convenorship of Mrs. Wm. Fell, with Mesdames Buckler, W. A. Wood, Armstrong, Waterman and Langton assisting.

EFFORTS REWARDED.

OSHAWA.—Mr. and Mrs. Milton Werry snickered when they saw young Miss Werry struggling with a heavy shovel some years ago. The child was burying a peach stone. Now Mr. Werry is proudly gazing at 11 baskets of peaches taken from the tree which followed young Miss Werry's adventure in gardening.

RAILWAYS CHANGE LOCAL TIME-TABLES

Several minor changes in railway schedules which become effective at midnight on Saturday, are noted in the new time tables just issued by the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway Companies.

C.N.R. train No. 11 for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, London and Windsor now leaving here at 8.15 a.m. is to be altered to leave ten minutes later. There is no change in No. 95 which pulls out at 12.01 p.m. for Port Hope, Toronto, London, Chicago, Buffalo and New York and which connects with the Capital City train for Ottawa; nor is there a change in the time of the Lakefield train out of hehe at 1.45 p.m.

To connect at Port Hope with the "Maple Leaf" flyer from Montreal, train No. 95 now leaving Peterborough at 4.35 p.m. for Lindsay and Toronto has been set back seven minutes and will leave here at 4.42 p.m. It will make connections at Toronto with the "International Limited" for Chicago, New York and Philadelphia and also with the train for North Bay and other points north.

The only train over C.N.R. lines that has been put back under the revised schedule is Train No. 12 which is to leave here at 8.30 p.m. instead of at 8.47 p.m. for Keene and other points east.

C.P.R. Changes.

Four changes are to be made in times of trains running over Canadian Pacific lines through here; the most radical of these being the Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Ottawa, Smith's Falls, Montreal, St. John, Boston and New York daily train, which will leave here at 12.55 a.m., instead of at 11.55 p.m. as at present.

Two other morning trains are affected, the Toronto train time having been advanced twenty minutes so that it will leave here at 5.30 a.m., while the train now leaving at 6.40 a.m. for Lindsay, Orillia and Port McNichol has been set back so that it will leave at 6.35 a.m.

The afternoon train for Toronto now leaving here at 3.55 p.m. has been altered to leave at 4.00 p.m.

MARIE, Ont., Sept. 23.—In an effort to propagate raccoons throughout Northern Ontario the Department of Game and Fisheries has sent 12 pairs to Brunswick House post where a raccoon farm will be established from which the animals will be sent out to various points in the district and released to add to the district's fur resources.

SCREEN ODDITIES

by Captain Roscoe Fawcett

During the filming of "Grand Hotel," Jean Hersholt made character sketches of all the principals in the production. Before appearing in a picture, he always makes a sketch of himself in the makeup of the character he is to portray. At one time Hersholt possessed distinction as a portrait painter. Becoming interested in the stage, he gave up his art career. In 1915 he came to this country to stage a play for his native land, Denmark, at the World's Fair at San Francisco. After his work there ended, he decided to accept an offer from the late Thomas H. Ince to enter pictures.

WOMANHOOD IS CHALLENGED TO REMEDY THE CONDITIONS WHICH TO-DAY FACES YOUTH

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr Addresses Local Council of Women.

WOMAN MUCH TO BLAME

Challenging the women to whom he spoke as representatives of the affiliated societies that go to make up the Local Council of Women, the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, made the statement that womanhood, as a whole, was to blame to a certain extent for the condition of affairs which faces the youth of to-day.

It was the first meeting for the Fall season of the Local Council of Women, taking place in the green room of the Young Women's Christian Association, and presided over, in the absence of the several vice presidents, by the treasurer of the society, Mrs. E. Wand.

In Poorer Position

The reverend speaker, giving a delightful address which went in for quality, rather than quantity, its brief duration of only twenty minutes securing the undivided attention of his hearers, and leaving their minds freshly impressed with the worth of his remarks, based his contention that the youth of to-day was in much poorer shape than the youth of a quarter of a century back, on the address recently given by the warden of Sing Sing Prison, speaking from a lengthy experience in the position he holds.

The warden, making an investigation of the age of the prisoners admitted to that famous institution, during the years from 1925 to 1930, discovered that the average age was from sighteen to twenty-two years, while in a similar period of time, from 1905 to 1910, the average age was between thirty and forty years of age.

This, the speaker remarked, refuted, in his opinion, the contention of H. G. Wells, who declares that the remedy for most ills lies in education. Rev. Dr. Barr went on:

"We sometimes pride ourselves on the fact that we are making a great deal of progress and are doing a great deal along educational lines, with new educational methods. And yet see that glaring contrast. The warden of Sing Sing prison declares our educational system to be a failure. I do not agree with that view, in its entirety, but yet there devolves upon all of us the necessity for careful examination of all the areas that are touched by the young life of to-day, in order to find where some of them are falling down."

Womanhood to Blame

Reiterating his opinion that womanhood, to a certain extent, is to blame for the conditions to be faced in modern times, and saying that he threw out the statement as a challenge to those who listened and to the agencies they represented, the reverend speaker went on to outline the major agencies working among people to-day, as the home, the school and the church. Minor agencies involve such things as the street, which is the playground of childhood, the movies and neighborhood homes where the standard of living may not measure up to a high idea.

Of the 168 hours contained in each week, Dr. Barr set aside 25 to 30 hours spent in school or in intellectual pursuits; 2 hours spent in church or at Sunday School; 56 hours in sleep, and the remaining 80 hours spent in the home or in amusements. These 80 hours are spent mainly under the influence of womanhood.

"How true is it then that womanhood is to blame, when we remember that women have always been responsible, to a great extent, for the guidance of young life. Agencies such as the school, the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A. have their place in this realm of guidance, but the home and womanhood have the greater responsibility.

"And personal guidance does not mean only guidance as to the kind of work or play the child may engage in, but it has to do with the kind of convictions he will grow up with.

"A person acts as he believes. Action, as a rule, springs from belief or conviction. In this modern world in which we live, it is becoming increasingly apparent that many have come to the conclusion that beliefs are unnecessary, that creeds should be scrapped and that no one should be tied down to any system of religious teaching.

The Soviet Attitude

"But that is the mental attitude of the dweller in the Soviet Republic. It is in that direction that we must strengthen ourselves and it is in that direction that womanhood must take a prominent part. Womanhood is challenged to-day to accept that responsibility more seriously than in the past; not only to guide the youth of the day, but also to give them that fundamental basis upon which all life is built, that sense of reality in things that cannot be shaken."

Here, the speaker paused to pay a tribute to his mother, to whom he owed, he said, so much in the way of guidance and in the instilling of convictions and beliefs that had steadied and strengthened his life purpose.

He also referred to the experiment being made in his home land of Scotland, as observed in his visit there this summer, where governmental industrial schools are being scrapped and closed up and their place is being taken by an entirely different method of dealing with the youth of the day; the Big Brother and Big Sister movement which aims to direct them in the right channels before disaster overtakes them.

At the conclusion of the address, Mrs. G. Helson moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the speaker.

Mrs. K. S. Wightman has assumed the duties of recording secretary on the resignation of Mrs. C. B. Adair, owing to her recent bereavement. The correspondence was read by Mrs. B. Law, and the financial statement was given by Mrs. M. Budd.

Mrs. Wand, referring to the lack of interest taken in affairs of the Local Council, asked the members to be loyal to the memory of the late Mrs. C. H. Edwards, who made the Council her life work, and to remember that the sessions are open to the public, not only to the two accredited representatives of each affiliated society.

Miss Helen Anderson announced that the October meeting would be addressed by Miss Aikenhead of Toronto and Whitby, a Social Service worker who is a graduate in Psychology of the University of Chicago and who has just completed a course in Parent Education at McGill University. She will speak on "The Relation of Child Guidance to Mental Health," with a view to starting classes in parent education in different local centers.

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Overcome

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness, or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add ¼ pint hot water and a little sugar. One tablespoonful four times a day should quickly relieve distressing catarrhal head noises, clogged nostrils, difficult breathing and dropping mucous, and improve hearing. All victims of catarrhal deafness or head noises should give Parmint a trial.

TREASURE CHEST IS SOON OPENED

Kiwanis Carnival is Big Success—Big Crowd Attends.

VACATION TRIP DRAW.

Long before the appointed hour for the opening of the Kiwanis Karnival and Street Dance held last evening, a large crowd had assembled, each or nearly every person being equipped with a set of keys with which each hoped to wrest the treasure from the Chest.

So large was the crowd that a detachment of City Police under Inspector James Reid, was required to line the people up into twelve long queues—each queue being directly in line with one of the dozen duplicate Treasure Chest locks.

Preparations were thwarted when two of the locks responded to the keys held by two of the first people to try their luck. In other words, the contest was all over about fifteen seconds after it had been declared open. The two lucky winners who divide the spoils—$50 in cash—are Mrs. Charles Woodcock, 60 Victoria Avenue, and Frank Watman, 497 Sherbrooke Street.

The Vacation Trip Prize Drawing, made by Mayor Roland Denne on the hour of midnight, in the presence of a large number of people, resulted as follows:

$100—F. Stratford, 145 Greenwood Street Toronto.

It was learned that the winner of the $100 vacation trip, who purchased his ticket from Harry J. Boyle, president of the local Kiwanis Club, is shortly to get married, and it was suggested by the announcer at the Karnival that the prize will come in handy for Mr. Stratford's honeymoon trip.

The wire-haired fox terrier dog was won by B. Craig, of 155 Aylmer Street, City. A pure-bred pup, the dog is from the kennels of Cecil Armstrong.

The effort was quite successful, and it is expected that it will have the means of raising a considerable sum of money for the Kiwanis Club's Under-Privileged Child Work.

Dancing was enjoyed by the crowds throughout the evening and until early this morning, there being three orchestras in attendance. The music was supplied by Lakefield Pavilion orchestra, with Percy Atkinson as conductor; and also by Red Moncrief and His Hay Ballers and by Moncrief's regular dance orchestra.

The various games and duties were in charge of the following Kiwanians: Bingo—H. Huffman; groceries—Harry J. Boyle; chocolates—Roy S. Wemp; game—Laurie R. Mitchell; ham, bacon, etc.—Herb. Cranford; fruit — Walter J. Oke; raffle—J. McKone; tickets—A. B. Gates and L. J. Pettit; entertainment and dancing—Vern. Morphet.

Kiwanian Carl Read of Belleville supplied the amplifiers and loud speaker equipment.

RHEUMATISM

You'd never think he'd ever had it.

Mr. D. J., Beeton, Ont., writes: "I was almost completely knocked out by painful rheumatism, stiffness, headaches and bad stomach. I could scarcely work. Finally I tried Fruit-a-tives. In a short time all my pains and aches were gone. I call myself a new man."

The superiority of Fruit-a-tives over ordinary remedies rests on the fact that it stimulates FIVE vital organs to work naturally. It is a complete, natural remedy, the discovery of a brilliant doctor. At all druggists', 25c and 50c.

STREET DANCE WELL ATTENDED

ON FRONT STREET.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 23.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent.) — with the more popular rhythm of the old time tunes intermingled with the more popular rythm of the modern dance, hundreds of people, both young and old, jammed Front street, Campbellford, last evening and tripped the light fantastic to the strains of that ever popular dance aggregation, George Wade's Corn Huskers.

The evening of dance and frivolity was sponsored by the Seymour Agricultural Society and although returns from the event were not to hand last evening the large numbers attending and participating in the event indicated that the venture was a financial success.

With Front street roped off from Godden's store to Long's confectionery, a large space was cleared for the dancers, while yet other areas were set aside for those who did not dance but wished to listen to the music. To add to the attraction, colored lights were strung across the street and stores abutting on the enclosed sections kept their store lights on despite the fact that it was the town's half holiday. And to aid the dancers to recover any lost vim, refreshment booths were handy for their convenience.

And parking was one of the difficult jobs that motorists had to face, for every street on both sides of the river within a very large area had more than its quota of parked cars. And to make the event a complete success, ideal weather prevailed.

Tip Top Tailors Score Again!

Genuine Harris Tweeds Now in Regular Line

Genuine Harris tweeds—known all over the world for their distinctive texture—have romance in their very origin. On rough-hewn hand-looms in the little homes of the crofters in the far off isles of the Scottish Hebrides, this famous tweed is slowly spun by hand. The great mills of the world have tried, without success, to produce a cloth that, for sturdiness, fibre and feel, can compare with the product of the humblest hut in the western isles.

Mr. D. G. MacKenzie, representing the crofters' tweed industry of the isles of Lewis and Harris, recently demonstrated to visitors at the Canadian National Exhibition, the primitive method of weaving Harris tweeds. Not only has he succeeded in arousing a very great amount of interest, but he secured from Tip Top Tailors Limited a contract to supply them with genuine Harris tweeds of various patterns, to be used in making suits and top coats for their famous line of made-to-measure clothes.

Never before have these wonderful tweeds been available at so low a price, and it is typical of the enterprise of Tip Top Tailors Limited that genuine Harris tweeds from the Hebrides can be bought at the regular Tip Top Tailors' "Price of Quality" of $22.50. In making this renowned material available to men throughout Canada at their regular price, Tip Top Tailors Limited are rendering a service which Canadians will quickly recognize and appreciate.

ATLANTIC FLEET LOSES ADMIRAL

Sir Michael Hodges, in Command Since 1930, Retiring at Own Request.

GIVE YOUNG MEN CHANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—(C. P. Cable)—Admiral Sir Michael Hodges, who has been commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet since 1930 is retiring from the navy at his own request to facilitate the promotion of younger officers.

Thus officially closes the career of one of England's finest naval figures, one which was marked with rapid promotion and outstanding service. "We seem now to have more officers than opportunities for them," said Admiral Hodges last evening. "Things have changed since my young days."

Born 58 years ago, Admiral Hodges commenced his career in the navy in 1887 and was promoted to a lieutenancy in 1895. From that time on his service gained him a series of promotions and he was given the command of many ships. He served South Africa in the defence of Ladysmith and was several times mentioned in despatches, and during 1916-1918 commanded H. M. S. Indomitable and H. M. S. Renown, in the grand fleet. Following the great war were more promotions until 1930 when he was named commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet.

Conservatives To Hold Get-Together

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 23 (Examiner Staff Correspondent).—The Conservatives of Campbellford and the district will hold a get-together on Tuesday evening, Sept. 27, in the Davidson Pavilion, Campbellford. This will take the form of an old-time social, and will be for the party workers of Campbellford, Seymour, Percy and Hastings.

Obituary

RICHARD NURSE

EAST EMILY, Sept. 23. (Examiner Correspondence).—Death came on Saturday afternoon to an old and highly respected resident of this district in the person of Mr. Richard Nurse.

Although Mr. Nurse had been in failing health for some time, death came as a shock to the community.

The late Mr. Nurse was 76 years of age and had lived in this neighbourhood practically all his life. His wife, whose maiden name was Margaret Edmunson, predeceased him 19 years ago, and also one son, Wilbert, 10 years ago.

In religion he was Anglican and he was highly respected by all.

He leaves to mourn his loss three sons, Harold of Kingston and Clayton and Elmer of Ennismore township and four grandchildren; also four sisters and two brothers, Mrs Franks of the West, Mrs. Tom Franks in Peterborough, Mrs. Geo. Nurse of Bridgenorth and Mrs. Ried of Young's Point and William and Robert both of East Emily.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from Comstock's funeral home, Peterborough to Bridgenorth cemetery for interment, Rev. A. T. Weir of Omemee officiating.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held by his many friends.

The bearers were three sons, Harold, Clayton and Elmer and three nephews, Tom Nurse, Smithsop Nurse and Melville McWilliams.

MRS. ROBERT McNICKLE

The funeral took place in Emily Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon, September 14th of Mrs. Robert McNickie of Lindsay whose maiden name was Sarah Hamilton.

The deceased was in her 74th year and was born in East Emily where she resided all her life until fifteen years ago when she and her husband moved to Lindsay.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving mother, two sons and two daughters, John of the West, Meredith of Lindsay, Mrs. Weatherup of London and Mrs. Erskine of Toronto.

H. B. MORPHY PASSES

OTTAWA — Word was received here today of the death at Listowel, Ont., of H. B. Morphy, who represented the constituency of North Perth in the House of Commons from 1911 to 1921.

..WEAK KIDNEYS..

Edith Fortescue

Chatham, Ont. — "My little daughter, Edith, age 5, was troubled with weak kidneys. When she was on her feet awhile she seemed to have no control over her kidneys at all. She was restless and nervous, hardly slept at all at night, and her appetite was so poor," said Mrs. A. Fortescue of 12 Alfred St. "Less than two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets strengthened her kidneys wonderfully so that they now act in a normal way. She is no longer restless or nervous and her appetite is fine."

FENELLA

Rev. R. W. Paton, M. A., who for the past two and one half years has ministered to the Roseneath-Fenella charge, leaves the latter part of the month for University College, Toronto, to take a post-graduate course. During his absence the work will be taken by Mr. Empy, a student of Emmanuel College, Toronto.

At a recent congregational meeting of Fenella United Church, it was decided to serve hot meals at Roseneath Fair, and a meeting has been called for Saturday evening to make arrangements regarding this matter.

Decided also on motion that several copies of the United Church Hymnary be procured, and that at the beginning of the new year the use of the Hymnary will begin.

Decided also that divine service and Sunday school service will be withdrawn on Sunday, September 25th, owing to anniversary services being observed in Centenary United Church.

Fenella Women's Institute, which was called on Monday afternoon, committees were named and many items of business were transacted to arrange to cater to the Rotary Club of Cobourg, at their annual banquet. The date of the banquet has not been finally set.

A rally day service will be held in Fenella United Sunday school on Sunday morning, October 2.

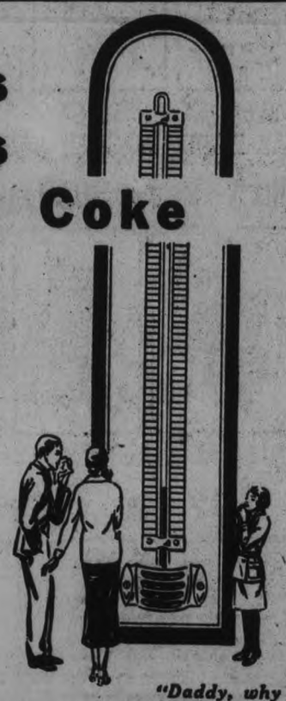
HAMILTON BY-PRODUCT COKE

No CHILLY rooms if you use this All-Canadian Coke



"Daddy, why is my room so cold?"

ARE there certain hard-to-heat rooms in your house on cold, blustery days? There shouldn't be any—and there won't be any if you burn nothing in your furnace except Hamilton By-Product Coke.

This dustless all-Canadian Coke is easy on both your furnace and your budget. It burns freely in any type of furnace, old or new, and reduces labor because it is light on the shovel and creates almost no ashes.

At any price, thousands of householders would choose this coke in preference to older-fashioned fuels. But, actually, the cost to you is one-third less—a saving of many dollars on your winter fuel needs.

HAMILTON Knock 1/3 off your fuel costs! By-Product COKE

HARWOOD CHURCH CONGREGATION OBSERVES GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Rev. Thomas McNaught and Rev. James Ross Are Assisting Clergymen.

SPLENDID ADDRESSES

(Examiner Correspondence.)

FENELLA, September 23. — Sunday, September 18, will go down in church history as an historic and memorable day to the congregation of Harwood (Bethesda) United church, on the occasion of the golden jubilee anniversary of the present church. Morning and evening services were held, when the seating capacity of the church was taxed to accommodate the large numbers attending both services. A wealth of beautiful autumn flowers and foliage were banked around the altar and chancel. Assisting the pastor, Rev. James Leach, at the morning worship, was Rev. Thomas McNaught of Balderson, Ont., a former pastor on the Harwood-Roseneath charge. Assisting at the evening service were Rev. James Ross of Peterborough, the pastor in charge some fifty-two years ago, Rev. Thomas McNaught, and Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A., of Roseneath. On invitation of the pastor, at the morning service, to all those attending the opening service of the church fifty years ago to stand, several responded. Among those who responded were Mr. and Mrs. George Black of Toronto, Mrs. T. Boyle, Mrs. A. Noble, Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Skinner, Mrs. Skene, and Mrs. Thomas Buttars of Cobourg, Messrs. James Buttars, and A. Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. James Buttars, Cold Springs, W. H. Sandercock, Fenella, and others, to the number of twenty-three.

Splendid Addresses.

Rev. Thomas McNaught of Balderson, delivered special addresses at the morning and evening services. Before beginning his discourse, Mr. McNaught dwelt for a short time on his ministry on this appointment fifteen years ago, recalling happy and sacred memories of his sojourn among his people. He also brought congratulations and good wishes from his own congregations at Balderson, on this golden anniversary day.

Choosing his text from a portion of Scripture, found in Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, chapter 4 and part of verse 1: "That ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called," Mr. McNaught appealed to his hearers for a more Christ-like faith, saying, in conclusion, "remember that you carry about with you the costume of Jesus Christ," "ye are the salt of the earth," "ye are the light of the world," "let your Christian life be an open epistle to be known and read of all mankind." The subject of Mr. McNaught's discourse at the evening service was "A Call to Worship." Selecting his text from a portion of Scripture found in Acts 9:6: "Lord, what will Thou have me to do?" he pointed two contrasting pictures, a picture of Saul of Tarsus before his conversion, and a picture of Paul the Apostle, following his conversion. Making an earnest appeal to the young people who will carry on the work, he said, "When God calls heed the call, remembering the great specific truth, that we can only do our great work when we are just where God wants us to be."

The memory of Mr. McNaught's messages will linger long in the hearts and minds of his listeners as messages of great blessing.

Dedication Service.

Just preceding the evening service a solemn dedication service was held when a beautifully bound volume of the United Church hymnary was presented to the church and congregation by Mrs. A. Johnson and daughter, Miss Jessie Johnson, of Roseneath in loving memory of the late A. Johnson, husband and father of those presenting the gift. Rev. James Ross of Peterborough, a pastor to this congregation 52 years ago participated in this ceremony, and accepted the gift on behalf of the church and congregation. The dedicatory prayer was offered by Rev. Thomas McNaught. Prior to this ceremony Rev. James Leach, read the following motion gleaned from the church records of many years ago:

"Moved by George Kennedy and seconded by A. Johnson, that an organ be purchased to assist in the worship in this congregation," showing, said Mr. Leach, that Mr. Johnson was interested in the musical part of the worship at that time.

Suitable and inspiring musical numbers were rendered at both services; in the morning the home choir under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Lean of Oshawa, who also presided at the organ, sang three numbers, two anthems: "I will bless the Lord," and "Wash me in His Precious Blood," and a duet "Come unto Me," by Mrs. A. Lawton, and Mrs. Earl Drope, this latter number is deserving of special mention, in that, the sweet, full tones of the singers blended beautifully together —producing a perfect harmony.

The evening song of service was led by the choir of Bailieboro United church. Three numbers were sung: An anthem, "Oh, be Joyful in the Lord all ye Lands," a duet, "Drifting over on Life's Sea," by Messrs. Keith Barnard and Eldridge White, and a quartette "Lead, Kindly Light," by Mesdames N. Thompson and W. Bateman, and Messrs. Norman Thompson and Eldridge White. All numbers were musical treats, but one must make The singers were in fine voice and especial mention of the quartette. the melody flowed on throughout the whole selection, as one harmonious piece of music, played on an instrument by a master musician.

Successful Fowl Supper

On the following Tuesday evening, September 20, in connection with the festivities, a fowl supper and grand concert were given. A bountiful fowl supper was served from well staffed tables, while later on in the evening the spiritual needs of man were catered to. About three hundred tickets were sold, proceeds amounting to $106.45.

The major part of the musical program was rendered by the Holden quartette of Oshawa, Mr. R. A. Holden and his three sons, Donald, James and Robert, with Mrs. R. A. Holden as accompanist. Three quartettes (a Darky Melody), "The Backsliding Brother," "Simple Simon," and "Sleep, Kentucky Babe," two solos by Mr. R. A. Holden, "The Tin Gee Gee," a Cockney song, and a Scotch selection "He was Kind to Me," were the vocal selections, rendered by the quartette, and there was no doubt as to the popularity of the artists and their selections, as evidenced by the hearty applause of their audience, calling the performers (who were very generous in the matter of encores), time after time to the stage. Another musical number by two of the Holden family, was an instrumental duet, "Poet and Peasant," by Mrs. R. A. Holden and son Robert. One must single out this number as very worthy of special mention, from the first faint opening chords, when the listener seemed to hear the faint echoes of a tiny water fall, to a gradual leading up to and on through the heavier parts, until it reached a climax in a full crescendo of crashing chords. It was a work of marvellous fingering and a musical feast to those musically inclined.

Assisting these artists were Miss Ina Rosevear, of Harwood, a pupil at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, who rendered a piano instrumental, and Mis Velma Harris of Oshawa, elocutionist, who contributed two numbers, "My Rosa," and "A Friday afternoon program in a Junior Grade," Miss Harris, who is a very pleasing entertainer, responded generously to continued calls for encores.

Rev. James Ross of Peterborough, a pastor of 50 years ago, was called to the platform, and his address consisted of reminiscences of long ago, half humorous, half sad, and more interesting possibly to many present, who, in memory, travelled back with him to those long by gone times.

Rev. W. W. Jones of Millbrook, president of Cobourg Presbytery, brought greeting from the Presbytery, and Rev. R. W. Paton, M. A., of Roseneath, brought greetings from his congregations.

Historical Survey.

One very interesting feature of the program, was the reading of an Historical Survey, by the pastor, Rev. James Leach. The survey follows:

The following is a record of the ministers of Harwood (Bethesda) United Church, which before union was consummated, was a Presbyterian church:

Rev. McWilliams—1863-1880.
Rev. James Ross—1881-1903.
Rev. W. R. Johnson—1903-1909.
Rev. J. R. Black—1909-1913.
Rev. W. H. Alp—1914-1916.
Rev. Thos McNaught—1916-1921.
Rev. Thomas McCord—1922-1926.
Rev. Robert Barbour—1926-1929.
Rev. James Leach—1929-

Mr. Leach is the present pastor.

At a special congregational meeting held Thursday, January 15, '82, when 41 members were present, it was moved by Adam Watson, and seconded by James Campbell, that a new church be built. The contract was let to a Mr. Fitzgerald for the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars, although when completed the building cost three thousand, and three hundred dollars. At the same time, with foresight and insight, it was decided on motion that a basement be included; this however was not completed for about five years. The first trustees of the new church were John Isaac, James Campbell and James R. McCulloch. The following were a building committee: Sylvester Campbell, Alexander Baptist, James Kennedy, James Campbell, Robert Baptist, Adam Watson and Thomas Elder. The members of the first session were George Kennedy, Sr., George Kennedy, Jr., and R. MacKenzie. The session at the present time consists of James Buttars, A. M. Campbell, A. Carruthers and Frank McCulloch. When the congregation met in 1882 the managers were Alexander Baptist, Francis Kennedy William Isaac, David Carstairs, Robert Baptist and Thomas Buttars. The present board of managers are L. R. Isaac, G. W. Isaac, Hilton Graham, Roy Cowling, Harry Hutcheson, Frank Arthurs and A. Lawton, treasurer. In the session book of December 14, 1883, this very significant entry appears: Moved by George Kennedy, seconded by A. Johnson, "That with a view to the interests of this congregaion, and to help in the service of praise, we sanction the use of an organ in this church." The following were the choir at the opening of the church: Thomas Elder, percentor, David J. Buttars, James Carruthers, Richard Clapperton, the Misses Margaret Buttar, Jane Russel, Annie Campbell and Margaret Farr. This choir carried on for one year without an instrument; then an organ was purchased for $51, and is still in use by the present congregation. Miss Maggie Skinner was the first organist; she was followed by Miss Grace Carruthers. The present organist is Mrs. A. Lawton. The present choir is Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cowling, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Drope, Misses Ina Dennison, Noreen Osborne, Margaret Sherwin, Dora O'Connell, and Helen Campbell; and Messrs. J. Walker, Ronald Lawton, Hayden Buttars, J. Waddell and Gordon O'Connel.

This historical record would not be complete were the two concluding items omitted:

First, of a legacy of five hundred dollars, left by the late David Carstairs, who died about 1914, and second, of a legacy of approximately six hundred and thirty-eight dollars willed to his church by one Percy Anderson, a boy from the Old Land, who made his home with Mr. G. U. Isaac, and found a church home at Bethesda (Harwood). In 1914 he answered the call of his country, went overseas, and made the supreme sacrifice, willing all his earthly substance to the church wherein he had found a home.

These two items illustrate the value and esteem in which they held their church.

Merchandise exported from the United States to the Far East in the first half of this year was valued at $180,030,000.

Cavan

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wilkinson of Millbrook, Mrs. McGee and little daughter and Mr. Ernie Lamb of Cavan motored to Midland on Wednesday to visit relatives.

Mrs. James Douglas visited Fairmount friends on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Lackey, of Fraserville and Mr. and Mrs. Millenray and Miss Elizabeth Powell of Toronto were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Howden on Monday.

Messrs. Offa and Thomas Staples, Manvers were visitors in Cavan on Monday.

Farmers are busy with ploughing and threshing. In this district oats are not yielding as well as usual, many fields having suffered from hail.

PAYS FINE FOR RIDING RODS.

BRANTFORD, Ont.—John Ribich of Simcoe had $45 and a desire to travel to Hamilton. He wanted to keep the $45, so rode the rods to Brantford. To-day he was fined $5 and costs, which will be much in excess of the cost of a ticket to Hamilton from Simcoe.

only $159.50

Special English Imported Coverings
Offered for the first time in Canada

These new multi-colored repps are all original patterns selected by our European buyer and shipped just in time for this sale. They are the smartest coverings we have had in years—smart and long-wearing! Coupled with the purchase of the other raw materials at almost unheard-of prices, we are offering these suites through our dealers at a price which, in a rising market, represents an investment that will not be duplicated for years to come.

The suites are new and modern in design. Deep seats, high backs—the very soul of comfort! The chesterfield is long and deep; the chairs are roomy and immaculately built. The whole ensemble is perfectly tailored.

Guaranteed Moth-proof, of course. Plus the reputation of the big Snyder organization behind the guarantee to give you confidence in buying. Insures that the guarantee will be lived up to three, four, five years hence.

Grasp this rare opportunity now. The supply is limited. See your dealer, whose name is listed below — on opening day — Sept. 24th.

CASH TALKED

The tremendous cash buying capacity of Snyder's Limited permitted us to purchase raw materials in a distress market. Select hardwood for the frames, steel springs, webbing—even the woodwork varnish, was purchased at below manufacturer's cost. In addition to this remarkable saving in raw material cost, we also purchased our English coverings through our European representative at extremely favorable exchange rates. Spot cash buying plus our manufacturing resources make it possible to give the people of Canada this really wonderful investment in Living Room comfort.

A smaller suite is being offered also, for apartment houses and small living rooms—at a correspondingly lower price. See it at your dealer's.

"The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Vair, Glenburnie was the scene of a very enjoyable social gathering when the community of Glenburnie gathered there to spend an evening with their daughter, Miss Harriett Vair previous to her approaching marriage to Mr. Herbert Wilson of Peterborough. A very fine program provided much enjoyment. Violin and piano duets by Rev. Patterson and Mrs. Vair also by E. Moore and Mrs. Moore, were much appreciated. A real musical treat was given by Mrs. Lee and her sister, Miss Billie Craig of Keewatin, daughters of a former Glenburnie gentleman, William Craig, as they entertained with instrumental selections. Community singing and quartettes were also contributed. The happy event of the evening was the reading of an address by Miss Mary Shannon testifying to the many admirable qualities of the bride-to-be and with best wishes for future happiness. This was accompanied by the presentation by Miss Mary Draper of a beautiful royal blue glass vase, sterling silver-trimmed and a handsome silver Sheffield tray. Miss Vair responded in a very pleasing manner, as did both Mr. and Mrs. Vair, expressing their appreciation of the kindness of their friends and neighbors, which was followed by impromptu speeches by several present. Refreshments were served by the young friends of the bride and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," "She's a Jolly Good Fellow," and "The King" brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

SAUER KRAUT

Cold, crispy sauer kraut, accompanied with a suitable variety of meat and potatoes, has been the success of many a "star" supper. Now the wise housewife is adopting this typical "he-man" relish in her salad dishes—thus heightening the flavor of the salad and the social standing of sauer kraut.

A taste test made by the Home Bureau in Toronto recently revealed that among men sauer kraut is more popular cold than hot. Serving it cold gives the additional advantage of retaining the full content of vitamin C, which, along with vitamins A, B and F forms one of the important health features of sauer kraut.

SAUER KRAUT SALAD.

One can of sauer kraut, drained and thoroughly marinated in mayonnaise thinned with tomato juice or cream preferred. Served in mounds on crisp lettuce leaf and garnish with strips of pimento and slices of hard cooked eggs. Top with a spoonful of thick mayonnaise. With this salad serve buttered fingers of whole wheat toast.

SAUER KRAUT ALL-BRAN SALAD

1 cup chopped celery.
1 cup sauer kraut.
¼ cup all-bran.
Russian dressing.

Cut pears, celery, and kraut in small pieces. Mix with Russian dressing and add all-bran. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with two strips of pimento crossed and small rosettes of cheese. All ingredients should be thoroughly chilled.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

THERE IS NO FAMILY, I believe, in which at times disagreements do not occur and tempers snap.

• • • • • •

Sometimes the result is more disastrous when a silence afterwards pervades the household. This generally signifies sullenness, or corked-up anger.

• • • • • •

The former is worse than the latter, for finally this latter will burst forth again like a tempest until the atmosphere is cleared, while the former reacts to the ruination of the sullen person's character, undermining its sweetness with a strata of discontent and discord difficult to dislodge.

• • • • • •

No person can be a favorite at home or in society who has a sullen disposition. It is something to protect oneself against. The sullen one seldom is generous enough to make conciliatory advances, and repells those of others.

• • • • • •

Small antagonisms grow as they are nurtured and unhappiness is reflected in the sullen person. The unhappy person cannot be a favorite.

• • • • • •

One way to handle a situation after a family or personal harangue is to think of the affair as one would of broken dishes. In every home dishes are broken sometimes.

• • • • • •

They may be exqusiite and costly, and are then sent to the menders to be made "as good as new," which they actually can be when not broken to tiny pieces.

• • • • • •

Experts know the arts of riveting and even making inserts not detectable except under magnifying glasses. When discords are deep, let them be treated as such beautiful china.

• • • • • •

Harmony can be made "as good as new" by expert treatment Gather together in your mind all the fragments of congenial ideas common to each.

• • • • • •

Cement them together with love and rivet them with affection. The break is sure to be repaired without detriment, and life runs smoothly just as soon as this happens.

• • • • • •

When tempers snap over minor things, discard the whole matter from your mind as you would throw away some cheap dish when it gets broken.

Household Hints

MENU HINT

Fruit Juice
Baked Fresh Ham
Mashed Potatoes
buttered Beets (Small and Halved)
Vegetable Salad
Hot Buttered Rolls
Angel Food Cake Coffee

This dinner menu takes into consideration that summer is definitely over and cooler weather here. Baked fresh ham is comparatively inexpensive and is economical, as it is delicious served hot or cold. Be sure the meat is well cooked. Allow a full half hour roasting for each pound of meat.

Today's Recipes

Salad—All vegetables should be washed, peeled and put through cabbage slicer so all will be very thin. One cucumber, two tomatoes, one green pepper, several radishes, one small head cabbage, celery hearts, one onion, one carrot (increase amount of any particularly liked vegetable and omit any one that is not popular with the family taste). See that every vegetable is in very small slices. Drain juices off. Thoroughly combine vegetables with juice from one or two lemons to retain colors and prevent any darkness. Add one small can condensed milk. Drain surplus liquid again and add one-half pint of mayonnaise. Chill. Top with a spoon of mayonnaise with a dash of paprika.

'DOC' WILSON VERY POPULAR WITH LOCAL WRESTLING FANS

Clean-Cut Victory Over Nazzarino Poggi Earned Him the Plaudits.

MEETS KOGUT TO-NIGHT

PRELIMINARY

SEMI-FINAL

"Tiny" Ruff, Miami, Florida, vs. Frank Speers, Atlanta, Ga., one fall, 45 minutes time limit.

MAIN BOUT

Jack Kogut, Toronto vs. Dr. Ralph Wilson, Philadelphia, best two out of three falls, two hours time limit.

Jack Kogut, one of Canada's leading professional wrestlers, will get an opportunity which he has well earned when he meets the noted surgeon-wrestler from Philadelphia, Doctor Ralph Wilson, in the main bout of the Queensbury Club show at the Brock Street Rink this evening. Kogut wrestled for the championship of world six times when he was light heavyweight. He gained draws in three of these bouts but making the weight kept him from winning and he wisely relinquished his Canadian light heavyweight crown to compete in heavyweight ranks. Now he is a full-fledged heavyweight, scaling 200 pounds and will be within a pound or two of Wilson's weight.

It is hard to see where Kogut will be under any disadvantage whatever. As pointed out his weight is the same as Wilson's and in the matter of experience he has been in the game longer than the "flying surgeon." Kogut started wrestling when he was sixteen years of age and he is now twenty-eight, having met the best in the middleweight and light heavyweight division before outgrowing both these weight classes.

Made Great Hit

Wilson made a great hit in his victory over Nazzarino Poggie here on August 26 and will be welcome back to-night. Wherever he goes he is one of the most popular wrestlers in the sport, his neat appearance and clean style earning him the plaudits of the fans.

In the semi-final two newcomers of main bout ability, Frank Speers, the former All-American football star from Georgia Tech, and "Tiny" Ruff of Florida will be opponents while the intense rivalry between Alex Kasaboski and Frankie Hart should be at its height in the opener.

JIMMY FOXX NEARS MARK SET BY RUTH

BUT MACKS LOSE 8-7.

Recruit Hurlers on Pittsburg Staff Blanks Chicago Cubs 7-0.

(By Gayle Talbot, Associated Press Sports Writer)

Most of the excitement to be gleaned from the closing days of the major league pennant races is wrapped up in the final three-game series between the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics starting today in the capital city.

Second place in the American League, with its attendant "cut" of the world series money, is at stake, with Walt Johnson's Senators needing the series to win runner-up honors. A single victory would clinch the spot for the A's.

Then there is Jimmie Foxx, mauling first baseman of the Mackmen, and his assault on a couple of homerun records, including that of the Mighty George Herman (Babe) Ruth. Foxx cracked his 55th and 56th of the season yesterday as the Athletics dropped a 10 inning struggle to the champion Yankees, 8 to 7.

The total of 56 homes ties the record for right-hand hitters, set by Hack Wilson with the Chicago Cubs in 1930. Another for the Maryland Mauler would break Wilson's mark, and four more would tie Ruth's great string of 60, set in '27. Four of them in three games is a large order, but there is an outside possibility he'll do it.

Remain In Scrap

The Senators remained in the scrap for second by beating the Boston Red Sox again, 4 to 2. General Alvin Crowder yielded but four hits to score his 14th straight triumph and his 25th of the year. He and Lefty Grove of the A's top the American League, each with 25 wins, another private argument that may be settled in the series starting today.

Blank Cubs 7-0

Over in the National League, the Pittsburg Pirates continued to pour it on the champion Chicago Cubs, who are in no mood to be bothered by such trifles. Hal Smith, a youngster purchased from Kansas City, set the champs down with six hits and blanked them, 7 to 0. Paul Waner hit his 59th two-bagger of the year, trying Chuck Klein's National League record.

Brooklyn tightened its hold on third place by taking its final from the Giants, 7 to 2, as Glenn Wright and Joe Stripp hit the ball hard. George Puccinelli and Charlie Wilson, members of the St. Louis Cardinals' newest rookie crop, hit home runs to help beat Cincinnati 8 to 3.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Jimmie Foxx, Athletics—Drove in five runs against Yankees with 55th and 56th homers and single.

Hal Smith, Pirates — Made Major League debut by blanking Cubs with six hits.

George Puccinelli and Charley Wilson, Cardinals — Their homers helped down Reds.

Joe Stripp, Dodgers—Led attack on Giant pitching with triple and two singles.

"Gossip and Such"

As the Yankees and Cubs take the field for the 1932 world series, the shades of every October baseball classic of the last 25 years save three will be present.

• • •

The portly form of Babe Ruth, himself, is a reminder of no less than nine world's series. However, three men connected with the coming classic predate the "Bambino King" as series heroes. They are Coach Charlie O'Leary of the Cubs, Coach Art Fletcher of the Yanks and Pitcher Herb Pennock, also with Joe McCarthy's New Yorkers.

• • •

O'Leary's series memories go back to 1907 when he was shortstop for the Detroit American league champions. O'Leary was also with the Tigers in the series of 1908 and 1909.

• • •

Every series since 1906 save the 1910, 1919 and 1924 games are represented among the players and employees of the two competing clubs this year.

Grimes May Not Pitch This Series

BASEBALL VETERAN HAS TROUBLESOME APPENDIX

Charlie Grimm to Depend on Bush, Root, Warneke and Malone to Hold Yanks.

(By Paul Mickelson, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 23.—Nothing has happened during the relaxation process of the Cubs to alter Manager Charlie Grimm's decision to stick to his "Big Four" pitchers in the World Series.

The Cub hurling quartette of Guy Bush, Charlie Root, Lonnie Warneke and Pat Malone was expected to start in that order against the Yankees with the burden of relief, if necessary, falling mostly on the shoulders of young Bud Tinning.

Malone was cuffed around by Pittsburgh Wednesday. But every Pirate hit was music to Manager Grimm's World Series ear. The Altoona, Pa., fireman always has been an in and outer, with one good game and then a bad one. So Grimm stacked his last start with the bad collection and was happy about it.

Final Tune-ups.

Bush and Warneke were slated for their final tune-ups to-morrow and Sunday in closing series against Cincinnati.

Except for a possible relief role, world series fans may not get a glimpse of the other Cub pitchers in action. Burleigh Grimes, a victim of illness most of the season and handicapped by a troublesome appendix right now, failed to impress Grimm yesterday in the final against the Pirates. He was thumped for nine hits and six runs in five innings. Bob Smith gave some encouragement by holding the Bucs to three hits in four innings. As for the rest of the pitching staff, including the only left hander on the team, Jakie May, nothing in the way of a world series performance was expected.

Thus, Grimm will depend almost entirely on the quartette that pitched a total of 71 victories against 4 defeats in the rush to the National League pennant.

Cub Youngster

LYLE TINNING.

LYLE TINNING, better known as "Bud," is one of the youngsters of the Chicago Cub pitching crew. The Pilger, Neb, boy is 25—having been born March 12, 1907.

Last season, Tinning burned up the Western League as a member of the Des Moines, Ia., Demons. He won 24 games, lost but two. That won him a Cub contract. This will be his first world series.

Tinning, this season, has a record of four games won and two lost, having been used sparingly by the Cubs. His chief function this year was that of relief hurler.

West To Have Pro. Hockey This Winter

EDMONTON, Sept. 23. —(CP)— Without a major league for many years and minus even a minor circuit since 1926, the west is to have professional hockey this winter if nearly completed plans of organizers in five cities go through.

Gordon (Duke) Keats, one of the greatest centre ice performers in big league hockey a few years ago, announced last night the Western Canada League would operate again.

According to Keats, who said the league was a certainty and that adequate financial arrangements had been made in all the cities, Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, Calgary and Edmonton will have teams. It was announced that Joe Ganguish of Saskatoon would be in charge of a team in that city; that a company had been organized to back the Moose Jaw club; that Lloyd Turner, well-known sportsman of Calgary, was behind the entry from that city and that Keats had organized a company to give financial support to the Edmonton aggregation.

Several Edmonton boys, performing for the last few years in the California Hockey League and other minor professional hockey leagues, it is understood, have agreed to lineup with western promoters.

COL. RUPPERT'S NEW YORKERS HOLD EDGE IN HITTING POWER

Gehrig, Lazzeri and Sewell Pack Kind of Punch That Breaks Up Ball Game.

INFIELD COMPARISONS.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The infielders of the Chicago Cubs hold the edge over their Yankee rivals in most everything except the potent art of slugging baseballs out of the park.

Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Joe Sewell, a newcomer to this feature of the business, all pack the kind of a batting punch that breaks up the old ball game.

Man for man, however, the Cub combination can point to more robust-looking batting marks for the 1932 season. The Bruin infielders, besides, can claim the distinction of being younger than their rivals, faster on the bases and quicker at the vital task of pulling double plays.

Apart from the color added to the world series by the come-backs of Tony Lazzeri and Mark Anthony Koenig, one-time "Keystone Kids" of the Yankees now turning up as rivals, the two infielders are closely matched in all-around ability.

Both Lazzeri and Koenig are expected to start the series, although they have been out of commission recently, the former at second base for the Yankees and the latter at shortstop for the Cubs. Bill Jurges is ready to step in if Koenig cannot go the series route. Otherwise the only quesion in either lineup is whether Frank Crosetti, the slender Yankee recruit, will hold down the shortstop post or yield to Lin Lary or Dr. Eddie Farrell. Crosetti likely will start.

Whatever Manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs lacks in clouting ability by comparison with Larruping Lou Gehrig, the Yankee "iron man" first baseman, he makes up for in general steadiness. Grimm is a "money player," besides being a fine leader and banjo strummer. He has the artist's touch at first base. He was one of the few Cubs to play exceptional ball against the Athletics in the 1929 world series, batting close to .400.

Lazzeri's harder hitting ability and longer experience, providing he is in shape, gives him a distinct shade over Billy Herman, the 23-year-old Cub keystone star. Tony is as vital a cog as Ruth in the Yankee machinery. He has the faculty of pulling the club together at shaky moments. Herman, however, has proved he can stand the gaff in a tough pennant scrap. Billy the kid leads off the Cubs at bat and has a season's mark of around .310 for the full schedule.

Koenig's return from the minors was simultaneous with Chicago's pennant rush. Grimm was instrumental in getting him and credits the former Yankees with a big part in the team's winning drive. Because of his hitting and experience Mark has the edge of any one of the three Yankee shortstop possibilities.

Better Hitter

Elwood English is a better hitter than his average of around .270 for the season indicates. He is nine years younger and considerably faster than Joe Sewell, the veteran Yankee third sacker, but no steadier in the field nor as consistent at bat. Sewell is one of the toughest men in the game to baffle at the plate. It's real baseball when Alabama Joe strikes out.

The Cubs have 22-year-old Stanley Hack, as well as Jurges, for utility work around the infield premises.

Game Is Arranged For Hastings Fans

HASTINGS, Sept. 23 (Examiner Correspondence). — Arrangements are being made to hold what will likely be the last ball game of the season on Wednesday afternoon of next week, between the Albions of Havelock and the locals. This will be a benefit game for C. Baker, who fractured his ankle earlier in the season. A girl's softball game will also be played between Hastings and either Havelock or Norwood.

WESTCLOX SCORES LOPSIDED WIN 27-4

Sugar Bowl Takes 13-4 Victory From Daily Star in Indoor League Game.

Two indoor softball games were played at the Brock last night resulting in a 27-4 win for the Westclox girls over Brintons, and a 13-4 victory for Sugar Bowl over Daily Stars. Some good and bad softball was dished up before a fair crowd of fans in the doubleheader.

The girls' teams opened it, and the Alarm Maidens went to work early to start piling up their lead. They showed more class at bat and in the field than their opponents from the start. Good twirling by Gladys Mortimer with steady defensive work by her teammates, along with considerable loose play by the Carpetmakers made it a one-sided game, though exciting in spots.

The men's fixture was closer, with fair hurling shown by Simmons of Sugar Bowl and Price and Butcher of the losers, and some sparkling infield work on the part of both teams. With the count 3-1 for the Bowlmen in the third, they broke away in the next stanza to shove across four runs, adding one each in the fifth and seventh and four more in the sixth. Stars got two in their end of the fourn but could squeeze over only one more in the fifth to wind up their tallying.

The teams:

Sugar Bowl—Smith, 1b; W. Calladine, ss; Wilshaw, 3b; Playford, 2b; Vinette, cf; P. Calladine, c; Mahood, rf; Campbell, lf; Simmons, p.

Daily Stars—Westbrooke, 3b; C. Clark 1b; R. Clark, ss; Cowan, ss; Gainey, cf; Gray, c; Jones, rf; Wiley, lf; Miller, 2b; O'Toole, rf; Price, p; Butcher, p.

Annual Tournament Held At Brighton

HASTINGS, Sept. 23.—(Examiner Corespondence.)— The Brighton Bowling Club held their annual tournament on Wednesday afternoon and ten rinks entered for the four prizes offered. The tournament was run off on the point system, each team playing three games. The sport was very much enjoyed by everyone present and no doubt if the club had held it a little earlier in the season they would have had many more entries.

First prizes, a pair of woollen blankets, went to the Brighton rink skipped by B. F. Maybee. Second prize, military brush and comb, was won by H. Mathieson's rink from Havelock, third prize carving sets, went to the Deseronto rink skipped by Taman. The hard luck prizes, flashlights, were won by the J. Simons rink of Belleville.

Hastings was represented by one rink, made up as follows: Dr. Campbell lead, J. F. Fleming, A. Wilson vice and F. G. Runnels. This was Mr. Runnel's first attempt in a tournament and he did very well, winning one and losing two.

SPORTS Day by Day

Baseball — Softball — Lacrosse
Boxing — Wrestling — Acquatic

(BY C. J. P.)

The rasslin' show at the Brock to-night is the main sport attraction around town, and it should be pretty fair. Dr. Ralph Wilson and Jack Kogut ought to go alright against each other. Kogut carries a pauch around with him and doesn't look so flashy but he loses very few bouts. He makes few waste motions, going along calmly and easily till he gets an opening, and favors sudden flying tackles. He might surprise the Doc and a lot of fans. The Speers-Ruff semi-final and the Kasaboski-Hart prelim sounds good also.

* * * * * *

Too bad one of those O.B.A. final games in which local teams are playing to-morrow couldn't be held here. There's a great deal of interest apparent, both the Kiwanis Bantams and the Maple Leaf Juveniles having the baseball public of Peterborough pulling for them to cop an Ontario title this year. The bantams play their third game of the finals against Hamilton in Toronto to-morrow, while the Leafs go to Niagara Falls for the first of their final series.

* * * * * *

This town has never had a juvenile O.B.A.A. championship team, although we've had eight Ontario winners—more than any other city in the province except Toronto. C.G.E. brought two intermediate titles here. Lakeviews did the same in junior, Maple Leafs and Curlers each grabbed off a midget pennant, and in '29 and '30 we've copped bantam honors. This is a good year to help ourselves to two more championships.

* * * * * *

Somehow, the biggest kick in advancing in O.B.A.A. play-downs comes from eliminating Toronto teams, and we've hurdled two of them already this season. Baseball towns throughout the province seem to pull for a smaller town team when it meets the Toronto winners, the Queen City being known in athletic circles all over Ontario as Hogtown. Well, now that our bantams and juveniles have pushed aside the Toronto representatives, they ought to come down the stretch in front.

* * * * * *

We'd like to go on record at this time, flying in the face of baseball experts, dopesters, betters and the rest, and pick the Cubs to win over the Yanks in the World Series! We must admit that on paper the New York team looks best but "as Ruth goes so go the Yanks," and the Babe is suffering from a man-sized stomach ache. And then if Grimm's men carry as much fight into the series as they have into their past month's campaign, they should outgame the McCarthy squad. Anyway, just for the fun of it, we're naming the Cubs.

* * * * * *

Carl (Inky) Woods may get the hurling assignment for McIntyre Mines to-morrow in their final E.O.A.B.A. game against Davidson's of Ottawa. Both teams have taken one game, Woods winning the first one for the Northerners. He has been going great through the season, and many local players will remember his speed-ball when he was twirling in Peterborough not so many years ago.

* * * * * *

There's another Friday night bowling tournament at the local club to-night, and it's likely to be the last one of the season, so a big crowd should be out and put it over in style. When it gets this time of year, the thoughts of bowlers turn toward the indoor games of alley-bowling, carpetball, and curling.

* * * * * *

The P. C. I. Seconds, now in senior rugby, open their fall schedule in Lindsay on October 1, while the local first team plays Cobourg here that day. In the morning, the P. C. I. Intermediates play Cobourg in Stevenson Park. The Collegians and the Maple Leaf baseballers better make arrangements for the park that afternoon, as both are playing.

* * * * * *

Boxing classes open on Monday in the Alpha Club Gym. over Yeotes', and continue every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday night at seven. Louis Yeotes is backing the club this year, with Gord Garwood again boxing instructor. The gym has been enlarged, a ring will be installed, and new equipment, and it won't be very long before an amateur fistic show will be staged here.

* * * * * *

Roy Hope and Reg. Lesurf, two of the classiest welters in Peterborough or district either, have been working out the past week or so, along with several others of last year's Alpha Club, and some newcomers. There's plenty of good ring material in this city, and everyone interested in getting into the "manly art" can do so. Two stables will operate this winter, Louis Anthony again backing the Pioneer A. C., we understand.

BOWLING NOTES

Probably the final Friday night bowling tournament of the season is the one slated for to-night, and a record crowd is looked for to wind up the year in grand style. So far only two bowlers have qualified for the Friday night premium prizes, George Coleman Sr. with four wins in third place, and T. A. McDonald having four wins in second place, being the sure winners. However, a number have three wins and if they come through to-night, will come in for premium prizes.

Quite a number of Peterborough bowlers went to Port Hope last night for some friendly games with the Rosevear crowd, and the local ones reported a very pleasant evening down there and good games.

The club singles are now down to the eights, and this is how they will play at seven to-night: J. Penrose vs. T. McDonald, H. Coleman vs. H. Wood, J. Bennett vs. R. Dyer, with the winner of this last competition playing Dearborn.

Winners of the different groups in the club doubles are:

Group 1—Geo. Coleman Sr. and W. Henry.

Group 2—H. Coleman and F. Skinner.

Group 3—R. Ross and H. Dunford.

Group 4—J. J. Howden and A. Graham.

Only two prizes are given in this competition, so two pairs must be eliminated with the remaining two pairs playing off for first and second prizes. On Monday at seven the doubles play-off draw will be: G. Coleman Sr. and W. Henry vs. R. Ross and H. Dunford; H. Coleman and F. Skinner vs. J. J. Howden and A. Graham, the two winners then meeting.

HEADS ONTARIO BRANCH.

INGERSOLL, Ont., September 23 (C.P.). — Mrs. O. B. Jones, Ottawa, will again rule the Ontario branch International Order of King's Daughters and Sons. At the annual convention of that organization here, Mrs. Jones was unanimously re-elected to the presidency.

Other officers elected were: First vice-president, Miss G. E. Strange, Kingston; second vice-president, Miss Margaret Kerr, Woodstock; secretary, Mrs. W. M. Campbell, of Kingston; treasurer, Mrs. J. T. Field, Cobourg. The convention will meet next year in Aylmer, Ont.

STUDENTS BALK AT RAISED FEES

New Problem Crops Up as Church Seeks to Untangle Its Finances.

MANITOBA UNIVERSITY.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 23.—(C.P.) — John A. Machray, K.C., is in penitentiary but the confused tangle he left behind in the finances of the University of Manitoba and the Church of England in Western Canada is still far from straightened out.

To-day while the University was confronted with a threatened mass refusal of students to pay fees church authorities were wrestling with the problem of replacing their lost endowment funds.

Aroused at the recently announced increase in University fees the students apointed a committee to investigate the necessity for the step. Last night they announced they were not satisfied with the reasons advanced by the University authorities or by the Manitoba government.

Both authorities claimed the increase was made necessary by economic conditions and not by the losses in University endowments, said to total $900,000, sustained through the collapse of the investment firm of Machrway and Sharpe. This assurance has not satisfied the students and hence the threat to withhold their fees.

WILL BALANCE BUDGET.

SASKATOON, Sept. 23.—(By the Canadian Press.) — Saskatchewan will balance her budget this year. This was the cheering message delivered here by Hon. Howard McConnell, Minister of Municipal Affairs, in an address to the Young Conservative Association of this city. While not disclosing actual revenues Mr. McConnell stated they were far ahead of last year, while expenditures had been curtailed by $1,300,000 and a balanced budget was a practical certainty.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

JERRY MUSKRAT DECIDES WHERE HE WILL BUILD.

The building of a house is a very serious matter for anyone. You ask father if that isn't so. It is a matter for a great deal of thought and planning. The very first thing to be decided is where the house is to be, and this is most important. With the little people of the Green Forest, the Green Meadows, the Laughing Brook and the Smiling Pool, the choosing of a place for a new house is even more important than the building of the house itself. You see no matter how fine a house may be built if it is in a poor location it may be worse than no house at all.

You don't see how that can be? Supposing Welcome Robin should build a fine nest right in plain sight where Black Pussy could get to it with hardly any trouble. It would be better for Welcome Robin to have no nest at all. Supposing Johnny Chuck should dig his house right in the middle of Farmer Brown's vegetable garden. It would be better for Johnny to have no house at all. So you see the picking out of a place to build is most important.

Jerry Muskrat knows that. He always has known it, but since the washing away of the old house in the flood he has appreciated the truth of this more than ever. This is why he was taking so much time to look about before building a new house. There are several things to be looked out for. First of all he meant to be as sure as it was possible to be this time his house would be out of the current should the Laughing Brook become a flood again.

This would be quite a simple matter were it not for other things. The foundation must be in the water. A house on dry land would not do at all. It must be where from one side at least he could easily get to deep water, so that he wouldn't be frozen in in the winter. This was most important. Then it should be where the digging would be fairly easy and where he could find plenty of things to build with.

So you see Jerry had much to think of in deciding just where to build that new house, and he didn't intend to be hurried into making any mistakes. First, he carefully examined all sides of the Smiling Pool. Then he went up the Laughing Brook a little way. But neither up or down the Laughing Brook could he find a place that suited him at all. He hadn't expected to. He had looked so as to make sure. Then once more he carefully went all around the Smiling Pool.

In some ways the place where the old house had stood was the best place of all but Jerry had no intention of being swept away in a flood again, and anyone with half an eye could see that when the water rose to a certain height that place would be right in the middle of the current. Way around on one side, where the bulrushes grow thickest and tallest a little mud bar ran out into the Smiling Pool. There the water was only a few inches deep, but at the end of this little mud bank under water it sloped off sharply into deep water. Out beyond was the Big Rock. In time of flood the Big Rock would break the current, so that it would never sweep across that mud bank very hard.

The more Jerry looked at this place the better it suited him. Finally he made up his mind. "This is the place," said he to himself; "I'm going to build right here."

Whatever Your Skin Trouble-- Get Well This Magic Way

Many Sufferers Relieved by Famous Herbal Healer

Whether it be a disfiguring rash, or an outbreak of pimples, sore chapped hands, frostbite, or any cut, burn, or scald—dress the place at once with this grand herbal ointment, Zam-Buk. It is beautifully soothing, swiftly healing, and highly antiseptic.

Even in chronic troubles like eczema, salt rheum, ulcers, and poisoned sores, Zam-Buk eradicates disease and grows new skin. You can "rub it in" for cold-on-the-chest, bodily chills, stiffness, sprains, muscular pains, etc. In fact, there are a hundred uses for Zam-Buk. Be sure to keep a box at home.

"When I suffered from painful mattery boils, Zam-Buk was the only effective remedy."—Hazel B. Beck, Newburn, Lunenburg, Nova Scotia.

"Zam-Buk Ointment and Soap soon cleared my skin of a disfiguring rash."—Mr. H. Brown, St. John T. B. Hospital, St. John, N.B.

"I couldn't find anything to relieve a burn on my arm until my Mother applied Zam-Buk."—Mrs. E. B. Croteau, Waterloo, Que.

The unparalleled success of Zam-Buk as a healer of skin troubles lies in its original and valuable formula. Zam-Buk is compounded from certain extracts of herbal origin, so refined that they soak through the tiny pores into underlying tissues. Zam-Buk heals from below as well as on the surface. It kills poisonous germs, stops pain and itching, and grows new skin. Zam-Buk is also a splendid remedy for piles and a fine dressing for injuries. Zam-Buk Ointment 50c. box, Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap 25c. cake.

ALL SPEAK WELL OF ZAM-BUK

"Zam-Buk rid me of ivy poisoning and completely healed my festered finger."—Mrs. S. Cray, St. Rose Du Lac, Manitoba.

"A bad attack of Barber's Itch yielded to Zam-Buk in two weeks. My skin is now fine and healthy."—Mr. D. H., Box 417, Humboldt, Sask.

HELP!

Burns and scalds need quick first aid. Doctors advise covering the affected area with "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly. Excludes air, helps prevent infection, and is particularly healing and soothing. If a blister forms, prick the edge with a sterilized needle, press out the water, and dress with "Vaseline" Jelly. Absolutely pure.

Refuse imitations. Insist on the genuine. Look for the trade mark Vaseline on every tube or jar that you buy. At all Drug Stores.

TRIAL NEARING CLIMAX THREE UP FOR MURDER

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 23.—Defence and prosecution began their addresses to the jury to-day in the case of three men charged before the high court of justice for Thunder Bay with murder of Peter Boyko.

Fate of the three—Mike Rowan, Mike Hanchar and Peter Panchar, was expected to be in the hands of the jury to-night.

Boyko died from a severe beating when he was set upon by several men as he returned from a party at Rosslyn village near Lort William lasts July.

A mass of conflicting evidence was drawn to-day from Polish witnesses who required the service of an interpretor.

What To-Day Means To You

"Virgo"

If September 23rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 1:10 p.m., from 6 p.m. to 6 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7:15 p.m. to 9:10 p.m.

The Stars foretell for September 23rd an unexpected disappointment, its ultimate effects however, be productive of good results. Speculation should be avoided. It is a bad day to "take a chance." Although the day's prospects for professions are good, those engaged in commercial pursuits may be, at least temporarily, "up against it."

A child born on this September 23rd will be very unreliable, although winning in its ways and exceedingly affectionate. Its character will not be a strong one, and it will be too easily influenced by others or by environment. Its readiness to express regret, and its promises to make amends will get it out of many a tight corner.

You, if born on September 23rd, have a forceful personality, and possess many of the necessary qualities of leadership. You assert yourself not by words, but by deeds. Enthusiastic in all work that you undertake, tireless and fearless, you fire those under you with ambition to do their utmost. You not only have the happy knack of getting every ounce of energy out of those that work for or with you, but, what is even of more value, you secure their respect and affection. This is especially evident, if you are a woman, in the home, where one and all follow your lead.

Your disposition, although outwardly rather gruff, is one that inspires affection. As a man, you rather pride yourself on, and try to cultivate, a forbidding aspect; as a woman, you try to be "standoffish." This, however, is only the outside shell; crack it, and there will be found a kernel of loving sympathy and a keen yearning for love and affection. In the intimacy of family life, where no attempt is made to be other than you want to be, those with whom you live will find in you a tower of strength.

City's Unemployed Reap Rich Harvest

WINNIPEG, Sept. 23 (C.P.). — While governments have been dallying with the idea that the unemployed could support themselves by going on farms, workless men of Winnipeg have attempted to put the 'back-to-the-land' theory into practice in a small way within the boundaries of the city.

Early in April, the first applicant appeared before the city registrar asking for an allotment of city-owner property upon which to establish a little garden. Before the end of May the applicants numbered more than 70 daily. And now they are reaping the rewards of their toil in plentiful crops of potatoes, corn, beets and other vegetables to keep them through the winter.

Private corporations have alloted an equal number of plots and it is estimated there are more than 1,000 such gardens being cultivated. The city plowed and disced the land in many cases and provided the gardeners with an order for 60 cents each on seed stores, which was often redeemed for one to three times its face value.

Provincial property was also lent, since the budget did not permit planting the usual array of flowers between the legislative buildings and the Assiniboine river. To-day the industrious proudly look back on the green gardens, sloping up toward the white Parliament buildings as a background. Corn stalks stand like battalions of soldiers here and there among the plants, and the dark green of cabbage and cauliflower give promise of a rich harvest.

W. H. Dangerfield, Provincial gardener, believes the plan should be extended next year and a supervisor appointed. He thinks it would be an advantage to utilize larger tracts of land so that community tools could be more conveniently provided.

"Friends like that are worth keeping"

Helen and Tom were looking at the snapshots of their summer vacation. "Here's a good one of the Wilsons," Helen said. "They are certainly a nice couple. It seems a shame to drift away from such good friends."

"Yes," Tom agreed, "friends like that are worth keeping. Why don't you and Jean Wilson call each other on Long Distance now and then? It's an easy way to keep in touch and it really costs very little."

And so, at intervals during the winter, Helen and Jean will have their visits by telephone — keeping alive the pleasant companionship of the summer until another holiday brings them together again. Long Distance is quick, simple, inexpensive — a ready aid to friendship.

TALE OF ATTACK TOLD TO COURT

Battery Company Worker Claims He Was Beaten, Bound, Left Unconscious.

BURNED BY ACID.

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (C.P.)—Telling a gruesome tale of having been beaten over the head and wired to a table, while concentrated sulphuric acid burned his face, feet and clothes, Arthur Owen to-day gave evidence against Everett Barker, charged with assaulting Owen with intent to rob and doing grievious bodily harm.

Owen, employee of a local storage battery company, said he had been hit over the head and kicked in the stomach. When he recovered consciousness, he said, he was lying down on the floor, his legs bound with wire. Sulphuric acid from a leaky container dripped over his feet, face and clothing.

"The acid burned me painfully. Finding my wrists were also wired, I rubbed the wire against the brickwork of the window sill, and then freed my legs. I called for help and was able to attract the attention of a milkman, who came to my aid," he said.

The case is continuing.

Ransom Paid For Kidnapped Persons

LONDON, Sept. 23 (A.P.)—The Japanese Embassy said to-day it had been informed from Mukden that the special Japanese envoy in Manchukuo, and the British Consul General at Mukden had agreed upon measures to effect the rescue of Charles Corkran and Mrs. Pawley, British subjects kidnapped nearly two weeks ago by Chinese bandits.

They should be liberated within a few days, the Embassy was informed. It was understood that the plan involved paying a ransom agreed upon in negotiations with the bandits. The word from Mukden said it was not thought the bandits would carry out their threats to maim their captives.

Relief Problems Are Discussed By Legion

The "Relief and Distress Problem" was the subject of an address given by James Abraham at the monthly meeting of Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion held under the Presidency of A. E. Everett.

A great deal of routine business was transacted, and arrangements were completed for a series of entertainments to be given during the coming winter months.

Lieut.-Colonel C. H. Ackerman and Dr. N. H. Sutton were delegated to attend the Canadian Legion Convention at Sault Ste. Marie on Sept. 26, 27, 28.

Bank Robber Is Given Four Years

WINDSOR, N.S., September 23 (C.P.). — Sydney A. Rafuse, convicted on Wednesday on two charges of conspiring and attempting to rob the Royal Bank branch at Shudenacadie on August 25, to-day was sentenced by Mr. Justice Henry Graham to serve four years in Dorchester Penitentiary on the first count and two years on the second charge, the sentences to run concurrently. Fifteen days are allowed to file an appeal, but counsel previously intimated this action would not be taken.

Bolivian Forces Hold Fort Boqueron

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 23 (A.P.) —An army bulletin said to-day Bolivian troops have held their positions at Fort Boqueron, strategic stronghold in the heart of the disputed Gran Chaco area, despite a strong bombardment by Paraguyan artillery.

It is said four Bolivians, including three officers, were promoted to higher grades for "heroic acts on the battlefield." Two Paraguayan machine-guns were reported captured by a small patrol.

Doctor's Criticisms Lead to Explanation

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (C.P.)—Because he criticized the hospital's cancer clinic plan, Dr. F. W. Marlow, the institution's senior attending gynocologist, is to appear before the board of directors, Wednesday, where his statements will be discussed.

As the result of statements Dr. Marlow made to a local newspaper, he has been "invited" to attend the meeting, said Dr. D. Bruce MacDonald, acting chairman of the board.

Statement attributed to Dr. Marlow suggested that influence had been brought to bear on the Ontario Government to have the Cancer Commission Institute established at the Toronto General Hospital.

Whitsunday is the seventh Sunday after Easter, commemorating the day of Pentecost.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 17

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service, Inc.)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Jason Gridley now saw beneath and about him such a scene as probably no man in the world's history had ever witnessed before. Thousands of creatures, large and small, followed their leaders in a mad break for liberty. While at their rear hundreds of savage saber-toothed tigers leaped upon them, dragging down the weaker and battling with the stronger, leaving maimed and crippled behind them that they might charge into the herd again and drag down others. It was sickening in its horror, yet fascinating in its primitive strength.

Slowly the tigers cut into the herd from both sides in an effort to encircle a portion of it. At last they were successful, and then the saber-tooths turned upon these, closing in and drawing tighter their savage band. In twos and threes they leaped upon their prey until the sole remaining creature within their circle was a gigantic bull mammoth. Trumpeting, he stood at bay, a magnificent picture of primordial power, of sagacity and courage. Gridley's heart went out to that brave beast trumpeting his challenge in face of certain doom.

Scores of the carnivore now closed in upon the mammoth. As they charged the pachyderm met them, catching two upon his tusks and tossing them high into the air. Others, rushing him from every side, fastened themselves to his back and flanks. Down he went as though struck by lightning, squatting quickly upon his haunches and rolling over backward, crushing a dozen tigers before they could escape. Gridley could scarce repress a cheer as the great fellow staggered to his feet.

Though he fought so splendidly, the end was inevitable, and at last the tigers dragged him down weakened by a hundred wounds. Now the savage beasts fought among themselves for possession of their prey. For even though there was flesh to more than surfeit them all, in their greed and ferocity they must still battle with one another. Many carcasses of tigers were strewn about as the survivors settled down to feed, while on the outskirts of the clearing came the jackals, the hyaenadons and the wild dogs to feed upon their leavings.

"Big peach trees from little peach stones grow."
Seven years ago Jack Richardson of Homewod avenue, planted a tiny peach stone in his garden. To-day he has a peach tree, fourteen feet high which has recently borne a splendid crop of fruit. Almost as large as a man's fist the peaches are said to be of better quality than the average run from Niagara district. A sample is on display in the window at Jack Primeau's store on George street.

Important Meeting Of Merchants Called

A meeting has been called for Monday evening of all those doing business in Peterborough, no matter in what business district or in what line—the uptown merchant, the proprietor of a store in the outlying districts, the plumber, the barber, the gas station man, in fact of every retailer who sells to the public in this district. This meeting is not for the purpose of getting you to join anything ,or to take money away from you, but for the purpose of organizing a selling effort of some magnitude that should give every retailer a substantial turnover and the people of the city and district real values. You are not required to belong to the Retail Merchants' Association, Chamber of Commerce or any other organization to attend.

Be on hand at 7.30 Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce and discuss the idea to be brought out that night with the others who will be there. 2d

EIGHT GO NEARLY BLIND FROM WATCHING ECLIPSE

CALGARY, Sept. 23—(CP)—Eight calgary citizens have received medical attention for varying degrees of blindness as a result of watching the eclipse of the sun by the moon August 1 without the aid of darkened glasses, it is disclosed by inquiries among eye specialists.

Whether the affected persons will completely recover will not be known until treatment is further advanced. Practically all will be receiving attention for three or four months.

Rev. H. R. Trunpour Festival Preacher

The Rev. H. R. Trunpour, M.A., B.D., professor and lecturer in the Anglican College, Vancouver, and rector of the College Parish, is to be the special preacher at the Harvest Festival service in All Saints' Church here on Sunday morning.

The Rev. Mr. Trunpour, who is at present conducting a series of lectures at Wycliffe College, Toronto, in accepting an invitation to preach here, can be assured of a warm welcome. He was rector of All Saints' Parish in this city, when the present church was built, from 1908 to 1912.

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 22.—Thomas A. Mirriam must move his hog ranch because a neighbor objects to the odor. A court ruling granted John Dorrell, the neighbor, an injunction restraining Mirriam from using his premises, near Calgary, as a hog ranch. The hog rancher was given 30 days to remove his porkers.

Chief Justice J. Simmons, in granting the injunction, declared he was of the opinion the hog ranch "resulted in a nuisance on account of the odor emanating therefrom and the accumulation of flies."

IN MEMORIAM

FALCONER.—In remembrance of Mrs. Hector Falconer, who died September 23, 1931.
She was an angel sent from above
To fill our hearts with cheer and love.
But God thought her work was done;
So He took her home with Him to rest.
It left me with a broken heart,
When He took that angel away.
But I know if I do my part;
I can see that angel again someday.

CHANCES BETTER FOR LONG TIME

Experts Believe We Have 15 Per Cent. More Hope to Live Over 50 Than Grandparents.

LOW INFANT MORTALITY.

TORONTO, Sept. 23. — (CP) — There will be 27 percent more people over 50 living 30 years from now than today, declared D. W. Walker, second vice-president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, in opening the convention of that association here today. In other words, he said, you have a 15 percent better chance today to live to be 50 or older than had your great grandfather.

In 1830, he said, only nine percent of the population were past the half-century mark. In 1920, their number had increased by 15 percent. Computations from these figures forecast the 27 percent better chance for the next 30 years.

Not only are chances for more birthdays improving, but the average age at death from 1880 to 128 increased from 26 years to 47½ years. And the average age of those living mounted in the same period from 25 to 29½ percent. This was due, he said to reduction in infant mortality and improvement in general health.

Hindus Reach Agreement - End Near For Gandhi's Fast

PROBABILITIES.

BOMBERRY FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

HINDUS REACH AN AGREEMENT ON ELECTIONS

Cable Plan to MacDonald Seeking Sanction in Order to Save Gandhi.

MAHATMA SINKING FAST.

POONA, India, Sept. 24 (C.P.).—Leaders of the Caste Hindus seeking a compromise on election methods in an effort to halt the death fast of Mahatma Gandhi, reached an agreement to-day.

The agreement followed several anxious hours in the earlier part of the day when a new rift among the negotiators arose at the same time that Gandhi's physician pronounced his condition to be growing grave.

The plan was to cable the agreement to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald at London immediately in the hope it might be accepted by the British Government in time to persuade Gandhi to end his fast to-day.

Gandhi's condition grew weaker and his voice fainter as the day progressed. He suffered recurrent attacks of exhaustion which prevented him from drinking water, which has been his only sustenance during his fast.

Mrs. Gandhi was in constant attendance beside the iron cot on which her husband lay under the shabby mango tree in the prison yard.

No Further Strain.

A physician who was summoned hastily from Bombay this morning examined the Mahatma in the presence of the prison physician. Later he said the time had arrived when Gandhi should not be subjected to any further strain in connection with the political discussions.

Nevertheless, Mr. Gandhi formally approved the agreement reached by the political leaders, removing the last obstacle to its submission to the Government at London.

The Mahatma was lying prostrate on his cot when the terms of the agreement were communicated to him. He raised himself on his elbows, and with a weak smile signified his assent.

In cabling Mr. MacDonald, the leaders are asking him to withdraw that part of the communal award affecting the Hindus, so that may break his fast.

BODY IS FOUND IN QUEBEC BUSH

MISSING MONTHS.

AMOS, Quebec, Sept. 24.—(C.P.)—A report that the body of a man had been found 30 miles from here, deep in the bush country, was accepted here to-day as the solution of the mystery of the disappearance of Jim Daley, Haileybury, Ont., prospector.

Daley, a veteran prospector and seasoned woodsman, vanished into the bush during the summer on a prospecting trip. Ed Croteau found Daley's pack hanging from a tree limb and thought nothing of it until he passed that way again a month later and saw the pack still swinging from the tree. Croteau raised the alarm here, where Daley was well known, and search parties went out.

Amos to-day still had only the meagre report of a body being found buried in the bush.

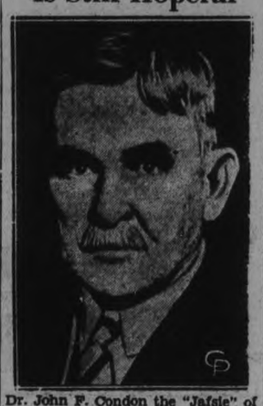
Is Still Hopeful



Dr. John F. Condon the "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh kidnapping case, has not abandoned the hunt for the kidnappers and for the man who tricked him into throwing $50,000 over a cemetery wall. It is reported that last week he came to Canada, in the vinicity of Saint John, N.B., where seven of the marked bills turned up.

INFANT BEATEN FATHER JAILED

Man Only Recently Released on Charge of Giving Baby "Cold Water Cure."

NEIGHBORS COMPLAIN.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 24.—William McIntyre, young Glencoe father who was accused several weeks ago in county police court of giving his one-year-old baby the "cold water cure," was again arrested today of common assault against the infant.

Inspector Walter Kelly of the Children's Aid Society laid the charge against McIntyre on the complaint of neighbors who said that the young man abused the baby, whipping is so that its cries could be heard quite a distance away.

Appearing before Magistrate F. T. Zapfe, McIntyre was remanded to jail for one week.

On his last court appearance, the Glencoe man who lives with his wife and child, was given a mental test and found sane.

MAY SPOIL TRIP

WELLAND.— Emery Orosz, local Hungarian, who left here a few days ago to roll an automobile tire around the world may not be able to continue his trip, it is reported here. It is said that when Orosz was in Torono getting his passports arranged, it was discovered he was not a naturalized citizen and could not, under Canadian immigration laws, be permitted to leave Canada for a return trip. In this event he would have to return to Welland.

BISHOP BIRMINGHAM TO BECOME MEMBER OF HOUSE OF LORDS

Dr. Barnes Will Step Into Post to be Vacated by Bishop of Lincoln.

CHANGE IN NOVEMBER.

(By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Rt. Rev. W. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, will shortly become a member of the House of Lords. The two Archbishops of Canterbury and York, and the Bishops of London, Winchester, and Durham are always members of the House of Lord, and the 21 other Bishops are members according to the seniority of their consecration.

Dr. Barnes will step into the place which is about to be vacated by the Rt. Rev. W. S. Swayne, who has been Bishop of Lincoln for the last 12 years, and who is retiring through ill-health. Dr. Swayne is 72 years of age, and on more than one account had an arduous time at Lincoln.

His retirement, which will be generally regretted, is expected to take place in November, when the restoration of the fabric of Lincoln Cathedral, which has extended over the last ten years, will be celebrated.

More than 1,000 motor cars now use the new streets of Canton, China, daily.

KIRKHAM LEADS MRS. C. S. EDDIS MORNING ROUND

Montreal Golfer Stages Remarkable Rally in Last Three Holes to Take Lead.

FOR CONNAUGHT CUP.

KANAWAK$ GOLF CLUB, Kanawaki, Que., Sept. 24 (C.P.)—Staging a remarkable recovery in the last three holes, Miss Margery Kirkham of Forest Hills, Montreal, wrested the lead from Mrs. Charles S. Eddis, Rosedale, Toronto this morning and took a one-hole advantage to carry into the second 18 of their 36-hole match for the Canadian women's open golf championship. The finalists were scheduled to resume the battle over Kanawaki's historic hills at two o'clock.

The early holes of the battle for the Duchess of Connaught Gold Cup and the right to succeed Miss Maureen Orcutt Englewood, N.J., as Dominion titleholder, were close and exciting, and the lead changed hands several times. The rivals reached the nine-hole mark all square and it was just after the turn that Mrs. Eddis forged into the lead. Miss Kirkham's steadiness left her on the 12th and 13th, and the Toronto player shot par golf to take a two-hole lead. The 14th went to Miss Kirkham when Mrs. Eddis sliced her drive so deep into the woods that it was unplayable. The 15th saw the Toronto player negotiate the tricky dog's leg hole in par four, to take a two-hole lead again.

At the 16th, Miss Kirkham's recovery began. She caught a trap with her third shot, played sensationally out of it on to the green and sank a dazzling 40-foot putt for a birdie five. Mrs. Eddis was down in par figures and her lead was cut to one hole. At the 163-yard 17th, Miss Kirkham's tee shot landed 12 feet from the pine, while Mrs. Eddis' over-ran the green, and had to play back. Both took up two putts and Miss Kirkham won the hole, 3 and 4, to square the match.

At the long home hole, both players had fine drives and effective brassie shots to reach the foot of the hill leading up to the green. Miss Kirkham's approach stopped six feet from the pin and Mrs. Eddis' eight feet. The Montrealer thrilled the gallery by sinking hers, after Mrs. Eddis had missed, and thus assumed a one-hole lead.

The morning round was played under a bright sun, but with a chilly wind blowing over the course. A gallery of 400 followed the play.

PLANE U.S.-BOUND

TOKYO—A radio message from the Japan - American good will plane intercepted by the Ochiishi radio station at 2.35 p.m., Tokyo time today (1.35 a.m. E.S.T.) said the plane had passed over the mountains on Paramushiru island, northernmost of the Kuriles. The island is just south of Kamchatka and about half way between Tokyo and Nome, Alaska, the plane's first destination.

Two-Legged Cats

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 24. (CP).—The be-rhymed cats of the Isle of Man, (which have "no tails") won't have a leg to stand on, if they try to outdo two kittens, owned by Virginia Bela Shamrock, a Negress living near here.

Born without hind legs, the kittens, now three weeks old, get about readily balanced on two feet.

Two Escape Burwash Elude All Pursuit

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 24 (C.P.)—Despite wide search, police to-day have been unable to find Eugene Kendall, 31, negro who escaped from the industrial farm at Burwash yesterday. No trace has been found of Arthur Robillard, 32, who escaped Thursday. Both men strolled into the dense buch while working with gangs.

Kendall had served three months of a 25 months' sentence for illegal entry into Canada, while Robillard was sentenced at Hamilton to three years for assault. He had only five months more to serve.

Prince of Wales Visits Princess

Europe's royal matchmakers revived their whisperings this week when the Prince of Wales departed by airplane, for Scandinavia, home of the world's most eligible princess. He flew to Copenhagen, but will reach Stockholm, Sweden, on October 15. It has been two years since rumor connected the names of Britain's Royal heir and the slender, golden-haired Princess Ingrid, granddaughter of King Gustav V. of Sweden. On this occasion, as before, reports of an impending engagement are almost certain to be denied, but society circles profess to see unusual significance in this visit.

POLICE GET LOST CHASING YOUTHS IN BUSH COUNTRY

Suspects Live Lives of Robin Hoods in Nova Scotia Wilds.

R.C.M.P. ASKED TO AID.

Lads Reported Armed and Determined Not to be Taken Alive.

HALIFAX, Sept. 24. (CP) — Edgar McEwan, the Robin Hood of Devon Woods, lay in Windsor jail to-day while Royal Canadian Mounted Police scoured the desolate Moose country in search of his companion, Albert Fraser Smith.

McEwan ventured out of the woods to ask for food and shelter at a farmhouse, and before midnight the police had him handcuffed.

HALIFAX, Sept. 24 (C.P.).—Royal Canadian Mounted Police were routed yesterday as they pushed further into the Devon Woods in search of two farm youths—not by the youths but by the bewildering moose country.

The wanted youths, Edgar McEwan and Albert Fraser Smith, took to the woods last April after they were charged with breaking and entering a farmhouse in Hants County.

All summer they played a game of Robin Hood with the county constables of the district, escaping in spectacular fashion after visits to Devon village.

Advancing into the virgin forests, wading streams swollen by heavy rain, crossing cold marshland, the officers failed to catch a glimpse of the defiant pair who have been wanted for five months.

During the afternoon the police were too busy looking after themselves to do much hunting. Shortly after noon Constable Louis Ecker of the Halifax detachment strayed from the others, who spent two hours searching for him. Only three shots were fired during the hunt yesterday. Those were discharged by Ecker to advise his companions of his position.

R.C.M.P. Aid Asked.

This week the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were asked to assist in the hunt, and they went to Devon on Wednesday. As it happened, McEwan put in an appearance that day.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (CP)—George Washington did not cross the Delaware with his mouth open, says Rep. Sol Bloom. The Congressman denies a statement by Dr. Walter J Pryor of Cleveland that the father of his country wore false teeth equipped with a spring so strong they kept his mouth agape. It was years after the Delaware crossing, Bloom says, that Washington first wore a full set of false teeth made of hippopotamus ivory.

STEAMER SIGHTS SHIP WRECKAGE

Authorities Suspect Floating Superstructure May Be Lost Schooner Patra.

MENACE TO SHIPPING.

HALIFAX, Sept. 24. (CP)—The British steamer Hazelwood passed the wooden superstructure of a schooner, with a scuttle-hatch showing above water, in latitude 52.05 north, longitude 54.08 west, according to a message reaching C. H. Hosterman, Nova Scotia agent for the Department of Marine. The wreckage was reported a menace to navigation.

The position given is off southern Labrador. In absence of more definite information, it was unknown if the wreckage had any connection with the Gloucester fishing schooner Patra, unreported since she left Labrador nearly three weeks ago with a cargo of salted fish and deck load of cod liver oil. A part of a dory she carried was found at Drum Head, Guysboro, N.S., after last week's gale, but the small boat easily could have been washed overboard in a storm, and the Hazelwood made no mention of sighting oil on the water, as could be seen for a great

SYDNEY RAFUSE GIVEN 4 YEARS

GUILTY ON 2 COUNTS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

WINDSOR, N. S., Sept. 24. — Sydney A. Rafluse, 37-year-old war veteran and former bank manager, will serve four years in Dorchester Penitentiary for having played a part in the fatal Shubenacadie bank hold-up.

Sentenced yesterday by Mr. Justice Henry Graham, he maintained the same calmness that characterized him since the police first handcuffed him in the Royal Bank on Aug. 23, following the gunfight in which his brother-in-law, Gerald Freckleton, was killed and Edson Boutilier was wounded.

Rafuse was sentenced on two charges: For conspiring to rob, four years; for attempting to rob, two years, terms to run concurrently.

PAYS WITH LIFE UPON GALLOWS ON DECEMBER 8

Six Nations Indian Convicted of Slaying His Common-law Wife.

USED SHOTGUN.

Jury Out 2 Hours — Decision Climaxes Tale of Domestic Tragedy.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Sept. 24.—(CP)— Joseph Bomberry, a member of the Six Nations Indian tribe here, will be hanged Dec. 8 for the murder of his common-law wife, Mrs. Lily Johns. For just two hours, a jury which had heard the evidence at Bomberry's trial deliberated today. Then they returned the verdict which means death for Bomberry unless he is reprieved.

And so will end the story of the Sour Springs road murder; a story of death in the dark; a story of the superstitious wonderings of the Indian Shortly after a domestic altercation which hinged around Bomberry's relations with another woman, the Indian walked to the back of his primitive shack and obtained a shotgun. Mrs. Johns came out for some water.

Woman Dies Instantly

The hoarse bellow of the shotgun rang out and she dropped, dying almost instantly. Then the Indian disappeared. Royal Canadian Mounted Police searched the fastnesses of the Reserve, and eventually arrested Bomberry at the home of his father nine miles away.

To Inspector William Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police Bomberry declared he had pointed the gun at his common-law wife, "and then everything went dark." He had run, said Bomberry, until a voice which he believed to be that of Jesus told him to give himself up to the police and take whatever punishment was meted him. The statement, admitted, as evidence only after considerable argument settled the noose firmly about the next of Joseph Bomberry.

Bomberry had declared after shooting Mrs. Johns he had run away and thrown his gun into some bushes. Later "something seemed to whisper to him and he thought it was "Jesus" telling him to give himself up and take whatever he could get," Inspector Stringer told the court.

Statement Read

Inspector W. Miller of the Ontario Provincial Police occupied the witness stand yesterday, testifying regarding a statement he secured from Bomberry. There was considerable discussion as to whether the statement should be admitted as evidence. Finally, Peter White, K.C., read the statement in which Bomberry declared the trouble with his common-law wife started last fall, when Mrs. Johns' sister, Mrs. Osborne Hill, had told her Bomberry was flirting with Mrs. Hill's daughter.

Every time Mrs. Johns got mad, the statement continued, she would "bring that up in my face and since that time it has not been the same in my home."

Gas Torch Explodes; Woman Dies of Burns

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 24. (CP)—Mrs. Ibey R. Roblin, 38, Holloway, died early to-day in hospital from burns received late Thursday when a portable gasoline torch, which her husband was using exploded. She was severely burned about the arms, head and chest. Her husband is recovering from burns. Her mother, husband, sister and brother, survive. The body will be taken to Kitchener for interment.

Burglar Outruns Barefoot Woman

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 24.—(C P)—A daylight burglar who was chased by a barefoot woman is being hunted by police here today following his escape aboard a street car yesterday.

Mrs. W. J. Smith discovered the burglar and went after him. She had no shoes at the time, but pluckily dashed up the street. Another woman neighbor joined in but when they reached the street car line the man made a flying leap for the vehicle and escaped.

Mrs. G. Sanders, who lives nearby, reported a burglar had stolen $14 from her purse a short time before Mrs. Smith chased the man.

NEW YORK FEARS MILK SHORTAGE

FARMERS GAIN GROUND.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 24.—Milk strikes in some of America's principal centres, and the threat of such a movement in New York, today gave a more serious aspect to the agricultural war for higher prices which started in Iowa more than a month ago.

Producers throughout a large section of the country awaited with interest developments in New York, where stoppage of the flow of milk from upstate to New York City, estimated at nearly 4,000,000 quarts a day, was threatened.

The Emergency Committe of the New York Milk Shed said it had been informed that producers in New York had decided to strike unless price cutting is stopped by independent wholesalers and the price of milk is stabilized at "a living minimum."

Meanwhile milk strikes already in effect, continued among producers of Ohio, Michigan, Georgia and Nebraska. At Toledo, O., a dairy company obtained an injunction against picketing public demonstrations and utterances by the farmers' representatives. The protesting producers, however, kept on picketing stores.

RACIAL GROUPS SEPARATING U.S.

French Writer Believes Europe Will Survive Slump Better Than America.

COHESION BEING LOST.

MONTREAL, Sept. 24 (C.P.).—Lucien Romier, chevalier of the Legion of Honor and prolific French writer on economic and socialogical topics, believes the people of the United States are separating into racial groups as a result of the economic situation.

The French economist arrived here last night, following a tour of the United States. He found confirmation for the opinion expressed in his book published some time ago that Europe would rise from the depression far less unscathed than the United States. His book was "Qui Sera La Maitre: L'Europe ou L'Amerique" ("Who will become master: Europe or America?").

In times of prosperity, he said, everything was "we Americans are world leaders." To-day, however, the various elements making up the social structure of the United States were losing their cohesion and were "taking sides, the Germans here, the Irish there, the Italians to the right, and the Slavs to the left."

BROMWICH LOSES 1-0.

Feature Matches in Second Division Results in Triple Tie For Lead.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(C. P. Cable)—Aston Villa went into undisputed leadership of the first division of the English league today when they travelled to Portsmouth and beat the home team 4-2. Until today Portsmouth and West Bromwich had shared the honors with Aston Villa but West Bromwich also lost on their home ground to Leeds United 1-0.

Feature matches in the Second Division resulted in a three cornered tie for leadership. Bradford City dropped back by losing at Nottingham to the County 2-0, the County scoring their first victory of the season. At the same time Stoke City and Plymouth Argyle moved even with Bradford City, Stoke defeating Preston North End 3-1, and the Argyle trouncing Swansea 1-0.

Brentford strengthened their lead in the southern section of the Third Division with a smashing 6-1 win over Newport County who are at the bottom. In the Northern Section Chester got afirm grip on the top rung with a 2-1 victory over Wrexham.

Rangers took the measure of Cowdeneath 3-2 to keep on top of the First Division of the Scottish League while Hearts, the runner-up, visited Glasgow and took a 2-1 beating from Third Lanark. Albion Rovers, leaders of the Second Division had to be content with a scoreless tie with Stenhousemuir.

RACE BETTING LEADS TO JAIL

Bank Clerk Gets 2 Years Less Day for Stealing $12,500.

20 YEARS GOOD RECORD.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 24. (CP) Two years less one day determinate in Ontario Reformatory at Guelph and a similar indeterminate term was the sentence imposed today on Charles Ronald Gregory who pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of $12,500 from the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Gregory, formerly of Regina, has been clerk in the savings department of the local bank for four years. The thefts are stated to have extended over a period of three years and Gregory places the blame on his betting on horse races.

The court was told that in 20 years of bank service this is the first black mark on Gregory's record and he also had a good record overseas during the war.

MARMORA'S ANNUAL FAIR SETS RECORD IN GENERAL ENTRY LIST

FINE RACE PROGRAM.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Sept. 24.—Greatest number of entries in all classes since its inception marked Marmora's annual fair held under sunny skies on Friday and the attendance was one of the best on record. So heavy were the entries of cattle that accommodation was overtaxed and many had to be tied to the fence in consequence. The large exhibition building showed to best advantage, the record number of flowers, vegetable and fruit exhibits as well as the beautiful array of ladies' work. The building known as the Red Building housed one of the finest assortments of food delicacies and also an exhibit of honey bees and wax, most attractively set up by A. R. Hollands of Eldorado. Mr. Hollands has a very striking array of mottoes worked in wax and his flower vases are also designed in the same material. The various stages in the formation of the honeycomb and practically everything incidental to an apiary are shown in this striking exhibit.

Band Adds Pleasure

Marmora Community Band under Bandmaster G. Woodhouse was in attendance and added to the pleasures of the afternoon.

The midway was one of the largest seen in years and the principal attraction there was a ferris wheel operated by Vitale and Mitchell Shows. Refreshment booths were operated by Marmora Women's Institute and Marmora Boy Scout troop in addition to those of visiting caterers. Marmora Post of the Canadian Legion also ran a concession. The presence of several cider vendors suggested a growing demand for this beverage.

An aeroplane which hoped to make ascents from the grounds found the matter impossible since so great a portion of the grounds was taken up with attractions.

Big Race Horse Entry

A problem was presented with the arrival of twelve horses for the races inasmuch as nine were entered for the 2.26 class. Mayor Tice of Belleville, starter with the local race committee (Messrs F. S. Johnston, G. Wellman, W. A. Sanderson and Dr. R. E. Lumsden) arranged to run this race in two divisions.

Results of races which were all voted good were as follows.

Hon. W. Martin Opens Annual Lindsay Fair

LINDSAY, Sept. 24 (Examiner Correspondence).—Hon. W. G. Martin, Provincial Minister of Welfare, visited Lindsay yesterday to officiate at the formal opening of the Central Fair. Ideal weather conditions prevailed on the second day of the exhibition, but the attendance was not as large as the same day last year. The directorate is looking forward with confidence to a big attendance to-day. Bertha Patch, a Toronto horse, won first money in the 2.18 class, with Lou Ganot (P. Morgan, Campbellford) winning second money. In the 2.26 class, Todd Gratton (J. Sutherland, Peterborough) won first money.

His Porcupine

CHATHAM, Ont., Sept. 24 (C.P.)—The telephone in The Daily News office burst into a terrific clatter. The paper had just been "put to bed." A reported grabbed the phone.

"Where does Jack Macdonald live?" asked an anxious voice. "Jack Macdonald? What Jack Macdonald?"

"Why, the Jack Macdonald mentioned in to-day's paper."

"Why, he's got my porcupine. And thus ended the story of the wanderings of the porcupine which, bristling with rage and all stuck up was carted off a downtown street yesterday.

Norman Kendall, owner of the anxious voice, had brought Porky back from the North country, and the animal got loose.

BECLOUD ISSUE IN SOUTH HURON SAYS LIBERAL

Parley's Injection Into By-election Scored by Liberal.

NOT CRITICIZING PACT..

Bennett's Failure to Meet Farmers is Drawn Into Fight.

SEAFORTH, Sept. 24.—Injection of the Imperial Economic Conference agreements into the Federal by-election campaign in South Huron was strongly condemned last night by F. G. Sanderson, Liberal member of the House of Commons for South Perth. Mr. Sanderson, speaking in Manley schoolhouse in support of William H. Golding, Seaforth, the party's candidate in the forthcoming by-election, charged that the Conservative workers had deliberately attempted to becloud the real issue by holding out the conference accomplishments as the main question to be considered by the electors.

Any benefits that might come to the people of Canada as a result of the conference agreements Mr. Sanderson said, were for all the people regardless of their politics, and the natural assumption would be that no politics entered into negotiations of such far-reaching importance.

Not Criticizing Facts

He had no criticism to make of the nature of the agreements—at least not until he was in full possession of the details, but he heartily disapproved of any effort to lead the electors into thinking that the efforts of the Administration in this connection should be rewarded by sending a Conservative to Parliament.

The Liberals, Mr. Sanderson said "had just as much capacity for appreciating what was for the good of the people as had the Conservatives—probably more" and he was convinced that if Mr. Golding was sent to Parliament and measures designed to further the interests of the people were advanced he would support them.

Mr. Sanderson charged Prime Minister R. B. Bennett with complete forgetfulness of the needs of the agricultural classes. On every occasion when opportunities arose for the Prime Minister and his government to do something in the interests of the farmers they had failed, he declared. He spoke particularly of the occasion last summer when a large delegation of Ontario farmers visited Ottawa and requested the Prime Minister to meet them.

Mr. Bennett had refused to go before that gathering, Mr. Sanderson said, and he could conceive of no reason for the refusal apart from a complete indifference to that class of the people who elected him.

Society's Venture Financial Success

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 24 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — George Wade and His Corn Huskers brought a good financial return to the Seymour Agricultural Society when they performed under their auspices in Campbellford on Thursday evening, approximately $380 being cleared; total gate receipts being well over $500. This success is very gratifying to the directors of the fair, and speaks well for the support of the public in the fall fall undertaking.

FIND CLERK HAD HIDDEN ACCOUNT FOR NINE YEARS

Worried Queen's Park Recalls Commissioner Cuddy From Vacation.

CHANGE COUPON SYSTEM.

Officers Checking All Banks in Search of Further Accounts.

TORONTO, Sept. 24. — Probing deeper into the affairs of H. Lionel Austin, arrested provincial treasury bond clerk, police yesterday discovered that his fictitious bank account under the name of Harry Taylor, has been in existence nine years. On the assumption that this account was started at the time he first began the alleged thefts, it is believed the shortages will run well over $50,000, if not nearly twice that amount.

So seriously does Queen's Park officialdom regard the situation that Deputy Commissioner of Provincial Police Alfred Cuddy was recalled from his summer vacation to take charge of the investigation. Yesterday the deputy commissioner armed his investigators with pictures of Austin and sent them to every bank in the city in an effort to trace other bank accounts which the accused man might possess.

The alleged defalcations, police believe, started while Peter Smith was in office as provincial treasurer and continued under three succeeding treasurers, Hon. W. H. Price, Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, and the present occupant, Hon. E. A. Dunlop.

Province Paid Twice

The province has paid twice on the coupons which it is charged Austin appropriated, Hon. Mr. Dunlop admitted yesterday. The minister denied the truth of rumors that other employes of the department would be suspended during the investigation. There was not the slightest suspicion of collusion in the affair, he declared. It was admitted, though that degree of carelessness, excusable under the peculiar circumstances, might be attached to the audit department.

Earning $2,000 a year, Austin was able to buy a home for $12,000 on which he made a substantial down payment, purchase a summer cottage, employ a maid, and operate an automobile, provincial police said said after their investigations. An examination of his two bank accounts revealed much enlightening information which Deputy Commissioner Cuddy declined to reveal entirely.

"He seems to have been in debt a great deal" declared Mr. Cuddy. "This may be a blind, however, and we are endeavoring to locate other assets. There may be other bank accounts but I am inclined to think he had only the two."

Will Exceed $20,000

The deputy commissioner admitted that the $20,000 bond covering Austin would not nearly make up the shortages. If money had been taken more or less regularly for a period of nine years it would amount to a great deal more than had been discovered up to now, it was pointed out.

The system of handling coupons will be changed as a result of the discovery of the missing coupons, Hon. Mr. Dunlop stated. The provincial treasurer is actively directing the investigation into Austin's affairs and the audit of the coupons now under way. He mentioned that Austin's bond was raised last year from $10,000 to $20,000.

ORGANIZATION OF PROVINCIAL DAIRY BOARD HINTED FRIDAY

Would Comprise Representatives From Every Branch of Dairy Industry.

CAMPBELLFORD MEETING.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 24 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The possibility of the formation of a Provincial Dairy Board which would comprise representatives from every branch of the dairy industry and have as its secretary J. P. Griffin of Toronto was hinted at last evening by J. L. Irwin, Dominion Cheesemakers' Association, held in the Campbellford Grading station. President W. V. Drewry of Warkworth occupied the chair

Mr. Irwin could not understand, he said, why more makers did not attend the station meetings, for the cheese industry was not yet out of "the woods" and the makers should fully realize that they cannot get along without their organization. The matter was so important that the government was looking on all organizations related to the dairy industry in a way never considered before.

"If the cheesemakers fall down now," he said, "they would lose more ground than they had gained, especially at the present time when producers, both cream and cheese factory patrons, were getting organized and becoming strong and dictating bodies. He stated that in a very short while it was his opinion that a Provincial Dairy Board would be formed, comprised of representatives from all these branches of the dairy industry, which would be in direct contact with the government, having behind it the whole of the dairy industry. Of this organization, he believed ,that J. P.

Poisonous Snake

WELLAND, Ont., Sept. 24 (C.P.)—A snake, believed to have been of the poisonous variety ,is on display here. It was shot in the Welland district, but not until it had killed a mouse and a frog which had been brought to determine its poison capacity. Immediately the mouse and frog were within striking distance of the snake, the reptile struck them and they died almost immediately.

BUCKHORN FAIR HAS BIG ENTRY

Curve Lake Children Win the School Chorus Competition.

BAND ALSO PRESENT.

BUCKHORN, Sept. 24.—Growing in favor from year to year, the rural school fair here yesterday, under the auspices of the Provincial Department of Agriculture and supervised by J. B. Nelson, agricultural representative, was the best yet. The entry list was particularly large, the show of calves and lambs being one of the features of the event, while the quality of the exhibits and the enthusiasm displayed by the youthful exhibitors was outstanding.

The school chorus competition was won by the Indian children of Curve Lake Reserve in competition with the six other schools participating in the fair. The Indian children were accompanied to Buckhorn by the Curve Lake Indian Band, which provided musical selections, much to the enjoyment of those in attendance, throughout the day.

Thief Visits Party, Steals Car Keys; Hostess Has 16 Overnight Guests

TORONTO, September 24 (C.P.). — Early this morning there was an array of 16 locked automobiles parked outside the home of Mrs. Stewart Graham in East York, and their owners randed inside the house ,mute evidence of the depredations of a burglar.

The burglar broke into the Graham home, while the party was in progress, and decamped with 16 ladies' purses, which contained a total of $150, and 16 automobile keys.

Investigation by police showed that while a bridge party was in progress, the cat burglar forced his way into an upper bedroom, where the ladies' wraps and purses had been left. Some of the purses had latch-keys, and now police are watching the different homes to which the latch-keys give access, in hope of catching the burglar repeating his ravaging.

HEADACHE

Here's Quick Relief

A lot of things can cause a headache or other pain, but there is one thing that will always give you relief! Just take a tablet or two of Aspirin. Your suffering ceases. Relief comes instantly, regardless of what may have been making your head throb with pain. Aspirin is harmless—cannot depress the heart. So there's no use waiting for a headache to "wear off." It is useless to endure pain of any kind when you can get Aspirin. It is a blessing to women who suffer regular systemic pain; to men who must work on, in spite of eye-strain, fatigue or neuralgia.

WEIR PREDICTS MARKET BOARD

Aim Will Be to Maintain Uniform Export of High Quality Products.

TOUCHES GARNET WHEAT.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Sept. 24 (C.P.)—Two important statements were made here last night by Hon. Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture, who was guest of honor at a complimentary banquet tendered by the local Board of Trade.

He forecast the early setting up of a national export marketing board and revealed information in possession of the Department indicates Canada will be forced to import butter in the near future. Conclusion of the Ottawa Conference has cleared the way, he said, for the setting up of the marketing board, which will strive to maintain continuous and uniform export of uniform and high quality agricultural products.

Touching on the high lights of the Imperial Economic Conference, Mr. Weir digressed to point out the necessity of caution before Garnet wheat, largely grown in this Northern area, is given a separate grading. Experts had contended, he said, Garnet was responsible for the unusually great price spread between No. 1 and No. 2 grades of Canada's wheat last year. But this year, when a greater percentage than ever of Garnet is in the No. 2 grade, the abnormal spread has disappeared.

PARALYSIS SPREADS.

BROCKVILLE. — Two additional cases of infantile paralysis, both children, were reported to-day from the vicinity of the Village of Lyn, near here, bringing the total for the Township of Elizabethtown to five. Health authorities have applied quarantine and taken other measures to bring the outbreak under control. Schools are closed and public gatherings discouraged.

Small tree fruits and berries are being grown successfully in an experimental plot at the University of Alberta, Edmonton.

"ME— IM A PIPE SMOKER Pure and Simple" declared — Mr. Picobac

"AND not so awful simple either," he added, striking a match under the seat of his chair.

"I've been smoking a pipe between meals ever since the big flood," continued he. "You mind the time the government ditches flowed over the roads?" Mr. Picobac waved his pipe through a fragrant cloud of smoke. "Essex County is bottom land—a natural-born flat," explained he. "Tain't high above lake level anywhere. But you can't beat it for growing stuff—especially tobacco—Burley tobacco."

CANADIAN CONTROL

By E. M. GUNDY
Central Press Canadian Correspondent.

Sir Robert Perks, elected at the age of 83 as vice-president of the newly-formed union of the Methodist Churches in Great Britain, the highest position in the organization open to any member of the laity, has during his long life been intimately connected with the building up of the Dominion of Canada.

He may not live to see the day, just as Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not live, but he believes nothing can hinder the ultimate completion of his great scheme to build a canal from the St. Lawrence to Georgian Bay, wide enough and deep enough to take ships from the Atlantic right up through the heart of Ontario to the grain elevators of Fort William and Port Arthur.

He is personally interested in pulp mills in New Brunswick, but the great ship canal is by far the most ambitious scheme he has ever fostered. Its building is expected to cost over $100,000,000. Complete plans were deposited with the Canadian Government in 1907. All that is necessary now is that trifling ten thousand "grand."

A Noted Engineer.

Sir Robert is a forty-niner, born on April 24th of that year. He has lived a long time, and he still thinks he can afford to wait. He waited 40 years for the great Nicaragua Canal, and he built that Manchester ship canal, and he should know something about them.

Naturally he opposes the St. Lawrence waterways, believing that Canada should construct with her own capital the canal that could bring in, as he believes, millions of dollars in tolls from the United States, and pay its own way under Canadian control.

A three-line item in the news of the day brings back the story. From a poor law clerk who turned to the legal profession after failing three times in examinations for the Indian Civil Service, Sir Robert Perks has become the pillar of nonconformity in Great Britain, a power in the public utility world of the motherland and now, vice-president of the United Methodist Churches of Great Britain which were amalgamated this week in a monster mass meeting in Albert Hall.

Greetings From Anglicans.

It is a far cry from the days when non-conformists through their staunch legal champion had to fight every inch of the ground for even the shadow of political recognition, when the word "reverend" could not appear on a tombstone, and the dead had to be taken to the cemetery by the back door. It is a far cry when Rt. Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington Ingram, Anglican Bishop of London, makes the address of the evening welcoming the amalgamation of over 2,500,000 Methodist non-conformists into one church, and King George himself sends his hearty congratulations, read from the platform by the Duke of York.

Much of the work behind the union is that of Sir Robert Perks. He it was who first proposed it back in 1875, and who has worked steadily towards its completion since that date. Very fitly the gratitude of 5,000 ministers is shown by his election as their lay head.

After his apprenticeship to law, young Perks made a special study of railway law, becoming legal adviser to the London Metropolitan Railway, a post which he held for fifteen years. By suggesting a better method of operation for the Conway tubular bridge, he was able to amalgamate this with the eastern county railways, which enabled him with Lord Wolverhampton to secure contracts for giant construction operations among which was the $40,000,000 Buenos Aires dock

ROBERT HARKNESS IS COMING TO CITY

Life's Work of Great Hymnist Has Filled Unusual Place.

The coming of Robert Harkness brings to Peterborough the best of the world's talent in cathedral music. To lovers of music as adepted to Christian worship, the life's work of this great hymnist has filled an unusual place.

Known the world around through the popular use of his great pieces he has endeared himself to the thousands who have been moved by their spiritual warmth. A few of these are: "Is He Yours," "Shadows," "I've Tried in Vain," "No Burdens Yonder," "His Loving Thought on Calvary" "He Will Hold Me Fast," "Oh, What a Change," and two thousand others.

He is editor of the useful magazine, "The Sacred Musician," printed in California. Also editor, compiler, and author of a number of hymnals.

He is appearing at Bethany Tabernacle on Friday, September 30, afternoon and evening.

A Chat with Young Peterboro

ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR OCTOBER 2.

MOST important thing any boy or girl has to do is to grow a soul. You can't see, touch, or handle a soul, but it's there all the same. A little girl I know once said that "the soul's what you go to heaven in." That's true, and that's why it's so important. Listen: "Were I so tall to reach the pole, Or grasp the ocean in my span, I must be measured by my soul, For that's the measure of a man." It won't do to have a soul that rattles around inside you like a dry pea in a pod, but one that's growing bigger all the time.

How do you grow a soul? Well, God planted it there, and your job is to see that it grows in grace and knowledge of the Saviour. Plants grow by what they take out of the air and what they get out of the earth. They grow at both ends, leaves and roots. A good tree has the same spread of roots in the ground as it has of branches in the air. That makes for balanced growth. Prayer is the air and the Scripture is the soil in which souls grow. Prayer doesn't mean to be always saying prayers, but keeping in touch with God. The same little girl I spoke of once knelt down at night and said, "Dear Lord Jesus, we are still friends. Thank you. Amen." Some folks might not call that a prayer at all, but I think it was. She was keeping in touch all the time with the Saviour. And then, you need to get the Scriptures rooted in your memory. Learn a text or a passage every day. The more you do the easier it will become. Memory is like a street car, always room for one more by dint of a little pushing and good will. So here are the two things for growing in grace and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, prayer and the Word of God.—Young Canada.

ob, and the important railway over the Andes.

"Scheme Not Dead."

Sir Robert's most recent pronouncement regarding the great Georgian Bay scheme, made in 1927, is that it is never more alive as an issue as at the present time. "The scheme is not dead. The canal will be built some day by its present promoters or by somebody else. It is one of the most obvious steps in man's progress. You cannot take such men as Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir William Van Horne, Lord Strathcona and Lord Shaughnessy and find them all mistaken."

Sir Robert recalls a conversation with Sir Wilfrid in the latter's room in the Parliament Buildings overlooking the Ottawa River. Laurier then said, he recalls, that whoever lived to see the canal built, would live to see the transformation of the city of Ottawa; for the river would become one of the greatest arteries of commerce in the world.

Sir Robert regards Sir Wilfrid as a great statesman but thinks he made a serious mistake in 1903. Laurier then had to choose between the canal and transcontinental railway. He chose the railway, thinking it would cost only fifteen million sterling. It actually cost $35,000,000, and in Sir Robert's opinion led to an unfortunate extension of the Canadian Northern to the west which, he believes, plunged the whole railway situation into its subsequent difficulties.

Meanwhile Sir Robert, at 83, is still waiting. He admits he may have to wait for another day. "This generation may not do it. After all, we have to leave something to posterity," he observes.

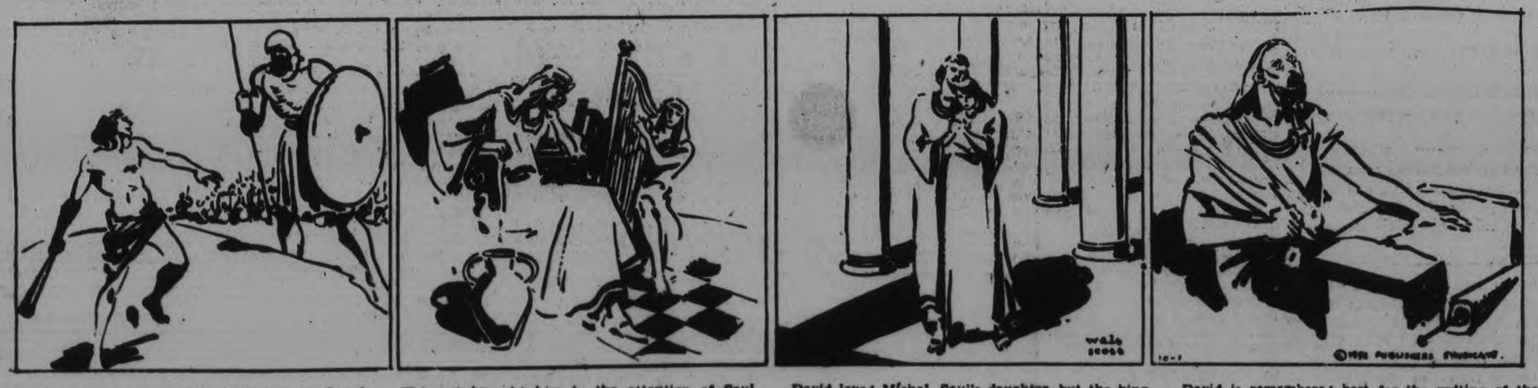
Meantime he will devote a major portion of his still abundant energies to one of the greatest mergers in the world, that of the primitive Methodists, the Wesleyan Methodists and the United Methodists of Great Britain.

Great as have been his mergers in the realm of finance, and his vision for a greater Canada, his marshalling together of the once bitterly divergent forces which receive a common inspiration in the teachings of John Wesley will stand as his monument for all time.

David, the Psalmist

Sunday School Lesson

By Harlowe R, Hoyt
Walter Scott



David, the son of Jesse, king of Judah and Israel, was the founder of the royal Judean dynasty at Jerusalem. He was the youngest of eight sons and spent his youth watching his father's sheep in the vales of Judah. Sent to carry supplies to the Israelites camp in their war with the Philistines, he proved his valor by meeting the giant Goliath, in single combat and slaying him.

This act brought him to the attention of Saul, king of Israel, who picked the lad to become his armor bearer. David played upon the harp and possessed a sweet voice, and often whiled away the moody hours of his patron by singing to him. For Saul was given to fits of melancholy akin to madness, and David brightened these spells. Saul's son, Jonathan, became his friend—a friendship that is famous.

David loved Michal, Saul's daughter, but the king had taken a dislike to him. The youth was popular and Saul feared he might be supplanted. So he sent him upon a dangerous mission, but he returned triumphant. With Michal for his wife. David became the target of his father-in-law's jealousy. At last, he fled to save his life; and after a time came to be the ruler of the Kingdom of Israel.

David is remembered best for the writing of the Psalms which embody some of the noblest sentiment and most poetic expressions that man ever has expressed. The Book of Psalms, one of the divisions of the Old Testament, includes 150 lyrics. Not all of these, however, are the work of David. Seventy-three have been attributed to him by students of religious history. Others wrote the rest.

THE NEW TREND IN TRADE.

As evidence of how great a contribution to better business conditions well-planned and mutually advantageous trade agreements may make, the arrival of a huge shipment of Australian currants and seedless raisins is of interest.

This shipment, one of the largest consisting of these commodities ever to come to Canada, was carried by the Canadian National steamer "Canadian Constructor," and the cargo consisted of 28,145 packages, weighing 1,572,940 pounds.

To transport this quantity of raisins and currants by rail would necessitate the use of a freight train of 53 cars, each carrying 30,000 pounds—and yet this shipment was the fifth received by the same Canadian firm of wholesale grocers, and a sixth is now on the way.

The Australian-Canadian trade pact is responsible for these huge supplies of dried fruits which this country formerly secured largely from California, but which now are being bought in the sister Dominion.

It is good business for both countries, and the development of such a large trade as the result of one agreement will inspire Canadians to look forward more hopefully than ever for similar results from the many pacts entered into during the Imperial Conference at Ottawa.

THE CONFERENCE AND THE BY-ELECTION.

Although it would undoubtedly be better if the Imperial Conference agreements, as the Globe suggests, should not be tossed into the political arena at least until the details are fully known, it is difficult to see how discussion of the conference and its results could be kept out of a South Huron by-election.

The Government, open to criticism from its opponents for its attitude during the conference and for what every error of omission or commission the opposition may choose to charge it with, can scarcely be blamed for stressing what it believes to be the benefits that may result from the gathering at Ottawa and for claiming credit for what success may have been attained.

It is worthy of note that the conference has already appeared as an issue in British by-elections, and as a matter of fact, all governments which participated in the Empire parley may expect to be criticized by their political foes at any and all times, and surely, therefore, are entitled to give their side of the case and to seek whatever glory it is possible for them to secure from the results of the proceedings.

Undoubtedly it would have been preferable to have had the parliamentary discussion of the conference precede rather than follow the South Huron campaign, but under the circumstances it is not surprising to find the Ottawa conference a live by-election issue.

UNFAIR COMPETITION.

It is intimated from Ottawa that the Royal Commission on Transportation is of the opinion that the regulation of motor bus and truck systems is a matter of provincial jurisdiction, and that an interprovincial conference to deal with the situation as regards competition with the railways is likely to be called.

Railway revenues have undoubtedly been hard hit by this competition, and a good many people believe that in the general interest the advantages at present enjoyed by bus and truck companies should be removed and the railways given a fair chance to carry on.

The latter had to construct their own lines and maintain them, while their new competitors travel on highly expensive roads that were built and are being maintained by the people at large.

There is a strong feeling that the bus and truck concerns are not paying enough for the privilege—in fact, that they are not paying for the damage they do to road surfaces.

This is a matter for provincial regulation, and it would not be surprising to find the various provinces ready to assist in every way possible to improve conditions for the railways by insisting that highway transport both of passengers and freight shall pay a greater share of the cost and maintenance of highways.

Provincial administrations which are alive to the situation should welcome an opportunity to discuss the problem with other governments in order to arrive at a common program.

WILL SEE MORE GOOD DAYS.

A lot of useful optimism is wrapped up between the covers of an attractive little booklet entitled "To-morrow's Business Needs No Crystal Gazer," which The Examiner received a day or so ago from the firm of Richardson, Bond, Wright & Company, producers of Photo-Repro.

This publication, containing figures of former depressions and corresponding recoveries, has a wealth of cheerful axioms from which we quote the following:

The hilltops of yesterday were lower than the valleys of to-day.

Folks said that civilization would crack up in 1877, too.

Banks failed in 1877, but Canadian progress never failed yet.

Ticker-tape never did tangle plow shares very long.

In 1914 to-day would have looked good to any of us.

And again business will find new high levels, as it always has.

The conclusions of this fine encouraging booklet are as sound as the axioms carrying the top of each page. The author points out:

Business will always see more good days as long as there are two men left to trade on the face of the earth. The urge to want things, to produce and to trade, is far stronger than any economic condition we can ever face . . . and history has always justified this faith.

To-day our national wealth is $32,000,000,000, while our net debt is only $2,261,611,936. In other words, we are over $29,000,000,000 on the right side of the ledger. Let us not forget that before we had this wealth, we prospered and created it—and now that we have it, we certainly cannot prosper less.

Canada has the advantage of possessing factories which are all comparatively modern—a feature which more than balances the lower wage scales of other countries in competitive production. Canada has the advantage of cheap land, plentiful timber, metals, minerals — resources which have not reached anything like their maximum development.

There is everything in our history to prove that we have succeeded in the past — there is nothing in our present condition to prevent us from succeeding in the future.

Business will return again—it is returning now.

MONEY TO VETS.

In a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post, ex-Governor Al Smith contributes an article on the case for and against the bonus demands of the war veterans in the United States. It should prove an awakening to the taxpayer in the Republic because it is shown irrefutably that thousands who never left their country are in receipt of handsome monthly checks and the bill is a staggering one. Disabilities incurred in civil life long after the close of the war are being paid for by the Government, and doctors and others at a high price are the beneficiaries.

When the American Legion met at Seattle, there was a heated debate over the bonus issue, and it remained for General Frank T. Hines of the Veterans' Bureau, to submit comparative expenditures for the U.S., France and Great Britain, summarized as follows:

Great Britain and France were in the war for approximately 51 months.

The United States was in it about 19 months.

Great Britain mobilized 6,600,000 men, of whom 3,000,000 were either killed or wounded. Of these more than 2,000,000 were wounded.

France mobilized 8,410,000 men, of whom 5,623,000 were killed for wounded. Of these 4,266,000 were wounded.

The United States mobilized 4,757,240 men, of whom 322,497 were casualties. Of these 192,369 were wounded.

France is compensating some 700,000 veterans.

The United States is compensating 737,850.

Great Britain spent $175,000,000 for relief of veterans.

France spent $287,000,000 for relief of veterans.

The United States spent $860,835,000 for relief of veterans.

Annual expenditures in Great Britain among veterans amount to $58 per annum for each soldier dead or wounded in the war.

Annual expenditures in France are $51 per head.

Annual expenditures in the United States are $2,868.

A study of these figures indicates that the American veterans have not much cause for complaint. But the bonus cry sounds good to them, so they are shouting for payment of the $2,300,000,000.00 in cash without delay.

The Canadian scale of pensions does not embrace as many as in the United States, and is not as high. But it is probably many points higher than for the United Kingdom or for France. This country despatched more men overseas, had about as many wounded, but fewer killed than the States. On a reasonable basis, the U.S. should not have spent any more for veteran provision than Canada, but the sum of over $860,000,000 has already been paid out in one year alone. What of the future?—St. Catharines Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Hon. W. G. Martin's airplane adventure must have made the Minister of Public Welfare feel that he was engaged in a hot political campaign.

It is of no benefit, writes an economist, for a board of education to save civic money if that saving is to be offset by increased county and provincial expenditures. As citizens, we feel the burden of provincial and county, as well as civic, taxation.

News of Our Own Village

5 village families is going to homestead in Ont., well to the north of here, and Walt Stocker oughta present each of them with 1 of them "Please keep off the grass signs" for their lawns when they get the same developed.

Bill Roberts, the genial night custodian of this great family journal, celebrated his 69th birthday Thurs. Bill is still 1 of the sprightliest young fellers in the bunch, many opines.

Many of the villagers hit the trail over Highway No. 7 for Lindsay, west of us, this week, to attend the fall fair in that berg, it being the chief excitement in them parts since the missing link was built.

The Kiwanians of this berg had a street fair Thurs, nite and the light fantastic was tripped until the midnite or thereabouts, causing many to loose their sleep, although it was in a good cause we hasten to point out.

Ed. Beatty's steam railroad run a excursion to Ottawa, east of here, Fri., and many villagers went down to see the place where Ed. Peck does his stuff and to drink a little local color, so to speak, in Hull, just over the creek from Ottawa.

Rolly Denne, our worthy mayor, is billed to give a talk to the Rotarians when they eat at Graham's Hotel Mon. and he's going to tell the boys how this berg is run and why.

Jake Solomon of Philadelphia, south of here, and the bird what put baseball on its pins in these parts, has been holidaying in our midst and making life lively with a lot of trick gadgets he brung with him from the other side. Don't stay away so long next time, Jake, say we.

Jack Corporan of Toronto, west of here, threw another of his rassling parties in the village ice box Fri. nite and the folks continue to like it.

A village composer has put out a new tune called "On the Dreamy Tonabee" but lost a good chance for local color by not putting a picture of the sewage disposal plant on the corner of the piece.

Russia Turned Inside Out Is Not As Deep a Red As Foreigners Think

By H. W. L. MAHOOD.

The Toronto Globe gives to the public, daily, editorials, able, sincere, timely. Sometimes they are political, sometimes economic, sometimes international, sometimes religious. An editorial in the Tuesday issue of this week on Russian Communism is significant. There is, however, another view point.

True it is that the Communistic centre in Moscow is diabolically efficient. But the most of Russian Communistic propoganda is for foreign consumption. Communism inside Russia during The Five Year Plan has almost wholly evaporated. Within Russia there is about as much Communism left as there is tobacco in their cigarets. Go to any tobacco centre in Russia for cigarets, and you find them to contain mightily little tobacco. These cigarets are made for foreign consumption. If Communism depended upon Within-Russia for propogation, few editorials like the vigorous Toronto Globe editorial would be written in any foreign country.

There was a Red Russia in the twenties. Its flag was red. And Russia was drenched in blood of one of the reddest revolutions of all time. If the story of that revolution is ever fully told, it will be too terrible to read.

Then Russia rushed from one extreme to another. The wildest experiment in government ever devised was attempted. New found liberty is likely to plunge into an excess of debauchery. That very thing came to pass. Then came another extreme. Russia for five years has been an airtight bureaucracy doing capitalist business on a large scale. This State capitalism has crowded out most of the elements of Communism. It was for Communism that the masses of Russians fought. For them, Communism is now a tattered garment. About all that is left of Communism among the people is the word "red" and the red flag. The Five Year Plan has failed. The next thing to fail will be the vigorous Moscow foreign propaganda.

Moscow is at present busied with peasant discontent. Moscow leaders are in the mood to make concessions. The arbitrariness of the bureaucracy has begun to weaken. Has Russia begun to move in the direction of capitalism? That seems likely.

The outward sign of the peasant revolt has been a sharp decline in the wheat harvest. This has disturbed the leaders. The decline in wheat production has been estimated at 25 per cent. The reason of the decline was not unfavorable weather. It was the unwillingness of the peasants to plant more than they needed for themselves.

The explanation of this peasant policy has been the Communist method. The State has been taking from the farmers at a fixed and low price all the surplus grain, and other field products. With this surplus produce the peasants hoped to purchase manufactured goods. The first Five Year Plan with its emphasis on production, and industrial plants, machinery, etc., has brought about a virtual famine in consumers' goods. Such as could be offered at free sale went at high prices. The result has been that the peasant's money has been of little benefit to him.

Then see how Communism is changing at the leadership top. A new policy has been inaugurated. The State will hereafter take only a limited portion of the surplus. The farmer is permitted to sell the rest at the best price he can obtain, and where he pleases. Perfect Communism has, as related to agriculture, breathed its last. Two changes yet remain to be ironed out. The State owns the means of production, and monopolizes foreign trade. The accomplishment of the peasants has been only a slight movement towards democracy—government of the people, by the people, and for the people. But the basis of Communism in Russia has been shaken. With the bureaucracy, will go atheism, and revolutionary propaganda abroad. Then Russia will be able to look the world in the face and not be ashamed.

Life in Russia is terribly drab. It could not well be otherwise. Czarist cruelty, and oppression, and a bloody revolution, and a Godless Communism, has wrought a sombreness into all peasant Russian life that cannot be relieved by the bright colors of self government for a generation or two. But she has begun to face in the right direction, and that is much. She has begun to come up from the depths. Her climb will be long and costly. Fortunate it is that she is blessed with a rugged type of manhood and womanhood.

BY CRAIG CARROLL

INSTALMENT 24

Judy continued to tell Elsie of her suspicions of Lona. "I've told you what I've heard," Judy said. "Lona has ruined things for half a dozen girls before me. She's mean, Elsie. Mean as she can be. And dangerous. That's what that blond girl told me. Said Lona had ways of finding out things and using them against people. Gets jobs that way, sometimes. And she's been trying to see Jenks to tell him something. And they're sure to find out, over at the studio, about this new contract."

"Don't tell 'em," Elsie said immediately.

"Of course I won't. But Flavin, the advertising man, will. And you don't know how fast everybody gets to know everything around a station."

"They can't do anything about it, can they?"

"Not to me."

"But Dick—"

"He's the one who's in danger, Elsie. And he's got all those people he's got to take care of. Just got to. If he loses his job—"

Elsie shrugged. "Never cross a bridge till you think you're going to get your feet wet," she observed. "And here's a bridge."

Silent, they crossed the Wabash bride, walked north, past the grim, angular brick buildings. Silent, they came at last to the house, and on the porch sat Dick and Billy Denton, the gold-toothed radio operator.

Dick jumped up, came running down the steps. "Judy! I thought you'd never get home. What happened to-day? Was the client all right? Did he have some kick to make?"

• • •

Eyes averted, Judy handed him the contract. There was a moment of silence. Then she heard Dick Mason whoop with joy, heard him chanting, "Judy's a success! She's got a contract! A hundred dollars a week! Geee!"

Suddenly he seized her hands. "Judy, I told you they liked you. I told you, Judy!"

"Yes," Judy said quietly, "you were right, Dick. And it's all due to you, Dick. You did everything for me."

He laughed. "Didn't do a thing. You did it yourself. Elsie, meet Billy. Best radio operator in town. Billy, meet Elsie. Nicest girl here. Except Judy. Billy, Elsie, go away. I've got to talk to Judy. Go eat dinner, or anything. Go on!"

Billy grinned, with all his gold teeth. And Elsie grinned. Judy felt a pang of pity for Elsie, so unbeautiful, so aware of her lack of charm. Then she saw Billy take Elsie's arm, leading her toward the porch. Elsie looked happy. Of course. Billy wasn't handsome, and he wasn't tall, and his clothes hung wildly about him. But he was Elsie's cavalier.

So Judy turned to face Dick And to feel, as he laughed, as he went on excitedly, proud of her success, that she must tell him the truth. And very soon, before it was too late.

But the days passed. Elsie went to a movie with Billy one night and appeared at midnight flushed, happy, proud. Elsie went to lunch with him Saturday and learned all about radio and how to tune out static. Elsie had Billy over for lunch Sunday, and he put a new aerial on the radio in her room and talked about the invention he was going to finish some day, and then suggested it would be nice to go to the zoo.

So Judy was alone late in the afternoon when the telephone rang. It might be Dick. But it was not. It was Elton Day.

"Are you alone?"

"Why—yes."

"I want to see you, Judy. I'll be up in just a few minutes. I've got to see you. Good-by."

The receiver clicked. Judy, puzzled, suddenly afraid, returned to the living room. It seemed she had been there for hours, leafing through magazines she did not want to read, listening for the doorbell, when suddenly it rang loudly and, in a moment, the landlady said, "Gentleman to see you, Judy."

It was Elton, and he seemed breathless, for a moment he could not talk. Then he managed, "Judy, things are happening."

"What things? Tell me? Tell me, Elton!"

"Not until I've told you something else. Judy, I'm in love with you. You know it. I'm saying it badly; but I love you. For the first time in my life, I'm being absolutely honest. I'm not worth a thing, and you know it. I've a thousand things against me, and you'll find out the ones I don't know. But I love you."

Judy stepped away from him, staring. Something had changed Elton Day. There was no sneer at the corners of his mouth, there was no arrogance in his voice. He might have been on his knees, on the worn carpet, in this shabby room. He might have been pleading for life.

Perhaps he was. Perhaps Elton Day, looking at the years ahead of him, afraid of his own loneliness he had fought so hard to achieve. For he said again, in a voice that broke sharply, roughly, "I love you, Judy Allison. Won't you say something? Anything! Talk to me, Judy! Tell me—tell me whatever you want to say. But talk, Judy!"

• • •

Then she said, rather steadily, "You haven't any right to say those things."

"No right? No right to say you're the one person in the world I've ever known was beautiful and right? No right to say I love you? I've every right in the world. And it's true! Listen to me, Judy Allison. I want you to marry me. I want us to go so far away from everything I know, everything that's happened to both of us, that none of it will ever touch us again. Don't you hear me? I'm asking you to marry me, Judy. I want you to be with me always, Judy!

Judy held hard to the back of a chair with trembling, jerking fingers. His voice roared in her ears. Something shouted in her heart. Not like anything she had ever known. Not like the surge of warmth, of peace, that she felt when Dick Mason said, "I love you, Judy." Not like that. Something that frightened her, that was new.

She moved her hands across her mouth, in a frail gesture that meant "No. Please don't say anything more. No."

He brushed her hands away, held them tightly, looked at her. His eyes begged. "Judy. Tell me! You don't hate me any more. You know you don't. Tell me, Judy!"

"I don't hate you," she said. It was true. Whatever hate there had been was gone. You cannot hate a man who is helpless, whose armor is gone, who grovels because he loves you. "I don't hate you," she repeated quietly.

"Then I've a right to say it again. I love you, Judy Allison! And you're going to love me!"

• • •

She laughed. It was a very small laugh, it was not what she had meant, it was like striking Elton Day in the face.

"No," she said. "I'm not. I couldn't love you if I wanted to. And I don't want to."

"Dick Mason! You're in love with him! Look at me! Let me see your eyes, Judy!"

She faced him, standing quite still, looking into his eyes. The moment's strange feeling was gone. He was a man named Elton Day, and nothing more than that, to Judy.

His eyes widened. Something shadowed them. Then, amazingly, he began to laugh. He threw back his head and laughed in a terrible, saw-edged chuckle that went on and on. He stepped away, still laughing. Somehow, through his awful laughter she heard him saying "It's funny! It's the funniest thing that ever happened! It—No! No!" He was not laughing any more. His face was white, his eyes stared. "Judy! You don't know what's happened. It's not funny. It's ghastly."

His hat lay on the table where he had tossed it. Now he picked up the hat, turning it awkwardly in fumbling fingers. It dropped. He stooped, picked it up, dropped it again.

"Judy! I didn't mean to say what I've just said. I come to tell you something. But I can't tell you now. Good-by, Judy! Good-by!"

He was gone. The door slammed. Then, in a moment, there was the noise of a car starting, outside.

• • •

Now, for the first time, Judy moved. She went to the window. She saw Elton Day's car moving down the street. She realized there were tears in her eyes. Not because he was gone. She did not care. She was sure she did not care at all. But because she was honest, and because she was a girl who had been taught to be sorry for people who do not know their own way out.

If Elton Day was pitiful, it was his own fault; if building a wall of insolence, he had lost touch with everything he might have wanted, he had done it willingly, knowingly; if, lonely, he was pitiful in his loneliness, still he needed no sympathy, still he stood on his own feet, got what he wanted; and for that more than anything, Judy pitied him.

He said, "I love you." Perhaps he meant it. Perhaps it was only a word when he said "love." He had written so much, so much that he had lost touch with life. Life was a word and love was a word. That was what brought the tears to Judy's eyes.

Yet he had meant what he said. Somehow, she could not doubt him. Somehow, Elton Day had learned how to tell the truth. And having told the truth, he had laughed. At himself. But at something else.

• • •

All at once Judy was terrified. Nothing ordinary could have worked that breath-taking change so suddenly. Something she knew nothing about had happened. Something she must know about at once. Something affecting Dick Mason. She did not know why she was so sure of this, but she was. Dick was in danger. Dick—

She ran to the telephone, jangled the receiver wildly, told the operator over and over, "I want Spring 7701. Hurry! Hurry!" She bit her lips, trembled, moved restlessly, waiting, waiting for an interminable time. Until a distant voice said, "Station WAOA."

"Let me speak to Mr. Mason please."

"Who is calling?"

"Miss Allison. It's about the Beauty Builders program."

"Oh, Miss Allison?" There was a mocking inflection in the voice. "Just a moment."

"What? What?"

The phone clicked.

GENEVA, Sept. 24 (C.P.)—Eamon De Valera, head of the Irish Free State Government, and President of the present session of the League of Nations Council, expressed the regret of the Council to-day that Japan had recognized the new Manchurian State of Manchukuo.

Japans action, he said, prejudiced a final settlement of the Sino-Japanese dispute.

De Valera's regret was expressed while he was recommending that the Council agree to Tokyo's request for a six weeks' delay in considering the report of the League's inquiry commission.

Asking for New Car Gets Man Arrested

OSHAWA, Ont., Sept. 24 (C.P.).—Police here are trying to identify a man who gave the name of "George Jones," when he was arrested on a charge of vagrancy. "Jones" was alleged to have gone to the General Motors plant here and asked that he be given a new coupe for a firm of dealers in Niagara Falls. He had no papers to back up his request and police were notified. "Jones" went back to the plant and was arrested.

He claimed to be the owner of a string of race horses in Montreal, and declared he had also been a patient in a Kingston hospital.

distance if the Patra had come to grief:

Sailed Three Weeks Ago

The Patara, loaded 700,000 pounds of fish and 100 barrels of cod liver oil at Domino Run, Labrador, sailed about three weeks ago. The barreled oil was carried as a deck load. Yesterday one of the schooner's wrecked dories was found at Drum Head, N.S., and to-day Captain Pine was advised two barrels of oil and a barrel of water had been found in the same vicinity.

He said inasmuch as the barrels of oil and water were carried on deck they did not conclusively prove the schooner had foundered. They might have been swept away by boarding seas. But, he said, he feared the Patara had been in a collision.

If the Patara has gone the way of the famous Columbia, and other Gloucester schooners that have vanished with all hands, she will leave but two of the once great Gloucester fleet that depended upon billowing canvas alone. They are the Thomas Gorton and the Elsie, the latter once a candidate for international sailing honors.

All other Gloucester schooners now carry auxiliary engines.

CAUTION AND LIGHT TRADING REPLACES SUMMER ENTHUSIASM

NARROW FLUCTUATIONS.

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—(CP)—The last vestiges of the "baby bull market of 1932" passed from the scene of Canadian Stock Exchange trading this week. In place of the speculative enthusiasm of July and August there was a return of caution and the tacit consent of traders to allow Canadian securities prices to follow the somewhat confused leadership of Wall street.

Share prices sagged with New quotations early in the week, and with later signs of returning firmness at the larger centre, the domestic list retraced a part of tse lost ground. Both traders and investors were obviously not in a mood to embark upon new commitmentsof importance however, and the same atmosphere prevailed in British and continental circles where North American securities have, until recently, been under accumulation.

No Serious Liquidation

But there was no serious liquidation to unsettle price levels of investment issues, despite the fact Canadian interlisted stocks including C. P. R. Smelters, Nickel, Ford of Canada, and the oils sold off sharply when Wall Street prices developed weakness in the middle of the week.

Even the duff report on the Canadian Railway problem failed to stimulate activity in C. P. R. which was, instead, under the influence of rail group prices movements on the New York exchange. The marked contraction in sales volume at Toronto and Montreal was perhaps the most encouraging feature of the market since it indicated beyond doubt that holders of stocks are hopeful that economic recovery will be accompanied or again foreshadowed by a resumption of the rise in security.

Meanwhile, prices of leading issues reflect the narrow range of the week's fluctuations. C P.R. is quoted at 19⅜ after selling over 20, while Smelters at 85½ and International Nickel at 11⅛ also managed to improve their levels at the close of the week's trading. The oils sagged, however, after a temporary demonstration of firmness on Thursday and their levels closely approximate those of a week ago. Such leaders as Brazilian Traction, Ford of Canada, the Steels, and the Food stocks experienced a light turnover, but these issue were inclined to be easier although their actual price comparisons with those of recent sessions show no major change in either direction.

Bond Situation.

The situation in the bond market was heartrending to the investment element for the reason that bonds, although not in aggressive demand were nevertheless able to hold or strengthen previous quotations. Government, C.N.R. and Provincial issues were leaders, but there was better demand for industrials, and more particularly for some of the Canadian utility group. Advances were small, however, and chief interest in the bond market lay in the brisk response and the quick subscription of the new Manitoba debenture issue announced during the week.

Commodities were subject to the same process of readjustment that marked share exchanges ,and despite an extremely heavy outward flow of Canadian wheat there was no actual appreciation in the grain values. A slackening in export buying was quickly reflected in easier price tendencies in wheat at the close of the week. Other commodities were decidedly irregular.

Industrial reports, indicating low levels for the season in steel and automobile production in Canada during August were not factors in the stock market nor did they create pessimism in business and financial circles. Such reports were fully expected and they were far overshadowed by more recent statistics shawing that car loadings in the Western division of the Domrilion have increased for two consecutive weeks, the first gain in many months, compared with 1931 figures.

CHILDREN SPEND NIGHT IN ICE BOX

Three Sault Children Hid in Ice Box and Lid Closes.

ALL IN HOSPITAL.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., September 24 (C.P.). — Three Sault children were in hospital here today suffering from the result of a nine hours' incarceration in the ice box of the tug Reliance, which was tied up at the Government Wharf.

One boy told the rescuers that they had entered the ice box about half-past five in the afternoon to hide, making their way in through a hole in the top scarcely more than a foot square. When they pulled the lid down, the sash caught and they were unable to get out again.

Faint moans coming in the direction of the tug caused searchers around the dock to make an investigation. The groans came from a galvanized ice box only about four feet square and when they opened it they found the three youngsters huddled in a space hardly large enough to hold them.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—To-day's abbreviated session on the local Stock Exchange was a tame affair. Volume was light, trading narrow, prices firm, although only fractionally higher and interlisted issues again failing to provide the leadership they had been noted for in past three months.

Interlisted issues made small gains in inactive trading. C.P.R. held back with Wall Street rails, pending publication of United States' carloadings statement at noon, and made a fractional gain only. International Nickel, Ford were slightly higher and Brazilian Traction unchanged. Consolidated Smelters firmed to advance about a point.

Oils were unchanged to lower. Banks irregular with Montreal up 1, and Royal off 1. Canada Permanent gained 1¼.

MINING EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Sept. 24. (CP) — Prices among interlisted stocks displayed a stronger tendency, in somewhat improved trading on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market to-day. Balance of the list was quiet but irregularly higher in trend.

Noranda moved above $21 for a 55-cent gain and Nickel was up $25 on end. Sudbury Basin eased 5 but other Lindsleys were steady, with Sherritt Gordon a couple higher from the opening.

Lake Shore met renewed demand and advanced 50 to $30. McIntyre and Teck-Hughes firmed 10 each and gains ranging up to 4 cents appeared in Wright-Hargreaves, Sylvanite and Brett Trethewey, Kirkland Lake Gold and Howey eased a cent apiece. Among the pennies fractional advances were recorded by Algoma mining, McLeod River and Malrobic.

Oils were mixed, with Pen Pete up a cent and Vacuum and Homestead Slighlly lower.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTRI ., Sept. 24.—(C.P.)—The Montreal Stock Market listings moved within narrow range in irregular trading to-day. Gains and losses were fairly evenly distributed and only a few special issues showed more than fractional price changes. Trading was dull.

Among the leaders Canadian Pacific gained ¼ to 20 and International Nickel was 1-8 higher at 11 3-8. Brazilian Traction dropped 1-8 at 11¼.

Canada Wire and Cable "B" was a weak spot, losing 2¼ at 12¼. St. Lawrence Corporation issues were also soft. The common lost 15 cents at 60 cents and the preferred was down 1-4 at 2½. Canadian Car preferred was down 1-2 at 17.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (CP) — Stocks moved ahead quietly to-day, with rails providing most of the momentum.

The rise in car loading figures, mounting to 85,478 for the week ended Sept. 17, was regarded as more than seasonal after making allowance for the let-down during the preceding week when Labor Day curtailed traffic. An improvement of substantial proportions had been partly discounted, however, and so, also, had the agreement reached by Easter Railroad executives on consolidation.

From the opening, railroad stocks moved up a point or so, and held most of these gains through to the close against late profit-taking. Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio, Lehigh Valley and New Haven were up a point or two at the best. Similar advances were made by several western carriers, including Santa Fe and Union Pacific.

Touchy Situation

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 24—(C. P.)—International complications confronted County Judge Joseph Wearing here today, when he attempted to decide the fate of a two-year-old Chinese-Canadian lad named Paul Frank Lee.

Paul's mother wants him, so does his grandmother, with whom he is now living. Twenty years ago, the grandmother, a white woman, married a Chinese named Lee and bore him several children. One of these is Mrs. Doris Marr, mother of Paul. The child's father is a Chinese. Although not the father of the child, Mrs. Marr's present husband would like to have Paul live with them, Mrs. Marr told the judge.

The case is continuing.

EGGS BRING 22c BUTTER 23c-25c

Chickens Sell at 25 Cents a Pound on Farmers' Market.

POTATOES 75c A BAG.

Mounted on a platform of boxes, and displaying a well-developed physique, a herbalist this morning braved the downpour of rain to expound the virtues of his wares and incidentally succeeded in keeping the large crowd that had gathered about him from thinning away, by the very force of his selling talk.

There were others who withstood the heavy shower of rain also, they were the many farmers who had journeyed in from the rural districts early this morning with the heavy offerings of exceptionally fine produce, from the fields and gardens, the barnyard and dairy, and the apiaries and orchards.

In the covered market canaries were being offered at $5 each, and the suggestion was made by the seller that she would accept advance orders in anticipation of the approach of Christmas, and would keep the birds until that time.

At the foot of the stairs a small boy yelled lustily inviting all and sundry to buy his watercress at 5 cents a bunch.

On the stalls in the open market cauliflowers were selling at 5 and 10 cents, tomatoes 10 and 15 cents a basket, pumpkins and Hubbard squash 5 and 10 cents each, muskmelons 10 cents, potatoes 75 cents a bag, and choice apples 25 cents a peck.

TILICUMS CLASS MEETS.

KEENE, Sept. 24 (Examiner Correspondence).—The members of the Tilicums Class of the United Church held their monthly meeting at the home of Miss Minnie Edwards recently, with more than twenty girls present.

Following the opening exercises, the election of officers for the coming year took place and the remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse, and the presentation of a kitchen shower to Miss Olive McNevan, a past president of the class, whose marriage took place recently.

HAMILTON WINS BANTAM FINALS

Dunkley Hits Home Run With Two On in Seventh Innings

SCORE 7 TO 6

WILLOWVALE PARK, Toronto, Sept. 24.—(Special to Examiner).—Bright sunshine bathed the park here to-day for the final clash between Peterborough's battling little Kiwanis nine and Hamilton for the Provincial Bantam Championship. However a chill wind blew across the hard baked diamond. Both teams gained close victories in their home games.

Tip Anderson, star hurler for Kiwanis, was sent to the mound, while Hamilton pinned their hopes on Clarke. The line-ups:—

FIRST INNINGS

Peterborough.—G. Clark and A. Clark walked; Starr's roller was taken by the third baseman to force out G. Clark at third. Thorburn rolled to second, but all runners were safe; Kingdon and Dunkley fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Hamilton.—Ambros lifted a high fly that was taken by Field in centre field; Cornock walked and stole second; Krawczyk drew four balls. Kellar doubled into centre to score Cornock. Field replaced Anderson on the mound. Anderson going into left field. Gourlay rolled to second and was out at first. Young grounded to the pitcher for the third out. One run, one hit, no errors.

SECOND INNINGS

Peterborough.—O'Leary struck out and Field also whiffed. Anderson was hit by a pitched ball. Anderson stole second and went to third on the catcher's overthrow. G. Clark struck out. No runs, no hits, one error.

Hamilton.—K. Clark struck out. Anderson took three strikes, and Russel fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

THIRD INNINGS

Peterborough.—A. Clark doubled and made third on Starr's roller to first. Thorburn rolled to third and on the play at the plate, A. Clark slid under the catcher for Kiwanis first run. Dunkley singled through short to score Thorburn. O'Leary fanned. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

HAMILTON.—Ambes doubled into left field. Cornock sacrificed Ambes to third on a bunt to Field. Ambes scored when Krawczyk was safe on Thorburn's error. Keller forced Krawczyk at second and went out stealing. One run, one hit, one error.

FOURTH INNINGS

Peterborough.—Field was hit by a pitched ball. Anderson and G. Clark struck out. Field went to second on a passed ball. A. Clark struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Hamilton. — Gourlay fanned. Young hit into left field for a home run to send Hamilton into the lead. K. Clarke rolled out to Field. Anderson singled to right and stole second. Russell walked. Ambes' hard hit was taken by G. Clark for the third out. One run, two hits, no errors.

FIFTH INNINGS

Peterborough.—Starr singled into centre. Thorburn grounded to the pitcher for a double. Kingdon fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Hamilton.—Corneck singled to left. He was forced at second on Krawczyk's roller to short. Kingdon's bad throw to first spoiling a double play. Kellar single to centre. Gourlay hit a home run scoring Krawczyk and Kellar ahead of him. Young rolled out to second. K. Clarke double into right field. Anderson rolled to short. Three runs, three hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNINGS

Peterborough.— Dunkley hit by pitcher. O'Leary struck out. Field fanned and Dunkley stole second. Anderson struck out but made first when the catcher dropped the ball. G. Clarke walked to fill the bases. A. Clarke's sharp grounder was taken by the shortstop for the third out. No runs, no hits, one error.

Hamilton.—Russell singled to centre. Ambes fanned. Corneck singled to right. Krawczyke struck out. Anderson leaped high to make a sensational catch of Kellar's drive to centre field. No runs, two hits, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING

Peterborough.—Starr doubled to left and Thorburn was hit by a pitched ball. Kingdon singled to score Starr. Dunkley hit for a home run, scoring Thorburn and Kingdon ahead of him, and tying the score six all. It was a giant clout, the ball rolling to the clubhouse. O'Leary fanned and Field did the same. Anderson struck out. Four runs, four hits, no errors.

Hamilton.—O'Leary made a sensational running catch of Gourlay's foul behind third base. Young doubled into left. K. Clarke rolled out to short. Young was out stealing third. No runs, one hit, no errors.

EIGHTH INNINGS

Peterborough.—G. Clark fanned. A. Clark flied out to centre. Starr rolled to the pitcher. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Hamilton.—Andrews walked, Russell whiffed. Ambes doubled into centre. Corneck struck out, but Starr dropped the third strike, and Anderson scored on the throw to first. Krawczyk flied to centre. One run, one hit, one error.

NINTH INNINGS

Peterborough.—Thorburn singled to left and stole second. Kingdon struck out. Dunkley rolled to the pitcher. O'Leary fanned, and the game was over. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Mrs. Gordon Hancock and Miss Helen Stuart were hostesses last evening at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of the former on the Second Line of Smith, in honor of Miss Mary Middleton, whose marriage to Mr. Melville Deyell takes place next week. During the evening, the bride-elect was presented with a handsome corded bedspread, fernery and ferns, the gifts of the Lily Lake Sunday School and Christian Endeavor Society, of which she was a valuable member and ardent worker. The presentation, made by Miss Marjory Thompson, Jack Ferguson and Roy Hancock, was accompanied by an appropriate address read by Miss Katheryn Rowland and signed by Mrs. G. Hancock, Miss Dorothy Rowland, Mr. Arthur Hancock and Mr. Harold Thompson. A suitable acknowledgment of the gifts was made, the bride-to-be saying that she was not going far from the community and would visit the Sunday School whenever possible. Following this presentation, the shower gifts were drawn in by little John Steinkrauss in a cart prettily decorated in pink and white. Many lovely and useful gifts were received, and after all were unwrapped and displayed and the donors thanked, all joined in singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." The remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse and dancing, refreshments being served at midnight.

The tea table was lovely with a luncheon cloth embroidered with roses and centered with a large bouquet of roses and buds in silver bud vases. The five small tables which were attractively decorated, were in charge of Mrs. J. Hall, Miss M. Davidson, Mrs. Perks and Mrs. J. Gillespie, while much of the success of the tea was due to Mrs. Ada Craig and Mrs. D. McGregor. Mrs. W. J. Hancock and Mrs. William Lyburn were in charge of the home-made cooking, with Mrs. Martin Chenhall in charge of the program and during the afternoon delightful music was provided by a radio kindly loaned by Heintzman and Company, Ltd.

A jolly surprise party was held at the home of Mr. Charles A. Stenton, senior letter carrier of the local Post Office, last night at his home, 312 Burnham street, when about thirty-five of his fellow employees, including the Postmaster, letter carriers and clerks assembled to congratulate him on the anniversary of his twenty-five years of service in the postal service. A complimentary address was read by James Miller and Mr. Stenton was presented with a beautiful gold watch suitably inscribed, by Mr. R. Bennett. The Postmaster presented Mr. Stenton with a case of pipes from the Clerks' staff, mentioning during his speech that Mr. Stenton is the only one of the original six letter carriers who started from this office on September 23, 1907. Mr. Stenton, although entirely taken by surprise, replied with deep feelings of gratitude for the co-operation of all in the post office. The remainder of the evening was spent in singing songs, short speeches and the service of light refreshments. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Reid, who very kindly assisted Mrs. Stenton and Miss Stenton in the service of refreshments.

This lady says her curtains look like new

A letter from a lady in Quebec tells about the wonderful success she had freshening and recoloring her old living room curtains. "They were so grey and dull looking they made the whole room look shabby. Yet they were perfectly good and I couldn't afford new ones. A neighbor told me about a new kind of tints called Diamond Tints, made by the makers of Diamond Dyes. I know the splendid quality of Diamond Dyes—have used them often for dyeing dark garments. My neighbor explained that Diamond Tints are for lighter shades and they need no boiling. I got a package of Ecru and gave my curtains a good rinse in the tint water. When my daughter came home she asked where I got my new curtains! They surely do look as crisp and fresh as when brand new and they cheer up the whole room!"

A cute dress is this little one-piece affair for that important girl of the family of 2, 4 and 6 years.

It's a model too that will provide a basis for many variations.

For real honest-to-goodness hardy wear, there is plain gingham and cotton broadcloth prints.

Style No. 3191 takes but 1¾ yards of 35-inch material with ½ yard of 32-inch contrasting for the 4-year size.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

THE KITCHEN has been occupying a central place in schemes for decorative interiors for many months.

• • • • • • •

It was in the days of our grandmothers, and in many instances of great grandmothers, since this room has been so prominently featured

• • • • • • •

Then the kitchen was both living-room and kitchen, and the parlor was seldom used. There was one, of course, but with the kitchen so warm in the winter and usually cool in summer, since the stove was relegated to some outer kitchen, the room held its own in all seasons.

• • • • • • •

To-day the kitchen does double duty almost as often as in those days. It is merely that nowadays the doubling is with the dining-room.

• • • • • • •

It may be that the room is the latter with the kitchen as a side element, or it may be the kitchen has for its side feature a dinette or dining-room atmosphere introduced.

• • • • • • •

Therefore, to-day the decorations combine dining-room and kitchen rather than kitchen and living-room, and there may be no separate kitchen or dining-room.

• • • • • • •

There are so many distinctly necessary articles which can be made ornamental that extraneous things do not have to be included. Some of these come ready to use, as instanced in the really artistic painted sets of tin containers.

• • • • • • •

These are much finer, decoratively, than the enamelled tins in flat tones. There are carved and also painted styles of bread-board and knife sets.

• • • • • • •

There are also many articles which a woman can make that daintily stress kitchen decoration and which are decided additions when the room is also a dining-room.

• • • • • • •

For example, bright colored curtains can have applique trimming of fruits or special ornaments. Hot dish holders can be of rather coarse canvas quickly covered with cross-stitch embroidery.

• • • • • • •

A window sill can have pots of herbs, such as mint and parsley, to supply their decorative elements, a swell as add zest to cookery.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

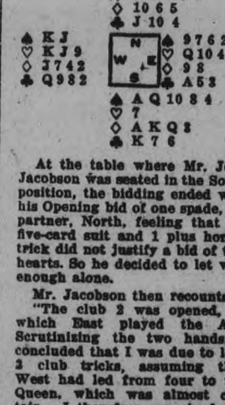
THE FALLACY OF FINESSING

Even the soundest principles have their exceptions. It is the generally accepted theory of play that when you hold but seven cards of a suit, headed by such a combination as A Q 10, it is advisable to finesse, if you can place the lead so as to lead up to the honor combination. This principle, like all other principles, has a firm foundation, because experience has demonstrated that it will work the majority of the times.

The hand below, played in a recent Duplicate Bridge contest at the Toronto, Ontario, Whist Club, is an example of an exception to the rule.

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



At the table where Mr. John Jacobson was seated in the South position, the bidding ended with his Opening bid of one spade, his partner, North, feeling that his five-card suit and 1 plus honor-trick did not justify a bid of two hearts. So he decided to let well enough alone.

Mr. Jacobson then recounts:

"The club 2 was opened, on which East played the Ace. Scrutinizing the two hands, I concluded that I was due to lose 2 club tricks, assuming that West had led from four to the Queen, which was almost certain. I therefore conceived the bright idea of dropping the club King on the Ace to create an additional entry to Dummy, so that I could take two finesses in trumps. This brilliant coup was rewarded in the following manner: My first finesse of the spade 10 lost to the Knave; my second finesse of the Queen lost to the King; but my third lead, the Ace, won with the utmost ease, because West had no more! Thus, my marvelous foresight and card reading on the first trick enabled me to exactly fulfill my contract of one spade, losing only 3 trump tricks, two clubs and one diamond!"

After finishing the play of the next board, and while mulling over the things that might have been, Mr. Jacobson states that a charming young lady, at another table, informed him that she had just made game on the same hand.

"You know, Mr. Jacobson, you told me that expert players rarely finesse if there is an alternative play, so I led out the Ace and a low spade, dropping the Knave and King."

"And did you make any effort to enter Dummy for a finesse?" Mr. Jacobson asked.

"Oh, no, I didn't need to. A diamond was opened and Dummy took the first trick with the Ten. Thank you so much, Mr. Jacobson, for telling me how to play. I'm sure I wouldn't have made game if I hadn't remembered what you told me!"

TODAY'S POINTER

Holding only seven trumps in the combined hands, headed by A Q 10, the generally accepted principle of play is to finesse the Ten on the first lead of the suit.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable; part-score—60.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in to-morrow's article.

SAUER KRAUT DISH DE LUXE

Appears in Salads and Sandwiches At Elite Functions.

A new chapter is being written in the romance of Sauer Kraut, the dish of lowly origin which of late has become the special protege of dietitions and beauty experts. To-day it has scaled the social ladder, and at formal functions you may find sauer kraut moving affably among expensive hors d'oeuvres or mingling with endive and ripe olives on the salad plate On the buffet, sauer kraut juice hobnobs with imported aperitifs. Bridge luncheons offer sauer kraut in dainty sandwiches.

Sauer kraut's new popularity for all sorts of cold uses comes from its own rich, tangy relish, as well as the impressive recommendations of dietitians and exponents of beauty culture. From the health standpoint, the crisp, tangy threads of kraut are approved as being the reservoir of vitamins A, B, C and F, important mineral elements, and lactic acid. Beauty experts endorse sauer kraut on weight-reducing diets and emphasize its purifying action on the skin.

SAUER KRAUT JELLO

2 cups sauer kraut.
1 package lemon jello.
1 cup boiling water.
Juice ½ lemon.
1-8 teaspoon salt.
1-8 teaspoon paprika.

Dissolve a package of lemon jello in one cup of boiling water. When cool add sauer kraut, lemon juice, salt and paprika. Fill individual molds or cups. Chill. This recipe will make six individual molds. At service time remove from molds. Cut in any desired shapes and use as garnish for salads or cold meats.

MENU HINT

Pear and Grape Cocktail
Swiss Steak Broiled Tomatoes
Mashed Potatoes
Cucumber, Celery, Green Pepper Salad
Frozen Plum Whip Coffee

A good dinner, don't you think? The pear and grape cocktail is made by dicing pears, halving and seeding grapes, combining in sherbet glasses and pouring over them grape juice, flavored with a few drops of lemon juice.

To-day's Recipes

Swiss Steak—Rub the steak with salt and pepper and pound flour into it. Brown in a small amount of fat in the skillet. When brown on both sides, cover with a mixture of diced celery, chopped green pepper, and if you wish with chopped green onions. Cover the bottom of the pan with water. Cover and cook over a low fire, or in a moderate oven until thoroughly tender. Remove the cover during the last part of the cooking to reduce the liquor in the pan and brown the meat. Remove the cover during the last part of the cooking to reduce the liquor in the pan and brown the meat. Remove to a hot platter.

Frozen Plum Whip—One package raspberry gelatin, one pint boiling water, one-half cup sugar, two egg whites, one cup plum pulp, one pint whipping cream. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add sugar, cool until consistency of jelly. Add unbeaten egg whites. Beat with rotary beater until frothy. Fold in plum pulp, freeze in tray of mechanical refrigerator, or in ordinary freezer. Pile high in tall crystal sherbets and top with whipped cream.

After a waffle is baked, remove it immediately from the iron to a hot plate. Don't wait to serve this waffle before putting more batter in the iron. Let your guests wait a bit while you refill the iron. In this way you do not cool the iron after each waffle is removed.

When Using Sour Cream

When you are using sour cream in making waffles you may need to vary the amount of flour slightly, depending on the thickness of the cream. For example, if your recipe calls for a cup of sour cream and one and three-fourths cups of flour, if the cream is very thick it will be well to reduce the amount of flour by about a fourth cup, or thin the cream a bit with sour milk, water or sweet milk. In using the cream, of course, melted butter or fat is not needed.

Facts And Fancies

Ginger Seckel Pears.

Eight pounds seckel pears, four pounds granulated sugar, two cups strong vinegar, two cups water, twelve whole cloves, two sticks cinnamon, twelve whole allspice, one slice candied ginger for each jar of fruit. Pare the pears, but leave whole and on the stems. Tie spices in sack. Bring sugar, water and vinegar to a rapid boil. Add fruit and cook till clear. Place slice of ginger in each jar. Fill jar with fruit solid pack, pour in hot vinegar syrup to overflowing and seal jars.

The Iron.

The heat of the iron is an important factor in the success of the waffles. It must first be heated until quite hot. Especially is this necessary with the electric iron, some irons requiring from eight to ten minutes previous heating. This you will learn by following the directions which accompany your iron and by using it.

After determining the best time for heating and baking then be accurate in your timing, and you will have success.

OMEMEE GROUP OPEN MEETINGS

Mr. Ross Strike, Bowmanville, Addresses Session in United Church.

OMEMEE, September 24.—With the church filled to capacity Sunday evening, the Men's Association of Trinity United Church began its series of fall and winter meetings.

The choir loft was filled by men of the organization, who led the singing, and the Harrison quartette from Bethel rendered an enjoyable selection.

Mr. H. Reddick of Bloomfield, son of the pastor, delighted the congregation with a fine vocal selection.

The address was delivered by Mr. Ross Strike of Bowmanville, who spoke fearlessly regarding the condition of the church.

Mr. F. G. Sandy presided and extended an invitation to the men of the community to join the organization.

Dr. Reddick, the pastor, pronounced the benediction.

Introducing

The New Safway System of Permanent Waving

A new invention which startled the hairdressing two years ago and which has been accorded outstanding success by the inventor, C. E. Althouse, who has recently opened a very modern waving salon at 441 Water street.

This machine is the result of years of study and research, and since its inception we have found that in most cases where hair fails to take a good wave on other machines, it is because it does not receive the proper treatment. Not enough curls are used. The hair is taken up in strands much too large. Steaming time is too long. The result is often dry, brittle hair, especially on the ends, variation is prevalent which requires constant finger waving with a heavy lotion.

These conditions are easily overcome on this Safway System. The hair is taken up in very small strands, wrapped flat on a larger curler, steamed only from two to five minutes with a steamer holding six curls instead of one, using only two volts of electricity. No shocks or burns are possible.

The result is larger, deeper, natural looking waves that in every form resemble naturally curly hair. If you are having trouble with your permanents not staying in, consult us at once. Special equipment for rewaving and crown waves. To introduce this machine in Peterborough. We are offering permanents and rewaves at exactly half price for a limited time only.

HASTINGS LODGE HONORS COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beamish Are Presented With Chair and Fernery.

DELIGHTFUL EVENING HELD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, September 24. — On Wednesday evening, members of Hastings L.O.L., No. 558, their wives and friends, met in the Orange Hall, in honor of one of their members and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beamish (nee Edythe Buck), who just recently returned from their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Beamish were asked to take a seat on the platform, when an appropriate address signed on behalf of L.O.L., No. 558, by Bros. Roy King, W.M., Ezra Peters and Albert Brooks, was read by Bro. Lewis Drope. A beautiful upholstered wicker chair and fernery were presented by Bros. Ezra Peters and Willis Preston.

Mr. Beamish in well chosen words thanked the members for their gift, assuring them that it was a great surprise, and inviting each one to visit them at their home.

All joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows." Bro. Albert Brooks and Mr. James Warner were then called on for speeches. Refreshments were served, and a delightful time spent in dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Elgi Warner and family of Peterborough were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sherwin.

Mr. Lewis Drope spent Sunday at the home of Mr. John McMillan.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brooks, accompanied by Mrs. Oscar Phillips of Warkworth, attended the Scott-VanVolkenburg wedding on Wednesday near Norwood.

Mr. James Hicks and Miss Winnifred Gillespie of Campbellford, spent Wednesday with the former's daughter, Miss Elmer Sherwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Preston, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Preston of Trent Bridge.

Mr. Clarence Seeney was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGee.

Miss May Warner of Peterborough was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. McMillan.

Rev. H. F. Battersby is spending a few days in Apsley.

Miss Walda Webb of Roseneath, attended the shower for Mr. and Mrs. A. Beamish, on Wednesday evening.

Miss Edna Richardson of the Norwood Road, was a guest at the Scott-VanVolkenberg wedding on Wednesday.

Obituary

RICHARD NURSE.

The funeral of the late Richard Nurse was held on Thursday from his late residence in South Monaghan, and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Cook.

The late Mr. Nurse passed away following a brief illness, and was one of the oldest citizens of South Monaghan, having been born in the year 1850.

He is survived by his sorrowing wife, two daughters, Mrs. Pearl Jewison, of Bailieboro, and Lulu at home; also a son, Harold, on the homestead.

Pall bearers were George Nurse, Alfred Nurse, Wilmer Wood, Arthur Wood, Joseph Lang and Howard Barnard.

MRS. THOMAS LINTON.

ROSENEATH, Sept. 24 (Examiner Correspondence).—The death occurred late Thursday night, September 22nd, of Martha Dunnett, wife of George Thomas Linton, aged 63 years.

Deceased has been in declining health for some time, and confined to her bed for the last eight weeks. She is survived by her ever faithful husband and four daughters: Maggie and Cora at home, Mrs. Norman Isaac, Harwood, and Mrs. Cephas Brown, Alnwick Township.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon, with service at the house, conducted by Rev. R. W. Paton, after which the remains will be conveyed to Centenery Cemetery for interment.

MRS. JOSEPH JEWISON

MILLBROOK, Sept. 24 (Examiner Correspondence)—The funeral of Mrs. Matilda A. Jewison took place on Thursday from her late residence, 11 Hurndale avenue, Toronto, at 2.30 p.m., her death having occurred the previous Tuesday following a lingering illness.

Deceased lived in Millbrook some thirty years ago, her husband who conducted a livery business here, having predeceased her by twenty-two years. Eight years before his death they removed to Toronto to reside. While in Millbrook their home was on Union street, Mr. T. G. Harkness being the present owner and occupant.

Mrs. Jewison's maiden name was Matilda Nixon, and at the time of her death she had reached the advanced age of eighty-two years. She is survived by two sons, Percy J., Wilbert C. and three daughters, Mrs. John Nattress, Mrs. L. T. Tyler and Miss Bertha C. and by three grandchildren, Vincent Nattress, Betty and Norman Jewison, all of Toronto.

Deceased was a member of Danforth United Church, and active as long as health and advancing years permitted, in the work of the Women's Missionary Society.

Interment was in the Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Additional Specials Campbellford Fair

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 24. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — With the Campbellford Fall fair only a few days off, entries are beginning to come in to the secretary with more than usual speed and signs seem to indicate that this year all classes will be filled.

And the same situation applies to the number of special awards being made this year. Despite the large number included in the printed prize list the following specials have been recently received.

Rylstone Women's Institute—Best school lunch: 1st, $1.25; 2nd, 75c.

Will T. Allan—Best collection of cooking, consisting of loaf of bread, half dozen buns, half dozen muffins, half dozen baking power biscuits, one pumpkin: $2.00.

HAVELOCK SCHOOL BOARD HAS SESSION

HAVELOCK, Sept. 24 (Examiner Correspondence). — The regular meeting of the village school board was held in the school room on Thursday evening. Those present were Trustees Crawford, Ketchen, Smith, Leeson and Chairman Squire.

Principal G. F. Coates of the Continuation School reported needing a screen for the opening into the Laboratory. He also asked permission to purchase supplies for the science room in the amount of $26.00. On motion of Trustees Leeson and Crawford, Mr. Coates' request was granted, but the supplies for the year were not to exceed the amount stated.

Mr. Yuill, principal of the Public School, reported that Miss Hendershot and Miss Watson had exchanged classes. Some books that were recommended by the inspector would cost $2.50, Mr. Yuill stated.

Robert Buchanan, caretaker, reported the tank in the basement needed painting and that there were leaks in the eavestroughing.

In connection with the recommendation that Art be taught in the school, it was decided on motion of Crawford and Smith, the matter be left with the two principals and the Public School inspector.

ORGANIZATION

Griffin, well known Toronto dairy expert, would be the secretary.

"Dues to the central organization were beginning to come in a little faster now," said the speaker, who pointed out that the taxes on boxes and cotton, which the makers' association had, through its effort, forced the Government to dispense with, had paid the individual dues for the next ten years. "He would like," he said, "a list of non-paid-up members up to November 1, so that the central office could approach them by letter."

Fire in Curing Rooms

With the coming of cold weather, Mr. Irwin told the makers to keep fire in the curing rooms and not let the cheese get cold or chilled. There would be little fodder cheese this year, he thought. Better prics would soon be on the way and the fact that within one month there would be a representative in England looking after the cheese interests was a very healthy sign.

"The Englisman objects to flies in his cheese, although I do not think that the Campbellford district shipped many to England this season," said J. A. Murray, group instructor, telling the makers to be very careful about factory conditions this time of the year, and if possible to get the buildings screened. This had been a good season in the Campbellford district, he said; so good that it had even impressed the Minister of Agriculture, and this could only be obtained with a satisfactory result. The last three weeks had been a little below par, with 88 cheese out, he stated. But this was a condition that would clear up. Few cheese were out this week, and he suggested that if cheees were draggy to pile them so that they do not go to press too slow and to ease off the moisture a little to prevent gas.

The Campbellford district was making more cheese and less second grades this season than ever before, and this in itself was a very creditable feat.

An open discussion on several aspects of cheese making concluded the meeting. The annual meeting will be held some time before the annual convention, which is scheduled for December.

Bomberry's Fate In Hands of Jury

BRANTFORD, Ont., Sept. 24.—C.P.)—The case of Joseph Bomberry, resident of the six nations Indian reserve, charged with the murder of his common-law wife, Mrs. Lily Johns, was given by Mrs. Justice H. E. Rose to the jury today.

Mrs. Johns is said to have lost her life, when following a quarrel with Bomberry, he is alleged to have followed her from their abode and fired a shotgun at her. Inspector Miller of the provincial police yesterday produced a statement given him by Bomberry, in which the Indian said he pointed a gun at Mrs. Johns and then everything went black.

American raw cotton consumed in the Orient in the first six months of this year was double the amount of the same period of 1931.

COUNTY MATCH BEING PLANNED

County Plowing Match Will Be Held in Ennismore This Year.

ON OCTOBER 20.

Arrangements were concluded last evening for the holding of the annual County Plowing Match, which is this year to be held on October 20 at the Corke--- farm in Ennismore township.

The meeting of Peterborough County Plowmen's Association was held in the offices of the Department of Agriculture, under the chairmanship of J. J. Duffus.

The regular outline of classes were arranged, as also were classes for sod plowing with various types of plows and for stubble plowing. Classes were arranged for boys under 18 and under 15 and for men over 65 years, and contests were lined up for 2-furrow and tractor plows.

A teams committee was named as follows: W. D. Cavanagh, James Crough, both of Ennismore township and Thomas Graham of Smith township. Other committees appointed at a previous meeting, and who are now well ahead with their work, consist of the following: Prize committee, G. A. Gillespie, Vincent Eastwood, Walter Burns, J. J. Duffus and Howard Quinn. Grounds committee, J. J. Duffus, James Crough, W. D. Cavanagh and Vincent Eastwood.

Plans were also discussed for the annual Boys' Home Plowing Competition, and four classes instead of the usual two were provided for. There are to be 2-furrow classes for boys under 20 and under 15 years; and single furrow classes for boys under 20 and 15 years.

The Home Plowing Contest is conducted annually through the fall months, and the boy contestants perform their work on the home farms. It is a contest which is growing in popularity from year to year and one that will doubtless be the means of producing a fine type of competitor for the annual county matches and the International event.

Travelogue Lecture To Be Given In City

On Friday evening next, September 30, at half-past eight o'clock in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute, a Travelogue concert will be presented by Miss Marguerite E. O'Connell of the Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, which will deal with her recent trip around the world.

Entitled "Round the World on the Screen," the program includes a series of 250 slides of beautiful and interesting scenes taken in many countries, including the Hawaiian Islands, the Fijian Islands, New Zealand, Australia, Ceylon, India, Arabia, Egypt, France, Italy Switzerland and Western Canada. The showing is more like a moving picture entertainment than a professional lecture, and songs and music suitable to the different countries will be rendered by local talent.

As a child, Miss O'Connell cherished a wish to make a trip around the world, and it was made possible when she received a Government scholarship to study abroad, and the Board of Education of Toronto granted her half a year's salary in addition.

Miss O'Connell wants the citizens of Peterborough to share in a small degree in the joys of a trip around the world by attending this concert and circling the globe with her, in imagination.

Japanese imports are reported to be larger than normal.

Government authorities in England expect the number of licenses issued to radio owners to pass the 5,000,000 mark this year.

Softball Tournament

A softball tournament provided another good diversion. Results of 7 innings games were Tweed 14, Madoc 8 and Thurlow 11, Rawdon 3. The final had to be extended one innings beyond the scheduled nine so close was the play. Tweed ran out winners by 13-12.

Horseshoe pitching under supervision of T. W. Rhind, also received good patronage and competition was keen among the 24 entrants. The winners were E. Bradley, Deloro; H. Forsyth, Springbrook.

Show Called Off

Word was received from the road show which was to have played at the Town Hall on Friday and Saturday nights that it could not fulfil its engagement. For the first time in years, the midway decided to carry on in the evening. It was learned in the evening that gate receipts were higher than last year. The fact that no other fair clashed with Marmora Fair, for the first time in years is held accountable for the splendid attendance this year.

LOWER DECK NAVY MEN ARE GIVEN BETTER DEAL

LONDON, Sept. 24 (C.P. Cable). —Important changes which will affect the procedure whereby lower deck men in the Royal Navy will be able to make representations regarding grievances was announced to-day by the Admiralty. It proposes from time to time to hold a review of lower deck matters. This method will replace the present system of welfare conferences.

All men will be entitled to make representations to divisional officers and these will be forwarded to the Commander-in-Chief, who will appoint a Fleet committee to consider the collated representations. It is understood the first review will be ordered about the end of 1933.

POLICE GET LOST

Sighting an officer, the youth said "good-day" and took to his heels. The officer fired two shots to scare him but the youth sped faster and was seen last scaling a fence on the edge of the forest.

Farmers of the district led the police to a log lean-to in the woods, where the youths have lived since early in the summer. It contained provisions for several weeks.

Thomas Miller, a farmer, said he had heard the pair boast that the police would not take them alive.

Each had a rifle the last time he saw them.

And McEwan: "If they take me, they'll take me dead."

WESTWOOD, Sept. 24 (Examiner Correspondence) — The September meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the hall with the president, Mrs. J. E. Thompson presiding.

After the opening exercises it was decided that a special Institute prize of two suitable books be presented to the boy and girl standing longest in the spelling match at Westwood School Fair.

A special tribute was paid to two girls, Misses Eleanor Garvey and Elsie Girven who took third prize in the table-setting demonstration at Peterborough Exhibition.

The feature for the meeting was a display of relics, which proved interesting as well as educative. The collection included a wide variety of specimens, from diamond-studded jewelry and ancient china and crystal ware to souvenirs of the North-West Rebellion. Chinese chopsticks, and the rattles from rattlesnakes.

FRASERVILLE L. A.

Ladies Plan to Have Bale of Clothing Ready to Send at Next Session.

FRASERVILLE, Sept. 24 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. W. G. Waterman entertained the members of the Fraserville Ladies' Aid and a large number of visitors in her spacious home and grounds on Wednesday afternoon, September 21, when the regular monthly meeting of the society was held.

It was decided to have the bale of clothing ready to send by the November meeting. The leaders of the three groups were appointed as a committee to look after it.

A letter of appreciation was read from Mrs. R. Lewers thanking the members of the aid for their kind remembrance during her recent illness.

Mrs. Maria Watts has died at Great Torrington, England, aged 103.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Breaks of more than a cent a bushel in wheat prices late yesterday accompanied disappointment over fading of export demand. Increased selling here against purchases of wheat in other markets, Winnipeg in particular, tended further to pull values down, substituting net losses for earlier gains. An unofficial estimate that Argentina had increased her wheat area by 2,000,000 acres had a distinct bearish influence.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-8c to ½c under Thursday's finish; corn also 1-8c to ½c down; oats, ¼c to 1-8c up, and provisions unchanged to 5c lower.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 24. — Egg prices here, draggy for the last week or so, turned firmer yesterday as a better demand developed. Receipts were again under the same day last week. Arrivals totalled 1,260 cases; same day last week, 1,461; same day last year, 2,091. Fresh Ontarios arriving, graded, sold at 28c for extras, 20c for firsts, and 13½c for seconds, in carlots. Prairies remained unchanged at 26c for extras, 19c for firsts, and 13c for seconds, but were expected to firm up with Ontarios next week.

The butter market was quoted generally unchanged at 21½c to 21¾c per pound for carlots of No. 1. Receipts, 1,897 boxes; same day last week, 1,700; same day last year, 1,700. Small lots to retailers were quoted by jobbers at 23c for solids and 24c for prints.

The cheese market was quoted unchanged at 10 7-8c to 11c for Ontarios, and 10½c to 10 5-8c for Quebecs. Exports for the week were estimated at 20,000 boxes. Receipts, 923 boxes; week ago, 4,560; year ago 2,810.

On the potato market increasing quantities of Maritime potatoes were selling. New Brunswick Green Mountains are selling ex-track at 75c per 80-lb. bag, while New Brunswick Cobblers are 70c per bag. Montreal potatoes range from 40c to 60c per bag, depending on quality.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, September 24. — Wheat prices bowed fractionally yesterday to a general lack of interest and lower quotations at Liverpool. Hedging sales were not heavy and only a moderate export trade was reported. Prices at the close showed losses of ⅝c in each wheat future.

October closed at 50⅝c, November at 51¾c, December at 52⅝c, and May at 57½c.

Improved prospects in the Argentine prompted the decline at Liverpool. Advices from the southern country indicated that recent rains had been of considerable benefit to the new wheat crop, which is now about two months away from cutting.

Argentine Offerings.

Offerings from Argentine were more liberal, and the exports this week showed an increase of some 600,000 bushels to reach a total of more than 1,250,000 bushels. The Australian movement also was greater, with 2,500,000 bushels.

These shipments and the better crop news gave importers some encouragement, and their buying lacked the aggressiveness of the past two weeks.

The weather throughout the Prairie Provinces remains clear, but movement of new wheat has tapered off somewhat, with more than a quarter of the deliverable crop in the elevators. Receipts in country elevators on Thursday totalled only 3,401,000 bushels.

Cash wheat and coarse grains were firm to slightly easier in dull trade.

ONTARIO GRAIN.

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—Approximate prices track shipping point: Wheat, 44c to 45c; oats, 23c to 25c; barley, 38c to 40c; rye, 33c to 35c; buckwheat, 36c to 40c.

$25,000 HOLD-UP

REDWOOD FALLS, Min. — Six bandits kidnapped the cashier and assistant cashier of the State Bank and Trust Company to-day and fled with about $25,000 of the bank's funds.

The two victims were released about two miles out of town, unharmed. Five of the men invaded the institution and, flourishing pistols, carried out sacks of currency and gold to an automobile, in which the sixth member of the band sat.

"Gossip and Such"

Again the interest of sport fans swings to United States with the world's series starting on Wednesday next and Schmeling-Walker battle on Monday eve at New York, the latter fracas to go fifteen rounds, holding the attention of the fans.

* * *

Wise money is following the Yanks and Schmeling, Rupert's New Yorkers romped over all opposition in the American League to end the three-year reign of Connie Mack's Athletics and on the surface loom as certain series winners, they are held at 3 to 5 and game time find the odds lengthened to 7 to 10.

* * *

On the other hand, the Teuton heavy is picked to win the twice-postponed battle of the ham-slingers. The German is the better boxer, carries the harder sock and has youth to his advantage. This should offset Walker's great fighting heart.

* * *

A second heavyweight tangle on the American side next Monday calls for Max Baer to slip the K.O. punch over on Tuffy Griffiths in their Chicago fracas. According to expert predictions as to the outcome of the two fights the Maxes and the Max'es are hailed as sure winners. Baer can make secure his position as third ranking heavyweight by an impressive victory and the favorite is sure bent on doing just that little thing.

The fall meeting of the Ontario Jockey club at Woobine track, Toronto opens to-day and several horsemen are loud in their praise of the work Secretary Palmer Wright has been doing in effort to put this meeting over with a bang. The club has to be lifted out of the "red" this year and with an all-around reduction in admission prices as well as wide cuts in the valuation of purses it seems as if a solution has been finally arrived at.

* * *

Another item that is in favor of the Woodbine, rather than any Toronto track is, that there are fewer Canadian-bred events, so far as the younger horses are concerned. Young horses are apt to be fickle and will never run the same way twice, which seriously handicaps the better.

BASEBALL LANGUAGE

Baseball players have a language all their own on the diamond which fans in the grandstand know little about. Here are some baseball expressions and their definitions:

Barber—Player who does all the talking and won't let anyone else get a word in edgeways.

Jockey—Player who rides all the other players.

Blue dart—Line drive.

Bleeder—Texas leaguer.

A mackeral or swerve—A curve ball.

Line drive to catcher — Missing the third strike.

Base on stones—A ground ball that hits a pebble and takes a bad bounce away from the fielder for a base hit.

Long strike—A long foul.

Strawberry—Bruise from sliding.

Baltimore chop—A high bounder that hits the plate and bounces high in the air.

Unbutton your shirt—Take a good swing.

Must have hit an air pocket—A misjudged fly ball.

A cripple—To throw a strike when the count is 2 or 3 balls and no strikes or 3 balls and one strike.

A banjo hit—A ball that sounds "punk" when it hits the bat.

QUAKER SURGEON KNOCKED OUT BY HARD FALL TO THE BOARDS

SPEERS IS WINNER.

Jack Kogut, 204 lbs., Toronto won from Dr. Ralph. Wilson, 208 lbs., Philadelphia, Pa. when Wilson was unable to return to the ring after the second fall.

Frank Speers, 225 lbs., Atlanta, Georgia, threw Tiny Ruff, 221 lbs., Florida in 17 minutes with a back slam.

(By F. D. C.)

Up to the moment that Jack Kogut floored him with a reverse back slam and took the second fall, Dr. Ralph Wilson, the fast moving Philadelphia surgeon-wrestler looked like an easy winner in the main bout of Promoter Jack Corcoran's show at Brock St. Rink last night.

The flying doctor had taken the first fall in 22 minutes and had spent most of the ten minutes of the second clash in tossing Kogut round the ring. The Toronto exponent of the flying tackle had weakened badly and it was apparently all over but the "kill". Wilson slammed his opponent down half a dozen times in succession and was about to pick him up for the final smash when Kogut suddenly threw himself back and felled the doctor with a reverse slam. Wilson's head hit the floor with a thud and he was out cold while Kogut, in little better shape himself pinned his shoulders to the mat.

The Philadelphia grappler was carried to the dressing room and was still unconscious when the rest period ended so that there was nothing left for Referee Forbes to do but declare Kogut the winner. Wilson received medical attention and for some time a skull fracture was feared while the "Flying Surgeon" was also found to be suffering from a pulled muscle in his shoulder. He may be out of the ring for some time.

Last night's card was full of action and interest. It saw the favorite Frankie Hart receive a most popular decision in the preliminary bout and the semi-final affair introduce a pair of mighty ex-football stars, Frank Speers of Atlanta, Georgia and Tiny Ruff of Florida. Speers, a new "villian" who got the crowd's goat early won the battle with a body slam as he catapulted from the ropes after Ruff had done all the wrestling up to that stage.

In the main bout Kogut made an unexpectedly good show against Dr. Wilson, although he undoubtedly would have been defeated had it not been for the injury sustained by the Philadelphia performer. Kogut who favors a pronounced sun parlor on his southern exposure and has a pair of ears that look like a couple of waffles was an admirable foil for Wilson whose well muscled and well proportioned body was in vivid contrast to the barrel-shaped physique of the Toronto grappler.

Kogut however showed no signs of being intimidated by the Doctor's reputation or his appearance and early in the warfare he carried the battle to his opponent. Twice he got Wilson tied up in the ropes with a Cantonwine strangleholds and a little later he uncorked a couple of flying tackles that shot the Philadelphian out of the ring for a count of nine. Wilson introduced a few of his specialties to let Kogut know there was a fight on, massaging him behind the ears and introducing a little pressure on the nerve centres and the rotund Toronto boy didn't seem to appreciate the attention. Finally however, Wilson settled the argument by softening his rival with a series of heavy tosses and when he got him well weakened, flooring him with a body slam that left Kogut helpless. The fall came in 22 minutes.

The story of the second fall has already been told. Wilson was the aggressor throughout although Kogut spilled him with a couple of hard-hitting flying tackles and slowed him up momentarily. The speedy surgeon however returned to the attack and tossed Kogut at will with a rapid series of slams that promised to end the bout in a hurry. And then like a bolt from the blue came the reverse back slam that won for Kogut, not only the fall but the bout.

A New Bad Man

The semi-final brought together two decidedly husky specimens in Frank Speers, 225 pounds, who used to star on the gridiron for dear old Georgia Tech and Tiny Ruff, 221 pounds, another former football luminary who hails from Florida. Speers who has a Simon Legree look wasn't out there a couple of minutes until he had tangled with Referee Forbes and paid his respects to the crowd who immediately elected him as the villian of the piece. And he certainly looked the part. Ruff, cleaner in his methods, was in the driver's seat most of the time, working scissor holds and punishing arm locks on the big Georgian and forcing him to crawl under the ropes several times while the crowd booed and got a menacing glare from Speers in exchange. On one occasion, angry at being forced to let go the ropes Speers clamped a hold on Referee Forbes' leg and it looked for a moment as if the third man would lose his trousers.

And finally after 17 minutes, during which Ruff had done most of the attacking the bout ended as abruptly as a summer thunder storm, when Speers crowded to the side by his aggressive opponent suddenly shot off the ropes and pinned Ruff to the mat with a back slam. To make sure that he had earned the enemity of the fans the Georgian kicked his opponent a couple of times and then refused to shake hands on leaving the ring, strutting out to the dressing room amid loud Bronx cheers from both sides of the arena.

Hart's Decision

The preliminary bout brought together the popular Frankie Hart and Alex Kasaboski the best-liked "bad man" of the Corcoran caste. The two old rivals put on their 1932 edition of the favorite melodrama "Virtue Rewarded" or "The Villian Foiled". Hart being awarded the decision after half an hour's fireworks. As usual every mean move by Kasaboski drew boos from the crowd and Alex saw to it that a couple of new ones were interjected to arouse the ire of fandom. Several times he held Hart by the hair and crashed his elbow into his face and twice he shoved his thumbs into his opponent's ears. However Hart came back with more of the rough stuff than Alex displayed and was frantically cheered every time he punished the "bad man". It was a lively go with plenty of action and Hart who was on top for the greater part of the time earned the decision although he was in difficulties on several occasions, Kasaboski having a hammer lock on him once and clamping on a full Nelson that looked dangerous. Referee Forbes raised Hart's arm when the bell rang and everybody but Kasaboski registered satisfaction.

Yankee Moundsman

GEORGE PIPGRAS

GEORGE PIPGRAS goes into this world series with a fine record to uphold. The Yankee moundsman appeared in one game in each of the world series of 1927 and 1928—and he won his game, each time. ..Pirates, and Cardinals, looked alike to the big right-hander—and maybe the Cubs will not appear any different.

Pipgras is one of the veterans of the Yankee mound staff. Born in Denison, Ia., Dec. 20, 1899, Pipgras broke into baseball with the Madison, Dakota league team, in 1921. ..Boston tried him the next season and then traded him to the Yankees. The Yanks farmed him to Atlanta, Ga.; Nashville, Tenn., and St. Paul, Minn., before deciding—early in 1927—that he was ripe for the big leagues. He was. ....Pipgras has 16 victories and only eight defeats to his credit this season. Only Johnn Allen of the Yanks' first-string mound corps has issued fewer free trips to first base than Pipgras.

Waner Breaks Klein's Double Hit Record

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, since my last another 1 of our young ball clubs has battled their way into the provincial finals, Mister Pat Calladine's juvenile entry, the Maple Leaves, having reached the last round by tossing Harry Sniderman's Toronto St. Andrew's for 2 total losses in a row. The Saints, as the customers will remember, trimmed our kids 7 to 2 in the 1st game at Toronto and they naturally figgered the round was theirs. Here last Sat., however, the Leaves put the skids under them to the tune of 7 to 0, young Mister Bill Calladnie tieing them in knots, while his teammates cuffed the delivery of Mister Salsberg and Mister Versage with commendable gusto. The Toronto kids left town that night muttering that the Petes was lucky and that Mister Calladine would never be that good again. They were right. He was better. Wed. when the 2 rivals hooked up at Newcastle, the home grounds of Doc. Gamsby's Orono Ramblers, the Leaves' right-hander shot the Saints down 1 after another like a champion gunner shoots down clay pigeons. I ain't seen in any serious in years such a well-pitched ball game as Mister Calladine showed all and sundry Wed. He had a fast ball that hopped, a fast braking curve and perfect control, and most of the Toronto kids would of been as much use up there without their bats. When they was looking for a fast ball Mister Calladine fooled them with a hook, and when they was all set for the curve the fast ball would cut the plate in 2. Only 3 Saints got as far as 1st base, one of them on a excusable error, and not a Toronto kid found himself as far round as 3rd.

That's pitching, neighbors, and it's all the more remarkable because the Petes' gunner was whitewashing the cocky T.A.B.A. representatives for the 2nd time in succession. 18 scoreless innings with only 7 hits and no 2 of them in 1 frame was the best Mister Sniderman's League of Nations could accomplish, and you gotta admit, brother, that you can't win ball games when your attack can't move a wheel. The Leaves had enough punch to drive home runs when they got the openings, and they outfielded the Toronto gang as well, so the losers was left without a single alibi.

In both the bantam and juvenile serious, Mac, Peterborough youngsters has dropped the Toronto winners into the discard, and that makes this a real season, if nothing else don't happen. The Leaves take on the Falls next and should come through and bring this berg its 1st juvenile championship.

Our bantam kids lost at Hamilton last Sat., Mac, owing to not being able to hit Mister Clark's speedy offerings. Our Mister Anderson pitched real ball, too, and at the worst should of only had 1 run scored against him. The 3rd game is in Toronto this Sat., Mac, and the kids has a good chance to bring home the bacon.

Well, old-timer, it's the world's serious next week, and once again I nominate the Yanks to cop the big end of the jack. What it takes they got, unless their pitching blows in the world's serious excitement. They might be another flash in the pan like Mister Pepper Martin to upset the beans at that. Anyway, we'll soon know.

Nothing more of moment, so toodle-loo.

Sportfully yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

2 MAJOR LEAGUE MARKS BROKEN DURING SEASON

Philadelphia Athletics, Led By Jimmie Foxx, Clout 170 Home Runs So Far.

WANER HAS 61 DOUBLES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (C.P.).—With the major league season due to end to-morrow, two league records have fallen, two marks for both major circuits are in danger and one of the batting races for an individual crown remains in grave doubt.

The Philadelphia Athletics, led by the brilliant Jimmie Foxx, have clouted 170 home runs so far, passing the American League mark of 158 set by the New York Yankees a few years ago and falling just one short of the Chicago Cubs' major league mark. Foxx raised his total to 56 homers with a great spurt this week, and after yesterday's games was just four short of Babe Ruth's major league mark. The Yanks also have tied their old club record.

Paul Waner of the Pittsburg Pirates smashed a National League mark by clouting 61 doubles, two over the record set by Chuck Klein, of the Phillies, two years ago.

The steady hitting of Dale Alexander of the Boston Red Sox, with a slight semi-official revision of the figures that worked in his favor, gave him a one-point advantage over Foxx this week in the batle for the American League championship. His average up to to-day was .361, Foxx's .360.

Well behind the leading pair in the American League, other "first ten" hitters were Gehrig, New York, .347; Manush, Washington, .344; Ruth, New York, .344; Simmons, Philadelphia, .326; Coombs, New York, .324; Walker, Detroit, .323; Ferrell, St. Louis, .321; and Jolley, Boston, .319.

Frank O'Doul of Brooklyn, who tops the National League, lost a few points this week, finishing at .367, but he held a wide margin over Klein, who was second with .352. Behind him came Terry, New York, .350; Hurst, Philadelphia, .344; P. Waner, Pittsburg, .340; V. Davis, Philadelphia, .336; L. Waner, Pittsburg, .332; Traynor, Pittsburg, .330; Herman, Cincinnati, .329; and Stephenson, Chicago, .327.

CANADIANS IN TITLE PLAYOFF

Mrs. C. S. Eddis of Toronto, Meets Miss Margery Kirkham To-day.

MONTREAL, Sept. 24 (C.P.)—The Canadian women's open golf championship returns to Canada to-day after a five-year sojourn in the United States, when Mrs. Charles S. Eddis of Rosedale, Toronto, and Miss Margery Kirkham, Forest Hills, Montreal, clash in the 36 hole final over the course of the Kanawaki Golf Club. The match is cheduled to start at 10.10 Eastern daylight time, with the afternoon round set for two o'clock.

The last contender who might have brought the title back below the border where it has been held since 1927 was eliminated yesterday when Miss Kirkham defeated Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh,, Wis., 4 and 2, in the upper bracket semi-final In the lower bracket, Mrs. Eddis eliminated Miss Doris Taylor, promising young Kanawaki golfer, two up.

The winner of to-day's match succeeds Miss Maureen Orcutt as Canadian champion and holder of the Duchess of Connaught Gold Cup. Both Miss Kirkham and Mrs. Eddis are experienced tournament players, and both have imposing records in the current tournament. Although Miss Kirkham was not pressed to beat Miss Wall yesterday, Mrs. Eddis had a hard time with Miss Taylor, the Kanawaki youngster falling behind definitely only at the 16th hole of the 18-hole match.

MACKS CLINCH SECOND PLACE AMERICAN LOOP

Athletics Hit Three Senator Pitchers Hard for 8 to 4 Victory.

PAUL WANER SETS MARK.

Walter Brown, Yankee Right-hander, Blanks Boston for 3 to 0 Win.

By GAYLE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Four straight pennants proved too big an assignment for the Philadelphia Athletics, but Connie Mack's great team has done the next best thing by nailing down second place in the American League.

Needing only one victory over Washington to clinch the "almost" honors, the A's went out and got it by pounding three Senator pitchers for an 8 to 4 win yesterday. No matter if they take the two concluding games of the series, the Senators finish no better than third.

Weaver Hit Hard

In an effort to keep their chances alive, the Senators sent Monte Weaver, brilliant rookie with 22 victories to his credit, against the Athletics, but he was slammed from the box in the fourth inning. Leroy Mahaffey, second of three Philadelphia flingers, was credited with the win.

Jimmie Foxx's chances of eclipsing Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs faded as he failed to knock one out of the park. The slugging Marylander has hit 56, with two games to go.

The champion Yankees, meantime, uncovered a world series pitching prospect in Walter Brown, the big righthander who has bobbed up to pitch convincing ball after the race is all but run. Brown won his third straight victory, shutting out the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 0, with seven hits.

With Gomez and Ruffing looking far from "right" at this crucial stage, manager Joe McCarthy probably gained no little comfort from Brown's latest performance. On the Other hand, Babe Ruth, the famous convalescent, failed to get anything resembling a hit in three attempts, and that is bad.

The Detroit Tigers worked St. Louis over twice, 6 to 2 and 12 to 0, Earl Whitehill letting the Browns down with three hits in the nightcap. Cleveland won a weird contest from the Chicago White Sox, 13 to 6. Five pitchers worked for the Sox, including Manager Lou Fonseca. He did better than his regular hurler, at that, allowing not a hit in the one inning he was on the hill.

Sets League Record

Paul Waner, slugging Pittsburgh outfielder, set a new National League record by punching his 60th and 61st doubles as the Pirates lost to St. Louis, 8 to 4, in the only National League engagement. The former record of 59 two-baggers belonged to Chuck Klein of the Phillies.

Perry Meets Satoh For Pacific Honors

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 24.—A brilliant son of Nippon, Jiro Satoh, and Frederick Perry, spectacular British player, won their way to the finals of the Pacific South-West singles tennis championship tournament yesterday.

Perry won his way to the final round for the second consecutive year by defeating Georgio de Stefani of Italy, 6-3, 2-6, 8-6, 6-3, after his team-mate, Henry Austin, had bowed to Satoh in five hard sets, 8-6, 7-5, 4-6, 0-6, 6-1.

Satoh Is Aggressive.

Satoh, a 23-year-old student in economics at Waseda University, was much too aggressive for Austin. He rushed the net consistently in the first two sets, but tired in the third when Austin put more steam on his drives and forced the Japanese star to stay back on the baseline.

In the fourth set Satoh preferred to take a rest, a clever bit of strategy that Austin apparently did not comprehend until it was too late. Satoh made no particular effort to go after difficult placements that the Briton fired, seeking to regain his physical equilibrium as Austin won in love games.

RECALLED FOR PROBE

TORONTO.—Alfred Cuddy, Deputy Commissioner of Provincial Police, was recalled from holidays to-day to take charge of the inquiry into the alleged defalcations of H. L. Austin, bond clerg of the Provincial Treasury, who is under arrest, charged with theft of $3,400.

He did not win, but his failure was a glorious one. To be little more than a minute behind the winner and within easy reach of the record was an achievement of which he may well be proud.

THIRD DEGREE.

TORONTO—Provincial Police are investigating an alleged case of "third degree tactics" charged by a young York Township man who stated police of that township had beaten him in order to make him confess to a charge of theft.

The youth charges he was beaten with pieces of wire-covered hose, and so badly injured he needed medical attention. He had been arrested on a charge of automobile theft. His name was withheld from publication.

Johnny Risko Calls Mickey Walker To Give Teuton Trouncing of Life

NEW YORK, September 24 (C.P.). — There have been probably a million separate and distinct predictions made on the outcome of Monday night's 15-round fray between Max Schmeling and Mickey Walker, but the prize of the lot comes from Johnny Risko, the "rubber man" from Cleveland, who has fought both of them.

Schmeling, early in his American campaign, met Risko at Madison Square Garden here and knocked the veteran kicking in the ninth round. The victory rocketed the German to stardom.

Three months ago Risko took on Walker at Cleveland and gave the toy bulldog a trimming in 12 rounds. At least, Risko received the decision.

So what? So Risko now picks Walker to give the former heavyweight champion an artistic beating in their forthcoming brawl in the sunken bowl. Says Risko:

"Walker will give Schmeling the mischief. The German boy is a good fighter, but he will get a real licking this time. Mickey knows too much about dealing out body punishment."

Jack Dempsey, on the other hand, has gone on record for Schmeling. The Manassa Mauler likes the big ones, even though he once made a specialty of flattening the Willards and the Fultons.

Robertson's power over the final and crucial stage of the journey would have stood him in good stead to meet the effort of the Argentine winner.

Miss Enid Wilson Is Playing Superb Golf

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 24 (C.P.)—The United States is threatened with the loss of its second and last national golf championship next week in the women's play at the Salem Country Club, where Enid Wilson, the British titlist, has been playing superb practice rounds.

This rangy English girl, who went to the semi-finals last year before being defeated by Helen Hicks, the defending champion in the coming national competition, has spent many hours daily on the course this week, and has displayed unusual strength and skill. Her best performance was 77 several days ago, but her figures mean little or nothing because she has been experimenting during every round.

Miss Hicks, who has played but little golf this season, has also managed to get in a practice 77, but she has usually been about 80, the card turned in by Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare yesterday when that star, who has won the women's title five times in ten years, played the course for the first time.

BOWLING NOTES

In the regular Friday Night Tournament played last evening at Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club skip B. Chesler and his rink took first place with 3 wins and a plus of 14 points. The personnel of the winning rink was D. Knox; D. Smith; J. E. Smith and B. Chesler.

Second place was won by the George Low aggregate with 3 wins and a plus 8. Low had J. Harrison as his vice with H. Dunford and Col. Jennings as his second and his lead respectively.

L. Loftus, T. Donaldson, J. McNabb, skip comprised the personnel of the third place rink with 2 wins plus 16, while the single high score was made by George Coleman, Jr. and his rink which consisted of B. Monroe, F. Wise and R. Dyer.

H. Wood who is in the club single finals to be played off at seven o'clock on Monday evening, will meet the victor of the semi-finals contest which is yet to be fought out between Bennett and Dearborn.

The semi-final and final games of the club doubles will also be staged on Monday evening, will meet the victor of the semi-finals contest which is yet to be fought out between Bennett and Dearborn.

The semi-final and final games of the club doubles will also be staged on Monday night at 7 and 9 p.m.

The regular Saturday Night Tourney will be held to-night, probably the last one of the present season, and players are urged to be on hand early.

Race Track Betting Falls Off In Quebec

OTTAWA, Sept. 24.—Race track betting in the Province of Quebec fell off over 39 per cent in 1932 as compared with 1931, says a statement issued to-day by the Department of Agriculture. The total amount wagered on the five tracks in the Province in seventy days' racing, amounted to only $3,181,237 as compared with $3,237,716 wagered on the six tracks operating in 1931 during eighty-four days' racing a decrease of $2,056,459.

Part of the decrease is, of course, explained by the fact that Delormier Park which operated in 1931, and at which $633,030 was wagered in the two meetings that year, was closed in 1932. In addition, the betting at each of the remaining tracks showed a decided decrease from the previous year, the lowest decrease being 23 per cent and the highest 37 per cent, the report declares.

The total amount wagered on the four Montreal tracks in 1932 was $2,491,331 as against $4,203,422 a decrease of $1,771,371 or 42 per cent.

Glasgow, Scotland, has 80,000 licensed radios, a gain of 20,000 in 12 months.

Opening of menageries on Sundays has been banned by Glasgow, Scotland.

BUSH APPEARS IN BEST FORM OF HIS CAREER

WARNEKE IS NEWCOMER.

Records Favor Yankee Front-line Quartet to Come Away

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Barring the rare individual exploits of Pepper Martin or the dominant slugging of a robust Babe Ruth, pitching generally figures to have a 60 percent influence in deciding baseball's world championship battle.

Otherwise, in the inter-league struggle that starts next Wednesday in the Yankee stadium, it's a wide open question whether the great right-handed Yankee sluggers or whether the more versatile sharpshooting staff of the American League champions will prevail.

Despite their lack of an efficient southpaw, the Cubs have every reason to place confidence in the quartet of starboard flingers constituting Guy Bush, Charley Root, Lon Warneke, and Pat Almone. They probably will rotate in that order against the Yankees.

Warneke, the pitching sensation of 1932 as a freshman, is the only one unfamiliar with world series pressure. Root and Malone, it is true, were caught in the 1930 hurricane of hits at Shibe Park but they still rank among the toughest to beat in any company. Bush appears to be in the best form of his career.

The only Yankee twirlers with previous world series experience of note are George Pipgras, the somewhat erratic right hander, and Herb. Pennock, slender portside veteran who has never been defeated in in series competition, but never is likely to see a great deal of service.

The hopes of Marse Joe McCarthy's forces will be pinned on three series newcomers, big Charley Ruffing, a right-handed powerhouse, Vernon Gomez, the brilliant Spanish southpaw, and Johnny Allen, strong young right hander. The probabilities are they will work in that order, with Pipgras pitching the fourth game.

Records Favor Yanks

The records favor the Yankees front-line quartet, which has won 75 games and lost 26, as compared with a record of 70 victories and 42 defeats for the Cubs' "big four." However Gomez, through the latter part of the season, has not shown anything like the effectiveness he displayed in the spring. Unless he returns to form, the Yankees' left-handed advantage may be wholly dissipated.

Weekly Sports Hour In The Y.W.C.A. Pool

The weekly Sports Hour open to all swimmers of the city and held Friday evening at the Y.W.C.A. Pool is proving to be a great incentive to speed swimming, fancy diving and ornamental swimming. A few of the outstanding speed swimmers of the "Y" are H. Bradley, M. Kingsbury, E. Bowles, L. Comstock, and of the juniors F. Fowler and D. Doukas are showing splendid form in swimming.

Announcements of the coming Junior and Senior Rally were made by Miss L. Brownscombe. The Junior Rally will be held in the gymnasium next Saturday, Oct. 1st, and the Senior Rally, Wednesday, Oct. 5. All the girls and women of the city are cordially invited. The Gymnasium classes commence the 1st of October; so good times seem to be in store for the Peterbough members. The sports hour concluded with play period, and all swimmers were reminded of the stunts and life saving classes. All lesson ticket holders must complete lessons before Oct. 1st.

M. Kingsbury won first in speed and fancy diving. Leon Comstock first and Peggy Edmonds second in intermediate speed. Mary MacPherson and Leon Comstock tied for fancy diving. Frederick Fowler first and Dora Doukas second in junior speed. Lily Long and Dora Dougas tied for fancy diving. Jimmy Cummings and Betty Boyle came first and second in the babies speed. J. Cumming came first and Loreen Bradley second for babies' diving.

ASSUMPTION COLLEGE LOSES EXHIBITION TILT

Western Ontario representatives were beaten 34—0 last night by West Liberty College of Wheeling.

The game was played under floodlights. The local teachers' college squad scored five touchdowns and a safety touch, to pile up their margin. The visitors, much lighter than their opponents, never threatened until the last quarter, then they advanced to West Liberty's 25-yard line through four successive penalties.

Running stories will be sent The Examiner on the bantam and juvenile finals in Toronto and Niagara Falls to-day. As much as possible, perhaps all, of the games will appear in the afternoon edition here. And fans may find out the scores by phoning 1600 up until nine o'clock at night. Late running stories like these cause considerable extra work at The Examiner, not to mention the cost. But a great deal of interest is apparent in the outcome of these games with the local Kiwanis in their third game against Hamilton, played at Toronto, and Maple Leafs opening their final series against Niagara Falls in the Cataract City.

Ripley of "Believe It or Not" fame came out with a baseball problem early this week, offering one of his books for the correct answer. He said it was possible for a batter to reach first base on a foul fly that was caught, and score an another fly that was caught just two balls being pitched with no errors, balks or stolen bases figuring in it. This is one solution, probably the right one.

• • • • • •

The batter fouls out to the catcher but is sent to first on interference, the catcher touching his bat as he swung. The next batter drives out a long fly which the outfielder throws his glove at, stopping the ball in the air and catching it. But the batter and baserunner are allowed three bases when the fielder throws his glove to stop a batted ball, the first batter thereby scoring. The idea is covered in Sections 1 and 6 of Rule 47.

The fall to the floor knocked Wilson unconscious, and he was unable to continue the bout, handing Kogut a technical victory.

TORONTO, Sept. 24 (C.P.).—The East gave king football due recognition to-day as the autumnal monarch of sportdom moved the greater part of his forces out into the open for warm-up tussles preliminary to opening of the gridiron season in two weeks.

Most of the big squads being groomed for championship combat are taking on inferior foes for a start but Toronto football followers went to Varsity Stadium to see what promised to be one of the best double-headers of the season.

University of Toronto's intercollegiate team and St. Michael's College, new-comers to the O.R.F.U., senior division, clash in the first contest and the wind-up brings together old rivals, Argonauts of the big four and Balmy Beach, many times O.R.F.U. champions.

Not Pink Teas.

These games loom as anything but pink teas. And at Sarnia, where University of Western Ontario and the Imperials renew a feud that started last fall when the Mustangs eliminated Sarnia from the Canadian title race, there will be no mere workout. The teams are out to win.

But three other brigades in the big four and Intercollegiate Union are taking it easier. Montreal's Dominion champions face Canadian Nationals of the Intermediate Quebec Union and should have no trouble marking up their 16th straight victory. This string of wins was started in 1930.

McGill takes on Montreal Westwards, another intermediate team, at Montreal, and Hamilton Tigers are to meet in their first kicks with the Tiger Cubs of the O.R.F.U. as opposition.

Tourist's "Big Bear" Makes Good Yarn, But Proves Only Badly Scared Calf

LINDSAY, Ont., September 24 (C.P.). — A week and a half ago Mansion Hawkins, tourist from Mansfield, Ohio, gained wide publicity by the report that he had seen a big black bear while trout fishing at Bunker's Hill, near Janetville. Unarmed, he had shouted at the top of his voice, he said, and the bear, with his stub tail tucked down, made tracks in one direction, while the tourist did the same in the other.

But the story was exploded to-day. A farmer said "that was a good story about the bear and the tourist, but the trouble is we have no bears in that district. I happened to see the whole thing. Hearing some loud shouting in one of my fields, I arrived in time to see a fisherman scooter-hiking as fast as he could in one direction and one of my black woolly calves making for the protection of the barn. It has kept away from that part of the pasture ever since."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

JERRY MUSKRAT'S BUSY DAYS BEGIN

Jerry Muskrat had had an easy summer. There had been plenty to eat and little to do. He had loafed, played, made social visits and had a good time generally. There had been no good reason why he shouldn't. But now it was time to think of the coming winter and prepare for it, and Jerry was ready for work. There isn't a lazy bone in Jerry Muskrat's stout little body. That is one way in which he differs from Peter Rabbit.

Now that he had decided where he would build his new house Jerry got to work without waste of time. His busy days had begun. Perhaps I should have said his busy nights had begun, for Jerry, like his big cousin, Paddy the Beaver, prefers to work at night. If he isn't bothered he works during the day also, especially on a dull or rainy day, but as a rule his real working hours begin just after jolly, round, red Mr. Sun goes to his bed behind the Purple Hills.

Of course, Peter Rabbit was all curiosity as soon as he knew that Jerry was to build a new house, and every chance he got he slipped over to the Smiling Pool to see how Jerry was getting on. At first he could make nothing of it excepting that over beyond the Big Rock Jerry was making the water terribly muddy. Now and then a cat-tail would fall and disappear and in places the water would bubble and boil very hard, showing that something was going on down beneath. Then after a little Jerry would climb out on the Big Rock to rest and get his breath. You know it isn't an easy matter to hold your breath and work too, and this is what Jerry had to do.

At first only that part of the Smiling Pool beyond the Big Rock was muddy, but gradually the muddy circle grew wider and wider until it began to look as if the whole Smiling Pool would be made muddy and unpleasant. Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter came down from the Laughing Brook to the Smiling Pool, took one look at it and promptly turned back. They were cross about it, too.

"No use to try to fish there now," grumbled Billy Mink. "That's Jerry Muskrat's doings. Must be he is building a new house."

"He seems to think no one else has any right in the Smiling Pool," growled Little Joe Otter. "I say that no one has any right to let his private affairs interfere with the affairs of his neighbors. If he must build a house why doesn't he do it without cheating us out of a day's fishing?"

"Let's go down and tell him what we think of him," proposed Billy Mink.

"Water's too dirty. I can give him a piece of my mind later. The best thing for us to do is to keep away from the Smiling Pool for a few days," grumbled Little Joe Otter.

But Jerry Muskrat knew nothing about the grumbling of his neighbors. I suspect it would have made no difference if he had. Jerry had too much to do to worry about the feelings of his neighbors. They would have to stand the muddy water until he got the foundations of his house laid, and to lay these he had to dig. Digging under water made the water muddy, and there was no help for it. If he could stand it they could. So Jerry dug and came up to rest and went down to dig again and was happy, for to be usefully busy is to be happy.

What To-Day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If September 24th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., from 3.30 p.m. to 5 p.m., and 9.25 p.m. to 10.35 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Saturday, September 24th, will be a better day, astrologically speaking, for the pleasures of life, than for business. Work will be done in a slip-shod manner, while social jaunts will be welcomed with enthusiasm, and hostesses will be well pleased with their own efforts and the responsiveness of their guests.

Children born on this September 24th will be strong-minded, courageous, little boys and girls. They will develop into audacious types of young women, and adventurous young men. They will want to be both seen and heard, and will seem difficult to old-fashioned parents, who rule with an iron rod. They will be both tender-hearted and sympathetic as friends.

You have too pessimistic a nature, if born on September 24th to be an appreciative person. Although the man who's always growling invites ill-luck to "dog" his footsteps, it would be difficult for you to change your natural temperament, and you will always feel that you are one of the unlucky beings of the world. Your character assets, other than an unfortunate disposition, are many. It is not difficult for you to learn, and you do not have clumsy hands. If your spirit were as hopeful as it is willing, you would be able to go far. You are not afraid of hard work, or of getting your hands soiled, and you do things accurately.

You will have more "ups" in life than "downs," but you will allow your existence to be colored by the latter to such an extent that you will be unable to appreciate the former properly. You are a quiet lover of the out-of-doors, and are truly happy when you can forget yourself in an enchanted land of streams and trees and flowers. You are very fond of animals and should make a good horseman.

You are too much of a homebody to care much for social activities. You are not much of a talker, even among your most intimate friends or with your family.

"LIBRA"

If September 25th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11.10 a.m. to 1.15 p.m., from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., and from 8.20 p.m. to 10.45 p.m. The only unfavorable period is from 2 p.m. to 3.30 p.m.

Favorable influences are promised by the stellar indications for Sunday, September 25th. An atmosphere will prevail which will be conductive to relaxation and rest. In the evening, more stimulation will be in evidence, and this will be a good opportunity for young lovers to put their hopes to the test, as more than favorable consideration is predicted.

A child born on this September 25th will be, in early youth, seriously handicapped by physical ailments. Long before reaching adolescence, however, it will be normally healthful. Its disposition, though variable, will be affectionate; its moral convictions will be strong. "Preserve and conquer" will be its slogan.

You, if born on September 25th, try to convey an impression of cynicism and boredom. You however, only make yourself foolish in attempting any such role, for you are neither a cynic, nor are you easily bored. You take a healthy view of life and its problems, you are a good and a sympathetic listener, and your heart is full of kindly feelings towards your fellows.

Not much of a student, you possess a faculty for hitting the nail on the head. Where a difficult problem is involved, you can generally find a practical and prompt solution. You are a good judge of character; this, however, is more intuitive than analytical. Your first impressions, — and you should be guided by these—are invariably correct.

You are more of a spasmodic, than a continuous, worker, but when you do roll up your sleeves and get down to it, you accomplish a great deal in a brief space of time. You try to control emotion, but do not succeed in doing so. In hours of stress, you stand revealed as a very human sort of person, and anyone linking their fate with yours will never have cause to repent of the bargain.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind

CAVAN

For the past few years the programs for the branches of the Women's Institutes of East Durham, have been prepared by the executive of the district. This year each branch is to prepare its own program. Cavan Institute has a committee named to look after this matter.

The department gives helpful practical suggestions along this line. The Institutes are advised to have the topics seasonable, also balanced, i.e. (a) an address or paper; (b) a demonstration or exhibit with a discussion following; (c) and, if possible, a social half hour at the end, in all not more than two hours.

The interests of all in the home, need to be covered.

Draw out as much local talent as possible, not only among your members but other women of the community. Ask the business, professional and tradesmen to give addresses and demonstrations.

Have as many members as possible taking part.

Interest both girls and women. Be progressive from year to year. Consider community interests. The suggestion box is a good way of getting suggestions from the members concerning topics which would prove interesting and beneficial.

Suggestions might be asked for in the study of the home, under such heads, as food, clothing, housing, furnishing, cleaning, labor-saving and health.

The study of the people in the home under sub-heads such as:—

The family, education, division of work, financial arrangements, play and recreation, music, reading manners, speech.

The study of the community, civics, the schools, community health, community recreation, community beauty, neatness, and progressiveness, school fairs, naming and beautifying country homes, cleaning and improving roadsides, parks, cemeteries ,short courses, community halls.

Each month's program should be so planned as to contain features, one or other of which should interest every member Nor should a social half hour be neglected. The social mind needs to be developed in the country. There must be friendliness and sympathy to ensure co-operation.

Have as many as possible take part. This is good for the Institute and good for the members.

Some of the home activities which may be demonstrated are:—

The preparation and serving of foods.

Care of household furniture and equipment.

Home nursing and first aid.

Care of clothing, ironing, cleaning and pressing.

Table setting and serving.

A school lunch, and removing stains.

MILLBROOK

Discussing the matter of using wheat flour substitutes in the daily family menu, in the interests of health, a group of Institute women sought information from each other and as usual this needed assistance was not long in forthcoming.

"I never saw anything like it," one young woman exclaimed; "no matter what problem I bring before Institute folk I invariably receive the help I want, and the best of it is, it is tested help of the most practical kind, so I am not afraid to go ahead and use it on my household—I just know it will turn out all right."

A table of measurements, wise to keep for reference, for substitutes equally one cup of white flour, was supplied and noted down as follows: barley, one and three-eighths cups; buckwheat, seven-eighths of a cup; corn flour, one scant cup; corn meal (coarse), seven-eighths of a cup; corn meal (fine) one cup; corn starch, three quarters of a cup; rye flour, one cup; potato flour, three-quarters of a cup, rice flour, seven-eighths of a cup; rolled oats, one and one-half cups (ground in meat-chopper), one and one-eighth cups.

That there was no need to change recipes because of using the substitute flours was brought out in the lively discussion, the ones the family had always liked being urged for use, but for each cup of white flour it was only necessary to use the quantity of any chosen substitute and the result "will be as delicious as your family folk have been in the habit of pronouncing it."

The table supplied was declared to be most satisfactory for griddle cakes, "becoming popular in the average household at this season," cakes, muffins, cookies, drop cakes and for nut or raisin without using any wheat flour.

Just as an instance, one experienced homemaker gave a recipe for muffins in the 'old way,' and followed it with the same recipe only in the 'new way,' declaring it to be a favorite in her family, and quite successful with the substitute flour.

Old way—two cups wheat flour, four level teaspoons baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon salt, four tablespoons sugar, one cup milk, one egg, one tablespoon butter or fat.

New way—one and three-eighths cups barley flour, one (scant) cup corn flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one egg, one tablespoon butter or fat.

Some cautions were, however, advanced for the inexperienced homemaker whose anxious questions had started the whole subject of substitute flours, among these being: be careful to have all measurements accurate, the batter may look too thick, or sometimes too thin, but if measurements have been made exactly according to the table, the result will be all right after baking.

Again, bake all substitute mixtures more slowly, and longer, and remember that drop biscuits are actually better than rolled biscuits if you are using substitutes; also pie crusts are difficult to roll—better to pat them on the pan, and you will not need to chill the pastry before baking. "The result, however, is most wholesome — much more so than pastry made with only wheaten flour."

An apple and potato recipe was given as a wholesome dish by a new member of the branch, and was copied down for use: Cream together two tablespoons each of butter (or butter substitute) and sugar, adding a cupful each of stewed apples and mashed potatoes, and grated rind of a lemon. Bake in a mould in a moderate oven, and garnish with steamed apple slices; serve with a good pudding sauce.

HUNDRED CHILDREN TAKE PART IN YOUNG'S POINT SCHOOL FAIR

Annual School Parade is Pleasing Feature of Afternoon's Program.

LIVESTOCK EXHIBITS

LAKEFIELD, September 24. — (Examiner Correspondence.) Three schools competed for honors in the Youngs Point School Fair, held this year at S. S. No. 6, Smith, on Thursday, September 22, and each school won great credit from R. F. Downey, school inspector of West Peterborough. Nearly one hundred children took part and acquitted themselves in a way which reflected great credit on their training and themselves.

The school fair has grown into a real community event and each year there are advances made in the lien of quality as well as quantity of the exhibits.

The school fair was an all-day affair and is a gala event to young and old; the early part of the morning, until 10.30, was spent in placing the exhibits, then the judging and competitions in patching for girls and rope splicing for the boys, filled in the time until 11 o'clock, when the races and sports were run off. This was planned evidently to give the youngsters an appetite for the noonday meal, which was generously provided for by the mothers. The patching competition was won by the team from S. S. No. 8, Smith, who competed with S. S. No. 14, Douro, and the work done was remarkably good and belied the criticism often given that the mothers do the sewing exhibited by their daughters. Ethel Freeburn and Muriel Brooks were the winners. The rope splicing contest for boys brought five entries, all of whom knew how to do their task and did it well. It was won by Kenneth Knox of S. S. No. 6. Three boys were from S. S. No. 14, Douro.

Beatrice Kidd of S. S. No. 8 won the weed naming contest.

School Parade.

The children, as soon as the noon day meal had been disposed of, were made ready by the teachers for the school parade, which is the opening feature of the afternoon.

Although only three schools competed the parade was impressive and the marching showed that capable drilling by the teachers and careful attention by the pupils had combined with excellent results.

Each school had its banner. Pinegrove was probably the most original with its school bous, so like S. S. No. 14, Douro, done in green on a white back ground, and a pine tree border. Young's Point senior was decorated with flags and sounded a note of patriotism. Young's Point junior and S. S. No. 6, Smith, each had a banner, the former a red one and the latter white with red lettering.

The parade was led by S. S. No. 6 (the home school) with the teacher, Miss Winnifred Sage, in charge, then S. S. No. 8 seniors, with Frank Carroll in charge, young's Point Juniors with Miss Viola Redpath, and lastly S. S. No. 14 Douro, with Carroll Evans.

Following the march the schools were arranged in a hollow square on the playground to the east of the school and under Mr. Downey's direction and interesting exhibition of physical drill was given with each school giving their school yell. The teachers conducted the singing of the various schools in the following order: S. S. No. 6, Smith, "My Own Canadian Home," S. S. No. 8, Smith, Senior, "O Canada," S. S. No. 8, Smith, Junior, "Three Little Sisters, the Red, White and Blue," S. S. No. 14, Douro, "Oh Canada." "Oh Canada" was favored by the judges and the two schools who sang it were asked for a repeat performance before the decision was given in favor of S. S. No. 8, Seniors, who were presented with a softball and bat as the prize. Mr. Downey complimented the Young's Point Juniors on their performance, and said there were as good voices in that group as anywhere.

Live Stock Exhibition.

The exhibiting of live stock was most interesting and was largely of fowl and calves. One lamb was led out by its owner, a little girl, and displayed bravely, the little girl looking anxious, and the well groomed lambkin rather bored by the unwonted publicity.

Five Holstein calves were brought out in the dairy class. One young animal resented the use of a rope apparently and two youngsters acted as his guardians after he had stampeded S. S. No. 6, who were grouped near by.

The beef-type calves had four entries, one very young and shy, and curiously enough, in charge of the largest boy. One girl bravely exhibited her calf.

The poultry were in wire coops, and the young cockerels made merry with their crowing throughout the performance. Barred Plymouth Rocks and White Leghorns predominated although one very handsome pair of White Rocks were much admired The exhibits in the tent were far ahead of former years in many respects. As the rural school strides on each year marks a real advance, Grain, vegetables, sewing, cooking, writing and drawing, Nature collections, fruit and flowers, mechanics and manual training. The floral exhibit was remarkably good; the gladioli and asters were especially beautiful. The indoor exhibits were much admired by the crowd who thronged the tent as soon as it was opened to the public.

The last, and not least enjoyable and important feature was the recitation contest, which was in three classes, with four contestants in each class. Mr. William Bickell was chairman.

"Look Up and Try" was the selection given by the First Book pupils with the following results: 1, Helen Dunbar; 2, Donald Fry; 3, Billy Brooks; 4, Carl Hurl. The boys won in the Second Book contest which was "Water," a short poem and had four entries also, in which Ralph Beavis won first place; 2, Kenneth Knox; 3, Anita Greenley; 4, Evelyn Tedford.

A prose selection, "Empire Day," was the theme of the Third Book contest, in which Reta Dunbar was first; Roger Charlton, second; Edna Godfrey, third; Paul Ayotte, fourth.

Public Speaking

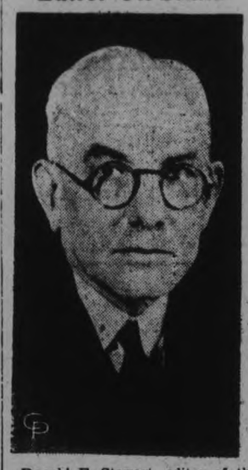
The Fourth Class, which demonstrated public speaking, each chose the biography of a great Canadian and whether by accident or design chose two men who in widely different sphere of life served thir country so nobly that their names ara honored all over Canada. William Dunbar gave the life of Sir John A. Macdonald, and Beatrice Kidd gave the life story of Tecumseh. The judges found it difficult to decide, but awarded the decision to Beatrice Kid..

The spelling match brought out six entries, two for each school, and all girls, a fact which evoked a comment from Mr. Downey.

The girls went down one by one till only Ethel Freeburn and Velma Northey remained, and after what promised to be a lengthy duel, the former missed a word and the latter spelled it correctly, and so Velma Northey of S.S. No. 6 was declared the winner; the others were: 2, Ethel Freeburn; 3, Elsie Huggins; 4, Blanche Dunford; 5, Muriel Brooks; 6, Morin Darling.

Mr. J. B. Nelson, the efficient and good humored Agricultural Representative, conducted the judging of live stock, inside exhibits, etc., aided by his staff and with Mr. Downey expressed satisfaction with the quality of the exhibits and the showing by the pupils in the various lines. While this year's fair was not as large as in former years, it was not the less successful, and groups of happy children and parents, loaded with live stock, fruit, vegetables, etc., went home thrilled with a happy day's outing and inspired to do even better in 1933.

Editor On Stand



Donald F. Stewart, editor of the Moose magazine, is shown in New York city, where he was a witness at the trial of Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, former secretary of labor, who is charged with violation of the national lottery laws. The prosecution alleges $172,000 from a lodge lottery fund have been traced to Davis.

INSTITUTE WILL CATER TO DINNER

Several Items of Business Discussed at Percy Branch Meeting.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, September 24. — A very interesting and well attended meeting of the Percy Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Will Potter. A great deal of business was discussed. The Institute decided to cater to a dinner for the teachers' convention to be held in Warkworth in the near future, and a committee was appointed to look after the tables and menu.

The program was opened by all joining in community singing, after which an apple contest was enjoyed. Mrs. Greenly and Mrs. Black were the winners, and received a box of home made candy.

A prize was given for the best bouquet of dahlias. Mrs. George Walker won the prize, a glass cream pitcher and sugar bowl.

MISS GLADYS WILSON CAPTURES EATON TROPHY AT SCHOOL FAIR

Margaret Best and Boyd Windrim Win Second and Third Places Respectively.

PRIZE WINNERS

OMEMEE, Sept. 24 (Examiner Correspondence). — Omemee Park was the setting for the annual Rural School Fair Wednesday afternoon. A large crowd assembled at the parade hour, and in spite of the fact that only three schools out of the seven entered, the fair was a decided success; enthusiasm and interest marking the event as usual.

M. H. Winter, District Agricultural Representative and his staff, Misses Ruth Robson and Margaret Laidlaw, Messrs. N. Lindsay and G. Frederick were on hand; also Mr. Downey, I.P.S. for East Victoria and Peterborough.

H. Endicott, Reeve of Emily, presented the set of bird pictures given to every school represented in the parade; Mr. Downey directed the physical culture drills; all schools taking part and concluding with the school yells; the Victoria County yell and the flag salute, and the National Anthem.

The silver trophy donated by the T. Eaton Co. went to Miss Gladys Wilson, Emily 5, for winning the highest number of points, 92, to her credit. A book, "The Shagganappi," by E. Pauline Johnson, went to Margaret Best, Emily 9, as second prize, with 64 points to her credit, and the third, a book "Kinsman," to Boyd Windrim, Emily 9, with 62 points to his credit.

Heavy Campaigning Ahead for S. Huron

SEAFORTH, Ont., Sept. 24 (C.P.) —After two meetings to-night the Liberal workers in the South Huron Federal by-electon will take a breathing space over Sunday, then plunge into the final week of the campaign with at least one meeting every night.

Conservatives, following their policy of a few but big rallies, have advertised only three meetings for next week. They will have Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, for two of them and the other will be addressed by Ontario members and the candidate.

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King will be the feature of the Liberal week, speaking here Wednesday.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 18

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service, Inc.)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan of the Apes, dangling helplessly and facing death in the shape of the advancing saber-tooth tiger, heard the jungle silence disturbed by the sudden sound. The great cat heard it also, for it stopped in its tracks and gazed up into the foliage. And then Tarzan heard a rustling in the branches directly overhead. Looking up, he saw what appeared to be a gorilla glaring down upon him. Two more savage faces showed through the foliage, and then in other trees he thought he saw similar shaggy forms and fierce faces.

The figures Tarzan saw were like gorillas and yet unlike any such creature he had known upon the outer earth. He caught glimpses of great clubs wielded by hairy hands. He saw the huge saber-tooth tiger had hesitated in its advances and was snarling and growling angrily as it watched the savage beings glaring down at its intended prey. But only for a moment did the cat pause. Still snarling as though in angry defiance, it moved forward again. Then several things occurred at the same time.

As the beast was within a foot of the ape-man, one of the creatures in the tree above reached down, and, seizing the rope that held Tarzan dangling in mid-air, drew him swiftly upward. The saber-tooth leaped to capture his prey, and a dozen heavy cudgels hurtled through the air from the surrounding trees, striking the great cat heavily upon its head and body. These deflected the cruel talons of the animal just in the nick of time. An instant later Tarzan was drawn well up among the tree branches, where he was immediately seized by three hairy brutes.

As Tarzan saw the menacing attitudes of his ugly captors he almost wished he had been left to the tender mercies of the saber-tooth. He felt he was no safer. For, one on either side of him, the gorilla-like creatures seised him by an arm. A third grasped him by the throat with one hand while he held his cudgel poised above his head with the other. And then from the lips of the creature facing him came a sound. It startled the ape-man's ears, as had the first unexpected roar of the saber-tooth, but with far different effect.

The dog was a particularly valuable one, a family pet, and a general favorite in the neighborhood.

RELICS IN CASKET COME FROM FRANCE

MIDLAND, Sept. 24 (C.P.). — Efforts of years to have returned here some of the relics of the Jesuit martyrs of 1650 at last have been successful. From Paris has come a casket containing the revered bones.

Enclosed in bronze, the relics are contained in a glass casket and rest on the shoulders of four kneeling figures. These represent Father Brebeouf, one of the marytrs, a French General, a lay brother and a Huron Indian Chief.

The figures kneel on a metal platform surrounded with ivory and amber stones. On the platform is a map of the Huronia district as it was in 1650. The relics will be installed in the sanctuary of the church shrine here in a solemn ceremony on Sunday next.

Obituary

MRS. ROBERT H. TAMBLIN

Largely attended by members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion and by friends and neighbors, the funeral was held on Wednesday of Mrs. Robert Henry Tamblin from the family residence, 56 Victoria avenue.

Services were conducted by the Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, pastor of George Street United Church, and interment was made at Little Lake Cemetery. Pall-bearers were N. Tamblin, F. Tamblin, George Strain, Joseph Grey, H. Tamblin and A. Clark.

Mrs. Tamblin who was a native of Belmont Township, was a daugter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Parks. She passed away after a long illness at the age of 76 years and 4 months. During her residence in this city she had come to be highly regarded by a wide circle of friends. For a period of five years she was second vice-president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Legion.

Surviving her are two sons, Frank and Nelson, and three daughters, Mrs. J. Gray of High street; Mrs. George Strain, Mrs. A. Clark, all of this city. A son, Albert Wellington, died of wounds received in action at Vimy Ridge on December 8 1916, while with the Canadian Mounted Rifles; a son-in-law, Norman Clark, was also killed in action at Vimy Ridge in April, 1917.

TWO HUNDRED PERSONS ATTEND MISSION PRESBYTERIAL RALLY

Sumptuous Banquet Served to Members in Trinity Church Sunday School Hall.

GUEST SPEAKER.

The Young Women's Auxiliaries and Mission Circles of Peterborough Presbyterial met in a grand rally, more than two hundred strong, in Trinity United Sunday School Hall, where they were banquetted with a feast of both spiritual and temporal good things.

Tall vases of autumn flowers and baskets of fruit made attractive the long tables at which at 6.30 were seated the happy, eager group of girls of the Presbyterial.

The rally was presided over by the secretary of Y. W. work, Mrs. W. H. Morton, who, with the guest speaker, Mrs. J. H. Rush, Dominion Board Secretary of Young Women's work, was seated at the head table. Here also were the various presidents and leaders of the groups represented, and those taking part in the evening's program.

In gracious words the gathering was welcomed on behalf of Trinity Y.W.A. and Mission Circle, by their president, Mrs. A. Parker, to their church. Mrs. H. Clegg, of Knox Y.W.A., responded for the visitors in the same friendly spirit. A letter of greeting from the Bay of Quinte secretary of Y.W.W., Miss V. Sparko, was read by Mrs. Morton.

Community singing, led by Miss Clarry, of Missionary hymns, most of which were composed by Mrs. Rush, to familiar popular tunes, interspersed other numbers on the program.

The roll call was responded to by a splendid delegation from nearly every organization in the Presbyterial. The banner, this year, was presented upon an efficiency basis, which also included the attendance at the rally. Trinity Y.W.A. again won first place, with Norwood a close second, and St. James' in third place.

Interesting Feature

One of the most interesting features of the evening was the questionaire in charge of Mrs. J. H. Rush of Tillsonburg, who was very happily introduced by Miss Eva Elliott of George Street Y.W.A. In handling this questionaire, Mrs. Rush settled many vital problems raised by the girls themselves.

In her replies, Mrs. Rush declared, "We must not be content merely with having interesting meetings, and planning to raise an allocation. Our aim is far greater; the aim of producing real Christians who actively share Christ's purpose for the world."

Dealing with the three great essentials of missionary education—Worship, Study and Service—the speaker pointed out many worth while methods in each phase of the work. "Worship," was defined as thinking things over in the presence of God." "Study," should awaken new understanding and sympathy, while "Service" should be the natural expression of both worship and study. In greater detail, Mrs. Rush continued with practical helps along these three lines.

The theme of the worship service, conducted by members of St. James' Y.L. Circle, was Friendship, and was carried out in story, song and prayer, under the leadership of the president, Jessie Martin.

Vivid Word Picture

This year's delegate to Whitby School of Missions, from the Presbyterial, Mrs. R. Pakenham, of Norwood, brought a vivid word picture of a week's activities in this wonderful school, and urged the girls to take advantage of this fine source of misisonary inspiration.

"Thanks Be to God" was the delightful vocal solo contributed by Miss Margaret Woistenholme of Trinity Y.W.A.

The offering was received by Trinity and St. Andrew's Circles, and the report of the Courtesy committee was presented by Miss Evelyn Miller of George Street Circle and seconded by Mrs. Scott of St. Andrew's Y.W.A.

Of an unusually inspiring nature was the address of the evening, "Let Us Rise Up and Build," delivered in her inimitable manner by Mrs. Rush. The story of Nehemiah and the building of the wall, happened over two thousand years ago, yet comes to us to-day as a note of encouragement.

"Figuratively speaking, in our own continent of America, we see the walls torn down and the gates burned. How much do we need a Nehemiah to look over the situation and to point out to us the unlimited resources of our King of Kings. The world to-day, as then, is divided into two classes: the builders and the wreckers. The latter seem far more numerous, tearing down our homes, our personalities, our churches, our nation, and the world. Anything worthwhile raises antagonism so it is impossible to build the city of God without opposition.

Who are the wreckers? For the most part they are mature men and women who are sold out to greed and base ideals. Among the forces at work wrecking the lives of our youth are the movies, liquor traffic, narcotics, and the drug trade. Wreckers! Their name is legion. Do you wonder that the walls are torn down and that people are discouraged? Are you ready to say, "Let us rise up and build?" The difficulty in the past was that builders were not numerous enough and not sufficiently active. Some of our builders to-day are those who are building up real homes. Teachers of day and church schools, statesmen, philanthropists, scientists and ministers of the Gospel. In fact, a builder is anyone trying to live the abundant life and to lift up others. The greatest of all builders are our missionaries because of their sacrifices and the scope of their building. They are building a bridge of world friendship and we, who support them at home have an important share in this great enterprise. No one is too humble or too great to be a builder and there is never any need of unemployment in this trade of building.

It is a challenge just to be alive in such an age, and to give of our best to it. The Spirit of God is always waiting for youth to pass by. Will the youth of to-day pause, as did Moses, by the burning bush and reply to the challenge with the words of Nehemiah's followers, "Let us rise up and build"?

As a fitting close to this very inspiring and successful rally was the earnest prayer offered by Mrs. A. I. Brown, president of the Presbyterial.

GANDHI BREAKS HIS FAST UNTO DEATH

CITY IN SOUND POSITION SAYS MAYOR R. DENNE

His Worship Reviews the Financial Situation for Benefit of Local Rotary Club.

UNEMPLOYMENT WORK.

That the financial position of the city is sound and the payment of taxes this year has been very good in spite of the general conditions was the reassuring statement made to the members of the Peterborough Rotary Club to-day by Mayor Roland Denne in an address on civic matters.

His Worship during his speech paid hearty tribute to the hard work of every member of the City Council, and to the co-operation given by such bodies as the Board of Education, the City Trust Commission and the Utilities Commission.

In introducing the speaker Rotarian V. J. McElderry, K.C., pointed out that Mayor Denne was holding office during a most onerous period and praised the Mayor for the energy and courage displayed by him. "There is no matter too small to escape his notice and none too big for him to tackle," declared the speaker.

Mayor Denne, in beginning, referred to the fact that while most other municipalities had had to raise their tax rate in the last year, Peterborough had been able to bring in a reduction of one and four-tenths mills, in spite of having to absorb $16,000 extra relief expenditure. His Worship pointed out that much work had been provided for the unemployment, and added that to find additional municipal work would be a difficult proposition. "In spite of conditions," said the Mayor, "the payment of taxes has been very good. Up to August 12 the amount received was only 3.37 per cent. less than for the same period a year ago."

"If you have looked at the back of your tax bills this year," His Worship continued, "you will have seen for what purposes the taxes are levied. This statement shows that 80 per cent. of the expenditures are not in the control of the Council this year, being the demands of the school boards, the City Trust for interest and sinking funds, and of the other bodies, such as for the hospitals, and for suburban roads, old age pensions, mothers' allowances, etc. This leaves

J. F. STRICKLAND TOURED NORTH

Local M.P.P. Was Member of Party Which Visited Northern Ontario.

RICH IN RESOURCES.

J. F. Strickland, K.C., M.P.P., returned to the city to-day from the tour made last week by members of the Ontario Legislature over the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway during which development projects in the north were studied.

The purpose of the tour was to present the members of legislature an opportunity to become acquainted with the rich resources of the north and the opportunities which Government projects have opened up recently. In this connection Mr. Strickland reported the trip as a complete success. He declared that the tour had impressed the wealth of the north upon all who made up the party.

Kirkland Lake and Timmins are two cities in the north that are booming, stated Mr. Strickland. The whole north, he said, has undergone a great development and further progress will gain even greater riches from the great mines.

Lake Shore, Hollinger and McIntyre were three of the great producing mines visited. The party also visited Moose Factory and took a cruise on James Bay.

SENTENCED FOR THEFT.

LONDON, Ont. — Earl E. Scott 23, was sentenced in City Police Court to-day to serve an indeterminate term of from three months to one year in the Ontario Reformatory for the theft of $7.00 from Donald Smith, fellow roomer. Scott pleaded guilty a week ago.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS DEFENDANT AT THE BAR OF PUBLIC OPINION

MUST PROVE VALUE.

GENEVA, Sept. 26 (C.P.).—The League of Nations is a defendant "at the bar of public opinion," President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State said in opening the session of the League's general assembly to-day, and there is upon it "a burden of justification which is overwhelming."

Recounting prevalent accusations of the League's weakness, De Valera said the only way to silence the critics who charge it is impotent or decadent is to execute the obligations of the League covenant on all states, whether weak or strong.

The criticism, much of which he called justified, comes from all sides, he said, but the League must prove its value to survive.

Asserting the world public is largely cynical of its activities, he said the critics would have confidence only in so far as the members themselves place their confidence in the security the League is capable of affording.

Success Or Failure.

The success or failure of the arms conference, he said, will be a measure of the confidence which the League merits, adding that "without progressive disarmament, it is almost impossible that the League could survive'"

In a portion of his speech, in which he mentioned no names, but which was generally taken to refer to the problem of Japan's military campaigns in Manchuria and also the European disarmament controversy, De Valera said:

"The only alternative to competitive armaments is the security for national rights which an uncomprising adhesion to the principles of the covenant will afford.

"Avoidance of wars and the burdens of preparatory armaments is such a concern of humanity that no state should be permitted to jeopardize the common interest by selfish action contrary to the covenant. No state is powerful enough to stand long against the League if the League and its peoples are determined the covenant shall be upheld."

Poacher is Shot

GUELPH, Ont., Sept. 6.—(C.P.)—The first poacher of German brown trout in the Ontario Reformatory fish pond today had paid the death penalty.

The poacher was a blue heron with a five-foot wing span. Guard Cunningham of the Reformatory staff, shot it as it scooped up a fine meal of fingerlings.

CATALONA GAINS INDEPENDENCE

Assembly May Inaugurate in Spain Federal Structure Similar to Canada.

MILLION CELEBRATE.

BARCELONA, Spain, Sept. 26.—(A.P.) — The ancient province of Catalona was tired but happy today, happy in the possession of the independence it has sought for centuries and tired after the greatest celebration in its 2,000 years of history.

More than 1,000,000 people, almost half the population of the province, turned out in their colorful holiday garb yesterday to welcome Premier Manuel Azana and his party, who came from Madrid to present the autonomy statute recently approved by the Spanish National Assembly.

They danced and sang and shouted from the time the Premier's train entered the province until after midnight. Hundreds of thousands crowded into every cranny along the route the Premier traveled in Barcelona. Seven were hurt in the crush in spite of the efforts of police and civil guards to hold the throngs in check.

They also heard from the Premier, after he delivered the autonomy writ, that the Spanish Republica may widen the autonomy policy to include similar privileges for other parts of Spain, grouping all together in a Federal structure similar to Canada.

HURON ELECTION STRAIGHT FIGHT, NO INDEPENDENT

W. W. Cooper Delays Entry Into Politics Till Next General Election.

NOMINATIONS TO-DAY.

SEAFORTH, Ont., Sept. 26. (CP) Beginning with official nominations to-day, South Huron will be treated to an intensive campaign for votes in the next Monday's by election to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons, created by the death of Thomas MacMillan, Liberal member for the riding. The contest narrowed down to a straight party fight last night with the eleventh hour withdrawal of W. W. Cooper of Kippen, who had proclaimed his candidacy as an Independent. Mr. Cooper stated late last night that he would delay his entry into federal politics until the next general election.

Louis P. Reader, a prominent farmer of Dashwood, Hay Township, is the Conservative candidate while the hopes of the Liberal party are pinned to William H. Golding, ex-mayor of Seaforth. Both appeared in Hensall to-day with their nomination papers, each signed by more than one hundred names over the legal requirement of ten.

Only Two Rallies

The Conservative workers have so far held only two rallies, preferring instead of numerous small meetings, to carry on a personal canvass. Mr. Rader and his assistants have travelled throughout the constituteney for several weeks. The candidate is warden of the county and has a long experience in muncipipal politics. This week they will resort more to meetings and it is expected the candidate and his supporters will speak somewhere every day. Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, will make three speeches Thursday and Friday, visiting Clinton, Zurich and Exeter.

The Liberal workers have been holding meetings almost every night and will continue to do so until the election. Wednesday a rally will be held in Seaforth rink with Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King as the chief speaker. The Liberal chieftain will be accompanied by Hon. J. C. Elliott, former minister of public works, and F. G. Sanderson, Liberal M.P. for South Perth.

KING SHORTENS HIS HOILDAYS

SESSION WEDNESDAY.

LONDON, September 26 (C.P.).—King George will cut short his holiday in Scotland and return to London on Friday, it was announced to-day.

His arrival on Friday will follow Wednesday's crucial Cabinet meeting when the Ottawa tariff agreements come up for final discussion. It is taken for granted now in political circles that Sir Herbert Samuel and his free trade colleagues in the Cabinet will resign because of their opposition to these agreements.

Barn Fire Epidemic Alarming Farmers

HAMILTON, September 26 (C.P.).—Farmers in the Cayuga district were becoming alarmed to-day as they learned of the sixth barn fire in that area within a few weeks.

The latest fire occurred yesterday when the barn and automobile of Robert Paxton were destroyed.

AUTOMOBILE RACER KILLED.

Mother Will Face Charge of Murder

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—(CP)—Cornelius Whelen, seven, died today from effects of poison which police said his mother, Mrs. Catherine Whalen, 28 East Dorset, Vt., gave him last Wednesday.

Mrs. Whelan herself remained in hospital seriously ill from effect of the same poison. Police said she took the poison after giving a dose to her son. They said she would be charged with murder if she recovered.

TIMES SCORES FREE TRADERS ON PACT STAND

Points Out British Tariff Used as Lever to Urge General Reduction.

QUOTES BESSBOROUGH.

Claims Conference Made Wholesale Converts to World-wide Trade Freedom.

LONDON, Sept. 26 (C.P. Cable).—"To those who followed the Economic Conference proceedings with any breadth of vision it must seem incredible that Free Traders of all people should make them the breaking point," declares The Times editorially, commenting on the anticipated resignation of Sir Herbert Samuel, the Home Secretary, and other Free Trade Liberals in the National Government.

The newspaper says the trade agreements between the United Kingdom and the Dominions stand as the main item in the conference and those Liberals who now profess to regard them with horror may fairly be asked whether in the main they might not have been anticipated by any member of the Government which welcomed the invitation to Ottawa.

"If Ottawa were really to be the breaking point, surely the time to have broken was when the invitation was accepted or when delegates were sent unfettered to state their policy, The Times continues.

Quotes Bessborough

The Times quotes from a speech by the Earl of Bessborough, the Governor-General of Canada, at Edmonton, last week, in which he declared the prime importance of the conference was that it enforced the lesson that the only watershed to feed trade rivers is the watershed of the world.

The newspaper says the Earl of Bessborough was perfectly right. "Ottawa made converts wholesale to the belief in world-wide freedom of trade. The conception of a self-sufficient British Empire has followed that of insular free trade to the scrap-heap of hopeless ideals.

"Another broad result of the conference has been to reinforce the conviction that such common action as the conference set in motion was never possible until this country regained fiscal freedom. It should be some compensation to doubting Liberals that the first use made of the British tariff has been as a lever to press for reduction of tariffs everywhere."

TWO MEN SHOT IN MINE FRACAS

Ohio Officials Headed By Sheriff Rush to Scene of Killings.

STRIKE ARGUMENTS.

ATHENS, O., Sept. 26 (C.P.). — Two men were shot and killed in the Hocking Valley Mine field late last night and early to-day. One of the dead was believed to have been an innocent victim of the mine warfare, while the other was killed as the outgrowth of a strike argument.

The dead are:

Clarmont Banfield, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Banfield, of Hunterton. Boyd Vincent, 45, of Luhrig, an active strike agitator.

County officials, headed by Sheriff Wayne Wingett, rushed to the scenes of the shootings from this city.

BRITISH CABINET GIVES APPROVAL TO COMPROMISE

Mahatma Goes Six Days and Five Hours Without Food.

REJOICING IN INDIA.

Official Decision Comes in Nick of Time—Boon to Untouchables.

POONA, India, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, inspired by news that the British Government at London had approved most of the compromise plan on the privileges of Indian untouchables in legislative elections, broke his "death fast" of protest this afternoon.

Gandhi broke his fast at 5 p.m. India time (6:30 a.m. E.S.T.) He had abstained from food six days and five hours.

It was not indicated immediately exactly what his first meal would be but his physicians insisted he should first be given a small quantity of orange juice and later some goat's milk, diluted with warm water.

The decision of the British Cabinet in London was announced early this morning after a meeting which lasted until nearly midnight last night, and in which Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald participated.

Great Rejoicing

The news was cabled here immediately and was met with great rejoicing. At Simla the halls of the Indian Legislative Assembly echoed with loud cheers and a similar scene took place in the Council of State as the announcement was made.

The Government's statement noted that the agreement reached between the leaders here covered certain questions outside of the Cabinet's recent decision on the troublesome electoral question, however, including the actual details of working out the plan, and it pointed out that while there was no implication the Government opposed these proposals, they were still matters under consideration.

Gandhi had a bad night last night. He slept little and physicians who examined him this morning said he was sinking and his vitality was lower than at any time since he began his fast.

No Acute Discomforts.

Gandhi was examined by two private physicians and three from the staff of Yeroda Jail, where he has been a prisoner since last January. The bulletin said he was feeling less nausea, however, and was suffering no acute discomforts.

FAMILY HAS NEAR CALL FROM COAL GAS FUMES

TORONTO, Sept. 26. — James Blakely lay seriously ill in hospital and four members of his family were receiving medical treatment at home to-day following an escape from coal gas poisoning.

Blakely awoke to find the room full of gas. He staggered from the house after opening windows and asked a neighbor to call a doctor. He then collapsed and was taken to hospital.

Mrs. Blakely, their two children, Donald, 8 and Bernice, 11, and James Ridley, 75, father of Mrs. Blakely were all well enough to remain at home.

Endowment Fund Probe Opens To-day

WINNIPEG, Sept. 26 (C.P.).—Inquiry into the shortages in the endowment funds of the University of Manitoba will get under way at once. To-day the Cabinet is in session drafting its instructions to the board of inquiry which is to make the investigation.

The first meeting of the board will take place to-morrow when the members, Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal, Dr. Walter C. Murray, president of the University of Saskatchewan, and C. C. K. Nourse will receive their instructions and lay out the course of the investigation.

The shortages occurred under the regime of John A. Machray, K.C., as bursar and chairman of the Board of Governors. Machray was sentenced to seven years in penitentiary last week for theft of $500,000 from the University.

Large Fish Hawk Is Shot Near Lang

An Osprey, commonly known as a Fish Hawk, measuring five feet, four inches from wing-tip to wing-tip, was shot Saturday at noon near Lang. Albert Wallbridge, an elderly man living half a mile from Lang, brought the bird down on the wing with a shotgun, the hawk dropping into Indian river, but was recovered. It was flying fifty or sixty feet up when spied and the first shot took it in the breast.

The bird was dark brown on the back, light head and nack and white underneath. It had a long hooked beak and inch-long curved talons, needle-sharp. It had been seen around that district for several days. Such a bird is a rarity in these parts and excited much interest when shown in The Examiner this morning.

SUDDEN DEATH OF FARMER IS INVESTIGATED

Simcoe County Farmer Dies Shortly After Eating Supper.

POISONING FEARED.

Foul Play is Also Suggested—Autopsy is Ordered.

BARRIE, Ont., Sept. 26.—(CP)—High County Constable H. T. Hammer of the local detachment of the provincial police left Barrie at noon today to investigate the mysterious sudden death yesterday of William Coon, 53-year-old Tecumseh township farmer, between Beeton and Schomberg, after he had gone out to the barn to do his chores.

Cook was believed to have died from strychnine poisoning and foul play was suggested. Together with Provincial Constable John Page, Alliston, Constable Hammer will make a survey of sources in the vicinity of Beeton where strychnine might have been obtained by Coon or by some other person.

Coroner Dr. K. A. Cummings, Bond Head, after conducting a preliminary investigation with Chief Constable Daniel W Watson, Beeton, ordered an inquest be held. A jury was empanelled last night, and after viewing the remains adjourned until next Saturday.

Turned Over To Provincials

The Beeton Chief Constable turned the investigation over to the provincial police and they commenced their inquiry today.

Coon's stomach and its contents were ordered sent to Toronto for analysis by Professor Jocelyn Rogers and examination by Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico legal expert under the attorney general's department. The result of this analysis will be divulged at the inquest.

Provincial police state that Coon complained to his son of feeling dizzy a few minutes after he had gone to the barn to do the chores. Assisted back to the house, Coon collapsed. Dr. Kay, Schomberg who was called, found the stricken man at the point of death. The coroner was summoned but Coon had died before he arrived. Coon had been in good health and was not despondent. He had put in a hard day's work threshing on Saturday.

Crown Attorney F. G. Evans said no charges had yet been contemplated. It was learned Coon ate porridge for breakfast but had taken only three teaspoonfulls before complaining it tasted bitter. His wife, it was understood, had not touched hers following Coon's complaint.

$30,000 HOME BURNS

OAKVILLE. — The $30,000 residence of W. Harland Smith near here was destroyed by fire to-day.

Oakville, Bronte and Port Credit fire departments stood helplessly by as the fine old building burned. Insufficient water rendered their efforts futile.

Mr. Smith, his housekeeper and two male employes succeeded in saving most of the valuable furniture and pictures.

CANADIAN BOAT IN HARMSWORTH RACE NEXT YEAR

Orillia Sportsmen Form Syndicate to Have Try at World Laurels.

HAWKER DESIGNER, PILOT.

Miss England III Not for Sale Canadian Engine, Materials for New Craft.

ORILLIA, Ont., September 26 (C.P.). — E. Webb, Orillia contractor, announced to-day a syndicate of Orillia sportsmen had been formed to enter a boat in next year's Harmsworth Trophy races for the competitive speed boat championship of the world.

Webb's announcement said Bert Hawker, Gravenhurst designer, had completed drawings for a Miss Canada I., which he will pilot himself in an attempt to win for the British Empire the trophy which Gar Wood, Detroit ace designer and driver, has held for many years.

Hawker, who drove a sensational but losing race in Miss Betty Carstair's entry a few years ago, will superintend building of Miss Canada, Webb said. The boat, he added, will be built of Canadian material by Canadian workmen, and will be powered with a Canadian engine.

Tried to Buy Miss England III.

Webb said the Orillia attempt to take the prized trophy with its own boat was a sequel to unsuccessful attempts by the syndicate to buy Kaye Don's boat Miss England III. after her unsuccessful race a few weeks ago.

The Orillia syndicate, Webb said, will try to carry on the work of Lord Wakefield who had sponsored British efforts for many years.

SAYS KILLING UNNECESSARY

Halifax Man States He Asked Police to Arrest Victim on Charge of Theft.

TOLD TO KEEP QUIET.

HALIFAX Sept. 26. (CP)—In a sworn affidavit published by the Halifax Daily Star, to-day, Abraham Fried declared that if police had arrested Freckleton on information given by Fried, the attempted bank holdup at Shubenacadie and consequent gun-battle in which Freckleton lost his life, could have been averted at least seven hours before the fatal shooting on Tuesday, August 23.

Fried swore in his affidavit that Detective Stevenson, of the city police force, had phoned him that morning to "keep his mouth shut and good results would be obtained later in the day."

Fried is on the staff of H. Goldman, dealer in mens and ladies' wear in the Roy building. When he came to the office on Tuesday morning, according to the affidavit, he found that goods to the value of $125 had been stolen during the night. He immediately notified the city police and told them he suspected Freckleton, identified with the Rosa Dress Shoppe in the same building. On the information he gave, said fried, the police could have arrested Freckleton on a charge of breaking, entering and theft at least seven hours before the bank robbery was attempted at Shubenacadie that afternoon.

One Killed, Four Hurt At Flaming Oil Well

MT. PLEASANT, Mich., Sept. 26 (C.P.).—After an all-night and half-day battle, workmen last night had quelled the flaming reed No. 4 oil well, 13 miles east of here, which caught fire late Saturday, causing one death and serious injuries to four other persons.

Walter Miller, 28, died six hours after being trapped in the fire.

The fire is believed to have started from an engine spark, which ignited a gas blanket.

REV. DR. RIGBY BEEN ORDAINED FOR 50 YEARS

110TH ANNIVERSARY.

Served Ten Years as Headmaster of Trinity College. Born in Liverpool.

PORT HOPE, Sept. 26.—Rev. Dr. Oswald Rigby, rector of St. Mark's Anglican Church here, celebrated on Sunday the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination, the event being marked by special services. Yesterday also marked the 110th anniversary of the church, which was build here in 1822, and is now the oldest church edifice between here and St. Mark's at Niagara-on-the Lake.

Large congregations filled the church for the morning and evening services at which Very Rev. I. W. B. Broughall, M.A., D.D., Dean of Niagara and rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton, was the special speaker. Rev. A. G. Emmet, rector of St. John's Church here, had charge of the 8 o'clock Communion service. Broughall is a former student of Dr. Rigby during the time he was headmaster at Trinity College School here. Dr. Rigby, to whom the occasion is one long to be remembered, is in his seventy-fourth year, and while under the doctor's care for a heart condition, his appearance would indicate he was in the best of health.

Born in Liverpool, he was educated at Liverpool College and at St. John's College, Cambridge, where he obtained his B.A. degree, graduating with honors in Theology in 1882. It was in this year that Dr Rigby received what he feels is the greatest distinction he has ever enjoyed, being made President of Cambridge Union. He was ordained at Ely Cathedral, England, on Sept. 24, 1882 ,and received his first appointment to St. Giles', Cambridge. At the same time he was a Cambridge University extension lecturer. In 1886 he was made master of choir school of St. John's, Torquay, and senior curate of the Church, and in 1891 he came to Canada as Professor of History at Trinity University, Toronto, and also acted as Dean of the College for twelve years.

In 1903 he assumed the headmastership of Trinity College School, Port Hope, and in the same year was given the honorary degree of LL.D. by Queen's University. He remained in this position until 1913, when he resigned and returned to England for a few months.

Returning in 1914 he was made Vicar of St. Bartholomew's Church, Toronto. In 1918 he was asked to return to Port Hope as rector of St. Mark's, a position he has held ever since that time.

Turkey has established a commission for centralizing all demands and offers in regard to purchases abroad by the government and semi-private institutions.

Canine Express

DUART, Ont., Sept. 26 (C.P.)—An interesting and instructive study in canine training was displayed here recently, when a woman passed through with a dog hitched to a small express wagon. A pair of shafts had been added to the vehicle, and ropes constituted the harness. In the wagon was enthroned a baby, and the mother walked behind, guiding the dog by word of mouth. The animal obeyed instructions explicitly, often glancing behind, apparently to make sure that the infant was still in its chariot.

BISHOP SWEENY BRINGS TO END TERM OF OFFICE

GREAT PROGRESS SEEN.

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—The tremor in his voice clearly indicated the deep emotion under which Most Rev. James F. Sweeny, D.D., Bishop of Toronto and Metropolitan of the Ecclesiastical Province of Ontario, approached his task yesterday morning of reading his farewell letter to the clergy and laity of the diocese. The Archbishop's term of office in the See concludes at the end of this month, and his farewell epistle was read by him from the pulpit of the Cathedral of St. Alban the Martyr, the church with which he has long been intimately associated and of which he is Dean.

The Archbishop regretted that God's will made it impossible for him to complete a quarter of a century as Bishop of Toronto; he has held the post for twenty-three years and six months.

Great Progress Seen

Since he was elevated to episcopal dignity, the venerable Archbishop declared, 123 churches, halls and schoolhouses had been opened; 185 priests and 152 deacons had been ordained; 200 clergy had been received from other dioceses; 227 clergy had left this diocese, and 97 had passed to their rest and reward; 60,986 candidates had been confirmed, swelling the number of communicants to a large degree. The Archbishop cited the many additions and improvements which had been made in the cathedral church in which he spoke, and paid tribute of Rev. F. C. Ward-Whate the priest vicar of St. Alban's, "so energetic and so accomplished," and stressed his appreciation of the congregation's faithfulness to Mr. Ward-Whate and to himself.

He urged the people to pray for the election of a successor in the Bishopric. "You will," he read from his letter, "I am sure, be praying earnestly in the interval between now and Oct. 25, the date set for the election, using in public worship and private devotion the prayer appointed in our Book of Common Prayer on page 53, 'during the vacancy of a See,' that God will choose a man after His own heart to carry on the duties of this office, making this historic diocese a praise in the Dominion.

Will Not Forget

"God forbid that I should cease to pray for you, and may I not hope for your continued prayers for me as well as for my successor," he concluded. "Rest assured that, God giving me health and strength, I shall be glad to help in the services of the church, if I am requested to do so. Finally, brethren, farewell. I commend you to God, and to the word of His grace which is able to build you up and to give

Peach Weighs 7 Ozs., Measures 9 Inches

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 26.—And still another peach story is to hand and it is doubtful if this one can be beaten. Recently John S. Smith of Campbellford harvested his peach crop from a seven year old tree, one that he started from a stone. Now it comes to light that apart from being an excellent crop, one of the fruit is more than the average. This peach weighs 7 ozs. and in circumference at the widest point is exactly 9 inches. This is surely a record for a first crop.

STUDENT FLIER DROPS TO DEATH

DURING AIR MEET.

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask., Sept. 26.—Hurled 2,000 feet to his death when the parachute with which he was making his first earthward plunge failed to open, Charlie F. Winters, 26-year-old Wilkie flying student, died in Notre Dame Hospital here from injuries received at the Municipal Airport just one hour earlier.

The tragedy occurred at dusk last night at the end of a local air meet. Two previous jumps had been made successfully.

When the Wilkie youth donned the parachute he was instructed as to packing and operating the device by George Bennett, Camp Borden instructor, who is touring the country and giving parachute instruction under the association of flying clubs of Canada.

Winters was taken up in a Moth plane piloted by Angus Campbell, a visiting pilot from Saskatoon, and at 2,000 feet jumped out.

Flying Officer S. R. Bell was among the first to reach the crumpled body and found the youth still alive. He also discovered the parachute had come from its packing with the pull of the ring. Bu the reason for its failure to open was not apparent.

CLAIMS EARTH IS SOLID MASS

Japanese Scientist Says Interior Harder Than Steel—May Solve Mystery.

NO LIQUID CORE.

(By F. B. Colton, C.P. Science Writer.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (A.P.)—If new discoveries reported by Dr. Akitsune Imamura, Japanese scientist, are substantiated, according to Captain N. H. Heck of the U.S. Coast Survey, they will establish that the earth is solid as a billiard ball and does not have a liquid core.

Dr. Imamura, as quoted in Tokyo despatches, said his study of transmission of earthquake waves through the earth showed its interior is not liquid but two and one-half times "harder" than steel.

If Dr. Imamura's discoveries are borne out, it helps clear up a sort of scientific paradox, Capt. Heck said. There was reason to believe the earth's core must be solid, but past studies of earthquake waves indicated it was liquid.

Scientists believed the core was liquid because oen type of earthquake waves known as "S" waves which will not pass through liquids apparently did not pass through the core. Dr. Imamura now reports he has found that "S" waves do pass through it.

The earth's core is about 4,000 miles thick, half the total thickness of the earth, and is believed to be composed of iron and nickel.

BRITISH CABINET GIVES APPROVAL

Raja Gopa Chariar, acting President of the Indian National Congress, announced the observance by Hindus of a "Gandhi week" beginning to-morrow and ending on the Mahatma's birthday, October 2. The week would be devoted, he said, to the removal of the caste discriminations against the untouchables.

Although physicians told Gandhi yesterday he would be unable to recover unless he took food soon, he solemnly declared he would suspend his death fast only if the compromise plan were approved by Prime Minister MacDonald at London. His voice then was barely audible.

He was also capable, he said, of presenting an ultimatum to his own people, but he added that the "tremendous awakening" of the country in the past five days filled him with hope that Hinduism would rid itself of "the canker of untouchability."

BRANTFORD MEN WELL SATISFIED WITH NEW LAND

Three Brantford Families Have Already Started Building Homes.

BEYOND GREAT DIVIDE.

Men Were Sent North Under Government's Back-to land Scheme.

Some idea of the trials five Peterborough families will face when they leave shortly to take up land in Northern Ontario under the Government's "back-to-the-land" scheme may be gleaned from a letter received from three Brantford men who are now building cabins beyond the Great Divide. The men were sent out from Brantford under the scheme. The writer is William Osmun and his letterf ollows:

"Just a few lines to let you know that I have landed on the other side of the Great Divide where the clear blue water runs north and you can see the northern lights shine and dance all night with all of the colors of the rainbow" Mr. Osmun writes. "We are located together on the 10th concession of Clute township, one mile from the Frederick House river, which is about one-half mile in width. Sturgeon are quite plentiful in the river.

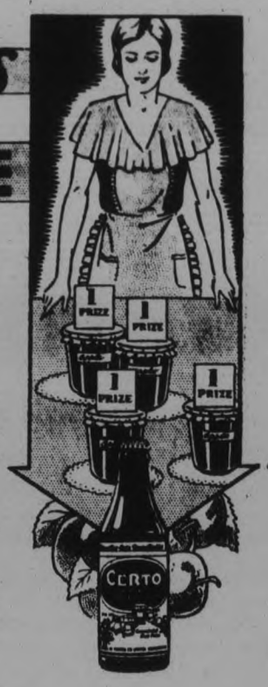
"I have 150 acres here" Mr. Osmun continues. "It was taken up some time ago by some person and 25 to 31 acres are fairly well cleared. There is just some poplar brush on it. A nice stream, about the size of Kettle Creek, and called Beaver Creek, runs along the east side of the property. I have a place cleared for my house, and we have the rafters and sills cut for the three houses. I have about one-quarter of the logs cut for mine.

Believe it or not, we picked raspberries and blueberries on Sunday. There is any amount of strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, wild gooseberries and cherries on our lots.

"We need a .22 rifle or a shotgun as all kinds of game is available, including prairie chickens and partridge. We have to go about 40 miles for deer and moose."

Mr. Osmun also suggests that if there are potatoes going to waste locally a few bags placed in the household furniture when it is shipped north, would be appreciated. The letter is signed "The Three Horsemen" and ends with "This is Beaver Ranch signing off."

She Won 4 firsts for JELLY AND MARMALADE



"LAST FALL I took 4 First Prizes in jelly and marmalade," writes Mrs. Norman Carter, Seaforth, Ont. . . . "I like Certo for jellies—short boiling gives them a milder flavour because the fruit does not need so much boiling down and the fresh flavour is retained."

Death Claims Wife Of Canon H. J. Cody

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—(C.P.) — Florence Louisa Cody, wife of Canon H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto, died early today after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Cody had been afflicted with heart trouble since the drowning of her son, Maurice, five years ago.

Married to Canon Cody in 1894, she was the daughter of the late H. E. Clarke, former M. L. A. for West Toronto, who died while making an address in the Ontario Legislature.

Mrs. Cody was president of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's church, for the past 33 years, and was a clever organist as well as being a sincere worker in parish interests.

WET WEATHER HITS HARVEST

Manitoba Practically Done—25 Per Cent. Out in Alberta, Saskatchewan.

SNOW IN PARTS.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 26 (C.P.).—For the second successive time a rainy week-end has brought grief to Western farmers. Heavy showers over the greater part of the three Prairie Provinces and a dash of snow at Swift Current, Sask., made up the week-end weather budget.

To-day the prospects are scattered showers in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and clearing skies in Alberta.

Intermittent wet weather has proved a severe handicap to cleaning up harvesting and threshing operations. While Manitoba's crop is practically all harvested and threshed, about 25 per cent. of this work remains to be done in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

If good weather follows work should be under way again by Tuesday or Wednesday, but the quality of the grain remaining in the fields is bound to be seriously impaired.

Arrested at Alton, England, on the charge of wandering without visible means of subsistence, a man proved to the judge that he was a hiker on vacation and was discharged.

Why do Doctors Check Kidneys First?

Because they know that healthy Kidneys remove from the blood the waste matter formed by the ever-changing human body as it decays and rebuilds itself. But if the Kidneys fail — the system is poisoned and illness surely follows. As a health safeguard—as a wise precaution—flush your kidneys regularly every three weeks with Dodd's Kidney Pills — for over three generations the favorite Kidney tonic and remedy — non-habit forming—free from drugs. 25?

FASHION SERVICE

Here's a clever little frock favoring the smart idea of contrast so popular with the grown-ups this season. It can be made with long or short sleeves, just as you please.

Two shades of wool crepe is an excellent scheme for its development. Its inspirator combined tobacco-brown with orangy-red.

Style No. 3272 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1¾ yards of 39-inch material with 1 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Mock Chicken a la King
Baked Potatoes
Fresh Pear Salad Apricot Cream Pie
Tea or Coffee

This mock chicken a la king is as delicious as the real chicken dish. Tuna fish is advertised as the "chicken of the sea" you recall. The apricot pie is an all-year-'round dish, as canned or fresh apricots may be used.

To-day's Recipes.

Mock Chicken a la King—Two cups mushrooms (one can) one can peas, one large can tuna fish, one quart milk, pinch salt. Break tuna fish into small particles with fork. Then cut mushrooms into small pieces. Put mushrooms, peas, tuna fish and quart of milk into pan and cook until milk boils. Then thicken with flour and water.

Apricot Cream Pie—To an ordinary cream pie filling add quarter pound of apricots which have been stewed. Beat the mixture well, fill pie shell, cover with meringue and brown in a hot oven. The result is different and delicious.

WARKWORTH ALLOWED TO EXTEND BOUNDARIES

WARKWORTH, Sept. 26.— (Examiner Correspondence.)— Messrs. B. Buchanan, James A. Armstrong and C. O. Dudley, police village commissioners, were a delegation to the Municipal Board of Ontario at Cobourg on Friday and were granted their application for the extension of the police village boundaries.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

IT IS A JOY to drive out into the surrounding countryside at this fall season and find the roadside stalls with their stock of tempting and colorful vegetables and fruit—and to select enough for the next day or two.

• • • • • • •

I wonder how many of you housewives in Peterborough secure your vegetables in this way, or would you rather just go to the corner grocery for your supplies?

• • • • • • •

Of course, you have to pick your place of buying. Some of them have products of a much better quality than others. And one finds among the many different vegetables, such tempting ones as the yellow crooked-neck squash, long thin green cucumbers, and big red beefsteak tomatoes.

• • • • • • •

• • • • • • •

Either the green or yellow is delicious cut in slices, dipped in flour or batter and dried in deep fat or sauted as you cook eggplant.

• • • • • • •

Or it may be cooked tender—seeds and all, I am told, and served with large quanitties of good, melted butter.

• • • • • • •

Some persons like cucumbers steamed and served the same way.

• • • • • • •

Green peppers, too, are plentiful just now, and make such good luncheon dishes when stuffed with a highly flavored mixture of rice, macaroni, or breadcrumbs, or with a mixture of corn and tomatoes.

• • • • • • •

A little cheese sprinkled over the top or a strip of bacon makes this even more appetizing.

• • • • • • •

These are the days when vegetables should be used as liberally as possible. Don't try to resist a bargain, as you can find a different use for it for many meals.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

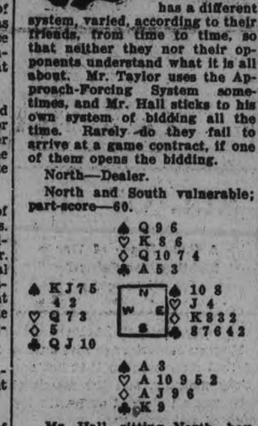
296

MR. TAYLOR'S SLAM CONTRACT

There are Contract players who always add the spice of the dramatic and the sauce of the spectacular to their bidding. Two of these — so a correspondent tells me — are Messrs. Tommy Hall and Gordon Taylor, favorite partners, who play at the National Club, Toronto, Canada. Each has a different system, varied, according to their friends, from time to time, so that neither they nor their opponents understand what it is all about. Mr. Taylor uses the Approach-Forcing System sometimes, and Mr. Hall sticks to his own system of bidding all the time. Rarely do they fail to arrive at a game contract, if one of them opens the bidding.

North—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable; part-score—60.



Mr. Hall, sitting North, having an Ace, a King and two Queens, made a typical bid of one notrump. Mr. Taylor modestly responded with two hearts, this being sufficient for game and rubber. Mr. Hall, holding three of his partner's hearts to the King, bid three hearts, and Mr. Taylor accepted the Slam invitation by bidding six hearts.

The conversation: Mr. Taylor (when Dummy's hand went down): "— — — — — —!"

Mr. Hall: "Well, how did I know we had sixty on? I'm not keeping score. Anyway, I didn't ask you to bid a Slam."

The Play: The club Queen was opened, won by South, followed by two more rounds of clubs, the third being ruffed by South; then the Ace and a low heart were led, won by Dummy with the King. The diamond Queen followed, and Mr. Taylor was quite perceptibly happier when the King was located in the right place. On the succeeding three leads of diamonds, West discarded three low spades, but to no avail, as he was thrown in with a heart and forced to lead away from the spade King. Mr. Hall's system was again vindicated!

"Well, Gordon, what's the matter with that bidding? Would you arrive at a Slam with your Culbertson System?"

Mr. Taylor, with becoming modesty, pointed out that the Slam might have been defeated, but for the fact that the trumps were divided 3-2; that West had only three clubs; that East held the King of diamonds; that West had both the third trump and the King of spades, and that South played the hand to perfection by ruffing a club on the third trick.

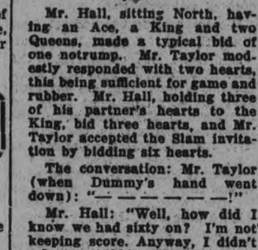
TODAY'S POINTER

The success of an inaccurately bid contract should not encourage the player to believe that the fates will always be kind. Small Slams should be bid when the chance of success or failure is about even. A sure game should not be sacrificed for a greater uncertainty.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

There doesn't seem to be much trouble meeting expenses—one meets them everywhere.

Facts And Fancies

Melba Luncheon Toast

Cut bread very thin and trim crusts. Arrange on a baking sheet and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees Fahrenheit) until light brown.

Melba Tea Toast

Butter bread on the loaf, slice thin and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) until brown at the edges of the slices. Crusts are usually not trimmed for this type of toast.

Pineapple Ice Box Cake

One-fourth cup butter, three-fourths cup powdered sugar, one egg, three teaspoons cream, one-half-pint whipping cream, one-half cup nuts, one-half cup crushed pineapple (drained), 14 graham crackers. Cream butter and sugar. Add unbeaten egg and cream. Beat hard. Fold in whipped cream, nuts and pineapple. Roll crackers fine. Alternate with crackers and pudding mixture in filling the pudding dish, having cracker crumbs on bottom and top. Chill in ice box for 24 hours. Serve with whipped cream.

Coming to Capitol

MADAM HALE MILLER

Toronto stylist who will appear at the evening performance at the Capitol theatre on Thursday. Madam Miller has recently returned from the big style show in New York and she will tell Peterborough's lady population just what is what in fall styles.

Annual Conference Women's Auxiliary

Members of the branches of the Women's Auxiliary in the Peterborough Deanery are to hold their annual conference at St. George's church on Wednesday of this week. The day's proceedings will commence with the service of holy communion at 10.30 a.m. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. W. J. Creighton, rector of Lakefield.

Special speakers at the afternoon session, which opens at 1:30 p.m., will be the Rev. Canon Simmons, D.D., missionary from the diocese of Honan, China; and Miss Violet Summerhayes, of Toronto, diocesan corresponding secretary. Canon Simmons who is soon to return to his diocese, was honoured on Wednesday last by Trinity College, Toronto, when the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him.

The speakers of the afternoon session will be heard again in the evening, when members of the Junior, Teen Age Girls, and Evening branches will hold their Deanery Conference at 7.30.

The delegates will be the guests of St. George's and St. Mark's, Otonabee branches of the Women's Auxiliary.

Regimental Chapter Plans On Activities

The 57th Regiment Chapter I. O. D. E. held their regular meeting in the armouries Friday afternoon with Regent Mrs. T. W. H. Young, presiding. After the opening ceremonies, the secretary, Mrs. F. Miller read numerous letters of correspondence from headquarters, stressing the importance of increased activities for the coming year, both to meet local needs and to establish an endowment fund. The educational secretary urged the value of studying subjects, fostering patriotism and current events in Chapter work. A provincial meeting is to be held in Lindsay on Oct. 20 and 21 and the chapter decided to arrange for several car loads to attend if possible.

Mrs. Sharp for the sick and visiting committee reported 89 visits made during the holiday season. Five applications for membership were received and approved and the applicants will be warmly welcomed at the next meeting. Several ideas for raising funds for the ensuing year were discussed and it was decided to continue with the monthly afternoon bridge parties. The first of the season to be held on Friday, October 11.

Mrs. J. S. Fanning kindly consented to act as relief convenor. It was decided to send magazines to isolated families in the Northern and Western Districts of Canada. The regent gave a splendid report of the picnic held by the chapter at Mrs. W. Gordon Hall's summer home and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Hall for their generous hospitality. She also referred to the dedication service held at Little Lake cemetery on June 3rd and brought messages of thanks from Col. Everett and members of the regiment and Canadian Legion.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Car Takes to Ditch; 2 Women, Boy Hurt

AILSA CRAIG, Ont., September 26 (C.P.). — Two London women and a 13-year-old boy were injured last night in an automobile accident on No. 7 Highway, four miles west of Ailsa Craig. The injured are: Mrs. James McLeod, Edward Street, Mrs. George Warner, 113 Edward Street, and her son Selwyn. Mrs. McLeod suffered only a severe shaking up, Mrs. Warner severe facial cuts, and the boy deep cut on the head and face.

The steering wheel is believed to have locked, and the machine failed to make a turn. The car was ditched, and the occupants were showered with flying glass.

MADAM MILLER COMING TO CITY

Toronto Stylist Will Outline in Capitol Theatre New Styles for Women.

THURSDAY NEXT.

Madam Miller, Toronto stylist, is coming to the city this week to give a style talk at the Capitol Theatre, on Thursday, September 29th, evening performance under auspices of the Canadian Department Stores.

Madam Hale Miller is a favorite wherever she goes, and her charming personality and sound judgment in the matter of styles for women will make her visit one of the fashion events of the autumn season.

She has just returned from the big fashion shows in New York city and comes prepared to talk about what every woman wants to know—"What is new in styles for women this Fall?"

Madam Miller goes further than the usual style lecturer in that she devotes every minute of her time during her stay, to the interest of those who wish to take advantage of her style knowledge. She gives personal interviews and advice on clothes to wear, the lines, color and design suitable for individual types.

Weddings

WILSON—VAIR

"Earlston Place," the picturesque home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Vair, Glenburnie, Kingston, was the setting at high noon on Saturday for one of the loveliest autumn weddings, when their only daughter, Harriet Smirle, became the bride of Herbert Arthur Wilson, B.A., of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harte Wilson of Peterborough formerly of Prince Albert, Sask. The Rev. Dr. J. W. Stephen, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. John Patterson of Inverary were the officiating clergymen.

The lovely bride, in her wedding gown of ivory satin made on long princess lines, with puff sleeves and and made long to the wrists, with veil arranged in cap effect with a half circlet of orange blossoms and carrying a shower bonquet of Butterfly roses, with court train falling from the shoulders, was given in marriage by her father and entered the drawing room to the strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Carey Lee of Keewatin. The ceremony was performed in the deep window arch of the drawing room, which was banked with tall standards of palms, ferns and gladioli, and took place exactly where the father and mother of the bride were married. The matron of honor, Mrs. Herbert Young of Peterborough, cousin of the bride, wore a lovely frock of shell pink lace with contrasting hat of Ciel blue felt with touches of pale pink ribbon, and blue shoes. She carried a mixed bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium. Mr. Lorne McLean of Toronto was best man.

Mrs. R. J. Vair, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of Georgian blue lace and a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Wilson, mother of the bridegroom, was becomingly attired in black lace and wore deep pink roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the dining room, which was artistically arranged with quantities of early autumn flowers. The bride's table, especially lovely in a color scheme of pink and white, was centered with the wedding cake, in a base of pale pink tulle and surmounted on either side by tiny pink rosebuds in silver stands. Baby's breath and a single rose graced the top of the cake.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left on an extended motor trip to New York and Atlantic City, the bride travelling in a smart frock of brown corded silk over which she wore a brown pressed suede coat trimmed with beaver, small brown hat, with shoes and accessories to match.

After the departure of the bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Vair held a reception at their home for the wedding guests and friends of the bride who had an opportunity of viewing the many handsome gifts. On their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside in Peterborough.

The out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. John Harte Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Young, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Macdonald, Mr. Philip Morton and Mr. Stewart Ainslee, all of Peterborough; Mr. Lorne McLean, Mrs. George aPtterson, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Preston and Miss Marion McKay, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. John White, of Montreal; Judge and Mrs. McLean, of Picton; Miss Joan Reid of Prince Albert, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Sayer and Mrs. Warren Keyes of Warwick, N.Y.; Miss Belle Waggoner of Brooklyn, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phelan and Mrs. Martha Cannon of Rochester, N.Y.

R. C. Sheriff, author of "Journey's End," will resume his studies at Oxford, England, next term.

THESSALON, Ont., Sept. 26.—(C.P.) — Manager McGuire of the Thessalon bank has given the natives something to talk about. When his sailboat overturned in a sudden squall, he came to the surface, straddled the bottom of the boat, still smoking the cigar he had lit just before he upset. The tug "Alligator" rescued him.

KAWARTHA CAMP SCENE OF PICNIC

Peterborough Branch of Engineering Institute Holds Delightful Picnic.

For the third year in succession the annual outing of Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada was held to Kawartha Camp, Stoney Lake on Saturday afternoon. Attended by about forty engineers and their guests, the event under the direction of B. Ottewell, chairman of the branch, was quite successful from every standpoint.

During the running-off of a sport program directed by D. V. Canning, the sky which had threatened rain, cleared up, and ideal weather conditions prevailed. Following the playing of a baseball game in which the single men beat the married men 2,118, the latter turned the tables by sheer weight of man power and pulled the bachelors across the line twice at tug o' war.

In a horseshoe pitching elimination contest J. Thornton and J. Cameron were the victorious finalists, beating out R. L. Dobbin and J. Turnbull 21-7.

Appetites keyed by the healthful exertion of outdoor sports, there were few of the party, if any, who did not welcome the dinner gong, and as the shades of evening were gathering they sat about the board and did justice to an excellent meal prepared by the camp staff. A large log blazed and crackled in the wide, open hearth and Doug. Loomis, the camp director personally supervised matters as he moved about in the cheery glow.

W. A. Logan provided after-dinner recitations which included "The Day I Played Baseball" after which Mr. Ottewell voiced the sentiments of the entire gathering when he expressed thanks to the directors of the Rotary Club for having again extended an invitation for the engineers to use the camp. Appropriately enough he called attention to the fact that J. Gillespie, chairman of the Rotary Camp Committee was present.

PAINFUL PILES

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Itching, bleeding, or protruding piles go quickly and don't come back if you really remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the lower bowel and hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and suppositories fail because only an internal medicine that stimulates the circulation and drives out the impure blood can actually correct the cause of piles. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in over 900 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store and druggists everywhere sell HEM-ROID Tablets with guarantee they will end your Pile misery or money back.

Are You Nervous?

St. Catharines, Ont. —"I seemed to be all nerves — did not feel at all well: in fact, I could not do a day's housework without feeling tired to death," said Mrs. William Roy of 1021 Josephine St. "Constant headache in the region of my eyes and forehead also sapped my strength. I felt so much better after taking one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription that I kept right on, and it strengthened me and rid me of that nervous condition. I advise any woman who is rundown to try it."

Mission Worker's Salary To Be Cut

TORONTO, Sept. 26 (C.P.)—The Dominion Board of the Church of England Women's Auxiliary had adjourned its annual meeting to-day after approving a general seven per cent salary cut for all mission workers in Canada.

The cut was for the purpose of bolstering the mission fund for Rupert's Land and elsewhere, depleted through defalcations at Winnipeg by John A. Machray, K.C.

A budget of $163,000 was approved. $93,000 will go for missionary work in Canada and the remainder for missions abroad.

SCHOOL FAIRS.

When Hon. Duncan Marshall spoke here several weeks ago he lamented the lack of sufficient facilities for the better education along agricultural lines of rural boys and girls.

There is one agency, however, that is playing an increasingly important part in providing such education, and in interesting the sons and daughters of Ontario farmers in agriculture.

The rural school fairs, becoming each year more popular, are undoubtedly doing a great deal to inspire country boys and girls to know more about farming and its possibilities, and the growth of this movement is a healthy sign.

A number of rural fairs have been held in this district recently, and in almost every case larger entry lists and a better quality of exhibits were in evidence, while the attendance has indicated that public interest in these school events is increasing each year.

These school fairs are contributing an important service, and they deserve the support of the communities in which they are held.

A RECORD YEAR.

With an all-Canadian final in the Canadian women's golf championship, the upward trend of Canadian golf is once more sharply indicated.

It is a remarkable circumstance that at the present time three of the four major amateur golf titles on this continent, the Canadian amateur, the United States amateur and the Canadian women's championship, are now held by Canadians, the only amateur championship not in the hands of Maple Leaf players being the United States women's title.

In addition, George S. Lyon, Toronto's "grand old man" of golf, recently won the United States senior championship, having the best medal score among the veterans of the continent.

This splendid showing, which saw the United States amateur championship captured for the first time by a Canadian, the women's title held safely against foreign invaders after five years of victory by outside competitors, and all foreign golfers eliminated from the Canadian amateur, makes 1932 a banner year in the history of the game in this country.

Such achievements will stimulate and encourage Canadian golfers everywhere to improve their game and to try their skill more often in first-class competition; this year's record shows that the game has made rapid strides in this country, and that there need be no misgivings as to the future of golf in the Dominion.

BETTER AUDITING NEEDED.

There is no doubt of the fact that the Machray case in Manitoba and the arrest of an Ontario Government employee on a charge of committing a long series of thefts has alarmed the public and created grave doubt as to the efficacy of the auditing system followed in connection with public funds.

In the former case it is difficult for the average man to understand how theft on such a huge scale and over such a long period of time could possibly go undetected by the auditors whose business it was to check the accounts.

The Globe says there seems to be two kinds of audits for public accounts—those which take place regularly to see that nothing goes wrong, and those held afterward to see why something went wrong. And the Toronto Journal adds: "Evidently a third kind is required as a substitute for the two others."

There does not seem to be any sense to a system that allows the looting of public and trust funds year after year without the losses being detected by the men whose duty it is to protect such funds.

The Machray case in particular is a ghastly indictment of the inefficiency and lack of vigilance of the auditing system followed in Manitoba, and it is fortunate for the Bracken Government that the revelation came after and not just before the provincial election.

INCOME TAXATION IN CANADA.

The Citizens' Research Institute has done an excellent service in publishing a study of income taxation in Canada, the report having been prepared because of the numerous changes and additions that have been made recently in the taxation field of the Dominion.

During the past year there has been a revision upwards in the rates of many of the principal taxation laws of the Dominion and the provinces, and in some cases taxation laws new to the province concerned have been enacted.

Alberta and Saskatchewan passed provincial income tax laws this year for the first time, so that the taxpayers in every province, except Quebec, are called upon to pay at least two income taxes.

Quebec citizens are more fortunate than their fellow-Canadians elsewhere, for in that province no income tax is levied for either provincial or municipal purposes, a condition that is in sharp contrast with the attitude of other provincial governments, for during 1932, as has been pointed out, two the prairie provinces introduced provincial income taxes and British Columbia, by lowering exemptions and increasing the rates, has boosted its income taxation.

Noting this situation, the Institute's bulletin remarks that the policy of "soaking the rich" which is sometimes advocated seems to have reached the ultimate under the combined Dominion and provincial income taxes in some of the provinces.

Is such a policy likely to breed initiative?

Does it produce results even so far as the desire of governments to obtain revenue is concerned?

Are not such rates likely to bring about in the end decreased rather than increased revenues?

A PECULIAR TYPE OF CITIZENSHIP.

It seems a peculiar thing that Communists who were sentenced to serve sentences in prison for participation in May Day disturbances in Northern Quebec mining districts are strenuously objecting to deportation at the end of their term and are appealing to the Minister of Immigration, the Hon. W. A. Gordon. It seems strange that men who are so dissatisfied with Canada that they instigate riotous disturbances, and advocate revolutionary methods against organized society, are so anxious to stay in the country. This is particularly true of those immigrants who come from Russia and other central European countries.

One would naturally suppose that men who are so dissatisfied with conditions in the Dominion would be glad to have free transportation back to their native lands. Whether they are willing or not, the department will be well advised if it insists on their deportation. The chief difficulty in the way of carrying out the order for deportation is that the countries from which they come are not anxious for their return, and very substantial proof has to be furnished regarding the places of their nativity.

If these men, who were so prone to raise disturbances, wished to stay in the country they should have remained obedient to the laws and proved themselves to be desirable citizens. Canada has no room for Communists, Anarchists or members of similar organizations whose chief endeavor it is to destroy the existing order rather than to strengthen and build up. No mistake will be made in energetically carrying out the orders for the deportation of all undesirables. It is well that Canada should be known as a country noted for its good citizenship, and where those who wish to remain within its borders must keep the laws and practice its ideals of citizenship.—Brantford Expositor.

THE GREATEST SHORT STORY.

J. V. McAree, writing in the Mail and Empire, replied to a question from a reader who asked to what Bible story Mr. McAree referred as the greatest of all short stories. The answer was: "The story to which we referred was the Parable of the Prodigal Son."

We are inclined to agree with that selection, because it qualifies under two heads; it is great and it is short. Although it runs along for greater length, the entire story is told in Luke 15, from the 11th to the 22nd verses. Were it printed in a newspaper today it would occupy about a quarter of a column.

We doubt if there is a writer in existence today who could pack so much of youthful desire, wanderlust, failure and disappointment on the part of the young man into so small a space. Nor do we regard it as possible that a modern writer could, with so few strokes of the pen, or with such little tapping on a typewriter, so thoroughly disclose the feelings of the father. In one verse there is laid bare the manner in which the father had been carrying on while the boy was away. It comes in these words: "But when he was yet a great way off his father saw him. . . ." Often have we thought the old gentleman had spent a good many hours looking down the road which the boy would have to use were he going to return. A good many times he had looked and turned back heavy of heart, but on this one particular day, he saw him, and he ran. Whether it was his custom to do so we have no idea, but rather do we incline toward the belief that running would be a little out of line. We take it that he went down that road faster than he had moved about in a long period; the old limbs were moved to a measure of acrobatic exuberance which the inroad of years could not suppress.

But there we are using words and more words trying to explain the beauty of a parable whose grandeur is its simplicity. That is what convinces us a writer of to-day could not duplicate the story of the Prodigal Son in the same number of words. Quite certain we are that if the average city editor fell upon that story to-day he would want pictures; he would desire an itemized account of what the younger son was given when he went away; he would call for a human interest story of how he happened to spend his cash, and of his own reaction (we don't like that word) when he found he was down and out and fit for the relief line. There would have to be an interview with the father, another picture of father and son shaking hands, or whatever it was they did in that land, and of course there would have to be a map with a dotted line showing the direction taken by the son on the way home. He would probably be referred to as a hitch-hiker. It is quite easy to see where the editor of 1932 could make a swell layout with pictures and story covering an entire page, and yet it would fall miserably to measure up to the story as it is related in the 15th chapter of Luke. We're inclined to vote along with Mr. McAree that it is the greatest short story.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

And now clear the decks for that sporting classic, the world's series.

South Huron has only one more week of electioneering to put up with before the electors say it with votes.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson lost his voice during his trip to Northern Ontario, which is just about the same as Babe Ruth losing his batting eye or Lefty Grove having his pitching arm cut off.

The announcement by Hon. Honore Mercier that 20,000 men will be employed in Quebec lumber camps this winter makes cheery reading. Renewed activity in the woods should materially lessen unemployment.

Speaking of Premier Henry's recent statement to the hotelmen, the Border Cities Star says that it is to be doubted if any public man ever got off a "fogier" utterance on an important public question.

Startling thought: If people stopped drinking liquor Ontario would have to dig up $8,000,000 more somewhere.—Sault Daily Star.

If Hon. G. Howard Ferguson were free to express himself on Premier Henry's carry-and-quaff beer policy the Province might at least get a good laugh.—Toronto Globe.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Brisk buying hoisted wheat almost two cents a bushel largely as a result of augmented export business and of stock market strength.

Some overseas purchasing of United tSates hard winter wheat was noted, presumably Canada had disposed of 1,500,000 bushels abroad, partly to China. Domestic millers in many sections reported much improved demand for flour.

Spread Selling

Influenced by spread selling, selling from Winnipeg, Minneapolis and Kansas City, wheat reacted somewhat in the late dealings, but closed firm ⅝c to 1c above Friday's finish; corn ⅛c off to ¼c up; oats ⅛c to ¼c advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, September 26. — Steady purchases from Chicago helped wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange boost their values fractionally on Saturday. All months finished from ¼c to ⅝c stronger, though final quotations were substantially below the day's high marks.

The Chicago buying was the outcome of traders spreading Winnipeg market with Chicago buying Canadian October future against their own sales of September and Canadian May against their own corresponding contract.

Foreign news was encouraging to Canadian dealers, though profit-taking at Liverpool forced quotations down ¼d to ⅝d per hundred pounds on reports that Canadian offers in Europe were quite heavy.

Conditions in Argentina.

Reports from the Argentine indicated wheat growing conditions in the north were only "medium," while in other sections they were said to be "fair to good."

Despite a lack of shipping demand, buying continued to some extent in cash wheat. Offerings generally were light and No. 1 hard held its 1-cent premium over October future, while No. 1 Northern was quoted ½c better and the Nos. 3 and 4 Northern appeared ½c to ¾c closer to October contract.

Barley and oats were active in the coarse grains, but the demand generally was for Nos. 3 and 3 C. W. for export from the Atlantic Coast.

ALL OF US

A Cross Roads of War
Fighting Men Going By
It's All Long Ago

By Marshall Maslin

It seems centuries ago that I stood at that crossroads on that hot and sticky morning, and the march of men was all clouded over with the dust of unheroic war.

It seems so long ago and yet I see it clearly, as if I stood there now.

A division was going into the line. A division of boys, who knew nothing of war. Who did not know anything at all of what happened up there in the trenches, in the rat-ridden dugouts, in the oppressive, dull, miserable shambles of war.

I'd seen some of it; I knew what it was like . . . . They didn't. Neither they nor their officers. They'd been told, they'd read about it in books. But they couldn't really KNOW. One or two of them looked exultant. A few looked scared, not of dying, perhaps, but of how they'd act under the ghastly pressure of warfare . . . . I pitied those kids and I envied them, too. It's a good experience, in its way, to discover what you're really like, and to test yourself harshly in the company of your fellows.

And as the division went up another division came down. Other men, older, with a different look in their eyes. In light blue uniforms. . . . Men who'd been up there for years, and to whom this was an old and endless story. . . . I knew those fellows, too. I'd lived with them for months, and I knew all about them, what they thought about this war and how they felt about living and dying. Frenchmen who were my friends, who'd been my comrades for months and months.

One bunch going up to death, another bunch coming down to life. Tanks sputtering, trucks grinding, wagon wheels squeaking, airplanes roaring up and down the line and a battery of 75's letting go every few minutes on that little hill, and an Austrian whiz-bang dropping too close for comfort in a nearby field. . . . I knew them. I wasn't excited. None of those boys were heroes to me. Even if they died, they would not be heroes. They'd just be fellows who'd gotten a tough break. . . . I didn't think of them as anything but human being as a crossroads, moving up and coming down, doing their jobs, not thinking of themselves as heroes. Not any more than I did.

It's long ago. The dust has cleared away. The crossroads are quiet. The fields are cultivated and the harvest is on them. But I still remember that hot and noisy morning. Still it's a part of me, as it is a part of every other man who has known such a crossroads as that.

Judy leaned against the wall. She felt faint. The operator had said Dick was no longer connected with station WAOA! It was a mistake. Everybody liked Dick. He'd be there as long as he wanted to be. But the chill rose in her heart. The Burdette girl had said she'd make trouble, and the blond girl and Elton Day both said Lona Burdette could always make trouble. And Elton Day had laughed with—out any real amusement, as at something too comic to contemplate quietly, just a few minutes ago, after he said, "I love you."

The telephone rang sharply, once again. Judy heard Mrs. Malone calling, "Judy, will you answer it, please?"

"Yes," Judy said. "Yes—hello. Oh! Dick! I tried to call you! At the station! Dick, they said you weren't there any more! They said—

"Yes, Judy. They said I wasn't there any more. And of course you didn't know anything about it. Oh, of course not!"

He was aughing, with an ugly note of anger, of disgust, in his voice.

"Oh, I'm sure you didn't know, Judy. Well—I just called to say that I've always known a person couldn't afford to help anybody around a radio studio. But I forgot. Long enough to give you and Elton Day a chance to—"

"Dick! Dick! I don't know what you're talking about! Dick! What's wrong? You sound so—so different. You—tell me—tell me what's wrong. I don't understand."

He was laughing. A boy's sick, broken laughter. The laughter of a boy who, trusting deeply, has found his trust meant nothing.

"I'll not be seeing you again," he said then. "But I'm sure you won't mind that. So good-by."

He hung up.

* * *

Judy stared at the telephone in her hands. Then, slowly, she put the phone back on the table.

The landlady stood in the doorway. "Who was it, Judy?"

"It was Dick Mason."

"Oh," the landlady dimpled. "Nice boy, Dick. I hope you wont mind my saying it, Judy. But I couldnt help noticing how—well, how much you and Dick have been together. And I'm awfully glad, Judy. You're just made for each other. You ought to be happy— And—Why, Judy, you're crying!"

Judy did not even hear her. She climbed the stairs, slowly, blindly. She found the door to her room, and she entered.

She was there silent, staring out of the window through dry and heart-sick eyes, when Elsie came home, a long time later, to tell her the rest of the story of what had happened to Dick Mason.

* * *

Elsie entered quietly, and for some time she said nothing, only watched Judy, only moved a little nearer, then sat down and waited. Until at last Judy said, "Well, Elsie?"

"You heard about Dick?"

"Yes, I heard."

"He called you?"

"Yes."

"What did he say?"

"That he wouldn't be seeing me any more. And that he should have known better than to help anybody. That's all."

"Didn't he explain at all, Judy?"

"No."

"Then you don't know what happened?"

"I know it was something about the station. And Elton Day had been here, just before, talking about something without saying what it was. But that's all, Elsie."

"Dick lost his job."

"What?" Judy started up, moved restlessly. Stood looking down at Elsie, who seemed complacent, as untouched, as though her words had meant nothing at all. "What, Elsie? You don't—It's wrong! There's a mistake! Dick couldn't lose his job. He's the best announcer they've got."

"He lost his job," Elsie repeated. "Lost it this morning. Thats what they called him down to the station for. Billy's down there now to find out where Dick's going and what it's all about. Billy's going to come back soon as he can, or call me. But, Judy! You didn't have anything to do with it?"

"I—" Judy gasped. "Elsie. You think I was to blame for it? You think I said something, or did something, or—"

Elsie said nothing.

* * *

Suddenly Judy felt a new terror. Whatever she was supposed to have done, she knew she was not to blame. Yet first Dick, now Elsie, seemed to take it for granted she deliberately had set out to ruin him. To ruin Dick! It was soprecposterous, it was so unfair, that suddenly she burst into hysterical laughter. It had been coming for a long while, that hysteria; ever since the first words Elton Day said.

Now she rocked back and forth, tears coming from her eyes. Yet she laughed, a laugh as bitter, as empty, as self-amused as Elton Day's. Until Elsie, frightened now, caught her roughly by the shoulders, shook her violently, saying, "Judy! Stop it! Stop!" Still Judy laughed. Then all of a sudden her laughter stopped.

She sat quietly, staring.

Elsie began the story, speaking in laconic, broken sentences.

"What you told me about that mix-up over the audition—that got around until finally the story got to Dick's boss. And there wasn't any alibi. Dick didn't even know what was up at first when they asked him about it, I guess. Because they asked if he helped you in the audition, and he said, "Yes, of course. And what if I did?" He didn't even know till somebody told him, after it was all over and he was already fired. They said it was because he faked an audition for you, got the operator to help. The operator—"

Judy started up.

"That operator knew better. Elton Day put him in that control room. Not Dick. Dick didn't even know anything about him."

* * *

Elsie said, "Never mind. That's what Billy went down there for. You remember—Billy was in the control room first, checking up the channels, he calls them, when you first got there with Dick?"

"Yes."

"Well, the way Billy got it from one of the other men at the station, the story was that Billy helped Dick fix the channels that way. The operator who was on the audition swore he didn't change a thing. Says he understood everything was all set and ready to go and just went right ahead. Says he noticed something funny, but it wasn't his business to change what the man in charge of the show had ordered. Says the man in charge of the show was Dick. And that's right. Elton wasn't on the show; he was with the client. So—"

"You mean I've make Dick lose his job, and maybe I've made Billy lose his job, too? You mean that Elsie?"

"Yes," Elsie said curtly. "Thats it."

"But—" Judy walked to the door, stopped, walked back, turned, walked to the window, looked out. Then with a tremendous effort she made I know what really happened, I'm going down and tell them. Tell the men who blamed it on Dick. I'm going to tell them what Elton Day did. It was his fault and he told me so."

* * *

Elsie shook her head.

"Wouldn't' do a bit of good, Judy," she advised.

"Of course it would. They'd have to believe me! They'd have to, Elsie!"

"Maybe so. But they wouldn't."

"They would!"

"Uh-huh, Look. There's a first audition, and somebody claims there's something phony about it. And along comes a second audition, and once again it's phony. And both times it's you that gets the break, not anybody else. Nobody else ever had a chance, Judy."

"Who said? Elton Day and Dick Mason, that's who. And everybody down there knows they're both crazy about you. And what kind of testimony is that going to be?"

Judy's face burned, her lips were dry.

"Elsie' you're making it sound as if—as if I wanted them to get me a job, no matter how. As if I wanted Elton Day to cheat for me. As if I didn't tell because I was mixed up in it from the start."

"Don't you see?" Elsie asked now, her voice a little kinder. "Don't you see, Judy? That's just what it's going to sound like, to everybody else down there. Why, there are a half-dozen men who wanted Dick's job. Half a dozen people wanted to see him let out. Everybody knew he was set for a bigger chance."

* * *

"You mean Dick was going to get something better?"

"That's what Billy says. Dick told him in confidence that his boss was talking about putting him in charge of four accounts only. And giving him a part of the announcer's pay on all four. Meant about three times as much as he's been getting. Maybe more."

"And I made him lose that!"

Judy remembered Dick, his words, halting, his face drawn, telling her about the people he must support, telling her how desperately he wanted to earn enough money so he could be free of his burdens.

Dick, worried about a taxicab bill, worried about lunch at any place but the drug store, because it meant that much less for his people and in the end for himself. Dick going without things, longing for a chance to get on his feet.

"Elsie! I've ruined Dick! I'd rather have done anything in the world than hurt him! I—"

"You love him, Judy?"

"I dont know, Elsie. No. I don't know. I tell you I'm not sure. That's too big, being in love. That —I don't know. But—"

"But you do know." Elsie grinned wisely. "You're in love with Dick and you've been in love with him since the first time you saw him. No use trying to fool me, Judy."

FLYING FREIGHT

To The Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Freight by airplane is insured by insurance companies at one-half that charged for any other form of land transport. The Imperial Airways of England, which does an immense business over Europe is said to pay 900 per cent to its owner pay annum. When we get a better system of airports in Canada the stock of Canadian airways will make other stocks look like antiques.

LABOR HEADS SCORE MEMBER FOR PLAYING HOST TO PREMIER

Ex-Coatbridge M.P. Peeved at Action Declines to Discuss Macdonald's Visit.

OFFICIALS IN HUDDLE.

COATBRIDGE Scotland, September 26 (C.P. Cable). — Because he recently was the host in his cottage to Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, James Welsh, former Labor member for this district, is being hauled over the coals by the local Labor executive.

At the time of the Prime Minister's visit, Mr. Welsh explained that the visit was a result of a long-standing promise and signified nothing, but the local executive of the Labor Party have not let the matter drop at that point. When Welsh faced the delegates of the executive this week-end he was obviously embittered by their attitude, and declared: "I can never admit the right of any organization to say who shall visit or who shall keep out of my house. Therefore, I cannot tell you the reason of Mr. MacDonald's visit because you have no right to ask." The executive has decided to hold further conference.

Mr. Welsh had represented Coatbridge, one of the Scottish constituencies, in the British House of Commons since 1922, but was defeated in the last election by W. P. Templeton, a National Government candidate, by a small majority. He was formerly a miner and then became a miners' agent and vice-president of the Lanarkshire Miners' Union. A publisher of verses and a novelist, Mr. Welsh is frequently known as the "Miners' Poet."

CITY IS SOUND

only 20 per cent. of which the Council has nominal control. And I don't think we are doing badly with what is left for us.

"We were aided this year by the Utilities Commission giving us part of their surplus from the waterworks department and we hope that we will be helped in the same way next year.

Debenture Debt.

"The debenture debt of the city at the end of last year for all purposes amounted to $5,080,565.55. Of this amount, $873,160.00 was for waterworks, $527,920.00 for the electric system and $317,000.00 for the gas plant. These utilities pay the interest and sinking funds on their debentures and their debts do not affect the tax rate.

"This leaves a debt of $3,362,485.55 for purposes other than that of the utilities, of which $886,709.00 is for schools and $603,552.98 charged for frontage rates on properties for local improvements.

"Against the total debt of $5,080,565.55, the City Trust held $1,803,525.42 in Government and municipal bonds. There is also the value of the three utilities amounting to $1,981,680.00. These two items, totalling $3,785,205.42, and which are as good as cash, reduce the debt to $1,295,360.13.

"Further, the city owns revenue-producing real estate valued at $190,547.73 and other real estate, such as the municipal offices, schools, etc., valued at $798,267.86. These two items of assets applied against the debt would further reduce it to $306,544.54.

"In addition the city has sewers, sidewalks, pavements and similar civic services for the use of its citizens, and if these are counted with the assets there is a surplus of assets over liabilities of $1,563,033.45.

"Debentures amounting to $98,915.14 fell due or will fall due this year, and they have been or will be paid off by the end of the year."

"Debentures of the following amounts fall due in the next three years: In 1933, $61,213.08; in 1934, $179,952.24, and 1935, $265,958.55. These will be paid as they fall due as the City Trust not only has sufficient sinking funds on hand, but also a surplus on that account."

"The financial position of Peterborough is sound. It should be and is the aim of the Council to keep the City in a good financial position.

"The demands on account of unemployment have been severe, and they are continuing and will continue during this fall and winter."

"It will be of great service if the men who are able to do so will contribute to help those out of work. Those who have means and those who are employed can be of assistance by subscribing to the relief funds of the city. Such contributions should be sent to the Central Charity Board at the city office."

"In this connection, His Worship said, that if manufacturers could manage to give their old employees work, even two or three days a week it would be of material assistance. Otherwise these men would have to be looked after out of the civic taxes.

Speaking of work done on the parks and of the purchase of the brewery property, Mayor Denne referred to the great generosity of the late Charlotte Nicholls, and remarked that Peterborough had been particularly fortunate in not having to spend money in providing a park system.

If the city was in good financial condition and emjoying excellent public services, much of the credit, he pointed out, must be given to the busines sability and foresight of the public men of yesterday.

Pointing out that Peterbroough could accommodate another 10,000 or 20,000 people without enlarging her present public services, Mayor Denne expressed his faith in the return of prosperity and pointed out the need of being on the alert to secure the American and British industries that would be coming to Canada.

Local Poultry Men Win At Lindsay Fair

LINDSAY, September 26 (Special to Examiner).—The curtain rang down Saturday night on Lindsay Central Fair, and the directorate are delighted with the results of the three-day event. While the attendance on the closing day was not as large as records reached in other years, due to economic conditions, a very large crowd passed through the turnstiles. From the standpoint of exhibits, number of entries in different departments, etc., a new record was reached, while the grandstand performance was the best ever produced by the directorate. The midway, which was occupied by the Sims Shows, lost money, it is understood, due to lack of patronage. Ideal weather conditions prevailed during the three days. In the 2.22 racing event, Marion Direct (E. Redmond, Peterborough) won first money. In the 2.16 event, Bud Wenger (R. Walsh, Hastings) was victorious in three straight heats, with Lou Ganot (P. Morgan, Campbellford) coming second.

Peterborough exhibitors figured prominently in the prize money in the poultry department. R. M. Brown swept the board in light and dark Brahmas; A. Andrews, of Norwood, won four firsts in Buff Cochins; H. Lush, Peterborough, was a winner in Partridge Cochins, with F. Andrews, Norwood, winning in cockerel and pullet. He divided honors with H. Lush in the Lanchins Black. The Norwood man also swept the boards in Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes. R. M. Brown of Peterborough was a winner in Wyandottes, Columbia, Partridge, silver laced, black and Javas black and Rhode Island Red, R. M. Brown being also a winner in this class. F. Andrews, of Norwood, W. J. Outram and R. M. Brown, in Dorkings and Orpingtons. All down the list of poultry entries, the Peterborough and Norwood exhibitors cleaned up on the prize money, in the biggest exhibit in the history of the Fair. R. M. Brown of Peterborough drew forty-nine firsts, which is a record for the local show.

Stirling

STIRLING, September 26. (Examiner Correspondence). — Nearly 2,000 entries were received at the annual fair recently here, which combined with the auspicious weather conditions helped to make it one of the most successful events of its kind to be held here in recent years.

In the exhibits there was much to interest everyone, from the handiwork of the small tots to the more skilled products of their elders.

A sixteen-piece orchestra was in attendance under the leadership of Tom Furnival, while a midway attracted 1100 people throughout the day. The bingo game run under the auspices of the Canadian Legion Branch also proved to be a popular attraction.

In a softball competition Springbrook won first prize of $8, while the following were winners in the horseshoe pitching contest: Bley and Jeffrey, $3; Conley and Hulin $2, and A. Hulin and H. Lummis $1.

S.S. 14, Rawdon, Clarence Bailey teacher, won the first place in the school parade, with the other schools taking the following order: S.S. 2, Sidney, Lorene Smith; S.S. 24, P. Janell; S.S. 19, Sidney, Alice Morgan; S.S. 11, Rawdon, Vera Wright; S.S. 8, Rawdon, Grace Daymen.

FEAR THREE JAP FLIERS ARE LOST

Overtaken on Goodwill Trip to United States By Storm in Arctic.

SEARCHERS TO START.

TOKYO Sept. 26 (A.P.) — Fear that the three Japanese fliers who set out Saturday morning on a good will flight to the United States had been lost in a week-end storm over the North Pacific grew to-day as no word was received from the plane and the time limit of its gasoline was long over-run.

The plane left Samushiro Saturday morning at 5.35 o'clock and was last heard from at 10.10 the same day when it reported it was 750 miles northeast of Tokyo.

Requests were made to the Russian and United States Embassies that searches be made over Kanchatka and the Aleutian Islands off the Alaskan Coast.

Police Court

That the generosity of a local citizen caused them to fall into the hands of police was the claim in police court to-day of Harry Wills and Arthur McGill, transients. Both were found yesterday afternoon helplessly drunk on Monaghan Road. They pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and were sentenced to ten days in jail.

"It was cold in the box car Saturday night, and when we woke up we were stiff. As we walked along Water street a fellow called us over and asked us to have a drink. It was rubbing alcohol and we took a couple of pulls on the bottle to warm up. It was the first drink I'd had in two months," explained McGill.

Annual Banquet To Be Held At Napanee

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 26.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent.) — The annual convention of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association will be held this year at Napanee and arrangements are being made to make this one of the biggest events in its five years of activity. The date set for this gathering is December 6 and 7 and it is estimated that over 500 will sit down to the annual banquet, which is always a very popular feature of the convention.

The town itself is right behind the movement and the council through its very active and popular chief executive, Mayoa Kimmerly, wil do all that is possible to make the convention a success.

The business sessions of the gathering will be held in the town hall and the banquet staged in the Armouries, one of the finest buildings for this purpose in the district. Outstanding speakers will be featured, and a very fine program of entertainment also staged. Arrangements for the affair are not yet complete.

sentative and a supporter of French policies, was chosen president by a vote of 44 out of 50. In his address he expressed the opinion that although the international sky was overcast by heavy clouds some gleams of light could be observed.

De Valera also touched upon the Irish situation in his speech.

"Speaking for my own country," he said, "I am confident if we are left free to pursue our own policy we shall succeed not only in securing a proper adjustment of our social and economic life, but in being able to contribute more than our share to human progress throughout the world.

"We in Ireland desire peace, peace at home and peace in the world. Our history is the history of a people who have consistently sought merely to be allowed to lead their own lives in their own way in peace with their neighbors and with the world."

BISHOP SWEENY

you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified. God bless you all with the richest blessing in Christ Jesus."

After escorting his Grace from the pulpit to the episcopal throne, Rev. Mr. Ward-Whate announced to the people that it would, he felt, "be out of place to preach a sermon after hearing this pathetic message from his Grace the Archbishop."

"I want," he said, "to express appreciation to his Grace for the kind words he spoke concerning myself." He mentioned the lengthy period, seven years and more, with which he had been in constant, intimate contact with the Archbishop, and assured him, and the people, that, whatever he might have done amiss, "one has tried to carry on," and he prayed God to pardon such omissions.

"I have," Mr. Ward-Whate declared, "put my whole heart; I have put my whole life into the life of this cathedral; I have never spared myself."

There would, he said, be difficulties in taking up the same situations, with another, after so long a period with Archbishop Sweeny. He hoped, however, that the people would be faithful to the new Bishop, as he intends to be.

Sees Task Ahead

"What we want," he averred, "is to continue the work we have been doing. I hope we may be able to do something in the Cathedral of St. Alban the Martyr which will rebound to the glory of the Church of England in Canada and to that of this diocese. I hope we can make this cathedral what it should have been long ago—the leading light, the leading place, of the Church life of this great diocese."

The second lesson, from the Gospel according to St. Luke, was read also by the Archbishop, who at the close, pronounced the blessing.

TORCH SINGER STICKS TO ALIBI

Claims Fact She is About to be Mother Inspires Only Desire to Live.

DENIES SHOOTING.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. — Libby Holman Reynolds, facing the two great climaxes of her 26 years of life—motherhood and trial for the slaying of her husband—told Ward Morehouse, in a copyrighted interview published Saturday by The New York Sun:

"God in heaven knows that I did not kill Smith Reynolds."

The interview, obtained by The Sun writer at the unnamed rustic retreat, quoted the former Broadway torch singer as saying:

"It is knowing that I am going to give birth to the child of the man I loved that affords me my only gleam of happiness, that gives me any desire to live at all."

The interview granted The Sun's columnist was the first in which the husky-throated Broadway singer has spoken for publication since her 20-year-old husband and heir to the tobacco fortune of the late R. J. Reynolds, was found dying from a bullet wound at Reynolds, the family estate at Winston-Salem, N.C., last July 6.

"I didn't shoot Smith," she told Morehouse. "I loved him as I never loved anyone before or ever will again. The fullest and richest hours of my life were spent with him. I loved him tenderly, dearly and completely, and to him I meant everything; everything."

Dairy Notes

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 26 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Gradings at the Campbellford grading station on Friday registered the following number of cheese from the district factories: Victoria 16, Woodlands 27, Warkworth 64, Trent Bridge 51, I.X.L. 25, Beaver 30, Empire 41, Menie 32, Brickley 23, Burnley 20, Spring Valley 20, Seymour West 19, Brae 22, Prince of Wales 42, Morganston 37, Kimberley 41, Norham 31, Stanwood 36, Crow Bay 37, New Model 20—a total of 643 boxes graded as compared with the same period last year, which registered 530 boxes of cheese passed.

Mr. H. B. Somerset, chairman of the Ontario Marketing Board, left this week for England, where he has gone in the interests of the Ontario Honey Producers.

Two lots of cheese from district factories were not included in this week's factory report. This addition will swell the total of next week's grading.

Within the next month there will be a representative of the dairy interests of Ontario in the Old Land.

Local Baseball Teams Drop Decisions Over Week-end

MUFFED THIRD STRIKE COSTS PETES BANTAM O.B.A.A. TITLE

Hamilton and Local Kids Play Sensational Ball in Provincial Final.

K. Clarke Stars on Mound.

A muffed third strike—one of those baseball accidents—caused the defeat at Willowvale Park, Toronto, on Saturday of the Peterborough Kiwanis team and the loss of the Provincial bantam championship. That third strike which got away from Starr allowed Hamilton to score the run in the eighth innings that gave the Ambitious City kids a 7 to 6 victory.

It was the third clash between the two youngster nine, each having won their home game, and with the Provincial crown hanging in the balance and both teams giving a sensational display of the great summer pastime about 500 Toronto fans enthused over the battle. Most of the fans favored the young Petes, who earned the support by their finished style of play and the manner in which they had come from behind to score four runs in the seventh frame and tie the count 6-6.

In that unfortunate eighth in which Hamilton gained the victory, Anderson, first up, drew a walk and with Russell out on strikes Ambes doubled. Corneck took three strikes, Starr dropping the third strike and in making the play at first to get Corneck, Anderson scored Superior Pitching.

Superior hitting on the part of Hamilton and the great pitching performance of K. Clarke, who struck out 20 Kiwanis batters, had given the winners a marked advantage throughout the game But the Kiwanis had remained strongly in the hunt due to their scintillating fielding.

Great running catches by Anderson and O'Leary were the fielding features of the game, while Dunkley's home run with two on in the eighth tied the score.

SCHMELING IS FAVORED 3-1 TO DEFEAT WALKER

FOR $200,000.

By HERBERT J. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—To the batting fraternity, Max Schmeling is a 3 to 1 shot to whip little Mickey Walker in their 15-round heavyweight match in Madison Square Garden bowl to-night but Mr. John H. Fan seems to have another idea.

Otherwise there's no explaining the heavy advance sale reported by the Garden nor the apparently reliable predictions of a "gate" of around $200,000 and a crowd of 60,000 or more.

Perhaps the large percentage of prospective customers recalls the July night last year when Mickey stepped into the ring to face Sharkey, now the heavyweight champion. The Rumson, N.J., gamester conceded Sharkey 30 pounds in weight and every other physical advantage that night yet gained a draw in 15 rounds and, in the opinion of some critics, was clearly entitled to the decision.

Twice Postponed

The fight, originally scheduled for last Monday, twice was postponed when Walker developed a case of boils and the delay has done nothing to hurt the receipts. Now it will catch the advance guard of customers arriving for the first game of the world series here Wednesday.

Just as in the Sharkey bout, Walker will have to concede all the physical advantages to Schmeling. The Teuton is five years younger, nearly 20 pounds heavier and will have corresponding advantages in height and reach. But Walker, provided he decides to fight a cagey battle, is conceded some chance of outsmarting the German if he can keep away from Schmeling's lethal right.

Apparently it will be a battle of body-punchers for Walker's best punch is a left to the body and Schmeling has been working on a right smash to the same sector with the idea of counteracting Mickey's most effective weapon.

Start at 9.30

Weighing-in ceremonies were to be staged at the New York Athletic Commission offices this afternoon. The fight was to go on between 9:30 and 10:00 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

Box Lacrosse

The City Lacrosse League game at 8.30 in the Brock this evening is between C.G.E. and Brintons, and may result in a second-place tie between these outfits. The Carpetmakers are now trailing Orde's, in first place, by just one point and leading the Electrics by two. A win for C.G.E. tonight will put them on even terms with Brintons and in a strategic position to move into the lead by defeating Orde's.

The lacrossers are putting up a fine fight now, only four points separating the top-place Barbers andMillbrook in fourth place. Every game is hard-fought and close, giving the fans plenty of thrills. And each week sees a different team putting on a spurt to bother their opponents. Both the Brintons and Electrics have been playing good games recently and tonight's meeting betwen the pair may turn out to be one of the league classics.

CATARACTS WIN FROM LEAFS ON GAME "BREAKS"

Gardner and Begley Lead Local Aggregation With Two Hits Apiece.

SEVERAL RALLIES NIPPED.

Niagara Falls' juveniles took advantage of the breaks to win the opening game of the O.B.A.A. final series over Maple Leafs in the Big Roar town Saturday, 6 to 2. The teams turned out to be very evenly-matched, played snappy ball on a good diamond and a large crowd saw some great hurling by Lesurf and Senese.

The Peterborough pitcher gave fewer hits and struck out as many as his opponent, but he was a bit wilder and failed to bear down as effectively in the pinches. Senese really went to work when he had the bases full or two on, and between his good twirling and the breaks of the game, the Leafs were turned back several times just when everything appeared promising for a rally. Pat Calladine's boys didn't look their best at bat, though afield and in the box they were easily the Falls' equals.

Gardner and Begley got two hits apiece, while Murdock, McKinley and Begley turned in a smart defensive game, though none of the fielders had many chances to handle. The return game is here next Saturday.

PETES DROP 8-7 GAME TO COMBINES

Intermediate Lacrosse Teams Put Up Good Performance in Exhibition Game.

NORWOOD Sept. 26 (Examiner Correspondence). — Peterborough Intermediates went down to defeat at the hands of the Norwood Combines Friday night by a score of 8—7 in a clean, fast lacrosse game. The score was tied at 3—3 when the Pete machine ran in 3 in a row, but the Combines came back strong to bulge the twine four times in succession, while each team got one more tally. The game was handled satisfactorily by H. Tudhope of Peterborough, and penalties, which were few, were for minor offences.

Norwood. — Rogers, Fenton, F. Scriver, J. Gould, Hitchen, Puffer, Lang Hayes Dodd S. Scriver Stevenson.

NORWOOD VS. ELGIN

An interesting softball match was held on Friday evening in the Norwood Arena. This was the beginning of a series of softball matches which are to be played between Norwood Elgin, Ninth Line, Havelock and Caughnawaga. Friday evening's game was between Elgin and Norwood, the latter winning with a score of 12—9.

Line-ups:—

Elgin.—R. Scott, J. Richardson, M. Scott, B. McGee, M. Preston, D. Kelly, F. Fleming, Preston J. Stinson O'Grady, G. Richardson.

Norwood.—Rogers, Puffer, Ennis, Godin, Hamblin, Fakenham, McGowan C. Puffer, Stewart.

ATHLETICS' SLUGGER FALLS TWO SHORT OF BAMBINO KING'S MARK

Club Owners in Two Major Leagues Enjoy Fair Season Financially.

LOOP COMPARISONS.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. A. P. Sports Writer)

The record of the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs for the 1932 season furnished a study in marked contrasts as the teams await the signal that will send them against each other Wednesday in the world's series.

The Yankees ran away with the American League flag, finishing with the second-highest percentage ever recorded by a pennant winner in the junior circuit, .695. The Cubs won only after a terrific battle and then were only one game ahead of the object mark that ever won a National league flag. The Yanks won 107 games and lost 47 and might have done better if they had been pressed in the latter part of the race. The Cubs recorded 90 victories and 64 defeats for a .584 average.

The Yankees likewise knocked the daylights out of the major league record for consecutive games being shut out by scoring in every one of the 156 games they played. This came on top of 33 games at the end of 1931 gave them a total of 311 straight and completely eclipsed the mark of 132 established by the Boston and Philadelphia Nationals in 1894. The Cubs were blanked eight times this year.

One point of similarity cropped up yesterday when each team lost its final game of the season to a last place club, the Yanks succumbing to the Boston Red Sox, 8-3 and the Cubs going down before the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3.

Places Decided

In keeping with the tightness of the National League race all through the season, two places in the final standing were not decided until the final day. Philadelphia took third by winning the second game of a double header from the New York Giants 6-3 after losing the first 5-3. The single victory kept Boston out of a tie even though the Braves trounced Brooklyn 13 to 7. New York and St. Louis tied for sixth as each split a twin bill. The Cardinals lost the first to Pittsburgh 7 to 1 and won the second 7 to 4.

Fair Season

The runaway race in the American League did no serious damage to attendance figures but there was one bright spot for club owners when a crowd of record proportions turned out when the Cleveland Indians opened their new stadium. As a whole it has a fair season financially for most of the club owners. Outside of the games, the real fans found plenty of excitement in Babe Ruth's physical condition and in the sudden upset of the Cubs at the end of July when Rogers Hornsby was dropped from the managerial post and Charley Grimm was given the job of leading the Cubs to the championship. Ruth was out twice with injuries, a torn leg muscle and a threatened appendicitis attack, but still managed to stay within shouting distance of Jimmie Foxx of the Athletics in the home run race.

Foxx fell a trifle short of equalling Ruth's major league home run record of 60 but his 58th circuit wallop furnished one of the high spots of the closing day. It came in the ninth inning as the Athletics lost a 2-1 decision to Washington. In other American League games yesterday, Detroit took a 5-4 decision from St. Louis and Cleveland and Chicago played a 5-5 tie in the second game of a doubleheader on account of darkness. Boston triumphed in the next five games, 4-3; 3-2; 4-0; 12-7; 8-3.

The first and second place teams in the National League played for the cup donated by William Chase Temple, of Pittsburg, in 1894. Post-season play continued every year for the Temple cup on a best 4 out of 7 basis until 1897, inclusive.

New York beat Baltimore 4 straight games the first year. Cleveland defeated Baltimore, 4 games to 1, in 1895; Baltimore stopped Cleveland in four straight games in 1896 and the last year of play for the cup Baltimore conquered Boston, 4 games to 1.

When the American League was formed in 1900 war reigned with the National until 1903 when peace finally was declared.

The conclusion of the 1903 season saw Pittsburg, winner of the National flag, exchanging challenges with Boston, winner of the American pennant. The result of that challenge was the first of the modern world's series.

Neither one of the leagues made any attempt to control the series. Instead the two clubs arranged all the details and rules. Eight games were played, Boston winning five and Pittsburg three. Attendance was reported at about 100,429, and the receipts "somewhere near $50,000."

In 1904 the New York Nationals and Boston Americans won pennants. The New Yorkers turned down a challenge made by the Bostonians, claiming it would not accept the defy because it did not regard the Americans as a major league.

The following year brought about first step taken to put the post-season games under control of the leagues. Before the 1905 season was concluded both circuits agreed on a post-season series, to be governed by rules laid down by the National Commission.

Practically the same rules govern the fall classic to-day. It was stipulated that the series was to be "best-four-out-of-seven" basis, which rule was operative until 1919. In 1910-1920 and 1921 it was "5-out-of-9", but then was changed back to "4-out-of-7" in 1922.

In the 28 series played from 1903 to 1931, inclusive, the American League has won 17 and the National 11.

AMERICAN TO TOP

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(Special to The Examiner). — After season play for the top honors in baseball began back in 1884 when the National League accepted a challenge from the American Association, operating then only in the middle west. These games were first of a series played annually until the American Association disbanded after 1890.

The National League played a split season in 1892, the only time in the history of the loop. The first half was captured by Boston which won 52 and lost 22. Cleveland won the second half with 53 victories against 23 defeats.

A play-off series of the best 5-out-of-9 resulted and the first game played in Cleveland Oct. 17, 1892, ended in an 0-0 tie, being called at the end of the eleventh inning on account of darkness. Boston triumphed in the next five games, 4-3; 3-2; 4-0; 12-7; 8-3.

The first and second place teams in the National League played for the cup donated by William Chase Temple, of Pittsburg, in 1894. Post-season play continued every year for the Temple cup on a best 4 out of 7 basis until 1897, inclusive.

Allison And Van Ryn Score Fine Victory

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, United States Davis Cup doubles team sprang one of the biggest upsets of the Pacific Southwest tennis champions here yesterday by scoring a smashing three set victory over Ellsworth Vines Jr., and Keith Gledhill, holders of the United States title.

After entering the final by eliminating the British pair, Henry "Bunny" Austin and Frederick Perry, Vines and Gledhill were heavy favorites to win the crown, but they were erratic and lost 6—3, 6—4, 6—4.

Golf Crown Is Won By Miss M. Kirkham

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—Miss Margery Kirkham of Forest Hills, Montreal, is the new Canadian women's open golf champion. The 24 year old local star inscribed her name on the pages of the Dominion's golfing history on Saturday when she became the first native player to hold the Duchess of Connaught Gold Cup since it was taken to the United States in 1927, and the feat was accomplished only after a stirring struggle against Mrs. Charles S. Eddis of Rosedale, Toronto. Thirty-three of the scheduled 36 holes at Kanawaki had to be played before Miss Kirkham marched along the 535-yard fairway of the thirty-fourth to the green that proved the end of the rainbow for her, and that brought her victory by a margin of three up and two to go.

Joan Bennett and Ralph Bellamy, who have just completed work in "Wild Girl," will be seen next in "Pier 13." Henry B. Walthall and Jesse DeVorska also enter the cast of this production.

OLD-FASHIONED BASEBALL WILL RETURN FOR 1932 TITLE SERIES

Fast Hurling and Base Hits to Play Strategic Part in Cubs-Yankee Battle.

SLUGGERS ON ROSTERS.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The probabilities are that fast balls, shoulder high and inside, and base hits, high and outside the park, will play a much more strategic part in the world series between the Yankees and Cubs, starting Wednesday in the Yankee Stadium, than any master-minding from the dugout or on the ball fields.

For the first time in years, old-fashioned, straightaway baseball appears likely to dominate the championship proceedings, minus the factors of score-card waving or other inside stuff calculated to confuse the combatants as well as the spectators.

Joe McCarthy, big, silent leader of the old school, will rely on the big punch of Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri, Dickey and Company to pull the Yankees through to their third successive world series triumph, meanwhile juggling a versatile corps of pitching sharp-shooters to get the best results. Marse Joe'sn strategy was under fire when he managed the Cubs in 1929 but it always looks bad without base hits or good pitching.

Likeable, good-natured Charles Grimm, holding down first base himself, will depend on the hustling, pinch-hitting ability of his team, plus the resources of a great right-handed pitching staff, to pull the Cubs through to a world championship.

The Chicagoans are outclassed when it comes to long range firing from either side of the plate, but their pitching staff appears in better condition, they have a brisker defense and more speed man for man, than their rivals.

With the 1931 record in evidence of how the Cardinals upset the heavier-hitting tAhletics, as well as Grove and Earnshaw, by outhustling their rivals, the Cubs have every reason to dash into the Fray friskly and, if possible, throttle the Yankee attack before it has a real chance to get under way.

If Any major surprise is sprung in pitching strategy, the Yankees now appear likely to pull it by inserting their 230-pound former bullpen pitcher, Walter Brown, into the list of starting pitchers. Brown's sensational work in winning three games within the past two weeks has inspired confidence in his reliability, especially if Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing do not look any better in the series than they did in their last few workouts.

It will be recalled that Connie Mack caught the Cubs by surprise in the very first game of the 1929 series by shooting Howard Ehmke's side-arm delivery at them. Before they recovered from the shock, the Bruins were hopelessly beaten back and unable to pull themselves together except for one masterful game pitched by Guy Bush. It will be well, therefore, for Grimm's men to be prepared for any emergency, rather than to take the Yankees' publicized advance plans for granted.

Bush will draw the opening box assignment for the Cubs with Charley Root. Lon Warneke and Pat Malone due to work behind him in that order. Burleigh Grimes is not expected to start but the old spitballer might be the Cubs' ace in the hole, if he happens to feel the old battle urge once more and be right for the occasion. It may not do to count Grimes out of the picture any more than it is wise to overlook the aging southpaw of the Yankees, Herb Pennock, as yet undefeated in world series competition over a decade.

The strategy of the two clubs behind the bat will be in good hands with Bill Dickey and Gabby Hartnett doing most work.

PENALTY KICK GIVES PACKERS E. A. PECK CUP

PACKERS 4, C.G.E. 3.

Unexcelled weather conditions prevailed on Saturday afternoon for the final of the E. A. Peck Soccer Cup, when a large turnout of fans enjoyed a real cup tie that had all the thrills attached to it. At first the Packers were superior, but were overwhelmed by the C.G.E. before the interval with the count standing 3—2 in their favor. In the second stanza, the Packers gained the decision, as Captain Buchan put it, "That penalty gave us the cup."

At the conclusion of the game, the trophy was presented to the winners—Packers—and was accepted by Captain Buchan, who replied in a sportsmanlike manner. The C.G.E. held the cup last year.

Opportunities Missed

The choice of the sun and wind fell in favor of the C.G.E. who were on the defensive through the Packers' forwards working close in on the goal, where three players missed an open goal. The same performance was enacted at the other end when Alex. Burgess centered across the goal for his teammates to let the ball go past. Repeated bombardments by the C.G.E. forwards kept Griffin, Packer's goalie, on the alert to avert disaster. The Ross-N. Downer combination baffled the full backs nicely when the inside men shot the ball across the goal. Awaiting in his position at inside left, Nicholls judged the flight of the ball to the point of perfection as he headed the ball out of the reach of Daynes into goal. The Electric boys went right back to get the equaliser, but they were off their mark as far as shooting was concerned; in fact, their efforts were erratic. Griffin, Packers' goalie, holding them scoreless. From the goal kick, George Downer travelled down the wing to evade three men in succession with beautiful touches of ball control. Running into the flag corner, he shot the ball across to the centre. Newt Downer met it with a first timer to hit in below the cross-bar and drop against the upright to make it two-up.

C.G.E. Dominates Play

At this point, the Packers took it for granted that they had the trophy in their possession as they slackened up in their tactics; while the C. G. E. boys became more aggressive through Burgess on the right wing when he baffled Griffin with a shot that hit the inside of the upright. They added another through Mitchell when he took the full measure of the Packers' goalie with a snap shot that bulged the net. The Packers were at sixes and sevens as the whole team fell back on the defensive to stall off the energetic C.G.E. players.

No less than five flag kicks went in favor of the C.G.E. and from the last one taken by Burgess, Robb headed the sphere inside the upright as Griffin fell upon the ground too late. The play continued until the interval with the C.G.E. 3, Canada Packers, 2.

A Surprise Revival

On resuming, the C.G.E. took up the initiative again to keep Peckers' goalie busy clearing his charge. All the Electric forwards had many attempts to score, but failed to find the vacant spot that was unguarded. After fifteen minutes of aggressive tactics by the Electrics' front rank, an unfortunate incident befell them as the C.G.E. full back conceded a spot kick when he handled on the penalty line. The referee awarded the kick which Haklin delivered with a bullet-like shot that Daynes had no chance to save. Thereafter, the players went to the limit in fighting for a chance to get the leading counter. Once the C.G.E. had the Packers hemmed to their own goal area, where Hakin brought down the ball with his knees. A penalty was claimed, but corner kicks aplenty brought forth scrimmages in front of Griffin's charge. At last, Buchan broke up the attack as he dribbled his way up-field and sent Downer away on the left wing. They worked the triangle play on the C.G.E. opposition until Nicholls received the ball, and with a timely touch left Evans in possession to get the winning counter. The remaining five minutes found the C.G.E. doing everything but scoring, and went down as real sports. Canada Packers, 4; Canadian General, 3.

Toug luck, Kiwanis We certainly feel sorry for the gallant bantam kids for having the Provincial championship dashed from their hands at the last minute, losing the final game Saturday by one run. Of course, someone had to win, and the Hamilton boys were just a shade better. Still, it's hard losing the last game by such a narrow margin. Manager Herb Ralph, Ken Baker and all the Kiwanis players deserve three cheers, anyway, for their fine campaign and for coming so close.

* * * * * *

The local lads rallied strongly to get four markers, aided considerably by Dunkley's homer with two aboard, in the seventh, tying the count at 6-all, but Hamilton got one more to grab the belt. Clarke allowed the Petes just seven hits and he fanned no less than twenty, a fine performance. It's pretty hard to lick that sort of hurling, but we came close. Field didn't do bad either, fanning eight.

* * * * * *

It was a classy series, the teams being very well-matched and playing smart ball for bantams, a bunch of future stars being on both line-ups. It was a nice series to win, and a heart-breaker to lose. But that's baseball—that's what gives it its real kick. You never know what team will win till the last out. You can dope it out till you're blue in the face, and still you're only guessing!

* * * * * *

Our juveniles didn't do so badly at all in Niagara Falls. They lost to the Canadian Nationals, 6-2, but ought to beat them here Saturday, and may cop the third game as well. These teams look pretty evenly-matched too, but Bill Calladine's pitching should turn the balance. Senese is a good pitcher, but he's their only one, and the Leafs got two more hits off him than the Falls got from Lesurf, both pitchers fanning ten.

* * * * * *

And they certainly got the breaks, twice the Leafs hitting into double-plays with two on. But the Petes didn't hit as they should either, leaving twelve stranded to the other side's six. Jack Gardner caught—an unaccustomed position for him—but he made a fair job of it. Doug Mowry will be back for the second game. Peel, regular first-sacker, is out too with a bad hand.

* * * * * *

"Lefty" Lesurf threw a good game except that he was a bit wild, and didn't bear down as much as possible in the pinches. That's where Senese shaded him. And then Lesurf got himself thrown out of the game for talking out of turn to the base-umps. Regardless of what the decisions are like, the umps has the last word, and players should get wise to that. The umpiring as a whole was very good, and Manager Pat Calladine didn't make a kick about it once.

* * * * * *

The boys were all up shortly after four o'clock Saturday morning, motored nearly two hundred miles, had a half hour's workout and then tried to play ball in a chill breeze. It's too much to expect them to play their best after that, though they were just as good as the Falls, at that. The latter go in for a little smart baseball, using the sacrifice and the hit-and-run plays. They have a swell player in Moreau at short. He's cap'ain and puts pep in the whole team. The game here this Saturday should be a vastly different story.

* * * * * *

Carl (Inky) Wood, former local hurler, pitched McIntyre Mines to an 8-3 victory in the deciding game of the E.O.B.A. semi-finals series on Saturday over Ottawa Davidson's. According to the Journal, Wood was strong and brilliant in the pinches, being nicked for nine hits as he whiffed twelve batters. They play Temiskaming in the finals.

* * * * * *

Belleville Victorias last their first semi-final game to North Bay, but should even the Intermediate play-downs in the second tussle. In the O.A.S.A. semi-finals on Saturday, Davey's Indians of Toronto went to Oshawa to trim the Dodgers, 7 to 6, it being the first game of the series and the first loss Oshawa has suffered all year. Whiteley pitched a fine game, and with any kind of breaks, the conquerors of our Sugar Bowls should yet pull out in front.

* * * * * *

Brintons and C.G.E. of the City Lacrosse League tangle at the Brock to-night in a loop fixture which ought to be close. C.G.E. has a chance of tying their opponents for second place in the standings by winning to-night, and it's a cinch both squads will battle themselves into the ground for the win, as the rivalry between these outfits has been strong all season.

* * * * * *

The first rugby game of the year will be held here on Wednesday evening at four bells. Pickering College and P. C. I. Firsts meet in an exhibition football game over at Stevenson Park, with a dime admission charge for fans. It will give both the coaches and the onlookers an idea on the teams' chances, and may turn out to be a real exciting game. Doubtless, the Collegiate students will be out in force.

* * * * * *

To-morrow eve at the Brock, C.N.R. play Stars in the men's softball game at 7.15—and the men players should realize that doesn't mean twenty minutes late. The girls' game between Brintons and C.G.E. follows around 8.30 or a bit later. It's Westclox vs. Maple Leafs and Sugar Bowl vs. Red and White Stores on Thursday up there.

Cubs Entrain For Eastern Battlefront, Every Eligible Player Ready For Action

CHICAGO, Ill., September 26 (C.P.). — Chicago's Cubs bundled up their war materials to-day and headed eastward to battle the New York Yankees for World Series glory and gold.

High noon was the time for leaving Chicago, and the club was to be moved by special train. Charlie Grimm and his men will arrive in New York to-morrow morning and planned to work out in the Yankee Stadium in the afternoon.

A final check-up showed every eligible ready for action. Mark Koenig, who will start at shortstop, played against Cincinnati yesterday, and although he dropped a throw on a possible double play, did some highly satisfactory batting. His contribution to the attack was three hits in as many times at bat.

Guy Bush demonstrated he is ready to go to the pitching mound in the championship series inaugural by pitching three hitless innings and fanning four batsmen. Gabby Hartnett caught most of the game and appeared fully recovered from the assortment of bruises that kept him out of part of the victorious National League drive.

Belleville Quarter Has Sprained Ankle

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 26.—In the opening football game of the season, Oshawa Collegiate senior team defeated the Belleville Collegiate team 17 to 0 in a somewhat rough encounter. Both teams had several casualties, and showed a lack of condition throughout the last half.

The game will be particularly costly to the local team, as George Ostrom, midget quarterback, received a badly sprained ankle, which was at first feared broken. Flagler, middle wing of the B.C.I. team, also sustained a severe sprain in the ankle and had to be taken to the hospital. Grills, husky snap back, also sustained a cracked rib.

DON BRENNAN SELECTED FOR OPENING GAME

Bush and Mamaux Set Battle Plans for Little World's Series.

FIRST TIME IN PLAY-OFFS.

By B. GREGORY HEWLETT
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 26.—Like football coaches who "point" their elevens for major conflicts, manager Al Mamaux and Donie Bush, of the Newark Bears, and Minneapolis Millers, respectively, both aim their most powerful guns at the opening game of the little world series to-morrow.

Mamaux, a veteran pitcher himself, has selected portly Don Brennan ace of his staff, to start for the International League champions in hope of taking the lead in the seven game series. Bush will use either Rosy Bill Ryan or Jess Petty, both tried and wily performers who helped the Millers to the American Association title.

It may be because neither Newark nor Minneapolis has had a little world series opportunity before this that the teams are so anxious to take the lead. The series idea had not yet started when the Bears won their last pennant back in 1913 nor when the Millers won their last one in 1915.

One of Veterans

Brennan, a right hander is next to Mamaux when it comes to veterans with the Newark team. He has been pitching here six years and has just finished the best season of his career. The only International League hurler to win 25 games, he mowed down the best opposition and lost but eight times. He took part in 42 contests, 233 innings, allowed 200 hits, struck out 130 batters, and walked 106. He mixes speed with a fast-breaking curve.

Ryan, probable choice of Bush, appeared in 33 games during the regular season but in only 162 innings. He won 21 games and lost 13, granted 18 hits, walked 68 men and fanned 48. An old-timer in both major and minor league ball, he depends on his ability to outsmart would-be hitters.

Gus Dugas, Pirates—Made five hits in seven times up in doubleheader against Cardinals, getting homer in each game.

Roy Johnson, Red Sox—Led Boston to 8-3 victory over Yankees, making three hits and three runs.

Flint Rhem, Phillies—Pitched Phillies into fourth place by holding Giants to five hits to win second game of doubleheader.

Frank Doljack and Gerald Walker, Tigers—Their home runs in eighth inning gave Detroit 5-4 victory over St. Louis.

Benny Frey, Reds — Kept Chicago hits scattered and drove in two runs in 5-3 victory over Cubs.

A Baseball Oddity

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 26 (C.P.).—It was a tense moment in the last half of the ninth inning of a semi-pro baseball game with the score 7 to 3 against the batting side, the bases loaded, two out and the count two and three on the batter.

Arthur Rottener, in the pitcher's box, wound up to whiz over the last strike. He unwound, let go and the ball plopped at his feet. He had fractured his arm in two places. A relief pitcher retired the side.

Boulay Hurls Baymen For 9 To 2 Victory

NORTH BAY, Sept. 26.—Behind the steady pitching of Boulay, the North Bay Pirates drove out 14 hits to score a 9-2 victory over Belleville Victorias in the first game of the semi-finals of the O.B.A.A. intermediate B series. Boulay struck out 11 and allowed only 3 hits.

Fielding features were provided by Chalmers, Edwards and Kilroy of the Pirates and Kerr of Belleville. 'Irish" Johnston led the hitters with three hits, one a triple to deep centre, the longest hit of the game.

Soccer Notes

The Caledonians travelled to Lindsay on Saturday and won the game five to three. Reports indicate that the field was one of the best that the Scotsmen had played upon.

Bowmanville has requested the Canada Packers to give them a game in the city on the first vacant date. Cobourg has played them twice and defeated them by big scores. Port Hope reports that they have a nice team.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association will be held on Tuesday evening in Duffus Rooms at eight oclock. Please note change of place.

FATHER IS HELD FOR KIDNAPPING

FACES 2 CHARGES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—(C.P.)—Provincial police have arrested A. Comtois, charged with the kidnapping of his daughter, aged 8, who disappeared from a school yard at St. Pie de Bagot on September 16. Comtois was separated from his wife some years ago.

Comtois was to appear before a police magistrate in St. Hyacinthe either to-day or to-morrow to face two charges, one of kidnapping and one of non-support.

Pauline Comtois was playing in a school yard at St. Pie, where she lived with her mother, Mrs. Albina Comtois, when a car containing two men and two women stopped at the roadside. According to the child's school mates, a man got out of the car induced the little girl to enter, and they drove away.

Provincial police were not called into the case till Friday. Provincial Detective O. Forest, assigned to the case, found nobody had taken the license number of the kidnappers' car. In the fyles he came across a five year old warrant for Comtois on a non-support charge.

He conducted a quick investigation and located the girl at St. Amable, Que., staying with relatives of the father. Comtois himself was arrested at St. Julie, Que.

Thefts of church poor boxes in London are more numerous than ever.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

HOOTY THE OWL DISCOVERS WHAT IS GOING ON

To-whoo! To-whoo! To-who whoo-whoo!

What may a hungy fellow do?

So said Hooty the Owl as he waited for the Black Shadows to creep out from the Purple Hills. It was just the hour when Hooty always is hungry. You see he had nothing to eat since just before daylight that morning, and then it had been a mere bite, a careless little mouse. All day Hooty had slept in the top of his favorite tree in the lonesomest part of the Green Forest. Now he was wide awake and waiting only for Mr. Sun to go to bed, taking with him his children, the Jolly Little Sunbeams. You see Hooty the Owl does not like them. They try to blind him. They never succeed, for though many people don't think so, Hooty can see very well indeed in daytime, but the dusk is easier on his big eyes, and so he waits until then to do his hunting.

Now one of the first places Hooty visits every night is the Smiling Pool. Hooty always has taken great interest in all that goes on in the Smiling Pool. Had he a mind to Hooty could tell dark stories of things which have happened in the Smiling Pool, strange disappearances among the little people who live there. At least they were strange to all but Hooty. The truth is, in or around the Smiling Pool Hooty has found many a good dinner.

In his own peculiar way Hooty is clever. He is very clever indeed. You know how he flies without making a sound, for all the world like a drifting shadow. But with all his cleverness Hooty never had been able to catch Jerry Muskrat. He had tried times enough, goodness knows. For ever since Jerry was big enough to leave his mother, and even before, Hooty had tried and tried to catch Jerry. At first it was because Jerry was young and tender. Now it was because he was so big and would make such a satisfying dinner.

As he waited for the chance of the Black Shadows Hooty was thinking of Jerry and wondering why it was he had seen him so seldom during the past summer. The reason was that having no house in the Smiling Pool Jerry had lived in his castle in the bank of the Laughing Brook. Hooty had not known this.

At last it was dark enough to suit him and on silent wings Hooty sailed out from the Green Forest straight for the Smiling Pool. As he drew near he saw right away that the water was quite muddy and that it was muddiest near a certain place beyond the Big Rock. Hooty was interested. He turned so as to sail over the Big Rock and then saw that something was going on underneath. For just an instant Jerry's head appeared. That was enough. Hooty understood. Chuckling softly, Hooty turned back toward the Green Forest.

"I know what's going on," he chuckled. "I know what's going on. He's building a new house. By and by it will be above water. He will be so busy building he may forget to watch out. If he does I am just the fellow who wants to be around. Just let him once forget when I am about and he will have no more use for a new house. Now I'll stay away from the Smiling Pool for a few nights. It won't do to have him see me about."

Nellie McClung Moves to Coast

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 26.—(By the Canadian Press.)— Prominent citizen of Calgary for many years, Mrs. Nellie McClung, noted Calgary writer, stateswoman and lecturer, has left this city to make her home in Victoria, B.C. Several functions were held before her departure and hosts of friends in all walks of life gathered to bid her farewell and good luck. Mrs. McClung moved to the British Columbia capital because of her husband's transfer to a position in that city.

Before her departure, Mrs. McClung declared she intended to withdraw to a certain extent from public life and spend most of her time reading and writing. Looking back on the years spent in Calgary and in Canada's political life the famous author smilingly referred to her great struggles on behalf of womanhood in politics.

She told of shocking her friends when, years ago, as a young teacher she signed a woman suffrage position. She displayed a scrapbook of cartoons of bygone days when she was pictured as "Calamity Nell," and as a mosquito worrying politicians. She has enjoyed her struggle for women's rights but still believes the battle is not yet over.

Member of numerous organizations, Mrs. McClung has consistently refused to hold any office. She believes women would accomplish more if they did not care where the credit fell. Though prominent in social work for women and children, Calagarians, in bidding adieu to Mrs. McClung will remember her best as the author of "Sowing Seeds in Danny," and the numerous other novels she has written.

What To-Day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If September 26th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10.30 a.m. to 12.10 p.m., from 5 p.m. to 6.40 p.m. and from 9.50 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger hours are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., and from 2 p.m. to 3.25 p.m.

The Stars foretell a time of unusual activity on September 26th. The influences will be energizing, and will induce greater effort than usual. Much useful work will be accomplished and, in many cases, the foundation of future success will be laid. An eminently suitable occasion for initiative work.

A child born on this September 26th will be, although exceptionally attractive, willful, and possibly, wayward. Its ingratiating ways will frequently secure for it unmerited indulgence. Clever and shrewd, rather selfish, determined and inconsiderate of others, it will succeed materially, but, in its onward progress, will cause many heart aches and disappointments.

You, if born on September 26th, are a plodder-patient and painstaking. You suffer from no illusions as to your capacity, and are quite conscious of your limitations. You are not one to bite off more than you can chew, and although not, lacking in ambition, you do not endeavor to reach your goal by airship, but are content to jog along on foot.

Methodical, meticulous and careful, you never leave a task, no matter how distasteful it may be, until it has been accomplished to the best of your ability. You never quit a job half finished. You never undertake more than one job at a time. Your method may be slow, but they are sure, and, in the long run, you will outpace many who start off with a rush.

Your disposition is an affectionate and an even one. You do not blow hot and then blow cold. Once your affections become involved, they assume a permanent character. You are undemonstrative in the accepted sense of the term, but those near and dear to you realize that they can always rely and depend on your help and guidance when needed. You are faithful, loyal and sincere.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (C.P.).—A fresh wave of selling splashed over the Stock Market in the late dealings to-day, many leading shares sliding off 2 to 4 points. The closing tone was weak, and activity increased on the decline. Losses of 4 or more points were experienced by Santa Fe, Lacakawanna, American Telephone and Case, U.S. Steel, Eastman, American Water Works and Allied Chemical were off 3 or more, while declines of more than 2 points occurred in U.S. Steel, New York Central, Southern Pacific and Consolidated Gas. Transactions totalled about 2,300,000 shares.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, September 26 (C.P.). —Higher priced base metals, encountering some light selling, carried the balance of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange list irregularly lower in a quiet session to-day. Loses predominated among closing changes, with a large portion of the board in the trading discard.

International Nickel showed the largest recession, price dipping nearly $1.00 on the day. Noranda was off 40 and Hudson Bay lost 25. In the Lindsley group Sherritt-Gordon and Falconbridge were down 7 apiece, and Ventures dropped 5. Silver shares were easy.

Golds were inactive. Hollinger firmed 5, but Wright-Hargreaves slipped a few cents. Among cheaper issues Kirkland Lake Gold and Malrobic were in improved demand. Siscoe and Howey lost a cent or so.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Sept. 26. (CP)—Reduced demand and moderately-heavy selling pressure in the last half-hour sent prices downward on the Montreal Stock Exchange today. Half-a-dozen issues closed with losses of more than a point while fractional declines were scattered throughout the list.

C.P.R. bore the brunt of the selling, dropping to 18⅛ before recovering in the last few minutes to close at 18⅝, down 1⅝. Consolidated Smelters lost an early gain, closing at 35 ½, down 1½. International Nickel at 10⅜, Lindsay Common at 3 and National Steel Car at 19½ each lost a full point.

Shawinigan Power was another weak spot, dropping 1¼ to 17¾. Other power issues closed unchanged to fractionally lower. Power Corporation at 13⅜ was off. Montreal Power eased ¼ to 36¾, Quebec Power closed unchanged at 16⅞.

TORONTO EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—(C.P.) — Although facing one of the largest dividend periods in the year stocks on the Toronto Stock Exchange began the week with one of the quitest openings since June. There was no important accumulation of orders on either side of the market and it was some time before active trading got under way. The trend was irregularly higher at the opening, reacted a little towards the noon hour and worked lower at the close.

Price changes were rarely more than fractional. Except for Consolidated Smelters which finished at 84 for a net loss of 3.

Of the interlisted issues, C.P.R. was the most active with a turnover of some 3,000 shares. The carrier paid little attention to the reported increase in car loadings, closing at 13¾, down 1-¼ points. Nickel sagged off in almost successive transactions to 10½.

ABITIBI DECLARED BANKRUPT TO-DAY

Company in Receivership for Several Weeks Following Failure to Meet Obligations.

TORONTO, Sept. 26. — (By the Canadian Press.)—Mr. Justice Robert G. Fisher to-day adjudged the Abitibi Power and Paper Company bankrupt in a judgment handed down at Osgoode Hall.

The company had been in receivership for several weeks following failure to meet obligations.

Application was made by Canada Packers Company of Toronto. At the request of the petitioner and other trade creditors, F. C. Clarkson was appointed liquidator.

Counsel for the petitioners claimed the annual report of the company for the year ending Dec. 31 last showed as outstanding shares of seven per cent. cumulative preferred stock of an aggregate par value of $34,881,800. The charter of the company provides the six per cent cumulative preferred shares should rank as regards capital and dividends after the seven per cent. cumulative preferred shares.

WINNIPEG GRAIN EXCHANGE

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 26.—(C.P.)—Influenced by general rains in all three prairie provinces over the week-end local wheat prices scored fractional gains in early trading today. Operations from the start were rather light with outside support generally lacking.

Hedging pressure was on a heavier scale and values during the initial 30 minutes held steady at levels slightly over the previous close. Export business over the week-end was disappointing, and trading generally was rather dull.

Liverpool displayed firmness from the start and finally closed 1d to 3d higher per 100 pounds. Buenos Aires wheat opened 1c higher per bushel.

World's shipments of wheat and flour over the week-end totalled nearly 14,000,000 bushels, of which about 8,000,000 bushels was of North American origin.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 19

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service, Inc.)

"Ka-goda!" said the creature facing Tarzan. Now, in the language of the great apes of Tarzan's own jungle, this word means "Do you surrender?" Tarzan was astounded to hear the same word thus used by these strange creatures of Pellucidar, the inner world. Did his fierce captors and the apes among whom he had been reared to manhood have the same common ancestor and the same language? Then the fellow again demanded: "Ka-goda?" and Tarzan of the Apes replied: "Ka-goda," which also means "I surrender."

And now it was the gorilla-like creature's turn to be surprised. As Tarzan spoke, the brute lowered his cudgel as though astonished to hear the prisoner answer in his own tongue. "Who are you?" he demanded in the language of the great apes. "What are you doing in M'wa-lot's country" "I am Tarzan—mighty hunter—mighty fighter," replied the ape-man. "I come as a friend. I have no quarrel with your people." With this speech appeared a score more of the shaggy creatures until the surrounding tree limbs sagged beneath their weight.

"How did you learn the language of the Sagoths" demanded the bull. "We have captured gilaks before, but you are the first one who ever spoke or understood our language." "It is my own people's language" replied Tarzan. "As a little balu, I learned it from Kala, and the other apes of the tribe of Kerchak." "We never heard of that tribe," said the bull. "Perhaps he tells not the truth," said another. "Let us kill him. He is only a gilak." "No" said a third, "take him to M'wa-let. Then the whole tribe may join in the killing."

"That is good," exclaimed another, "take him back to the tribe. Then while we are killing him, we shall dance." The idea seemed to please the others mightily. Three of the Sagoths secured Tarzan's wrists behind his back with a thong of buckskin. Having decided upon the Ape-man's fate, the Sagoths now turned their attention to the saber-tooth who had returned to the carcass of the thag. He was not feeding, but was gazing angrily up into the trees at the Sagoths. Soon began a curious method of warfare between man and beast.

FIND SPEEDBOAT EMPTY ON SHORE 4 MEN MISSING

Coastguards Search All Night After Cottagers Hear Cries for Help.

NEAR ROCHESTER.

Drive Shaft Broken — Owner Left to Test New Motor on Trip to Summerville.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 26. — (CP). The "Jolly Roger" 22 foot speedboat, missing since late yesterday afternoon when it left Sea Breeze on Lake Ontario with four men aboard was found stranded on the beach seven miles north of here to-day with no trace of its occupants.

The four men in the boat when it left Sea Breeze for its slip in the Yacht Club basin at Summerville were identified as St. Clair Rogers, 29, advertising man; Charles White 27, James Currier and George De May, 16, all of Rochester.

The boat, equipped with a new motor which Rogers was testing, left Sea Breeze at 4 p.m. At 6.40 p.m. cottagers reported hearing cries for help and notified the coast guard at Summerville, which sent two vessels and searched all night.

The beached boat, its drive shaft broken, was found at 8.30 this morning.

Obituary

JAMES ALEXANDER SUTHERLAND

The death occurred on Sunday following a brief illness of James Alexander, twenty-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland of 58 Orpington road. Mr. Sutherland was educated at May's School and was a member of the Penecostal Church. Surviving him besides his parents, is one brother Ian at home.

Funeral services will be conducted on Tuesday by the Rev. G. A. Chambers at 2.30 p.m. at the family residence. Interment at Little Lake cemetery.

DAVID HEASLIP

(Examiner Correspondence)

JANETVILLE, Sept. 26. — The death of David Heaslip at his home near Janetville was a great shock to the community in which he had lived for so many years. He was a man who was loved and respected by old and young and having lived practically all of the seventy-five years of his life in this locality had many an interesting historical tale to tell to eager enquiring listeners.

The late Mr. Heaslip was a faithful member of the United Church and a christian gentleman in the true sense of the word, his honesty and fairness in business dealings being a striking example for his younger admirers.

The funeral service conducted by his pastor, Rev. W. C. Smith of the Janetville United Church was held at Mr. Heaslip's late residence on Tuesday afternoon and proceeded to Riverside cemetery, Lindsay, where the remains were laid to rest.

The many beautiful floral tributes were a silent token of the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The pall bearers were Mr. Wes Campbell, Mr. Mac Thornton, Mr. Wilbert Cully, Toronto, Mr. Robt. Halloran and Mr. John Halloran, Pontypool who are nephews.

POTATO WEIGHS OVER 2 POUNDS

C. Andrus, Carlisle Avenue, Grows Potato Weighing 2 Lbs. One Oz.

HOME GROW PEACHES.

That the past summer has been a particularly good one for the growing of garden produce, has been instanced time and time again in the numerous samples of oversize fruit and vegetables that have reached The Examiner office during the past few weeks, not to mention the wonderful horticultural exhibits—some of the best yet—that were displayed during exhibition here.

And now, some of the latest samples to find their way to The Examiner are two large, perfectly-formed potatoes; the one weighing 2 pounds 1 ounce, measuing 17¼ inches one way and a girth of 11 inches; and the other weighing 1 pound 14 ounces and measuring 16¼ inches by 12 inches. They were grown by C. Andrus of 265 Carlisle avenue, who declares that his whole crop of Green Mountain potatoes is of the same excellent quality with no small ones.

Another large potato was also brought along by J. West of 132 Perry street. One of seven "spuds" from the same hill all of approximately the same size; it tips the scales at 1¾ pounds.

Three peaches, specimens picked from a well-loaded tree, all of good size and appearance have been received from David Oliver, of 536 Edison avenue. The tree which bore the fruit, is stated to have been cultivated by Mr. Oliver from a peach stone planted by him some years ago.

MRS. FRANK SHERWOOD WINS BRANTFORD TITLE

BRANTFORD, Ont., Sept. 26. — Playing beautiful approaches and putting several greens, rMs. Frank Sherwood, formerly of Peterborough, defeated Miss Walsh Saturday afternoon, 3 up and 1 to go, in the final match for the ladies' club championship cup of Arrowdale Golf Club.

The match was all square going out, and although Miss Walsh usually had the length of the tee, Mrs. Sherwood's fine irons won her the match at the 17th hole.

EXCESSIVE POPULATION PUERTO RICO'S PROBLEM

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Sept. 26. —(A.P.)—In his first annual report to the Secretary of War, Governor James R. Beverly asserted to-day that Puerto Rico's greatest problem is its excessive population.

This year there was net increase of 20.4 per 1,000, bringing the total population to 1,399,142, or 463.5 to the square mile.

He suggested three, partial solutions — increased employment through new industries, emigration on a large scale or a decrease in the birth rate.

HAWTHORNE IS THE LIBERAL NOMINEE

ENTER 13 NAMES AS CANDIDATES IN EAST RIDING

James Hawthorne, Ex-Warden of County is Choice of Convention.

FOUR HOURS BALLOTING.

Liberal Rally at Norwood Most Enthusiastic in Years.

NORWOOD, September 27.—James Hawthorne, of Dummer Township, a former Warden of this county, was chosen as the candidate of the Liberals of the Provincial riding of Peterborough County at their largely attended convention here on Monday afternoon.

Balloting 4 Hours.

Four hours of balloting were required to reach a decision. The meeting opened shortly after two o'clock, and balloting began about four o'clock, continuing until long after dark at eight o'clock.

The names of thirteen men, thoroughly representative of the old riding of East Peterborough, were proposed for the honor, and responsibility of carrying the Liberal standard in the next Provincial elections. Five of these nominees withdrew at the outset, leaving five of them to go to the convention of some three hundred men and women, including quite a number of the younger electors.

Seven of the men who were proposed were ex-Wardens of the County. The majority were farmers, and it was significant that the sentiment of the meeting frankly favored a rural representative, although the entire group of nominees shared alike in the felicities that preceded the balloting. Dr. Donald Munro, of Warsaw, president of the East Peterborough Liberals for twenty-three years, urged the nomination of an active farmer, and at the same time retired from the lists in which he was regarded as a first ranker.

Reduced to Four.

On the final ballot the nominees had been reduced to four by the usual process of elimination. They were Mr. Hawthorne, William A. Anderson, ex-M.P.P. of Otonabee, J. F. Breckenridge of Belmont, and William A. Griffith of Havelock, all ex-Wardens.

The others who were nominated were Charles Tanner, Lakefield, Fred Fry, Belmont, Dr. J. C. Smith, Lakefield, Fred D. McIntyre, Reeve of Otonabee, John Clark of Galway Archie Wilson of Harvey, W. A. Richardson of Norwood, William

TOO MUCH FOG.

MANILA, Sept. 27. — Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, German round the world flier, to-day expressed the belief the Japanese goodwill fliers had been forced down on one of the isolated Kurile or Aleutian Islands which lie between Japan proper and Alaska.

The German aviator landed here to-day after completing in 6½ hours the first direct flight from Hong Kong to Manila. The distance is 650 miles. On his flight from Alaska to the Orient, he passed over both the Kurile and Aleutian chains.

"There are spots along the North Pacific route," he pointed out, "where it may take several weeks to establish communication."

He said the North Pacific appeared to be impracticable as a possible future aviation route between North America and Asia because "the weather changes every 15 minutes. Also there is so much fog."

CANADA FLOATS LOAN IN STATES OF $60,000,000

$19,000,000 FOR C.N.R.

OTTAWA, Sept. 27. —(CP)— A New York banking syndicate headed by the Chase Harris Forbes corporation has purchased an issue of $60,000,000 one-year four percent notes of the dominion. The issue will provide funds for all principal payments of the Dominion in United States maturing until Oct. 1, 1933, said Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance in making the announcement.

The two maturities involved in the issue are the $40,000,000 two year notes maturing Dec. 1 and a short term loan negotiated by the Canadian National Railway for $19,000,000. The railway loan was reduced to $15,000,000 by payments from current resources of the Dominion which will be reimbursed from the loan operation.

The transaction will not require transfer of any money to Canada. The proceeds will be used to redeem maturing debt payable in New York.

Oversubscribed.

OTTAWA.—Satisfaction was expressed by the Department of Finance to-day at the oversubscription in New York of Canada's new $30,000,000 issue. Increasing faith in the very high standard of Canadian securities and the achievements of the Dominion in meeting every cent of its obligation when world-wide financial disturbances existed are attributed by financial experts to the reception accorded to the issue. The offering, according to information received, was oversubscribed within half an hour.

Boys' Prank Gives Police Wild Run

SASKATOON, Sept. 27 (C.P.) — Red coats and police raced out to a suburb two miles north of this city to investigate a report of man hanging from the railway bridge. An ambulance, its siren shrieking followed close behind, while reporters besought taxi drivers to make more speed.

As the cars approached the bridge the shapeless form of the man loomed ominously; the lights of the auto playing on his shapeless pants.

It was merely an empty sack, with old pants tied around it. The work of mischievous boys. But it sufficed to stop four car drivers who speeded back to the city to give the alarm.

Blast Aboard Sub Claims Three Lives

CHERBOURG, France, Sept. 27. —(A.P.)—The death toll of the explosion aboard the French submarine Persee off Cherbourg yesterday rose to three to-day as two more of the injured died.

The number of injured this morning was 29, four of whom were in a very serious condition.

The Persee was towed in and moored beside the arensa, here. There were large fissures in the motor compartment, but the hull was undamaged.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

GENEVA, Switzerland.—Sir Eric Drummond's resignation as secretary-general of the League of Nations was accepted to-day by the League Concil. It will take effect early in 1933, the date not definitely specified.

An Exchange

HENSALL, Ont., Sept. 27.—(C. P.)—Two fastidious and nattily-attired tramps are sought by police of Huron county. Dropping off a freight train here they entered the general store of T. C. Joynt by removing the entire frame of the front door. From the racks they selected suits to their liking, and dragged natty shirts, ties, sox and sport Oxfords from the shelves. Grey felt hats completed the ensembles. Then, folding their own tattered rags, they placed them on a chair, left the place and haven't been seen since.

HASTINGS AGENT BADLY INJURED

Two Cars Collide in Head-on Collision on Hastings Road.

CAR TOTAL WRECK.

HASTINGS, Sept. 27. (Examiner correspondence).—Robert Johnson, local C.N.R. station agent, was badly injured on Monday night in a car accident on the Norwood-Peterborough highway, which happened about nine o'clock.

Mr. Johnson was on his way to Peterborough, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, son Roy and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cox, of Orillia. When just west of Palin's Corners, they came head-on into a car driven by Mr. Lonergan, of Indian River.

In the crash, Mr. Johnson received a broken nose, badly cut face, head, hands and arms. He was rushed to Nicholls Hospital at Peterborough. Mrs. Johnston was badly bruised and suffered minor cuts. She also was conveyed to the hospital. The other occupants of the car received a bad shaking up. Mr. Lonergan, the lone occupant of his car, escaped with a shaking up.

Both cars were badly damaged. The Johnston car being almost a total wreck. Provincial Constable Warren, of Peterborough, investigated the accident.

120 LIVES LOST DURING QUAKE

All Victims Are Claimed in Macedonian and Chalcidicean Villages.

FELT IN BUCHAREST.

VIENNA, Sept. 27 (C.P.).—Despatches from Athens said to-day that 120 persons were believed to have been killed in an earthquake which struck last night in Macedonia and Chalcidice. Most of the victims were said to be inhabitants of the villages of Serisos and Stratoniki.

The 'quake was felt in Jugoslavia, where there was considerable damage but apparently no loss of life, and in Bucharest, where the tremors lasted 12 minutes.

Records of the Observatory here showed series of shocks which began at about 8.30 and lasted altogether nearly three hours. The maximum swing of the seismograph needle was nearly 200 millimeters north and south. The east-west needle was thrown off during the first 'quake, which was the most severe.

The Observatory at Belgrade estimated the centre of the 'quake in Southern Serbia, where there was a disastrous earthquake several years ago.

U. S. BALLOON DOWN

KAUNAS, Lithuania—The balloon "Goodyear 8" piloted by W. T. Van Orman, one of the 16 entries in the James Gordon Bennett Cup race which began from Basel, Switzerland, Sunday, landed about 13 miles from here today.

GILBERT PARKER FAMOUS AUTHOR IS LAID TO REST

Ceremony Held in Anglican Church Where Baronet Worshipped as Youth.

TOUCHING SERVICE.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Sept. 27.—(CP)—Sir Gilbert Parker, distinguished author, who died in England three weeks ago, was buried here to-day amid the surroundings in which he had lived as a boy and a young man.

During the early part of the day hundreds of friends, acquantances and others who wished to do him homage passed before the heavy oaken casket, banked high with flowers from individuals and organizations, as it lay in the little Anglican Church of St. Thomas. Within the ivy-clad walls of the church Sir Gilbert had worshipped in his youth.

Among those in attendance were Harry W. Parker, California, Mrs. Beaumont Jarvis, brother and sister of the late baronet and eight other relatives.

Old School Class Attends

Fifteen surviving members of the class at Marsh Hill School, outside the city, which Sir Gilbert taught before his writings brought him distinction, attended the funeral in a body.

As the congregation gathered for the service, Mrs. Rose Hunter, organist, played softly, "Marche Funebre".

When the Vicar of the Parish, Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, began the service of the order for the burial of the dead, the church was filled with friends of Sir Gilbert, representatives of various public and military bodies and numerous citizens.

The sentences opening the burial service were sung by the vicar after which the choir led by Mr. Ross Hunter sang the 19th Psalm, "Lord, Thou has been our refuge from one generation to another." The hymn, "On the Resurrection Morning" was sung by choir and congregation.

Bishop Lyons Speaks

His Lordship Right Rev. John Lyons, Bishop of Ontario, then addressed a few words on the life and work of the deceased. The triumph song of the church was sung, "For all the Saints who from their labours rest." The lesson from I Corinthians 15 chapter, 20th verse, "Now is Christ risen from the dead" was read. The recessional hymn was the "Nunc Dimittis" and as the cortege was leaving the church, the organist played the Dead March in Saul.

The active pall-bearers, were R.

CRIPPLED WIDOW IS GIVEN HOPES

Judge Dismisses Application of Executors of Will to Evict Her From Home.

UNABLE TO PAY TAXES.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 27 (C.P.)—Hope came to-day to Mrs. Ellen Garside, 87, blind and crippled widow, when County Judge Ingram dismissed application of executors of her husband's will to have her evicted from her home.

Under terms of the will made several years ago, Mrs. Garside was to have use of the home for life on condition she paid taxes. For some time she managed to keep to conditions of the will until her only son was committed to the Ontario Hospital for the Insane. At almost the same time she became blind and lost the use of her limbs.

It was then she found herself unable to pay taxes out of the small Old Age Pension she receives.

The judge ruled to-day he had no jurisdiction, as the application for eviction should not have been under the Landlord and Tenant Act.

The relation of the woman to the estate, he said, was not that of tenant. He suggested if the executors were determined to have the aged woman ousted, they might go to the supreme court.

New Crop Coming

HAMILTON, Sept. 27.—(CP)—H. G. Arnott, Rosedale resident, today was wondering if he is going to have a second crop of apples.

A tree on his land burst into bloom a few days ago and warm weather tempted him to hope it might bear again this season.

6,500 WATCH OPENING GAME

NEWARK FAVORITES.

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 27 (C.P.)—A threat of rain cut into the attendance to-day for the first game of the Little World Series as Newark and Minneapolis opened baseball's second biggest classic. Only about 6,500 fans were present at game time. Don Brennan, right-handed ace, was on the mound for Newark, while the veteran Rosy Bill Ryan hurled for the American Association champions.

Newark, International League champion, was 9 to 5 favorite to win the opening game.

Andy Cohen, who formerly performed for Newark, got a good hand when he first came out in a Minneapolis uniform.

Before the game City Commissioner William J. Egan presented an automobile to Brennan on behalf of the Newark fans. The right hand ace won 25 games during the International League season, heading the circuit's moundsmen.

Line-up:—

Newark (I.L.):	Minneapolis (A.A.):
Neun, 1b.	Cohen, 2b
Rolfe, ss	Mowry, lf
Walker, cf	Hauser, 1b
Hill, lf	Ruble, rf
Jensen, rf.	Rice, cf
Saltzgaver, 2b	Gansel, 3b
Owen, 3b	Smith, ss
Hargreaves, c	Richards, c
Brennan, p	Ryan, p

Ryan's wildness gave Newark a run in the first inning. He passed the first three men, inserting a couple of wild pitches after giving Neun the first walk. Jesse Hill's fly to Rice allowed Neun to score. The next two men filed out without further trouble.

Charley Hargreaves slammed one into the right field bleachers to start a rally that gave Newark two more runs in the second. The homer was followed by two more walks. Brennan, who drew the first, took third on a force out and scored on Walker's single to left.

Tacoma Holds Bandit Wanted by London

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 27.—(CP)—London police had information today of the arrest at Tacoma, Washington, of Frank Henry Martron, on a charge of highway robbery. Martron has been wanted by local police since 1927, when he led a jail break here in which Ed Harlton, held for murder, and three others escaped from the jail, and as a result of which Byron Dawson was dismissed as governor of Middlesex jail. At the time of the break Martron was awaiting trial on a charge of indecent assault. His identification at Tacoma was effected by fingerprints sent from here, it was stated.

AGED CANADIAN UNABLE TO ENTER HOMELAND

Man 100 Years Old Refused Admission at Border.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 27.— (C. P.)—Claiming to be 100 years of age and a native of Toronto, John O'Brien, a cripple, has made two attempts to get through immigration gates into Canada.

O'Brien says that he hitch-hiked from Pueblo, Colorado, in two months and sold pencils to secure his living. He had no proof that he was born in Canada so was turned back. He claimed to have a sister, Mrs. Mary Quigley, in Toronto.

30 KNOWN DEAD HUNDREDS HURT TERRIFIC LOSS

Full Force of 120-mile Gale Lashes San Juan Over Three Hours.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS.

Death Toll Expected Much Higher as Broken Wires Halt Details.

SAN JUAN, P.R., September 27 (C.P.). — At least 30 persons are known to have been killed in a terrific hurricane which struck this city last night.

The full force of a 120-mile wind struck before midnight, and lashed the city until 2.30 this morning, causing property damage even greater than that left in the wake of the disastrous 1928 blow.

Hundreds were injured and thousands were left homeless. Most of the dead, the first reports indicated, were in smaller outlying towns, such as Barrios, Sabanallana, Catano, and Rio Piedras.

Takes 2 and 3—30Knokn ... .

Here in the city the loss of life was materially reduced by the police who took the precaution of rounding up hundreds of women and children, removing them from their homes and placing them for safety in the more substantial church and school buildings.

Villages Unprepared

The villages, consisting for the most part of flimsy homes, had no such protection. Even in San Juan homes were unroofed by the hundred and torrents of rain poured in.

First reports gave the following death toll:

Barrios, 14 dead; Sabanallan, 4; Catano, 2; Rio Piedras, 10.

Various reports from the last-named town placed the death toll there as high as 40, with seven members of one family killed in their home. Rio Piedras is about five miles east of San Juan, directly in the path of the storm. The unsubstantial native dwellings stood exposed on the hillsides.

800 Homes Ruined

A quick survey this morning indicated that at least 800 of 1,000 dwellings in the ocean front section of the city had been wholly destroyed or rendered uninhabitable.

During the night hundreds of families had found refuge in the ancient Spanish fort of San Cristobal.

The disturbance, the bureau said, was "continuing to move slightly north of west at a speed of at least 120 miles an hour."

The centre of the hurricane, the

U.S. OFFICIAL DOUBTS IF CANADA CAN ENTER SPEEDBOAT IN RACES

Claims Rules Call For Craft Designed, Owned, Driven by Men of Country Represented.

SAYS HAWKER, ENGLISH.

DETROIT, Sept. 27 (C.P.).—W. D. Edenburn, chairman of the race committee of the Yachtsmens Association of America, stated to-day he doubted whether Canada could put an entry into next year's speedboat races for the Harmsworth Trophy and the world's championship.

Mr. Edenburn quoted rules of the association to the effect competing boats must be designed by natives or naturalized subjects of the country from which they are entered and must be constructed wholly and in every respect in that country.

Hawker, Englishman.

Bert Hawker of Gravenhurst, Ont., boat designer, who drove Miss Betty Carstairs' entry in the Harmsworth in 1930, he said, had established at that time that he was an Englishman. Hawker was mentioned yesterday in an announcement from Orillia, Ont., as the designer of a boat which an Orillia syndicate was considering entering in the 1933 races.

Construction of an engine of sufficient power to make its boat a contender in the race would cost the Canadian syndicate about $250,000, Mr. Edenburn estimated. The syndicate would not be allowed to use a British engine in a purely Canadian challenge, he added, and he believed the United Kingdom was the only country in the Empire capable of producing such an engine.

Place May Be Reserved.

Mr. Edenburn recalled that when the late Col. Thomas Duff of Toronto planned to join with Commodore Harry Greening of Hamilton in a Canadian Harmsworth challenger for 1923, Canada did not produce an engine of sufficient power to make an entry possible, and as a result the trustee for the British International Trophy, the Royal Motor Yacht Club, decided to reserve a place in the 1935 team for a Canadian challenger fitted with a British-built engine. Mr. Edenburn said he thought the same procedure might still be followed.

It is provided in the rules for the Harmsworth that where a country does not have a national authority from the Union Internationale du Yachting of Brussels, the trustees of the trophy shall decide on the eligibility of any entry, Mr. Edenburn added.

ALLOW PUPILS TO DRIVE CARS

Officials Delve Into Case as 22 Threaten to Strike Rather Than Use Bus.

SCHOOL TRANSPORTATION.

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 27 (C.P.)—Twenty-two Wyoming and district children to-day were allowed to continue using private means of transportation to high school in Petrolia following their threat to strike over a Provincial Police order banning the practice.

Use of their own vehicles was a temporary measure pending further consideration of the case by officials in Toronto, police said.

When train service between Wyoming and Petrolia was abandoned two years ago, pupils who owned automobiles or whose parents owned cars arranged transportation on a cost-sharing basis.

The system was continued until last week until Provincial Police halted the children and told them they must use the regular passenger bus.

Cost sharing, police said, constituted hire and necessitated a license to avoid legal penalty. Parents maintained cost of bus transportation constituted a hardship.

PATRICK KERWIN IS NAMED JUDGE OF HIGH COURT

Guelph Lawyer Appointed Judge of the Ontario High Court.

PARTNER OF GUTHRIE.

Practised Law in City of Guelph for Past 21 Years.

OTTAWA, Sept. 27.—(CP)—Patrick Kerwin, K. C., Guelph, Ont., has been appointed a judge of the high court of justice of Ontario. Official announcement to this effect was made today.

Partner of Guthrie

GUELPH, Ont., Sept. 27.—Patrick Kerwin, K. C., whose appointment as a judge of the Ontario High Court was announced today, has been practicing law in Guelph for the past 21 years.

Born in Sarnia, Mr. Kerwin was educated at the Sarnia collegiate University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall law school and immediately after he was called to the bar he joined the law firm known here for two decades as Guthrie and Kerwin, in which the senior partner is Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Dominion Minister of Justice. Mr. Kerwin was appointed a K. C. five years ago.

Announcement of Mr. Kerwin's elevation to the bench was received by members of the local legal fraternity today with the greatest gratification. Mr. Kerwin himself is absent from the city, serving as special crown prosecutor at the fall assizes in Hamilton.

SAY HOMER BORN CITY OF SMYRNA

Turks Unearth Documents Proving Statements Regarding Old Greek Poet.

SUBJECT OF DEBATE.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 27.—(A.P.) — The official newspaper Milliett said to-day the Turks had discovered documents in Smyrna proving that Homer, the ancient Greek poet, was born in the Halkapinar district of that city.

No details of the find were announced.

The controversy over the birthplace of Homer or even whether Homer ever actually lived at all, is as ancient almost as the poems themselves.

Many cities are on record as claiming to be the places of his birth. Smyrna and Chios have had most support from scholars heretofore, however.

The date of the poet's birth has been variously fixed at from 685 B.C. to 1159 B.C.

Many scholars have contended that the tradition of the blind old poet is a fiction and the poems were merely the edited songs of many ancient Greek minstrels.

Sir Gilbert Parker Is Borne To Grave

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Sept. 27 —The body of Sir Gilbert Parker, noted author who died in England two weeks ago lay in State to-day in the ivy-clad Anglican Church of St. Thomas in his native town.

All day those who had known him when he lived here and those who admired him for his accomplishments passed by the heavy oaken casket banked high with flowers from friends and from organizations desiring to pay him homage.

The funeral will be held later in the day and the body interred in the Parker private mausoleum in Belleville Cemetery.

DEMOCRATS IN LEAD

DENVER. — Democrats outnumbered Republicans in the United States Senate by the margin of one to-day with the appointment of Walter Walker, Grand Junction newspaper publisher, to that body to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Senator Charles W. Waterman.

On the roster of the upper house now are 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and one Farmer-Labor member.

PLANS GO WRONG FOR ARSON TOUR

One of Two Suspects Held Turns King's Evidence at Pal's Trial.

FIRST FIRE FAILED.

SASKATOON, Sept. 27.—(CP)—The story of how plans for an "arson tour" of Saskatchewan, Alberta and some of the Northwestern states went astray when the first fire at Vanscoy, Sask., proved unsuccessful was related in assize court here.

John Benoit, accused of arson, turned king's evidence at the trial of T. O'Neil, former student of the University of Saskatchewan. O'Neill and himself, he said, planned the destruction of a dance hall at Vanscoy as their first coup. Benoit said he had placed $1,500 insurance on the hall.

The two conspirators, he testified, had quarrelled about setting the fire. He had objected owing to danger to persons in adjoining buildings but O'Neill had insisted on going ahead.

The hall was fired last February but fire-fighters quenched the blaze and the two were later arrested.

The case is continuing.

INDIAN BISHOP VISITS CANADA

Dr. J. R. Chitambar to See Burial Place of His Teacher, Bishop Warne.

AT BALLINAFAD.

BALLINAFAD, Ont., Sept. 27. —(C.P.)—To honor the memory of a Canadian who years ago had been his leader in India, Bishop J. R. Chitambar of the Methodist Episcopal Church in India, was expected to visit this little Erin Township village to-day.

The Indian Bishop, the first man of his race to be elected a general superintendent in Methodism, planned to visit the grave of the late Bishop F. W. Warne, who spent 40 years of his life in missionary work in India. At the graveside he hopes to meet Dr. Warne's widow and daughter, Mrs. H. F. Fisher, now resident in Toronto.

First Sermon 60 Years Ago.

When his Canadian tour was being arranged some weeks ago Bishop Chitambar expressed a wish to make this pilgrimage. The United Church here is the place where Dr. Warne worshipped as a boy and preached his first sermon nearly 60 years ago.

Francis Wesley Warne was born on an Erin Township farm December 30, 1854, and died at Brooklyn N.Y., early this year after having given 59 years to the ministry. He was buried at his own request in the little churchyard here.

A light gray granite stone now covers the form of a man who endured much in India and capped his career by working his way home from Persia in the engine room of an oil tanker when that was the only way he could reach New York for the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1920.

Gandhi Improving Slowly After Fast

POONA, India, Sept. 27.—(A.P.) —Mahatma Gandhi was progressing favorably to-day, his physicians said, after breaking his "death fast" yesterday.

His diet to-day consisted of grapefruit juice and sugar, and to-morrow he was expected to be able to take some barley water and milk whey.

He was visited in his quarters at Veroda jail this morning by the noted Indian poet, Rabindranath Tagore, Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, and several other prominent Indian leaders.

Having won all the fame she desired at the other side of the Atlantic, Miss Binnie Barnes, well-known British actress, is seeking fresh fields to conquer. So here she is waving an exuberant greeting to New York on her arrival on the S. S. Berengaria. Miss Barnes is en route to Hollywood, where she will appear in American films.

CLAIMS CANADIAN PENSIONS ACT BEST OF ANY NATION IN LAST WAR

RALLY IN SAULT.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. Sept. 27.—(CP)—"I believe the pensions act in Canada to be not only one of the best but the best of any nation engaged in the great war," declared Col. F. J. Pickring, president of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion, in his presidential address before the convention of that organization here today.

"I believe that it represents the intention of the people of Canada to give to the men who fought and suffered for her, justice, recognition and compensation of the highest order. With the pensions act itself, that is with the exception of some minor amendments, we have no quarrel, but we are dissatisfied there should be so many hitches and delays in administration.

Many Appeals

"This pensions question has occupied our minds constantly since the war. We have had to go to the government of this country repeatedly expressing dissatisfaction and I am afraid that in the minds of many people there must be growing a doubt as to whether the veteran can ever be satisfied."

Col. Picking declared the situation with regard to employment of former service men under the provisions of the civil service act was "not entirely satisfactory, as there appears to be an attempt at evasion of the principles under which preference is given which prererence is given which, of course, in itself constitutes evasion of the law."

"As an instance, he quoted the case of James H. Kennedy, of Shelburne, Ont., who had applied for the postmastership here. The Civil Service Commission had notified Kennedy of his appointment. He had been told to prepare to take over the office, but later was notified no action would be taken to transfer the office. Kennedy had quit his job, but later returned when his postmaster's appointment failed to materialize.

No Justice.

"Constant and protracted negotiations through Dominion Command have, so far, failed to secure justice for Comrade Kennedy," declared Col. Picking.

He warned the Legion against formation of a political party, declaring experience had shown that the history of third parties in political activities is "not always a happy one."

"We have bigger jobs to do than those of interfering in political matters, the jobs of serving our comrades and serving our country," he said.

CAMPPBELLFORD POTATO BEATS PREVIOUS RECORD

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 27. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). —And this one beats all previous records. A potatoe that weighs exactly 2 pounds and 3 ozs. This glorious tuber was grown by Ray Oliver of Thomasburgh and is now in Birk's Drug Store Campbellord. It is of the Dewey variety and is a splendid specimen, with no blemishes.

BOMB SHATTERS JUDGE'S HOME

BLAST HEARD 3 MILES.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Webster Thayer, wife of Justice Thayer, who sat during the Sacco-Vanzetti trial, was injured early to-day when a bomb exploded at the rear of the Thayer home.

A maid, Miss Joanne Sashe, was also injured. Judge Thayer was taken from the house unharmed.

Mrs. Thayer received head injuries and the maid minor cuts and bruises.

Police said the explosion was due to a bomb, planted at the rear of the house. The back of the Thayer home was destroyed, every window was blown out in the front of the house and the roar of the blast could be heard three miles away.

Judge Trayer's only comment to police was: "They can't kill me that easily."

10 Injured On Sub Following Blast

CHERBOURG, France, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Ten men in the crew of the French submarine Pereee were injured today by an explosion in the engineroom while the vessel was cruising between Guernsey and the French coast.

Most of the injured men were burned, but it was not thought that any of their hurts was critical.

The submarine sent out a call for assistance and was towed to this port.

REV. J. D. PATERSON WILL SPEAK AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMBELLFORD, September 27 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). —The Rev. J. D. Paterson, prominent Peterborough clergyman, and rector of All Saints' Anglican Church, will be the guest speaker at Christ Church, Campbellford, on Sunday, November 2, when the annual harvest festival services will be held in that church. Mr. Paterson will preach at the evening service, the morning service being a choral Communion, at which the rector, Rev. T. H. Floyd will officiate.

Steam railways in Canada operated 42,290 miles of line last year.

Craving for Heat

HAMILTON, Sept. 26.—(CP) —Oscar Mann, Smithville, famous locally as the cold blooded man due to the fact he was wearing, when arrested two weeks ago, several shirts, three pairs of trousers and women's undergarments because, he said, he "felt the cold" will be kept fairly warm during the winter at the Ontario reformatory. He was sentenced in police court today by James McKay, deputy-magis rate, to a term of from three to fifteen months, on two charges of theft of milk, and one of vagrancy. The sentences to run concurrently.

WORKMAN RUNS AMOK WITH GUN

POSSE OF 25 OUT.

PEMBROKE, Ont. Sept 26 (C.P.). —Led by Constable Kenny, of Pembroke, and Constable McNeil of Renfrew, a posse of 26 men were scouring the woods in the vicinity of Connaught settlement for Frank Whitford, who on Saturday, it is alleged, ran amok with a rifle.

It is claimed Whitford chased Lawrence Sheedy for more than half a mile, firing several shots at him, none of which took effect. Whitford had been working for Sheedy. Giving up the chase Whitford, it is claimed, then fired two shots at Thomas Sheedy, a cousin of the former, but did not injure him. Whitford is believed to have been harboring a grudge against his employer, who had told him his services would not be required after Saturday night.

After the firing Whitford escaped into the woods, and at 10 o'clock this morning had evaded all efforts of the posse to capture him.

Vancouver to Vote Upon Sweepstakes

VANCOUVER, Sept. 27 (C.P.)— Vancouver voters will be asked to express their opinion on sweepstakes at the civic elections on Dec. 14, the City Council has decided. On that a plebiscite will be taken to determine whether the citizens favor amending the Criminal Code for this purpose to raise funds for hospitals throughout Canada.

It was pointed out the opinion expressed would serve as a guide to the authorities at Ottawa if the question of sweepstakes came before the next session of Parliament.

Ten Couriers Seek Prisoners' Freedom

NEWCHANG, Manchuria, Sept. 27 (C.P.).—Improved weather today revived hopes here that messengers sent into the stronghold of a group of bandits to negotiate for the release of two British subjects, Mrs Pawley and Robert Corkran, might soon return.

The first courier left here seven days ago, and 10 have been sent altogether. Mrs. Pawley and Corkran were kidnapped early this month in a raid by the bandits on a train.

Corn Cob Resembles Hand And Arm

TRENT RIVER, Sept. 27 (Examiner Correspondence).—A freak cob of corn grown in the garden of Mrs. McLaughlin here has been brought to the notice of The Examiner. The cob has a distinct resemblance to a human arm and hand, and is complete with five fingers.

Bisurated Magnesia ALWAYS WORKS— it's scientifically compounded to do so, yet its cost is low in accordance with the times. Leading druggists everywhere.

You want what's best for your upset, gassy stomach—so ask for and GET Bisurated Magnesia.

VILLIERS PLANS TO MAKE ATTACK ON AIR RECORD

Englishman Has Designed Special Seaplane for Attack.

BUILT FOR 1929 RACE

(Central Press Canadian Correspondence.)

LONDON, Sept. 27.—An attempt to smash the world's air speed record is to be made by Amherst Villiers, designer of the Villiers supercharger. He is already experimenting with a 1929 Schneider race seaplane and two special racing engines with which he will make the attempt.

Amherst Villiers

By supercharging the engines he hopes to better the record of 408 m.p.h. set up by Flight Lieut. Stainforth last year.

This particular machine never completed due to trouble with the engine feed. Later Stainforth made a new record with it by flying it at 336 miles per hour.

The two racing engines Villiers has bought were built for the machine and without supercharging developed 800 h.p.

The Gloster machines were considered the most perfectly streamlined seaplanes of their time and were thought to be capable of much higher speeds than those officially made with any of them.

Villiers, a noted British inventor and nephew of Lord Wimborne, made his first success as designer for Sir Malcolm Campbell's original Bluebird in 1925, which established the world's speed record. His engagement was recently announced with Madame Maya de Lisle, a London hostess.

Janetville

JANETVILLE, Sept. 26. (Examiner Correspondence).—The Hampton and Janetville Institutes were guests of the Nestleton branch in Nestleton United Church recently.

The Hampton ladies provided a delightful program, with Mrs. Peters as chairman—Piano duet, Mrs. Chas. Kerslecke and Miss Norah Horn; reading, Mrs. Doidge, "The Old Man's Visit"; vocal solo, Miss Jebson, "When the Sun Goes Down"; reading, Miss John, "When the Teacher Came to Tea"; a paper Miss Honey, "An evening with our friends"; vocal solo, Mrs. Ken Calverly, "To a hill top"; paper, Mrs. A. B. Cryderman, "The Danger of Luxury in Modern Life."

September Meeting

The September meeting of the Women's Institute of "Janet Villa" was held on Thursday afternoon. A number of business items were dealt with and a committee comprised of Mrs. Chas. McNeil, Mrs. Chas. Deyell, Mrs. Wm. Sanderson, Mrs. Ed. Braburn and Mrs. M. Armstrong were consulted regarding the Institute exhibits at Lindsay Exhibition.

On the arrival of the district president, Mrs. Carl Moynes of Oakwood and the district secretary, Mrs. Scott of Lindsay, the Institute ladies sang, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows", after which the following program was much enjoyed: Community song; reading, Mrs. Rev. Walker; a splendid and concise address by the district president, Mrs. Moynes; instrumental, Miss Bessie Howe; an interesting paper by Mrs. Will Hanna on "Depression and Poverty"; a brief but beneficial talk by the district secretary, Mrs. Scott, and a reading by Mrs. Wes. Campbell. A contest sponsored by Mrs. Will Armstrong was then enjoyed by all with Bessie Howe winning first prize and Mrs. E. Bradburn second.

A dainty lunch was served by the convenor, Mrs. Robt. Nugent and her assistants, Mrs. W. Walker and Mrs. Orvine McGill.

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

QUEBEC.—Napoleon Boutin, 43, a farmer of St. Charles, Bellechasse County, last night was instantly killed in Beaumont a nearby town, the victim of a hit-and-run automobile driver. Apparently not noticing the approaching machine, Boutin was struck while crossing the street. Search for the driver has been inaugurated by Provincial Police. A widow and several children survive him.

Roseneath

The young people of the Roseneath United church met in the church on Wednesday to organize a Young People's society. Rev. R. W. Paton acted as chairman. After some discussion about the work of the society it was decided to organize and the following were elected into office: President, Miss Hildred Taylor; vice presidents, Misses Beatrice Sandercock, Ruby Blodgett and Jessie Smith and Mr. Art Newman; secretary, Mr. Billy Halstead; treasurer, Miss Jessie Mouncey; organist, Miss Doris Mouncey. After the close of the meeting the gathering wended their way to the agricultural grounds where they had an enjoyable time roasting marshmallows and weiners and will continue their meetings after the fall fair, Oct. 13 and 14.

The possible grain growing area of the Peace River country is estimated at 15 million acres.

Warkworth

On Friday evening a number of girl friends of Miss Helen Armstrong gathered at the home of Mrs. A. M. Smale to wish her every success in her year's work in Paris, France. Miss Armstrong was successful in winning a French scholarship, and leaves on Tuesday for Paris, where she will continue her French studies at a university there.

After an enjoyable evening Miss Armstrong was presented with an umbrella.

The annual school fair was held here on the agricultural grounds, Friday. As usual, the competition was keen in all classes as well as the sports.

This attractive basement room was made with DONNACONA INSULATING BOARD . . .

DONNACONA Insulating Board installed between the floor beams, the floor beams stained walnut or mahogany, and you have an attractive beamed ceiling. The exclusive roughcast surface of DONNACONA applied as panelling, and painted in two-tone high-light effects and you have a beautiful wall surface. Thus, at moderate expense you can build a livable room as shown above out of the waste space in your basement.

If you prefer, you can do the same thing in the attic, with the added advantage of insulating your roof at the same time. This will save you as much as 25 per cent. of your fuel, and make the whole house more comfortable both winter and summer.

If you are planning a new home specify DONNACONA insulation throughout. We will be glad to send you information regarding this premier all-Canadian Insulating Board and other building materials which will help to make your home more valuable and livable.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

ONE HOMEMAKER who makes the most delicious sort of dishes yet who seldom follows the recipes in a cook book, has an amusing term for her method.

• • • • • • •

She says she cooks by ear. Th eterm "playing by ear," when applied to musicians, means that they have such a sense of hearing coupled with enough technique that they can play without notes and get excellent effects.

• • • • • • •

So the homemaker mentioned has such a fine sense of the appropriateness of certain ingredients that her results are extraordinarily delicious.

• • • • • • •

The woman who is an experienced cook can do a good deal of this same sort of cooking by ear. The young cook can learn to become efficient in it if she will consider the fitness of ingredients in their relation to one another.

• • • • • • •

A Chinese cook once said of a green leaf vegetable which he served with a certain meat, that the vegetable "flattered" the meat. So it is with other things. One ingredient complements or flatters another, and such a combination is delicious.

• • • • • • •

It is in the use of left-overs that the opportunity to experiment is particularly offered. A homemaker goes to the refrigerator and looks well to her left-overs in the hope that she can find enough to make a satisfying meal.

• • • • • • •

Perhaps she realizes there is scarcely sufficient of any one thing, and she hesitates to have dabs of different foods served separately.

• • • • • • •

Then it is that she should consider the sort of things which are congenial.

• • • • • • •

Let us suppose she finds small quantities of several vegetables. There are two ways of combining them which immediately come to mind. One is a vegetable hash, the other a vegetable salad.

• • • • • • •

It depends on whether a hot or cold dish is wanted. The salad can be served with a mayonnaise, a boiled French or Russian dressing. Of course, the hash is nicest when moistened with gravy or soup stock.

• • • • • • •

If there is a white cereal such as farina, and meat left-overs, odds and ends of celery, macaroni, green sweet pepper, peas and other vegetables, a delicious escalloped meat dish can be made.

• • • • • • •

Mix all but the cereal and meat together after cutting these other ingredients into approximately the same size pieces. Put a layer of the cereal into a well-buttered baking dish.

• • • • • • •

Cover with a layer of the seasoned vegetable mixture, then a layer of meat bits. Fill the dish and pour over all the contents of a small can of vegetable or tomato soup or a consomme. Top with a layer of the cereal dotted with butter. Brown in the oven and serve hot. Not more than 20 minutes' cooking is needed.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

APPLYING INFERENCES TO THE BIDDING

A brilliant and interesting example of drawing correct inferences from the bidding, not only of partner, but opponents, occurred in a recent rubber game in a Pittsburgh Bridge club. The hand afforded one player an opportunity to make a brilliant game bid through the deductions drawn from his partner's two bids, which by inference must place with him a stopper in a suit bid by an adversary. It gave to a player on the other side the opportunity, which he embraced, of making a brilliant Defensive bid, because he also had drawn correct inferences from the bids of his partner and his opponents. The hand was:

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ A Q 6 5 4 ♡ 5 4 ◇ Q ♣ A Q 10 3 2
♠ K J 10 9 8 7 ♡ A Q ◇ 4 3 2 ♣ 5 4	N W E S	♠ 2 ♡ 3 2 ◇ A K J 10 9 8 ♣ K 8 7 6
	♠ 3 ♡ K J 10 9 8 7 6 ◇ 7 6 5 ♣ J 9

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
		1♠	2◇
2♡	Pass(1)	3♣(2)	3◇(3)
3♡	3NT(4)	Pass	Pass
4♡(5)	Dbl.	Pass	Pass
Pass

1—West's hand suggests no action at this time.
2—Correctly showing his second biddable suit.
3—Even with a passing partner, East's hand is so rich in playing tricks that this bid is fully warranted.
4—A brilliant bid. West, of course, has two of the suits adversely bid aptly stopped. His partner's Rebid of diamonds must indicate both length and strength and, by strong inference, a stopper in the club suit. West sees almost certain prospects of game.
5—South's hand, in view of West's bid, is without any defensive value, but does have at least 5 tricks with hearts as trump. With partner's Opening bid and later showing of another suit, the contract cannot be badly defeated.

In the play, West opened the four of diamonds, which East won and led a trump. West cleared the Dummy Hand of trumps and then led another diamond, his partner thus winning 3 diamond tricks. The Declarer, drawing a correct inference from the bidding, when he won the next trick, finessed the spade, and when the finesse held, discarded his losing club on the Ace, holding the penalty to a mere 200 points — a small loss when a game was at stake.

TODAY'S POINTER

The good Contract player draws inferences from every bid made by his partner and the opposing players. The revelation of the location of honor and distributional strength frequently increases or decreases greatly the value of a hand.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:
North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ J 8 7 4 ♡ A Q J 2 ◇ K J 9 5 ♣ 2
♠ K 9 5 3 ♡ 10 9 8 4 ◇ A 10 ♣ 9 8 5	N W E S	♠ Q 10 2 ♡ 7 6 5 3 ◇ Q 6 2 ♣ J 7 3
	♠ A 6 ♡ K ◇ 8 7 4 3 ♣ A K Q 10 6 4

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS

Queen Alexandra School Association Honors Departing Seniors. Thirty-Five Certificates

On Friday evening, in the flower-decked kindergarten of Queen Alexandra School, parents and friends witnessed the presentation of certificates to this year's graduating class.

Mr. O. M. Steer made a most capable chairman. Miss Eleanor Brown appeared twice during the evening, delighting her audience with two vocal solos, "The Leaves and the Wind," and "Fishing," rendered in a rich contralto voice. She was accompanied by Miss Marion Lang.

Miss Eileen Schoales delighted her audience with two humorous numbers.

Mr. M. H. Park, former principal of the school, was a splendid choice as special speaker of the evening. Having so recently severed his connection with the school this came as a sort of reunion with his last Entrance class.

Interspersing his talk with stories, Mr. Park held the attention of his former students, urging them to make the most of their opportunities, to "play the game" in every sense of he word, and always keep a warm spot in their hearts for Queen Alexandra School.

Mr. Mowat spoke briefly to the class, urging them to take advantage of their opportunity to secure an education but not to overlook the fact that education is not a period of years at school, but a lifelong process—and in closing wished them every success.

Edward Cragg and Horace Steer both made short speeches on behalf of the graduating class.

Mrs. R. Parnall, on behalf of the Home and School Association, thanked the speakers and artists who contributed to a most enjoyable evening.

Principal's Thanks

Mr. Munro addressing his class, thanked them for their helpfulness since he took over the principalship last January. He urged them to set a record for decency at all times, and in closing thanked his staff for their courtesy and assistance.

Mrs. Elliott, assisted by her committee, served cake and ice cream to the graduating class and assisting artists after Mr. Munro presented certificates, which had been tied with the school colors by Mrs Dearborn. Out of a class of 39, the following 35 received diplomas:

OUR MAIL

My dear Anne:

It is bedtime, long past and five o'clock a.m. comes early. Toronto and Peterborough fairs are past. I did enjoy the exhibits and it seemed in many cases the quality of exhibits was better than usual. Of course, it should be, for people should improve. I was disappointed so few of the stock were local exhibits.

Two funny little incidents came to our notice on Friday afternoon. Walking near the piggery we noticed some people watching an airdale which had his legs braced and head down, as still and stiff as a wooden dog. At first I could not see why; then it appeared he was watching the ear of a large pig. Somehow the pig had her ear sticking out through a hole under the dcor in her pen. Others passed on—we did and I suppose others did and that dog remained as motionless as a Sphinx.

Later, in the produce tent, a group of people appeared, among them a pretty little fair curly headed boy who immediately swung himself under the railing near the apples, looked around for a moment, seized a large red apple in both hands, looked around again. His friends were all laughing.

Then he held the apple to his mouth with his chubby little hands and bit the apple; then looked around as though expecting to be cheered. The doting friends with him seemed to think he was quite clever. The guard did not look any too pleased. I could not help laughing but was annoyed at myself for doing so. But the whole thing was funny in the extreme. Is everybody too busy to write you? Is Ad Infinitum ill?

I did like your article on letting a child develop his own individuality. With kind wishes,

Sincerely yours,
QUID EST.

Thank you Quid Est—I am very glad indeed to hear from you again. Apparently the majority of the readers are very busy at this season, but I do not know whether Ad Infinitum is ill or not. Perhaps she will read your letter and write in to the Page.

Sincerely
Anne Wilcox

DELICATE CAKE

½ cup butter
2 cups fruit sugar
½ cup milk
3 cups pastry flour
2 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
Whites of 6 eggs
1 teaspoon almond extract

Cream butter and add sugar. Sift flour and baking powder together several times. Add flour and milk alternately to the butter and sugar. Then add egg whites beaten very stiff. Add almond extract. Bake half of batter in small fancy cake moulds in moderate oven at 375° F. for about 20 minutes. Pour other half in layer cake tins and bake in moderate oven at 375° F. 35 to 40 minutes; when cool, cut in fancy shapes with cookie cutters. Decorate as illustrated with icing, chooped nuts, candied orange peel, jelly, cachous, maraschino cherries, etc.

Silverwood's Erect New Electric Sign

Silverwood's Peterborough Dairy Limited have just had a large Neon sign installed outside their premises on Aylmer street, with the one word "Silverwood's" blazoned forth in illuminated red lettering.

The sign arrived late yesterday afternoon from Toronto where it had formerly been displayed at the Canadian National Exhibition, but it was only a matter of fifteen minutes, according to G. A. Gillespie, before a permit for its erection was obtained and it was securely in place.

A WORTH-WHILE CAUSE.

The annual tag day on behalf of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society will be held on Saturday of this week, and in view of the calls made upon the organization and the urgent need for funds that the public will accord to this excellent cause the support that has invariably been forthcoming on the occasion of previous appeals for the same purpose.

The Children's Aid Society, it should be remembered, originated as far as Peterborough is concerned the tag day method of securing funds for its activities, and it has been for many years one of the society's chief means of financing its work.

It is rightly regarded as an admirable plan by which a worth-while community work can be financed by a multitude of contributions, thus dividing the burden and allowing a large number of people to make their donations to a cause in which they believe and are anxious to support.

The Children's Aid Society's work speaks for itself; over the years it has carried on the task of caring for neglected and dependent children, giving them a new start in life and converting them into useful and self-supporting citizens, able to take their place in society—surely a work that is entirely worthy of support.

Saturday's appeal should be answered liberally by Peterborough's citizens; the need is great, for the activities of the organization are necessarily increased by the present financial conditions.

CUTTING DOWN THE LEGISLATURE

According to advice from the coast, the British Columbia Government is considering a redistribution measure that will reduce the number of seats in the Legislature from 48 as at present to 36.

It is proposed to give Vancouver City six seats, compared with eight, while Victoria will have two instead of four, and there will be other reductions throughout the province, the net result being a twenty-five per cent. reduction in the size of the Legislature.

There is no doubt that the British Columbian Government is on the right trail in considering such a drastic cut in the Legislature, and the move will have popular support.

The people of other provinces will be hopeful that a similar reduction will be made possible in other parts of the Dominion, the general opinion being that provincial legislatures at the present time are unnecessarily large, and that such a condition is not only expensive but mitigates against the prompt and efficient transaction of public business.

The news from British Columbia will be hailed as a hopeful sign that may herald a general movement throughout the country to cut down the cost of government by sharply reducing the number of representatives.

Ontario, for example, would get better as well as cheaper government if membership in the Legislature were reduced to the number of federal seats in the province, that is to 86 members; in fact, most people would be glad to see an even greater reduction.

THE SOUTH HURON CAMPAIGN.

The South Huron by-election, which one time threatened to prove a four-cornered affair and until Sunday seemed certain to involve three candidates, has been simplified by the decision of the independent aspirant for office to withdraw his candidature until the general election is held.

The campaign has, therefore, developed into a straight party fight between Louis P. Rader, warden of Huron County, who is carrying the Conservative banner, and Wm. H. Golding, ex-mayor of Seaforth, who is the Liberal nominee.

In the general election of 1930 the riding was won by Thomas McMillan, Liberal candidate, whose death several months ago made the present by-election necessary.

The withdrawal of the independent candidate will be welcomed by those who see in the South Huron contest an opportunity to test public opinion upon the record of the Government and upon the results of the Imperial Conference, the electors now being free to express their opinions as between the Government policies and the attitude of the Opposition.

The campaign has attracted considerable attention outside the riding, and is being made notable by the participation of a number of the "big guns" of the rival parties. Thus Hon. Dr. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, and Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, have already spoken on behalf of the Government candidate, while Right Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, will deliver the main address of the Opposition campaign to-morrow night.

THE WORLD'S SERIES.

To-morrow the annual baseball classic, the series between the winners of the National and American Leagues, for the "world's championship" will get under way, and for the next few days will be the centre of interest for millions of people both north and south of the international boundary line.

This yearly meeting between the representatives of the two leagues has always appealed to the imagination of American and Canadian sport-lovers, and now that radio has carried play-by-play descriptions into the homes of the people, the series is a source of interest and excitement to hundreds of thousands who have never seen a "big league" baseball game.

As a matter of fact, the annual clash is often not worthy of the attention it receives, for the baseball played is sometimes below the standard of regular league play, and with the championship decided in a few games there is always the chance that the better team over a season's campaign may be eliminated from the world's series by the breaks of the game, and that the championship may be decided on the achievements of a second-rate player who rises to unexpected heights or by a temporary slump on the part of a star who ordinarily would dominate the series.

However, there is a romance and color, albeit these may be artificially created by profuses and kilful publicity, to the meeting between the two league winners that make it one of the big sporting events of the year.

It would be interesting to see what would happen if the newspapers declined to publish the columns of advance "dope" and speculation which they usher in the world's series.

IS HOSIERY THE REASON?

At this time of the year when the turning leaves of maples and sumach and the occasionally frost-sharpened air tempt the whole world outdoors, we begin to wonder what has happened to our former walking ability. True, one can view much scenery from a motor car or train, but to be unable to take long jaunts through the woods and across fields during early autumn is to miss one of the chief joys of life.

But Canadians, like their friends across the line, are not the walkers one finds in the Old Country. As children they got on all right and as youths in the war they acquitted themselves with distinction. Soldiers finished a 15-mile march with practically no falling out.

One cannot be positive in such matters, but it seems to be more than a coincidence, as the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers assert, that as our people get away from wool hosiery they also seem to give up walking. Children clad with stout woollen stockings which keep them dry as well as warm spend the whole winter day outdoors and on their feet. And in the sweltering weeks of summer they find soft, sheer woollen socks to suit them just as well. Back during the hectic days of war, heavy, hand-knitted wool socks adequately protected marching feet from clumsy rough army boots.

It is perhaps possible that many of us would again enjoy Canada's wonderful autumn weather and autumn countryside in the way it should be enjoyed if we would take a tip from the children or the tramping soldiers of 14 years ago. It is not necessary to sacrifice anything in the way of softness or lightness either, as Canadian wool in Canadian mills may be made sheer enough for the lightest shoe and hottest weather and snug enough for the coldest winter. And, after all, being grown in the same climate in which it is worn, it seems the most natural foot covering.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

THE PENSIONS INQUIRY.

Addressing the opening session of the committee appointed by the Government to investigate the administration of the Pensions Act, Dr. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Pensions and National Health, drew attention to the number of such committees and commissions charged with a similar task from 1916 onwards. They totalled nearly a dozen.

The Minister said this fact was indicative of the intricate problem involved in the administration of pensions to veterans of the Great War. Mr. Justice Rinfret, chairman of the committee, expressed the hope that the result of the present committee's deliberations would be to lift the matter out of the realm of controversy.

Everybody will wish the members of the committee well in their admittedly difficult task. The Minister wisely pointed out that the constitution of the present body was different from those which had preceded it. Officials of the department constitute one-half the membership, and representatives of the various ex-servicemen's organizations the other half, with a judicial member as chairman.

There will be no incentive to play party politics, as on a parliamentary committee. Nor is there the appearance of putting any branch of the administration of pensions on trial, as in the case of the Royal Commission under Colonel J. L. Ralston. It should be remembered that the investigation has to do with more than the administration of the act by officials charged with that duty. There have been charges of wholesale fraud on the part of pensioners.

Both sides of the case are likely to receive attention, therefore, by a committee constituted as is the present one. The officials have to safeguard the interests of the public at large, and the national exchequer on which pensions for Great War services are a heavy strain.

At the same time their zeal has to be tempered by due consideration for the just claims of those who served and who may be suffering from disability in consequence. It is argued with force that many a veteran who should not have done so accepted an "A-1" discharge from the C.E.F. in his eagerness to get out and to return to civil life. Some of these cases were in consequence of carelessness on the part of stenographers and other clerical workers in the army, and the victims of these errors find themselves up against a tough proposition in establishing claims to consideration now, though they may be able to produce evidence of other, and convincing, character that while in the army they suffered considerably from troubles which, after a lapse of years and with advancing age, now disqualify them from occupying that place in life they might have held but for war service.

Much depends on the "atmosphere" in which claims for pensions are dealt with, and the veteran with a distinct moral claim is not going to be easily put off with a strictly legal ruling which leaves him with a sense of grievance. It will be a great thing for all concerned if the committee now sitting can reach such a conclusion as that hoped for by the chairman and the matter of pensions removed from the realm of controversy.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Apropos of homework, it is claimed, that 90 per cent. of the pupils receive assistance. That seems to be giving the parents quite a break.

Mr. Henry should have learned some lessons in how to win support if he watched Hon. G. Howard Ferguson during last week's Northern Ontario tour.

If oratory wins elections the Government has no chance in South Huron. The Opposition candidate is holding meetings every night until the election.

Aggressive advertising campaigns have materially improved business in American cities, a New York despatch states. The man who keeps on advertising usually comes through a slump in much better shape than his competitors who curtail their publicity expenditures.

One of the unknown factors in attempting to size up world's series possibilities is the condition of Babe Ruth's stomach. Watch your calories, Mister Ruth.

ALL OF US

Cry-Baby on the Sidewalk
Character in the Man
Luck in Our Lives.

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I passed a woman and a little boy. The little boy's face was sad. The woman was saying to him, "You must remember that you can't ever have anything you cry for!".. The child accepted that fact and kept his tears shut close. He did not cry....Perhaps she was right. Perhaps he had been crying too much, crying for little things, trivial things, making a cry-baby of himself....But it's really true that we can't ever have the things we cry for. Tears are powerful, tears a great nuisance to other people, and most of the time people who cry enough get what they are crying for....Other people give it to them to be rid for a while of that tryanny of tears.

Sometimes we say, "If only I had done just that one thing years ago all the rest of my life would have been different."

We look back through the years and find one point on which our entire life balances and we think all WOULD have been different if one decision had been otherwise.

I have done that thing many, many times, but I do not really believe it is so. Outward things would have been different, but inside of us all would have been the same.

You look back and you will see that again and again you have acted in exactly the same way in different crises of your life. You acted that way because you are what you are and you rarely change essentially.

A little girl was asked what people she liked. She counted them all over carefully and coldly and said: "I like myself and I like daddy. That's all."

She may change and become more politely hypocritical as she grows older and learns that it does not hurt to spare the feelings of people.

It would be a rasping, squeaking world if it were not lubricated with a few drops of gentle and necessary hypocrisy.

Does luck exist?

I flipped a coin 100 times. Forty-nine times it came down "heads"; 51 times it came down "tails." I flipped it 100 more times. Fifty-one times it came down "tails"; 49 times it came down "heads."

In one flip of a coin there is luck; in 100 flips there is no luck, but merely a law of averages. In one life there may be luck; in 100,000 lives there is merely statistical material.

We may take what comfort we can from that.

Finds Moose Using Lawn for Pasture, Doctor Slays It With Croquet Mallet

ST. CESAIRE, Quebec, September 27 (C.P.). — The first moose ever seen in this district possibly met the strangest death of any moose ever seen in any district. The slayer was Dr. L. Beauchamp, a physician, who used an automobile and a croquet mallet to reassert man's dominion over animals.

Returning in his automobile from a sick call early this morning, Dr. Beauchamp saw the moose peacefully grazing on his beautifully kept croquet lawn. The physician stepped on the gas. The animal took fright and bounded through silent streets with Dr. Beauchamp on his gasoline steed in hot pursuit, until the moose was stopped by a brick wall. The moose and the car collided, and the doctor seizing a croquet mallet from his back seat, achieved eternal quietude for the roamer of the wild.

St. Cesaire's main attraction at present is a moose slung up in Dr. Beauchamp's garage.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—A slightly firmer undertone in eggs and an easier feeling in butter featured the local produce and dairy market yesterday. Cheese and churning cream prices held unchanged.

Egg prices to farmers and country shippers were one cent higher at 2 cents for ungraded fresh extras, cases returned, with fresh firsts up a similar amount, at 20 cents. Graded eggs, cases free, were also one cent higher at 26, 21 and 14 cents, respectively. Prices to the retail trade, were firm at 30 cents for fresh extras in cartons, and 26 cents for the loose, but firsts and seconds advanced to 25 and 17 cents, respectively.

No. 1 Ontario creamery butter, in solids, was a trifle easier at from 21¾ to 22 cents, with No. 2 at 20½ to 21 cents. Prices to the retail trade were unchanged at 25 cents for No. 1 creamery prints, with No. 2 at 24 cents.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, September 27. — Wheat traders marked time yesterday in one of the dullest sessions in weeks. The market lacked a lead in any direction, and prices idled through a listless period to close fractionally lower.

There was fair buying by seaboard interests for export over the week-end and during the day, but no estimate was available. The amount was not large, however.

The market throughout was narrow. Showery weather over the Canadian West will delay threshing operations and grain deliveries. World shipments increased about 6,000,000 bushels, totalling 13,863,000. Of this amount North America cleared 7,918,000 bushels, the best showing in several weeks.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO September 27. — In a zig-zag market that duplicated the action of securities, wheat prices yesterday ruled alternately strong and weak. The end was inconclusive, almost exactly at Saturday's closing level. Persistent reports that a way would be found to sell another big amount of wheat to China were largely offset by absence of definite details and by announcement of increased visible supplies in Canada and the United States. Corn dipped to a new low record for the season.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—(CP)— A slightly better tone was experienced on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Cheese was higher, Ontarios being quoted at 11 to 11¼ cents, and Quebecs at 10¾ to 10¾ cents. Receipts were 2,757 boxes.

Eggs advanced, fresh Ontario selling at 28 to 29 cents for extras, 30c for firsts, and 13½ to 14 cents for seconds. Prairie eggs were 26 to 27 cents for extras, 19 to 20 cents for firsts, and 13 to 13½ cents for seconds. Quotations to retailers were unchanged. Receipts were light only 231 cases.

Butter trading was quiet as prices held firm. Current make was quoted at 21½ to 21¾ cents, and 21¼ to 21½ cents for No. 1. To retailers solids were 23c and prints 24 cents. Receipts were 220 boxes.

Potatoes were unchanged, New Brunswick Green Mountains selling at 75 cents per 80-pound bag, and New Brunswick Cobblers at 70 cents. Montreal potatoes were 40 to 60 cents per 80-pound bag.

Missionary Meeting At Cottesloe Home

COTTLESLOE, Sept. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The September meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. James Miles recently, when the president, Mrs. Webster, had charge of the devotional exercises.

A program meeting on the use of maps was in charge of Mrs. Forsythe and the study book, "The New Schools," was taken by Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Perry gave a reading on the same topic. "Tie your topknot to a rafter" is the admonition given to every scholar. Youth is facing a new day, and the question is, "Will Korea's youth face that day with Christ?"

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Miles served lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed. The October meeting will be held on October 13 at the home of Mrs. Harold Teal.

Western Students Applying at London

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 26.—(C.P.)—Plight of the University of Manitoba due to defalcations of John A. Machray, its bursar, who is now serving a seven year penitentiary term, has brought many applications from Western Canada to the University of Western Ontario, it was learned to-day.

Overcrowding in Western Ontario University made it necessary that the Board of Governors refuse admittance to students who had been attending the University of Manitoba, it was said.

Increased fees due to the financial condition of the Manitoba institution of learning would have made it cheaper for students to come here.

Building construction in Paris is increasing.

STATION L-O-V-E

INSTALMENT 26

"How can Dick think I said anything about him?" Judy demanded of Elsie.

"The words out that it was a girl talking that tipped it off. A girl who didn't really go to anybody direct. Just passed on hints, here and there, as if she didn't mean to," Elsie said.

"Lona Burdette!"

"Sure. But whos' going to prove it?'

"But Lona said she'd get even. She said she'd make trouble. Everybody knows about her, Elsie. She's always making trouble for somebody. She wanted that job herself."

"Sure. And what's that going to do?"

"Why—" Judy was conscious of a great helplessness. Telling the truth had always been the answer, but now the answer was wrong. You can't tell the truth to people who won't listen.

"You should have told Dick in the first place," Elsie said, after a pause. "You should have let him know."

"I know. I know, Elsie. I wanted to. But he was so proud because he got the job for me. I didn't want to hurt him. I didn't want him to think it was a trick that did it. I wanted him to go on feeling proud."

"And so he got hurt worse than ever."

There was no answer. Dick Mason, depending on Judy Allison, deeply in love with her, eager to help, felt now that she had tricked him, if not intentionally, still cruelly. That she had lost his job for him, made him sound dishonest—he who was proud of his honesty as of nothing else. That people would whisper about him, that he might not find another job.

• • •

The doorbell rang.

"That's Billy, I can tell!"

Elsie jumped up, pushed hard on her hair, tried to twist it up into some sort of smoothness, gave up, shrugged her shoulders with comical resignation, disappeared.

And in a moment Judy heard her calling. "Judy! It's Billy, all right. Come down! Hurry!"

Judy had an insane desire to shout, "No," to refuse to face what she knew was inevitable. Must she listen to any more? Must she hear still more completely what she had done to Dick Mason?

Yes. She must. People like her didn't run away from the results of their own mistakes. They faced it out. So she squared her shoulders and went to hear what Billy Townsend had to say. Which was little.

He was the same shock-haired, unbeautiful radio man she remembered. But with a difference. Oddly, it took a long time for Judy to realize the difference. The gold teeth did not show. The wide mouth was not smiling. Grimness sat uncomfortably on a face that was meant to grin, but there was no grin on Billy Townsend's face now.

"Hello," he said curtly.

Then he turned back to Elsie. "It's all off, Elsie. I'm one of the army."

"You lost your job, too?"

"Yes.'

"But didn't you explain—"

"Hah! Explain?' He laughed. "Explain what? When they won't listen it doesn't do any good to talk. I'm bounced. I'm through. I'm out on my ear. I'm a crooked operator and there's no jobs for crooked operators. Or for crooked announcers."

"That's not so!" Judy said sharply. "Dick—Dick isn't—"

"Oh, he isn't, eh? But everybody says he is. And that's the same thing."

"It isn't. Because I'm to blame. Even if I didn't know what was happening until afterward. And I'm going down right now and tell the people in charge exactly what did happen."

"Go ahead," Billy said. "And see what it gets you."

• • •

"Judy!" Elsie called. But Judy did not answer. She was already out of the house.

A taxicab. She told the driver where to go, she said. "Hurry! Hurry!" She sat back in the cab, eyes closed, breath coming hard. And the taxicab jounced, stalled, waited interminably for red lights to change.

The car stopped in front of the building and Judy, blindly tugging bills from her pocket book, gave the driver a bill that made him start, gulp.

She said to the superior young woman at the desk, "I want to see the manager."

"What manager?"

"Whoever's in charge of the announcers.'

"He's not in. Gone for the day."

"Then I want to see whoever's over everybody else."

"He's gone, too. It's Sunday, you know."

"Then Ive got to go to his home to see him. What's his address?"

"We don't give out home addresses."

"But—"

"Sorry. Cant help you about that. You're sure you don't want to see somebody else?"

"Who?"

"Mr. Mason, maybe?' The girl smiled shyly.

"Mr. Mason! He's here? Why—"

"Yes. Over there in the announcers' room. He's just getting ready to leave. Wait.' I'll have a page call for him. Walter, ask Mr Mason to come in for a moment. Miss—What is the name, please?"

"Allison. Judy Allison And tell him it's important. Very important, please!"

"Yes'm."

• • •

The boy disappeared and Judy waited. The minutes dragged.

The boy reappeared. "Sorry, mis. He said hes got to catch a train. Got no time to talk. Told me to give you this."

He extended a folded bit of paper. And, oblivious to grinning page boy and amused attendant, Judy read what Dick Mason had written. Which was this much only:

"There's nothing for you or me to say. I don't blame you. After all, it's your job to get ahead as fast and as far as you can. Nobody else matters. So let's not talk about it. Goodby."

Judy let the paper fall from her trembling fingers. Then slowly she picked it up again, carefully folded it, put it in her handbag. It was the first note Dick Mason had ever written to her She was very sure that it was also the last

• • •

She found Elsie waiting, alone.

"Billy's gone," said Elsie. "Dick called up, and Billy said he's meet him somewhere. Wouldn't tell me where they're going. Out of town, I guess. Something about Cleveland, maybe. I know Billy said Dick had an offer down there, and he thought he could get on, too. Not as good as here maybe. But he's got to have a job. Billy's got money saved up and he said he'd stake Dick to some, but from what I heard I guess Dick wouldn't take it. Only they're both gone."

Gone. Gone where? Gone forever. Of course. Of course, Judy Allison. The man you love—and you know it, now—the man you love is gone, believing you lied to him, believing you were so small, so petty, so infinitely selfish, that you could sacrifice him for the sake of a job at a hundred dollars a week. Believing you let him be the scapegoat for what was done for you by another man, by his enemy, by Elton Day. Believing you let him suffer, because you cared more about his enemy than about him, in spite of what you said with words and with your eyes, in spite of what he had told you. Believing everything but the truth.

"Elsie, he was right."

"Who was right?"

"Dick. I didn't tell him the truth. He had a right to know. He trusted me. And I knew what Elton Day did. And didn't say anything to Dick about it. Didn't have courage enough to tell him. Kept lying to myself. Putting it off. Just because—oh, I don't know why. I don't know why at all. But Dick was right."

"Of course he was."

• • •

Somehow, Judy wished Elsie hadn't said that. It's all right to abase yourself, to load blame and reproach on your own shoulders; it's not so pleasant when you have only one friend left to hear that friend agreeing with you in your abasement. Then she caught herself and she hated herself for the thought. She deserved whatever Elsie or Dick or Billy Townsend thought or said. Not because she'd meant to do any harm, but because her very simplicity, her lack of cleverness and directness and courage, had caused trouble.

"Elsie, isn't there any way to reach Dick?"

"Not that I know of. Except—"

"Except what?" Judy demanded anxiously.

"Well, I told Billy the absolute truth. He didn't believe me, at first, but I made him believe me before I got through. I'm no woman to be talked down, Judy. I made him listen even if he didn't want to. And he promised he'd try to tell Dick just what you and I said.

'Only I don't know if Dick will listen. Men! Dick's in love with you. First time he's ever been in love in his life. He's just a kid about you. And when a kid thinks he's been lied to the first time he's ever been in love, well, it takes him a long time to get over it. Sometimes he never does get over it. I've heard of more than one man spending his whole life being alone just because somebody lied to him once, or hurt his feelings, or made him feel he'd been cheated. It happens like that, you know."

It happens like that. When you would sooner die than hurt somebody, you hurt that person terribly without even knowing what you are doing.

WINNIPEG GRAIN EXCHANGE

WINNIPEG, Sept. 27 (C.P.)—Increased hedging, together with the lack of export business overnight and indifferent overseas cables, accounted for a fractional dip in wheat prices in early trade to-day. Hedging pressure at the start was quite heavy, and although a good class of buying was encountered, values with the passing of the initial hour had slipped off to again record new lows. Values at the low points were about ½c under yesterday's close.

Most of the support appeared to come from seaboard and continental houses while inter-market spreading operations were of little interest.

Liverpool displayed an easier tone during the entire session and final quotations were ¾d to ⅞d lower per 100 pounds.

MUST RETURN RELIEF MONEY

Earnings of $13.60 Per Week All Year Considered Enough.

APPLICATION REFUSED.

Another man will be ordered by the local Central Charity Board to return the valueof provisions obtained from the board as relief.

The man, although not steadily employed, has averaged $13.60 per week all year, the Board learned last night when his case came up for scrutiny. This was deemed sufficient in the present stress for the man to live on and he will be ordered to return the $17.30 obtained in provisions from the board.

The application of another man for relief was refused. This man had been obtaining relief, but a month ago he secured a job and worked for three weeks. During the three weeks of his employment he purchased $6.30 worth of liquor. Now that he is again unemployed he seeks relief. His application was refused.

It is noteworthy that in the more than 500 cases dealt with by the board only a very small percentage have tried to hoodwink the board or otherwise tried to dodge their responsibilities.

HARD TO TRADE WITH CANADIANS

Britisher Reporting on Parley Says Dominion Aims to Keep Textile Trade Intact.

LONDON, Sept. 27 (C.P. Cable).—"Canadians are a most difficult people to deal with," declared A. Hopworth of Huddersfield, who attended the Imperial Conference at Ottawa on behalf of the Chambers of Commerce of Huddersfield, Batley, Bristall and Dewsbury, in presenting his report on the conference.

"The Canadians were determined to keep the textile trade, both in cotton and wool, intact, although they appeared not unreasonable in discussing other commodities they were adament with textiles. Canada impressed me as a country where sentiment did not seem to exist when it might affect business.

"There was a feeling of friendliness and a desire to help noticeable in conversations with other countries, but with Canada it seemed to be Canadad first all the time. In Prime Minister Bennet, Canada has a remarkably strong man."

Furious Competition.

Studying the woolen worsted industry in Montreal, Mr. Hepworth found competition was "simply furious," and the buyer consequently had no confidence in placing his orders. The Canadian clothing manufacturer got little variety and his goods were of similar design, quality and color.

"The Canadian clothing trade today does not seem to be a profitable industry. There are large parts of the woollen worsted business in the hands of wealthy influential people while the clothing trade is in the hands of a large number of small people whose sole interest is buying goods they can sell profitably regardless of where the goods are made."

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 27, — Stocks were firm in the late trading today, with most shares holding around their best prices for the day. U S. Steel, Bethlehem, Mack Truck, Western Union, North American, Du Pont and Lackawanna were up 2 or more. Gains of a point or better were registered by American Telephone, American Can, Santa Fe, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse Electric, New York Central, Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific. Drug was down about 4 points sales approximated 1,500,000 shares.

TORONTO EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—Prices developed a slightly stronger tendency in improved turnover on the standard stock and mining exchange market in the afternoon today. Base metal shares gave the best response, balance of the list closing with minor recessions in the majority.

International Nickel staged a good rally, price moving over $11 and closing around that level for a 60-cent gain. Noranda was up a few cents and Lindsleys were firmer, Falconbridge recovering 9 and Sherritt Gordon 3. Silver shares were inactive and unchanged. Pen Pete, off a fraction, displayed the only movement in the oils.

Brett-Trethewey featured late action among golds, moving 3 cents in brisk demand. Northern Canada, associated with Brett in the Kenty enterprise in Swayze township, firmed a cent. Hollinger dipped 10 but Lake Shore, Wright-Hargreaves and Teck-Hughes were firm.

Ferguson Ill

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, High Commissioner for Canada, in Great Britain, had telegraphed his regrets that the recurrence of a throat infection, prevented his presence.

Numerous public bodies, military organizations, were represented at the last rites. Mayor Tice and the members of the city council represented the city with city officials, while Chairman A. R. Shryver and members of the Board of Education and E. J. Butler, K.C., for the Separate School Board, attended.

The funeral procession proceeded to the Belleville Cemetery, where Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, with the Bishop of Ontario, conducted the committal rites. Sir Gilbert's body was placed on the marble slab on the west side of the granite tomb which he had erected seven years ago at the time of the entombment of Lady Parker.

bureau said, passed a short distance south of San Jpan, Puerto Rico, at 1a.m. T he lowest barometer reading in that city was 28.94 inches with an estimated maximum wind velocity of 120 miles an hour.

Meanwhile, the Red Cross Chapter in Puerto Rico reported to the Navy Department that severe damage was wrought there.

Toll Goes Up

The death toll mounted as reports from other outlying districts came in. The little town of Carolina reported 10 dead. A native of Cauguas was electrocuted by a live wire.

Governor Beverley spent the entire morning inspecting the devastated area near San Juan, travelling more than half way to Caguas, nearly 30 miles distant.

When he returned he called a meeting of citizens for this afternoon when he hopes to have more detailed reports. Meantime he ordered Adjutant General John A. Wilson to call out 400 National Guardsmen to assist the police in the city and vicinity.

Last night's hurricane swept the citrus fruit district and it appeared that the entire crop, with an estimated value of $7,000,000 would be a complete loss.

Youth Responsible For Fatal Smash-up

MONTREAL, Sept. 27. (CP)—A jury under Coroner Lorenzo Prince to-day held Gerard Raoul Harry, 24, criminally responsible for the death of Joseph Mireault, 42, and his 13-year-old son Marcel, who were struck down and fatally injured as they were repairing a punctured tire on their truck Saturday morning.

Jarry will be arraigned on a manslaughter charge later to-day, police stated after the inquest.

The 24-year-old motorist said in a signed depcsition read to the coroner's court that he had struck something early Saturday morning while returning to the city from a golf club. He did not realise till later he said, that it might have been the Mireault's he struck. He said he remembered sideswiping a truck parked at the side of the road near the Jewish cemetery.

Some 26 million fingerlings consisting of Atlantic salmon and various species of trout were placed in the streams of the Maritime Provinces this year.

CITY-WIDE FIRE PREVENTION CAMPAIGN IS BEING PLANNED

Service Clubs and School Boards Co-operate With Fire Chief.

WEEK OF OCTOBER 9.

Any one of the schools in the city, including the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School with an enrollment of over one thousand scholars, can be cleared in emergency in one and a half minutes, and considerably less time in many cases.

That was one of the interesting observations made by Fire Chief George Gimblett who yesterday afternoon outlined plans at a meeting held in his office for the holding of a city-wide fire prevention campaign during the National Fire Prevention Week which opens on October 9.

The meeting called by the Fire Chief was well-attended by representatives of the various service clubs, by members of the City Council and Public and Separate School Boards and by a representative of the local Boy Scout Association.

Through the the kindness of Grafton and Company Limited, who have donated a handsome silver cup, there will be an interschool fire prevention contest, open to the public and separate schools and also the Collegiate Institute.

Judges of the competition will be selected from the Board of Education and from the Separate School Board and will also consist of two independant judges in the persons of Dr. Ralph Honey and Paul Johnston, representing the Kinsmen Club.

During Fire Prevention Week special addresses of an educational nature will be delivered in each of the schools of the city, as well as at each of the luncheon meetings of the three service clubs, while the Fire Chief also has hopes of enlisting the aid of the pulpit in disseminating fire prevention propaganda.

The following is the tentative program as drawn up at yesterday's meeting and which makes provision for a speaker at each of the schools and other institutions of the city: James Dutton, Normal School; R. J. Goring, St. Mary's Convent ; Alderman George Macdonald, Queen Alexandra School; John R. Corkery, Collegiate Institute and Vocational School; Paul Johnston, Sacred Heart School; Alderman Dan Holland, King George School; District Scout Commissioner John T. Hornsby, the Boy Scout Association; Dr. Ralph Honey, Queen Mary School; Alderman J. Fitzpatrick, King Edward School; John R. Marshall, St. Peter's School; J. B. Nelson, Central School; Roy Wemp, Prince of Wales School; Alderman J. McNabb, Immaculate Conception School.

Speakers at the Rotary luncheon on the first day of Fire Prevention Week will be Deputy Fire Marshall G. F. Lewis. On Thursday evening of that week the Kinsmen will be addressed by Fire Marshall Heaton, while on Friday ncon Fire Chief Gimblett will speak before Kiwanis Club.

ADA MACKENZIE WINS 1ST ROUND

Jane Brooks of Sparkhill, N. Y., Falls Before Steady Playing of Toronto Golfer.

U. S. WOMEN'S GOLF.

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 27 (C.P.). —Miss Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, former Canadian champion, defeated Jane Brooks of Sparkhill, N.Y., one up in the first round of match play of the United States Women's golf championship to-day.

Miss Mackenzie had a two-hole lead going to the 17th, where her rival holed a 10-foot putt for a birdie four. Miss Brooks had to sink a four-footer on the 18th to square the match, but she flubbed it and matched Miss Mackenzie's six.

Enid Wilson, the British champion and one of last year's semi-finalists in this tourney, had an easy task subduing Elizabeth Skinner of Holyoke, 5 and 4. The English girl went out in 40, two over par, and was three up at that point. Her strong wood shots gave her a birdie four on the 10th and they halved two more before Miss Wilson gained her fifth hole with a par four on the 13th. Both got their threes on the 187-yard 14th, where the play ceased.

Mrs. C. H. Eddis, of Toronto, runner-up in last week's Canadian championship, gained the second round play with a 2 and 1 victory over Dorothy Hunter of Newton. In an all-Boston district clash Mrs. C. F. Eaton, Wellesley, trounced Dorothy Richards, Weston, 3 and 1.

Virginia Van Wie, the Chicago co-medallist, gained a 5 and 4 decision over Miss B. P. Meckley of Silver Spring, Md.

Timely Rains Aided Greatly in Preparing the Soil for Seed.

CROWS DESTROY CROP

BAILIEBORO, Sept. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence).—During the past week the farmers of the district succeeded in getting the greater portion of their fall wheat sowed. Owing to the timely rains, they were enabled to carefully prepare the soil and sow the seed in excellent condition. Many fine fields are now sprouted.

There is an increased acreage being sowed throughout the township this fall.

The majority of the buckwheat and corn is cut and stooked. Several farmers have been forced to cut their buckwheat crop with the mower as the winds and rains flattened the grain and made it impossible to cut with a binder. Farmers in the locality claim their crops of buckwheat will yield from thirty to thirty-five bushels per acre. Dealers are bidding from 35 to 40 cents per bushel.

Apple Crop is Poor.

The apple crop is far below the average this fall. The railroad worm has effected many orchards in the district to such an extent that the farmers will not pick any apples from the trees.

Crows Bothering Crops.

Huge flocks of crows are attacking the wheat fields in the vicinity of Rice Lake and are eating a great quantity of the fresh sown wheat. They are also destroying huge quantities of tomatoes and sweet corn and are greatly disturbing the farmer.

Earlier in the season the starlings congregated in large flocks and destroyed acres of standing and stooked grain.

Rally Service.

The United Church Sunday School held their annual rally day service in the church on Sunday evening, when Rev. H. C. Priest, of Toronto, who is the international member of the Religious Educational Council, delivered the address of the evening, speaking on the subject, "Following Jesus To-day."

The pastor, Rev. E. M. Cooke, also gave a brief talk upon the subject of "The Two Searchers."

The Sunday School superintendent, John Porter, led in the devotional service and introduced the guest speaker.

An anthem, 'The Reapers' Choir," was rendered by the choir.

The ladies of the Sunday School had decorated the church especially for the occasion and the flowers and plants made a beautiful scene. The various Sunday School classes sat together with their teachers in the pews.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dawson and son, of Otonabee, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dawson.

Mrs. G. Handbridge and children, of Otonabee, were guests of the former's parents on Sunday.

Mrs. L. Larmer, of Oshawa, has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. B. Dawson, during the past fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson and baby, of Millbrook, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wicks.

Messrs. H. Barnard and F. C. Jewison attended the funeral of the late Mrs. J. Jewison, of Toronto on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery Jewison attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Joseph Jewison, of Toronto, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Perrin and daughters, Misses Isabel and Ruth, Mrs. C. Perrin and Mrs. E. Dearing, of Oakwood, visited friends in the locality over the week-end.

Mr. Cutwell, of Toronto, has joined his family at their cottage at Rice Lake for a week's vacation.

Society Entertains Rush Point League

TRENT RIVER, Sept. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Members of Rush Point Efficiency League were guests of Trent River league Friday night at the church, and with the two leagues and friends there was an attendance of 125.

Mrs. John Scott, president of the Trent River league, had charge of the opening exercises, with Miss B. French at the piano and Miss Leatha Davidson acting as secretary for the evening. It was decided to hold the league meeting at the hour of 8 o'clock. R. W. Murphrey gave the address of welcome. The program was put on by the visiting members, as follows:

Topic, read by Mrs. George Newton; vocal solo, Miss Luella Keating, with Mrs. Toms at the piano; reading, Miss Tait; vocal solo, Miss Jean Pollock, with Minnie Pollock, R.N., of Montreal, playing the accompaniment; reading, Miss May Seeney; guitar selection, Archie McMullen; reading, Miss McArthur; violin solo, Miss Helen Buchanan, with Miss Minnie Pollock at the piano, who responded to a hearty encore; accordion solo, Gavin Buchanan. Miss Tait had charge of a musical contest, with Miss Luella Keating playing the musical numbers for 15 questions, the answers of which had to be the name of a popular air.

Mr. Hoard, president of Rush Point league, gave a short address, after which the gathering assembled in the dining hall where tea, sandwiches and cake were served by Trent River league members.

Rally Day Programs In Warsaw Churches

HASTINGS UNITED CHURCH.

HASTINGS, Sept. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Rally Day was celebrated in the morning services at Trinity United Church here yesterday under the leadership of Rev. J. H. Bell. A special program was followed and much of this was taken by the children of the Sunday school. The regular choir was assisted by a number of the older boys and girls. The junior and beginners' classes united in singing a hymn. Two readings were heard, Miss Madeline Bonds giving "Following Jesus to God's Home" and Miss Verla Brinklow reading "The Two Searchers." Masters Bert Johnston and Billie Fields took up the collection. The Scripture readings were from Mark 1, 14:20 and John 1, 35:42. The regular sermon was omitted in favor of other features of the program. The church was well filled for the occasion.

CAMPBELLFORD BOARD ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF MISS G. PAYNE

Former Teacher to Teach Music in School at Salary of $150 Per Year.

OTHER BUSINESS.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 27.—Rearrangement will be made in the teaching staff of the Campbellford Public School with the acceptance by the Campbellford Board of Education of the resignation of Miss Grace Payne. She will, however continue to teach music in the school at a salary of $150 a year and for the first year will return to the board $15 of the $40 grant allowed her by the Department of Education for the qualification in music teaching she holds.

The matter, which came before the regular meeting of the board last evening in the Campbellford Public Library and presided over by George O'Sullivan, caused some discussion. T. E. Hall moved an amendment to the original motion, which was sponsored by G. A. Kingston and Dr. H. O. Richardson, that the resignation be accepted and a teacher engaged with the necessary qualifications to teach music.

This amendment however received no support. It was generally felt by the board that music had an educational value and should be emphasized in the school training. The board will call for applications for the vacant position.

Both public and high schools are starting the year under favorable conditions. Principal E. H. Greig of the High School reported that there was a total of 214 pupils in his school this year, an increase over last year of four. School conditions were good he stated, and the work well under way and very satisfactory. In the public school, Principal C. Haig stated that he had an increase of pupils over last year of 50, the number on the roll this year being 480.

Lack of Co-operation

One question Mr. Haig brought to the attention of the board was the lack of co-operation of many of the parents with the teachers in an endeavour to protect the children when returning home at noon and in the evening. Last year the children had been marched from the school past the intersection at Front street, and not allowed to run in the street, but this he said had been very severly criticized.

A boy had been delegated last year to halt the traffic at the intersection to allow the children to pass and although this had been highly commended by school authorities, it had met in many cases with public disapproval. There was also too much speeding of cars on Rannie street, near the school, at a time when the children were leaving.

This was discussed in full and on motion of Dr. H B. Longmore and R. Smith, the Police Committee of the council will be requested by the school board to provide police protection for the children at the Front street intersection from 11.15 to 12.15 noon and from 3-15 to 4.15 in the afternoon and also to look into the matter of reckless driving near the school.

J. J. Lewis Hay addressed the board asking for business if the board were considering the possibility of taking out a public liability insurance policy for the schools. This was paid on a per capita basis of pupils. The board did not know their exact liability regarding the accidents that might occur to the pupils, so on motion the clerk was instructed to write the Attorney General's department to obtain legal advice regarding accidents that were not caused by faulty equipment.

Another question of insurance was referred to the Finance Committee for action. This was brought forward when F. C. Bonnycastle requested that he receive a share of the insurance which is carried by the board on the two schools, some of which falls due in the near future. Mr. O'Sullivan pointed out that at present three local agents carried the school insurance. There was a total of $67,500 insurance falling due within the next three months.

The Property Committee were appointed to consider the request of Mr. Haig for a large built-in cupboard for one of the upper rooms on the Public School.

The secretary reported that both bus contracts were signed as the board had directed. Both services were satisfactory. A full load was being drawn from the west and at present 14 pupils were coming in on the southern route. On motion of G. A. Kingston and W. Cock, the salary of H. Dunk of the public school teaching staff will be granted as last year at $1,000.

DIES OF HEART FAILURE.

ST. THOMAS.—Analysis of a substance found in a cup under the bed of Edmund Latham, sign writer, who was discovered dead in bed today, revealed it was harmless.

Latham's sudden death, which had prompted police to investigate, was attributed to heart seizure.

NO MORE SICK HEADACHES

Fruit-a-tives and years of pain

"I suffered exceedingly with indigestion and sick headaches for years. I could hardly eat anything and was badly constipated. I realize now, of course, that I was in a very run-down condition. Fortunately for me a neighbor recommended 'Fruit-a-tives' and I began taking them. I am certainly glad I did. They regulated my system and toned me up generally so that now I am in the best of health. I would not hesitate to recommend them to anyone.'

DISMISS CHARGE AGAINST DRAIN

Charged With Stealing an Outboard Motorboat Engine.

LARGE BARN BURNED

LINDSAY, Sept. 27 (Examiner Correspondence).—Police Magistrate Jordan yesterday dismissed the charge against William Drain, of Apsley, of stealing an outboard motor boat from Gilbert Gordon, of Fenelon Falls. A similar charge against W. B. Colville, of Toronto, was changed to receiving an outboard motor knowing it to be stolen. Drain was used as one of the Crown witnesses. Judgment was reserved. J. A. O'Brien, of Peterborough, appeared for Drain.

W. Olsen, of Bexley Township, was sent to jail for eight months for illegal possession of spirits unlawfully manufactured. Richard Pearce was given a month in jail with a fine of $225.00 for a similar offence. In default of payment six additional months.

The large barn on the farm of George Dukelow, who resides near Beaverton, was totally destroyed by a mysterious fire. Besides the barn, 400 bushels of wheat and all the Spring crop and hay were destroyed.

ENTER 13 NAMES AS CANDIDATES IN EAST RIDING

G. Barrie of Asphodel, and Dr. D. Munro of Warsaw.

These who withdrew at the outset were Dr. Munro, Mr. Fry, Mr. Barrie, Mr. Clark, and Mr. Richardson.

A Striking Convention.

The Liberals surprised themselves by their large attendance, the keen interest displayed, and also by the number of men from the riding who were willing to put on the political armor if they were chosen for the leadership.

No visiting speakers were engaged for the occasion which was entirely and militantly local.

J. J. Duffus of Peterborough, President of the Central Ontario Liberal Association and Fraser Aylsworth of Madoc, president of the Hastings-Peterborough federal riding were the only speakers supplementing the presidential address by Dr. Munro and the separate pre-voting addresses by the convention nominees.

The five minute limit was generally adhered to, only Mr. Anderson and Mr. Griffith extending their remarks beyond the brief time allowance.

Mr. Duffus' Address

While ballots were being counted and after the final result was announced Mr. Duffus discussed some of the affairs before the public.

He congratulated the old east riding upon the democratic manner in which they carried on their convention and especially on the political spirit they were evincing.

"That same interest in preparing all the details of election will mean that another member of the county council will graduate to the Ontario Legislature" Mr. Duffus said. "I am certainly delighted with your choice and it should be encouraging to Mr. Hawthorne to realize that he was selected from such a strong group of citizens.

The name Hawthorne is a household word in this county. Jim Hawthorne doesn't need any introduction. He is a credit to his family and to the township of Dummer where the Hawthornes have lived for a great many years, and they have always been active in doing their share of public work.

As reeve of his township and warden of this county Mr. Hawthorne has proved himself a careful and prudent administrator, just the kind of man we need, especially with all his municipal experience. His political opponents cannot find a fault in him and his friends do not have to make any apology for him. East Peterborough has had many fine representatives, Liberals and Conservatives, and Mr. Hawthorne ranks with the best of them I think you all feel as I do, that you have done a good day's work."

Mr. Duffus stated that the words Hon. G. Howard Ferguson had used against the Drury Government were to-day more applicable against the Government he had left while the going was good.

"In 1923 when Mr. Ferguson was hungry for office he told the people of this Province that the Drury Government had been so extravagant they should be turned out. But once in power, Mr. Ferguson forgot all about his promises of economy. And last year alone the debt of Ontario was increased by the huge sum of $47,000,000. They are now asking for 56,000,000 to carry on for this year, and the final sum will probably be more than that.

"Mr. Ferguson had no policy in 1923 except denunciation of the Drury Government. He promised the people a regime of economy—and you all know what Ferguson economy means by this time.

"In 1926 he rode on again on liquor control. At that time Mr. Ferguson declared that $5,000,000 a year was enough to spend on liquor. Now the annual liquor bill is more than $50,000,000 a year.

"In 1929 it was easier than ever for Mr. Ferguson and his Government. They asked to be returned, because of the prosperity they claimed to have brought to the people.

"The real fact was that the prosperity in this Province and throughout this country was the result of the splendid administration of the affairs of this country by the Liberal Government at Ottawa, led by Mackenzie King during those years of plenty from 1921 until 1930 the years from the time that the Conservative Government led by Arthur Meighen went out until the Conservative Government led by R. B. Bennett came in.

That is no idle, political boast. The figures show conclusively how well the Liberals managed the affairs of this country. Instead of reducing the expenses of this Province during his regime, Mr. Ferguson nicreased them. At the same time here is what the Liberal administration at Ottawa accomplished over a period of five years. Mackenzie King in that time provided interest amounting to $650,000,000; pensions amounting to $232,000,000. He reduced current expenditure. He reduced the annual taxes of the people $116,000,000. He reduced our national debt by $273,000,000; and he spent $206,000,000 on public works; all that without borrowing one cent, the most glorioics achievement of any nation of ten million people in modern history.

"Government is largely a matter of business. It is our business, and a lot of people realize that fact today more than ever. And as Liberals we should be proud of the administration of our affairs by the King Government.

"Mr. Ferguson said in 1929 he was going to put the farmers on their feet. Well, you know whether you are on your feet or not. We all know that there are many people in this country to-day on their bare feet . They have to beg for boots."

Effect of Tariffs

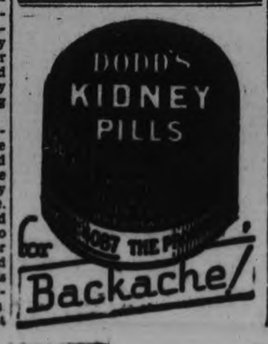
Mr. Duffus reminded the electors that increased tariffs eventuated in increased taxes. A tariff was a tax. He recalled the federal campaing of 1930 which he said the Conservative leader, Hon. R. B. Bennett, won by making to the people a lot of impossible promises which he could not fulfill. One thing he had done because it was extremely easy, was to increase the tariff, and as a result the cost of necessities of life were far higher than they should be under the conditions that have prevailed during the last two years.

"Mr. Bennett said he would make the tariff fight for the farmers" Mr. Bennett continued. "I don't need to to ask you how that has worked out. The tariff is helping some interests, but I leave it to yourselves to say just how it is affecting you. Mr. Bennett promised to build a transcontinental highway to relieve unemployment. He did start that project, but one winter's experience was enough, and this road has been abandoned after the expenditure of millions of the people's money. He promised to begin work on the St. Lawrence waterway, also as a means of employment, and nothing material has been done with pick and shovel yet, and any engineer knew that it could not be done as promised."

Mr. Duffus remarked that it was very easy to make promises that sounded bright enough to fool a lot of people who did not give them careful thought, but it was a real accomplishment to take hold of the country following the Meighen government's administration, as Mackenzie King had done, and roll up year after year of national success from 1923 down to 1930.

Candidate Grateful

Mr. Hawthorne in responding to the convention's accolade said he appreciated the honor that had been conferred on him and with the assistance of everybody who desired a change in the management of the affairs of Ontario he hoped to succeed in winning the riding at the next provincial elections.



JAMES W. RILEY POET OF PEOPLE

J. O. Herity of Belleville, Delights Campbellford Rotarians With Address on Famous Poet.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 27 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — "One of the kindest souls that has brought sunshine to this sad old world." In these words, J. O. Herity of Belleville described James Whitcomb Riley, "the people's poet," in an address to the Campbellford Rotary Club yesterday on the works and life of this beloved man of letters.

"It has been said," the speaker stated, "that poetry to-day was in the discard, that the world was arriving at the age of prose, that poetry, like the old-fashioned family life and theology, was losing ground," but this was far from the truth, he declared. It was true that to-day poetry did not create the demand that the early works of Sir Walter Scott did, yet the works of the poets still continues to influence the human race.

Potent Influence.

"Poetry," he declared, "had a more potent influence on human development than science." Whereas science only deal with the physical, poetry speaks to the emotional and spiritual. In early childhood, from the little religious verse a child learns at its mother's knee to the nursery rhymes that are taught it in later years, the magnificent poetry of the Bible and the rich, appealing beauty of the hymns, the poetry that speaks of patriotism, the madrigal or love lyrics with their beauty and high form of expression, as found in many of our beautiful songs, to the eulogies, all these have a lasting influence on the human race. "From the cradle to the grave, poetry shapes our ideals and gives form to our emotions and lives," said Mr. Herity. It is the language of the imagination, and the best test of good poetry is its ability to stir the emotions and kindle the imagination.

Riley, the speaker said, was born on October 7, 1849, at Greenfield, Indiana, a son of the village lawyer, Ruben A. Riley. Attending the village school, he was not a good student and left at the age of fifteen.

He had, however, great talents for the arts, was a good violin player, could sketch and write poetry. In early life he travelled the state with a band of medicine venders, reciting his own compositions. Only July 22, 1916, he died at Indianapolis, Ind., aged 66 years, a bachelor.

As a poet, Riley was called the poet of the common people, the speaker said, and he was beloved of them. Like Dr. Drummond, he knew and loved the everyday folks and wrote about them. He was also a poet of childhood, and some of his best works deal with child life, such as the "Happy Little Cripple." In fact a whole volume was given over to child life, and included such gems as "Orphan Annie," "The Bumble Bee," "The Raggedy Man," and "The Old Swimming Hole."

One of his accomplishments was his ability to recite his own poems, and he travelled the country for years, sharing platforms with such men as Bill Nye and Mark Twain. He lived during the time of the American Civil War, in which his father was a cavalry officer, and this left its impression on him as is found in such poems as "Old Man and Jim."

"Riley," said Mr. Herity, "has given us many delightful characters." When the news of his fatal illness was published, Edgar A. Guest wrote a touching tribute to him, for the news created as much interest as the news of the illness of one of the great ones of the earth. Riley is buried at Crown Hill Cemetery, Indianapolis, Ind.

G. A. Kingston and Dr. H. B. Longmore sponsored a vote of thanks to the speaker for his splendid address, which he made even more interesting by a frequent rendition of selections from the works of the poet. The luncheon was presided over by President Elie Brunelle.

Obituary

MRS. ANNIE GALLAHER.

CORDOVA MINES, Sept. 27. — (Examiner Correspondence.)— The death occurred at Cordova Mines early Monday morning of Annie Conway Gallaher, mother of Mrs. Terry Fitzpatrick, with whom she lived, and Mrs. W. J. Gallaher of Peterborough. She was the widow of Patrick Gallaher, one of the pioneers of Belmont township, who predeceased her thirty-one years ago. Mrs. Gallaher had attained to the grand old age of ninety years and four months. She had been ill for about six months, but not seriously so until about eleven days ago when she suffered a second stroke which rendered her unconscious.

Despite advancing years, she was in almost full possession of her faculties, and never lost interest in the doings of those around her. Of a sweet and loving disposition she was loved by all with whom she came in contact, and especially beloved of children, who never found her indifferent to their childish needs or preferences. She was known as a wonderful neighbor and friend in the years gone by, when she took an active part in the doings of the small community in which she lived. Her epitaph is written deep in the hearts of her friends and neighbors.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning, leaving the home at 8.15 for mass at Sacred Heart church, Marmora at 9 a.m. The remains will be interred in the family plot in the cemetery adjoining the church at Marmora.

Eruptions Disfigured Face. Lasted 2 Years. Cuticura Healed.

"My trouble began with small pimples, a rash and blackheads appearing on my face. The pimples were hard, red and itched, also festered and scaled over. The irritation was so severe that I scratched and caused eruptions which disfigured my face. The trouble lasted two years.

"I read an advertisement advertising Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. Later I purchased more and after using one box of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap I was completely healed, in less than two months." (Signed) Miss Rose Walters, Chaplin, Sask.

ADVERTISING for the MERCHANT of TO-DAY

Conducted by HAROLD S. EDGAR

A series of weekly articles on advertising and merchandising prepared for the merchants of Peterborough district with the co-operation of The Peterborough Examiner.

SOME CUSTOMER TYPES

The nervous irritable customer fusses all through the sale, chafes at delay, and is usually sharp in her attitude.

Serve her quickly and quietly: slowness of motion will only make her nervousness worse. Keep your voice and manner calm and soothing and meet her arguments with smooth concurrance. When she indicates dislike for any article, remove it, for small details jar on her.

The uncertain customer takes long to decide, for she is afraid she is not getting one hundred percent value for her money.

As soon as you realize her cautiousness stress quality and economy, but seldom style factors. You must use a firm convincing manner, and never complete a sale with such a customer unless she is fully sold on the merchandise, for she is likely to change her mind.

The aloof customer may be simply making his or her attitude towards the merchandise so as not to be led into wrong buying.

Keep on talking, present goods from different angles, and watch expression carefully for some display of interest. If customer begins to appear interested when you mention a certain point, let this be your talking point.

The snobbish customer indicates by her manner that she regards the counter as the dividing line between social classes.

Appear not to notice her offensiveness. Your most commendable asset in dealing with this type is dignity. Serve her quietly, holding your head erect with calm realization of the importance of your own position.

When you see her thoughts begin to wander, pause a moment. Or, if you pick up the article and hold it before her, looking directly at her as you talk, the combination of sight and sound will usually bring her back to the matter in hand.

Tell her regretfully that the information is considered confidential and that you are not at liberty to reveal it. Do not answer questions with coolness or hauteur, no matter how personal or inquisitive.

The timid customer is quiet and unassuming.

A brisk business-like manner is likely to embarass her. Set her at ease with friendly sympathy and endeavour to make her shopping as light an ordeal as possible. You will find your efforts rewarded with grateful patronage.

The unreasonable inconsiderate customer fumes and argues; she is unable to understand that customers are given preference in order of their arrival.

Be patient and polite. Never argue or try to make her see the fairness of the rule, for she will never grant it.

The mind of the deliberate customer is slow-moving, slow-thinking and works logically.

You must talk slowly and clearly for she need time to digest facts. Take plenty of time to show your goods: showing two articles at once disturbs her.

Endeavour to win the confidence of the suspicious customer, who is sceptical about merchandise offered at reduced prices.

No matter what you show the "Hard-to-please" customer she will sniff indifferently or find more fault.

To deal with her you must have thorough knowledge of your goods, and be able to meet every objection with confidence and politeness.

Many customers like to make their purchases unassisted and their wish to be left alone must be respected.

When a shopper tells you that she is "just looking around", smile pleasantly and assure her that you are glad to have her do so.

Listen to her stories and try to lead her back to her purchases by polite questions. Yet never appear hurried, or give the slightest hint of impatience.

Even the well to do customer is often stingy.

You must sell her on the idea of paying for good merchandise by stressing wearing qualities, and the saving of initial purchase of superior quality.

Again I state, never slight a child customer.

She is the adult customer of tomorrow, and besides, whatever happens during the sale will be duly reported by the child to her parents.

The decisive customer appears to know definitely about everything.

Never tell her anything; permit her to talk, and she will sell herself the merchandise.

NEXT WEEK: PLANNED DRIVES

Mr. Edgar will be glad to answer questions in this column, if readers will address their communications in care of this paper. Confidential replies can be arranged through the editor.—(Copyright).

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY EXAMINER

REV. G. H. TYLER GUEST SPEAKER AT ANNIVERSARY

Lakefield Baptist Church Celebrates Its Annual Anniversary.

GILMOUR CHOIR PRESENT

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 27, (Examiner Correspondence).—The anniversary series in the Lakefield Baptist Church were held on Sunday with ideal weather and well attended services both morning and evening. The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants and masses of lovely garden blooms arranged in rich profusion. At the evening service, the pastor, Rev. W. B. Walker, was assisted by Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., of Regent Street United Church and Rev. R. J. Burton of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church who waived their evening services in honor of the Baptist anniversary. The choir of Gilmour Memorial Church and organist (Miss Mabel Paul) were present and contributed acceptably to the musical part of the service.

Among the special musical numbers was an anthem "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus" a duet by Misses Marion Blewett and Lilian MacGregor and a ladies' quartette by Mrs. Joe Mann, Mrs. Young and Misses Jean Paul and Lilian MacGregor.

The special preacher was Rev. G. K. Tyler of Park Street Church Peterborough who delivered a forceful sermon, taking as his theme the story of Abraham's obedience to God's command in being ready to sacrifice Isaac, his only son, which is given in the 22nd chapter of Genesis. Can anyone imagine Abraham's thought during that three days' journey to Mt. Moriah, the anguish which he felt but though sorely tempted to tarry by the way hep ressed on according to Bods' command. The reference to this happening in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews throws a light on the feelings of Abraham and suggests that he was sustained with the conviction that if he slew his son that God would raise him up from the dead. And what were Isaac's feelings, a full grown young man, did he see that he was to be the sacrifice? There was no attempt on his part to rebel or retreat. From his earliest childhood he was trained in obedience and in fellowship with his father and trained to reflect God's word and while Abraham offers his only son in perfect obedience to God, Isaac commits himself whole heartedly to the purpose of God. It was a high altitude of consecration and committal of onself to the eternal purpose of God. Some of us have, figuratively speaking, scaled Mt. Moriah.

Isaiah came to that place in the time of sorrow when his beloved king died and in the Garden of Gethsemane (if this is not too sacred a passage to be used as an illustration) our Lord lifted His heart and face to God and said, "If it be possible to let this cup pass from me—but not as I will but as thou wilt." He surrendered Himself in the Garden and went to Calvary for you and me. Saul of Tarsus who turned from his persecution of the Christians, lifted his blinded eyes to heaven and said "Lord what will Thou have me to do".

Florence Nightingale, the angel of the Crimea, when asked the secret of her grace and tenderness to the sick and suffering in the Crimean War said, "God has done everything. I have done nothing. I have never refused God anything."

William Booth early in life made up his mind that God would have every bit of William Booth and he devoted his life's work to service of the poor and needy in England and worked for the glory of God.

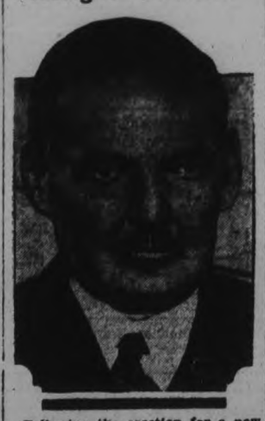
God speaks to us to-night asking us to present ourselves, our souls and bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable and undefiled. God does not desire human sacrifice but does deside life consecration, that his ambition may be to ascend the heights and say "All for Jesus". Abraham called the place Jehovah-jireh for God will provide. God did not proved the substitute till Abraham had obeyed unhesitatingly every command. Israel felt the satisfaction of God's help at the Red Sea and again at the fall of Jericho. All this illustrates that God will provide in the time of crisis for His children, for God's love is so great for mankind that He gave His only begotten son for us that we might have everlasting life. In the crisis of guilt when our load is heavy if we come to the throne of God in penitent prayer we hear His voice "Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world.

Following the usual custom an entertainment was held on Monday evening with a varied program.

The first Baptist Church was built in Lakefield in 1863 as an off shoot of the parent church on the "Communication Road" in Smith, known as the Gilmour Memorial Church which was established about 1840.

The growing of the settlement which later became the village of Lakefield brought the need of a church and a small brick chapel was built which was later added to and became the present comfortable and convenient church, the original church is used as a Sunday School room and is well kept up. It was very fitting that on this anniversary the choir of the mother church should have an important part in the service.

Resigned Premier



Following the erection for a new Lower House of the Riksdag, in which the issue was majority rule by the Social Democrats, Premier Felix T. Hamrin of Sweden (above) resigned with his entire cabinet. Premier Hamrin, a former finance minister, succeeded former Premier Ekman, who relinguished his post after it had been disclosed he had financial dealings with the late Ivar Kreuger.

Reverses His Job

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 26. (CP) Up till a few weeks ago Abe Siskind was keeping men in jail, but to-day he started trying to keep them out.

During the summer holidays for the past two years Siskind has been employed as a turnkey at the county jail.

To-day he appeared as a full-fledged lawyer after completing his course at Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

YOU'D NEVER KNOW HER . . .

. . . FOR THE SAME BABY

This is what Mrs. Albert Bolton, of Toronto, writes: "Our little girl, Margaret Jean, was nursed for the first few months, but this did not satisfy her. I had heard about Eagle Brand and decided to try it. She took to it right away and there has been no trouble since. Her flesh is firm; lovely, straight limbs, good bone development, and she is so contented. Last September she won third prize at the Canadian National Exhibition, against 102 entrants.

If you are unable to nurse your own baby, send for Baby Welfare literature.

Premier Claims Neighbor Aiming at Monster Military Machine.

SPEECH HAILED.

PARIS, Sept. 27 (C.P.). — Paris political circles responded with acclaim to-day to a speech by Premier Edouard Herriot at Gramat yesterday, in which the Premier warned that Germany was planning to re-arm and proposed that the German arms equality problem be solved by a new security treaty at Geneva.

The Nationalist newspaper, Le Figaro, hailed the speech as a repudiation of the International policy of the late Aristide Briand. Senator Henri Berenger, in the financial newspaper, L'Agene Economique et Financiere, referred to it as Herriot's profession of faith and added that merited "becoming international."

In the speech, which was made when Dr. Herriot stopped at the south-western French town on his way to Geneva, the Premier suggested Germany is seeking sufficient military strength to defeat with one thrust "the designated adversary."

Hall's Bridge

Mrs. T. Elliott has returned from her long visit to the West, to Hall's Bridge for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Hy Shearer and family, accompanied by their niece, Miss Helen Thomas of Tweed, paid a visit to Omemee recently.

Miss Beatrice McClung has left Hall's Bridge for her home at Garden Hill, Port Hope. She will shortly take a position as clerk at Mr. A. V. Lillow's shoe store in Peterborough.

The annual school fair of Hall's Bridge and district was held at Hall's Bridge, Friday. The ideal weather no doubt was partly responsible for the exceptionally large number of visitors. Practically all the children and most of the adults of the Curve Lake Reserve being present. The exhibits of flowers, fruit, vegetables and livestock were, if anything, above the usual standard. To enliven the proceedings, selections of music were played at intervals by the Curve Lake Band.

"Gossip and Such"

The shadows of two great baseball men who have gone on must hover over the wide flung reaches of the Yankee stadium as the New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs clash in the 1932 edition of the world series.

* * *

Miller Huggins

One, Miller Huggins, wiry little baseball figure, who steered Col. Jake Ruppert's New York Yankees through all October baseball storms but this one, is dead; but his memory lingers on as the 1932 classic draws near.

* * *

The other, Roger Hornsby, who was a blazing, dominant figure in the Cubs' last world's series, is very much alive but at least a temporary recluse on his Missouri farm to which he has been exiled from this very fall classic.

* * *

Both men were highly important figures the last time Yankees and Cubs sought the world championship. To-day, Huggins and Hornsby are glorious legends and, as far as the outcome of this Yank-Cub battle is concerned, nothing more.

* * *

Somehow it doesn't seem logical to have the Yanks moving to the attack in the war for the world's championship, without the slender little field marshall out there in general headquarters, the deep-shadowed dugout, with long-peaked cap hiding his eyes, small pointed chin jammed on fist as elbow rests on knee, one foot braced on the concrete dugout wall.

* * *

The smallest figure out on the playing field his every movement drew twice 60,000 eyes for he was the most important guy of them all. Ask the Giants of 1924, the Pirates of 1927, the Cards of 1928, ask Ruth and Gehrig and Pennock and other Yankee veterans, ask his old boss, Col. Jake Ruppert, who was the first to mark the true measure of Miller Huggins, the first to see the gold.

* * *

"What will Hornsby do?" was the watchword of the 1929 series. Today only friends give a whoop. The brilliant Texan, though he managed the Cubs through two-thirds of this season, rates no greater than a spectator. The Cubs have refused to vote him a player's share in the world's series financial prize.

* * *

Huggins and Hornsby won't get any glory or gold out of this series. Both men left their mark in baseball and Huggins and Hornsby will be great names as long as there is baseball.

TEUTON POUNDS FIGHTING MICK HARD IN EIGHTH

Walker Makes Effort to Continue Although Blinded After Terrific Punishment.

GREAT BATTLE FOR FANS.

Jack Kearns Stops Fight in 8th—55,000 Persons Make $175,000.

(By Edward J. Neil, A. P. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—The fight game, a bit frost bitten about the ears, gladly bundled up its outdoor season paraphernalia today, left the heavyweight question for Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey to settle next summer, and settled down to discussions around the winter cracker barrel of one of the most stirring and unusual heavyweight battles of modern history.

Back to the middleweight division, by his own consent, went Mickey Walker, still claiming championship there, with the plaudits of 50,000 of the faithful still ringing in his ears, as game a little fellow as ever stepped out of his class to take crushing defeat manfully until there was not another breath of resistance left in him.

For Max Schmeling, conqueror of the doughty little Irishman in eight rounds in the 1932 closing show at the Madison Square Garden Bowl, there was nothing left this year but a jaunt back to Germany, a rest for a few months, and then return to resume his feud when summer is blooming again with his conqueror for the heavyweight title, Jack Sharkey.

For a while last night, as the big crowd huddled in topcoats and furs under a sudden blast of almost wintry winds, it seemed that Walker, and not the even gaited German, was to cap a glamorous career with a stunning upset victory, and win the right to challenge Sharkey in Schmeling's place.

Terrific Punishment

But in the eighth round the lightning in the black-browed Teuton struck Walker with full force. A right uppercut closed Mickey's left eye, blinded him. The crushing power in Schmeling's fists blasted Walker from one side of the ring to the other, floored him for counts of six and nine, left him rubber-legged, bleeding, helpless when the bell rang.

Without waiting for Referee Jack Denning's interference, Jack Kearns Walker's manager, leaped into the ring and claimed what was left of his gallant little warrior. He refused to let Mickey go further, would not let the seconds in the corner attempt to patch the little Irishman's wounds.

There was nothing for Referee Jack Denning to do but award the decision to Schmeling on a technical knockout.

Although the bout actually ended in the minute rest between the eighth and ninth rounds, it will go down in ring history as a technical knockout for Schmeling in the eighth.

But apart from the almost confused and hysterical ending, there was material galore for the cracker barrel boys in a battle that for seven rounds was as vicious and surprising as any modern heavyweight history knows.

PROSPECTS OF RAINY WEATHER FOR FIRST GAME

Fans Skeptical of Dope That Established Yanks as Top Heavy Favorites.

PLAYERS ON EDGE.

(By Gayle Talbot, A.P. Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Big City pulsated with world series fever to-day as the Chicago Cubs, glamorous champions of the National League, and the New York Yankees, the boys with thunder in their bats, prepared to fight it out in baseball's greatest spectacle at the Yankee Stadium.

To-morrow they go at it. Two games here, then three at Chicago, then back here for two more if the series go the limit. A short fight and a sweet one.

But to-day it still was something to anticipate, something to argue over, with every office and street corner an open forum.

The Cubs, slipping in this morning, were to be given full possession of the great pile in the Bronx for a last-minute brushing up on fielding and a sharpening up of batting eyes. The Yankees, too, were to snap through just enough work to retain a keen edge for the big series.

Smooth Out Details

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, from a central location, smoothed out the thousand and one details, gave managers and umpires final instructions. And in the back rooms it went like this:

"Yeah, they're offering 8 to 5 on those Yanks, but it don't mean a thing. Not a thing. Didn't they lay the same figures that the Athletics would take the Cardinals a year ago, and didn't this Pepper Martin make them all look silly?"

That was how matters stood. The approximate odds, 8 to 5 in favor of the slugging Yankees, the prospect that there will be showers tomorrow and Thursday, and the majority of fans frankly skeptical of the dope that has established the American League champions top-heavy favorites.

CELEBRITIES TO ATTEND.

Bruins Quoted 8 to 5 Favorites to Win Series Ending at Minneapolis.

(By B. Gregory Hewlett—A.P. Staff Writer).

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 27.—Eyes of the minor league baseball world turned to this red-hot baseball city to-day to watch the opening engagement of the Little World Series between the champions of the International League and the American Association.

Newark, itself, was in a holiday mood as to-day's battle between its own Bears and the Minneapolis Millers marked the first time in its history the classic of the double "A" leagues was held here. Then, too, the series climaxed a season for the Bears such as Newarkers had not seen since the team topped the International League 19 long years ago.

Partly because of the long interim since the last pennant came to this city, a record crowd for Little World Series games was expected to throng to Ruppert Stadium for tht start at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Advance sale of tickets was heavy and it was indicated a sell-out crowd of 20,000 would attend.

Acting Governor A. Crozer Reeves, president of the State Senate, will head the list of dignitaries attending, while Kenesaw M. Landis, high commissioner of the national game, will top the role of baseball celebrities.

Newark's young, fast team ruled a 9 to 5 favorite to win to-day's struggle, the first of three scheduled here. The Bears also were quoted 8 to 5 favorites to win the series ending at Minneapolis.

Manager Al Mamaux will send Don Brennan, right-hander, who won 25 games in the regular campaign, to the mound in an effort to take the series lead. Charlie Hargreaves, oldest member of the Bears' eligible list by virtue of his 33 years, will be Brennan's battery mate.

Bush Picks Ryan.

Just as anxious to get the jump in the seven or less games series, Donie Bush, veteran manager of the Millers, plans to match Brennan's speed with the sagacity of Rosy Bill Ryan. Without the fast ball he once flung at major league batters, Ryan, now 35 years old, won 21 games in the association by his knowledge of where not to put them.

Young Paul Richards, only 23, but a hard hitter and one of the key figures in Minneapolis' scheme of things, will draw the catching assignment.

Millbrook Outfit Here Wednesday

Orde's and Millbrook, of the City Lacrosse League, are scheduled to play a league fixture at the Brock tomorrow (Wednesday) night at 8.30 o'clock. The game was originally announced for Millbrook, but will be staged here instead.

Only four points separate the two teams, the Barbers having sixteen points against twelve for the out-of-towners. With the schedule about half over, and all four teams bunched, anything may happen. The teams are very evenly matched and have been playing so close and exciting contests. The Millbrook aggregation has shown considerable improvement the last two weeks and their followers are confident they can turn back the fast-stepping Barbers this time.

If the game is kept clean, it is sure to be thrilling and hard-fought, the two speedy squads battling to the last ditch to grab the decision. Fans can't afford to miss a contest that promises so much.

MAX BAER WINS EASILY OVER TUFFY GRIFFITHS

CHICAGO STADIUM, Chicago, Sept. 27.—Max Baer of California fought his way further up the heavyweight ladder last night by scoring a technical knockout over Tuffy Griffiths of Chicago in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round bout. Baer weighed 204, Griffiths 188. Referee Phil Collins stopped the bout after 58 seconds of the seventh round, with Griffiths still on his feet but hopelessly beaten.

A crowd of approximately 9,000 persons saw Baer score his eleventh straight victory, and his 27th knockout in 44 bouts during his less than four years in the ring.

The receipts were estimated at $20,000, of which Baer was to receive 30 per cent. and Griffiths 22 per cent.

Although Griffiths failed to win a round, he was only on the floor once and made a game comeback in the fifth and sixth rounds after being virtually out on his feet in the fourth.

DRIVE PLANNED FOR MEMBERS

Annual Y.M.C.A. Membership Drive is Gotten Under Way.

WANT 1,000 MEMBERS

Opening a campaign to secure 1,000 members to the local Y.M.C.A. a group of 75 workers was organized last evening at a luncheon in the "Y" dining room as an active field force. They went into action to-day signing up new members, who will enjoy the many advantages afforded by the new and larger "Y" building and the good health and fellowship which follow participation in the Assaciation's activities.

Charlie Cumming was chairman of the organization meeting last evening. Enthusiasm for the benefits obtained from Y.M.C.A. activities was expressed by W. A. Richardson, president of the Board of Directors; Charles Cumming, and A. R. Piper, recently of Regina. All expressed the hope that the membership drive would be pushed over the top to a great success worthy of the city's bigger "Y" building.

G. H. Roper, secretary, reported that already to date there have been 548 membership renewals, which means that better than half the campaign's objective has been achieved already.

The working force was divided into three divisions, with a major at the head of each division, made up of five teams. "A" Division has C. Cummer as its leader, and captains are J. A. Bell, A. E. Dryland, L. Plunkett, S. J. Payne and A. Heidman. Dr. H. M. Yelland is the leader of "B" Division, and its team captains are E. W. Jones, J. S. Boyd, D. T. Crawford, C. M. Rishor and Rev. C. D. Daniel. Leader of "C" Division is Charles Lacheur, and captains are S. O. Shields, A. R. Brown, H. C. McLeod, R. B. White and J. H. Matthews.

Meetings to report progress by the teams will be held Wednesday, Friday and Monday evening. The drive closes on Monday, when the Y.M.C.A. begins its great fall season of gymnasium, swimming, bowling and club activities.

Two Escape Burwash Elude All Pursuit

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 27 (C.P.)—Despite wide search, police to-day have been unable to find Eugene Kendall, 31, negro who escaped from the industrial farm at Burwash yesterday. No trace has been found of Arthur Robillard, 32, who escaped Thursday. Both men strolled into the dense buch while working with gangs.

Kendall had served three months of a 26 months' sentence for illegal entry into Canada, while Robillard was sentenced at Hamilton to three years for assault. He had only five months more to serve.

Golf Club Visit Pays Bandits Well

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (C.P.)—Three armed youths halted 11 golfers from changing from playing togs into their street clothes, herded them and employees into the locker room of the Corona Park Club here yesterday, and escaped with $200 from their pockets and $1,100 in green fees.

The hold-up men sauntered in casually, cowed Raymond Ryan, club manager, rounded up the players, three of them women, and then dashed into a waiting automobile before an alarm could be raised.

ST. JOSEPH D'ALMA, Que., September 27 (C.P.). — "Certain politicians in England and elsewhere with in the Empire, who were opposed to the Government's contributing to the Conference at Ottawa, are seeking to serve party ends before all, and are endeavoring to belittle the success of the commercial understanding" reached at the Conference, declared Hon. Arthur Sauve, Postmaster-General, in an address here over the week-end.

Russian Crude Oil Refined in Montreal

MONTREAL, Sept. 27 ((C.P.).—A cargo of 9,000 tons of Russian crude oil brought here aboard the tanker Aase Maersk from Batum in the Black Sea as part of a deal by which the Aluminum Company of Canada will exchange Canadian aluminum products for Soviet oil, was to-day undergoing refining processes here preparatory to being placed on the Canadian market.

News of a crude oil contract between Russia and a private Japanese enterprise revived interest here in the Aase Maersk and her cargo. The Canadian Government allowed the Danish tanker to discharge the oil at the Lasalle petroleum refinery docks because there is no Canadian embargo on Russian oil.

It was understood here that another shipment of Soviet oil is expected shortly.

Dry Agent Found Shot After Raid Upon Still

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 27 (C.P.)—Missing 20 hours after a "wild cat" distillery raid in the Minnesota woods, James G. Harney, United States prohibition agent, was found shot to death. His body, pierced by a rifle bullet, was found Saturday in the brush, near Tamarack, partly concealed beneath a fresh layer of moss.

The body was found on the land of Harry Herstrom, 42, a settler. He and Emil Giving, 20, were sought for questioning.

BUSH, RUFFING PICKED TO HURL SERIES OPENER

Allen, Former Toronto Star, is Most Feared Yankee Twirler.

LOOK FOR CLASSIC

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (Special to The Examiner).—The eastern baseball experts have the world series pitching schedule all made out, and the funny thing about it is that the experts with the Cubs are inclined to agree with them.

Here's the line-up for the first three games as per the consensus after non-committal interviews with Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees and Charley Grimm of the Cubs:

FIRST GAME—Charley Ruffing vs. Guy Bush.

SECOND GAME—Vernon Gomez vs. Burleigh Grimes.

THIRD GAME (Chicago opener) —John Allen vs. Lon Warneke.

Beyond the first three games the experts do not venture, for the showing of a pitcher in an early game, combined with the fact there is a travel date between the second and third game, may make it advisable for the managers to come back with a red hot workman, rather than gamble with one of his untried artists.

McCarthy Fears Bush.

If the foregoing schedule prevails the Cubs will have two pitchers in the first two games who have won world series spurs working against two men who are very talented but who never have participated in a world series game.

Bush, it will be remembered, was the only Chicagoan able to beat the Athletics in the world series of 1929. He drew a 3 to 1 decision over George Earnshaw on Oct. 11 in the third game of the series and the first in Philadelphia.

Manager McCarthy, who was Bush's manager for five years during the period of his greatest advancement, is on record as saying that of the Cub pitchers whom he knows, Bush is the only one to be especially feared. Bush, when right, can break his screw ball around the knees of batsmen and the Yankees are notoriously weak on that type of pitching. It is said that McCarthy, though a great admirer of Root and Malone while he managed them, now thinks they are made to order for the type of bruisers he has on his roster.

Burleigh Likes Those Dollars.

Grimes in the second game is a good guess, because Burleigh is one of the greatest money battlers of all time. He has been in three world series during his career and this will be his third in three years. Two years ago he was defeated twice, though he turned in five hit performances both times he worked. Last year he was one of the heroes of the series with two victories, one of which was a two hit masterpiece. He thinks, even though he has had a bad season, that he will be able to stop the Yankee sluggers when called upon.

The opener in Chicago should be one of the best pitched games in Chicago, between two young men who have achieved their first success this year, both to a superlative degree.

Allen, former star of the Toronto International League Club, is a side-arm pitcher, and those who know the Cubs' batting weaknesses say he will be the toughest of all the Yankees to beat. The Cubs figure that Warneke is the man to hold the Yankees down, while his teammates eke out a few runs off Allen.

Allen is a pitcher who likes the excitement of a hot contest and is reputed to be a mean man who likes to rule the enemy with an occasional duster and a rapid fire of verbal abuse such as usually is left to the catcher. This does not terrify the Cubs, however, who are pretty good at repartee and are not likely to become frenzied by Mr. Allen's verbal barbs. Or his dusters, either, for that matter.

Watch Out in Ninth, Lefty!

Despite Gomez's remarkable record for this season, and last season, too, eastern observers think the Cubs have a good chance to beat the Yankees' southpaw ace. It is said that Lefty, who is not of especially strong physique, has been tiring badly in recent games and may be a mark for one of those late rallies that have characterized the efforts of the Cubs during the last six or seven weeks.

New York betting has started and is based on the foregoing pitching guess. The Yanks are favorites, but not because of their pitching. The hitters have swung the prices against the Cubs. If Ruth's health continues a doubtful matter up to the opening of the series, however, it is predicted that the odds will be cut as short as 6 to 5, but with the Yankees still the favorites.

A "stooge" is a person planted in the audience by a vaudeville act. The stooge heckles and otherwise apparently tries to disrupt the stage performance but his work is all part of the act. Early in his theatrical career George Bancroft worked as a stooge. One day an elderly gentleman in the audience took George's work seriously. Becoming incensed over George's insulting wisecracks addressed to the stage, he arose and struck the future movie star over the head with a heavy cane. Banoroft then gave up his work as a stooge.

Foxx And Klein Are Judged The Most Valuable Players To Teams In 1932

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26.—Jimmy Foxx, new home run king of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Chuck Klein, Phillies' hard-hitting outfielder, have been selected as the most valuable players to their teams for 1932 in the annual ballot of the Sporting News, which was announced recently.

It was Klein's second straight selection, having won the honor last year. Foxx succeeds Lou Gehrig, New York Yankees' first baseman, who was runner-up this year to Foxx.

Foxx received 56 points out of a possible 88, and Klein 46. Lefty O'Doul, Brooklyn outfielder, was runner-up in the National League with 40 points.

The ten players who received the largest number of votes in each league follows:

National League—Klein, Phillies, 46; O'Doul, Brooklyn, 40; Traynor, Pittsburg, 31; Terry, New York, 19; Warneke, Chicago, 16; Stephenson and Herman Chicago, 14 each; Maranville, Boston, and Frisch, St. Louis, 13 each; Lucas, Cincinnati, 11.

American League—Foxx, Athletics, 56; Gehrig, New York, 47; Averill, Cleveland, 29; Gehringer, Detroit, 20; Weaver, Washington, 19; Manush, Washington, 17; Rick Ferrell, St. Louis, 16; Harry Davis, Detroit, 13; Cronin, Washington, and Cissell, Cleveland, 11 each.

Maureen Orcutt and Virginia Van Wie Tie Medal Score With Par 77's.

ADA MACKENZIE QUALIFIES.

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 27.— (C. P.)—With the defending champion retired to the gallery, the 32 qualifiers in the women's United States golf championship were primed today for the opening 18-hole matches on the Salem Country Club's course.

Helen Hicks, 1931 titlist, passed out of the tourney yesterday when she carded an 89 for her qualifying test. She made almost every mistake possible in the game to go 12 strokes over par and one more than the play deadline.

Two other stars, Maureen Orcutt and Virginia Van Wie, added to their game's history by tying for the medal with par 77's, a score equalled only twice before since 1895, by Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser of Ottawa seven years ago at St. Louis and Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, in 1925, at Garden City, N.Y.

Mackenzie Qualifies.

The latter qualified this year with an 87, and to-day meets Jane Brooks, Sparkhill, N.Y., in the opening round of match play. Her fellow citizen, Mrs. C. E. Eddis, opposes Dorothy Hunter, Newton, Mass., while Miss Enid Wilson, the powerful driving British champion who qualified with a 79 is paired against Elizabeth Skinner, Holyoke, Mass.

Miss Orcutt and Miss Van Wie engaged in a sudden death play-off to facilitate the making of the numerical draw for the match play and the former won on the third extra hole, forcing Miss Van Wie into the lower half of the draw, which contains Miss Wilson, the most feared player in the tournament.

Mrs. Vare, weakened by a tonsilitis attack, played her usual strong game to card an 80 and the draw pitted her against one of her Pennsylvania neighbors, Mrs. K. F. Scheidt of Norristown, in an upper half match.

PLAY NARROWS CITY TOURNEY

One of Ladies' Tennis Events Finished, Others Be Completed This Week.

RESULTS TO DATE.

Play is being narrowed down in the City Tennis Tournament, run off on the Peterborough and Kawartha Club courts. One of the ladies' events has been finished, and the other should be completed this week, with the men's finals to be held either this Saturday or the following week. Following are the results to date:—

Jackson still to be played. Semi-final draw—Scott to play winner of Toole vs. Jackson; Cotton defeated Cathcart, 7—5, 3—6, and 6—3.

Men's Doubles (senior) first round unfinished from last week.—G. Nicholls and W. Jones defeated A. Rutter and Martin, 6—2 and 6—3. Second round (semi-finals): Cathcart and Cotton defeated Nicholls and Jones, 10—8, and 7—5; Bowness and Jackson won from Sills and Crowe, 6—4 and 6—2.

Mixed Doubles (senior) first round, unfinished from last week: Max Cotton and Miss I. Davidson defeated W. Jackson and Miss H. Jackson, 8—6, 4—6, and 7—5. Second round (semi-finals).—George Scott and Mrs. J. Dewart defeated J. Donaldson and Miss Benson, 10—8, and 6—1; Max Cotton and Miss Davidson won from G. Nicholls and Miss B. Pickering, 6—1, 8—10, and 6—0.

Ladies' Doubles (senior) finals—Mrs. G. Langley and Miss H. Jackson will meet Mrs. J. Dewart and Miss I. Davidson.

Ladies' Single (junior) second round, semi-finals—Miss Betsy Scott defeated Miss Jean Howson, 6—3, and 8—6; Miss Ann Macdonald won from Miss Cowan, 6—2 and 6—3.

Ladies' Doubles (junior), semi-finals.—Miss B. Scott and Miss Lundy defeated Miss K. Caddy and Miss R. McKee, 6—4 and 9—7; Miss Ann Macdonald and Miss Cowan defeated Miss A. Langley and Miss J. Howson, 6—3 and 6—3. Final—Miss Scott and Miss Lundy defeated Miss Macdonald and Miss Cowan, 6—3 and 6—3.

Maurice Tate May Join English Team

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 26. (Canadian Press Cable).—The English cricket team which left England 10 days ago for Australia where it hopes to regain the mythical "ashes" from the team down under, may yet have the services of Maurice Tate, Sussex bowler and veteran test match player who was obliged to remain home as a result of a nervous breakdown.

Tate believes himself in fine condition now and is awaiting a decision to be made by the Marlebone Cricket Club as to the advisability of his going.

Stars Meet C.N.R. In To-Night's Bill

The indoor softball double-header billed for the Brock Street Rink to-night is opened by the men's teams, C.N.R. and Daily Stars at 7.15 o'clock. They are followed at 8.45 by the C.G.E. girls and Brinton's. Both games should be started on time, so fans will not be kept waiting.

The Railwaymen are due to play the brand of ball capable of them, as this team includes several good baseball players. They have a good opportunity to-night of upsetting the works in the Star's camp, but the latter outfit will likely put their speed-merchant, Chuck Butcher, on the firing line. It promised to be an interesting ball game. Both Brintons and C.G.E. of the girls' section, have been going good recently, and this tussle between them this evening looks like a "natural," with close and classy playing giving spectators something to cheer about.

CRICKET CLUB ENDS SEASON

Oshawa Plays Exhibition on Local Grounds on Saturday Afternoon.

TIGHT SCORING.

(Contributed.)

On Saturday both Peterborough and Oshawa wound up the cricket season in a friendly game played here at the Oval, and the players have oiled and put away their bats, looking forward keenly to meeting again next year in these enjoyable matches which they have now been playing together for many years.

Oshawa batted first and opened with G. Mann and A. Mann. G. Mann was soon caught on a good ball from Dyer for 3 runs. A. Mann continued to play a fine game, and reached double figures before being caught on a good catch from Lawrence. Lawrence then performed the hat trick by taking three Oshawa wickets in three consecutive balls. Lawrence and Dyer both bowled exceptionally well and dismissed Oshawa for 27 runs, Lawrence taking seven wickets for 17 runs, Dyer taking three wickets for 10 runs. Chamberlain caught some very good catches, R. N. Stuart also caught a good catch.

Peterborough then batted and opened with Lawrence and Rhodes in a very poor light. Lawrence was bowled by a good ball from Mann, and was not able to score his half century as he did before retiring in the last match with Toronto C.C. Binks followed Lawrence and was bowled for 0. Then Langhorne made 1 before being bowled. This made three wickets for 4 runs, and looked bad for Peterborough. However, Captain Dyer saved the situation by going in and punishing the bowling by scoring 24 runs, including two sixes and one four. A. B. Rhodes continued to bat very well and scored the top score of 25 before being caught. The only others to score were Jackson 8, R. N. Stuart 4, and J. Coleman 1. Peterborough made 66 runs. G. Mann took seven wickets for 19 runs.

After the game Peterborough C. C. entertained Oshawa C.C. at the Paragon to a pleasant supper, and an enjoyable evening was spent by all. Captain Dyer said that Peterborough, starting this season with a poor team, now had, if not the best, one of the best teams. He hoped Peterborough would have a good team next year.

The scores:

SPORTS Day by Day

Baseball — Softball — Lacrosse
Boxing — Wrestling — Acquatic

(BY C. J. P.)

The mens softball teams open the double-header at the Brock this evening, C.N.R. playing the Daily Stars at 7.15—not 7.30. They are followed by the gals' outfits, Brintons and C.G.E., around 8.45 o'clock. Both games ought to provide fans with some pretty fair softball, and neither promises to be one-sided.

The Pickering College football squad will be here for their exhibition game with P.C.I. Firsts at four bells tomorrow afternoon. The game is billed to get under way on time, and only a dime admission is charged. Coach Legon has been working on the local Collegians every night the past two weeks and will likely have a strong outfit. The boys will be battling for regular places on the teams, as well as for a win, so the game should be worth seeing.

* * * * * * *

Bill Kay of the O.B.A.A. will appoint two good Oshawa umpires for the Maple Leaf-Niagara Falls' game here Saturday. This tussle—the second one of the final series—will start at 2.30 sharp, and should draw a record crowd for minor league baseball. The boys from the Big Roar town won the first game Saturday, 6 to 2, and a win for the Leafs here will mean a third and deciding contest in Toronto the following Wednesday.

* * * * * * *

The Canadian Nationals, as the Falls' team is called, want this game bad and no fooling. They're journeying up here Friday night, taking hotel rooms, and will have all Saturday morning to get loosened up after their long jaunt. This costs dough aplenty and just shows how seriously the Cataract kids and their manager take this series. Well, they ought to. It's for the Ontario championship.

* * * * * * *

The Orde-Millbrook lacrosse game tomorrow eve will be played at the Brock instead of in Millbrook. A lively tussle may be expected when the speedy out-of-towners go after the Orde outfit. The latter lacrossers are just four points up on Millbrook now, two points being counted for each win. Anything may happen—and generally does—when the Millbrook men come to town.

* * * * * * *

McIntyre Mines won the championship of the Eastern Ontario Baseball Association yesterday, handing Temiskaming the wrong side of a 7-0 reading. Carl Wood—the "Inky" who used to pitch on local teams—held the losers to four scattered hits while he fanned nine. It seems Carl still has a lot of speed in that flipper of his.

* * * * * * *

Port Hope girls' softball team will play an exhibition game with the C.G.E. lasses at the Brock this Friday. As there's a lacrosse game later, the maidens will meet at seven bells. The Hopers have a pretty fair team, but may find the Brock tougher on them than on the local Electrics. The twin bill that evening should draw well.

* * * * * * *

The lacrosse game is between Millbrook and Brintons—the one which was postponed a week last Monday. They'll clash right after the gals get through their softball tussle, at 8.15 or thereabouts. This is the only postponed game in the lacrosse league, and as it will be cleared up soon, the boys will know just where they stand.

* * * * * * *

The battling C. G. E. gutted-stick artists galloped through Brintons in the fourth quarter last night to win out 7-3 before a fair crowd. It was a fine game, and looked like anybody's win till the unexpected and steam-rolled offensive put on by the Electrics late. They shoved in three big markers before you could say "thiosulphate—whatever that means—and deserved the win, but it was a smart exhibition of lacrosse.

* * * * * * *

Joe Bennett turned in some excellent bowling last night to win the local club singles, with H. Wood taking second prize. The club doubles will be played off this week, and all activities will be finished for the year. The annual banquet will be held shortly, with thirty-eight members getting good prizes. Sometimes the winners are a bit bashful—along the lines of a Sandy Somerville—and back out of the presentation-act at the big feed, but it's only fair to the club for all prize-winners to attend together.

* * * * * * *

And the tennis players here are rapidly finishing up. The ladies' events should be completed this week, and the men's finals will be held this Saturday, if possible, or else the following Saturday. Finalists should see the committee about linesmen and referees for the grand finish.

* * * * * * *

We had a bunch of 'phone calls last night, first asking for the radio station over which the Walker-Schmeling fight was being broadcast and then as to the result. Evidently a lot of interest in the scrap, and a whole bunch of fans hoping for another one of those David vs. Goliath decisions. But the old adage "a good big man is better than a good little man" still holds true and the game Toy Bulldog bit off more than he could masticate last night, the Teuton winning by a technical kayo at the end of the eighth.

BOWLING NOTES

AT HASTINGS

HASTINGS, Sept. 27 (Examiner Correspondence).—In the scheduled games of the Trent Valley Bowling League, played at Havelock, Hastings won three out of the four games played. Hastings took both ends of the first games by close scores. Lynch winning from Mathieson, 8 to 7, an extra end being played as the score was tied at the end of the tenth end. Jones won a hard-fought game from Simons, 8 to 6.

JOE BENNETT WINS HONORS

Defeats H. Wood for Local Bowling Club Singles Championship.

DOUBLES SEMI-FINALS.

Turning in almost perfect bowling before a large gallery last night, Joe Bennett defeated H. Wood for the local bowling club singles championship. Bennett won from Fred Dearborn in one game of the semi-finals, while H. Wood was defeating T. McDonald. The players all turned in fine bowling, the play being close and exciting.

The semi-finals of the doubles competition was also keen, G. Coleman, Sr., and T. McMillan losing to H. Dunford and George Low, 12 to 11 in 18 ends, while J. J. Howden and A. Graham beat H. Coleman and F. Skinner, 19-17, in another good match. Dunford and Low will meet Howden and Graham in the finals, for first and second prizes, some night this week—to be decided between the pairs. All club activities will be wound up this week, and the annual banquet will be announced in the paper shortly. Thirty-eight members will draw good prizes at this banquet, more than ever before, and all should attend.

C.G.E. BREAKS TIE TO BEAT BRINTONS

Fans Get Plenty of Excitement as Electrics Win 7 3 Victory.

Brintons and C. G. E. lacrossers crossed sticks at the Brock in a fast, clean game last night, resulting in a 7—3 victory for the Electrics. A strong, driving finish in the last quarter gave the C. G. E. crew the win, after the teams had battled on even terms most of the way. The fair crowd of fans got plenty of excitement out of the contest.

The count read 1—1 at the end of the first quarter, B. Fisher and H. Jones each tallying. Ed Jones and Fisher both countered for the winners in the second part, with H. Jones getting one back for Brintons. Both teams shoved the ball in the net once in the third stanza, E. Creighton and B. Fisher getting credit. However, in the fourth, C.G.E. opened to score three, Magee getting a brace and McGregor the third one. Both goalies, Fisher, Magee, H. Jones and two or three others played exceptionally well, though the two sides worked hard throughout. The teams:

Brintons.—Goal, LeBarr; defence, Reynolds and R. Creighton; rover, Hatton; centre, Staunt; wings, E. Creighton and H. Jones; subs, Miller, Howarth, Firth, Hewit and Ball.

C.G.E.—Goal, Dundas; defence, Swanger and McGillen; rover, Magee; centre, McGregor; wings, Meagher and Palmer; subs, Price, Jones, Foley and Fisher.

JERRY FOLLOWS HIS OLD PLAN

Peter Rabbit and Hooty the Owl were not the only ones interested in the building of Jerry Muskrat's new house. Oh, my, no. Everyone around the Smiling Pool was interested. It was very much the same as it would be if a new house were being built near where you live. You know how interested in that house every single neighbor would be.

Just so at the Smiling Pool there was a great deal of interest in what Jerry was doing. Grandfather Frog was interested. Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter were interested. Redwing the Blackbird was interested. Spotty the Turtle was interested. You see it gave them something to think about and talk about and criticize. So they spent a great deal of time watching Jerry work, and giving him advice which he didn't ask for and didn't heed.

"Chug-a-rum!" exclaimed Grandfather Frog abruptly from the big green lilypad on which he was sitting. "Chug-a-rum! I suppose, Jerry Muskrat, you will build a finer house than you had before."

"I hope it will be a little better," replied Jerry modestly. "I ought to be better able to build it a little better after what I learned in building the first one. Anyway it will be safer, because it will not be in danger of being swept away if there should be a flood next spring. I will make it a little larger than the old one and the foundations will be broader."

"I suppose that means that you will have more rooms in it," said Grandfather Frog, rolling his big goggly eyes so as to stare at Jerry.

"More room but not more rooms," replied Jerry. "I shall follow the same plan as the old one was built on."

"Huh!" exclaimed Grandfather Frog. "Huh! I should think that while you are about it you would try to improve on that old plan and have something really new. I would if I were foolish enough to waste a lot of good time in hard work building a house. I'm thankful I don't have need of a house, but if I did and had to build a new one I certainly would try to make it enough different from the old one to know that I really had a new one. What's your idea in making it just like the old one?"

"As I've already told you, it won't be just like the old one; it will be bigger and better," replied Jerry with considerable dignity. "It will simply be on the same plan as the old one because that plan just exactly suits me, just as it suited my father and my grandfather and my great-grandfather and my—"

"Hold on!" exclaimed Grandfather Frog hastily. "You don't need to go back in your family history to the days when the world was young, I know all about it. Some people are set in their ways. They certainly are set in their ways. Because your grandfather—a—thousand—times—removed did a certain thing in a certain way is no reason that you should do that same thing in exactly that same way."

"Ho!" cried Jerry Muskrat. "Ho! That is queer talk from you, Grandfather Frog! That certainly is queer talk from you who are living to-day just as your grandfathers way back in the beginning of things lived. I hope I have sense enough to know that when I have a thing which exactly suits me it would be worse than foolish to try to change it. Here comes Redtail the Hawk!"

"Chug-a-rum!" exclaimed Grandfather Frog and dived headlong into the Smiling Pool. Jerry grinned and then quietly sank from sight himself.

GRAB BAG

How many vessels did Columbus have for his second voyage?

Who was the last of the Western Emperors?

What were Lincoln's nicknames?

Correctly Speaking—

The perfect tense of "got" is colloqual in the sense of possess. Say "Have you a knife with you?" Not "Have you got a knife with you."

Today's Anniversary

Today's Horoscope

Persons born o nthis day are highly physhic, intuitional, and enjoy skirting around borders of the mysterious.

Answers to Foregoing Questions

1. Seventeen vessels.
2. A lad of six, Romulus Augustulus, son of Orestes.
3. Honest Abe and Father Abraham.

What To-Day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If September 27th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7.45 a.m. to 9 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 3.10 p.m. and from 3 pm. to 10 p.m. The danger hours are from 10 a.m. to noon, and from 1.15 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The energizing influence that urged you forward yesterday will be, according to planetary indications, in continued evidence on September 27th, and will enable you to carry on the good work that was started. In the evening lethargy will replace activity, and relaxation should be sought.

Children born on this September 27th will be vivacious, full of harmless mischief, and extremely affectionate. They will be anxious and quick to learn, and excel in studies and sports. As adults, they will reveal qualities of perseverance, and their horoscope indicates both success and happiness.

Born on September 27th, you are much influenced by emotion, and though your selfless actions reflect great credit on your heart, they never bring grist to the mill. You do not seek popularity, and are more satisfied to have the gratitude one one, than the admiration of a crowd. You do not, at any time, play to the gallery, nor do you want the spotlight turned on you. The approval of your conscience is the reward that pleases you most.

Your horoscope, says that you will go through life helping others more than helping yourself. This, of course, is not productive of material prosperity. Your needs, however, are simple, and you have no extravagant or exaggerated tastes. As a friend, you are quixotically loyal. As a husband or wife, as the case may be, you are faithful, affectionate and constant. As a parent, you are indulgent, forbearing and tolerant.

Without being outwardly religious, you yet possess strong spiritual convictions, and you have never outlived, or discarded, the precepts that were taught you in your childhood. You may not be a church-goer, but you are still a believer and a follower. You invariably champion the cause of the under-dog.

"FARMERS AGAIN."

Dear Sir:
There are lots of Canadian Farmers
In this land of ours to-day
Who are finding it very difficult
To try and make things pay.
But in spite of all adversities,
In weather, health and price
They still keep selling their products,
No matter what the price.

The returns that they get from the poultry
Isn't enough to pay for their care,
And potatoes, cheese and butter
They can't sell anywhere.
The milk and the grain which the farmers
Rely on to keep them afloat
Wouldn't bring in enough to buy them
A real good winter's coat.

Compare the price that you get when you sell,
And the price that you pay when you buy,
And you'll find that it's easy to tell,
The people the reason why
The farmers demand lower taxes.
They're away up too blame high;
He wants to save a little
For the sweet bye and by.

Those guys that talk about farming,
And think they know how's it's done,
They don't know much more than a city lad,
Who has lived all his life in the town.
Now talk won't make the farm pay
Or nothing but good hard work.
When the sweat rolls off, in streams, boys,
And you can wring a pailful out of your shirt.

Now, a bunch of farmers around here,
Took a day off from work, so they say,
And took a trip up to Ottawa
While the hired man looked after the hay;
Their trip was spent on business, boys,
With the Hon. Mr. Bennett, they say
To talk over agricultural prospects,
Not to pass the time of day.

But the Hon. Mr. Bennett was busy—
He had not time, he declared;
Gee! he must have to work like a nigger,
When he hasn't ten minutes to spare.
His salary is paid from the taxes
Which are forced from the people to-day,
Ad it's never lowered one cent, boys—
The reason I can't say.

He doesn't have to work to pay taxes,
Or drive an old Ford crock.
For his income is large and as steady
As the Gibraltar Rock.
If the farmers were as sure of their money
As the Government men are of their's,
The farming would just be a hobby
Not a life of toil and care.

Now, why can't their salaries be lowered?
Let them take a cut like the rest;
If they have their country's interest at heart,
They'll realize its all for the best.
Now, we hope at the Imperial Conference
They'll find a way out of this,
And put the country back again
On a sound, financial basis.

I wish to thank you for the space in your paper,
And I wish it every success,
May the sales of your paper grow daily,
For surely 'tis one of the best.
Well, I guess I'd better get finished,
I've "Jiggs" and the "Major' to read
Before I hit the hay, boys,
So Cheerio, Mr. Ed.

COCONUT at Every Season

HERE'S one important thing most wise housewives know about coconut:—At every season you can buy Baker's Coconut just as fresh and full-flavoured as when the shell was opened.

That means a lot to you! At all times of the year you can add the fascinating tropical flavour of fresh coconut and make every favourite cake or pie unbelievably more tempting.

Try Baker's Coconut in to-day's cake or pie. Your grocer sells it. Made in Canada from fresh coconuts.

Three Styles:
BAKER'S SOUTHERN STYLE—moist-packed in tins—slightly sweetened—deliciously fresh.
BAKER'S PREMIUM SHRED—in the familiar triple-sealed, step-fresh carton.
BY THE POUND—the same fresh, full-flavoured coconut in bulk.

A Drowned Dog?

Scene: One of the lock houses on the Trent Canal.

Time: Midnight.

A knock is heard at the door. The lock-keeper and his family are roused from slumber. He asks who is there. No answer. Then another knock. Another enquiry and still no answer. Still another knock and no conversation. The lock-keeper, thoroughly aroused, shouts: "What do you want?" A feminine voice replied: "My dog, a valuable cocker spaniel, has fallen into the canal. I think he is drowned. If you find him to-morrow, will you keep him for me."

The lock-keeper opens the door, and, in the darkness, sees the form of a woman, going down toward the canal, and, with the aid of a flashlight, peering down into the water. A car stands on the roadway at the rear of the house. The woman disappears and the family resumes its slumbers.

Next day, the lock-keeper sees the body of a very old cocker spaniel, devoid of collar, or other distinguishing mark, floating on its back in the canal. He is informed by reliable authorities that the dog would not appear so soon on the surface if it had fallen in. It has every appearance of having been poisoned. No one came to claim it.

Question in the mind of the lock-keeper and his family: If the dog fell in accidentally, why doesn't the lady come to claim it? If it were poisoned, why did she make a midnight visit to camouflage the affair? And thirdly, who threw the dog in the canal?

REGAN FIGHTS TO WIDEN PROBE

Following Failure in Petition Last Week He Carries Plea to Premier Henry.

NEW HYDRO DISCLOSURES.

TORONTO, Sept. 27— (C.P.) — Frank Regan, K.C., Toronto lawyer, to-day wrote Premier George S. Henry asking that scope of the Royal Commission enquiry into affairs of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission be enlarged to include examination of Dr. Wilfrid Laurier McDougald, former Senator, Aime Geoffrion, R. A. C. Henry and others connected with the former Beauharnois Power Corporation.

Mr. Regan who failed last week in a petition directed to the Royal Commission to have the scope of the enquiry enlarged, expressed himself as particularly anxious that investigation be made into payment by the Beauharnois Corporation of $123,000 to John Aird, Jr., Toronto engineer, for services rendered.

The Toronto lawyer in his petition to the Commission suggested it investigate purchase from the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company, a subsidiary of the Beauharnois Corporation of power which was imported to Ontario across the Quebec boundary. This purchase, he said, was ultra vires in that it failed to conform to a provision of the British North America Act that companies exporting power from one province to another must have a Dominion charter. The Beauharnois Company, he said, had only a charter from the Province of Quebec.

Young People Meet In Bethany Church

BETHANY, Sept. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The regular meeting of the Young People's Society of the United Church was held in the Sunday school room on Wednesday evening, with an attendance of thirty-eight members, when after a hearty song service, followed by a business session, the meeting was given over to Miss Frances McKinnon, convenor of the citizenship department.

Miss Dorothy Fallis read the scriptural lesson and Mrs. Harold Payne gave the explanation. A duet by Miss Loraine Jackson and Miss Muriel Patterson was well received.

The topic, "What It Means to be a Christian Citizen," was very ably presented by Miss Hazel Jackson, in which she stressed the qualities necessary to be a worthy citizen. A recitation by Arthur Patterson, entitled "Patriotism," was well given and much appreciated.

A song by Ted Welch was the next item on the program, followed by a contest and game, bringing the meeting to a close.

Committees Named To Arrange Supper

FENELLA, Sept. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence).—At a congregational meeting held in Fenella United Church on Saturday evening the following committees were appointed to arrange for the annual hot dinner and fowl supper served at Roseneath on the occasion of the fair:

Table committee—Mrs. M. Adams, Mrs. S. Leach, Mrs. W. H. Curtis and Mrs. Fred. Talling.

Meat committee—Messrs. Delbert Adams and James Knox.

Supply committee — Messrs. C. Barker, Fred. Talling and W. H. Sandercock.

Poster committee — The Misses Ruth Knox and Mildred Barker.

Ticket committee — Messrs. C. Roberts, N. C. Leach, W. H. Curtis and John Cowling.

Stove committee—Messrs. C. McNaught and John Cowling.

Born—On Tuesday, September 20, to Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Arthur, Fenella, a daughter [illegible] Jean.

Miss Gertrude K[illegible] is pursuing an honor c[illegible] at University College, Toron[illegible], left on Saturday.

"JUST A LAD OF 74"

WIMBLEDON, Eng.—Lord Robert Baden-Powell, founder and leader of the Boy Scouts of the world, does not intend to retire from Scouting until he is 115 years old. "Just a lad of 74 now," Lord Robert made his marathon-prediction in twitting Sir Edmund Elles for quitting Scout ranks at the age of 83.

Why the Donkey Kicked

....LONDON, Ont., Sept. 27 (CP)—George Tustin, Humane Society officer, to-day had a letter of commendation from the Federal Humane Society of the United States. He had discovered what made the donkey in a Western Ontario Exhibition side-show kick.

Tustin attended the show and noticed the donkey kicked every time his trainer patted him. He took a look at the trainer's hand. There was a nail in it. The letter said American Humane Societies would keep the show under supervision.

PARAGUAY WILL STOP FIGHTING

Ready to Have American Neutral Commission Supervise Gran Chaco Case.

MUST REDUCE ARMY.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Paraguayan government today announced its acceptance of a proposal for cessation of hostilities in the disputed Gran Chaco region under conditions which will be supervised by the American Neutral commission.

The conditions under which fighting between Bolivian and Paraguayan forces would cease, were approved in a reply sent to the commission in Washington. They were:

Immediate withdrawal of armies.

Complete demilitarization of the Chaco within two or three weeks.

Acceptance by both Bolivia and Paraguay of a reduction of military effects to the minimum required for internal security. The reply said Paraguay was leaving settlement of the dispute in the "hands of international justice."

Extra Education

HALIFAX, Sept. 27. (CP) Two big-city slickers who play a nice hand of bridge and always seem to have the aces in a poker game were described to Halifax police by Kamel El Saby, an Egyptian student who said he would have to proceed to Liverpool University with empty pockets.

Kamel said he had been visiting in New York. On the liner he and a companion had played bridge with a couple of elderly gentlemen who later suggested poker. His losses, he said amounted to 50 pounds and two traveller's cheques.

Relief Scheme Includes Reduction of Interest on Long Term Mortgages.

NEW IMPORT QUOTAS.

MUNICH, Bavaria, Sept. 27 (AP)—A series of new regulations intended to relieve the distress of farmers throughout Germany and including import quota restrictions in a number of items of produce was announced here to-day by Baron Friederich Elder Von Braun, minister of agriculture in the Von Papen Cabinet.

The measures also included reduction by two per cent of the interest rates on long term mortgages for the next two years, providing, however, that the rate not be cut to less than four per cent. and that the amount of the reductions be refunded on maturity of the mortgages.

The import quotas are to be placed on cattle for slaughter, bacon, lard, butter, cheese, lumber, paper pulp and several varieties of fruits and vegetables. The whole is part of Von Papen's plan for farm relief.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

"BACK STREET"

Like so many of Fannie Hurst's stories, this portrays a sex problem. Also, like so many of her stories, it does not glorify the result of weakness.

There is a quality of acting in this picture that is quite new. Silence, full of diversified emotion, seems to be the rule. The two lovers contrive to portray an extreme height of passion without saying many words. The acting of Irene Dunne and John Boles is superb. As is the rule in most of his work, his very fine singing voice is not used.

The story opens in Cincinnati, in the days before the Eighteenth Amendment was thought about. Irene Dunne is Ray Schmidt, the gay girl who works in her father's shop and goes out with the travelling salesmen. Curiously enough, this section of the picture seems very artificial, just because the fashions of that older day have an alien aspect to modern eyes.

John Boles is Walter Saxel, who is engaged to another woman when he meets and falls in love with Ray. She has another suitor, the plain-faced, honest Kurt Schindler, who later becomes prosperous because of his interest in the new contraption, the automobile.

Ray falls in love, not wisely but too well, and the "Back Street" of the title has to do with the love nest which Walter maintains for her after his marriage. Through the years, until the final episode, she contrives to present at all times a very beautiful and immaculate appearance. Her acting is wonderful, even though she is a spineless heroine.—Jeanette.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 20

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service, Inc.)

Three or four of the Sagoths hurled well-aimed cudgels at the saber-tooth tiger's face, at intervals so nicely timed that the great beast could do nothing but fend off the missiles as they sped toward him. And while he was thus occupied, other gorilla-like creatures who had already cast their clubs, sprang to the ground and retrieved them with an amazing agility and quickness. The risk they thus took showed great self-confidence and high courage, since often they were compelled to snatch their crude clubs from almost beneath the claws of the saber-tooth.

Battered and bruised, the great cat gave back inch by inch. Finally, unable to stand the fusillade any longer, he suddenly turned tail and bounded into the underbrush. After the sounds of his crashing retreat had died away, the gorilla men leaped to the ground and with heavy fangs tore at the thag and feasted awhile. Then they re-set the trap that had caught the Ape-Man and started away with their prisoner. As they moved along the trail Tarzan had a chance to observe them more closely. He saw they walked erect like men but in most other ways were very like the great apes of the outer earth.

After going but a short distance the Sagoths stopped beside a hollow log, the skeleton of a great tree that had fallen beside the trail. One of the creatures tapped upon the log with his club—one, two; one, two; one, two, three. After a moment's pause he repeated the same tapping. Three times the signal boomed through the jungle. Then the signaler paused, listening. Others stooped and put their ears against the ground. Faintly through the air, more plainly through the ground, came the answering signal. The creatures seemed satisfied and climbing into the trees settled themselves comfortably, as though awaiting some thing or person.

Because his hands were bound behind him, Tarzan could not climb unassisted. So two of the Sagoths carried him easily aloft with them. Not once had the Ape-Man spoken during the march but now he addressed the creature nearest him, who appeared to be a leader. "Remove the bonds from my wrists," he said, "I am not an enemy." For a long time the Sagoth glared unblinkingly at the prisoner. Then he commanded: "Take them off." But this order was instantly challenged by another brute. Before the question was settled there occurred such a battle royal that Tarzan watched in fascination its utter savagery.

Little Hope Held For Ideal Weather; Drizzling Rain Meets Cubs On Arrival

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.— (C. P.)—The Chicago Cubs, jubilant and ready for the opening of the World Series to-morrow, arrived in New York this morning and were greeted by a drizzling rain, which threatened to curtail their scheduled plan of working out at the Yankee Stadium to-day.

The invading party included 27 team members and nearly 50 club officials, wives of the players, and newspapermen.

Guy Bush, who is expected to be Manager Charlie Grimm's pitching selection for the opener, had little to say except that he was feeling fine and eager to get at the Yankees.

The weather forecast for to-night and to-morrow held out little hope for ideal playing conditions for the opening game. It predicted showers to-night and to-morrow with rising temperature.

Judgment Reserved In Appeal Of City

Judgment was reserved by His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke on the appeal of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough in respect to a decision handed down by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in favor of Joseph Frith, who was charged with digging a pit in East City contrary to the provisions of a city by-law.

It will be recalled that when the case was tried before the Police Magistrate, the charge against Frith was dismissed.

Unlawful Assembly Dropped Against 43

VICTORIA, Sept. 27 (C.P.)—Arraigned on preliminary hearing in police court at Prince George, 43 men charged with unlawful assembly were acquitted according to word received at British Columbia police headquarters from the north.

The dismissal of the case came about when the complainant, the proprietor of the Prince George Grill, where the man had congregated, testified to-day he was not alarmed by the demonstration on his premises. With fear of personal injury or other damage being an essential point in differentiating a lawful from an unlawful assembly the proprietor's evidence to-day removed grounds for prosecution, and the magistrate thereupon dismissed the case.

BIG CONVENTION COMING TO CITY FOR TWO DAYS

500 Delegates Are Expected to Attend Samaritan Convention.

COLORFUL PARADES

The Northern Division of the Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans, comprising sanctorums or lodges located in Canada and the United States, will meet in this city on Friday and Saturday of this week for the 18th District Convention and Ceremonial.

It will be one of the largest conventions to have been held here in some years, and if the attendance at last year's convention, held at Brantford, may be taken as any indication there will be well over 500 delegates from the divisions, which covers an area south to Toledo and north as far as Timmins.

The general committee from the membership of Cyzicus Sanctorum No. 24, of which William J. Bull is Grand Monarch, and William J. Green, secretary and recorded, has for some time past been working hard towards the necessary preparations for an event of such magnitude.

Samaritan James H. Price, as chairman of the reception committee will have charge of hotel accommodation, registration, etc., while the entertainment committee is under the chairmanship of Samaritan I. Batten; finance committee with Samaritan T. Doughty as leader; buildings and decorations in charge of Charles Mowry; privileges committee under chairmanship of Alderman F. T. Tuggey; billets committee in charge of Fred Mowry, and the publicity committee with Samaritan G. Wyatt as general chairman.

The entertainments will include some very colorful street parades with such noted participants as the Fife and Drum Corps of Futura Zuanna No. 15 of Buffalo.

There are many bands of music among the Sanctorums, but as yet only the one Ladies' Drum Corps among the Zuannas, and that from Buffalo. The Detroit patrols and many others will also take part in the patrol drill competitions which are expected to be judged in one of the parks in the city.

In is interesting to note that Samaritan Fred Thomas of Mycerinus Sanctorum, Lindsay, is the Supreme Monarcho of the Northern Division.

The official program intimates that the Divisional Sessions and Civic Welcome will open at 2 p.m. in the Odd Fellows' Hall on George street on Friday next. In the evening a monster comic parade will preceded a dance in the Armouries. On Saturday morning the sessions reopen at nine o'clock to be followed by a motor parade and inspection of the Lift Locks between one and two o'clock in the afternoon. The remainder of the afternoon will be occupied with patrol drills and at seven o'clock in the evening there will be another mammoth parade, including the Zuanna patrols and bands. The convention will close following the Degree of Humility to be presented by Gatno Sanctorum, No. 3 Ottawa, in the Odd Fellows' Hall.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Up by an Examiner Reporter.

DELICIOUS BERRIES

An armful of briars loaded with large wild rasperries was brought into The Examiner office to-day by Mrs. R. Harkley of 376½ Water street, which had been gathered by her in the vicinity of Nassau Bridge. In addition she said, she had also obtained a large lard pail full of the delicious berries and was anticipating gathering more next week-end.

FORMER PETERBOUGH MAN

The news item from Orillia to the effect that a number of Orillia sportsmen intend to enter a boat in the Harmsworth Trophy races next year is of interest to some Peterborough citizens who know Edward Webb, the promoter of this ambitious sporting effort. His father, Edward Webb, senior, of Orillia, was a building contractor in Peterborough quite a number of years ago, and since moving to Orillia has met with exceptional success.

Hiawatha Encampment will meet Wednesday night. All members requested to be present. 1d-74-2537

IN MEMORIAM.

FLETCHER. — In memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Esther Fletcher, who passed away at Kellwood, Man., on September 28th, 1924.

Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.

A silent chord on memory's harp
Is softly touched to-day.

We shed a tear that is silent,
And breathe a sigh of regret;
For she was our's, and we'll remember,
Tho' the rest of the world forget.

—Inserted by her Daughter, Mrs. A. E. Deck.

IN MEMORIAM

HAINS-HOWARD—In ever loving memory of dear son and brother Beverley who entered into rest seven years ago to-day.
Not a murmur, not a sigh,
Passed his lips as death drew nigh;
As he lived, so he died—
Peaceful, loving, satisfied.
—Lovingly remembered, Mother, Dad and Brother Vincent.

IN MEMORIAM.

WILKINSON.—In loving memory of Pte. Arthur F. Wilkinson, killed in action Sept. 29, 1918.
"Some day, some time our eyes shall see
The face we loved so well;
Some day, some time his hand we'll clasp
To never say farewell."

CANCEL NATIONAL DEBTS.

National Control of Money Supplies, Abolition of Gold Standard Advocated.

KEENE, September 28 (Examiner Staff Reporter). — Failure of the capitalistic system to distribute the world's wealth was attributed by William Irvine, M.P. for Wetaskiwin, Alta., as the cause of the present economic crisis during the course of an address in the Curling Rink here last evening, when he occupied the platform in company with Agnes MacPhail, only woman member of Parliament in Canada.

Held under the auspices of the U.F.O., with Reeve E. N. McDonald of Dummer in the chair, the meeting was largely attended, and was brought to a successful conclusion in spite of the circumstances connected with it which were anything but auspicious.

Power Went Off.

Shortly before the hour appointed for the opening of the meeting rain began to fall steadily, but undeterred a large group of farmers and others had congregated in the hall. The rain continued to pour down and the lightning that accompanied it was believed to have caused the complete failure of the power system in the village that was the means of delaying the prompt start of the proceedings while lanterns were being secured.

Huddled in the semi-darkness and dodging the frequent drops of water that trickled from the roof of the building, the crowd lost none of its enthusiasm, and followed the addresses of both Mr. Irvine and Miss MacPhail with keen interest throughout.

The rain increased to such intensity shortly after Mr. Irvine had launched into his speech, and beat

British Warships Rush Aid To Greece

LONDON, September 28 (C.P.). —All available British warships in the East Mediterranean have been ordered to the earthquake-stricken area of Greece to aid in relief work the Admiralty announced to-day.

The Queen Elizabeth, with the Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Fleet aboard, and other naval ships were reported proceeding to-day to the Mount Athos district. With the Queen Elizabeth at Mudros, 70 miles from Mount Athos, were the warships Revenge, Resolution, and Royal Oak, and the Fourth Destroyer Flotilla.

GIVES CASTE SYSTEM ONLY 15 YEARS IN INDIA

TORONTO, Sept. 28. (CP)—Dr. Jashwant Rao Chitambar, Episcopal Bishop of Lucknow to-day forecast complete dominion status for India within the next five years.

The caste system, he said, would break down within 15 years and, during this winter, there would be sporadic demonstrations against the authority of Viceroy Earl Willingdon, former Governor General of Canada.

Dr. Chitambar, first member of his race to hold a Methodist Bishopric, scoffed at the statement by leaders of the Indian National Congress that rivers of blood would flow along the Ganges unless India is granted a complete independence.

CUBS SCORE FIRST.

Chicago Misses Opportunity to Score in 4th—Bases Loaded.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Sept. 28 (C.P.). — A sudden rain squall drove the Yankees and Cubs from the playing field at 1.20 p.m. as they were finishing their practices for the opening game of the World Series.

The rain came down unexpectedly after a misty, wet morning had given way to a bright sun and balmy afternoon. Field attendants immediately laid tarpaulins on the base paths and covered the pitching and batting boxes, while the combatants and the smallest crowd in the history of a Yankee series game, estimated at no more than 30,000, huddled back to await developments.

The rain, beating down steadily as black clouds ranged again overhead, chased Charley Ruffing, burly Yankee right-hander, and Guy Bush, lanky Cub curver, to the dugouts just as they had finished warming up for the pitching assignments.

Out in the unprotected bleacher reaches, where most of the small crowd was gathered, the faithful covered their heads with newspapers and hunched down miserably to wait the ruling of Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, who has sole authority to order a postponement. The smaller crowd in the covered horseshoe stands were more comfortable.

The rain lightened after the first sudden squall and there seemed a good chance that the storm, driven by south-east winds which whipped the flags out straight on their staffs above the stadium, would blow over.

The sun came out and there was a rainbow in the sky. Laborers went back to removing the canvas covering.

Some patches of blue sky broke through to give the sun another chance. The bleacher fans took advantage of the lull to wage a sham battle with soggy newspapers. Ruffing looked as though he had plenty of smoke. It was a good day for speed ball pitching. Bush was getting a nice break with his curve ball as he warmed up with Zack Taylor.

The Yankees scampered out on the field shortly before 1:45 p.m. The sun was out brightly again, when the band struck up the National Anthem.

Teaching Record

BROCKVILLE, Ont., September 28 (C.P.).— Mrs. E. G. Coad, Frankville, to-day claimed a record as a Sunday School teacher. She has taught the same class in the same school continuously for 50 years.

Last night the Sunday School of the Frankville United Church recognized her long service by presenting her with an illuminated address, a bouquet, and a hymn book.

TO INOCULATE 300 CHILDREN

Dr. A. W. McPherson Will Continue Campaign Against Diphtheria.

MOTHERS INVITED.

Three hundred children in Peterborough's Public Schools will be inoculated against diptheria tomorrow by Dr. A. W. McPherson, school physician.

It will be but a continuation of the crusade declared upon diptheria ten years ago by the local Board of Education. In the past ten years more school children have been inoculated against diptheria in Peterborough than in any city of similar size, statistics show. There has been fewer cases of diptheria here, statistics also prove.

In all during that time Dr. McPherson said today he has inoculated, under the Board of Education's plan for healthier school children, about 5,000 children. For the past several years the number has been about 300 annually, since in many cases the children are inoculated at pre-school age.

Children should be inoculated when a little over one year of age, Dr. McPherson said. Certainly sometime between one and twelve years of age. "The younger the child the less the reaction from the serum," he explained.

During the ten years that he has been inoculating the city's school children there has been no case, resulting from inoculation, that has caused any worry, he said. "There have been some few sore arms," he said, "but in the vast majority of cases the reaction has been but slight."

Central, 9.45; Queen Mary, 10.20; Princeof Wales, 10.45; King Edward, 2 p.m.; Queen Alexandra, 2.30; King George, 2.45.

Mothers are invited to bring their children of pre-school age to the schools for the inoculation for which there is no charge.

KING PROMISES TARIFF SLASH TO BOOST TRADE

Blames Present State of Industries on Policies of Conservative Administration.

IN SOUTH HURON DRIVE.

Raps Efforts of Government Spokesmen to Make Ottawa Parley Issue in Contest.

EXETER, Ont., Sept. 28. (CP)—Declaring the development of Canadian industry and commerce had been "thwarted and to a large measure paralyzed" by the "excessively high tariffs enacted by the present administration" Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, to-day pledged his party to continue to seek the promotion of trade by the lowering of tariff barriers.

Speaking on behalf of W. H. Golding, Liberal candidate in the South Huron by-election which winds up with polling on Oct. 3, Mr. King strongly criticized what he termed attempts of government spokesmen to make the Imperial Economic Conference the issue in the contest.

"They ask you," he said, "to give the government your support on something that you know nothing whatever about; something that is still to be made known and which when it is made known in its entirety may occasion more in the way of bitter disappointment and chagrin?" The voting, he pointed out, had been set for three days before the opening of the special session of parliament at which the details of the agreements reached at the Imperial Conference were to be made known.

Felt Generally.

"The disastrous effects of the policies adopted by the present Government have been felt in all parts of Canada and by all classes," Mr. King declared. "Producers, manufacturers, importers, and exporters, the wholesale and retail trades, agencies of distribution and consumers have all suffered through the strangulation of trade which has inevitably followed the policies and methods of the present administration.

"Especially has the Government's action in the prohibitions and restrictions it has placed on trade served to intensify in Canada all the ill-effects of the world depression. In normal times they would have been most serious in their effects upon employment and transportation, combined with the inevitable shrinkage in the volume of trade occasioned by world conditions they have been positively disastrous."

Increase in unemployment and decrease in railway earnings were, of course, partly the result of the world forces Mr. King went on. "But they are, I believe, even more the inevitable consequence of a reduced volume of trade directly traceable to the known imposition and restriction and to the fears engendered by legislative and administrative acts for which the present administration is wholly and solely responsible."

Quotes Sutherland

Mr. King referred to statements made during the campaign by Hon. D. M. Sutherland, Minister of Defense, as an admission that "tariffs are still unduly high." "Col. Sutherland says they will lower them as soon as economic conditions permit," Mr. King continued. "I say that economic conditions demanded they should never have been raised in 1930 or since, and that economic conditions ever since have not only permitted but have demanded their immediate lowering, and do so demand at the present time."

Outlining the last budget of the Liberal administration in 1930, the "Dunning Budget," as removing obstacles to freer trade between Can-

SNOWDEN LEADS TRIO IN CABINET EIGHT JUNIORS

Will Continue to Support Government Where Tariffs Not Concerned.

3 REASONS FOR ACTION.

MacDonald Refills Ministry Vacancies With Two Conservatives and Liberal.

By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Three cabinet ministers and eight junior ministers today resigned from the National government, their free trade views compelling them to leave a ministry whose majority is pledged to implement the trade agreements signed at the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference.

The first meeting of the cabinet today at which the attitude of individual ministers to the necessary legislation following Ottawa was discussed, resulted in the resignations of Lord Snowden, Lord Privy Seal; Sir Herbert Samuel, Home Secretary, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, Secretary for Scotland.

The cabinet met again this afternoon and afterwards it was announced the following had submitted their resignations: Isaac Foot, Secretary to the Mines Department; Sir Robert Hamilton, Under-Secretary for the Colonies; The Marquess of Lothian, Under-Secretary for India; H. Graham White, Assistant Postmaster-General; Sir Murdock Mackenzie Wood, and Harcourt Johnstone, Assistant Whips; Walter Rea, Comptroller of His Majesty's Household; and Lord Allendale, Lord in Waiting.

With the sole exception of Lord Snowden, a National-Laborite, all the ministers who have resigned are members of the Samuel Free-Trade faction of the Liberal party.

Post Refilled

Two Conservatives and a Liberal were appointed by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to fill the three Cabinet vacancies created by the resignation of Philip Snowden, Sir Herbert Samuel and Sir Archibald Sinclair.

Sir John Gilmour, Conservative, succeeds Sir Herbert as Home Secretary. Sir Godfrey Collins, Liberal, is the new Secretary for Scotland succeded Sir Archibald. Major Walter Elliott, Conservative, was appointed Minister of Agriculture, the post vacated by Sir John Gilmour.

No announcement was made regarding appointment of a new Lord

VISCOUNT SNOWDEN, MACDONALD COME TO PARTING OF THE WAYS

Ex-Iron Chancellor Cannot Reconcile Free Trade Views to Tariffs.

NEXT STEP UNCERTAIN.

LONDON, September 28 (C. P. Cable). — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Viscount Snowden who for years have battled side by side, either in power or in opposition, to-day came to the parting of the ways.

"Iron Chancellor" in the Labor Government of 1929 to 1931, in the first National Government of August-November of last year, and Lord Privy Seal in the present National Government until to-day, Lord Snowden at last found he could not reconcile his free trade convictions with the decision of the majority of the Cabinet to proceed with tariff legislation necessary to carry out the agreements signed at the Imperial Economic Conference

In the general election which followed the fall of the Labor Government, Lord Snowden, by radio and public statement, was one of the most earnest campaigners for the National Government. To his bitter attacks on the Labor Party, of which he had been for so many years an outstanding figure, was largely ascribed the devastating defeat Labor met at the polls.

Always Free Trader.

But Lord Snowden remained a free trader throughout. When the National Government introduced its general tariff scheme and ended Britain's traditional free trade policy last February, Lord Snowden, like the free trade Liberals, retained his Cabinet portfolio under an "agreement to differ," an agreement that marked one of the greatest steps in the history of Cabinet procedure.

Whether the iron-lipped, crippled and frail Lord Snowden who battled France over reparations at The Hague, who on September 21 of last year told the world of Great Britain's suspension of the gold standard, and carried the crushing burden of the Chancellorship of the Exchequer through the most difficult period confronting the country since the Great War, will actively oppose the Ottawa agreements from his new seat in the House of Lords is questionable. It appears much more likely Lord Snowden will welcome seclusion.

Food is Assured Wild Ducks

REGINA, Sept. 28 (C.P.) — Ducks and other wild fowl which frequent Wascana Lake in front of the Saskatchewan Parliament Buildings will not go hungry if the Government can help it.

Arrangements have been made by the Department of Public Works for sowing wild rice about the islands and shallow places of the lake for the birds to feed on. The first shipment of seed is expected to arrive soon.

NEWS IN BRIEF

SHORT ITEMS RECEIVED OVER C. P. WIRE

CHURCHILL UNCHANGED.

LONDON.—There was no change this morning in the condition of Winston Churchill, former Chancelor of the Exchequer, it was said at the hosptial where he was taken yesterday after he suffered a relapse from an attack of paratyphoid which struck him at Salzburg, Austria, recently.

FACES SERIOUS CHARGE.

FRANKFORD. —Mrs. Mary Fetter was arraigned in the Brant Fall Assize Court here to-day on a charge of performing an illegal operation which resulted in the death of Miss Dorothy Tree, of Stratford.

TWO BARNS DESTROYED

BRANTFORD.—Benjamin English, Brantford Township farmer, lost two barns, 1,700 bushels of grain, 75 tons of hay, 25 bushels of timothy seed and five head of cattle when a lantern upset in one of his buildings to-day.

FARMER KILLED BY TRUCK

BURLINGTON. — Struck by a truck on Dundas Highway, John Haydon, Nelson village farmer, was killed to-day.

Mr. Haydon, who lived alone on his farm, was walking across the highway to a neighbor's when he was struck. An inquest has been ordered.

MAY LEASE ELEVATOR

OTTAWA. — The Government grain elevator below Prescott may possibly be leased to the Montreal Harbor Commission. With the large wheat crop this year there is a possibility of congestion at Montreal and the suggestion came from there that the Prescott elevator be turned over to the Commission to store grain.

The Weather

The rainfall all yesterday totalled 1.33, or almost one inch and one-third. It was the heaviest since July 20, of last year, when we had a downpour of 1.98. The total for September is now a little over 4 inches— a generous amount. The total for September last year was 3.05. While white frost has been occasionally seen in the morning, the lowest temperature recorded by me has been 34 degrees, but different people have mentioned that their vines and tender plants have been touched by frost on the 25th and 26th and even previously. The first hard frost last year was on Oct. 9th. The leaves began to fall on Oct. 23rd and by the end of the month the trees were bare.—W.P.

OVER 200 DEAD THOUSANDS HURT IN PUERTO RICO

Hurricane Damage Climbs in Millions as Loss is Counted.

FRUIT BELT WIPED OUT.

Relief Groups Strive Valiantly to Aid Homeless and Destitute.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 28. (AP)—Deaths from the hurricane which struck Porto Rico early yesterday mounted into the hundreds to-day as reconstruction crews cleared away the debris while the storm roared on toward Santo Domingo and Haiti.

Governor James R. Beverley placed the number of dead at 200 last night and the injured at 1,000, but he said this estimate undoubtedly would be revised upward.

In the meantime, reports from Santo Domingo, before communications were closed down last night, said the storm destroyed a number of houses at San Pedro de Macoris, about 50 miles from there. It reached Santo Domingo at 8:30 p.m., but no damage was done up to that hour.

Santo Domingo was struck two years ago by one of the most disastrous hurricanes in the history of the Caribbean. The city was practically wiped out and over 3,000 were killed.

Moving on Haiti

Reports from Havana late last night quoted authorities at the National Observatory as saying the storm passed over or near Santo Domingo, moving northwestward at a rate of 120 miles an hour.

It was reported due to reach the vicinity of Port Auprince, Haiti, at 7 a.m. to-day, and would then begin endangering shipping off the coast of Orjente Province, Cuba If its path continued unvaried, observatory officials said, it would pass over the vicinity of Colon Straits as it neared the Cuban coast.

Property damage in the wake of the storm here, officials estimated, would run into many millions of dollars. The heaviest damage was to the coffee plantations which had just begun to bear again this year after having been flattened by the disastrous storm of four years ago. The citrus fruit crop, worth about $7,000,000, would be a total loss, observers said.

Governor Beverley instructed the Emergency Relief Committee to begin at once to find shelter and food for the many thousands left destitute and homeless. He promised insular funds would be supplied to-

Cotton Mills Open As Strike is Ended

MANCHESTER, England, Sept. 28 (C.P.).—Work in the cotton mills of Lancashire, which has been suspended for some time as a result of textile workers' strike, began generally to be resumed to-day, following the signing of a peace pact yesterday.

In Burnley, which was a storm centre of the strike area, nearly all the mills resumed operation. The only district in which work was not begun again was around Nelson, where the weavers were holding out for further discussion of the settlement terms.

WATER WAS FOOT DEEP IN ST. THOMAS STREETS

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Sept. 28.—(CP). Streets were dry again here after torrential rain last night had flooded them to a depth of more than a foot.

Sewers could not carry the water off fast enough to prevent it rising over side walks and flooding lawns and cellars. Five automobiles and a bus became stuck in the Ross street subway where water piled up several feet deep.

Damage was slight and the water disappeared soon after the storm abated.

JAPANESE FEAR FRESH UPRISING IN MANCHUKUO

Communications Are Cut After Consul in North Asks for Help.

SCOUT PLANE MISSING.

Foreign Office Expresses Hope Officials Have Taken Refuge in Russia.

TOKYO, Sept. 28. (AP) — Fear that a serious revolt against the new state of Manchukuo had broken out in Western Heilungkiang Province in Manchuria worried Japanese government officials to-day.

Communications with the western part of the huge northern province appeared to have broken down completely, it was said, after the Japanese consul telegraphed Tsitsihar, asking for help.

The consul said bands of Chinese railway guards had risen in rebellion and that a Japanese airplane which was sent out on a scouting expition west of Tsitsihar failed to return.

The foreign office expressed the hope that Japanese consular representatives and residents of the section had taken refuge in Russian territory since the Soviet government had agreed to afford them potection in the event of trouble.

Officials said they were fearful, however, that a small group of Japanese "on special military duty" in the territory might have been killed.

Not Complete Surprise

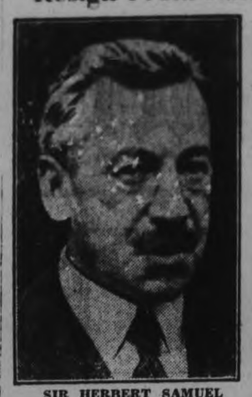
News of the revolt did not come as a complete surprise, they said, because General Su Ping-wen, formerly a subordinate of General Ma chan-Shan, is commander of the Chinese Eastern Railway guard garrison at Hailar which has charge of the territory west of the Kinghan mountains and he never actually was brought into the Manchukuo fold although he accepted nominally the Changchun regime.

The nearest Japanese military forces were at Tsitihar where General Metsuki's divisions is concentrated.

Wrecking Truck Turns Over On Side

Proceeding on a call to Buckhorn last evening, a wrecking truck from J. K. The driver of the truck Gordon Ray and James Guiry of this city who accompanied him, escaped serious injuries.

Resign From National Government



SIR HERBERT SAMUEL

VISCOUNT SNOWDEN

Three members of the British National Government, all Free Traders, resigned from the MacDonald Cabinet to-day, as a result of the agreements reached at the Ottawa Conference. Sir Herbert Samuel was Home Secretary, Viscount Snowden, Lord Privy Seal, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, the third member, was Secretary for Scotland.

EX-PROGRESSIVE STEALS SHOW FROM TORIES IN SOUTH HURON

MacMillan Would Import British Statesmen to Show Canadians How.

SCRAP ALL POLITICIANS.

SEAFORTH, Ont., Sept. 28 (C.P.)—Robert Macmillan, one-time Progressive candidate for the House of Commons for this riding, to-day had people wondering how he almost stole the show from supporters of Louis H. Rader, Conservative candidate, at a meeting last night in Manley School House.

Mr. Macmillan, after securing permission to say a few words after D. M. Wright, Member of Parliament for North Perth, had spoken, launched into a vigorous attack on both Liberal and Conservative parties.

Country's Ills.

At the close of his speech, which lasted half an hour, he listed his remedies for the country's ills. They were:

"Scrap both Liberal and Conservative parties. Scrap all politicians and encourage statesmen. Import six or seven British statesmen to show Canada how the country should be managed. Cut out all watered stock. Dismiss the surplus civil servants. Make tariffs for revenue only. Fix interest rates on loans at four per cent."

George Spotton, Conservative member of Parliament, who followed Mr. MacMillan, reminded him British statesmen had been imported during the summer for the Imperial Economic Conference. The conference, he added, had resulted in agreements which would be of particular benefit to farmers.

The Liberal Party, sponsoring William H. Golding, were prepared for a big effort to-day, and has as their main speaker Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, former Prime Minister. Mr. King will speak twice, at Exeter this afternoon and at Seaforth in the evening.

RE-ORGANIZATION FACES LOUIS K. LIGGET COMP.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 27 (C.P.)—Reorganization faces the Louis K. Ligget Company, which operates a chain of 355 drug stores throughout the United States, unless it can secure drastic reductions in rentals, George Gales, President of the company said to-day.

Gales said, in making a letter sent to the company's landlords requesting reductions in rent, that the company faces a critical condition. The Liggett chain, formed in 1909, has outstanding $9,840,600 of capital stock, all of which is owned by the United Drug Company.

'Quake In Greece Takes Heavy Toll

ATHENS, September 28 (C.P.).—Many precious Byzantine monuments were reported to-day destroyed by the earthquake which hit Greece on Monday night, and which is known to have resulted in the deaths of 127 persons.

Whole villages were destroyed in the vicinity of Mount Athos, where the monuments were broken up and it was said it was still impossible to determine how many dead were still under the ruins left by the quake.

KLONDIKE BOB OFF FOR YUKON

Discoverer of Pay Streak in 1896 Leads Group Seeking Pitchblende.

BASIC ORE OF RADIUM.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28 (C.P.)—Returning to the Yukon for the first time in many years, 76-year-old Robert D. ("Klondike Bob") Henderson sailed for Skagway to-day on the Princess Louise. Mr. Henderson discovered the first big pay streak in the Yukon in 1896, and started the great trek of gold-seekers wrich culminated in the Gold Rush of 1889.

Accompanying Mr. Hehderson were two practical engineers and geologists, Frank Henderson of Ottawa, and F. O. Booth of California. They will fly from Carcros, Y.T., to a point on Helly River, where Bob Henderson located many years ago, a streak of ore which he now believes was pitchblende, the basic ore of radium. They will bring out samples of this ore and investigate the extent of the seam, so far as they can at this season of the year, with a view to more extensive explorations next Spring.

CRIPPLED WIDOW IS GIVEN HOPE

Judge Dismisses Application of Executors of Will to Evict Her From Home.

UNABLE TO PAY TAXES.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 27 (C.P.)—Hope came to-day to Mrs. Ellen Garside, 87, blind and crippled widow, when County Judge Ingram dismissed application of executors of her husband's will to have her evicted from her home.

Under terms of the will made several years ago, Mrs. Garside was to have use of the home for life on condition she paid taxes. For some time she managed to keep to conditions of the will until her only son was committed to the Ontario Hospital for the Insane. At almost the same time she became blind and lost the use of her limbs.

It was then she found herself unable to pay taxes out of the small Old Age Pension she receives.

The judge ruled to-day he had no jurisdiction, as the application for eviction should not have been under the Landlord and Tenant Act.

The relation of the woman to the estate, he said, was not that of tenant. He suggested if the executors were determined to have the aged woman ousted, they might go to the supreme court.

KILLER'S TRIAL NEARING CLIMAX

Fate of Kurulak, Charged With Slaying Mountie, Goes to Jury To-day.

BROTHER NEXT.

YORKTON, Sask., Sept. 28 (CP) Charged with the murder of a police officer, William Kurulak of Canora is on trial here. His fate is expected to rest in the hands of the jury before the day is over and after his case is disposed of his brother, Michael, will be tried for the same offence.

The Kurulak brothers, with Bill Miller, an ex-convict, are alleged to have shot and killed Corporal L. V. Ralls of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police when he attempted to arrest them at Foam Lake July 5.

They were arrested after the greatest manhunt in the history of Saskatchewan, after a posse of 200 farmers, policemen and villagers had pursued them for days. Miller was found dead, the victim of a self-inflicted bullet wound, after the Kurulaks had been captured.

Paraguay, Bolivia Are Ready for Peace

GENEVA, September 28 (C.P.).—Paraguayan and Bolivian delegates in the League of Nations Assembly to-day expressed a common desire for a pacific settlement of the dispute over the Gran Chaco region.

Their expressions raised the hopes of representatives of other nations that the problem might be solved by arbitration.

Costa Durels, Bolivian delegate, voiced his country's gratitude for the efforts neutral nations have made to bring about peace, and for the League Council's work to halt the fighting.

MINERS INJURED IN UNION FIGHTS

Three in Hospital After Clashes at Drumheller and Wayne, Alberta.

OTHERS CUT, BRUISED.

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Sept. 28.—(C.P.)—Two miners were rushed to hospital here to-day suffering severe injuries as result of two outbreaks between Unions at Wayne, nearby coal mining centre. Another was also seriously injured and was receiving medical attention at Wayne.

The two in hospital here were Daniel O'Neill and D. McDonald, injured in the first clash, while the name of the third, hurt in another outbreak in a different part of Wayne, cold not be learned. More than a dozen others suffered cuts and bruises.

Reports here said the clashes occurred between members of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada and the United Mine Workers of America. Both O'Neill and McDonald are members of the U. M. W. A., O'Neil being affiliated with the local at the Sovereign Coal Company mine an. McDonald at the Jewel Company mine.

Irwin Is Acquitted On Serious Charge

David Irwin of Rockcroft was late yesterday afternoon acquitted by His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke in County Judge's Criminal Court; of a serious charge in respect to a girl under the age of fourteen years, while a further charge of a similar nature was withdrawn by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., who conducted the prosecution.

The hearing opened in the forenoon and continued until late in the afternoon. The accused was defended by A. L. Elliott of the firm of Gordon and Elliott.

Student Denies Arson Tour Plan

SASKATOON, Sept. 28. —(CP)— Categorical denial he had ever suggested an "arson tour" to John Benoit has been made by T. O'Neill, university student and Kinderseley district farmer, charged with setting fire to a dance hall at Vanscoy last February.

Witness also denied on witness stand yesterday other statements attributed to him by Benoit, who is himself charged with the arson attempt but has turned King's evidence.

Benoit had stated O'Neill suggested an "arson tour" through Alberta and the United States as an easy means of acquiring a "stake."

The case is expected to go to the jury today.

FOUR POLITICAL CUBAN LEADERS ASSASSINATED

Martial Law Prevails in Havana as Authorities Seek Killers.

GANG TACTICS USED.

Police Fear Reprisals By Friends of Slain Men—Arrests Made.

HAVANA, Sept. 28. (AP)—Martial law prevailed in Havana today as police and government agencies sought assassins who yesterday murdered four of Cuba's prominent political leaders by gangster methods.

President Machado explained the decree of martial law was promulgated to prevent possible reprisals by friends of the four slain men.

Dr. Clemente Vazquez Bello, friend of Machado, president of the senate, and prospective candidate for the presidency of Cuba died in a rain of machine gun bullets from a passing automobile.

Shortly afterward, three brothers, Gonzalo, Guillermo, and Leopoldo Freyre de Andrade, political opponents of Dr. Vazquez Bello and the Machado regime were slain in their home. Investigations described their killing as an act of reprisal by friends of the dead Senate chief.

Police were seeking a man named Agustin Alvarez, who, they said, was the owner of the car which bore the machine gunners. They arrested the proprietor and an employe of the suburban garage where they said the auto was kept, but declined to say whether they had learned anything about the owner. In the car they found six rifles, four pistols, a revolver, and a quantity of ammunition.

A representative, Miguel Angel Aguiar, who participated in the unsuccessful revolt against the Machado government in August, last year, was wounded four times in a third shooting. Although in serious condition, he is expected to live.

The body of the late Senate President will be taken to Santa Clara late to-day on a special train, it was announced, and the funeral will be held to-morrow, when his widow, daughter and brothers are expected to arrive from New York.

Police closed all roads leading out of Havana in the hope of capturing the slayers. Airplanes began a patrol of the coast, looking for small boats in which they might try to escape.

BOARD ALL SET FOR FALL FAIR

Profit From Street Dance is $275—Good Entry List for Track Events Expected.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 28 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — All arrangements for the coming Fall Fair sponsored by the Seymour Agricultural Society, to be held this week in Campbellford are now under way, and the board of directors are in optimistic mood regarding the outcome of this annual event, which is one of the outstanding features of the town and township.

At a meeting of the board held yesterday in the Public Library and over which W. J. Abernethy presided, final touches were given to the plans for the fair. One of the features of this meeting was the report of the street dance held last Thursday and at which George Wade and his Cornhuskers furnished music. This was given by Dr. S. L. O'Hara and showed a clear profit of $275.83.

The report of this function, released for the press, is as follows:

Receipts.—Ticket sellers, G. A. Kingston, $135.65; Fred Peake, $137.15; Chas. Calver, $47.25; John Murray, $42.30; Robert Innes, $1.65; W. J. Abernethy, 25c; G. A. Kingston 50c; total $364.75. dance tickets—A. G. Thompson, $76.00; James Watters, $31.46—$108.06; rent of booths—$30.00.

Expenses—Geo. Wade, $150; loud speaker, $25; Lewis Hay, insurance, $24.30; G. A. Kingston, printing, $12.50; polls $2; drapings, $4; A. C. Connor, $1.73; work, $3.90; Water and Light Commission, $3.75.

To assist the judges in viewing and judging the pigs this year, the board will instal a square pen, where the animals will be displayed.

The matter of the protection of the fancy work in the building was also discussed, and to ensure the protection of these exhibits this year special police will be enrolled to remain in the main building.

As in past year, John Locke will supply all straw, hay and grain this season. These arrangements were left with him to look after.

T. J. Horkins, chairman of the Sports Committee, reported that he expected this year a good entry of horse for the track events. He had written forty owners, he stated, and felt that the speeding events this year would retain their popularity and success.

J. J. Lewis Hay addressed the board, asking to have placed with him any insurance the board felt like taking out. Public liability, property damage and rain insurance were discussed, but it was finally decided, on motion of Dr. O'Hara and J. Watters, that the board insure for public liability and property damage only.

The Campbellford L.O.B.A. will again run a lunch counter under the judges' stand this year; the concession they have had for many years past.

SYSTEM UNABLE TO EXIST, KEENE AUDIENCE TOLD

such a tatoo on the roof, that he was forced to stop for a while. "I can't even tell you a little story or I will have to scream to make myself heard," he shouted good humoredly.

Both the speakers were occupying the platform as spokesmen of the proposed political group known as the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, which, as Mr. Irvine explained, was to be organized to build a political force capable of yielding a power in the country to effect certain reforms through constitutional methods. "We are trying to co-ordinate or federate all forces that are agreed that Capitalism is done," he said, "and as U.F.O. people, I ask you to reorganize and federate with us. We must lay the foundation for a new order."

Product of the System.

Premier Bennett, the speaker maintained, was essentially a product of the Capitalistic system — a man who wanted to see the system work. "Can you tell him how to work the system," he argued. "Then by what right do you return him to power to ask him to work a system that cannot be worked?"

Capitalism was dying. It was a system that could not exist without foreign markets, and there were none. Among some of the reforms the speaker advocated were, cancellation of national debts, national control of money supplies, and the abolition of the gold standard.

Mr. Irvine

Explaining the significance of the name "Co-operative Commonwealth Federation," Mr. Irvine said it connoted a system of society that would be diametrically opposite to the individualistic and competitive system which we support to-day, under which it is every man for himself and the devile take the last.

"And we are nearly all last," he added. Federation means unity without surrender or loss of identity, each constituent organization carrying on under its own management, but all having a common objective.

Mr. Irvine asserted that the depression of the last three years was a sign of the dissolution of the capitalistic system.

"Our economic system simply is not working, not only in Canada, but throughout the civilized world. We have approximately 900,000 men and women in Canada out of employment. Our young people who have been preparing themselves for life come out of the schools and colleges, a little army of them last year, another this year, and another army of them next years only to find after all their study and expense that there is nothing for them to do.

Our farmers are selling their products at less than the cost of production. To stay on their farms and continue to pay taxes and interest, the cost of machinery and so on, they will be forced to reduce their standard of living. I think it is safe to say that little interest will be paid this fall by farmers and very little taxes.

The same is true of the professions. Men who have felt safe and secure are to-day not so sure because they can't collect their bills if the people haven't the money to pay them. Last year a large part of our population was unemployed and on public relief. The capitalistic systetm had failed to distribute the wealth of the country, and so the government had to do it in the emergency.

If I had been Prime Minister of Canada since 1930, people would have said there was no wonder we had hard times because Irvine does not believe in the capitalistic system and doesn't expect it to work. But Premier Bennett is an outstanding product of that system and a man of undoubted ability. He believes in the system with all his heart and he has done all he can to make it work in Canada, but it is not working. Mr. Hoover faces the same difficulty in the United States because he is trying to do the impossible."

Capitalism has been dying for years, Mr. Irvine declared. It was going the way of its precedent economic systems, slavery and feudalism, but another generation or two might pass away before it disappeared and was replaced.

Needs Foreign Market

"One reason why capitalism is doomed is that it can't exist without a foreign market, and there aren't any.

The system began in Great Britain with the invention of machinery. She sold her factory products to other countries, and then she sold machinery to other countries. So we have reached to-day the stage where all civilized countries are industrialized. They all have surpluses of products, but none of them knows where to dump its surplus.

It is said the United States can manufacture enough automobiles for eight worlds the size of ours; Canada enough for three worlds; France for two worlds; Great Britain for five worlds. And they are all trying to sell to one another when any one of them can produce so much. That is true of nearly every manufactured product.

"Capitalism never distributes sufficient money in the process of production to enable consumers at home to buy the products. So we have a surplus of goods on our shelves this year, another surplus next year, and so on, until there is a great accumulation. Mills shut down. Employees are laid off, and when salesmen try to sell the surplus abroad they find there warehouses bulging like their own at home.

Capitalism will destroy itself because it contains the germs of its own destruction. I don't want to destroy it. You don't want to destroy it, but we don't want to see our people starve nor our young people face a world that offers them no opportunity."

Mr. Irvine said that capitalism was already over-capitalized until to-day there is no place where the capitalist can invest his money with any hope of getting its back with interest on his investment. That is why they were so eager to buy government bonds.

Passing on to an exposition of the rudiments of political economy, Mr. Irvine said that money was not wealth but only a symbol of such wealth as grain and cattle and so on. There should be enough of it in Canada to buy all the goods on the market at any given amount. It is a scientific, mathemathical amount that could be arrived at if the people had the will to do so.

"We have no wills of our own in that matter. We leave that for the bankers to determine that for us."

The Credit System

All the money in Canada, comprising bank notes, coin and federal treasury notes represents only four per cent of the normal business in this country. The other 96 per cent is done by bank-created money and by means of financial credit.

"We propose to nationalize it so that no little group of financiers may have control of the social credit of the people for their own benefit and to the injury of the business of the country, Mr. Irvine explained. "We propose the cancellation of international debts, the debris of a dying order, because those debts can't be paid. The debtor nations haven't enough gold and their creditors won't take goods in kind because they already have a surplus of such goods themselves. If we don't cancel the debts they will cancel themselves or there will be a crash causing chaos."

By homely, simple illustrations Mr. Irvine briefly explained the intricacies of credit and in the same way set forth that capitalism is inevitably a debt-creating system. To this generation the opportunity was presented of evolving a new and better economic order by constitutional, legitimate means. It was both an opportunity and a duty, Mr. Irvine said, because all the present difficulties exposed the inherent weakness of capitalism from which it would eventually break up.

Agnes MacPhail, M.P.

"We believe there is a hunger on the part of the people for leadership. Not a self-seeking leadership, but one that strives to get the people into a happier condition. That is the story."

With these words Agnes MacPhail concluded an explanation as to how the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation came into being, in the course of an interesting address in which she elaborated on some of the points made by Mr. Irvine with particular reference to the present situation as it effected agriculture.

The speaker explained that for twelve years past, groups had sat in the House of Commons which had come to be known as co-operative groups. They had come to realize that there was something desperately wrong with the world. In this belief they were not alone. Two years ago, she recalled, the United Church of Canada had issued a manifesto which only re-echoed the feeling of general concern that has now become acutely realized. She believed that a great deal of the trouble was that under the present economic system, "we serve not He Who gives all, but he who gets most and who cannot be troubled by want in the midst of plenty, and the lack of opportunity for youth."

Shortly after the issue of the United Church manifesto, Miss MacPhail continued, four great economists (professors of McGill and Toronto Universities) were agreed among themselves that things were not being done as they should be done. Through their instrumentality was formed the League for Social Reconstruction—a group of intellectuals seeking to use what avenues they had for the changing of public opinion. This group along with the United Farmers of Alberta and other [illegible] bodies was the nucleus of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Her presence on the platform at Keene, Miss MacPhail remarked, had come about as a result of Mr. Irvine's desire to hold a series of meetings in Ontario. She had received valuable assistance from the U.F.O. at each of the five meetings already held, and was assured of the same aid at the other five meetings yet to be held in various parts of this province during the present week.

Lack Of Purchasers.

Challenging her audience to take active participation in the affairs of the day, the speaker claimed "the whole cause of the present trouble is lack of purchasers to buy the goods which the world had produced. But it is no more my job to seek a solution of the problem than it is yours."

During the past two years the prices of farm produce had tobogganed from a high to a low level, she said, "and we are not sure if this is the bottom or not. Yet here is agriculture with all its burden of overhead with doctor bills, farm implements and taxes all at the old level."

"I am accused of telling the farmers not to pay their taxes," the speaker stated in making the claim that she had been misquoted in the press. "I did not say that. I said if we reach the time when we have to make a spectacular protest like the Iowa farmers recently did, and which I consider was very foolish, that a much more effective protest would be the non-payment of taxes until the land could pay for it. And I also said I hoped that time would never come."

"No farmer can make taxes out of his land this year. He will only meet them either by lowering his standard of living; by selling his young live stock or by borrowing. Is it right that a farmer should be asked to pay more taxes than the amount of money he can make out of his land?" she asked. A remedy would have to be found some way or other of meeting the debt level and the price level if the Canadian national life was to go on. As it was at present, the farmer's overhead had increased and the price of his products had decreased.

Among the remedies suggested by Miss MacPhail were the lowering of interest rates, which, she contended, were deliberately held high; the raising of prices upward; the placing of more money in circulation (which would have the effect of raising commodity prices), with the Dominion Government to have the entire right to issue the money; and abolition of the gold standard.

A general levelling of incomes was another suggestion made by the speaker, who said that if she had her way she would impose an income tax—"such a saucy income tax," she said naively. "I would tax the man with the fat income because he got it through the exploitation of other people. He has so much money that he doesn't know what to do with it or where to put it. A good place for it would be in the treasury of the country which gave him such a good deal."

No More Monopolies.

She would also see industries that have a monopoly taken over by the State, and she ventured to suggest that nationalization of some industries in Canada was rapidly coming. As an instance of nationalization she mentioned the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

A wider, newer vision was required. The development of a new idea of success, not the idea that only visualized houses and servants and more food and clothing than one person could possibly consume, but that success which came from doing things honestly and well. Out of that would spring a social order with its mainspring the human being and their needs.

Reeve McDonald, who acted as chairman of the meeting, is president of the Peterborough County U.F.O. He was accompanied by Fred Eason, also prominently identified with that organization in this county. Others noticed among those present were W. A. Anderson, ex-M.P.P., and Dr. D. Munro of Warsaw.

Intervals during the meeting were occupied with pianoforte selections by Miss M. Edwards and also by a male trio consisting of Hugh Renwick, William Drummond and Harold Weir, accompanied at the piano by Miss M. Bryce.

WEATHER MAY CHANGE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(C.P.)—Continued showers during the first day of the world series was still the official prediction at 8.30 a.m. to-day, but weather bureau experts announced at that time that a "decided change" was a possibility. Whether this change would be for better or for worse was not predictable at this early hour.

CONSERVATIVE WORKERS HOLD GET-TOGETHER

Robert Lowery Elected Honorary Member of Campbellford Association.

MAJOR BELFORD SPEAKS.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 28—"The party that made Canada what it is today is our party, and we have not fallen upon bad times," declared Major J. F. B. Belford, addressing a get-together of the Conservative workers of Campbellford and the adjoining townships last evening held in the Davidson Pavilion and over which R. J. Allan of Campbellford presided.

The Conservative party in Canada Major Belford said, was away to a good start and the ultimate success of it hinged on the support of all workers, putting aside differences and getting together for the common good. It was necessary he pointed out that all Conservatives should support their ward chairman.

The next federal election, whenever it takes places, he described as being one of the most important in the history of the country. The Hon. R. B. Bennett since taking office had not spared himself and in the face of great opposition had overcome many difficulties and had won for Canada preferences on the British markets which were already benefiting farmers and manufacturers of the country, and it would be only fair play to support him when the time came.

One of the features of the gathering, which was thrown open and at which many questions relative to the welfare of the party were discussed, was the honor conferred on Robert Lowery, for twenty-seven years vice-president of the Campbellford committee, by making him an honorary member of the Conservative Association. Although no date was set, the meeting went on motion as favouring a convention in the near future.

Other speakers included F. J. McArthur, M.L.A., Cobourg; J. A. Irwin, C. H. Davidson, W. J. Abernethy, S. A. Maguire, G. A. Kingston and Robert Lowery of Campbellford; Bill Ross of Meyersburg; Ben Moore, Percy; C. Sherwin, Percy; C. Goodfellow, W. Goodfellow, Brighton; J. C. Anderson, C. Calver, Campbellford and W. Hircock, Cobourg.

day pending a definite relief program.

Towns Destroyed

Rafael Veve, Jr., assistant general manager of the Fajardo sugar company, who arrived here late last night after spending eight hours travelling 30 miles, said all the towns between Fajardo and Carolina, half way to the capital, were destroyed and half the plantation houses blown down.

All government offices were instructed by the governor to open for business as usual today. "We must have everybody go to work," he said, "as though nothing had happened—only more so."

Mayors of the stricken towns who called on the governor last night were instructed to supply emergency relief for 48 hours.

Communications were so crippled that complete information on what parts of the island were hit by the storm was still lacking today.

Warsaw

WARSAW, September 28 (Examiner Correspondence).— The United Church Sunday School for Rally Day services followed the program theme, "Following Jesus To-day." Ivan Drain, assistant superintendent, led. Mr. Somers said a few appropriate words and Mesdames A. Edwards and H. Digweed told the stories.

In the Presbyterian Church Sunday School the program, with the theme Reverence, was followed. Dr Munro, superintendent led. The ladies had the church beautifully decorated with flowers.

Next Sunday, October 2, school will open a little before 10 a.m. to be over in time to allow those who wish, to attend the United Church service.

Rev. J. T. O'Conor-Fenton conducted the harvest festival service in the Anglican Church on Sunday afternoon. His text was: "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord and to sing praises unto his name." The church was decorated very tastefully with produce of the field, forest, and garden. A novelty was a bunch of sprays of garden raspberries laden with fruit brought by Mrs. Albert Cooper, and grown in her garden.

Rev. C. S. Reddick of Omemee, will conduct the anniversary services in the United Church at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday, October 2. The ladies of the church will give a fowl supper the following Tuesday evening, followed by an interesting program.

H. G. E. Choate and son Harold were in Warsaw and attended the Anglican service.

Albert Graham has gone to see his property in the West.

Obituary

MRS. FREDERICK WRIGHTINGTON

Funeral services were held Monday at Toronto, prior to interment at Brooklyn, New York, of the remains of Georgina, wife of the late Frederick Wrightington, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Mrs. Wrightington who died suddenly in Toronto on Sunday was well-known locally. She was a sister of the late W. H. Robertson, editor and publisher of the "Morning Times."

Weddings

TANNER—DAVENPORT.

APSLEY, Sept. 28.—A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Stephen's Church, Chandos, on Saturday morning when Miss Margaret Irvington Davenport of Norfolk, Virginia, became the bride of Henry James Tanner, eldest son of Thomas Earl Tanner of Chandos. The groomsman was George Tanner, brother of the groom and his sister, Edythe was bridesmaid. Rev. C. A. G. Spence was the officiating clergyman. The bridal couple are spending the honeymoon at Loon Lake.

SIR HENRY LYTTON SITS IN AUDIENCE FIRST TIME

LONDON, Sept. 27 (C.P. Cable)—Sir Henry Lytton, who has been playing leading roles in Gilbert and Sullivan operas for 47 years, last night watched a performance for the first time from the auditorium when he witnessed the opening of the several months' season at the Savoy Theatre.

He is now to share performances with Martyn Green, who was nominated successor in the parts originally made famous by George Grossmith.

"It was an almost uncanny experience," declares Sir Henry when he held a sort of reception in the stalls during the interval between acts. The opera staged last night was The Pirates of Penzance.

A STRONG CANDIDATE.

In selecting as their candidate for the next provincial election James Hawthorne, ex-reeve of Dummer and ex-warden of the county, the delegates who attended the convention of Peterborough County Liberals at Norwood on Monday undoubtedly did a good afternoon's work for their part.

Mr. Hawthorne, a member of one of the pioneer families of the county, a practical farmer with a first-hand knowledge of the problems and difficulties of agriculture, a man schooled in public service by reason of useful terms of office in Township and County Council, and possessing a very large circle of friends and not a single enemy, should prove a decidedly strong candidate.

Fortunate is the party that is able to put into the field a standard-bearer who has such qualities, and who in addition has the faculty of making and holding friends.

The choosing of Mr. Hawthorne from a strong field of aspirants was a tribute not only to the ex-warden's fine record but to his personality, and will be gratifying to his friends, regardless of the political affiliations of the latter.

There is as yet no provincial election in sight, but the Liberal organization evidently believes in taking time by the forelock—hence the early entrance of Mr. Hawthorne into the arena.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING.

A judicial inquiry into remarks said to have been made during the hearing of a recent criminal case by Judge L. St. G. Stubbs, of Winnipeg.

The man on the street will be inclined to look upon the probe as a case of much ado about nothing.

The things Judge Stubbs has been accused of saying do not strike the public as being either dangerous or radical, and unless a jurist is expected, to use the words of Judge Stubbs himself, to be "an official phonograph and judicial rubber stamp," it is difficult to see what all the fuss is about.

Surely it is not a very revolutionary thing for a judge to remark that unless youths are provided with work or allowed to enter educational institutions they are liable to become demoralized or degenerate, nor can the average citizen find much fault in the bench commenting upon light sentences for those guilty of stealing large sums of money.

The whole country, as a matter of fact, has been giving voice to similar criticism, and also to complaints that wealthy offenders who were sentenced to prison have had their liberty restored without serving more than half their sentence.

It will not help to stop such talk to have a judge investigated because of frank statements on the bench.

HOW TO DO IT PROPERLY.

Something was said the other day about by-laws that are not enforced; the same charge could truthfully be made in regard to the Ontario Traffic Act, or at least to many of the provisions of that measure.

The majority of motorists, as a matter of fact, probably do not know that the signalling of a left turn and the method of making a right or left turn with a car is not merely a matter that is optional with the driver, but is clearly provided for in the Traffic Act.

So far as the law is concerned, the motorist has no choice but to give a proper signal whenever making a left turn on highways or city streets; it is no defence to say that his window was closed; on the contrary, he is expected to lower the glass in order that the required signal may be given.

Similarly as to the manner in which turns shall be made, the Traffic Act lays down explicit directions.

The motorist who intends to make a left turn at an intersection the law requires him to gradually bring his car to the centre of the street and make his turn from there; to begin the turn from close to the curb and cut across traffic, which is the technique used by many local drivers, is to violate the Traffic Act.

Right turns, on the other hand, must be started as close to the curb as possible, and the driver is expected to keep his car near the curb of the street into which he turns; if he drives down the centre of the street and commences his right turn from there, he is an offender under the act.

The proper practice, as laid down by the regulations, is what every sensible driver follows of his own accord; it may, however, surprise the other type of driver to learn that the Traffic Act tells them exactly what to do.

THE RELIEF PROGRAM.

Ontario's relief program for the coming winter months has been materially clarified by an order-in-Council just made public and which puts into effect many of the suggestions brought forward by the Advisory Committee on Unemployment.

One of the outstanding features is that compulsory registration of all applicants for relief in the province is provided for, and all those applying for assistance must secure a residence certificate card.

The province will assist the municipalities in looking after their unemployed to the extent of one-third of the cost, with the Federal Government providing another one-third; the order-in-Council, however, gives authority for the province's share to be increased when municipalities find themselves unable to pay one-third of the cost.

"Direct relief" is defined as meaning food, fuel, clothing, shelter, medical services and medical supplies; "shelter" to include lodgings or rent, water and light.

As a safeguard, however, it is provided that no payment made for rent in a year shall exceed 50 per cent. more than the tax bill on the property in question, and in no case shall the grant for rent, including water, exceed $15 per month per family.

No provision, it is announced, has so far been made to establish interment camps for transients as recommended by the Advisory Committee. It is felt that the policy if followed at all should be on nation-wide basis, and the matter is at present under discussion by the federal and provincial administrations.

The changes that have been made seem a businesslike treatment of a difficult problem, and should prove decidedly useful during the next few months.

THE MACHRAY CASE.

The spectacle which was portrayed in the police court at Winnipeg when Mr. John A. Machray, K.C., pleaded guilty to the theft of hundreds of thousands of dollars of trust funds and was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary, was one of the saddest that have been witnessed in Canada in many years. One of the foremost lawyers in the city of Winnipeg, the chancellor of the University of Manitoba, the trusted treasurer of the funds of the diocese of St. Rupert in the Anglican Church, standing high in the councils of church and state for many years, he presented a pathetic figure and one that will excite pity and regret in the hearts of his fellow-citizens.

At the age of sixty-seven years, broken in health, suffering from cancer, bereft of the honor and esteem in which he had been held, separated from his home and family, parted from friends and associates of a lifetime, he heard the gates of the penitentiary close upon him for a prospective term of seven years. Truly this is one of the most pathetic criminal cases that have been tried in Canada for many years. He must have been broken-hearted and overwhelmed with painful memories as he pleaded guilty to common theft. Whether or not he was a criminal at heart, or became enmeshed in the intricacies of the stock markets, or was the victim of bad business methods as his counsel declared, those who have followed this tragic case can decide for themselves.

Apart, however, from the tragedy of Machray, the feature that concerns the public most is that nothing has been done to guard the interests of society. It is a shocking thing to learn that the funds of a great university and of church organizations can be depleted over a period of twenty-five years without the defalcations having been discovered. A searching investigation is needed in order to find out how this money was spent, who were associated with Machray in its benefits, and for what purposes it was stolen. It is a shattering blow to the confidence of the investing public. If trust funds, bequeathed to universities and church departments, and investments placed with lawyers are not safe, surely it shows the necessity of a better system for auditing such accounts by qualified experts of the government. In recent years trust funds invested with lawyers have been lost with no redress for those who have been injured. The Machray case clearly demonstrates that something must be done to safeguard the interests of investors. Let the investigation instituted by the Manitoba Government be thorough.—Brantford Expositor.

QUALIFIED AUTOCRACY.

The chairman of the board of trustees of the Canadian National Railways, if the Duff report is accepted in this respect by the Government, will be a big man in a big job. He will be virtually the administrator of the system and the president will take orders from him, carry out instructions.

The report recommends, and nobody will dispute it, that the chairman hould have "financial, administrative and executive ability of a high order." He will devote all his time to the work, and receive a salary "commensurate" with his qualifications and responsibilities.

Nor is this all. By a clause as simple as it is ingenious the commission would assure to the chairman a dominating place in the board. It is proposed that, while a majority vote would govern decisions of the board, the chairman must be a member of any majority. In other words, the chairman and one other would constitute a majority, but the two other members could not combine to out-vote the chairman. The opinion of the chairman would be the deciding factor and no decision could be taken over his objection.

This recommendation, translated into law, would place responsibility for the railroad squarely upon the chairman, and would make it highly imperative that he should have the very highest attainments to fit him for such a post. Nevertheless it would be a mistake to think of him as exercising the powers of autocracy. He would be, strictly speaking, a qualified autocrat. In himself he could not command decisions of the board. His wish, to be effective, would require approval of one other member at least, and this is a safeguard against one-man control of the huge enterprise.

There would still exist the possibility of a deadlock, but it can be assumed that no government would appoint to this board men of any type but the highest and the danger is not very great. It is a risk which the plan would assume in preference to the alternative of giving one man supreme power over the system. There are many who believe a beneficent autocracy to be the most efficient device for administration of human affairs, but in practice they are more than likely to qualify the autocrat's powers, as the commission proposes to do very ingeniously in this recommendation.

This plan for assuring the chairman's authority seems to be original with the Duff Commission, and the idea is one which might be found a useful device in the constitution of other boards and tribunals. The Civil Service Commission, for instance, consists of three members, and a majority rules. But the chairman has no special powers as such, and his colleagues may out-vote him at will.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Remember you will be helping to give neglected children a new start in life with your donation to the Children's Aid Society on Saturday.

A law partner of Hon. Hugh Guthrie has been elevate dto the bench. Just a coincidence, possibly.

With the world's series on most Americans will proceed to forget all about the presidential election for the present at least.

The crushing defeat of Mickey of that ilk in New York on Monday night suggests that 1932 is not a very propitious year for the Walkers.

Peterborough County Liberals are all set for the next provincial election. If Premier Henry is wise they will have quite some time to wait. Conditions are not favorable just now for the party in power in any political jurisdiction.

Do You Understand This One Particular Thing About Wives and Their Husbands?

By Marshall Maslin

Marshall Maslin

I WISH SOME of you fellows who "understand women" would explain something to me. . . . It bothers me. I've puzzled my poor old head quite a bit over it, but I can't find the answer. Must be somewhere, but I dont know where it is.

* * *

It's about husbands and wives.

* * *

A man I know told me he had an awful row with another fellow. He was walking with his wife and another couple in the country, and a man was a bad-tempered dog came along. The fierce dog jumped on their well-behaved dog and gave him quite a chewing.

My friend interfered, and then the owner of the mean dog got tough. There was some discussion and a few remarks about noses that might get punched, etc., etc.

But at last they went their growling ways, dogs, men, wives.

"And did your wives give you a scolding right afterwards?" said I (being very shrewd about all such matters).

"Yes," says my friend, opening his eyes wide in surprise at my extraordinary understanding, "that's just what they did. They gave us the dickens; they said we had acted like hooligans, and they were ashamed of us, and they made us feel cheap. How did you know they did that?"

"Well," said I, "they always do. A wife always wants her husband to be big and bold and strong, defending his rights, not letting anybody walk over him or her. She wants him to be a He-Man, whatever that is, and she wants to be proud of the way he protects his rights.

"But whenever he does it — clenches his fists, sticks out his chin, talks loud, makes a fuss over anything in public—she's ASHAMED of him, and tells him so. She's humiliated and wishes she could pretend that noisy, obstreperous, red-in-the-face fellow was no part of her family.

"She likes the idea, but she doesn't like the FACT."

* * *

And that's why I wish one of you fellows who "understand women" to explain why husbands always get scolded when they stick up for their rights in public. (Or will some woman do it, please?)

U. S. BAG LIKELY WINNER.

WARSAW, Poland. — The United States Navy balloon participating in the Gordon Bennett Cup race landed at 10.00 a.m. to-day close to the town of Wasjule, near Vilna, on the Polish-Latvian Frontier.

The exact distance it had travelled from Basel, where the race started, had not been computed, but it appeared virtually certain that the Navy bag had won the race and the Cup.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—A gradual strengthening in prices on eggs was noted on the local market yesterday as receipts failed to satisfy an exceptionally good demand. Brokers were not receiving sufficient supplies to meet requirements and, as retailers were asking for greater deliveries, wholesalers were hinting at storage stocks being moved within a few days. Prices asked for graded lots were higher than on Monday, and quotations to country shippers and retailers showed advances on various grades. Brokers asked 26c for extras, 21c for firsts, and 14½c for seconds, graded and in free cases, and wholesalers quoted the trade, fresh supplies at 30c to 31c for extras, in cartons; 29c to 30c for extras, loose; 26c for firsts, loose, and 17c for seconds, loose. Country shippers were offered 24c for extras, 21c for firsts and 14c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned.

Butter.

Receipts of utter from Ontario points were about normal, but there was some accumulation due to almost complete absence of trade. Brokers asked steady prices for the week, but buyers were content to work on supplies purchased previously, and it was almost impossible to clear any kind of butter. The general undertone of the market was firm, however, as further buying will necessarily ensue when recent heavy purchases have been depleted. Yesterdays brokers were asking 21¾c to 22c for No. 1 creamery, solids, and 20¾c to 21c for No. 2, while wholesalers quoted prints at 25c for No. 1, and 24c for No. 2.

Cream.

There was a new range of cream prices quoted yesterday, and the top of the spread was 1c better than previously. Local buyers of butterfat quoted Ontario shippers 21c to 22c for special, 20c to 21c for No. 1 and 17c to 18c for No. 2 f.o.b. country points.

Cheese.

There was quite a supply of new cheese offered on this market, but trade was quiet, and prices were barely steady. Brokers offered new makes at 11c to 11 1-8c for large, 11¼c to 11 3-8c for twins, and 11½c to 11 5-8c for triplets. Retailers were quoted new makes at 12¼c for large, 12½c for twins, 12¾c for triplets, and 14¾c for stiltons.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—A semblance of backbone developed in wheat values late yesterday, contrasting with weakness earlier.

Late rallies scored by the wheat market were simultaneous with rumors that Government restrictions on grain trading would be modified. The rumors met with a denial at the Department of Agriculture in Washington, but the denial was not known of here until the days' trading had ended.

Wheat closed irregular, 3-8 off to 3-8 up, compared with Monday's finish; corn, 1-8 to ⅜ down; oats, at 1-8 to ¼ decline, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to 5 cents advance.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.— Upturn in egg prices featured the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Carlot prices of graded fresh eggs showed substantial gains. Extras advanced 2c to 3c at 26c to 31c, firsts were up 1c to 2c at 20c to 23c, and seconds rose 1c to 1½c at 14c to 15c a dozen. Storage eggs will be placed on the market to retailers to-day, inaugurating the 1932-33 season. Extras will be 31c, and firsts 26c. Fresh eggs, in cartons, to retailers, will be advanced 2c to 4c to-day. Specials will be 38c, extras 36c, firsts 29c, and seconds 21c Receipts were 369 cases.

Butter declined, current make No. 1 in carlots being quoted at 21¼c to 21¾c a pound, and earlier make at 21c to 21¼c. Receipts were 61 boxes.

Cheese was lower. Ontarios being 11c, and Quebecs 10 5-8c a pound. Receipts were 4,710 boxes.

Potatoes held firm. New Brunswick Green Mountains selling at 75c, and New Brunswick Cobblers at 70c per 80-pound bag. Montreal potatoes were 40c to 60c per 80-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, September 28. — Liberal hedging on the Grain Exchange here yesterday brought about a fractional dip in wheat futures, but export buying acted as a check, with business during the morning estimated to amount to about 500,000 bushels. Prices at the close were ⅝c to ¾c a bushel lower.

October closed at 50¼c, November at 51½c, December at 51¼c to 51¾c, and May at 57¼c.

Spreading operations formed most of the trade, apart from the export buying. These operations took the form or purchases of the October against sales of the December and May by shippers; scattered selling of long October against buying of the May and December through commission houses; and some smaller purchases of Winnipeg market against sales in Chicago by houses there.

In the cash wheat section considerable No. 2 Northern came out at 2½c under the October price, and it was reckoned about 500,000 bushels cnanged hands. A few lots of durums were traded at ¾c better.

The sale of a few loads of oats for export constituted the main feature of the coarse grains division. Otherwise what went on was largely of a routine order.

SHIPPERS SLASH PRICE GRAPES SELLING LOW

HAMILTON, Sept. 28 (C.P.)—C. W. Bauer, Secretary of the Ontario Growers' Council, to-day blamed cut-throat competition among growers for demoralisation of the grape market through heavy selling at low prices.

Bauer said a fair return to grape growers would be a price of 22 cents a basket f.o.b. shipping point. Through its Western Canada representative, he added, the Council had secured a price at Winnipeg of 21 cents, only to find within a short time that grapes were offered by some shippers for as low as 16 cents. A similar situation, he continued, prevailed in the Maritimes, in Toronto and in Montreal.

STATION L-O-V-E

BY CRAIG CARROLL

INSTALMENT NO. 27

"Maybe," said Elsie to Judy, "you can get Elton Day to clear Dick of faking your audition. He won't right now, that's sure. But maybe later. He's not the kind to get noble and give anybody a break. Not when he tells you he's in love with you himself."

"I know that." Judy shook her head.

"Then you'd better just go along. Andw hen Billy says what he can do Dick he's going to write to me and tell me the answer. Anyhow, he'll write as soon as he can to let us know where he and Dick are. And maybe then—"

"I can't do it. Elsie. I can't."

"You can't huh? What else is there to do?

"I don't know—"

"Then you'll do it the way I'm telling you. Because if you go down to the studio now and raise a fuss, you'll make it sound worse than ever. If you even act as if you know what's happened."

"But everybody else knows. They won't want me around the station if they didn't want Dick."

"Don't be silly. You've got a contract. You're not working for the station, you're working for an advertiser. So is Day. That's why you couldn't do him any harm even if you tried. Because the station couldn't fire him, anyhow. But Dick wasn't on contract, he just had a job. You see?"

"Couldn't I go to Mr. Jenks? To the man who's paying for the Beauty Builders show?"

"What could you say? Anything you tell him somebody'll deny. That's what Billy says, anyhow. Because a crooked audition isn't supposed to happen. Hardly ever does. First one Billy ever knew about. And no station is going to admit that a thing like that could happen. That's how Billy says it, anyhow. So what can you do?"

The answer was, "Nothing."

Not even a letter to Dick. Not even a chance to explain. Nothing.

* * *

So, knowing this answer, Judy went about the place that day, that evening, saying nothing, not eating, watching the door, listening for a call that did not come—as she knew it would not come. And slept miserably, dreaming about faces she could not remember when she waked. In the morning dressing slowly, miserably. Hearing Elsie's crisp knock on the door.

"Come in," she said listlessly.

Elsies' face appeared around the side of the door.

"Ready?"

"I guess so."

"You guess so. Don't you know?"

"I guess so."

"Oh—well, let's be on our way." They emerged into a crisp, bright blue morning, the kind of morning Chicago has copyrighted, when the blue haze rises slowly along the thin buildings in the loop, when the whole city seems new-washed by the sun. A morning Dick would have loved, would have talked about in his boy's deep voice. But Dick would not see it this morning. She would not hear Dick's voice today, or tonight. Or ever? Or ever?

* * *

"I'm not hungry."

"Neither am I. What's that got to do with it, anyhow? Come on."

She followed Elsie, without much caring where she went.

"George, how's the toast?" Elsie demanded.

"Good.'

"You're a fibber. Bring us some eggs."

Food sat untouched on the table then while Elsie and Judy pretended to read papers that did not interest them at all. A story about a murder. A story about somebody flying from somewhere to somewhere. A story about something being done to somebody for doing something in some obscure principality. A story about something Judy had never heard about.

"Nothing else?" Elsie asked finally.

"Nothing."

"Well, let's be on our merry way." And Elsie hummed the funeral march for, a moment, and suddenly she grinned.

"Listen, Judy. You're feeling terrible. So'm I. Billy—Maybe he's not so much, but he said I had swell eyes. And he said he had an idea I could cook. And I can. And —Well, Billy's gone, too. And I don't know when he'll be back. Maybe never."

* * *

Behind the casual words, the words that tried to be funny and weren't at all, Judy sensed something she had been too selfish to realize. That Elsie, too, might be in love. That Ealie—She asked about it point blank as they entered a taxicab.

"Elsie, you like Billy a lot, don't you?"

"He's all right.'

"Thats not what I mean. You like him?"

"I dunno.'"

"You do!"

"And what if I do? What's the good?"

"He's nice. He'd be a fine husband, Elsie.'

"A husband? Hah! I'm laughing! I'm dying I'm laughing so hard. A husband? For me. Ahh!" Elsie pushed the word away with a capable large hand. "Me, I'll be keeping six cats and living in single wretchedness when you've got grandchildren. I betcha."

"That's not so. You ought to be married, Elsie."

"Be a bum housewife instead of an extra-swell stenog? Don't make me laugh. It's bad for m'heart."

But Judy knew. Girls always know looking at one another as Judy looked into Elsie's eyes now, when a girl really longs terrible for a home of her own. But she knew that Elsie was embarrassed. Elsie, having trained herself for so long to deny the possibility of marriage, could not bear to talk about it now.

* * *

So Judy was silent. And Elsie was silent, too, looking out of the taxicab with brooding eyes. Until she saw the Wrigley clock.

"Hey, driver! Hurry up. Let's go places!

The driver mumbled indistinguishable words.

"Never mind. I don't care if your foot is a sleep. Step on the gas with the other foot, then."

Nothing happened. The taxicab crawled as slowly as ever. And Judy was glad. Because it was 9 o'clock, no more. And she did not want to be at the station until the last possible moment, until just before time to go one the air. She did not want to leave Elsie at the tall building where Elsie worked. She did not want to be left alone, even for an hour and a half. Not yet. Not just yet. Still, she said nothing about this. She waved casually as Elsie entered the building. She told the driver, "Just keep going. Anywhere."

"Huh?" He turned startled eyes. "I said 'Just keep going.' Down the drive, or up the drive. I don't care. I want to ride around a while."

"Oh."

* * *

The cab crawled down Michigan and suddenly it turned east toward the lake, toward the outer drive. Here were huge buildings, skeletons, some of them; buildings with signs heralding a world's fair Judy was sure she would never see; buildings where men worked hard, shouted loudly, turned their backs on the beautiful skyline. Judy, who loved that jagged, beautiful line of buildings along Michigan boulevard, turned her back now, staring at the lake, staring at nothing at all.

She might go to Elton. She might ask him, earnestly, simply, to help her. She might, but she could not.

Before he said what he said yesterday she could have treated him coldly, as some one not important. But now. When a man tells you he is in love with you, when he asks you to marry him, he is no longer to be ignored or to be put away by your detached insolence. He has taken a weapon into his hands by throwing away his weapons.

She might go back to Jenks, might tell him the truth. But what if she did? Jenks wanted a voice, he was paying for a voice, he had given her a contract that still had fifty-one weeks to go, and he would listen to Elton, not to her.

* * *

She might simply go home. But she could not do that to get on a train now, to run away, would be to confess what she could not confess, to admit what was not true. For flight could only seem, to Dick Mason, like confession.

And what could she tell her mother and her father? How could she explain—having written about the contract, about the job that would last for a year—that after a few hours she had changed her mind, had given up? When they needed the money, her father and mother even if they didn't say so; when what she could send to her father in a year might mean peace and rest and security to him for the first time in his life?

No. As "nothing to be done" had been set to the rhythm of her steps that day when she left Dick Mason on the street, so "nothing to be done" was the tune of the taxicab motor now. And, riding block after block, mile after mile, south and still south along the Michigan beach, Judy found no other answer.

So that, finally, she told the driver suddenly, "Now let's go back."

It was almost time to go on the air again. Almost time to send her voice to women all over the country telling them how to solve their problems. Solving problems for other women who knew more about life than Judy Allison knew, while she could not solve this simple problem for herself.

It was funny. It was funny and tragic and ironical and mad. But it was so.

A Practical Test.

A well-brought-up young woman was taking a lesson in auto driving. The instructor leaned toward her and whispered softly in her ear, "Did I hear you call me 'darling'?"

"Sir!" cried the young lady, indignantly, forgetting about her driving and turning to glare at him.

"Keep your eye on the road!" he said, sternly. "That was just a test. No matter what anybody says to you, keep your eye on the road."—New Yorker.

Efficiency.

"How long are you going to be trimming that tree, Jim?" asked the under gardener.

The head gardener looked down from the top of the ladder.

"It'll take me another hour or so," he replied.

"All right," said the under gardener. "You might let me know when you're finished, 'cause the boss has told me to cut it down."—Answers.

Encore.

The small boy was taking part in a local concert. He was only seven years old, and recited so well that he was encored.

"Well, Harry, and how did you get on?" asked his proud father when he returned home.

"Why, I thought I had done all right," replied Harry, "but they made me do it again."—Pearson's.

INTERLISTED STOCKS ACTIVE

Lake Shore Gains 20 to $29.75; Dome Up 15 to $13.

NICKEL UNCHANGED.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.— (C.P.) — Prices moved irregularly higher in quiet forenoon trading on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Market to-day, mid-day changes practically all taking the form of minor advances over last night's finals. Interlisted stocks made the best showing, with a few pennies responding to the improved feeling.

Gold shares were firmer, Lake Shore gaining 20 to $29.75, Dome 15 to $15 and Teck-Hughes, Wright-Hargreaves and Hollinger a few cents each to $3.35, $2.94 and $5.35, respectively.

Nickel sold off on the opening but rallied to stand unchanged at $11 when taken. Noranda moved to $21.10, up 45. Pen Pete, fractionally lower, displayed the only change in the oil group.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(A.P.)—Stocks firmed in continued dull trading to-day, with gains of 1 to 3 points were numerous. Santa Fe, Lackawanna and Case were up 3. U. S. Steel, Harvester, Westinghouse Electric, Mack Truck, Union Pacific, and American Telephone rose 2 to 3 while gains of more than a point were scored by a wide list including American Can, Dupont, Chrysler, New York Central and Southern Pacific. Transfers approximated 1,400,000 shares.

STANDARD EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Sept. 28—(CP)—Action was featureless on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market today, prices fluctuating aimlessly in reduced volume to an irregularly higher close. A slight rally among interlisted stocks brightened the appearance of the board around midday but failed to carry through the afternoon.

International Nickel finished unchanged and Noranda managed to retain a net gain of 35 on end. Lindsleys were steady, with Falconbridge up 6. Eldorado, slightly stronger; showed the only move among the silvers.

Golds were firm in the forenoon but encountered some scattered selling late in the day. Lake Shore and Teck-Hughes made small advances while Wright-Hargreaves, Siscoe and Granada dipped a cent or two.

Oils were inactive.

TOROTO EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, September 28 (C.P.)—Adopting a Micawber-like attitude in waiting for something to turn up, stocks on the Toronto Stock Exchange see-sawed up and down in very narrow movements to-day. Volume was probably the smallest for a full session in three months, with even the pivotal stocks hanging fire.

Devoid of the usual flurry, the opening was quite mild and the session moved to the close broke only by spasmodical activity in selective issues. Price changes in consequence were very meagre, although the general movement was upward, induced to a certain extent by intermittent strength during the last hour of trading of the inter-listed issues.

C.P.R. had probably the highest turnover with a fair number of big blocks of stock going through.

It closed on top at 19⅝. Nickel and Brazilian acted almost similarly. Both stocks opened at 10⅞, both worked up above the 11 mark around noon, and closed at 11⅛.

Oils, excepting Imperial, were quiet, and price changes confined to quarter point losses in Imperial and International Pete.

KING PROMISES TARIFF SLASH

ada and the countries of the Empire and paving the way for the economic conference the Liberals had been arranging later that year, Mr. King spoke of the Conservative party campaign cry of "Canada First," in the elections of 1930. Mr. Bennett had asserted the government in office was responsible for unemployment.

"More than two years have gone by," Mr. King said. "Mr. Bennett and the members of his government cannot say that they have not had ample opportunity to fulfil the promises they made at that time. But they had not done so."

Why Not Wait

So far as the conference was concerned, Mr. King asked: "Why did the Government not wait (to hold the by-election) not only until after the agreements were tabled and published, but until after they were fully discussed in Parliament, and until the Conservative members who were to participate in the campaign could come into the constituency with copies of the agreements in their hands and point out to this community just wherein it was going to benefit by what has been done?"

He was largely in sympathy with the view that political parties should seek to be united as much as possible on Empire matters, Mr. King said. "But to be united on anything it is necessary that all parties should have pretty full knowledge of the things on which they are expected to be of a single mind ,and to have some opportunity afforded them in which to give expression to their respective views."

CITY TO FIGHT.

LONDON, Ont.—The City Council announced to-day it would fight claims of Probation Officer Bradshaw and Miss Mabel Black, clerk of the Juvenile Court, to recover arrears in salaries.

CHEESE PRICES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—(C.P.)—Cheese prices remained nominally unchanged to-day. No sales were reported. Westerns were quoted at 11 cents, easterns at 10 5-8.

WINNIPEG GRAIN EXCHANGE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 2.—(C.P.) — Wheat futures prices had a range of about ¼ cent during the initial half hour of trading to-day. Offerings from the start were quite liberal but came chiefly in the nature of hedging pressure, but good buying was encountered and values generally held stubbornly at the previous closing levels.

Early reports indicate that practically no export business was worked in Canadian wheat overnight, but most of the support uncovered at the start this morning appeared to be from houses with export connections and it was believed that a fair business was being done. Inter-market operations were uninteresting and traders with the passing of the first 45 minutes generally were waiting new developments.

Liverpool wheat opened unchanged, but trading in the English market was extremely dull and quotations at the close were 1/4d to 3/8d lower per 100 pounds. Buenos Aires wheat was 1-8 cent lower per bushel at the opening.

Timely Hint

LONDON, Sept. 28 (C.P. Cable). — Cabinet Ministers were flocking through the door of No. 10 Downing Street today for the vital Cabinet meeting which saw the resignations of three Free Trade Ministers who were in disagreement with their colleagues over the procedure to be followed in carrying out Imperial trade pacts.

In the midst of it all a huge delivery van rumbled by. It carried a great advertisement on its side:

"Australian Apples — Good Health for a Penny a Day."

JOHN W. HART IS GIVEN 1 MONTH

in jail, and ordered to pay a fine of $300, or spend an additional six months in the Ontario Reformatory.

However, all details concerning what occurred in the roadway early that morning were not settled in court to-day. Hart laid a charge of assault, occasioning actual bodily harm against both "Mounties," Corporal D. L. Caniff and Constable D. F. Robinson. The "Mounties" countered with a charge of obstructing a police officer in the execution of his duties against Hart. Both charges were adjourned until October 4, the officers promising to appear for trial on the assault charge.

Again Magistrate Langley listened to two entirely different stories in the trial to-day. The officers said that Hart had been drinking, while Hart maintained that he was stone sober, but that the officers were drunk and "treated me worse than highwaymen could have done." Hart maintained that Constable Robinson had struck him with a flashlight, opening a deep gash on his cheek. But the officers swore that Hart had received a slight scratch when a blow with a wrench he aimed at Constable Robinson rebounded off the constable's arm and struck him in the face.

The officers described the manner in which they lay ambushed near Hill's gate and watched a car proceed to the farmhouse, stop there for fifteen minutes while its single passenger was in the house and then drive back down the laneway, without lights.

Picked Up Wrench Alleged.

"Put those lights out, put 'em out quick," the officers swore Hart had shouted when they flashed their flashlights on him after ordering him to stop. With his car at a stop, Hart immediately reached down and picked up a wrench with which he attempted to strike Constable Robinson, the officers stated. He then used the wrench to break the jar of moonshine which was on the seat beside him.

While Corporal Caniff handcuffed Hart, Constable Robinson used a piece of the broken jar to catch the drip of the liquor as it ran from under the car. Hart was taken to the Hill farmhouse, and on his promise to remain quiet the handcuffs were removed.

While the officers were busily engaged in searching the Hill house for concealed moonshine, Hart ran away into the bush, they said. Hart did not deny that he ran away, but declared what he did was "for safety's sake, since I was afraid they would treat me rough again."

Shop Closed Up.

The next day the officers visited Hart's butcher shop in Havelock but found it closed up. A week later they learned that Hart had sold out and had gone away to places unknown. However, last week Constable Robinson arrested him near Lake St. Peter in North Hastings. "He was walking through a swamp carrying a shotgun and a scythe when I arrested him," the officer said.

Hart testified that he had visited the Hill home in order to purchase a cow. He explained the lateness of the call by stating that he had taken the wrong road, had engine trouble and a flat tire. "Did you get the cow?" the Magistrate asked. Hart answered, "No."

Telling of the alleged assault upon him by the officers, Hart stated that Robinson had dragged him out of the car upon the roadway and then struck him with the flashlight.

He declared that he had business in the north and that was why he had gone away, but he admitted he had not delayed long enough to say good-bye to his family.

The officers denied striking Hart and Constable Robinson produced his flashlight to prove that it could not be used as a weapon to strike such a blow as that Hart said he had received.

On the conclusion of the evidence, Magistrate Langley said that he disbelieved Hart's story and found him guilty.

J. A. O'Brien defended Hart and J. R. Corkery prosecuted. Mr. O'Brien told the court that he was not advising his client to lay any charge against the officers.

U. S. CAMPAIGN TAKES NEW HUE

Socialist Candidate Calls for Inflation—Colored Group Issues Warning.

STIMSON EXPLAINS.

NEW YORK, September 28 (C.P.). — The vari-colored picture that is the United States election campaign had taken on a couple more hues to-day with Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, calling for inflation, and the Association for the Advancement of Colored People issuing a warning note to the administration forces.

Fiery Mr. Thomas told a Racine, Wis., audience the Federal Government should create a controlled inflation that would bring back the price levels of 1927. There could be no relief from unemployment without the achievement of Socialism. But pending the coming of "a new order," Thomas advocated a bond issue for the building of roads and bridges, abolishment of big city clume, reforestation on a national scale.

Liberian Question.

The Colored People's Association through its secretary advised Secretary Henry L. Stimson that if his Department of State persisted in its attitude on the Liberian question, its position would be attributed to hostility of the Hoover administration to the negro race. The League of Nations might discontinue its efforts to regenerate the negro republic if Mr. Stimson persisted in his program seeking conferment of absolute power upon a chief foreign adviser for Liberia.

Secretary Stimson hastened to reply by telegraph. He said the experience of previous advisers had been that without adequate authority their presence in Liberia accomplished nothing. The U.S. Government merely sought a promise of sufficient authority for an official named to supervise Liberian administration.

B.Y.P.U. SERVICE IS ATTENDED BY 125

Interprovincial Secretary Addresses Rally of Baptist Young People.

About one hundred and twenty-five enthusiastic young people met in Park Street Baptist Church on Monday evening to listen to an inspirational address delivered by Fred Reynolds, inter-provincial secretary of the B. Y. P. U. work in Ontario and Quebec. The Murray Street and Gilmour Memorial Unions were well represented. Mr. Gordon Young, presidentof the Park St. Union, presided. Song service was conducted by Mr. Newton Hamilton. Scripture was read by Miss Margaret Mann. Prayer was offered by Mr. Cecil Lapp and the following contributed solos during the evening: Misses Helen Ludbrook, Marion Ralston, Marion Pilling and Mr. Maurice Dunkley, Sr.

Mr. Reynolds, in his usual happy and inspiring way spoke on "The Efficient Young Peoples' Union." In the course of his remarks the speaker referred to lines of progress which have been followed in business and emphasized that B.Y.P.U. work should be marked by the same sort of progressiveness. A young person does not grow up into the Christian life. His progress must be along five definite steps. Surrender of life to Christ as personal savior. Confession of Christ in Immersion. Joining the churchof Christ. Definitely uniting with some phase of church work. Consecrating of the life wholeheartedly to God and the service of the Master. Again there are five departments of the church's ministry which contribute to the christian's growth, preaching, teaching, prayer, mission endeavor, training in the B. Y. P. U.

Mr. Reynold's message was deeply appreciated by all present. Refreshments were served after the service by the young people of Park St. Church.

Resign in Joint Letter

It was further announced that Lord Stanmore, the Liberal Whip in the House of Lords, had signified his agreement with the terms of the Liberal letter of resignation.

The resigning Ministers argue the Ottawa agreements are open to more grave objections than was the general tariff policy instituted with the abolition of Great Britain's traditional Free Trade policy last Winter

The Reasons

Following are the reasons given by the Ministers who resigned, and thus turned the British Government from an all-party coalition into a cabinet pledged to tariff measures:—

(1).—That a system of bargaining between the Dominions is most prejudicial to the continued harmony and unity of the Empire;

(2).—That the conference purported to make agreements binding upon Parliament for five years so that during that period certain tariffs cannot be reduced, even if it were found desirable to do so;

(3).—They consider it unconstitutional for the present British Parliament to be asked to stereotype for five years any particular duties on foreign imports, despite what the next general election may do, or what mandate it may give.

Peril No Longer Exists.

Furthermore, the resigning Ministers hold that when the National Government was formed, the country was faced with imminent peril (August, 1931) and this no longer exists.

In Liberal circles this afternoon it was intimated that as long ago as September 10 the Prime Minister was informed the Liberal Free Traders intended to resign, and therefore there was no question of their hands having been forced by the "National Liberals"—that faction which follows Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, and which will continue to co-operate with the Government.

The resigning Ministers have no intention of crossing the floor of the House, it was learned. Their purpose is to continue to give general support to the Government, where tariffs are not concerned.

Koenig, ss	Crosetti, ss
Bush, p	Ruffing, p

Umpires: Dinneen and Van Grafflan (American); Klem and Magerkurth (National).

First Inning

..Cubs—The rival managers had an extended conference with the umpires at the plate. Herman up. Manager Grimm and Coach Art Fletcher of the Yankees came out for another conflab with the chief umpire. Herman singled over second base. English hit to right and Herman scored when the ball escaped Ruth and rolled to the fence. English reached third on the Babe's error. It was a single for the batter. Cuyler fanned, swinging, at a fast ball. English scored on Stephenson's single over Ruffing's head. Moore struck out, swinging at a fast one on the outside. Grimm struck out, swinging at a fast one. Two runs, three hits, one error, one left.

Yankees—Combs fanned, taking a third called strike. Sewell fouled out to Grimm. Ruth hit sharply to Grimm, who made a nice pick-up near the bag for an unassisted put-out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING.

Cubs— Harnett fanned, swinging lustily at a low speed ball. Koenig was out, on a bounder to Ruffing, who made a quick play to first. Bush grounded out to Gehrig unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees.—Gehrig bounced out, Herman to Grimm. Lazzeri was thrown out, Bush to Grimm on a weak roller. Dickey hoisted to Cuyler.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING

Cubs.—Herman tapped to Ruffing and was thrown out at first. English grounded to Sewell and was out at first. Cuyler drove a hard single over Crosetti's head. Stephenson flied out to Combs in short centre.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Yankees—Chapman flied out to Stephenson. Crosetti fanned, missing a high curve by a foot. Ruffing hoisted to Stephenson.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING

Cubs—Moore lifted a high fly to Sewell. Grimm fanned for the second straight time, swinging at a curve. Hartnett smashed a long double against the left field boxes.

Koenig was purposely passed on four wide pitches. Bush walked, the fourth pitch being outside and the bases were full. Herman flied to Chapman who made a nice running catch near the foul line.

No runs, one hit, no errors, three

Yankees—Combs walked, being the first Yankee to reach first base. Combs got to second base on Sewell's bounder to Grimm, who juggled the ball but made a put out at first. Combs scored on Ruth's hard single to right. The hit went through Grimm's legs like a rifle shot. Gehrig smashed a home run into the right field bleachers, scoring Ruth and putting the Yankees in the lead. Lazzeri rolled to English and was out at first. Dickey was thrown out, Bush to Grimm.

Three runs, two hits, no errors, none left.

FIFTH INNING.

Cubs — English fanned. Cuyler struck out, swinging. It was Ruffing's seventh strikeout. Stephen-on flied out to Combs. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees.—Chapman reached first on an error by English, who juggled the ball and then threw high to first. Crosetti bunted and Hartnett threw wide to second, on the attempted sacrifice, both runners being safe. It was a sacrifice for Crosetti and no error was charged to Hartnett. Chapman was forced at third, Hartnett to English, on Ruffings short bunt. Ruffing reached first. Combs hit into a double play, Herman to Grimm.

SIXTH INNING

Cubs.—Moore flied to Sewell, who took the ball near the pitcher's box. Grimm walked on a fourth wide pitch. Hartnett fanned swinging at a fast ball inside. Koenig ground out, Lazzeri to Gehrig.

No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees. — Sewell walked, the fourth ball being high. Ruth walked, the fourth ball being inside. Gehrig walked on a low pitch and the bases were full.

The Cubs held a council of war and decided to let Bush stick to his guns. Lazzeri flied out to Koenig. Sewell and Ruth scored on a line single by Dickey to centre-field. Gehrig reached third.

Gehrig scored on Chapman's roller to Herman who threw wide to the plate. It was a fielder's choice. Dickey reached second base. Crosetti walked, filling the bases again.

Bush was taken out, Burleigh Grimes, the old spitballed, was called to the box. The veteran who was a hero of the 1931 series was a surprise choice for the relief work. Ruffing grounded to Koenig and Dickey was forced at the plate, Koenig to Hartnett. Chapman and Crosetti scored on Combs' sharp single to centre, Ruffing advancing to third. Grimm took Sewell's grounded and Combs was forced out at second, Grimm to Koenig.

Five runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

SEVENTH INNING

Cubs.—Grimes struck out swinging at a fast one. Herman singled over Lazzeri's head. Combs made a fine running catch of English's line drive deep in Ruth's territory. Crosetti missed Cuyler's sharp drive and it was a two base error, Herman reaching third and Cuyler racing to second.

Herman and Cuyler scored on Stephenson's hard drive to left for a single. Moore walked, the fourth ball being wide. Grimm grounded out, Ruffing to Gehrig.

Yankees. — Ruth walked, the fourth ball being low. Gehrig drove a single to left field on the hit-and-run play, Ruth reaching third. Gehrig was on second, having advanced on the throw to third. Lazzeri reached first safely and Ruth scored when Herman handled Tony's bounder slowly, it going for a hit, and Gehrig reached third. Dickey was hit in the leg by a pitched ball and painfully hurt. He limped to first, filling the bases. Chapman hoisted to Moore and Gehrig scored after the catch. Crosetti rolled to Koenig and Dickey was forced ta second, Koenig to Herman. Lazzeri scored at third. Lazzeri scored on a wild pitch, Crosetti tried to reach third but was called out on Hartnett's throw to English. English dropped the ball, but the umpire decided he had tagged the runner before doing so.

Three runs, two hits, no errors, none left.

EIGHTH INNING

Cubs.—Hartnett lashed a double to left. Koenig drove a long triple to right centre, scoring Hartnett. Gudat fanned on a third called strike. Koenig scored on Herman's roller to Gehrig, who tossed to Ruffing for a close put-out at first. English walked on four pitched balls. Cuyler popped to Lazzeri, who took the ball near the right field line.

Two runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees.—Bob Smith went to the box for the Cubs. Ruffing fanned, swinging. Combs dropped a Texas leaguer into short centre field for a two base hit. Moore lost the ball in the sun. Combs scored on Sewell's single through short. Ruth popped to Koenig. Gehrig lined to Cuyler who took the ball high on the right field bank.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

NINTH INNING

Cubs.—Stevenson singles to right for his third hit. Moore fouls to Dickey, who put the ball near the Yankee dug-out. Grimm walks on the fourth wide pitch, moving Stephenson to second. Hartnett hoisted to Root in deep right. Koenig grounded out, Lezzeri to Gehrig.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

LEGION FAVORS SIX HOURS WORK FIVE-DAY WEEK

Resolution Urging Government Control of Arms Manufacture Fails.

PRICE, GUEST SPEAKER.

Appointment of Unemployment Committee Left to Provincial Executive.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Sept. 28.—(CP)—The Ontario command of the Canadiain Legion in convention here today prepared to forward to the Dominion command and to the Dominion government a resolution favoring adoption of a five-day week and a six-hour working day.

The convention failed to pass a resolution urging government control of the manufacture of arms, ammunition and the implements of war.

A resolution was passed expressing appreciation of the attitude of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, in permitting unemployed war veterans and their families free entry to the exhibition.

Publicity Discussed

Legion publicity was a subject of considerable discussion and the convention decided finally to issue a warning against ill-advised publicity which might bring the organization into disrepute.

Passage of this resolution was secured over the protest of Capt. S. A. Wallace, Windsor, who thought independence of branches should not be subject to too much interference.

Delegates will be taken for an automobile drive through the district today and in the evening will be entertained at a civic banquet. Attorney-general W. H. Price of Ontario, and Major D. S. Roper, president of the Dominion command of the Legion will be principal speakers.

WAGES PARLEY OPENS FRIDAY

Four Large British Railway Groups Claim Labor Costs Too High.

UNIONS OPPOSE CUTS.

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION, CP Staff Writer.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—(CP Cable).—Negotiations between the railway companies and their workers concerning wage rates will open on Friday. The four big railway groups are expected to submit claims for "substantial relief" in respect of labor costs. On their behalf it will be submitted that in spite of rigid economy and of wide reorganization, there has been a drop in traffic receipts since the beginning of the year of nearly £10,000,000. To this has to be added very heavy losses in the previous 12 months. Under the terms of the last agreement the companies were entitled to raise the wages issue six months ago, and they raise it now "only in the last resort."

Strenuous opposition will be offered by the unions to wage cuts. Many railwaymen have lost their employment altogether through the reduction of staffs. Some, indeed, never returned to work after the general strike in 1926. The strike incidentally cost the National Union of Railwaymen £1,000,000.

Up to Wages Board.

If the representatives of the companies and the unions fails to agree the matter will be referred to the Central Wages Board of the industry. A further failure to reach agreement will involve the submission of the dispute to the National Wages Board, a tribunal that includes, in addition to representatives of the companies and the unions, representatives of several independent bodies of various schools of political and economic thought. This body hears evidence and arguments in the manner of a court of law and finally issues an award. Only in the event of that award being rejected by one of the parties is a railway stoppage possible.

A substantial part of the recent saving in expenses was brought about by the reduction in wages and salaries carried through in the spring of 1931, following the latest award of the National Wages Board, by which the salaries and wages below 40s. weekly (a small proportion of the total) were reduced by 2½ per cent., and those above the figure by five per cent. The award took effect from the beginning of April.

THRESHER'S BACK BROKEN.

LONDON, Ont. — David Mitchell, McGillivray Township thrasher, died in hospital here to-day from a broken back suffered last Wednesday when he was struck by a flying cable on a farm near Parkhill.

Mitchell was helping move a thresher into a barn on David Brasill's farm when the cable slipped and tossed him in the air.

MACDONALD FIGHTING TO RETAIN CABINET'S NATIONAL CHARACTER

Vital Session Looms Wednesday With No Alternative to Free Traders Resigning.

LIBERAL RUMBLINGS.

(By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Sept. 28—(C.P. Cable.)—Events are moving swiftly at No. 1 Downing street. In the unpretentious quiet little street, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald is working hard to retain the National character of his government.

But when to-morrow's vital Cabinet meeting is held there seems to be little likelihood of any formula being devised — such as an agreement to differ; the formula arrived at last February when it was decided the Cabinet did not have to be unanimous—wide enough to cover the Liberal free trade objections to the agreements entered into at Ottawa.

What the free traders want is either (1) modification of the Ottawa agreements or (2) suspension until after the world economic conference of such of the Ottawa provisions as are asserted by free traders to limit the freedom of British negotiations with foreign countries.

No Alternative.

But as the acceptance of the free trade conditions would bring the government into conflict with the overwhelming Conservative majority in the commons there is at present no apparent alternative to the threatened resignations of the protagonists of free trade.

The Free Trade Ministers in the Cabinet involved in the controversy are the National Labor Lord Privy Seal, Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden; the Liberal Ministers, Rt. Hon. Sir Herbert Samuel, Home Secertary; and Rt. Hon. Sir Archibald Sinclair, Secretary for Scotland. The Ministers involved in the remainder of the Ministry are the Marquess of Lothian, Sir Robert Hamilton, Isaac Foot, Graham White, Walter Rea, Comptroller of the Household, and Major McKenzie Wood and Harcurt Johnston, Assistant Whips.

There are uneasy rumblings, too, among the Liberals who follow Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary. A meeting held in the privacy of the home of one of their junior ministers has given rise to the rumors that some of them contemplate following the Free Traders in an endeavor to form a united Liberal opposition. Such a move would almost inevitably mean re-making the whole government.

Another interpretation placed on the Simonite meeting, however, is that they are rather worried over the complexion of the Government after the Free Traders resign and are, therefore, pressing for the retention of its national character.

Simon On Way Home

Sir John Simon is flying from Geneva towards London to-day to attend the important Cabinet meeting and it is understood he and Sir Walter Runciman are to meet their followers at dinner after the meeting.

Nervous, Dizzy Spells

Toronto, Ont. — "After childbirth I was in a weakened, rundown state, my whole system seemed to be upset, my stomach troubled me, I was very nervous and did not rest well at all. I also had headaches and dizzy spells," said Mrs. S. Williams of 47 St. Nicholas St. "I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and felt better from the very first. I took about three bottles in all and it built me up wonderfully. It made me stronger, rid me of the stomach complaint, and I felt like a new person." Sold by druggists.

Mines Stay Closed Until Settlement

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 27.—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America said to-day no further attempts to re-open the mines near here would be made "until the situation changes" in this section, where rival factions of coal diggers recently clashed.

Twenty-five members of the United Mine Workers of America, including organizers and officials, were at liberty to-day on bonds of $1,000 each, pending grand jury action on charges of inciting riots. They were arrested Sunday night following the street riot in which a policeman was killed, two miners seriously injured, and a score more cut and bruised.

Venizelos Assured Majority In Greece

ATHENS, Sept. 28 (A.P.)—Premier Eleutherios Venizelos was assured to-day of 100 seats in the Greek Parliament against 90 for the Monarchists, as returns from Sunday's election became more nearly complete.

He also will have a large majority in the Senate and indicated he would ask the President of the Republic to invite the Monarchist party to recognize the Republic.

If the Monarchists accept, he said, it would make possible the formation of an allied government, but if they refused he would make an effort to modify the constitution to amplify the President's authority to take care of any dangerous situation that might arise.

CHURCHILL SUFFERS PARATYPHOID RELAPSE

LONDON, Sept. 27, (AP)—Winston Churchill, recently reported convalescing from an illness contracted during a trip aboard, had a relapse to-day and was taken from his home to a hospital.

The former Chancellor of the Exchequer will not be able to undertake any public activity for some weeks.

Mr. Churchill fell ill of paratyphoid while he was in Australia and went to a hospital in Salzburg for a few days. His doctor said to-day that the attack had not cleared up and that the patient had left the Salzburg hospital too soon.

SINGING EVANGELISTS TO BE AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 28 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Special meetings are being held all this week at the Campbellford Free Methodist Church and at which the Rev. and Mrs. Ball and the Rev. R. Burnham are assisting the local pastors, Mrs. Louise Findlay and Mrs. Edith Snyder. On Sunday a special feature will be added to the program with the assistance of the singing evangelists, Rev. and Mrs. Philo Chase of Seattle, Washington, U.S.A. These two outstanding evangelists will remain with the congregation for several weeks.

BATTLE TO 1-ALL DRAW.

LONDON, Sept. 27 (C.P. Cable).—Accrington Stanley and Southport played a one-all draw in a scheduled match of the English League, Third Division, Northern Section, to-day.

WARSAW SCHOOL FAIR SUCCESS

PRIZE WINNERS.

WARSAW, Sept. 28. (Examiner Correspondence).—The attendance at the School Fair on Monday on Warsaw School grounds was not so large as usual. Six schools took part in the exhibits. Cottesloe, S.S. No. 1, teacher Miss Florence Burgess; Warsaw, S.S. No. III, teachers Mr. E. Sloan, Miss Vance, and Miss Lila Burgess; Union S.S. No. XII, teacher Mr. Higgins; S.S. No. IV; Fourth line, teacher Miss Wilson; S.S. No. V, Pleasant Plains, teacher Miss Hooey; and S.S. No. V, Douro, teacher Miss McManus. The first three were in the parade and were judged for the school singing, not for the parade. Warsaw came first.

The sports were run off in the morning. They were:

Boys' race, 5, 6, 7 years—F. Payne, Walter Tedford, N. Robinson, Earl Clements, Donald McQuaig.

Boys, 11, 12, 13 years — Percy Miles, Percy Cooper, A. Webster, B. Kelly.

Girls' race, 11, 12, 13 years—Monda McQuaig, Edna Payne, Iris Darling, Thelma Tedford, Zelda Tedford, Florence Bolton.

Boys' open race — Ivan Payne, Roger Bowen, E. Bell, A. Webster, Harold Clifford.

Girls' open race—Freena Robinson, Merle Bell, Monda McQuaig, Pearl Tedford, Enid Darling.

Wheelbarrow race — Percy Miles and B. Payne, Percy Cooper and Donald Sharpe, Harold Clifford and R. Payne, Alvin Watts and D. Bell, Roger Bowen and Ivan Payne.

Boot race, girls—M. Bell, E. Payne, E. Darling, Jean Watts, A. Tedford, Thelma Tedford.

Trustee race—Alec Darling, Norman Payne.

High jump, 12 years and under—Percy Miles, Percy Cooper, Harold Clifford, Don Bell, R. Tedford and J. Heely.

High jump, 13 years and over—E. Bell 4 feet 8 inches, Ivan Payne, Roger Bowen, Kenneth Jakins.

Tachers' high jump—Mr. Sloan, Mr. Higins.

The exhibits in the tent were generally considered the best. Those who have attended these fairs since the first notice a very great improvement. The custards, candies and biscuits looked nice. Two new items were noted, one illustrations of the supplementary reading, and the other agriculture notes. The notes were very neat and illustrations were pasted opposite. Dorcas Lloyd had illustrations of scenes in "The Lady of the Lake" hand done, others were selected pictures pasted in folios. A ladder and a milk stool as well in the boys' manual training were especially good. Considering the recent frosts the exhibit of flowers was wonderful. This year flowers, vegetables and grains were grown from seeds provided by parents. Formerly the department provided seeds.

The hall, as usual, was overflowing for the concert. Program: The Maple Tree, without accompaniment, Warsaw School; recitation, Merle Payne, "Because"; reading, Stanley Giles, "The Old Car"; Lenore McIlvena, song, "You Gave My Granny to Me"; dialogue, Bertha at School (a ridiculous take off by S.S. No. 12); song, Arnold Webster, "Whistle Your Troubles Away" and "I'm a Truthful Fellow"; Negro melodies, Fourth Line School; Warsaw school orchestra; Violet Darling, reading, "The Turnover"; Sailor's Hornpipe, Thelma Tedford; club singing, four Warsaw girls; Dr. Munro announced James Hawthorne won as Liberal candidate, and spoke of health of the district but warned about epidemics and urged use of toxoid against diphtheria and asked the parents to let him know and he could do the innoculating of school children and others from the homes; E. N. McDonald spoke of the opportunities ahead; dialogue, "Doctor's Discovery"; piano duet, Sylvia Clysdale, Margaret McDonald; recitation, Marcella Heely; dialogue, "Buying Eggs"; Lenore McIlvena, solo; boys drill; dialogue, "Found Out"; chorus, "How do you do?"; vote of appreciation to teachers; dialogue, "Little Pitchers"; orchestra selection; God Save the King.

PECKINPAUGH SIGNS CONTRACT.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 27 (C.P.).—Roger Peckinpaugh to-day was reappointed manager of the Cleveland Indians, it was announced in a telegram received from Alva Bradley president of the club, who is in New York for the World Series.

Romany Princess Is Kidnap Victim

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 28. (CP)—The Gypsy world was stirred to-day over the kidnapping of a 16-year-old Romany princess, Alice Marks, apparently an outbreak of ill-feeling between two tribes.

The girl, daughter of King Joseph Marks of the Brazilian Gypsies, was stolen last night, her mother said, by four members of the Serbian-Italian tribe who make their headquarters in New York City.

Havelock Ladies Honor Bride-To-Be

HAVELOCK, Sept. 28.—(Examiner Corespondence.)—Mrs. J. Armstrong was a charming hostess on Friday afternoon when she entertained twenty ladies at afternoon tea, in honor of Miss Brewster a bride of next month.

The house was beautifully decorated with garden flowers and foliage and the hostess was assisted by her daughter Miss Madeleine Armstrong. The first part of the afternoon was spent in two jolly contests, "The forest primeval" and "vegetable love story." The first contest was won by Mrs. Geo. Chiles who received a beautiful waxed flowers centrepiece. The second contest was won by Mrs. E. Cross, who received a beautiful china cup and saucer.

Afterwards tea was served in the dining room, Mrs. J. Moore presiding at the tea urn, and Mrs. Stanley Barlow and Miss Armstrong serving. The second table was presided over by Mrs. A. Anderson, assisted by Miss Curtis.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a beautiful green and rose satin covered down comforter, and an address expressing the good wishes of the friends assembled there. The address was read by Mrs. Ed. Williams and the presentation made by the hostess.

Miss Brewster gracefully acknowledged the kind wishes and the lovely gift and thanked Mrs. Armstrong for the very pleasant surprise arranged in her honor.

PAIR ARE REMANDED.

SIMCOE, Ont. — Clarence Adkins and William Sweet, arrested at Delhi following the death of Arthur Keough in an auto crash near that place on Sunday morning, were remanded to-day on vagrancy charges until October 4. Inquest into the death of Keough will take place at Courtland on October 5.

Western Village Can Get Better Prices For Its Bonds Than Dominion Of Canada

SASKATOON, Sept. 28, (CP)— The financial concern was not at all anxious and refused to sell back the debenture except at premium. This premium brought the interest return to slightly less than that paid on the Dominion of Canada bonds. Or in other words the village can make money by buying Dominion bonds, handing over part of the interest to satisfy its bondholders and using the balance to develop the village.

ANNUALHARVEST SERVICES HELD IN CAVAN PARISH

Professor Trompour is Special Preacher at Several of Cavan Parish Services.

RALLY DAY SERVICES

MILLBROOK, Sept. 28 (Examiner Correspondence). — Professor H. R. Trompour, of the Anglican Theological College, Vancouver, B.C., and formerly rector of All Saints' Church, Peterborough, was the special preacher for the annual Harvest Thanksgiving services in the parish of Cavan, on Sunday.

Fruits of the harvest from field, garden, and orchard appropriately decorated the churches, the choirs having prepared special music, the soloist at Evensong being Mrs. Rawdon of Toronto, whose rendition of "The Songs of Thanks" fittingly followed the sermon. Miss Mamie Collins presided at the organ, and the processional hymn was Dean Alford's "Come Ye Thankful People, Come," members of Christ Church choir, Bailieboro, augmenting the local choir for the occasion. The offerings of the Harvest Thanksgiving throughout the parish were devoted to the missionary funds of the churches.

Rev. Professor Trumpour devoted his evening discourse to an inspiring setting for the necessity for a thankful spirit toward God, and its outcome on the whole nature of man. "A shallow nature lacks the ability to praise God, and is bound up in selfishness, while a deeper nature and a broader outlook marks the man who is strengthened by his giving thanks to the all-loving Father for all His mercies."

"Good things all come by travail and trouble, and are necessary to develop character and strength, hence the man of broad vision will return thanks even in stormy times. The course of life is determined by the manner in which we respond to our impulses of generosity, love, faith, and good of a thousand kinds, whether it be by a steady tug, or by the still, small voice. God hath richly endowed the common life of to-day, and these harvest thanksgiving services are to teach, to train, to guide, and to entice us, by receiving Christ, to return thanks to God, for the measure of our gratitude to Him is the measure of His gifts to us."

Rev. J. W. Stubbs, rector of Elmvale, and formerly assistant to the late Canon W. Cartwright Allen, will preach in St. Thomas' Church, and conduct the services of the parish on Sunday, October 2, exchanging with Rev. Mr. Simpson, who will be on the Elmvale charge for the day.

Grace Sunday School

The annual Rally Day services were observed in Grace Presbyterian Sunday School, and also the school of St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday, the former inviting the Sunday school of the Centreville Presbyterian Church to worship with them for the special occasion.

The school room of Grace Church was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and branches, chrysanthemums, gladioli, and hydrangeas, the teachers being appointed a committee for this purpose, and expending considerable time and trouble in achieving the attractive result.

The superintendent, J. H. McKnight, was in charge, and the official program issued by the educational board of the Presbyterian Church in Canada was used, the theme of "Reverence" receiving fitting emphasis in the hymns, responsive readings, and prayers, and also in the inspiring address delivered by the minister, Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A. Reverence for God's name, God's house, God's word, and God's day were the four segments of the circle along which the topic was developed with appropriate illustrations and with striking forcefulness.

St. Andrew's Sunday School

"Following Jesus To-day," was the theme of the special Rally Day program in St. Andrew's Sunday School which met in conjunction with the regular morning congregation at 10.30 a.m.; the pastor, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., and the superintendent, W. Fred Fallis, taking seats on the platform.

Mr. Fallis led in the responsive readings and prayers, the regular church choir singing an anthem and leading in the special hymns. Miss Francis Jones told the story, "Following Jesus in God's House," and Miss Jean Burnham, "The Two Searchers." The pastor gave an illustrated address on the topic for the day, delivering an individual message from God's Word to each teacher, and receiving an impressive response to his appeal for re-consecration to service through the medium of the Sunday School for the ensuing year.

The report for the quarter showed attendance 2,180, average 163; verses recited 842, average 70; offering, $70.26, average $5.41; for the day exclusive of non-members of the school ,the attendance was 246, including 21 teachers and officers; offering, devoted to the M. and M. Fund of the church, $9.38.

Divorce Legalized Argentine Republic

BUENOS AIRES, Argentine, Sept. 28.—(C.P. Cable.)—Divorce has been legalized in this South American Republic. Following a heated three-day debate the Chamber of Deputies approved the measure but it is expected the Senate will sidetrack the bill.

The lengthy Chamber debate was marked by boisterous arguments and nearly ended in disorder as opponents of the measure attempted to block a vote.

With fashionably dressed women crowding the galleries the Socialists, sponsors of the measure, finally got the bill to a vote and it carried on first reading, 92 to 26.

FASHION SERVICE

Be ready for the fall season with chic.

Choose to-day's model and carry it out as the original in wine-red crepe silk. For the upper part, use a novelty silk mixture in the wine-red tones.

Another delightful idea is rhum-brown wool crepe with the neck bow and deep cuffs of matching dull finished velvet.

It would be charming too made with short puffed sleeves in brown crepe satin with the reverse used for trim.

Style No. 3134 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Size 36 requires 1¾ yards 39-inch plain material with 1½ yards 39-inch printed material, and ¼ yard 39-inch for bow.

Price of pattern 15 cents.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

CHILDREN WHO ARE IN SCHOOL in the grades which require homework, should be allotted some room or place to do it in, where concentration is easiest.

• • • • • • •

A business man or woman has an office where he does his planning, and which is equipped with the necessities for work. A carpenter or a painter has his shop. An artist has a studio, and a dressmaker has her own workroom, whether it is her own shop or merely some room in a house.

• • • • • • •

She cannot work so efficiently if she must do her job surrounded by others doing different tasks. So it is with a child who studies at home.

• • • • • • •

He or she must have some room apart to study in, or work at a great disadvantage.

• • • • • • •

The growing mind is often taxed to understand subject matter even when working conditions are at their best. To expect a child to comprehend and become imbued with information which is hard to understand under the best of circumstances, when he has to listen to conversation, a radio, or other distracting sounds, is expecting more of him than of his elders.

• • • • • • •

When a child fails to pass or fails below an average standard, it is well for parents to consider his home study conditions and discover whether these may not be at the root of the matter.

• • • • • • •

Unless these conditions are favorable, they certainly hamper his getting along, even though they may not be totally at fault. A child's mind is often sluggish during some of his school years, and it is prone to wander, to trail along on matters which are to him of more importance than what is in a book.

• • • • • • •

The modern cramped home quarters are often such as to make it difficult for a child to have the seclusion desired for studying. A mother can so plan times and supply a room free from interruptions during such times as will permit the child to study under good conditions, although they may not be ideal.

• • • • • • •

Do not expect more of the child than he can do, however. Study is hard work for the average child, and it will but discourage him if his parents belittle it.

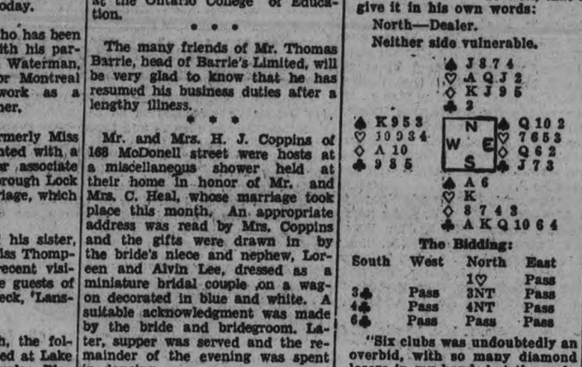
A PRETTY TRIPLE SQUEEZE

"Squeeze plays," as Mr. W. Abbott Gorham observed in a recent letter, "are very common, but a triple squeeze, in which both opponents are trapped, is a rare delight."

Mr. Gorham then goes on to recount the story of the following deal, in which he sat South. He tells the story so well, that I give it in his own words:

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
		1♡	Pass
3♣	Pass	3NT	Pass
4♣	Pass	4NT	Pass
6♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

"Six clubs was undoubtedly an overbid, with so many diamond losers in my hand, but the making of five clubs seemed a certainty, and with my honors to offset any loss, I decided to attempt the Slam.

"A spade lead by West would have defeated the contract, but appeared undesirable, so he chose the Ace of diamonds. When he followed with the Ten, I paused (as I have learned to do from your teachings and from bitter experience) to study the hands and decide what plan, if any, would be likely to garner the remaining tricks. Eleven tricks were sure, and three lines of play at first suggested themselves to me as a means of capturing the twelfth:

1—The diamond finesse;
2—Establishing a diamond in the Dummy by discarding and ruffing in the closed hand;
3—The squeeze.

"The first plan seemed foredoomed to failure; the second would leave me without an entry in the Dummy with which to cash the diamond, and the length of the trump suit seemed to point to the squeeze play as the logical plan of attack; so I decided to adopt that method.

"By this time West and East were 'howling for blood,' so I took the second trick in the Dummy with the diamond King and immediately led clubs. On the first five leads I discarded a diamond and three spades from the Dummy. West discarded two spades and East two hearts. I now led my last trump, knowing that if the adverse hearts had been equally divided and West's other two cards were a spade honor and one other in that suit, he would now be squeezed. I hoped he would discard a heart, which would make things easy for me. But that wily player, noting my discard of spades in the Dummy, seemed to sense the situation and made what I consider the best play of the hand in throwing the nine of spades, baring his King. He evidently hoped his partner held a guarded high spade or that I would attempt a spade finesse. I was forced to discard a small heart in the Dummy, and, of course, East did likewise.

"I now led the King of hearts and overtook it with the Ace in the Dummy, following with the Queen. At Trick 11, the following situation resulted:

"With the lead of the heart Knave, it became East's turn to be squeezed. His discard of a spade enabled me to cash both cards of that suit in my hand on the last 2 tricks.

"An interesting feature of the hand is that, had West elected to protect his spade King by discarding hearts, East might have daringly discarded his three spades and held hearts, but this would have been nullified by the lead of the Ace of spades from the closed hand, following the exhaustion of trumps, which would have squeezed the necessary trick from East."

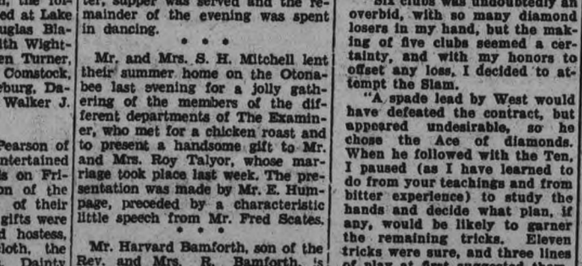
TODAY'S POINTER

The making of the plan of play must not be deferred until late in the hand. An essential part of accurate play is an accurate plan made immediately after the Opening lead and the exposure of the Dummy on the table.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

East—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

REV. R. W. PATON, M.A., DELIVERS FAREWELL SERMON ON SUNDAY

Former Roseneath Minister to Enter Emmanuel College, Toronto.

POPULAR PASTOR.

ROSENEATH, Sept. 28.—(Examiner Corespondence.)— Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A., of Roseneath United church, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday afternoon and also administered communion to his congregation. Rev. Mr. Paton will enter Emmanual College about the first of October to add to his education in taking his B.D. course, and will be away until the last of March.

In the meantime Mr. George Empey of Napanee, will be in charge of the circuit, including Roseneath, Fenella, Centenery and Alderville.

Rev. Mr. Paton came to this village from Arden, three years ago and since then he has had a varied experience in his work and life. Rev. Mr. Paton is an enthusiastic worker and with such ability and good judgment he quickly won a foremost place for himself both in the church and the entire community.

In respect of churchmanship, Rev. Mr. Paton is regarded as a strong, sound and reliable church man, without fads or extreme views. He is looked upon as broad-minded, with an open heart towards every form of human activity for the good of mankind, and a sympathetic interest in every movement for the advancement of Christianity. He is a theologian of exceptional ability, his theology being described as firmly built up on the great evangelical truths of the Gospel and the sacramental teaching of the church. He is a deep and independent thinker, who has shown his willingness, clear vision and profound faith with each of his four congregations. In the pulpit he is heartily welcomed wherever he goes, and his preaching has the merit that it seldom fails to include valuable teaching, as well as exhortation and appeal.

It is hoped for, that he may be blessed with good health to enable him to succeed in this special work he is about to enter.

During the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper Rev. Thomas McNaught of Balderson, assisted with the elders to ninety communicants, among which were three who joined by profession of faith at the service, namely, Mrs. M. Radley, Mrs. E. Thackeray and Miss Marjorie Tucker.

In addressing his large congregation Rev. Mr. Paton took these words, "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus," Philippians, 2-5, he, in simple words told the Lord's Supper Sacrament, is a memorial feast, its great purpose is to perpetuate the memory of our Lord Jesus. The memory of a great man, is, solemn and sacred thing. If we would pay tribute to the life and death of Jesus, in a spiritual way, we must know something of the ideals and rinciples by which His life was motivated. The more we meditate upon the sufferings and death of our Lord, the more we realize that awful drama of suffering could only be necessitated by some great eternal purpose, in the mind and will of God.

In closing his sermon explained how Christ prayed for forgiveness for His enemies. Furthermore He was humble. He accepted the cross, despising the shame. Therefore as we come to our Lord's table, let us come in the spirit of humility, recognizing that we are sinners in need of Christ.

May God show forth in us His power to make us more Christ-like. This lesson will long be remembered by the congregation on this event.

Weddings

LEBARR—GRADY.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at eight o'clock this morning at the Sacred Heart Church, when Marie Grady, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grady, Park Street South, became the bride of John (Jack) LeBarr, son of Mrs. L. LeBarr of William Street and the late Mr. Louis LeBarr.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. Moloney.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. J. Armstrong, wore a lovely frock of blue silk crepe, form fitting, with sash of pink velvet ribbon. Her blue ribbon hat was trimmed with pink. She wore blue moire slippers with misty morn hose, white silk gloves and a pearl necklace. Her bouquet was of pink Butterfly roses and fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Genevieve Driscoll, was in flowered chiffon with small black hat, black suede slippers, flesh hose and bouquet of Premier Supreme roses.

Mr. Wilfred LeBarr acted as best man for his brother.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast to about thirty guests, was served at the home of the bride's parents, where decorations were carried out in pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. LeBarr left later for a trip to Cornwall, the bride travelling in a dress of brown crepe, with brown hat and accessories and brown coat trimmed with fur.

On their return, they will live in Toronto.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a cheque, to the bridesmaid a pendant and to the best man a pair of gloves. Many handsome gifts were received by the bride and bridegroom, from a large circle of friends.

Anita Loos had written many screen stories both alone and in collaboration with her husband, John Emerson, when she achieved nation-wide fame through her book, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." When she was sixteen years old she wrote "New York Hat" and sold it as a screen story for fifteen dollars. Lionel Barrymore and Mary Pickford played the leads when it was produced as a picture. Miss Loos is now on the writing staff of M-G-M studios and recently worked on the screen adaptation of "Red-Headed Woman."

DON BRENNAN HURLS SUPERB BALL FOR WIN

While His Mates Pound Four Miller Veterans for 16 Lusty Clouts.

ATTENDANCE SMALL.

Hargreaves Hits Only Homer of Contest—Ryan, American Association Star, is Wild.

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 28.—Don Brennan's four-hit pitching, backed up by hard hitting and remarkable speed on the bases, gave the Newark Bears, champions of the International League, an 11 to 0 triumph over Minneapolis in the opening game of the Little World Series yesterday.

Brennan, ace right-hander of the Bears, who won 25 games during the regular campaign, was in complete control of the situation all the way and pitched far better than was necessary to win. His mates, led by Catcher Charlie Hargreaves, pounded four Miller veterans for 16 hits and stole three bases in their romp into the lead in the classic of the double "A" leagues.

Hargreaves poled his first homer of the season into the right field bleachers in the second inning to give Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Newark team as well as the New York Yankees, his first thrill. He added three singles to his collection before the end, and drove in four runs.

Attendance Small.

Aside from dreary weather that kept down the attendance to about 8,000, the game had all the earmarks of an inter-league series. Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, High Commissioner of the national game, headed the list of baseball dignitaries present.

Brennan was honored before the game, City Commissioner William J. Egan presenting him with an automobile in behalf of the fans.

"Rosy" Bill Ryan, most consistent winner for the American Association pennant winners in his own league, was Manager Donie Bush's choice to start, but he was wild and walked five, had two wild pitches and was nicked for six hits before he was yanked in the fourth inning. Elam Vangilder, another right-hander; Rube Benton, 48-year-old veteran southpaw, and Carmen Hill, a right-hander, followed in that order without stopping the run-manufacturing of the Bears.

Hargreaves Homers.

Johnny Neun tallied the first run in the opening inning, drawing a walk, reaching third on two wild pitches and scoring on Hill's long fly to centre field. Two more runs followed in the second, Hargreaves' homer accounting for one, and Brennan making the other after he had been walked.

The fourth and fifth innings supplied the Bears with five more tallies. Five hits were turned into three runs in the fourth and three safeties, two walks, an error by Smith, and a double steal by Jensen and Saltzgaver added two more in the fifth.

In the seventh, three hits, two more walks and a hit batter forced in two more runs and two hits added the final counter in the eighth.

The Millers' four hits were divided among four innings and only Joe Mowry and Andy Cohen reached as far as second base.

The teams meet in a night game, starting at 8.30 o'clock to-night; meet again here Friday, and then shift scenery to Minneapolis for the final four—or less—battles.

WANTS TO BE EXECUTIONER.

TRENTON, N.J. — William S. Gilbert want to save the State some money. He wrote Governor Moore he would serve as the State's executioner for $300 a year. He estimated the present executioner receives $175 for each execution.

REABORO DEFEATS WEST LORNE 19-9

Teams Meet in Semi-final for Ontario Rural Softball Championship.

On Thursday, September 22, in the semi-finals for the rural softball championship of Ontario, Reaboro defeated West Lorne, at West Lorne, by the score of 19-9.

The game was featured by hard hitting on the part of the Reaboro team, when they piled up a score of 19 runs in the nine innings of play. The West Lorne boys played good ball, and it was only the heavy hitting of the Reaboro players that enabled them to better the 9 runs scored by their opponents.

The return game will be played at Reaboro on Monday, September 26, at 4.30. This is the last and deciding game in the semi-finals. The Reaboro team has been playing excellent ball of late, and bids fair to bring a Provincial championship to this district.

WEATHER OUTLOOK IS BAD FOR WORLD SERIES OPENING

Rain May Cause Postponement Today and Delay Start Until Thursday.

YANKS STILL FAVORITES.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, September 28. — Clouds of an even deeper grey than those forecast by the weather man, dulled baseball's most glamorous picture to-day—the opening game of another World Series.

Barring the wildest sort of a last-minute flood of enthusiasm, the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs faced the entire unexpected threat of a possible financial depression.

Never before in the history of six previous Yankee World Series have Broadway and the far-reaching environs of Manhattan failed to produce whooping enthusiasm, and crowds to throng the American League ball park.

But to-day, with Burley "Ruffs the Red" Ruffing primed to hurl his fireball against the cocky Cubs, with Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the siege guns, perfectly trained on Chicago's lanky Guy Bush, the ball park primed and draped in bunting, even the brasses of the Seventh Regiment Band polished to a brilliance that rivals the noon-day sun when there is one, either the evolution or the revolution of the faithful seemed certain to have taken place.

The prospect was for a crowd of no more than 35,000 to 40,000, depending chiefly on a change from the cold and gloomy, rainy weather of yesterday, and the avidness of the faithful for the 12,000 unreserved grand stand seats valued at $3.30 each, and $22,000 $1.10 bleacher resting places.

Far sterner opposition than these figures warranted lurked in the confident Cub array that steamed into town on a special train yesterday morning, the cheers of Chicago's militant faithful still ringing in their ears.

While the Cubs lacked the distance power and drive of the mighty Yankees there was no denying their championship ability. Backing Bush, Manager Charley Grimm's choice for the opening assignment, were such steady pitching veterans as Charley Root, Pat Malone and Burleigh Grimes, all boasting that invaluable world series asset, experience, with young Lon Warneke brilliant enough over the season's record to battle the Yankees in the second game on youth, speed, and courage alone.

There was hitting power of the sharper, shorter type in the bats of "Old Hoss" Stephenson, brilliant Kiki Cuyler, big Gabby Hartnett, young Johnny Moore, the old Yankee shortstop, Mark Koenig, 'Woody' English, Bill Herman, and Grimm himself.

Perhaps the slump in the interest of the cash customer could be attributed to the world series rule, designed to frustrate ticket speculation, of selling tickets only in blocks of three, covering the two necessary home games and a sixth contest that may never take place.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, considered this to such an extent yesterday when only half of the 35,000 reserved blocks had been sold at $16.50 each, that he petitioned Commissioner Landis to permit the sale of single tickets for each game. The commissioner decided against him on the ground that it would be unfair to previous purchasers of the blocks of three.

In event of postponement, something that never has happened to the opening game of a world series in the memory of modern man, the opening game automatically goes over until tomorrow, with the second game Friday, and the opening of the three game series in Chicago Sunday.

The probable Lineups for today's game:

Cubs—	Yankees—
Herman, 2b	Combs, cf
E. English, 3b	J. Sewell, 3b
Cuyler, rf	Ruther, rf
Stephenson, lf	Gehrig, 1b
Moore, cf	Lazzeri, 2b

Umpires: Dinneen and Van Grafalan (American); Klem and Magerkurth (National).

Time of game — 1:30 (Eastern Standard Time).

Managers' Views

NEW YORK, September 28 (C.P.). — Here's how the rival managers looked at the World Series between the Yankees and the Cubs, starting to-day:

Charley Grimm, Cubs: "Naturally I think we'll win. I won't attempt to say how many games it will go. My men aren't afraid of the Yankee hitters. We have confidence in our pitchers."

Joe McCarthy, Yankees: "I think we'll win all right. There isn't a limp or a gimp on the club. We're in grand shape from top to bottom."

PUZZLE TO VON PAPEN

KOENIGSBERG, Germany — Chancellor Franz von Papen said today that he had not seen the text of a recent speech on armaments by Premier Herriot of France, but if what he head in the newspapers was accurate he could not understand M. Herriot at all.

The business tone in the Prairie Provinces of Canada is reported to be better than it has been in the last three years.

Cubs "Best Bets" In The World Series

If by any possible chance the Cubs do the unexpected and rout Ruppert's Rifles in the diamond classic which starts to-day at the Yankee Stadium, the sprightly looking athletes shown above will undoubtedly play a prominent part in the proceedings. No. 1 is Joe Bush who is slated to face the Yanks in the first game. No. 2 is Lon Warneke, the season's sensation in the National League, who may oppose "our own" Johnnie Allen, almost as big a star, in the American League, in the second or third game.

Bowlmen Need Win To Tie Grocer Nine

Thursday night's indoor Softball League games at the Brock street rink should be a real treat. In the men's section the two old rivals, Sugar Bowl and Red and White, hook up. The Bowlrites need a win Thursday night to tie the Red and Whites for the leadership. The Grocers won the last time these two teams met and the Candymen are out for revenge.

Lefty Sturgeon will likely draw the pitching assignment for this game with Simmons and Naish in reserve. Ross Curry or Tom Montgomery will twirl for the Grocers, with the former likely to start as he has not lost a game in the Indoor League.

The rivalry is strong between these two outfits for the Bowl have a couple of ex-Harrison men on their team. The Grocers are stronger now than they were during the summer, having added Ellis, Gillespie and a couple of other stars from the outdoor league.

In the ladies' section Westolox and Maple Leafs will do battle. Both these teams are very much in the running and both need a win. The girls are playing bang-up ball in the fall league, taking a liking to the indoor diamond. In fact a lot of the fans think they play smarter ball than the men.

The indoor league is drawing good crowds and with the small admission charge of ten cents for adults and five for children a capacity crowd should be out for Thursday night's games.

U.S. TENNIS PLAYER RANKED AS LEADER

Ellsworth Vines Accorded First Position by English Authority.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(AP)—A British tennis expert and a French sports publication have accepted Ellsworth Vines Jr. as the world's greatest tennis player on the strength of his successive victories over Henri Cochet of France, former world champion, during the past season.

A. Wallis Myers, tennis expert for the London Daily Telegraph, has placed the lanky United States champion, at the top of his ranking list for 1932. Both Myers and "L'Auto," large parisian sports publication, not only placed Vines at No. 1, but accorded the United States a total of three places in the world's five by naming Wilmer Allison at No. 3, and Clifford Sutter at No. 5. Both rank Mrs. Helen Wills Moody No. 1 among the world's women stars and Helen Jacobs No 2.

Following is Myers's selection:

Men—No. 1. Vines, U. S. A.; No. 2, Cochet, France; No. 3, Jean Borotra, France; No. 4, Allison, U. S. A.; No. 5, Sutter, U. S. A.; No. 6, Prenn Germany; No. 7, Perry, England; No. 8, Von Gramm, Germany; No. 9, Austin, England; No. 10, Crawford, Australia.

Women—No. 1, Mrs. Moody, U. S. A.; No. 2, Miss Jacobs, U. S. A.; No. 3, Mme, Mathieu, France; No. 4, Mlle, Payot, Switzerland; No. 5, Frl. Krawinkel, Germany; No. 6, Miss Heeley, England; No. 7, Mrs. Whittingstall, England; No. 8, Frl. Horn, Germany; No. 9, Miss Stammers, England; No. 10, Mlle. Sigart, Belgium.

PORT HOPE NETTERS WIN.

COBOURG, Sept. 28.—Port Hope players won from Cobourg in a tennis tournament held in the former town in seven out of eight events. The competition was close in the majority of the events.

Miss D. Grant and Miss D. Hancock defeated Miss Howard and Miss Thompson, Cobourg, in the ladies' singles.

F. Winfield and F. Hamilton defeated Mr. Booth and Mr. Edwards of Cobourg in the men's singles.

Miss E. Armstrong and G. Fitzsimmons won from Mr. and Mrs. Cooey of Cobourg in the mixed doubles.

Misses M. Ward and L. Hamly defeated Miss Roberts and Miss Morton of Cobourg in the ladies' doubles.

Messrs. Wynn and Fraser defeated Messrs. Lucas and Johns of Cobourg in the mens' doubles; and Dr. Drewry and L. O'Connor of Cobourg defeated R. Wickett and H. Winfield, Port Hope.

CAMPBELLFORD SOFTBALL CLUB HAS GOOD YEAR

Public Interest Backed By Financial Support Shown by Statement.

PRESENTATION SOON.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 28 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The Campbellford Town Softball League, which concluded its season last week with the winning of the championship by the Saints' speedy outfit, have had a very successful year all round. Not only has the public taken a greater interest in this sport, but this interest has been backed by financial support, which is shown by the annual statement issued by Harold Dunk, secretary-treasurer, and audited by J. J. McAvoy.

The report for this year shows: Receipts—Balance on hand, $35.69; players' cards, $12.75; collections, $15.65, $38.39; miscellaneous, $2.50—total, $104.98. Expenditures — Equipment, $33.59; balance on hand, $71.39.

It is expected that in the near future the champs, the Saints, will be banqueted by the club, at which time the Campbellfordd Cloth Company's cup with the medals will be presented.

Londos Recognized As World's Champ

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.— The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission announced yesterday that it had voted to recognize Jim Londos as wrestling champion of the world.

At the same time, Commissioner Robert Nelson announced the lifting of a ban on Londos which prevented him from wrestling in Pennsylvania.

The twin decisions favorable to Londos, Commissioners said, resulted after Ed ("Strangler") Lewis and his manager failed to attend a Commission meeting and press a claim that Londos should be banned from the State and as a world title claimant until he met Lewis.

Another World Series

The 1932 world series opens today. Experts are comparing teams, performances and players and from their studies calling the winner. Some call the Chicago Cubs, others the New York Yankees, giving various reasons for their selection. If they all put all their dope in a big basket, gave it a good shake and pick a team, the selection would probably be as reliable as all the systematic dope in the world. There will always be someone, who for no good reason or some good reason will put a spoke in the wheel and upset all the dope. Last year it was the magnetic Pepper Martin who sent Connie Mack's dreams for a ride. This year it may be someone the dope has not even mentioned. Luck and the breaks often make or break a good team.

ELECTRICS NOSE OUT BRINTONS 12-8 IN THE GIRLS' FIXTURE

Good and Bad Softball Marks Twin Fixture at Brock Street Rink.

PLAY TO SMALL CROWD.

Only a small crowd of fans took in the softball double-header at the Brock last night, rain keeping the attendance down. C. N. R. pulled out a one-sided win, 26 to 6, over Daily Stars in the men's opening game, while C. G. E. nosed out Brintons, 12-8, in the girls' fixture. Good and bad softball marked the twin fixture.

The Nationals were too good for Daily Stars, who were minus the services of a couple of regulars, and they romped through at will. Elliott pitched a fine game, receiving good support both at bat and in the field. Price was unable to hold the slugging C. N. R. crew at all, and his support wasn't the best.

C. N. R. got three runs in the first, seven in the third, nine in the fourth, one in the fifth and six more in the seventh. The losers tied the count in the first with three markers, but could get no more until their last three came in the sixth. The teams:

C. N. R.: Hartley, rf; Lewis, cf; Chambers, 2b; Board, lf; Grant, ss; Nicholls, 3b; Gardner, 1b; Elliott, p; Cadd, c.

Daily Stars: Grey, c; G. Clark, 1b; Newson, ss; Cowan, rf; Wiley, rf; Wright, lf; Clark, cf; Jones, 3b; Miller, 2b; Price, p.

Score by innings:
C. N. R. .....307 910 6—26
Stars .....300 003 0— 6

A Close Game

The girls' game between Brintons and C. G. E. was close and exciting throughout, the latter lasses finally easing out in front for a 12-8 victory. They showed more punch in the last few frames to take a well-earned win. It was a good pitching and fielding performance, the three hurlers, M. Snowden, E. Evans and M. Todd all throwing good ball.

C. G. E. scored one run in the second, one in the third, three in the fourth, five in the fifth and two more in the sixth. The Carpetmakers shoved across three each in the first and second, but finished their countering with a brace of runs in the fourth. The teams:

C. G. E.: H. Peryer, rf; M. Creighton, cf; M. Todd, p; M. Conners, 3b; D. Millar, c; K. Ashmore, 1b; M. Self, 2b; M. Amyotte, lf; L. Bosley, ss.

Brintons: I. Sturgeon, 1b; M. Snowden, p, 2b; C. White, 3b; M. White, lf; E. Hodgson, rf; K. Kearney, c; W. Snowden, ss; E. Evans, 2b, p; E. Pilling, cf.

THROUGH WITH A'S AL SIMMONS SAYS

But Mack Keeps Mum on Future of Slugging Outfielder.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28. — Al Simmons, Milwaukee slugger cavorting in the outfield for the A's, insists on telling friends—and strangers—that he's through with the Athletics at the end of this season.

He admits that he has a more than passing fancy for the flickering lights of Broadway.

How much Al knows about his 1933 baseball career is the big mystery. Connie Mack never has told a player two months ahead of any deal he's contemplating.

Al is getting $30,000 a season—with a year to go on the contract—for snagging flies for Connie. It's nearly a fact that with business as it is, Al won't get that next season. That rumor has been runnnig the gauntlet for some time. But the White Sox have plenty of money. And then there is Wes Ferrell, with Cleveland, who but a short time ago, it was rumored was due for a trade which involved Simmons.

But it's problematical. Just what Connie is going to do, is about as dark as what Al really wants to do.

SCHMELING MEETS BAER OR CARNERA

Two Heavyweight Bouts Likely Before Title Affair Next Summer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — The heavyweight division of the fight game has "turned the corner" if the plans mapped out yesterday for Max Schmeling and the remainder of the contenders for Jack Sharkey's championship actually are carried out.

Riding the wave of enthusiasm that followed Schmeling's sensational eight round technical knockout of Mickey Walker Monday night, Madison Square Garden laid out a program that will send the former heavyweight title-holder into battle twice before next Summer, when Max, if his success continues, will face Sharkey for the championship for the third time.

The Garden wants to pair Max Baer, lanky California belter, who scored a technical knockout over Tuffy Griffith in Chicago Monday night, while Schmeling was crushing Walker here, against the man mountain of the division, Primo Carnera, in an indoor match for November. Schmeling will meet the winner of this bout here in June, after a Winter warm-up against Young Bill Stribling in Miami in February.

While all this lay in the future, and presaged an interesting and highly lucrative Winter for the gladiators, Garden officials counted the receipts for the second and last outdoor financial success of the season.

The Schmeling-Sharkey title battle this Summer drew net receipts of $361,000. A check showed that gross receipts Monday night were $177,349.80 and net proceeds after deduction of taxes, $148,107.85. Of the latter amount Schmeling would receive $55,540, but his wages attached by Primo Carnera's breach of contract suit, are claimed in court papers to be 10 per cent. higher. Walker received a flat 17½ per cent. of the net proceeds, or $25,918.

SPORTS Day by Day

Baseball — Softball — Lacrosse
Boxing — Wrestling — Acquatic

(BY C. J. P.)

About the only sporting event locally that we know of tonight is the Orde-Millbrook lacrosse game at the Brock. It's a City League fixture, and liable to produce fireworks, the out-of-towners having a happy knack of landing smack in the middle of fireworks nearly every game they play here. They may pull a surprise and turn back the whisker-trimmers.

* * * * * * *

Whether it's boxing, baseball, lacrosse, rugby, hockey or what will yours be- amateurs are having a tough time breaking even these times. The old depression sure caught the simon-pures smack on the chin and put 'em back on their hunkers. Very few towns in Ontario are dishing up the variety of sports they were five years ago, practicaly all of them finding certain sports too expensive and their backers tip-toeing out of it—not that we blame them so much.

* * * * * * *

Things are just as bad in a financial way for sports in Peterborough, but we have several more athletic organizations going now than we had five years back—lacrosse and girls' softball for instance. They're all having a tough time to exist, most of them dropping good shekels regularly, and some of the sports haven't quite as much quality as they used to have (while others are better), but the main thing is: Sports are moving ahead here, not backward as in most other towns large and small!

* * * * * * *

Of course, Peterborough was always considered a good sporting town in almost every line, and has built a rep. with Ontario titles in half a dozen athletic branches. And, even in tough times like these, good games here draw pretty well. We've got nothing to kick about in this way at all. Baseball has suffered a great deal throughout the province, particularly minor league ball, softball replacing it. But minor league baseball still flourishes in this man's town.

* * * * * * *

And while we're on the subject, do local fans realize that Pat Calladine is eighty dollars in the hole now, and will be another twenty if his team goes to Toronto in the third game of their juvenile baseball series for the title? They play here Saturday and hope to even this series with Niagara Falls. This gate must clear at least one hundred dollars or Pat will be holding the bag. He is not only the manager of the Maple Leafs, but their only backer. It's fellows like this who are spreading Peterborough's name around Ontario as a fine town for sports, and it would be a pity to have him lose money after all the work put in on this team during the summer.

* * * * * * *

We hope the fans turn out in droves to cheer the Leafs in this important game, and to lend their financial support also. It will undoubtedly be a fine game, and if the Falls win the Leafs are all washed up. But, with Bill Calladine, slated to pitch, the local laddies ought to even the titular series up. Third game will likely be played in Toronto a week from today.

* * * * * * *

Following this afternoon's exhibition football game with Pickering College, the P.C.I. first team fill have a couple of days to correct any faults and apply the finishing touches in their drills before meeting Cobourg Seniors here this Saturday afternoon. And the local intermediates will continue their practices in preparation for the Lakeshore second squad here on Saturday morning. These opening games should be good if the weather's right.

* * * * * * *

Those who were talking up an intermediate O. R. F. U. rugby team for Peterborough this fall seem to have given up the ghost. We've heard nothing of it for a week, and are not likely to now. There are a bunch of difficulties confronting such a plan, ex-football players hesitating to take up the training grind again, it being tough to get 'em all together for regular workouts, what with their businesses, etc. and then the trouble with obtaining a good coach. All in all it was never much more than an idea.

* * * * * * *

Local soccer teams start this Saturday afternoon to play for the Father Phelan Charity Cup, one game being played at King Edward Park and another in Port Hope. For many seasons this amateur sporting organization has given liberally to the funds of the Children's Aid Society and St. Vincent's Orphanage, doing it quietly and with the finest spirit. That's good stuff.

* * * * * * *

This will be the first season that the teams will play for the new trophy, donated by Father Phelan late last fall. He received the old trophy to keep as a souvenir. The new cup stands over three feet in height, more than twenty inches wide and has a fine dark mahogany pedestal. It is considered one of the finest sporting trophies in the district.

* * * * * * *

The heavy downpour of rain last night kept down the crowd at the softball games in the Brock. C. N. R. men walloped Daily Stars plenty, 26 to 6, if you want the sordid details. Just hits, hits, and more hits did the damage, with enough booting thrown in to run the count up past the two dozen mark. To be fair, the Stars weren't a; full strength, but they would have found it hard to lick the Railwaymen last night under any circumstances.

The gals' game was good, C.G.E. forging to the fore during the last part to cop a 12-8 decision over Brintons. The teams turned in some smart softball, with good hurling shown by Snowden, Evans and Todd. Both outfits have been battling on pretty even terms this schedule. To-morrow eve, it's Westelox vs. Maple Leafs at 7.15, with the men's teams, Red and White Stores playing Sugar Bowl in the second game.

MRS. EDDIS CONTINUES WINNING STREAK IN U. S. WOMEN'S PLAY

Enid Wilson Scores 5 and 4 Win Over Elizabeth Skinner in Tuesday's Play.

MRS. VARE ALSO WINS.

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 28.—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, who has dominated United States Women's Golf for the past decade, today found a sturdy stumbling block in the path leading to her sixth United States championship.

This brilliant competitor, considered unbeatable until a year ago when Helen Hicks removed her crown at Buffalo, drew Mrs. C. S. Eddis of Toronto as her second round opponent in the match play at the Salem Country club. The Canadian yesterday revealed the skill that carried her into the finals of last week's Canadian title play, by defeating Dorothy Hunter, one of the best of the Boston district's younger players, by 2 and 1.

Mrs. Vare was the only one of the 32 qualifiers capable of perfect golf in the opening match play.

Enid Wilson, the British champion and semi-finalist at Buffalo, drew a match with Grace English of nearby Lynnfied as a result of yesterday's 5 and 4 win over Elizabeth Skinner of Holyoke. Peggy Wattles, young Buffalo girl, who shocked the old guard with her 19-hole victory over Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, a three-times champion, was down to match strokes with Mrs. C. F. Eaton of Wellesley. The other Canadian threat, Miss Ada MacKenzie, also of Toronto, was down for a battle with Jean Armstrong of Winnetka, Ill.

ALBION IS OUT TO REPEAT; USING ITS S AME TITLE TEAM

"A HAPPY FAMILY."

(By Willis Entwistle)

Fewer clubs have a better team in Old Country soccer this season than West Bromwich Albion, the club that won the Cup and also promotion to the first division in April, 1931.

This season the Albion has been running neck and neck with Aston Villa at the head of the first division, but by losing its first home game on Saturday to Leeds United has dropped to second place. Strange to say, the club that sullied West Brom's record was Leeds United, the club which won promotion in April of this year.

A famous London critic said after seeing Albion walk over Arsenal recently: "See this West Bromwich team. It is an invigoration."

Mostly young players and with the identical team that won the cup in 1931, West Bromwich has a happy family. All Canada knows Tommy Magee, who has twice toured Canada; Pearson, the goalie, whose father kept goal for Albion before; and Sandford, famous winger, whose father asked Albion not to give his son too much money as it might spoil him.

Tommy Glidden, the outside right, is the captain, and Shaw, the right full back, is the player Huddersfield allowed to go because of Goodall's class. Now Shaw is about the best back in England.

Just outside Birmingham, the Albion has to fight for support alongside Birmingham and Aston Villa, but always keeps abreast of the times, and when the time comes to hand out honors the "Throstles," as they are known in the football world, are always chirping for a share.

Billy Bassett is the chairman, and he himself was a star 30 years ago.

A new campaign started to sell Quebec maple sugar abroad includes practical demonstrations in large hotels and restaurants and leading stores in England and on the continent.

PANORAMA
— of —
PALESTINE
Amazed Visitors

The most interesting and fascinating exhibition of its kind ever shown in Peterborough, is that of Ganci Brothers, now on display at the CURLING RINK. It is a great working Panorama of Holy Land, with cities, rivers, wells, fields, roads, seas, and mountains, hundreds of people, most of which are moving statues, and scores of animals.

The beauty of workmanship in constructing this Panorama cannot be over-estimated. Each little figure is an artistic unit in itself, and there are hundreds of them, the great Panorama, which shows graphically the provinces of Galilee, Samaria, and Judea. The cities of Jerusalem, Nazareth, Naim, Emmaus, Gaza, Bethlenem, Bethany, Capernaum, Tiberius, and Cana, are laid out in this enormous panorama Such other places of interest as the Garden of Gethsemane, Mount of Olives, the scene of the Nativity, Pool of Siloam, the Dead Sea, Sea of Galilee, and Mount Calvary, are only a few of the spots of great Biblical importance shown in this model, which certainly should be seen by everyone, whether interested in Bible history or not

Perhaps the most wonderful sight is that of the life-like statues, electrically operated, which enact in different parts, such as the boat tossing about on tiny waves. Nearby, Peter is shown in his attempt to walk on the water. Shown, beautiful lighting effects are a feature of the exhibition.

SHOWING DAILY, 2 TO 5 AND 7.30 TO 11, AT CURLING RINK, CHARLOTTE STREET.

Charity Soccer Games Saturday Afternoon

Only general business was transacted at the meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association, last night, in Duffus Rooms, with a fair attendance of executive present.

On Saturday the Canadian General travel to Port Hope in the semi-final of the Phelan Charity cup. Jack Clark is referee. In the city, the Caledonians play the Packers in the other semi-final on King Edward Park. Referee Ted Bartley. Alex McKinley is working linesmen to be chosen by the teams.

Cheques were handed over to the teams as part of their share of the cup tie.

Shoe factories in Canada are currently producing over a million and a half pairs per month, production in the first seven months of 1932 totalling 10,509,069 pairs as again 10,435,799 pairs in the same period a year ago.

PETER RABBIT GROWS IMPATIENT

(By Thornton W. Burgess)

Every evening that the way seemed clear and safe Peter Rabbit scampered across from the dear old Briar Patch to the Smiling Pool to see how Jerry Muskrat was getting on with the building of his new house. Peter's curiosity was impatient. Curiosity is apt to be impatient. He wanted to see the walls of that new house rise out of the water, but night after night he was disappointed. There wasn't a thing above water to show that Jerry Muskrat was building a house there. There was just the muddy water and occasionally the head of Jerry as he came up for a breath of fresh air to show that something was going on there.

After a few nights of this sort of thing Peter began to be doubtful. He began to doubt if Jerry Muskrat was really building a house at all. He said as much to Grandfather Frog. "It seems to me," said he, "that there ought to be some signs of that house if there is ever going to be one. I'm beginning to think that it is all a bluff on Jerry Muskrat's part. I don't believe he is building a house at all. He has been working long enough to have built two houses it seems to me, yet there isn't a thing to show for it."

Grandfather Frog rolled his great goggly eyes up at Peter sitting on the bank and stretched his big mouth in the broadest of grins. "Perhaps," said he, softly, "you think you could build that house better and faster than Jerry can."

Peter looked a wee bit foolish, just a wee bit foolish. He never had built a house in his life, and he knew that Grandfather Frog knew

"A lot you know about it, Peter," said he

it. 'Just the same, I think he is terribly slow about it," he protested. 'If it takes him as long as all this just to get the foundations laid it will take him the rest of the year to finish the job, and cold weather will come before then."

Grandfather Frog chuckled. "A lot you know about it, Peter," said he. "A lot you know about it. I suppose you think that the biggest part of the work on that house is what will have to be done above the water. Let me tell you something, Peter. The part of that house which you will see when it is finished is the easiest part of the work Jerry has to do. You ought to learn to dive, Peter, and then you would see and learn a lot you don't now, and never will know."

Peter looked wistfully and longingly down into the Smiling Pool. "I wish I could," said he. "I certainly wish I could." Then as he noted how muddy the water was he suddenly changed his mind. "I guess I'm just as well satisfied not to," said he. "I'll take your word for it that there are interesting things down there under water. I know this, that if I could dive I never in the world would open my eyes in any such muddy water as that."

Grandfather Frog laughed. You know he doesn't mind muddy water at all. In fact, when he goes to the bottom of the Smiling Pool he goes right down into the mud itself. It seemed funny to him that any one should mind muddy water. He rather liked it himself because in it he could disappear so easily. Peter looked over to where the mud was being stirred up by Jerry Muskrat at work down below. "Just the same," said Peter, "I think Jerry is a long time building this house."

Farmer to Be Tried For Wounding Youth

PICKERING, Ont., September 28 (C.P.). — Fred Postill, middle-aged farmer, to-day faced trial at the December Assizes of wounding Frank Barger, 15, of Toronto as the latter sought wood for a camp fire. He was committed in Police Court last night.

Postill, police said, admitted firing a shot, but declared he was unaware he had hit anyone.

He said Barber was taking fence rails from his property.

GRAB BAG

Who was the first Englishman to go around the world?

Who was the "father of history."

Was Frederick II known as Frederick the Great during his lifetime?

Correctly Speaking

"Peek" is a colloquialism for peep, look slyly; it is not proper in a formal context.

Today's Anniversary.

On this day, in 1781, the siege of Yorktown, Va., by Americans and French began.

Today's Horoscope.

Persons born on this day take great pride in their home and family and enjoy having everything nice and trim

Answers to Foregoing Questions

1. Sir Francis Drake.
2. Cicero gave this title to Herodotus, the Greek historian, who lived more than 400 years B. C.
3. Frederick the Great was given this sobriquet after his death.

What To-Day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If September 28th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9.30 a.m. to 11.15 a.m. and from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. The danger hours are from noon to 2 p.m. and from 6.20 p.m. to 8.05 p.m.

The stellar configurations of September 28th denote a day of restlessness, uncertainty and indecision. It will be quite difficult, under the influences that prevail, to concentrate or to settle down, and nothing that involves serious consequences should be essayed. Keep to the highway and avoid all detours!

A child born on this September 28th will from a physical standpoint, require more than usual care during infancy. Its disposition will be amenable and lovable. Its leanings towards Art will be pronounced, and these should be fostered and encouraged. The results may be gratifyingly surprising.

You, if born on September 28th, possess great self-assurance, and this exaggerated confidence in your ability often leads you to commit errors that prove most costly as well as disastrous. Backed up by an idea that you know more than others, you attempt tasks without proper preparation and preliminary study. You often step in with both feet, where others—wiser and more careful—fear to tread. You are always seeking short cuts to success, and owing to unexpected and unthought of obstacles, your arrival at the goal is considerably delayed, or does not materialize.

Your knowledge, although varied, is superficial. You never take the time to study thoroughly any problem or subject. You are always in too much of a hurry to get into action. You want to shoot at the enemy right away, and are never content to hold your fire until you can see the "whites of their eyes."

Your disposition is, like your actions, erratic. Your moods are variable; at times you are gay and care-free, while at other times, you are morose and depressed. Your horoscope indicates much, and finds many things attempted, but with little real achievements. It also indicates innumerable changes, marked "ups and downs," with happiness and discontent in about equal proportions.

Rally Day Services

TRENT RIVER UNITED CHURCH

TRENT RIVER, Sept. 28. (Examiner Correspondence).—The annual Rally Day Service was held Sunday afternoon at the United Church. A flower committee was appointed to decorate for the occasion and their efforts proved to good effect: cut flowers adorned the pulpit desk, altar rail and organ, while prettily tinted Autumn leaves and red berries decorated the electric chandlier and drop lights.

The offering was a part of the gift to the missionary and maintenance fund of the United Church of Canada and will be devoted to the strengthening and extending of Sunday School and young people's work throughout Canada, Newfoundland and Bermuda.

INSULL READY TO AID PROBE

Deposed Utility Magnate Will Return to U. S. Voluntarily.

SON HOLIDAYING.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 28.—As several agencies of the State and Federal Governments were engaged today in searching the records of the bankrupt Insull investment trusts word came from Paris that Samuel Insull, deposed utility magnate, had expressed his willingness to return to the United States voluntarily to assist in the investigations.

Yesterday announcement was made that his son, Samuel Insull, Jr., who was president of the two investment trusts in which the losses of stockholders are expected to exceed $300,000,000, had left Chicago Saturday to visit his father and mother.

James Simpson, chairman of the Board of Commonwealth Edison Co., one of the Insull operating concerns, said young Insull had taken a vacation on his recommendation.

"He had been much conecrned over the illness of his mother," Simpson said, "and at my suggestion he is going to Paris to visit her. He left Saturday and will return in November."

Holds Many High Posts

Young Insull is vice chairman of the Commonwealth Edison Co., and two other Chicago operating companies, as well as president of two of the investment trusts founded by his father.

Simpson said young Insull's trip was "purely a coincidence, and certainly had no bearing on the investigations."

State's Attorney John A. Swanson planned to begin calling officials of four Insull companies to his office to-day for questioning about transactions which interested his investigators. The companies mentioned were the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., the Corporation Securities Co., the Middle-West Utility Co., and the Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment Co.

Samuel Insull, Jr., was president of the Corporation Securities Co., and the Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

FAREWELL PARTIES ARE HELD IN MADOC

Miss Loraine Avery and Everleigh Springham Are Honored on Eve of Departure.

MADOC, Sept. 28. (Examiner Correspondence).—A farewell surprise party at the home of Mrs. T. L. Nickle was tendered by the Busy Bee Jrs. of Madoc to Miss Lorraine Avery, one of their number who is leaving in a short time to make her home in Port Hope. A social evening was spent in Progressive Euchre in which the prize fell to Miss Harley Smith. Just before the serving of lunch Miss Carmel Golan read a short address of farewell and Miss Jean Phillips presented Lorraine with a beautiful vanity set in behalf of the members of the Jr. Institute. After many expressions of thanks to the hostess the evening was brought to a close by heartily singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Rev. G. W. Rivers attended the meeting of Belleville Presbytery in Tamworth United Church on Tuesday last.

The schoolfellows of Everleigh Springham gathered on Saturday evening to say farewell to their popular school mate and to spend a social evening together. The evening was spent in dancing and cards and as a surprise at the close, an address was read by a comrade and presentation made of valuable club bag as a farewell gift and a token of esteem.

NOTICE!

—1932—

County Treasurer's Sale of Lands for Taxes

COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH

To Wit:

By virtue of a Warrant made under the hand of the Warden and Seal of the County of Peterborough, and to me directed bearing date the 27th day of July, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty-two, I am commanded under the authority of the Statutes in behalf, to levy on the lands hereinafter mentioned and described for the arrears of taxes due thereon, with the costs as hereinafter specified, as directed by the said Act. THEREFORE to give notice that unless the said arrears and costs are sooner paid I will proceed to sell by Public Auction at the Court House in the City of Peterborough on the 8th day of November, 1932, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, the said lands or so much thereof as may be necessary for the taxes, and all lawful charges incurred in and about such sales, and the collection of the taxes.

FALL ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN PLANNED

Murray Street Association Holds Opening Meeting of Season.

A good program for the fall term for the Women's Association of Murray Street Church was outlined yesterday at the opening meeting held in the church parlors.

The president, Mrs. Frank Irons presided and the meeting was opened with a devotional period.

Commencing the activities is a harvest supper which is being held on Friday evening of this week in the church banquet hall, when the fruits of the harvest are being served.

Announcement was made of securing Miss Elsie McLuhan for a lecture on November 18. This will be Miss McLuhan's second visit to Murray Street as she presented a delightful program here about a year ago.

Plans were also made for a rummage sale on October 15 and December 1 was set as the date for the annual tea and sale of home cooking.

Choir Practice

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR.

Special rehearsal this evening in the church. Boys at 7 sharp; adult members at 7.30. All members please attend.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH CHOIR

Rehearsal 8 p.m. Thursday. All please attend.

Tag Day Appeal

You are so well informed concerning the present economic situation that it would be superfuous for me to state that our organization, which is so well known to you, has experienced embarrassment too, because of depleted receipts.

We believe our cause to be an extremely worthwhile one, and worthy of the support of the citizens of Peterborough and vicinity. The Shelter has been made a place which calls forth the admiration of all, and the children in the Shelter are being cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Nigh in a manner which causes our hearts to rejoice.

The children are not only well nourished and well clothed, but are receiving that which you are anxious that they receive, namely, instruction in Christian morality, by people who are interested in their spiritual welfare.

As president of the Children's Aid Society of Peterborough, I appeal to you for a generous subscription in order that the children under our care, may have the opportunity of becoming good citizens and fine Christians.

Next Saturday is Tag Day. Will you not give and encourage others to give.

Cordially yours, J. H. Sutcliffe.

Will Admit Cripple If Canadian Citizen

OTTAWA, September 28 (C.P.).—If John O'Brien, aged cripple held up by immigration officers at Windsor, Ont., is a Canadian citizen, he will be admitted to Canada, it was state dat Immigration Headquarters here to-day. On the other hand, the Department must be careful not to admit persons who have no Canadian citizenship and who may become public charges.

The case of John O'Brien, who, according to news despatches, is 100 years old and has hitch-hiked from Pueblo, Colorado, to Windsor, has not yet been drawn officially to the attention of the authorities here. Assuming that it is, inquiries will be instituted to determine whether or not he is entitled to entry into Canada. According to despatches, the aged man says he has relations in Toronto.

EDITOR INJURED BY ASSASSIN

Sir Alfred Watson, Calcutta Editor, is Fired at Twice While Motoring.

SECOND ATTEMPT.

CALCUTTA, India, Sept. 28.—(C. P.)—Sir Alfred Watson, editor of The Statesman, a daily newspaper, was shot and wounded to-day.

His assailant fired twice and fled. Sir Alfred was hurried to a hospital, where doctors said he was in no danger.

This was the second attempt on his life. The first occurred in August, when he escaped unhurt. He has been threatened repeatedly by extremists who object to the policies of his paper.

The attack occurred as he was riding in the Maidan, a big parklike space in the heart of Calcutta. Another car drew alongside, turned sharply, striking Sir Alfred's machine. The occupants of the second car opened fire, then swerved and sped off.

A woman passenger in Sir Alfred's car was wounded and another bullet struck his chauffeur, inflicting a serious wound. Sir Alfred was wounded in each shoulder.

Auto-Intoxication
or self-poisoning results from toxic wastes being retained within the body. If there is any interference with the nerves which lead to the liver, kidneys or bowels, these organs cannot work efficiently and poisons will accumulate. As time goes on, the flesh becomes puffy and hard. The skin becomes tight, ankles and legs become stocky, swollen and heavy. You lose ambition, are irritable and as tired in the morning as at bedtime.
YOU WILL FIND
that Chiropractic spinal treatments are exceptionally effective in overcoming a condition of this nature. Nerve energy is restored to sluggish organs, poisons are expelled, your health and disposition will improve and you will praise Chiropractic as many others have done.

BELIEVES CANADIAN DOLLAR MUST BE ATTACHED TO STERLING

British Economist Fears Absorption of Dominion By United States.

REVIEWS CURRENCY.

LONDON, Sept. 28. (C. P. Cable) John Ford Darling, noted economist and financier of England and a director of the Midland Bank, writing in the National Review after observing the procedure of the Imperial Conference at Ottawa, says the statement which more deeply impressed him there was "Canada has to pay the United States $150,000,000 a year interest."

Mr. Darling considers that fact, together with the economic attraction through georgraphical reasons the United States exercises over Canada's ultimate absorption.

"The Ottawa crisis consisted not in the wranglings of Argentine meat and Soviet dumpings, important though those issues may have appeared to be, but it was the currency crisis—the crisis of the Canadian dollar in relationship with sterling and other Empire currencies. It is a paramount importance imperfectly appreciated, otherwise surely it would not have been relegated to a secondary place. Unless the Canadian dollar becomes definitely attached to sterling and other Empire currencies it may result in the disruption of the Empire" he declared.

HARVEST FESTIVAL

Annual Harvest Festival services at St. John's Church are being held on Friday evening of this week, and on Sunday next. The special preacher at Friday night's service is to be Rev. W. R. Armitage, rector of the Church of the Messiah, Toronto, and on Sunday at both services the Rev. D. M. Rose of Orillia.

PUT OUT THE FLAGS

There will be between five hundred and a thousand visitors in Peterborough for the week-end attending the Samaritans' Convention. The citizens could make the city bright and attractive by putting out their flags for Friday and Saturday.

ADDRESSES DEANERY.

Rev. Dr. Simmons, of Honan, China, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Blagrave at St. John's Rectory. Canon Simmons is delivering an address at the Deanery meeting which is to be held at St. George's Church this afternoon and evening.

SHOOTS BANDITS THROUGH DOOR

Officer Held Up in Saloon Fires as Trio Retreats—One Slain, One Wounded.

THIRD ESCAPES.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 28. — Shooting through a door at three retreating bandits, Patrolman Leonard Kolassa, of the motor division, shot and killed one and wounded another in a saloon in Garfield avenue to-day. The dead man is Joseph Patch, 26, John Kopka, 25, shot in the forearm, is held on a robbery armed charge. The third man escaped.

Kolassa, who was off duty, told George M. Stutz, assistant prosecutor, that he had stopped in the place to see the owner, whom he had known from childhood. He said he had been there about five minutes when the three men entered and ordered him and four others to throw up their hands.

The trio started to leave when they discovered he was a policeman, Kolassa said, and he fired as they reached an outside porch.

Ship Sends Out SOS No Wreckage Found

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 28. (CP) The radio corporation of American office here reported picking up an S.O.S. from the steamship Casey at 1:45 a.m. The steamer gave her position as latitude 51 north, longitude 179.15 west. No details were given and no further word has been received three hours later.

A Japanese steamer, Oregon Maru, reported having arrived in the vicinity of the Casey's position but had not located the ship. The reported position would place the ship in the North Pacific steamer lane south of the Outer Aleutian islands.

Free State Trade Drops With Britain

DUBLIN, Sept. 28 (C.P. Cable).—Reflecting the economic difficulties existing with Britain Saorstat trade returns for August reveal conditions are growing serious in the Free State.

Imports for that month totalled only £2,897,737, compared to £3,671,759 for the same month in 1931. Exports declined from £6,263,888 in August to £1,322,522 for the same month this year.

Exports to England dropped from £2,250,000 in August of last year to £1,090,249, while imports totalled only £1,767,902 last month, compared to £2,325,560 for August of 1931.

The Free State's balance of trade with Canada shifted slightly to its own benefit, imports declining from £87,933 in August of 1931 to £80,891, while exports increased slightly.

A new record for salmon taken on the fly in the Miramichi river, N.B., was established in September this year when Prof. Harry R. Wellman of Dartmouth University, N.H., landed a fish weighing 35 pounds 3 ounces.

POTVIN MOVES TO NEW STORE

George Street Merchant Been in Business for 52 Years.

ONE OF OLD GUARD.

After fifty-two years in business on George Street, forty-one of them in the same store, L. A. Potvin is moving to Charlotte Street into the new building just completed by his son, Louis Potvin, near the corner of Rubidge Street. The transfer will be completed by Friday, when Mr. Potvin expects to have everything in readiness to greet his customers, old and new, without any interruption in business.

Six years at the corner of McDonnel and George Streets were followed by five years at the Dublin Street corner, and from there Mr. Potvin moved down town to the block between Hunter and Brock Streets, where his confectionery store has been a landmark of the business section of the city. During all those years Mr. Potvin has enjoyed the complete confidence of the public with a quality standard of pastry and candy products, in addition to the popular Potvin ice cream that has been maintained in season and out.

Most of the old guard of business men who have been contemporaries of Mr. Potvin have disappeared.

"I think Tom Hooper is the only one left," he told The Examner this morning. "There have been a lot of changes in business. Probably the most noticeable is the way competition has grown, not only from within the city itself but from out of town, even as far as Toronto, with pastry coming probably every day from that distance. Years ago homebaking was general, but even then the local trade was better than it is to-day because it was all confined to the local confectionery stores. There have also been great changes in the customs and conditions of the people."

Mr. Potvin is attached to the business life of the city, and takes a special satisfaction out of the many friendships he has formed. In a sense business has kept him young in his outlook, although the years have been accumulating upon him. He said this morning that he still has good health, but is hampered somewhat by the accident he suffered several years ago.

REVIEW TRUTH RAPS OIL DEAL

Describes Barter as Exposing "Canadian Humbug at Ottawa."

FIRM U.S. CONTROLLED.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (C.P. Cable). —The weekly review, Truth, to-day described the recently-announced barter agreement between the Canadian Aluminum Company and the Soviet Government as exposing "Canadian humbug at Ottawa."

Declaring the Canadian Government made "desperate efforts" at the Imperial Conference to secure agreement which would curtail Russian trade with Britain, Truth recalled the details of the deal whereby Canadian - made wire cables were to be exchanged for Soviet oil. "It is evident this transaction could not be carried out without the consent of the Canadian Government and was known of by Prime Minister Bennett and his colleagues when he took up such a 'Pecsniffian' attitude," Truth said.

The review added the fact the Canadian Aluminum Company "like not a few industrial concerns in the Dominion," was controlled by United States interests, "a fact of no little interest in view of the pseudo-Canadian competition British manufacturers have to face in

MAN SHOT DEAD WOMAN INJURED IN SAULT HOME

Police Rush to Scene on Call of Neighbor Who Heard Shots.

VICTIM CLUTCHED GUN.

Four Empty Shells in Pistol—Woman May Live.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Sept. 29 ((C.P.)—Stanley Porter, 29, was found shot dead to-day in the home of Bert Ross, while Mrs. Ross, wounded by a bullet in the head, was rushed to hospital.

Full extent of Mrs. Ross' injuries was not immediately determined.

She and Porter, police said, were alone in the house at the time of the shooting. Porter's body was found lying in the parlor with a pistol clutched in one hand. He had been shot in the throat several times. Four empty shells and one which had missed fire were found in the pistol.

Porter, whose wife was killed in an automobile accident a few years ago, lived across the street from the Ross home.

Heard Shots

Mrs. Fred Lang, a neighbor, told police she heard several shots and rushed into the Ross home to find Porter dead and Mrs. Ross lying apparently seriously wounded.

She telephoned police at once. Chief George Harbottle and his assistants rushed to the scene and started an immediate investigation.

Dr. A. Sinclair, District Coroner, and Crown Attorney W. H. Atkins ordered Porter's body removed to the Morgue.

Mrs. Fred Lang, a neighbor, told police she had rushed to the Ross home when the telephone extension called her to say the operator had a call from someone in the house whom she could not understand.

As she entered the house she found Porter dead and Mrs. Ross seriously wounded.

Calls Police

She at once called police and Chief George Harbottle with his assistants rushed to the scene and started an immediate investigation.

Dr. A. Sinclair, District Coroner, and Crown Attorney W. H. Atkins ordered Porter's body removed to the morgue. Hospital officials said Mrs. Ross had a chance for life.

CONDUCTOR DIES AS TRAINS MEET

Crew Blinded By Light of Approaching Engine Pile Into Freight Ahead.

INQUEST ORDERED.

GLENCOE, Ont., Sept 29 (C.P.).—An inquest was ordered to-day into the death of Conductor Fred Litsky of London, killed last night in a rear-end collision between freight trains of the Canadian National and Wabash Railways, about a quarter of a mile west of the station here.

The Wabash train crashed into the rear end of the Canadian National train and crushed Conductor Litsky just as he was about to jump from the rear platform of the Canadian National caboose.

The crew of the Wabash locomotive set the brakes and jumped when they saw a collision was inevitable.

The Wabash train, No. 98, was moving through the yards, and the crew, apparently blinded by the headlight of a locomotive approaching on another track, did not notice the Canadian National train, No. 418, blocking their clearance.

Dr. L. M. Freele investigated. No date was set for the inquest.

ELECTED LORD MAYOR

LONDON.—Alderman Percy Walter Greenaway, who was given knighthood Monday as one of London's retiring sheriffs, was elected Lord Mayor of London to-day to succeed Sir Maurice Jenks.

The total value of farm property in Canada, including land and buildings, is reported at $4,046,323,-809 by the 1931 census, a decrease of $1,898,561,009 compared with the selling value reported in 1921.

Four Sailors of 35 Spotted on Island—Craft Breaking Up Fast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., September 29 (C.P.). — The fate of the freighter Nevada's crew of 35 was unknown to-day as a westerly gale pounded their ship to pieces on the rocks of a lonely North Pacific island and kept another vessel from lending aid.

Its small ship driven back to the heavy swells, the Japanese freighter Oregon Maru stood helplessly by, and watched the seas smash the 410-foot craft. The Oregon Maru located the Nevada late yesterday after a 16-hour search.

Meanwhile the mail liner President Madison sped to the scene—Amatignak Island in the Middle Aleutian group—expecting to arrive at daylight (about 10 a.m., Pacific standard time).

Only 4 Sighted.

The whereabouts of only four of the crew was definitely known when messages, relayed by the Madison and the coastguard cutter Northland, reported the Nevada had "broken in three parts."

The four men were seen on the rocks of the island by the small boat from the Oregon Maru while it was trying to reach shore. The messages gave no indication as to whether anyone was seen on the pinioned ship, or whether others of the crew later reached shore.

Early yesterday morning the Oregon Maru picked up an SOS from the Nevada. Immediately afterward the distressed ship's wireless went silent, and for 16 hours the Japanese vessel searched the treacherous North Pacific waters before locating the Nevada piled on the rocks of the inhospitable Aleutian Island.

Plans Being Laid For Big Parades

City police are requesting the co-operation of all motorists to-morrow and Saturday evenings in keeping George Street free of traffic during the progress of the parades to be held in connection with the convention of the Northern Division of the Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans.

Friday evening the police request that no cars be parked on either side of George Street, from Charlotte to Brock Street, between the hour of 7.30 and the conclusion of the parade. The parade will precede a monster public dance in the Armouries. It will leave the Armouries and proceed south on Aylmer to Simcoe Street and back to the Armouries north on George Street.

Parking restrictions will be in force Saturday evening from 6.30 p.m. to the end of the parade, on George Street, from King to Brock Streets.

GIRL IS FORCED TO SHOOT SELF

Tells Police Stranger Made Her Do It at Point of Gun.

HAS CHANCE OF LIFE.

WINDSOR, Ont., September 29 (C.P.). — Provincial Police to-day were investigating the story of Vernay Vincent, 15, that a man she did not know, forced her, at the point of a pistol, to shoot herself with a gun belonging to her father.

As the man fled from the house, she said, she fired at him. She is in a hospital here, said by physicians to have an even chance to recover from a wound in her side.

A note found in the house said: "George has got me. Look out he doesn't get the boys."

The girl told police the stranger her, but that she could "do the job said, "George" had sent him to kill herself."

Neighbors in suburban Remington Park said they heard no shots, but that a man and woman had driven to the house about an hour before the girl was found wounded, yesterday afternoon.

Seek Persons Named in Note.

Police were seeking to trace persons whose names appeared in a note the girl scribbled on the back of an envelope.

While hospital doctor said her story was the strangest they had ever heard, detectives said they

BRITISH SHIPS RUSH SUPPLIES TO QUAKE AREAS

Shocks Continue Throughout Greece—Death Toll Counts to 200.

OVER 400 INJURED.

ATHENS, Sept. 29 (C.P.).—Arrival of part of the British Eastern Mediterranean fleet, bringing food and medical supplies for relief of sufferers from the earthquakes that have shaken Greece since the beginning of the week, was hailed here to-day with great public demonstrations.

In the meantime, the 'quakes continued and it was feared the casualties would be greater than originally supposed. The number of dead was placed to-day at 203 and the injured at 400.

The shocks were so strong that men and stones were thrown considerable distances and the 'quake districts were covered with clouds of dust. Cracks more than seven feet wide appeared in the ground and water fountains which disappeared in some places reappeared in others.

Private initiative and Government agencies joined in efforts to relieve the sufferers. Premier Herriot of France personally sent a donation of 50,000 francs (about $2,000).

Felt In Germany.

RATIBOR, Germany, Sat. 29. — (C.P.).—Seismographs at the University here registered new earthquake shocks, apparently in the vicinity of Chalcidice, Greece, at 6 p.m. yestreday and 5 a.m. to-day.

Terrified refugees thronged into Salonika in droves, telling harrowing tales of their sufferings. At Salonika itself the damage was small, but the people were relieved, nevertheless, by the arrival of five British cruisers.

Refugees said sharp lightning preceded the quake. Several deaths were due, they said, to suddenly awakened people leaping from windows to the ground after the first shock. The ground sank as much as eight feet in some places.

Communication with Mount Athos was restored to-day and it was learned the monastery buildings there were not damaged seriously.

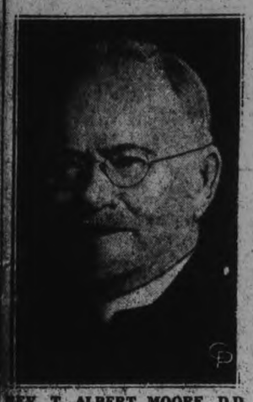
New Moderator



REV. T. ALBERT MOORE, D.D., Who has been elected Moderator of the United Church of Canada for the next two years.

BOARD STARTS GIGANTIC TASK OF FUND PROBE

Seek Person Responsible for Nearly $1,000,000 Loss in University Cash.

MAZE OF EVIDENCE.

Will Also Learn How it Was Possible to Cover Shortages So Long.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 29. (CP). Empowered by the Manitoba Government to investigate the loss of nearly $1,000,000 in the endowment funds of the University of Manitoba, a board of inquiry to-day began to unravel a maze of evidence in search of the person responsible and the method by which the huge sums were removed from the University accounts.

In a reference prepared by the government the board composed of Mr. Justice Turgeon, Regina, Dr. Walter C. Murray, Saskatoon and C. G. K. Ncurse, Winnipeg, is charged to decide the "person or persons directly or indirectly responsible for the impairment or depletion" of the trust funds.

Seek Method Used

Also, they are to attempt to find how it was possible to conceal the shortages "in view of the powers vested in the administrative body and the audits which are provided for."

The board, appointed by the government following the arrest of John A. Machray, K.C., former Bursar, subsequently sentenced to seven years in penitentiary for the theft of $500,000 from the funds, opened its sessions this morning.

The actual funds were handled through Machray's investment firm of Machray and Sharpe. It was while in their keeping the huge losses occurred and the aged bursar was charged with stealing $901,175. The charge, however, was later reduced to half a million dollars.

Date When Started

The board is asked by the government to report on the method employed in the administration of the trust funds since their establishment; the extent to which each endowment or trust funds has been impaired or depleted; the date when the process of impairment began and the use made of the assets which were abstracted to cause the losses.

Recommendations will be made by the board in their findings. Regarding 'any changes that may be deemed necessary in the conduct, management and control of the university and of the property, trust funds, endowments, securities, revenue and business affairs thereof."

Two Workmen Are Seriously Injured

TORONTO, Sept. 29. — (C.P.)—Two men were seriously injured today by an explosion which set fire to the electric switchboard at the John street pumping station of the Toronto Waterworks Department.

The men, Daniel Glen, 50, and George McCann, 45, both electricians, were rushed to hospital where they were said to be badly burned about their heads and faces. Both, is thought, would recover.

LON WARNEKE IS UNABLE TO TURN TIDE FOR CUBS

Yankees Gain Commanding Lead of Two Victories in World Series.

SCORE 5 RUNS TO 2.

More Than 50,000 Fans See Second Game of the Series.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, September 29 (C.P.).—The Yankees gained a commanding lead of two victories to none as young Lefty Gomez shaded Lon Warneke of the Cubs to win the second game of the World Series, 5 to 2, today before a crowd estimated at more than 50,000.

Last minute permission from Baseball Commissioner Landis to sell single game reserved seats, instead of the three game strips that went begging, helped stimulate box-office business.

The line-ups:

YANKEES— Combs, c.f.; Sewell, 3b.; Ruth, r.f.; Gehrig, 1b.; Lazzeri, 2b.; Dickey, c.; Chapman, l.f.; Crossetti, s.s.; Gomez, p.

Play By Play

YANKEE STADIUM, Sept. 29. — (AP)—The following play by play description of the second game of the world series is by Alan Gould, sports editor of the Associated Press.

First Inning

Cubs—The band struck up the National Anthem as the Yankees galloped out onto the field. The opening picture was a big contrast to yesterday's gloomy getaway.

Herman drove a double down the third base line. English hoisted to Combs, Herman held second. Cuyler bounced to Crossetti and was safe on the young shortstop's fumble. Herman stopped at third. Stephenson popped to Combs and Herman raced home after the catch. Cuyler remained at first. Demaree filed out to Ruth. One run, one hit, one error.

Yankees—Combs walked on a fourth wide pitch. Sewell walked when another pitch failed to break toward the plate. The Cubs went over to Buck up their young pitcher. Ruth fanned swinging at a slow curve. Hartnett threw to second but Combs slid back safely.

Snowstorm in North Concludes With Hail

LAKEHURST, Sept. 29 ((Special).—Unknown to the memory of some of the oldest inhabitants of this district as having come so early in the fall, the snowstorm of this morning is regarded as a distinct novelty.

Not just sleet, but real snow is reported to have fallen heavily in the north of the county. Commencing at about 10.30 a.m. the storm continued for over an hour covering everything with a mantle of white. It concluded with a heavy hailstorm, and at an early hour this afternoon hailstones were still covering sections of the countryside.

VIRGINIA VAN WIE WINS.

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare Takes 2 and 1 Victory Over Peggy Wattles.

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 29.—(C.P.)—Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, to-day gave the women's United States' golf championship a major upset by defeating Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N.J., 2 and 1 for a place in the semi-finals at the Salem Country Club.

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, a champion five times, but on a great closing surge to overtake Peggy Wattles of Bufaflo, and then sweep into another 2 and 1 victory. Miss Wattles matched the par of 38 going out and was three up at the turn.

Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, pulled out a 3 and 2 victory over Rosalie Knapp of Glen Head, N.Y., after outstroking her all the way.

ENID WILSON ELIMINATED.

PEABODY, Mass., September 29 (C.P.). — Enid Wilson, British golf champion for the past two years, and one of the 1931 semi-finalists in the United States play, to-day was eliminated by Charlotte Glutting, New Jersey titilst in a quarter-finals match by one up.

The clever English gal, the most feared player in the title competition, bowed out by missing a seven-foot putt on the home green, Miss Wilson had a two-hole lead at the turn.

REV. T. ALBERT MOORE IS ELECTED MODERATOR OF UNITED CHURCH

Retiring Moderator Calls for Harmony With the Presbyterian Church.

THREE NOMINATED.

HAMILTON, Sept. 29.—Accorded a clear majority over the two other candidates, Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore of Toronto, general secretary of the United Church of Canada, was elected as Moderator for the next two years at last night's session of the General Council in the First United Church.

The retiring Moderator, Dr. E. H. Oliver, voiced a plea for harmony between the United Church and the continuing Presbyterians. The United Church, he asserted, would not quarrel over the use of the word "Presbyterian."

Whether Dr. Moore will continue to act as general secretary was a point which had not been settled last night. He does not have to retire as secretary and may carry on if he chooses to do so, but, at his own wish, a committee was appointed to make a recommendation in the matter, which it will do to-day.

Other candidates who stood for the Moderatorship were Rev. Dr. Richard Roberts of Sherbourne Street, Toronto, and Rev. Dr. W. L. Armstrong of Toronto. They congratulated Dr. Moore when his election was announced and assured him of their heartiest co-operation and loyalty.

Success Is Assured Y.M.C.A. Campaign

Successof the Y.M.C.A. campaign for 1,000 members for the year was promised last night when the workers made their first report after two days' campaigning. It was reported that the workers have already signed up 445 members, the total being made up of 134 for the boys' department and 311 men.

Honors were earned by the member of each division securing the highest number of points. Stan Shields was high man in A division, Jack Roper in B division and Milf Hardill in C division.

It is predicted that further progress will be shown at the next reporting which is scheduled for to-morrow evening.

Little Girls Hurt Playing At School

Two little girls attending May's School suffered minor injuries while at play Wednesday.

Isabel Eastabrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eastabrook, was the more seriously injured, her left arm being fractured by an accident while swinging in the school yard. The other girl, Barbara Blackwell, was struck on the head by the seat of a swing while passing in front of it. Medical attention was required for both children, and the little Eastabrook girl was taken to the Nicholls Hospital for treatment.

RESIGNATIONS AIMED TO REVIVE LIBERAL PARTY

Times Adds Free Traders' Breach in Government Easily Repaired.

MOVES MISTIMED.

Blame Snowden for Tory Majority—Must Take Responsibility of Errors.

LONDON, Sept. 29 (C.P. Cable).—"An untimely secession" declares the Times to-day, commenting on the resignation of Free Trade members of the National Government. The newspaper adds that the breach in the Government is "easily reparable."

Without questioning the sincerity of the seceding Ministers, The Times says that fundamentally the resignation was prompted by fears that if they remained in office the Liberal Party would split beyond repair. The Government gains in cohesion, the newspaper adds, without losing its claim to possess a national mandate.

Analysing the reasons for the Ministers' resignations, The Times finds difficulty in understanding why patriotic, courageous men should have exalted the fiscal policy into a reason for resignation at the very moment when British policy towards all other problems is in the informative, creative and most delicate stage. "Sir Herbert Samuel and his colleagues have read into the Ottawa agreements very terrible dangers which their co-Ministers have been unable to detect," the newspaper continues. "The proposal that the legislation arising from the Ottawa agreements should be delayed is clearly impracticable. It would mean, for example, that these agreements with foreign countries for which the departing Ministers are so anxious would also be delayed many months.

Cabinet Stronger.

The Daily Telegraph expresses the opinion the Cabinet is now stronger and the standing of the seceding Ministers more likely to suffer in the general estimation. "The Liberal Ministers scruples were mistimed. They would have re-

POLICE HUNTING MISSING GIRLS

One Disappears From Walkerville—Second at Windsor Market.

MYSTERY SHOOTING.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 29 (C.P.).—Disappearance of two young women and the mysterious shooting of a third kept district police busy to-day.

No trace was found of Norma Tessie, 17, who disappeared Monday from Walkerville, and to-day authorities were told Mabel Cillings, 20, of Gesto, had vanished in Windsore yesterday shortly after she accompanied relatives to the market. She was not known to have friends in the Border Cities.

The third mystery was added last night when Vermay Vincent, 15, was shot in her home at Remington Park, a Windsor suburb.

HIGH QUALITY EXHIBITS SEEN LAKEFIELD FAIR

Large Crowd Attends Annual Village Event Despite Inclement Weather.

GOOD FLOWER SHOW.

Poultry Exhibit is Larger Than Last Year—Much Interest in Fancy Work.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 29 (Examiner Correspondence). — The weather man did not favor the Lakfield Fair, as just as the fair was ready to open its doors to the crowd, a drenching shower came down with several encore performances during the afternoon, and with each recurring shower the temperature dropped in a manner which was hardly appreciated by those who left their heavy top coats at home. Nevertheless there was a good crowd present considering the weather.

The fair was better than in previous years in many respects as, while the number of exhibits was less than last year, the standard of quality was decidedly higher. The livestock was less in number than last year, but fully up to the mark in quality. The poultry was very numerous and needed larger quarters. The sheep classes were well entered, but there were fewer swine. Inside the garden, grain and orchard exhibits were especially good, the apples were better than for years in both variety and in perfection, while the roots were remarkably fine.

Fewer Entries

In the ladies' section there were fewer entries, but practically all would grade A1. The flowers were good and featured especially dahlias, gladioli, asters and marigolds though there were lots of other flowers shown, the floral exhibit was the most attractive in years and was much admired by both local and out of town visitors. Several of the best exhibits were not awarder prizes because of poor arrange-

SHOE FACTORY OPENS ON OCT. 3

Employees Decide to Take Over Bonds—10 p.c. Deduction From Earnings.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 29 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The Weston Shoe Company, Limited, at Campbellford, which suspended operations the latter part of August, will open up on October 3, when the full quota of hands will again check in to take up their usual tasks. The factory employs about 200 hands, and is one of the staple local industries, and the temporary shut-down, which was caused by overstock caused some concern for a time in the district.

But what is a more pleasing aspect of the situation is the fact that at a recent meeting of the employees of the factory it was unanimously decided that the outstanding bonds of the company be purchased by the employees.

A committee comprised of Miss I. Cooke, T. Morrey, R. J. Bullen and E. H. Armstrong was appointed to act as trustees to collect and disburse ten per cent of the total earnings which will be set aside for that purpose. It is estimated that in six years or less the entire bond issue will be acquired by the employees.

UTOPIAN COLONY PICKS ITS SITE

Camp to be Socialistic Haven for Men Tired of Capitalist System.

ON VANCOUVER ISLAND.

VICTORIA, Sept. 29 (C.P.). — Plans for the establishment of a Utopian Socialistic colony on Vancouver Island are now well advanced it is learned here. The Canadian Young People's Co-operative Society of Alberta and Saskatchewan is sponsoring the movement.

Dissatisfied with what they termed the "capitalistic system," the society sent two agents here to look over suitable sites. The agents have settled on Sooke where a community was established some years ago by the International Bible Students.

Buildings, including kitchens, dwellings and work shops are already there and have been vacant since the Bible Students group broke up.

The community, its leaders say, will be run on straight Socialistic principles as "a haven for men tired in body and spirit who seek relief from the strain and stress of the capitalistic system and desires something higher out of life than what is afforded to drab commercialism."

The first contingent of the Utopians is expected to come to Sooke in February and will consist of about 20 young men and young women.

Hit During "Dare" Father Of 11, Dies

ELKHART, Ind., Sept. 29.—(AP) —On his way to work in the city Commissary Garden to provide for his 11 children, Charles Baker, 36, was fatally injured when a high school athlete accepted his "dare" to strike him during an altercation.

Warren Pletcher, 17-year-old basketball player was held today on a technical charge of assault. Pletcher said he was riding his bicycle along the sidewalk yesterday when Baker ordered him off and issued a dare to "hit" him. Pletcher said the blow he struck was not a forceful one, and that Baker's skull fracture resulted from his fall to the sidewalk.

FALL FAIR GETS GOOD START AT CAMPBELLFORD

First Day of Event Shows Large Number of Exhibits —Some Lovely Flowers.

POULTRY CLASS FULL.

Less Grain Than Last Year, But Splendid Exhibit of Corn and Apples.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 29.—With the judging of the indoor exhibits and poultry the first day of the Seymour Agricultral Society's Fall Fair, held at Campbellford got under way yesterday and gave evidence of being a decided success despite adverse financial and trade conditions.

The number of exhibits in the main building this year were not so large in some classes, but the general standard of quality was well maintained. This however, did not apply to the poultry entries, which topped previous records and made a wonderful display for lovers of birds. The whole of the afternoon was given over to the judging of these exhibits.

One of the features of the main building was the wonderful exhibit of apples, which included every variety in the prize list and also gave a graphic demonstration of the wealth of Ontario fruit gardens. This exhibit was far in excess of last year, both in size and quality. Grains were not so heavy this year although what where there were of a very good quality. This no doubt was due in some extent to the fact that the list this year called for a quantity of one and a half bushel instead of the one bushel entry which has been the custom in years past. This was to discourage the practice of showing old grains.

All vegetables were good and the classes were well filled. Particularly the potatoe class, which was above the standard of quality and showed some excellent exhibits of the Early Rose and Irish Cobbler varieties. Field roots were good with some excellent turnips and mangles and a worth while exhibit of carrots shown.

JUSTICE RIDDELL OPERATED UPON

Condition is Reported to be Fair This Morning at Hospital.

PROBE COMMISSIONER.

TORONTO, September 29 (C.P.). —Reports to-day from the hospital where Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell, a member of the Ontario Supreme Court, is confined following a serious operation, said his condition is fair, following the spending of a comfortable night.

His Lordship is said to be suffering from an abdominal condition, which necessitated the operation yesterday.

Much interest is attached to His Lordship's illness, due to the fact he is the third member of the Royal Commission inquiring into certain phases of the Ontario Hydro administration, to be stricken while in the performance of his duties.

Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton, the original commissioner, took sick after one day's hearing, and was forced to relinquish his duties.

The probe re-opened under Mr Justice J. F. Orde, who completed the hearing. Before he could deliver his findings, however, he died mained in the Cabinet if their quite impossible condition for the postponement of the Ottawa legislation had been conceded. Their action, therefore, was decided not on a principle of policy which they accepted but on a matter of degree in the application of that policy."

Dubbing Lord Snowden the only genuine Free Trader left in politics standing in "cantankerous isolation," the Morning Post suspects the true aim of the resignations is not to resurrect Free Trade but to revive the Liberal Party. The newspaper says it would have been more impressed with "the virtuous gesture" if it had been made either a good deal sooner or a little later.

"We are not yet acquainted with the applications of the Ottawa agreements," the newspaper continues, "but believe they tend rather to lower tariffs within than to raise them without."

No Cause For Regret.

The Daily Express says there is no reason to regret the Ministers' departure, which affords the Government a splendid opportunity of carrying through the "policy for which they were elected." The Daily Mail regards the secession as a gain at home despite the possible temporary diminuation of the Government's influence abroad. It trusts the strength and stability of the Government will not be shaken by factious criticism.

The seceding Ministers are congratulated by the News Chronicle which takes the view that while they remained in the Cabinet they were hopelessly handicapping the Liberals in any attempt to further the policies they believed necessary.

Lord Snowden is reminded by the Daily Herald that he was "responsible for the creation of the present Conservative majority," and therefore cannot escape "a full share of responsibility for the errors on which he now pours scorn."

POLITICAL UNIT GAINS STRENGTH

Brotherhood of Railway Employees Join Cooperative Commonwealth Federation.

CONTRIBUTION MADE.

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 29 (C.P.) Headquarters of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, Canada's latest political unit, announce approval of the first formal affiliation and the first contribution to the federation's treasure.

To the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, a Dominion organization, went the honor of being first to formally affiliate with the federation and meet its affiliation fee. The second was the Independent Labor party of Manitoba, which recently approved action of its delegates at the Calgary organization convention over a month ago.

First contribution to the federation's treasury came from the United Farm Women of Alberta local at Three Hills, which contributed the proceeds of a meeting where a silver collection was taken.

While representatives are on speaking tours through eastern and western Canada, interest is centreing on the forthcoming convention of the United Farmers of Ontario in December. The Ontario farm executive at present is sending information about the federation to the membership and the question of affiliation will be decided at the December meeting.

HONOR MRS. ROGERS ON 90TH BIRTHDAY

Many Happy Memories Recalled by Havelock's Oldest Grandmother.

HAVELOCK, Sept. 29 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. Rogers, one of Havelock's oldest grandmothers, celebrated her ninetieth birthday recently, when a birthday party was given in her honor by her daughter, Mrs. Wannamaker, with whom this dear old lady lives, at Old Havelock. Many of her friends and neighbors were present, notably one of her girlhood friends, Mrs. McColl, who is Mrs. Rogers' senior by three months, and who lives with her son, Mr. Archie McColl, nearby.

A large birthday cake, centred with candles to form the figures 90 was in the centre of the table. During the afternoon Mrs. Rogers recalled many happy memories, and reminded Mrs. McColl of the first time they had met, which was at a ball, she remembered.

A pleasant feature of the day was the arrival of her daughter and three grandchildren from Lindsay, who journeyed all the way to do honor to their grandmother on her natal day.

Mrs. Rogers was the oldest grandmother present at the Women's Institute Grandmother's Day celebration in August, and received a candy jar, filled with after dinner mints. Mrs. Rogers, though very frail looking, is quite bright in spite of her advanced years.

HONORARY PRESIDENT

SAULT STE. MARIE. — Mayor James Lyons, M.L.A., was unanimously elected honorary president of the Canadian Legion to-day. Col. J. F. Picking, St. Thomas, retiring president, was unanimously elected honorary treasurer. Other elections will be held Friday.

A class that was well filled and had a high standard of quality was corn, garden, red and sweet, sheaf and popcorn. This in itself was an excellent demonstration of the interest taken on farms in the growing of this popular product.

Home Cooking

And then there were the breads and the buns, the cookies and the biscuits, the cakes, layer, chocolate and other varieties, a sight to make a fellow hungry and an exceptionally hard entry list to judge. And with this section of the exhibit came the canned fruits, of which there was a splendid selection, pickles and sances, jellies, and a very fine display of berries, peaches, plums, pears and citrons, making a delightful display of colour. And added to this were several entries of lunches, laid out ready for the lucky diner and a good showing of raw fruit salads.

And there was just a wonderful display of eggs, both white and brown shells, showing very clearly the quality of the hens kept on Northumberland county farms. These were all of a uniform size and the judges experienced great difficulty in this class in awarding their decisions.

In the domestic needlecraft classes entries were large and good, with a splendid array of sewing and garment making and some fine fancy work. Quilts were in abundance and the house dresses and aprons were rich in colour and variety, showing some excellent patterns and designs.

The fine arts class was also good with some very fine oil paintings and water colours. These showed splendid colour tone and a blending which was rich and harmonious. Pencil and crayon drawings portrayed real talent and were well executed besides showing a wide subject matter. One large painting on silk, having a medevial setting for its subject, was exceptionally fine. While a collection of hammered brass and reed work was very attractive.

And one of the classes that exceeded last years' entry list and which added to the building that delicate touch which goes to charm any surroundings, was the flowers. All sections of this class were filled and the effect in coloring and perfume was magnificent.

The judges in the classes were: Grains, roots, fruits, E. E. Banter, Carrying Pisce; domestic science, Mrs. W. K. Huffman, Moscow; ladies' work, Mrs. D. Tucker, Napanee.

Poultry Exhibits

Joseph White of Portsmouth was the judge for the poultry class and this official had more than his share of the work. With an excellent exhibit in all sections, judging was hard owing to the uniform high quality of the poultry, and took all afternoon. Ducks, geese, turkeys and bantams were well in evidence, while a pair of beautiful Angora rabbits were a real picture and took the eye of the crowd.

Today (Thursday) will be the big day for the public. The fair will be officially opened after dinner by Mayor H. N. Carr, and will start a fine program of track events, arranged by the energetic and popular chairman of the sports committee, T. J. Horkins. It is expected that entries this year will be full, with three events scheduled and good purses.

For the lovers of sport the afternoon will also feature two ball games, a softball clash between the ladies of East and West Seymour and a hard ball battle between Campbellford and Warkworth. And for the children there will be Vitale-Mitchell midway shows, which are an excellent attraction and well run and the band of the Northumberland Regiment will provide a program of music during the afternoon.

Street Fair

And the big day will conclude with a grand street fair and dance in the evening sponsored by the Campbellford branch of the Canadian Legion. This will be held on Front street and will offer a fine selection of prizes to be won on the wheels and bingo games besides the chance to win some excellent blankets on the wheels allotted for that purpose. A first class orchestra has been provided for the street dance which will supply music for old and new dances and will be equipped with a loud speaker. And at this function the draw will be made for the three prizes offered to dance ticket holders.

REV. T. A. MOORE NEW MODERATOR

Moore, said: "You, sir, will be under a tremendous disadvantage in your new office because we who have preceded you all had T. Albert Moore at our side. What you will do without him at your side is something I don't know."

Dr. Roberts was nominated by Rev. Dr. C. W. Bishop of Albert College, Belleville, who stressed that in seven years a minister of the pulpit had filled the office of Moderator for only one year; other years the occupants of that office were previous executives of the Church. Dr. Bishop said many felt it was time that the pastorate should be represented by the Moderator.

Rev. Dr. E. Leslie Pidgeon of Montreal then nominated Dr. Moore and said that if the United Church ever intended to honor his years of service with the highest office within its gift, then it should do so at this time. He knew of no man in the Church better qualified to give the Church the leadership it needed at this time, and a man who would enter sympathetically into the problems confronting the ministers.

Rev. Dr. W. A. McTaggart of Toronto nominated Dr. Armstrong and he too took the same stand as that taken by Dr. Bishop, that it was time the Moderatorship went to a man occupying a pulpit.

The numerical result of the vote was not announced

New Moderator.

Dr. Moore, whose election was greeted with sustained applause, said it would take two years of continued effort on his part to convey to the Church his appreciation of the honor it had conferred upon him. He was gratified, he said, that the honor had come to him in Hamilton, as it was in this city he was received into the Methodist ministry, and his last charge in that ministry was also in this city at Zion Tabernacle.

Dr. Oliver Speaks.

Victory through tribulation, was the subject of the conference sermon by Rev. Dr. E. H. Oliver, retiring Moderator, at the opening session yesterday afternoon.

Rev. Dr. Oliver said many changes had taken place in recent years and a great building-up was going on, although many might fail to realize it.

"My message is for us to press on to victory—victory at the price of fellowship—that fellowship of the Cross which is the eternal watchword of the Cross," continued Dr. Oliver. He said he had appealed to the Church two years ago for courage, and added that the result was not disappointing.

"What we need at this time is courage," he said, "but there are different types of this quality. There is the courage of despair which will never yield even when the chance of victory is almost hopeless; then there is the courage which cannot be overcome. The courage of hope is also inspiring, but the greatest courage is that which, in the time of tribulation, says: 'We have won already.' Victory is not problematical; it always is here for those who will face the Cross. If we believe that God is our refuge and strength, how can we fail?"

Regret over the death of Rev. George W. Coates, young missionary from Saskatoon, killed by an auto in Japan recently, was expressed by Rev. Dr. Oliver in his closing address to the Council.

The Moderator referred to Rev. Mr. Coates as "the best graduate we ever had" at St. Andrew's College, Saskatoon.

Welsh Coal Output 20,000,000 Tons Less

LONDON, Sept. 29. (C. P. Cable) The annual output of coal from South Wales has dropped 20,000,000 since before the war, declared the war, declared the chairman of the Ebbw Vale Coal and Iron Company to a gathering of the company's stockholders to-day. Faced with the necessity of a drastic reorganization of the £8,000,000 capital the stockholders had been called to discuss the problem. The reorganization was authorized but there were some who questioned the wisdom of carrying on.

The industrial world is again discussing the renewed negotiations for a merger of the famous Middlesborough iron and steel firm of Orman Long and Company, with the South Durham Steel and Iron Company. The present combined capital of the two would be about £20,000,000.

Trotting Events

The horse racing was the best in years, and both races were real trials of speed with a thrill to the very end as each heat was worth seeing and the sporting instinct of the crowd was roused by the way in which the horses kept neck and neck right to the finish.

Six horses entered the 2.18 class as follows:—Mac Dale, owner by Mr. Emmals of Apsley; Murray Direct, owned by W. H. Peacock of Lakefield; Todd Grattan, owned by James Sutherland, Peterborough; Keenedale, owned by C. Fife, Peterborough; Betty Wenger, owned by Gerald Dunford, Peterborough; Minnie Patchen, owned by C. Quinlan, Peterborough.

The following is the result of this race for a purse of $100.00. Todd Grattan and Minnie Patchen finished in a dead heat in the third heat. The time was 2.14:—

Todd Grattan	2	3	1	1	1
Murray Direct	1	1	3	2	2
Minnie Patchen ...	3	2	1	3	3

2.28 Class

In the 2.28 class four horses entered. Ella Tucker, owned by Mr. Tucker; Nellie Dear, owned by Eddie Jones; Lucy Peters, owned by Charles Fife, and Jimmie the Tramp, owned by Gerald Dunsford. The purse was $75.00. The results were, as follows:—

Ella Todd	1	1	1
Jimmie the Tramp	2	2	2
Nellie Dear	4	3	3
Lucy Peters	3	4	4

A. Blade was back again as starter and ably filled the position, as he kept both drivers and the crowd in good humor.

Step Dancing Contest

The step dancing contest with the music furnished by the Lumberjack's Quartette was slow in the start but har a splendid finish as one entry followed another, which drew a crowd around the band stand for the performance. Seven entries were made after Mr. Blade led off with a performance which showed that he was indeed possessed of varied talents. The oldest entry was Edward Riel, aged 82, who showed that the boys of the old brigade can show the boys of today the way in many respects Mr. Riel will be awarded second prize if one can be procured. The youngest entry was a lad, Daniel Maloney who in turn displayed to all and sundry that the art of step dancing will be carried on by the next generation in a manner quite as good as the past or present could show.

"Mickey" McManus, who has a pair of exceptionally nimble feet, was awarded the prize, a pair of shoes, donated by Mr. Glen Wannamaker.

The boys' and girls' singing contest was divided into classes A, B, and C. The judge was W. R. Potter of Peterborough.

Class A, for best girl singer under 13 years of age, four entries—Eleanor and Velma Staples, Laura Skelcher and Jean Fowler. Jean Fowler, eleven years old, singing "Oh Canada" won with 33 points out of 40.

Class B, for best boy singers, under 13 years, also drew four entries, Ralph Beavis, Billy Clark, Donald Milburn and Lawrie Mahood. Lawrie Mahood won with 29 points out of 40 with Billy Clark a very close second. Both boys had chosen the same selection, "The Land of the Maple."

Class C was open to both boys and girls 16 years and under and drew no new entries while five of class A and B entered with real enthusiasm. The prize was a toboggan donated by the Peterborough Canoe Co. Eleanor Staples, Jean Fowler, Ralph Beavis, Laura Skelcher and Laurie Mahood entered but none did quite as well as in the preliminary trial in classes A and B. Laura Skelcher who sang "Out in the Gloomy Night" won with 26 points.

Slow Motor Race

The slow motor race has become a feature of the program every year ever since it was introduced first as a novelty. The rule is two men to a car, the car to start in high gear and the driver to touch neither clutch nor brake and the car which can go around the track the slowest wins. If the car stalls it is disqualified. Rollie Darling won it for the second year in succession, the time this year was eleven minutes; his time a year ago was twelve. Other entries included G. G. Connell, J. T. Webster and A. Gill.

The band was present and presented an afternoon's program even when driven from the band stand by rain they commandeered a corner of the grand stand and carried on there, showing a commendably optimistic spirit.

The school fair occupied a section of the building and was better than ever in nearly every respect.

Art Work Good.

The art work was especially worth while and the map drawing struck a new high level. The mechanical section was remarkably good, and showed careful work and a better combination of the practical and ideal in constructive workmanship. The Woman's Institute introduced a thrift exhibit, and invited co-operation from the Warsaw, Hall's Bridge, Young's Point, and Apsley branches. Hall's Bridge was the only one to enter with Lakefield, and the exhibit from there won first prize from the Government judge. It was beautifully arranged, decorated with autumn leaves and about twice as extensive as the local exhibit.

Articles made from a jute sack and wreaths or bouquets made of wild everlasting flowers were used and the variety and attractive qualities of the jute runners, work bags, where the Institute work was displayed. Some of the jute sacks were dyed and made into articles ideal for use in summer cottages, combining the ornamental and the useful in an unusual degree.

A particularly beautiful display of gladioli most attractively arranged with a background of dark green, and in charge of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cardwell of Wallace's Point, who are enthusiasts about flowers especially the "glads." Many new varieties were shown, and Mr. and Mrs. Cardwell made the acquaintance of many local flower lovers, who were drawn to the novel and exquisite display.

The Lumberjacks, who are very popular radio stars, were present, and gave a series of entertainments during the afternoon, with an entertainment in the Town Hall in the evening followed by an old-time dance.

The midway flourished as midways usually do, although showers sent the crowds rushing for cover.

The directors were far from discouraged at the small attendance, and displayed a spirit of optimism which will help to end the depression and bring back the good days when unemployment and financial worry will be but memories.

TOO FAT TO LACE HIS SHOES

Sends His Weight Tickets

TO SHOW 50 LBS. HAS GONE NOW

It was quite by chance that this man found the way to reduce his enormous load of excess fat. He had pains in his legs and took Kruschen as a remedy. He soon found he was losing fat as well as pain.

"The reason that I first purchased Kruschen Salts," he writes, "was because both my legs used to swell after I'd been on my feet each day, and were very painful from the ankles up to the knee. I am pleased to say that they are getting better every day. I also weighed about 290 lbs., and I had trouble to lace my own shoes. Now, as you can see by the enclosed weight tickets, I have got down to 260 lbs. I have only taken Kruschen Salts in my tea, and have hardly studied what I have eaten. My age is 57 years, and my height 6-ft. 1-in."—E. S.

Two months later he says:—"Since writing to you two months ago, I am now down to 240 lbs. I can hardly realise what great benefit I have received from Kruschen Salts. My legs do not pain me at all now. I feel better in health, and can move about as well as ever I did. To think that I have lost 50 lbs. in seven months—and all for so little cost—it is wonderful. I can tell you that I shall always stick to Kruschen Salts."—E. S.

Kruschen helps blood, nerves, glands and body organs to function properly—you gain new strength and energy—feel years younger—look better, work better. Start the Kruschen treatment to-day!

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

$2,500.00 IN CASH PRIZES

Given for arranging these 7 uses for Fry's Cocoa in the order of their popularity—

HERE ARE THE PRIZES:

1st	$500.00	5th	$200.00
2nd	$350.00	6th	$150.00
3rd	$300.00	7th	$100.00
4th	$250.00	50 Prizes	$5.00 each
200 Prizes,	$2.00 each	TOTAL	$2,500.00

Here are seven different and well-recognized uses for Fry's Cocoa, arranged in alphabetical order:

Cake Icing
Cakes and Puddings
Children's Drink
Chocolate Fudge
Chocolate Sauce
Hot Cocoa Drink
Iced Cocoa Drink

DISREGARDING the above order entirely, write down these seven uses in what you think is the order of their popularity in the average home. Study the uses and figure out for yourself what is likely to be the popular order.

Send your entry to us (see conditions below) to be included in our $2,500.00 Prize Competition. The use you put first will be given a score of 7 points; the use you put second will be given 6 points; the use you put third will be given 5 points; the use you put fourth will be given 4 points; your fifth choice will be given 3 points; your sixth choice will receive 2 points and your seventh or last choice, 1 point.

Each and every entry received will be treated in exactly the same way. When the Competition closes (which will be November 15th, 1932) the totals from all entries will be added up and the use securing the highest number of points will be adjudged the most popular one. The use scoring the second highest number of points will be adjudged the second most popular use. The use securing the third largest number of points will receive third place and so on down the line.

The $2,500.00 in cash prizes will be awarded to those who have listed all seven uses in the order nearest to the order determined by popular vote.

How to Enter the Contest

Simply remove the label from a tin of Fry's Breakfast Cocoa (either a one-pound or half-pound size) and write on the back of it the seven uses in the order of your choice and number them accordingly. Below that write your name and address plainly—preferably in printed characters. Then mail your entry to Dept. C, J. S. FRY & SONS (Canada) Limited, 2025 Masson Street, Montreal.

You may send in as many different entries as you wish but each entry must be on a separate Fry's Breakfast Cocoa label.

Rules of Contest

The first prize, $500 in cash, will be awarded to the person listing all seven uses in the order found to be the winning order. Or, in the event that no one lists all seven uses correctly, the money will be paid to the person who lists the greatest number of uses correctly.

If two persons list all seven uses correctly, the first and second prizes will be pooled and divided evenly. If three or more persons guess correctly, the grand prizes will be pooled and divided amongst the winners. Otherwise, the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh Prizes will be awarded to the persons coming nearest to the correct order after the First Prize winner.

The 50 prizes of $5.00 each will be awarded to the 50 persons whose lists come nearest to being correct after the grand prizes have been awarded. The 200 prizes of $2.00 each will be awarded in a similar way, to the persons whose answers are next nearest correct.

This Competition is open only to residents of Canada. Employees of the FRY Company are barred.

The contest will close November 15th and no entries will be considered if postmarked after that date. Prize Winners will be announced in this paper on December 15th and cheques will be mailed at once.

Everyone Has an Equal Chance

No individual can possibly figure out in advance just what the final order of the seven uses will be. This can only be determined by popular vote. Thus your chance of winning a prize is just as good as any.

A MUNICIPAL PRAYER.

Mayor Roland Denne's attention has been called to a little prayer which is affixed to the wall of a public official in another city.

The author is unknown, but deserves credit for his close observance of human nature and his knowledge of what is involved in public life. Here is the prayer:

"Man that hath to do with the public business is of few days and full of trouble.

"He cometh forth in the morning with high hopes and ere the setting of the sun of that day he hath met with many reverses and continueth not.

"Yet, O Lord, have compassion on the children of Thy creation that have to do with the public business. Be present and administer them comfort in time of trouble, for they are in trouble most of the time.

"We pray Thee to forgive our many critics who know not whereof they speak."

THAT NEW YORK LOAN.

The flotation of a Canadian loan in New York is a significant development that indicates a return to something like normal conditions in the New York money market, which for some time has been practically closed to foreign and to a great extent to domestic borrowers.

For two years Canada has done no foreign borrowing to speak of, and the announcement therefore that a $60,000,000 loan has been successfully arranged to meet maturing obligations in the New York market will be regarded as a sign that the panic is over.

Even more gratifying from a Canadian viewpoint is the fact that Canada's loan was oversubscribed within half an hour, and when the market closed Monday the new issue was quoted as above par, a condition which can rightly be called a tribute to the essential soundness of Canada's financial position and to the achievement of the Dominion in meeting every last cent of its obligations during a period when world finance has been seriously disturbed.

New York advices point out the fact that the Canadian loan represents the only sizable offering done this year for foreign account, further proof of faith in the high standard of Canadian securities.

THE RAILWAY PROBLEM.

The announcement that the railway situation in the United States is to be studied and investigated by a non-partisan railway committee, headed by ex-President Calvin Coolidge, will be of interest to Canadians, who are endeavoring at the present time to weigh up the merits of the findings of a similar commission which probed the transportation problem in this country.

The United States committee, which is to be report recommendations for relief and betterment, includes such outstanding Americans as ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith, Bernard M. Baruch, Clark Howell and Alexander Legge, and the calibre of the men selected will inspire confidence in the thoroughness and fairness of the investigation and in the value of the suggestions that may be brought forward.

The railway situation across the border has become most serious.

The roads as a whole have operated at huge deficits, and in a number of cases a complete financial breakdown has been narrowly averted.

As the American lines normally employ 1,500,000 railway workers and indirectly provides jobs for many thousands more, and as railway shares and obligations amount to nineteen and a half billion dollars, the necessity of finding a path to prosperity out of the present financial morass should be evident to everybody.

The findings of this important body will be awaited with a great deal of interest.

A CABINET SPLIT

The resignation of three free trade Ministers from the British Cabinet and of eight Under Secretaries will occasion little surprise, for holding the views they do and realizing the impossibility of changing the opinions of the majority of the Cabinet, Viscount Snowden, Sir Herbert Samuel and Sir Archibald Sinclair could not be expected to continue the alliance.

What the dissentient Ministers desired was, briefly, that the agreements entered into at Ottawa should be postponed until after the World Economic Conference.

Their colleagues, on the other hand, were insistent that tariffs were a development of new world conditions, and that Britain could not therefore think of abandoning such a weapon, while, in addition, there was the undoubted fact that the only trade pact possible with the Dominions was on the principle of agreements entered into at Ottawa.

That these agreements will be ratified by the British Parliament there is not the slightest doubt.

The retirement of the free traders from the ministry will strengthen the debating power of the Opposition, but the overwhelming majority held by the Government is guarantee that the Ottawa pacts will receive endorsation.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald remains at the head of the Government, and its national character is attested to by the fact that such outstanding Labor leaders as Lord Sankey and Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas and such prominent Liberals as Sir John Simon and Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman are still members of the ministry.

A temperance reformer boasts that he was born a teetotaller. Some infants, of course, are dreadful little dipsomaniacs.—Ottawa Journal.

WOULDN'T INTEREST ONTARIO.

It is probably just as in view of these conditions and R. Home Smith are not to hold a debate in Ontario on prohibition. There are no grounds for believing that either has much to say that would be of deep interest to the moderate and controlling element in the province.

Mr. Spence, who appears to make his living by telling people in the United States that his fellow-Canadians are a debauched lot, and that the people of the neighboring republic are in danger of sinking to the same appalling level if it abandons prohibition, should find it wise to bear in mind that most Ontario people recall the way in which the cause of temperance was set back a decade or so by such "bone-dry" laws as he still favors.

And Mr. Smith, supported by the realization that the province turned its back upon the vices inherent in prohibition, should also realize that it eliminated even more emphatically those other vices found in the plan of liquor sale for private profit, such as he now advances. Adoption of his proposal, even though only beer and wine sales by the glass are suggested, would be the one step necessary to give point to the arguments Mr. Spence advances so glibly in the United States. The change would be in the direction of conditions such as first brought the misfortune of prohibition to Ontario.

While the United States appears to be going "wet" as fast as it can, it is probable that Mr. Spence will still find more receptive and profitable audiences there than here, as he goes forward with his amiable business of denouncing his homeland, and Mr. Smith may well consider his task of keeping the hotelkeepers of the province inflamed as a life work. The temperate public of Ontario, however, has emphatically demonstrated its disapproval of both the extremes represented by these men. Having abolished two varieties of liquor law absurdity, and achieved a fair measure of sanity, there is no ground for belief that Ontario has any desire to reverse itself. Following either Spence or Smith would mean turning toward the discredited past.—Toronto Telegram.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE WEST.

One of the most heartening signs of the times is the increased export movement of Canadian grain that is being reported. Not only does the West appear to be harvesting an excellent grain crop, but a market is being found for an increased quantity of this mainstay of Canadian prosperity.

During the week ended with September 17, the export wheat clearance amounted to 4,224,000 bushels, approximately 70 per cent. of the entire North American shipments. These exports were the largest in any one week since the record crop year of 1928 and this grain was shipped to Germany, Greece, Holland and China, in addition to the United Kingdom.

The explanation seems to lie in the fact that the United States is handicapped in endeavoring to meet a foreign demand for grain by adverse exchange rates, while both Argentina and Australia have exhausted their surplus stocks and Russia, which upset the world's grain markets last year by her dumping at low prices, is no longer considered a factor to be reckoned with.

Better still, in spite of this large amount of Canadian grain, the price has declined only fractionally. Stocks of wheat remain abnormally high, with 153,000,000 bushels in the elevators, but if export continues at the present rate, it is expected by the authorities that fully 300,000,000 bushels will have been disposed of during the present crop year.

The chief points to be considered are that Canada is at last getting the lion's share of the export grain trade and that prices are being maintained in spite of the quantity of grain leaving the seaports for foreign destinations.

What this means to the country as a whole scarcely needs explanation. Not only do the grain-growers benefit and obtain possession of funds with which to relieve their most pressing necessities, but the movement of grain to the world's markets means added employment on the railways, in shipping, at the seaports. Many thousands of additional dollars are thus being paid out in wages which, distributed in the normal channels of trade, are of material assistance to business.

It means a great deal, too, to those western governments which have been struggling with serious relief and other problems. The editor of the Winnipeg Tribune, returned from a survey of conditions in Saskatchewan, finds that while the government of that province was forced to find $18,000,000 for relief last winter, the sum of $1,000,000 will be ample during the coming winter. Ninety per cent. of the farmers of the province will be able this year to pay their current taxes, repay the Government for seed, binder twine and binder repairs, pay all expenses of the year's work and have enough money to live until the next harvest and do next spring's seeding without assistance. Saskatchewan's Government this year, it is asserted, will balance its budget and operate in a normal fashion.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Mother in the Hospital
Everybody Being Good
Everybody Except Ted

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Mother's in the hospital. She had to go. She hadn't been feeling very well for a long, long time, but she didn't say a word to anybody about it. Even father didn't know. She was afraid she'd worry him and add to his expenses.

But finally, one day, she fainted right here in the house, and Johnny came in and found her lying on the floor, and father insisted that she HAD to see our doctor.

So she went, at last, and the doctor said she had to have an operation right away. He talked to father, too, and told him not to be worrying about his bill. That would be all right.

So mother went to the hospital, after all.

• • •

She cooked some pies and a roast and she made half a dozen loaves of bread and she did all the ordering she could, and finally, a week ago yesterday, the doctor operated.

We were all scared. Even father. We could tell about him by the way he rolled cigarets and took one puff and then threw them away as if he didn't like them. Mother wasn't scared, though. She smiled at us, and said we were to be good children while she was away.

We all promised. Even Ted did. Our big sister has taken charge. She's very serious about it, too. She makes the beds and sweeps the house and cooks all the meals and is much fussier than mother was.

She's bossy, but father says we must do exactly as she says while mother's in the hospital.

Johnny's all right. He cuts the wood and goes to the hospital every afternoon after school. But Ted isn't being very good. After he got over his scare, he began to cut up. He doesn't come from school on time and he throws things around and refuses to go to bed at 8 o'clock and tells us WE aren't his bosses and he doesn't care if we do tell dad. We can't do much with him.

The operation was a success, everybody says. Mother stood it wonderfully, and she'll be home in a week. The doctor says it was just in time and mother was a very brave but a very foolish woman.

We went to see her last night. All of us. Sister fixed herself all up, and she washed my hair and she made Ted clean his teeth and Johnny put on his best suit and we all went with father and tiptoed down the hall to where mother was. The nurses all smiled at us and mother did, too. She was pale, but she said she was feeling just fine. She asked us if were all being good children and we all said we were. Even Ted did, but that was a lie. And she said she'd be home in a week, as well as ever, and she was very proud of us all.

Mother's in the hospital and we all feel kind of lost and lonely, but mother'll be home again next week—she promised she would—and then we'll be a family again.

True Bills Returned On Murder Charges

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 28 (C.P.).—The Grand Jury at the Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario to-day brought in true bills against Kate Green and Charles Graydon, charged with murder, and against Walter and Morton James, charged with indecent assault.

No indictment was brought against Flora E. Skerrett and John Fletcher, charged with manslaughter arising from automobile accidents.

Kate Green is charged with murder, following the death of a young woman in her apartment, following an alleged illegal operation.

Graydon was charged with murder, following the death of his young son, said to have died from the effect of being struck by a stone his father threw.

ALL EYES ON CANADA

Starting October 6, all eyes in Great Britain are going to be centered on Canada. . . . on that date the Dominion House of Commons opens . . . the recent Imperial Conference will be the main topic of discussion . . . if you're in doubt about the anticipated liveliness of the session, you may be interested to know that British news agencies, having advised their Canadian correspondents, about a month ago, to cable only the "highlights" on Canada's parliament, have now issued instructions to give the story a big play . . . of course, the fact that the British House doesn't open until October 18, may mean that English papers will be short of news next week . . . it's just possible that "some news is better than no news at all," when it concerns an Imperial Conference . . . orders are orders, notwithstanding . . . and correspondents are hopeful . . . why shouldn't they be? . . .

• • •

Another evidence of Canadian enterprise in the publishing field will make its appearance on the bookstands shortly . . . a Canadian monthly resembling to a degree both The London Illustrated News and Fortune . . . the best pictures . . . a news letter from each province . . . plenty of rotogravure . . . large capitalization . . . a strong board of directors . . . good luck to a big venture! . . .

• • •

Now that the Farmer's Sun has been revamped, modernized, socialized, what is Mr. Graham Spry, its editor, going to do next? . . . a Rhodes scholar, former secertary of the executive committee of the Canadian Club—a Dominion-wide organization—and intimate friend of many parliamentarians, he has been "spry" to grasp opportunity . . . watch him! . . .

• • •

COMMONWEALTH MOVEMENT

May as well admit it . . . a definite movement toward Socialism is under way right now . . . Mr. J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., has spent some time in the West, organizing the Canadian commonwealth movement . . . it's something of a federation of labor, socialist and farmer interests . . . the Farmer's Sun says editorially the enterprise cannot succeed without the support of Quebec . . . but the League for Social Reconstruction, branches of which have been springing up all over the Dominion, is naturally in sympathy, Mr. Woodsworth being its president . . . Miss Agnes Macphail has not yet announced whether the U.F.O. has thrown in its lot with the commonwealth movement . . . looks like a new political party for Canada! . . .

• • •

Ottawa newspaper correspondents are having difficulty in getting confirmation for the story that a national government is under consideration . . . that Mr. Woodsworth turned down an invitation to join such a government . . . and that Mitchell Hepburn and the left-wing Liberals are likely to join forces with the Labor-Farmer-Socialist group . . . why all the secrecy? . . . .

• • •

After a few months of quietude, Rev. Ben. H. Spence has popped in and out of the news again . . . this time he's offered to debate on a public platform with R. Home Smith, popular Toronto bachelor who is head of the Ontario Moderation League . . . an argument between these two men on the liquor question would have been choice . . . but Mr. Smith turned down the offer . . . Home Smith would have supplied a lot of spicy wit . . . Ben Spence would have surpassed with logic and concrete information . . . he didn't get the chance with the real estate baron . . . but he won't stop until he has made himself heard . . . listen! . . .

STATION L-O-V-E

INSTALMENT NO. 28

Judy found, to her surprise, that Jenks, the client, was in the control room, waiting, when she entered the studio. He bowed to her and she nodded in return. The new announcer appeared. The man who had taken Dick's job. A man Judy never had seen before. Tall, well dressed, seemingly at home before the microphone. He spoke quickly, in odd sudden bursts of words. Then he was through much sooner that Dick would have finished,so much sooner that Judy was caught off guard; that for a moment she felt she could not begin at all. But she did.

The words went smoothly. This was better even than the previous scripts. Convincing, simple, definite.

Nine minutes. Ten. Eleven minutes and fifty seconds. The last word. Now the new announcer took up as she left off. She could see him stooping a little over the microphone. She could see the clock. Then there was a mellow triple chime of the bells the announcer held in one hand. The program was over.

She hurried from the studio. But in the corridor stood Jenks. He stopped her.

"You were very good, Miss Allison."

"Thank you."

"But that announcer!"

"I coudn't hear him."

"I know you couldn't. But I could. He's not the regular announcer, is he? Dick Mason, the man that did the work before—he was fine. But this new one! Sounds like a professor. I hate professors. This man isn't a bit like what I want. Not a bit. Oh. Here comes Elton. He'll know."

Judy, seeing Elton Day approach, thought for a moment, she must run, must get away. But there was no way to go. The corridor ended just beyond and Jenks and Elton Day blocked the way ahead.

"Elton!"

"Yes, Mr. Jenks. Oh, good morning, Judy."

"Good morning," she forced herself to say.

"Lovely morning, too. One of our very best. Specially delivered for Miss Judy Allison, C.O.D. Ten cents, pliz."

She did not answer. Again Jenks said, "Elton!"

"Yes."

"That new announcer they had on today—he's no good."

"He's one of the best men around here, Mr. Jenks."

"Maybe. For anybody else. But not for me. I don't want any la-de-da business on my show. That's the whole idea. I want good simple talk. That's why I liked that other fellow Mason. Where's he today?"

"Why—" Day began. Then he stopped.

"Dick's gone,' Judy supplied.

"Gone? Gone where? When's he coming back?"

"He's not coming back."

"Why not?"

Suddenly Judy realized that something she had not counted on was happening. Something that might defeat Elton Day as nothing else could. She stopped.

"Mr. Day can tell you," she said primly. "And I'm afraid I'll have to be going."

"No. Wait, Miss Allison," Jenks said. "I want to get this straightened out right now. Your voice is too good to be spoiled by an announcer like that. Elton, I want Mason, the man I had before."

"Sorry,' Elton said smoothly. "It's out of my hands. Mason worked for the station. Not for me. That was part of the production cost you pay. And the station decided to get rid of Mason."

"Why?"

Elton was silent.

"Drinking, maybe?"

"He doesn't drink,' Judy said quickly.

"Oh. Then what? Maybe he didn't get here on time?"

"He was always on time."

"Then I don't care if the station likes him or not. He ought to be here right now. I want him here. You hear me?"

Nobody said anything. Jenks, chewing vigorously on his cigar, growled in his throat, stamped his feet a little, like a small animal about to jump over a fence. Then he said sharply, "I'm going to find out about this. Right now. Day, I'll see you later. Miss Allison, you're fine. Just keep it up the way you were today and you'll be wonderful. Good-by."

He bustled away. Almost, Day went after him. But not quite. He grinned instead and moved closer to Judy.

"Too bad," he said.

"What's too bad?"

"Too bad he had to notice about Dick Mason."

"Why?"

"Because if he'd missed it for a couple of days he'd have forgotten there was any difference. Then we'd have been all right."

"We?"

"Yes, Judy. We. Because Dick is through, and we both know it. And that's all there is to it."

"We don't both know it, and Dick isn't through!"

"Maybe not. But they'll never let him work here again. No matter what Jenks says about it."

"You mean they'll never put him back on the staff?"

"Of course not."

"But suppose—" Just in time she caught herself.

What was it the man Flavin, the advertising salesman, said? If an announcer could sell himself and his voice direct to the client, instead of to the station, he could make a lot more money and he wouldn't be responsible to the station at all; they'd have to use him whether they wanted to or not? That was it. Then if Jenks wanted Dick Mason and nobody else?

"I'll have to go," Judy said quickly. "I'm meeting some one.'

"Not Dick?"

She shook her head. "No, not Dick. You know it wouldn't be Dick."

"That's right. He's gone, isn't he?" Elton asked, innocently.

That was too much.

"Yes," she said, "he's gone. And you're the one who sent him away."

"I?"

"You. You know you did. You let him take the blame for what you did about the audition. You let them fire him without saying a word about it."

"Judy, I give you my word that isn't so."

"Your word!"

"My word. And for once, it's good. Because I didn't even know what was going to happen. Listen, Judy, I did a rotten trick. There wasn't any need for cheating. You'd have got the job anyhow. Only I wasn't sure what Lona Burdette might have said or done. I had to make sure. I was doing it for your sake. Not for anything else. And I made a mistake. I didn't need to do anything. I've found out since that Jenks would have insisted on having you, no matter what anybody else said. He just put on the second audition to keep everybody happy around here. But about putting Mason on the spot like that—I didn't do it, and I wouldn't. I'm not that low, anyhow."

"You're not?"

"No. And you know I'm not. I heard about it yesterday—heard that somebody had been talking, and that Dick was likely to get into trouble. I tried to square it. Couldn't do a thing. I came up to see you and tell you about it. But I lost my head and said a lot of other things instead. And I," hastily, mean every word I said. Judy, I love you."

She drew away from him as far as she could, back against the wall, her face eloquent with distaste.

"Please don't say that again," she said.

"But I will. I'll keep on saying it. It's the most important thing in my life. Nothing else matters but that. I love you. Don't you believe it?"

"No!"

"But how can you doubt it? Haven't I proved it?"

"You think you've proved anything? When you let a man I really care for take the blame for something you did?"

He started. His lips tightened. His eyes, which had been tender, were hard all at once.

"You care about Dick Mason, eh? That much?"

"That much and more. More than you could ever understand. I love him. You understand that, Elton Day? I love Dick Mason and I'll always love him and I hate you for hurting him! I hate you!"

Day clicked his heels in an ironic gesture of surrender.

"The queen has spoken. All right. That's the end of it."

"Elton!"

"What? What now?"

"Aren't you going to tell them what really happened? It can't hurt you any. You can't lose any job, because you don't work here. You've got your contract. Aren't you going to be fair enough to make them give Dick Mason his job again? He didn't do anything. You know he didn't. Won't you—"

"Won't I go in and say 'I'm a terirble crook and Dick Mason's a lily-white lamb and please give him his job back? Won't I say that?"

"Not that. You know what I mean. Just—"

"Just enough so Dick will be here again and you and he can walk around and laugh at me. Hah!"

"But you said—"

"I said I loved you. I didn't say anything about anybody else. What happens to anybody else is his own hard luck. If Dick Mason couldn't look out for himself that's too bad. But it's nothing to me."

"And you said you love me!"

"I do. My own way. And that's the best way I know. And it's not good enough for you. You make that plain enough. So that's all there is to it."

"But Elton—"

"Let's not talk any more, Judy. This stuff is too good to waste out here in the hall. I'll put it in a script instead and put it on the air. Great True Love Romances of Great Announcers. That's a grand idea. I can sell it. To the Happy Home Laundry, maybe. Or the Oomph-Coompay Groceries. Swell!, I've got to get busy on it while I can still remember the lines. I'll see you later. So long!"

Quickly he disappeared, shouldering through the crowd that filled the main lobby.

SUPPORT TAG DAY

To the Citizens of Peterborough:

At a time like this when there is unusual distress because of economic conditions there is urgent need of such organizations as the Children's Aid Society and the demands upon them are unusually heavy. May I therefore commend the Saturday tag day of the Society to your generosity, with the hope that you will realize the desirability of a hearty response to the appeal and will scale your donations accordingly. I am sure that all of you are in sympathy with the work carried on and will do everything in your power to make life's path smoother for the neglected and dependent children of the locality.

TRYING FATHER FOR KILLING SON

Death Occurs After Fight Over Youth's Friendship With Woman.

FRACTURED SKULL.

HAMILTON, Sept. 29 (C.P.). — The trial of Walter Graydon for murder of his son Samuel was started in Supreme Court of Ontario here to-day before Mr. Justice Nicol Jeffrey.

In his outline of the case to the jury, T. H. Lennox, Toronto, special Crown prosecutor, told of events leading up to the alleged slaying. He said Samuel had struck up an acquaintance with a woman named Mrs. McCall, a neighbor, and had taken her out in her car several times during the two weeks preceding his death.

At the conclusion of the last of these drives, he said, Graydon was alleged to have met his son and the woman in a lane near her house and to have remonstrated with Samuel, asking him to stop taking the woman out.

Graydon, he said, threatened corporal punishment if the son did not acceed to his request. A struggle followed, he added, and Samuel suffered a fractured skull, from which he died.

Dr. W. A. Vanderburg, who had attended the injured youth and had him removed to hospital, testified death was caused by spinal meningitis, the germ of which had entered through a throat wound. The external wound had healed by the time Graydon died, but the skull fracture had not, he said.

C. W. Bell, K.C., is Crown prosecutor.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (A.P.) — Heaviness of leading commodities contributed to a downward drag of stock prices in to-day's dull market. Union Pacific, after an early rise of 2 points, lost about 3 net, and there were similar declines in Dupont, Case and Eastman. U. S. Steel, Mack Truck, American Telephone, Santa Fe and Western Union dipped 2 points or so and many other favorites were off a point. Transactions approximated 1,300,000 shares.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Sept. 29 (C.P.) — Prices were shaded lower in listless trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, although lack of volume gave little significance to the trend.

Domestic news failed to offer anything bearing on the course of prices and in its absence the list mirrored the narrow movements of New York by minor fluctuation in interlisted issues.

Nickel supplanted C.P.R. as leader, largely through dearth of activity in the rail. Both stocks took fractional losses, Nickel dropping ⅛ and the carrier through the 19 mark to 18¾, a net decline of ⅝.

Brazilian varied little from its opening, down ¼ at 10¾, while all transactions in Ford A were put through at 10¼.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Sept. 29 (C.P.).—Interest in the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Market to-day was mixed in character, light selling pressure being directed towards a few of the higher-priced shares and improved demand appearing in one or two penny issues. The close was irregular, with small recessions somewhat in the majority.

International Nickel and Noranda were both easier, former dropping 40 and the latter 30 on the day. Falconbridge was off 10.

Definite trend was lacking in the gold section. Lake Shore fell 20, Dome and Hollinger 10 each, and Teck-Hughes lost an early lead to finish down seven cents.

Vacuum Gas, off a fraction to 8, made the only movement of note in the oil section.

MINING TREND IS SLIGHTLY LOWER

International Nickel Dips 25 to $10.75 and Noranda is Off 15 to $20.85.

TORONTO, September 29 (C.P.). —Trend turned irregularly lower on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market around noon today, but interest remained light, and price changes were confined to a narrow range.

International Nickel dipped 25 to $10.75 and Noranda 15 to $20.85. Falconbridge slipped 5 to $3.05, but other Lindsleys were firm. Eldorado was off a couple at $1.36 in a few sales.

Golds strengthened on the opening, but developed an easier tendency in the second hour. Tek-Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves lost early leads to stand unhanged at $3.35 and $2.86 respectively, and Dome was down 10 at $12.90.

Central Patricia was active and a couple higher at 12 in the penny section. Brett-Trethewey and South Keora showed fractional recessions at 20 and 5, respectively. Oils were unchanged.

Distillers Stock Active At Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 29. — (CP) — Trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange in the forenoon today failed to show much improvement over the previous session. Stocks milled around in scattered trading and narrow price movements, and if the breadth of trading indicated any trend it was slightly lower.

Interlisted issues were all off fractionally, with International Nickel down 3-8, Ford of Canada 3-8, Brazilian Traction ¼, and C. P. R. ¼. Consolidated Smelters was weak and off 2 points.

Distillers was active on reported Montreal buying. The annual statement of this company is due to make an appearance in a few weeks time.

FIRST SNOWFALL OF SEASON ADDS MUCH HAPPINESS

Is But a Warning to Citizens of Cold Days Yet Ahead.

AID TO BUSINESS.

Old Man Winter gave his first snarl this afternoon when flakes and pellets of hail, riding on a chilly west wind, fell upon the city for five minutes.

It was but a warning of the cold, grim days just ahead and citizens in general looked glum. Some thought of the happy fortunates living in Florida, while one philosopher suggested that the only wise ones in these parts "are the ducks going south."

However, some were made happy by the storm.

Coal and wood men walked out and sniffed the weather and then opened their order books, smiling the while.

Furnace and stove dealers dusted off their wares, humming merrily.

Prospective candidates for the city's contract of snowplowing the streets this winter got out their pencils and began figuring.

Webber Turner looked out at the dancing hailstones with a passing thought to his stock of snowshoes, and around at the Peterborough Canoe Company Claude Rogers' interest turned to the prospects of the skii trade.

George Gillespie remarked that the sharp turn in the weather was an overt unfriendly act against the ice cream business, and Percy Bond opened up another case of cough medicine.

Jack Hall of the Canadian Department Stores told the manager of the footwear department to look over the supply of overshoes, and passed the word in the mens' wear section to send the B.V.D.'s to the side lines while giving the woolen goods the call for their turn on the slab, just to use a phrase from the world series report. Up in the north end Reg. Turner was balancing the threat to the ice business against the promise of a sharper demand for fuel, and pondered the pleasant thought of some way to give both departments a peak sale the whole year round.

What a Man At Five Years Old

At the ripe old age of five years, Mister Danny Rodgers of Pittsburgh likes nothing better, after a hard days' work at school, than to drop into his favorite corner of the parlor carpet and light up a cool and refreshing cigar. And if he can't find a cigar, Danny smokes a cigarette, a pipe, and occasionally gnaws on a plug of tobacco. His mother approves because the doctor told her it was all right. Incidentally, Danny smokes 'em to the end and inhales.

SEVEN BANDITS CLEAN OUT BANK SHOOT 2, ESCAPE

Gunmen Force 10 Employees, Customers to Lie on Floor During Hold-up.

GET $10,000 LOOT.

Cornered on Highway Desperadoes Halt Posse With Sub-machine Guns.

HOLLAND, Mich., September 29 (C.P.).— Seven bank robbers armed with sub-machine guns twice eluded a posse of 100 men near here this morning, and were reported in full flight through Western Michigan after looting the First State Bank here of between $10,000 and $12,000, and wounding two men.

Surrounded by a posse near Drenthee as they sped from the scene of the holdup in a commandeered automobile the bandits held up a truck driven by George Boerman, a farmer, turned the truck crosswise in the highway, and opened fire on the posse with sub-machine guns.

Members of the posse took refuge behind a farm house and kept up a running fire, but the bandits dashed to their automobile and sped away.

They were pursued by nearly 100 men.

One Bandit Wounded.

Boerman, who was uninjured when the bandits halted his truck, said one of the men had been wounded and was bleeding freely.

The bandits, said by posse members to possess at least three sub-machine guns, wounded Peter Lievemse, chief of police, and Peter de Young, 45, a bystander. Chief Lievense was not wounded seriously, but physicians said de Young probably was critically injured.

Ten employees and customers in the bank at the time of the holdup were forced to lie on the floor while the bandits seized all the available cash.

Combs scored and Sewell went to second on Gehrig's line single to right. Grimm missed a dive for the ball.

Lazzeri fouled to Hartnett who made the catch near the third base coaching box. Dickey singled off Grimm's glove and Sewell scored, Gehrig reaching third, beating the relay from Hartnett. Chapman fanned on a third called strike.

Two runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Second Inning

Cubs—Grimm smashed a single to center. Hartnett walked, the fourth ball being outside. Jurges bunted to Gomez and was thrown out at first as both runners advanced on the sacrifice. Warneke fanned swinging at a fast ball. Herman fanned, taking a third called strike and Gomez was out of a bad hole.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Yankees—Crosetti popped to Jurges. Gomez struck out on a called third strike. Combs flied out to Cuyler.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING

Cubs—English flied to Ruth who made the catch without moving a step. Cuyler grounded out, Lazzeri to Gehrig. Stephenson punched a hit to right and made two bases when the ball bounded past Ruth. It was scored as a double. Demaree singled to right and Stephenson scored standing up when Ruth juggled the ball before making a poor throw to the plate. With Grimm at bat Demaree was trapped off first base and put out, Gomez to Gehrig.

One run, two hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Sewell bounded out, Herman to Grimm. Ruth walked, the fourth ball breaking inside. Gehrig singled on a sharp hit that Herman barely was able to stop, Ruth held second. Ruth advanced to third and Gehrig to second. Dickey was purposely walked on four wide pitches, filling the bases. Chapman singled to right, scoring Ruth and Gehrig; Dickey stopped at second. Crosseti fanned on a third called strike.

Two runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

FOURTH INNING.

Yankees. — Gomez was thrown out, Warneke to Grimm. Combs singled through short. On the hit and run play, Sewell singled to left and Combs reached third. Ruth bounded to Warneke and Combs was trapped between third and home. He was tagged out and then pleted when Hartnett and Jures an unusual double play was comtrapped Sewell. Jurges made the final putout. Hartnett was credited with the putout of Combs.

No runs, two hits, no errors, one elft.

Fifth Inning

Cubs—Herman fanned swinging at a fast ball. English was called out on strikes. Cuyler drove a triple to deep right field. Ruth just failed to get under the ball as it dropped a foot outside the bleacher wall. Stephenson grounded out on a high bounder, Sewell to Gehrig.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Yankees—Gehrig hit his third straight single past Herman. Lazeri grounded to Herman who fumbled but recovered in time to nick the batter at first. Gehrig reached second. Dickey lashed a single to right scoring Gehrig. Chapman fanned and Dickey was thrown out trying to steal second, Hartnett to Herman.

One run, two hits, no errors, none left.

SIXTH INNING

Cubs—Demaree lifted a high fly to Chapman. Grimm grounded out to Gehrig unassisted. Hartnett grounded out, Crosetti to Gehrig.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Crosetti filed out to Demaree who made a sensational running catch in left center near the running track. Gomez fanned swinging. Combs grounded out, Herman to Grimm.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SEVENTH INNING

Cubs—Jurges hoisted to Ruth — Warneke fanned on a third called strike. Herman lifted a short fly to Combs.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yanks — Sewell grounded out, Herman to Grimm. Ruth reached first on ball that bounced on the field. Gehrig grounded to Herman and the Cubs completed a double play, Herman to Jurges to Grimm.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

EIGTH INNING.

Cubs—Ball one, outside. Ball two, outside. Strike one called. English singled to right. Cuyler flied to Combs in short centre. Stephenson bounced a single over Sewell's head, English at second. Indian Bishop

Dr. Jashwant Rao Chitambar, Methodist Episcopal Bishop of Lucknow, India, came to Canada to honor the memory of his predecessor, Dr. F. W. Warne, recently buried at Ballinafad in Erin Township, Ontario. According to Bishop Chitambar, who took part in a memorial service for the late Dr. Warne at his graveside, the caste system in India is doomed, and with it, child marriage and enforced widowhood.

MRS. MAE HILL FOUND GUILTY

Magistrate Langley Was Not Impressed By Alibi Presented.

ILLICIT SELLING.

Magistrate Langley hasn't much regard for alibis. He gave that impression this morning when he found Mrs. Mae Hill, wife of Russell Hill Ninth Line, Dummer Township farmer, guilty on a charge of selling illicit liquor despite the alleged alibi presented before him at the trial by a group of Dummer residents.

The charge was laid by Corporal D. L. Caniff, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who declared that on the evening of August 20 he purchased a bottle of moonshine from Mrs. Hill at her Dummer home. His evidence was substantiated by Constable Robinson also of the "Mounted."

Said To Be Absent.

However, David Lee, who the officers said accompanied them to the Hill farmhouse when the sale was made, and his wife, denied that he had ever been to the Hill house with the police. While Mrs. Hill, her husband, their hired man and William Little, a neighbor, all swore that Mae Hill was absent from home that evening visiting Little, who they claimed was ill at his wood camp that night.

His Worship, giving judgment in the case to-day, stated that he believed the officers' story, which, he said, "was given in a clear, straightforward manner, and who had nothing to gain by lying," but that the alleged alibi had failed to impress him. "Although the alibi was not broken down by the prosecution," he said, "it failed to arouse any doubts in my mind as to the sale of liquor having been made."

Immediately an argument arose between the two counsels, J. R. Corkery, for the Excise Department, and J. A. O'Brien, defence counsel, as to whether Mrs. Hill should be convicted as a second offender. It was alleged, and Mrs. Hill admitted it in the trial, that the prisoner had been convicted under the Excise Act previously. However, it was on a different charge and the debate swung about whether it could apply under the same section as a second offence.

Argument Postponed.

The argument was postponed until 3 o'clock this afternoon, when it will be decided definitely. At that time Mrs. Hill will be sentenced.

J. A. O'Brien told the court he would appeal the conviction. Russell Hill, who was convicted a month ago on having illicit spirits in his possession, is also appealing his case.

Two Cars Crashed On Water Street

When two cars crashed at noon to-day at the corner of Water and Murray Streets, one vehicle was overturned, and its driver, William Bolster, of R.R. 2, Ennismore Township, was thrown out upon the pavement, while the other car continued on and crashed into a Hydro pole.

The second car was driven by W. J. Cuffe, 61 Park Hill Road, who escaped injuries, although the car was badly damaged.

Bolster was proceeding north on Water Street and was making a left hand turn onto Murray Street, when the car driven south on Water by Cuffe crashed into him. Bolster's car was slewed around until it faced south and then overturned, throwing its driver out. Cuffe's car crashed into the Hydro pole on the corner.

Police are investigating the accident.

GIRL FORCED TO SHOOT SELF

thought is contained several circumstances making it plausible.

Members of the girl's family told police of previous incidents which they thought indicated an attempt on her life.

Police said, however, they were not yet certain the girl's story was correct or complete.

Hospital doctors in whose care the girl was placed removed a .22 calibre bullet from her abdomen and said after the operation they believed she would recover unless complications arose.

CHATHAM GARAGE BURNS DAMAGE SET AT $40,000

CHATHAM, Ont., Sept. 29.—(C.P.)—Fire breaking out from a short circuit in an automobile stored on the second floor of the building today gutted the quarters of the Kent Motor Sales and Service and damaged an adjoining structure which housed the Murray Tire Service. Damage was estimated at $40,000.

Ten old and two new cars were destroyed besides a large quantity of tires and accessories.

Two Gambia stamps, worth 12 cents each when issued in 1869, brought $252 in London recently.

BIRTH CONTROL BE DETERMINED BY INDIVIDUALS

United Church Board of Evangelism Reports on Birth Control.

GENERAL COUNCIL.

Remarriage After Divorce is Also Discussed in Report.

HAMILTON, Sept. 29. (CP). — Every Christian married person has the right to determine "in the light of all the facts and obligations involved how far precautions against reproduction shall be employed in his or her own life" the United Church board of evangelism and social service declares in a special report on the "meaning and responsibilities of Christian marriage" prepared for the general council of the church in session here.

The report says: "Speaking for the United Church of Canada, we associate ourselves with these representative voices of the Christian conscience in recognizing the right of every Christian to determine in the light of all the facts and obligations involved, how far such agencies shall be employed in his or her own life.

Time Not Arrived

The report, however, issues the warning: "It is clear that the time has not yet arrived when one can declare positively what will be the ultimate effect of the practice of contraception upon the human organism with its intimate interaction of emotional and physiological factors. It is therefore clear that no contraceptive method should be employed without competent medical advice and even then only subject to the obligation to exercise self-control in every phase of life."

Question of Divorce

Discussing the question of divorce the report advises that the church should go slowly in asking the state to forbid remarriage after dissolution of the marriage tie.

"Divorce, in any case, is emergency treatment, never a cure. Only spiritual loss can accrue if it be accepted as part of normal life and Christian culture.

But ere the church demands that the state forbid any subsequent union, we must consider the possible consquences. It is quite clear that, in most cases those who seek remarriage after a divorce will not be deterred by the refusal of legal sanctions, nor will the refusal affect the physical, much less the inward and spiritual fact. It may control inheritance of property but is not likely to sustain the acceptance of life bereft of the satisfactions which are found in marriage. Obviously, this wretched substitute or alternative to the original life-long marriage can never win the commendation of the church, but the church should not require of the state any law the normal consequences of which would be found in illicit unions which complicated the matter.

Fifth General Council Opened By United Church

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 29 (C.P.). —A review of the work done by the United Church of Canada during the past two years was begun here this afternoon when the commissioners to the Fifth General Council of the Church gathered for their sessions in First United Church.

Representative of clergy and laity, of all Canadian conferences and of missions at home and abroad, the commissioners will hear reports from the board in charge of evangelism and social service. Pensions, education, religious education, home missions and foreign missions. The reports are expected to show a balance between favorable and less favorable aspects of the Church's financial condition which may give rise to considerable debate.

MARMORA BOOSTER CLUB REORGANIZED

J. P. Morrin is Elected President—Plan to Raise Relief Funds.

MARMORA, September 28. — At a meeting held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, the Marmora Booster Club was reorganized. The following officers were elected:

President—J. P. Marvin.

1st Vice-President—W. A. Sanderson.

2nd Vice--President—W. R. Linn.

Secretary—H. R. Pearce.

Treasurer—C. W. Gladney.

Directors—T. E. Potte, J. S. Jones, D. Shannon, G. R. Airhart, C. A. Lummiss, R. E. Lumsden and the officers.

It was decided to still carry on under the name "Booster Club," as the name is widely known and a record of achievements is associated with it which has received favorable comment not only in this part of Ontario but also from various places in the United States. It was decided to have membership tickets printed and as many members secured as possible. The deed of Booster Park from Marmora Booster Club to the municipalities of Marmora village and Marmora and Lake, was presented ready for signing by the trustees, and also the form for the discharge of the mortgage. The property will be presented to the municipalities free of debt. The Booster Club plans to carry on actively during the coming fall and winter. Two things particularly will receive attention. The first will be the raising of funds for relief purposes during the coming winter. The work will be carried on in co-operation with the village council in order to receive assistance from the Provincial and Federal governments.

The other object will be to advertise Marmora so that the village and Crowe Lake will receiev a fair share of the tourist business next year. With No. 7 Highway now open there will be a very large amount of tourist traffic through Marmora next year.

A very successful bridge party was held at the White Hall on Monday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's church.

The winners were:

Contract—Dr. H. Crawford and Mrs. E. Brady.

Auction—Mr. W. Regan and Mrs. E. D. O'Connor.

Dainty refreshments were served.

Miss Eliza Jane Wallace, aged 83, and her sister, Miss Mary Ann, aged 81, who lived in the same house in Florencecourt, Ireland, since birth, died within 24 hours recently.

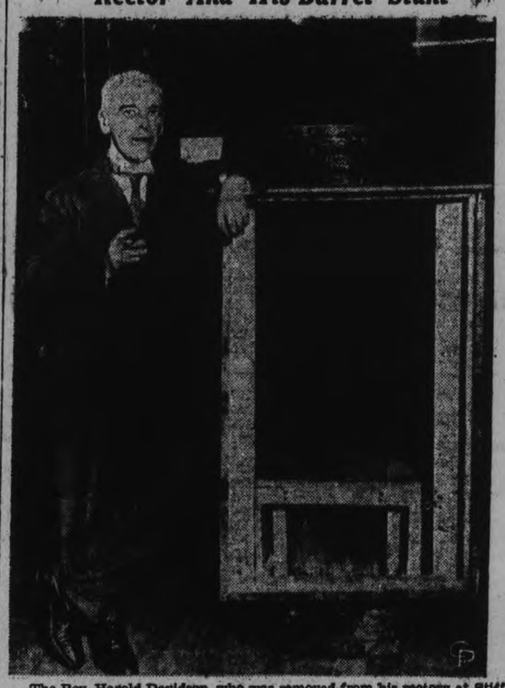
Rector And His Barrel Stunt



The Rev. Harold Davidson, who was removed from his rectory at Stiffkey, England, following a series of charges of immorality involving several young girls, is standing beside the barrel in which he displayed himself at a movie theatre at Tooting. It is the same barrel Davidson used at Blackpool until police banned the exhibition. He attempted vaudeville for funds for a new trial.

The New Fall Coat Patterns on display at Simpson's Local Office

FRANCE STANDS FIRMLY BEHIND LEAGUE NATIONS

Herriot Claims Assembly's Peace Accomplishments Too Easily Forgotten.

RAPS SECRET DIPLOMACY.

Lord Cecil Blames 75 Per Cent World's Unrest on Franco-German Differences.

GENEVA, Sept. 29 (A.P.)—France refuses to share the pessimism and skepticism which is now being directed at the League of Nations, Premier Edouard Herriot of France told the League Assembly to-day.

The accomplishments of the league in organizing for peace and discouraging war, are too easily forgotten, he said.

Asserting that France is faithful to the League's ideals and will work resolutely for the success of the arms conference, the Premier declined to discuss Germany's demand for equality of armaments or other pressing issues, declaring this is not the time and place for such discussion.

Praises Results

He praised the results of the Economic Conference at London at which the amount of Germany's reparations debt was limited and of the recent conference at Stresa, Italy, on rehabilitation of the Balkan States, saying they were evidence of the spirit the League has introduced in international affairs and good omens for success at the world Economic Conference to be held next year.

He took hope, he said, from the entry of Turkey into the League and the prospective entry of Iraq and said he understood also that Argentina, 'an old and valued friend,' may also soon return.

The world is filled with complex and difficult problems which the diplomats must not hope to solve at once, he said, adding that the true task which he regards as most important for the League to accomplish are the reduction, and perhaps abolition of secret diplomacy and the ending of the domination by certain powers of world affairs.

Diplomacy should be open, he said; all nations should be considered on the same level.

Defends League.

Lord Cecil, British representative, also came to the League's defence, declaring the existing troubles between Bolivia and Paraguay over the Chaco and the difficulties in the Far East would never have developed if each party to each dispute had applied faithfully the principles of the covenant.

"These warlike stuations in South America and Asia," he said, "are testimony that one or both of the parties to each case must have been guilty of violating the covenant."

Seventy-five per cent. of the world's unrest, he added, is due to the Franco-German differences and he said if the policies of France and Germany were guided by the covenant their dispute would be ended automatically.

"If disarmament is not achieved" he said, "the situation will be far worse than it was before the war. The nations must disarm or perish."

Italy's Stand

Signor Aloise of Italy reaffirmed the Italian government's desire to see a realization of genuine and substantial disarmament which, he said, would reinforce the security of nations.

Denouncing the popularity of restrictions, prohibitions and high tariffs on imports, he said Italy never has departed from the principle of free exchange of goods, except in case of necessity and to defend the vital and economic interests of her people. He urged that the problem of restrictions on international trade be taken up for solution on an international basis.

LOOP SUSPENDS MILLBROOK CLUB

Managers of City Teams Object to Continue Playing With Village Club.

Word was received this afternoon that the City Lacrosse League has suspended Millbrook for failure to appear for a scheduled game at the Brock last night with Orde's, sending no word; and consequently disappointing fans and players. Managers of the three city teams, C.G.E., Orde's and Brintons, object to continue playing with Millbrook because of dissatisfaction caused on several occasions, hence the league has suspended the out-of-town team for the present.

The Friday evening game will be between Orde's and C.G.E. at 8.30 in the Brock, instead of between Millbrook and Orde's, as previously advertised.

Take Charge Of London Life In District

C. J. BISSON.

A. R. PIPER.

The London Life Insurance Company has announced the appointment of C. J. Bisson as superintendent of its Industrial Branch at Peterborough, and A. R. Piper as district supervisor of the Ordinary Branch.

Mr. Bisson has been in charge of one of the company's industrial branches in Montreal for several years. For the past three years Mr Piper has been managing director of the Canadian General Securities Limited, in Regina and prior to that was for many years a successful life insurance manager in Regina.

Both of these men have had broad business and life insurance experience which admirably qualify them for their new responsibilities. The people of this vicinity will find them able advisers in life insurance affairs.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL

A very interesting meeting of the Home and School Association of the Prince of Wales school was held in the kindergarten room last evening. It was the occasion of the presentation of the entrance certificates to the pupils who were successful this year and a large number of proud parents and friends assembled for the event.

The president, Mrs. G. A. Spicer presided and after opening the meeting by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison, welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Home and School. The secretary's and treasurer's report was given and the roll call by Mrs. R. Parnell and it was found that there was a tie for the banner between Miss Huffman's and Miss Tolminson's rooms.

Dr. Raymond Scott took the chair for the remainder of the evening and the following program was given:

Recitation, Barry Jack; valedictory address, Irene Houghton, leading pupil in Mr. Mattice's room; vocal solo, Lyle Glover; recitation, Eileen Schoales; valedictory address by Hugh Davidson, leading pupil in Miss Dobbin's room; violin solo, Jack Mabon.

Inspector A. Mowat then presented the certificates, which were prettily tied with ribbon in the school colors. Dr. A. Moir addressed the graduating class, congratulating them for continued efforts in their future studies. A hearty vote of thanks to all those who had taken part in the program was voiced by Mr. Mattice, principal of the school.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which refreshments were served by the social committee under the convenorship of Mrs. Elliot and Mrs. Pearson.

Certificates were presented to the following.

Mr. Mattice's Room

Sidney Boddison, Gladys Cowan, Clarence Davern, Maurice Dixon, Charles Dobbin, Elizabeth Dominik, Billy Elliott, George English, Annie Harding, Maxwell Hill, Esme Hitchins, Irene Houghton, Betty Jack, Jack Kennedy, Dorothy Macdonald, Thelma McLaren, Marie McNevan, Florence Outram, Jack Platt, Gordon Shearer, Jack Simmons, Reta Sproule, Arthur Thompson, Mildred White, Marguerite Wood, Nellie Young, Jean Young, Robert Young, Harry Halcrow.

Miss Dobbin's Room

Hugh Davidson, Eileen Schoales, Margaret Jackson, Allan Park, Irene Battle, Oswald Phillips, Olga Wright, Evelyn Kelly, Irene Jones, Helen Hetherington, Jack Spargo, Kenneth Gibson, Helen Cherney, Madelyn Gilgour, Ralph Parnell, Marjorie Hall, Mae Lambert, Frances McMahon, Wilton Hiller.

Royal Welcome For Conqueror

A tremendous demonstration was accorded General Shigeru Honjo, "Conqueror of Manchuria" on his return to Tokio after a three-year command of the Japanese forces at Mukden and other Manchurian points. The hero of the hour is shown (at salute) being driven through cheering crowds to the Imperial Palace where he was received in audience by the Mikado.

INTERVIEWS FORBIDDEN WITH MAHATMA GANDHI

POONA, India, September 29 (C.P.). — A Government order forbidding all interviews with Mahatma Gandhi was issued to-day just as several Indian political leaders were preparing to confer with him.

The reason for the ban was not stated. It was said that Mr Gandhi was progressing satisfactorily after his six-day hunger strike.

SUSPECT GANGSTERS IMPORTED TO CUBA FOR POLITICAL KILLINGS

Twenty-three Mines Uncovered in Cemetery Where Dr. Bello Was to be Buried.

NINE ATTENDANTS HELD.

HAVANA, Sept. 29. (AP)—The possibility that gang gunmen from United States may have invaded Cuba with ultra-modern methods of slaughter was being investigated by police to-day in their effort to clear up the slaying of five political leaders here Tuesday.

They based their theory on the fact that Dr. Clemente Vazquez Bello, president of the Cuban Senate, friend of President Machdao and prospective presidential candidate for next year, was slain very much in the United States manner.

Rain of Bullets

He was cut down by a rain of bullets from an automobile which roared up beside the car in which he was riding. The fact that more than a dozen bullets penetrated his body and more than 60 struck the side of his car indicated, police said, that a submachine gun was used by the killers.

The marks of modernistic crime were not so clear in the slaying of the other four Opposition leaders, however. Three brothers, Gonzalo, Lepoldo, and Guillermo Freyre de Andrade, were slain within their residence by a gang which rushed into the house, shot them down, and rushed out again. Miguel Angel Arular, the fourth Oppositionist slain, was shot down when he went to the door of his home to meet the killers.

Wholesale Slaughter

A second plot, which police said might have resulted in wholesale deaths of the family and friends of Dr. Vazquez Bello, as well as high Government officials, was uncovered by police yesterday in the discovery of a huge dynamite bomb planted in the cemetery where Dr. Vazquez would be buried.

All the employees of the cemetery, numbering nine or ten, were arrested and held for investigation.

Returns to Politics

Mrs. Albert G. Simms

Mrs. Albert G. Simms, the former Ruth Hanna McCormick, is to campaign in New Mexico in behalf of President Hoover. Mrs. Simms, who was defeated last year when she ran for senator from Illinois, now is residing at Albuquerque.

Explosive experts to-day uncovered 23 separate mines containing more than 300 pounds of dynamite, all controlled by an electrical switch eight blocks away in a chinese cemetery. There was enough explosive to have blown the whole funeral cortege to death, the experts said.

Fingerlings of Kamloops trout, a species of fish which is not indigenous to the Maritime Provinces, were planted in the streams of those provinces for the first time this year.

VIRTUE.

"Sweet day, so cool, so calm, so bright!
The bridal of the earth and sky—
The dew shall weep thy fall tonight;
For thou must die.

Sweet rose, whose hue angry and brave
Bids the rash gazer wipe his eye,
Thy root is ever in its grave,
And thou must die.

Sweet spring, full of sweet days and roses,
A box where sweets compacted lie,
My music shows ye have your closes,
And all must die.

Only a sweet and virtuous soul,
Like seasoned timber, never gives;
But though the whole world turn to coal
Then chiefly lives."

—George Herbert (1593-1633).

Soviet Russia Recognizes Manchukuo

The Soviet Government, through it Vice-Foreign Commissar, Leo Garakhan (right, above), this week informed the Japanese Ambassador to Moscow that Russia will shortly extend formal recognition of the independent State of Manchukuo, which was set up with the aid of armed Japanese forces. Mr. Pu-Yi, the former Boy Emperor of China, seen at the left, is the puppet monarch of Manchukuo. Russia's announcement is believed to dissipate all fears of a long-threatened war between Japan and the Soviet.

FEEDING PULLETS IN EARLY AUTUMN

On Being Put in Winter Quarters Plenty Green Feed Needed.

Pullets, on being put into winter quarters before they start to lay, should be fed heavily on green feed and the houses kept open as wide as possible, so that the change from range conditions to confinement will be as little as possible. They should be handled very carefully and feed changes should be made gradually. Through experiments conducted at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, Que., it has been found that a sudden change from a growing mash, which they receive when placed in winter quarters, will cause moult, thus detaining egg production for a period of eight to twelve weeks.

Many make the mistake of feeding too heavily on high protein mashes. Grain must be fed in such proportions, as to keep the birds in prime flesh. Should the pullets show an inclination to put on fat, the mash is increased, which will result in greater egg-production. On the other hand, should the pullets show a tendency to lose weight, the scratch grain is increased, which will result in a consequent lessening of the production, but an increase in weight of the fowl.

Continue to Lose Weight

Shoulder the feeder ignore the danger signals when the birds begin to show a loss of weight and continue to force egg-production by heavy mash feeding, the birds will continue to lay at a high speed until they become so reduced in flesh that they will finally break, which in the long run means a lower egg-production than if they had been fed so as to keep up their body weight and continuous production, even if they do not produce at quite as high a rate.

The following is the system of feeding in use at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, Que., always bearing in mind what has been previously said with reference to keeping a proper balance between the mash and grain part of the ration.

The laying mash is kept in hoppers before the flock at all times. Also hoppers of grit and oyster shell. Fresh water is continuously supplied. A light feed of scratch grain is fed in the litter in the morning. Green feed, in the form of cut clover hay, mangels or cabbage is then given. A feed of moist mash is fed at mid-day, as that is a very convenient way to use table scraps. A full feed of scratch grain is given in the evening.

The scratch grain and laying mash in use at this Station, at the present time, are as follows: Scratch grain: 1 part wheat, 1 part cracked corn, ½ oats, ½ barley; Mash: 1 part bran, 1 part middlings, 1 part corn meal, 1 part finely ground oats, ½ part alfalfa meal, ½ part animal feed mixture, 3 per cent bone meal, 2 per cent charcoal, 1 per cent salt, 2 cod liver oil.

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

TORONTO PRODUCE

Eggs from the West have been sold on this market recently, and were offered yesterday, but prices continued to advance as supplies failed to meet the demand. Receipts from Ontario districts were very light, and, though there was no movement of storage eggs, prospects were good for sales of this quality later in the week. Brokers' prices on fresh, Ontario supplies, were higher yesterday at 28c for extras, 24c for firsts and 15c for seconds, graded and in free cases, with Western eggs at 27c for extras, 23c for firsts and 15c for seconds. Extras and firsts to retailers were quoted at steady prices, but seconds were 1c more per dozen. Country shippers were quoted higher prices for the top grades, the general quotation being 25c for extras, 22c for firsts and 14c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned.

Butter

Nominal prices and no trading was the condition of the butter market. Buyers continued to refuse choice offerings and were content to work on supplies on hand. Brokers reported some accumulation of receipts, but did not lower prices asked for any quality. Creamery solids were nominally 21¾c to 22c for No. 1 and 20¾c to 21c for No. 2, while prices to retailers for prints were unchanged at 25c for No. 1 and 24c for No. 2.

Cream.

There were no changes in levels quoted on churning cream by local buyers. Country shippers were offered 21c to 22c for special, 20c to 21c for No. 1 and 17c to 18c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points.

Cheese

Trade in cheese was quiet and prices on new and old makes were unchanged. Brokers quoted new makes at 11c to 11¼c for large, 11¼c to 11¾c for twins and 11½c to 11⅝c for triplets, while quotations to retailers were steady with those reported at the first of the week.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Sept. 29. — Butter and cheese prices continued their decline on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Car lots of current make No. 1 butter dropped ¼c to ½c at 21c a pound. Storage butter was also lower at 20¾c. Receipts were 152 boxes. At the weekly Board of Trade auction 500 boxes were offered, but bids of 20¼c for 390 boxes of No. 1 and 20¼c for 110 boxes of No. 2 were refused. It was reported that the No. 1 butter was later sold at 21c.

Cheese was down ¼c, Ontarios being quoted at 10¾c to 11c, and Quebecs at 10¾ to 10¾c a pound. At the auction 404 boxes of No. 1 Quebec whites and 174 boxes of No. 1 Quebec colored sold at 10¾c. Small lots of No. 2 sold 1c lower. Receipts were 2,008 boxes.

Eggs were unchanged, graded fres

Eggs were unchanged, graded fresh Ontario or Prairie extras, in car lots, selling at 28c to 31c, firsts at 20c to 21c and seconds at 14c to 15c a dozen. Only small lots of storage were sold to retailers yesterday, the first time they have appeared on the market this season. Advances of 2c to 4c announced Tuesday on fresh eggs to retailers went into effect yesterday. Receipts were 463 cases.

Potatoes remained firm, New Brunswick Green Mountains being quoted at 75c and New Brunswick Cobblers at 70c per 80-lb bag. Montreal potatoes were 40c to 60c per 80-lb. bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Active buying support that developed after a sharp decline gave a late hoist to wheat values yesterday.

Intimations that Japan as well as China was in the market for wheat attracted notice. Besides, Argentine reports suggested uneasiness over the wheat crop outlook in Northern Argentina.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as Tuesday's finish to ½c higher; corn, ⅝c off to ¼c up; oats, unchanged to ⅝c lower, and provisions unchanged to 5c down.

Eastern Pool Purchases Wheat

Concentrated purchasing credited to an Eastern pool accompanied the late upward movement of the Chicago wheat market. On the advance, however, spread traders sold here against buying at Winnipeg, a reversal of earlier tactics. Canadian country marketings were still heavy and this, with scantiness ofexport business and a downward trend in the Liverpool market, was largely responsible for set-backs the first part of the day.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, September 29.—Although it registered a new low of 50¼c at the opening, October wheat climbed a little on the Grain Exchange here to finish ⅛c higher for the day. Other futures were in line with fractional gains.

October closed at 50⅝c, November at 51⅝c, December at 52½c, and May at 57⅝c.

Seaboard house buying accounted for the rally in the first part of the day, but when support faded the market held in sympathy with the strength at Chicago, where moderate gains were registered.

No figure was placed on export sales, but they were not large, and overseas cables indicated a lull with British millers awaiting developments in the British Parliament with reference to proposed import duties on foreign wheat.

A report circulated in Liverpool indicated a deal between Japan and Russia for 720,000 bushels of wheat, but Broomhall was of the opinion Russia would not have this amount of wheat to sell after she had filled her contracts in Europe.

Demand for No. 1 hard and No. 2 Northern was fairly good, and spreads on these grades for the greater part of the morning were about ⅛c better, while spreads on the other grades of cash wheat were mostly unchanged from Tuesday's closing differences.

Cash interest in coarse grains was confined to the various grades of oats and high-grade barley for export.

PAINFUL PILES

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Itching, bleeding, or protruding piles go quickly and don't come back if you really remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the lower bowel and hemorrhoids (veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and suppositories fail because only an internal medicine that stimulates the circulation and drives out the impure blood can actually correct the cause of piles. Dr. J. S. Leuhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in over 800 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. McDermid & Jury and Sond's Drug Store and druggists everywhere sell HEM-ROID Tablets with guarantee they will end your Pile misery or money back.

1
Flavor

KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes have a delicious "wonder" flavor discovered by W. K. Kellogg and never successfully imitated by any one else.

2
Freshness

The minute Kellogg's leave the toasting ovens, the flakes are completely sealed in a WAX-TITE bag which is placed inside the red-and-green package and keeps every flake fresh and perfect. It's a patented Kellogg feature!

3
Value

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are among the most economical and convenient of foods. Guaranteed by W. K. Kellogg: "If you do not think them the very best corn flakes you ever tasted, return the empty red-and-green package and we will refund your money." Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

IN DEPTHS OF DESPAIR

MRS. MARY JONES lives in New England. Every month was a nightmare to her. Her letter says, "I suffered periodical pains through my head, backache and female weakness."

She tried everything. Visited clinics. Nothing helped her. Finally she gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial . . . scarcely hoping it would succeed where more expensive things had failed.

But she was surprised. Through its tonic action, it built up her health . . . lessened her pain. She says, "My backache is completely relieved."

SNOWDEN SEVERS FORTY YEARS ASSOCIATION WITH MACDONALD

Accuses Premier and Baldwin of Breaking Pledges on Tariff.

EMERGENCY OVER.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(AP)— In a bitter letter of resignation which accused Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald and Stanley Baldwin of breaking their pledges on the tariff issue, Viscount Snowden of Ickhornshaw left the Cabinet today, ending 40 years of close association with the Prime Minister.

Mr. Snowden left in sharp disagreement with the tariff measures which came out of the recent imperial conference at Ottawa.

"I am severing 40 years of close political association and cooperation in the work which transformed the party features of British politics," he wrote.

"I can no longer, without loss of all self-respect, remain a member of a government which is pursuing a policy I believe to be disastrous to the welfare of the country; a policy which will lead to disruption of the Empire and which is fraught with great danger to our international relations."

Emergency Over.

He declared that the acute national emergency no longer exists, the budget has been balanced, stern economies have been enforced and the threat to the national credit has been removed.

"Nothing in my political experience has been more disgraceful and dishonest than the misrepresentations of the results of the imperial conference which are being circulated in the Tory press.

"By the Ottawa agreements the Dominions are to dictate to us where we shall buy and where we shall not buy. These agreements have surrendered our fiscal autonomy and handed over to the Dominions considerable of the British trade policy, reducing this country below the status of a Dominion.

"You cannot expect free traders to acquiesce even passively in such a policy of national humiliation and bondage."

A Hen Appeared As From Nowhere

A Story of 1826 which tells how Black Hen came mysteriously to home of pioneer minister in the Otonabee district. Not discovered how it got there. Coming was providential, minister said. Stocked colony with hens.

In the year 1832 there located on a lake in the Otonabee district near Peterborough an ex-officer of the British army and his young wife. The lady wrote a book of her experiences in the new land and published it in England anonymously in 1845.

One day in 1834 the lady and her husband went to visit a clergyman who with many of his flock in an English parish had emigrated to the Peterborough district in 1824.

The clergyman told the lady how he and his family, 10 years previously had settled on a bush lot near Rice lake and had undergone all the privations that his parishioners had. Often they had been near to starvation owing to the long distance to mills and stores.

A Hen Came

The wife of the minister told a worthwhile story about the surprise they received one day in 1830, when an old black hen appeared suddenly one morning at the door of the shanty, apparently from nowhere.

As there was not known to be a hen in the whole community for miles around the arrival of the hen caused somewhat of a sensation.

Nobody in the colony could suggest where the hen had come from. It was supposed that the hen had got away from some emigrant family that had been travelling to the lakes.

Hen Was Adopted

Anyway the hen was warmly welcomed and given quarters. The black hen laid 10 eggs and hatched chickens from them. From this little brood the ministers wife bred a stock and soon supplied all the neighbors with fowl.

The minister told the English lady that he greatly prized the stock of the black hen, not only because of its large size, but "from the providential manner in which they had obtained it."

Open Air Service

The minister told the lady that on the first Sunday after the arrival of his parishioners in the Otonabee district, the people gathered on the lake front in the open air and held a service of thanksgiving.

The following year (1825) the people raised a small log house which served both as a church and school house.

NO. 1 BOY FRIEND WOULD WED GIRL, SHE LOVES NO. 2

By Virginia Lee

I GET an interesting letter from H. C. M., whose problem is rather unusual.

She has two men friends, No. 1 with a past, but who has changed of his own free will since he began going with her, and now is a member of her church group. He loves and wants to marry her, but he has no job, is in debt, and her parents don't care for him. She, herself, likes him merely as a friend. Also, he declares that if she does not marry him he will return to his old life.

No. 2 is in religious work and declares that, because of a very youthful affair he never can trust a woman. She loves him, but seldom sees him. Her father and mother would dearly like her to "keep company" with him.

H. C. M. believes that she could not be happy with No. 1, but she could with No. 2. How can she make the latter trust her? And what shall she do about the whole matter?

I can very quickly tell you what you should not do, H. C. M. Don't marry No. 1 when you do not love him. Particularly do not marry him while you love No. 2. If he has not decided to stay reformed for his sake, he probably wouldn't stay for yours once you were married. Of course he is not to blame about the job, but we hope that will be remedied shortly.

As for No. 2, don't you suppose that this attitude of his of not trusting women is pretty much of a pose? How could one who had a chance to see many good women think that all were bad just because one young girl was disappointing. If he really does believe that women can't be trusted he is blind as a bat or rather stupid, don't you think, I wouldn't try to convince him, if I were you.

And as for your ambitions in the matter of training your voice, go right ahead with them,if you can, no matter what anyone says. You will meet new people and get a different and broadening viewpoint by going away from home.

Above all, as I said before: Don't marry a man you don't love, especially as there is someone you do care about.

• • •

Ivan was a boy who kissed the wrong girl. His girl was pretty mad about it. You may remember his letter awhile back. M. C. tells him to see his girl and tell her just what he wrote me. "She will forgive you everything that happened in in the past and love you more than before if you only see and talk with her," she writes.

As a matter of fact, I think Ivan did talk to the girl friend and argued that the kiss he gave the family friend was not inspired by love. Probably by this time all is well with him and the lady love. Thank you for your comforting letter.

• • •

PUZZLED: You did just right by discouraging the young man, Puzzled. His threat probably meant nothing, but it might be well to tell your father, brothers, or some of your more intimate men friends about the matter so that they could protect you if you needed it.

• • •

LONESOME LOVER is 17 and has a boy friend eight years older. Her mother doesn't like him but her father thinks he's "just it." What should she do?

Try to get your father to persuade your mother that he's all right. If he can't maybe the boy friend himself can turn the trick by being extra nice to her.

• • •

"DEAR MISS LEE: My girl friend and I have been pals for more than four years. It is only lately that we have begun to disagree.

"Like most girls I was boy crazy at the ageof 13, but I've gotten over that and I realize the dangers of associating with boys one knows nothing about.

"My pal, who is now 18, can't get along without boys. No matter what fellow talks to her she answers him. At first I tried sarcasm in driving these pests away, but I found that it only made me very disagreeable to the girl friend. Now I just keep silent, but it still doesn't seem to be correcting my chum's faults. It there anything I can do to help bring about a realization of what she is heading for?

WORRIED.

You were fortunate to get your attack of boyitis early and recover. Can you think of anything that would have brought you out of it when you were that way? Didn't you just have to let it run its course? You probably will have to let your girl friend go through the same procedure. Stand by and don't be too hard on her. She'll get over it.

Trust to her innate good sense and home training to keep her from going too far, and don't be worried.

Prince Of Wales a Good Golfer

There's nothing amateurish about the hefty manner in which Edward, Prince of Wales, follows through after smiting the pill. This picture of the royal golfer was made at Biarritz, France, where the Prince competed for the trophy donated by himself and bearing his name—the "Prince of Wales Trophy" Hector Finn, a friend of the Prince, is the partner who is looking on as H.R.H. drove off.

Anglican Church Forced To Economize

Bishop Geddes (left), of the Mackenzie River Diocese of the Church of England in Canada, has been appointed to administer the affairs of the Yukon Diocese as well as his own. This economy measure is said to have been necessitated by losses to church-endowment funds through the operations of J. A. Machray, K.C., now serving seven years in prison for other thefts. Bishop Geddes will fill the place of Bishop A. H. Sovereign, who leaves Yukon Diocese to become Bishop of Athabasca, in place of Bishop Renison (right), who is now at St. Paul's Church, in oTronto.

MOTHER-IN-LAW Nags Young Bride

Young Alice Robinson had been married seven months—at first all went well, then trouble started. Her husband's mother came in one night to supper and, in the innocent way mothers-in-law have, made a critical remark about the table cloth. Perhaps it wasn't just as white and gleaming as it might have been, but Alice had worked hard over that tablecloth just last washday and felt very hurt in consequence.

But Wise Mother Prevents Trouble

Next day Alice asked her own mother to come over and see her and tearfully explained her trouble. "I tried so hard to have everything looking nice—and then she said something about the cloth." Her mother looked at the tablecloth with a discerning eye. "Alice, my child, you may be trying hard, but I think I can tell you an easier way to get things clean. I'll tell you what I do.

"First, I use a good soap. I'd advise you to use the brand I always buy—Pearl White Naptha. You'll find it a good practical laundry soap and a lot more economical than most. Soap your clothes and put them to soak overnight in cold water. You will find that, as the water temperature rises to the heat of the room, more dirt is loosened than would be if the water were cooling. In the morning, rinse your clothes thoroughly in warm water and you'll never have any more troubles with your wash."

Thousands of women have now learned this valuable laundry secret. Get the Pearl habit yourself—Pearl means efficient work in less time and at less cost. That's something to remember these days.

Over 3000 cakes of Pearl Soap are used by Canadian housewives every hour

That Body of Yours

THE TREATMENT OF EPILEPSY

Research men have shown that epileptic fits occur less often on Sundays and other holidays, and Mondays and the days following other holidays.

What is the lesson?

The rest is a great factor in lessening the number and the severity of the attacks. It often happens that a patient is put to bed in hospital in order to obtain an opportunity to observe an attack—and yet, in spite of the fact that no medicine of any kind has been given, the patient has no attacks.

However it is not possible, nor is it perhaps necessary, for all patients suffering from epilepsy to rest all the time. Dr. Douglas A. Thorn states that as very few of these patients are below normal mentally, and thus are able to take their place in the world, a few suggestions regarding the care they should get or the care they should take of themselves might be of great help to the patient ,to the family, and to the employer.

As to the patient. Every effort should be made by careful examination, laboratory tests, X-ray and other methods to find any cause for the convulsions or anything that might aggravate the convulsions. The patient's condition, chances in life and for happiness should be discussed frankly with him. What the patient may reasonably expect from treatment and his willingness to follow the treatment. Just how this habits—sleep, diet, bowels, exercise, work, social habits—play an important part in preventing, or lessening the number of attacks. All mystery, or feeling of impending danger, must be removed, and a feeling of optimism should replace pessimism.

The patient must understand that he himself must work out a great part of his cure, by following the physician's orders absolutely.

Education of the family. The family should be told all that the physician is trying to do, and told also, all that is know about epilepsy and its treatment. The family must encourage the patient to do things for himself and others, to be really one of them in every sense, with no favors shown. He must be treated, and he must want himself to be treated as if he were normal in every way.

As to the employer. The employer must use the same methods as the family, that is to expect the patient to measure up in every way to his work—no shorter hours, nor, on the other hand, no longer hours, than other employees.

Canadian tobacco exported to Great Britain in the eight months ended August 1932 totalled 8,950,-558 pounds valued at $2,542,880, an increase of more than 80 per cent in quantity and almost as great an increase in value compared with the same period in 1931.

The county of Wentworth, Ontario, is reported to be leading all Canada in the production of quality hogs with 90.6 per cent of marketings in a seventh-month period placing in the two top grade "select" and "bacon."

Millbrook

Mrs. (Rev.) Canon Allen spent the week-end visiting in Toronto.

Mrs .E. J. Whyte is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Fitzgerald, and other relatives in Toronto, going to that city last week.

Rev. J. W. Stubbs, rector of Elmvale, and formerly assistant to the late Canon Allen in the parish of Cavan, will take the service of the local parish on Sunday, October 2, exchanging with the rector, Rev. William Simpson.

Rev. W. W. Jones left on Tuesday for Hamilton to attend the session of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, which opens on Wednesday evening. Other commissioners to the General Council from this district include Rev. Dr. Holling of Lindsay, Rev. G. C. R. McQuade of Oshawa, Rev. A. J. Wilson of Napanee, while among the layme nare W. R. Strike of Bowmanville, Samuel Farmer of Port Perry, E. C. Squire of Norwood, W. S. Gordon of Tweed, and A A. Martin of Brighton.

Dr. and Mrs. Meyers of Windsor were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J .H. George. Dr. Meyers was a college friend of Dr. T W. Nash, and with his wife stayed here for a brief visit during a motor trip in this section of the Province

Mr. and Mrs. E. Swanson and daughter Miss Pearl, are on a trip through to the Pacific Coast, calling at the principal points en route

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jones and daughter Gertrude of Toronto were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hatherly, on Sunday.

Miss Elsie Spence of Toronto was home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Spence, on Sunday.

The many friends of Miss Frances Turner, B.A., will be glad to learn that she is recovering nicely from her recent operation for appendicitis, Dr. Moir of Peterborough being in charge, with Dr. H. A. Turner, the operation being at the latter's private hospital here.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pitt, Mr. George Needler, Miss Eleanor Ham, R.N., and Alfred Harris of Toronto, motored to the village on Sunday, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Pitt.

Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Turner motored to Toronto last week, and attended the funeral of Mr. Justice Hodgens, a cousin of Dr. Turner's.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ball and daughter Miss Thelma, and Mr. and Mrs. Weston C. Fallis have returned home after an enjoyable motor trip to the State of Iowa, three weeks being spent in visiting relatives at LeMars, Greene, and other points. Crossing was made into the States at Detroit, and the party went by way of Chicago Heights on their way southward.

A recent legislative grant has enabled the Municipal Council to clean up the property on King Street known as the "Post Office" lot, weeds being plowed under, the land filled in and rolled, and altogether improved from its untidy condition of recent seasons. The land was secured as the site for a post office building, with the hope that the Government would provide such a local improvement, several years ago; but with the exception of a bill-board site no other use has so far been found for it. Apparently until times improve there is little hope that the original purpose will be carried out.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ball, J. N. McGill, J. A Vance, Mr. and Mrs. M. Brock, Miss Jennie Brock, and many others from this vicinity attended the Lindsay Fair last week.

Mrs. Donald Tinney received for the first time in her new home on Saturday from three to five o'clock. A large number of callers from Peterborough, Millbrook, Cavan, and South Monaghan took advantage of the opportunity of greeting the hostess in her cosy and commodious bungalow her mother-in-law, Mrs .Albert Tinney, and her sister, Miss Mary Cathcart, receiving with her. Late autumn blossoms added to the attractiveness of the living-room and hall as did also the cheerful fire in the grate. The dining table with Irish linen cloth being centres with a silver basket of cosmos and asters. Mrs. R. M. Waddell of Peterborough and Miss E. J. Grandy of Millbrook poured tea, Mrs. Cecil Edwards of Peterborough cut the ices, and serving the guests were Miss Maud Nixon, Mrs. Ernest Legon, Miss Ruth Barnes, Miss Lillian McClelland of Peterborough, and Miss Doris Tinney, a sister-in-law of the hostess, of Cavan.

Mrs. Tinney's new home, complete as it is with modern conveniences, and into which she has but recently moved, was much admired by the many callers, including a number of college and girlhood friends who attended her reception on Saturday.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD AT LIFFORD

Congregation of St. Mary's Church Commemorates Its Eightieth Anniversary.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHANY, September 29. — A special memorial service was held at St. Mary's church, Lifford, on Sunday, commemorating the 80th anniversary of the church, which is one of the oldest in the Township of Manvers, and a most beautiful edifice.

A year ago the church received a complete renovation, a furnace installed and a new lighting system employed—this being the munificent gift of a former resident and worshipper The color scheme is carried out in green and gold and the church grounds are beautifully kept.

The service on Sunday evening was in charge of the rector, Rev. Mr. Holden ,assisted by the layreader, A. H. Monk. Rev. Mr. Holden based his remarks on the 8th chapter of Deuteronomy, verse 2, "And thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee."

A large audience was deeply impressed and inspired by the address, and the full service of song and thanksgiving.

Bonarlaw

On Sunday evening last St. Mark's Church held their annual Harvest Thanksgiving service. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, fruits, grain, etc. A large congregation was present and listened with much interest to a fine sermon by Rural Dean, M. J. C. Levason. A male quartette composed of Messrs. W. A. Sanderson, W. L. Rigg, George H. Woodhouse and J. F. Baker, gave two numbers, "Guide us and Guard Up" and "The Wayside Cross."

Mr. John E. Brown returned home last Sunday with his bride who was before her marriage, Miss Laura Tysick. Mrs. Brown is quite well known in this vincinity and Mr. Brown is a lifelong resident. Both are very popular. They will reside near Bonarlaw.

On Monday for this week the executive committee of Centre Hastings County Religious Education council met at White Lake church near Ivanhoe and made plans for the four Township Sunday School conventions which will be held Oct. 18-21, commencing at Madoc Township and ending with Rawdon and Marmora. A speaker will be sent by the Ontario Religious Education Council, Toronto who will address all four conventions, afternoon and evening. An interesting program was also arranged for the county convention which is being held this year at Madoc United Church, Madoc, on November .

Madoc

Several of the local Rebekahs attended a social evening held by the Queentena Rebekah Lodge in their hall in Belleville on Tuesday evening, September 20.

At the close of the evening an old-fashioned dress parade was put on for which four prizes were given. Miss Ruby Nicholls received the first prize and Mrs. Stockloser second prize.

The Busy Bees, Jr. Institute of Madoc, held a most successful picnic at Ozone Lake, Moira Lake, on Saturday. Owing to a sudden rain storm shelter was secured in a vacant cottage where games were played and short business meeting held at which the program for the year's work was arranged.

On Monday afternoon, September 19th, the Mission Band of Trinity United Church, held their birthday party under the leadership of Mrs. H. Bailey, Mrs. Rutherford and Mrs T. E. Burnside.

The program was given entirely by the Mission Band members consisting of readings, recitations, and stories, and included also a play by ten of the members, and a piano solo, Miss Jean Whytock presiding as chairman and Miss Phyllis Stockloser at the piano.

A birthday cake, beautifully decorated, was provided and each member was called on to light a candle for it. The members were then given a piece of the cake, those finding the lucky pieces being entitled to a certificate of life membership in the mission band.

A very successful auction sale was held at the residence of Mr. George Springham, Madawaska street, on Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Springham and son Everleigh, are leaving Madoc to take up residence in Newcastle.

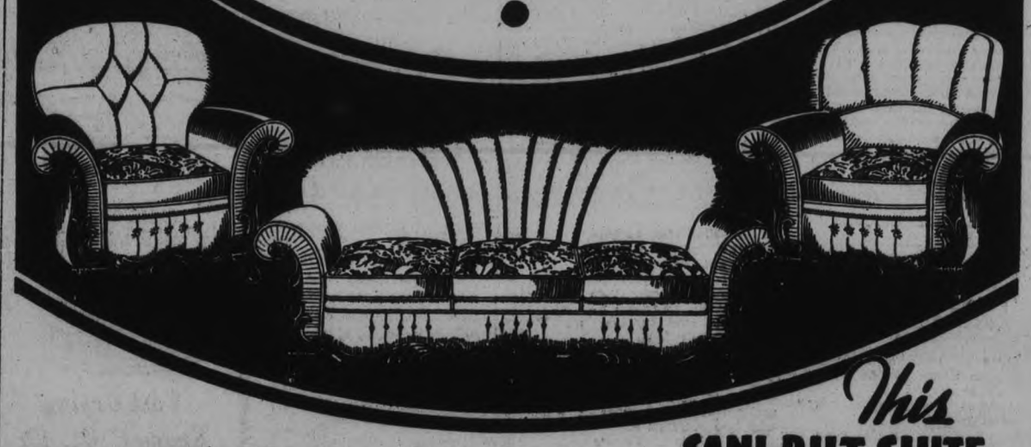
Canadians have quickly grasped this AMAZING OPPORTUNITY



Only TWO Days Left in this Sensational Fall Sale

Never in all our history has any Snyder Sani-Bilt Suite created such an outstanding public demand.

There are, as we see it, three big reasons for the great success of this sale. The new imported English multi-colored repp coverings undoubtedly is one. They are certainly the smartest coverings we have had in years. Beautiful original patterns offered for the first time in Canada.

The famous Snyder moth-proof guarantee is another reason. The public has shown its confidence in the stability of the Snyder organization and its ability at all times to live up to the last letter of that highly protective guarantee.

The third, of course, is the amazing value represented in these big, roomy, comfortable chairs and chesterfields. You must see them and sit in them at your dealer's to appreciate their great value, and supreme comfort. And you must act quickly if you want one, as the sale positively ends on Saturday.

This SANI-BILT SUITE only $159.50

SALE ENDS OCT. 1st

Cash Talked

The tremendous cash buying capacity of Snyder's Limited permitted us to purchase raw materials in a distress market. Select hardwood for the frames, steel springs, webbing—even the woodwork varnish, was purchased at below manufacturer's cost. In addition to this remarkable saving in raw material cost, we also purchased our English coverings through our European representative at extremely favorable exchange rates. Spot cash buying plus our manufacturing resources make it possible to give the people of Canada this really wonderful investment in Living Room comfort.

A smaller suite is offered also, for apartment houses and small living rooms—at a correspondingly lower price. See it at your dealer's.

FASHION SERVICE

Isn't this a fresh attractive new type for the smart school and college miss? It is also suitable for youthful women types.

It displays clever manipulation of fabric.

The new wrapped bodice cut is snappy and slimming too. The skirt with front and back panels, that by the way cut in one with the hip section, give youthful height to the figure.

Hyacinth-blue novelty silk and wool crepe made the original. The rever collars and cuffs were of plain blue wool crepe.

Style No. 2671 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3¾ inches of 39-inch material with ½ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Price of pattern 15 cents.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

FLAT WASH gets its name from the fact that all articles are flat.

• • • • • • •

Most of them are of single pieces of textile, although this is not true of pillow cases. Moreover, all can be pressed flat.

• • • • • • •

There are no gathers, nor pleats and no shaping as in garments. All pieces are ironed flat.

• • • • • • •

In a laundry, I believe, flat wash is ironed with a mangle. This is a machine having two rollers between which the articles are run, and thereby pressed.

• • • • • • •

A good mangler gets results practically as good with such a machine as by hand ironing. An inexperienced or careless worker, however, succeeds in getting edges uneven, but learns to fold them inside so that the pieces appeare to be folded evenly.

• • • • • • •

When sheets are properly made they should come from the laundry pressed straight and even with the top hem uppermost.

• • • • • • •

Flat wash, whether done in a laundry or at home is the easiest to iron. The only difficult part of the work is in handling the large pieces, such as sheets, large tablecloths, spreads, etc.

• • • • • • •

When wet they are heavy, and they are clumsy to fold unless two persons work together.

• • • • • • •

The person who does her own laundry work will find the task of ironing the sheets decidedly decreased if they are folded with top and bottom hems right side out.

• • • • • • •

It requires two persons to fold double sheets thus. Each person has a top and bottom hem, having the sheet wrong side up. Put hems together for the first fold. Pull hems to prevent slight shrinking by stitchery.

• • • • • • •

Flap the sheet well by drawing the hands together and stretching them apart quickly, both persons working simultaneously. This takes out many wrinkles.

• • • • • • •

Fold sheet again by bringing centre fold even with hems. Now fold one hem around to side of double fold. This will bring both hems right side out and in their entire length.

• • • • • • •

Fold top hem inside when sides are brought together. Sprinkle top and bottom hem lines more than folds, and roll.

• • • • • • •

Sheets should not be sprinkled to make them very damp, for like all wash, they should be ironed until dry. Iron the sheet first on the side with top hem, giving the hem especial care. Then on the side with the bottom hem.

• • • • • • •

The sheet remains four folds thick all the time, thus the middle of the sheet does not come in direct contact with the iron. It will be smooth and well ironed if the flatiron is not too hot and the ironing done slowly while the iron is pressed down heavily as it is drawn over the surfaces as given.

• • • • • • •

Pillow cases are ironed on the right side with the side seam straight, and hems even. Napkins can be folded once and slowly ironed on both half length sides.

• • • • • • •

As hems slip slightly when pressed, have one hem a mere trifle inside the other. Fold so that the outside does not show any edge of another fold beyond it. Handkerchiefs should be so ironed also.

SHADOW LIFTED ON BLACK MAGIC

Judge Scores Westerners for Referring to Girl as Having "Evil Eye."

DISMISSES CLAIM.

EDMONTON, Sept. 29 (C.P.) — Shadows of black magic from medieval times were dispelled and scored by Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing in Supreme Court here.

In granting an injunction preventing Rosie Tylanko and others from referring to Paulino Chizen, 16-year-old Erremont, Alta., girl as "The Girl with the Evil Eye," His Lordship said belief in witchcraft in this enlightened age was a shocking state of affairs. He deplored that adults should openly declare their belief in witchcraft and sincerely hoped he would hear no more of it.

Paulino Chizan took action, through her father, as next friend to obtain the injunction and $3,000 damages from Rosie and Dymtro Tylanko, claiming the Tylankos had said Paulino had "an evil eye" and exercised witchcraft in making a daughter of the Tylankos ill. The claim against Dymtro Tylanko was rejected and no damage award was made.

The action was based on remarks allegedly made in public at Egremont, Alta., in July, 1931.

Weddings

DEYELL—MIDDLETON.

A very pretty autumn house wedding was solemnized yesterday at three oclock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Middleton in Smith Township, when their only daughter, Mary Elizabeth, became the bride of Mr. Melville Harold Deyell, only son of Mrs. Deyell and the late Mr. George Deyell of Smith.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the living-room to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Howard Clark, sister of the birdegroom. The ceremony was performed under an arch of autumn leaves, with white bells as decorations and baskets of pale pink asters and other early autumn flowers.

The bride's frock was of flesh colored georgette. She wore white brocade slippers and white silk hose and carried a shower bouquet of pink Premier Supreme roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Reta Deyell, a cousin of the bridegroom, was in peach satin with white slippers and hose and bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mr. George Middleton, brother of the bride, was best man.

After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served to thirty of the immediate relatives and friends of the bridal party. The dining-room was decorated in pink and white, and the bride's table, centered by the cake, was done with pink candles and roses in silver bud vases.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Deyell left for a motor honeymoon trip, the bride travelling in a woollen suit of wine and black, with black hat, shoes, purse and gloves.

On their return, they will reside in Smith Township.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

290

THE PENALTY OF AN UNDERBID

Underbidding at the Contract table is a serious fault. Probably, if some mathematician were to keep a record of all the losses, visible and invisible, suffered from underbidding, the total would so amazingly overbalance the losses from overbidding as to cause the habitual underbidder to become the rashest of players and thus cause the present army of light bidders to become even die hards in their conservatism.

This is the story of a hand, played in a recent team-of-four Duplicate match at the Deschapelles Club in New York City, in which, through North's underbidding, a match was lost which determined the club championship.

East—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
			Pass
1♡	1♠(1)	3♡(2)	4♠(3)
4♡	4♠(4)	Pass(5)	Pass
Dbl.(6)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—With a passing partner and the bidding opened by the opposing side, West's best course is probably to defend the hand as well as possible and seek an early Double. The direct bid of four spades would be the alternative.

2—An underbid, at the root of the subsequent trouble. If North decides that the best course is to raise hearts, the hand contains more than enough playing-tricks to justify a Raise to game at once. A bid of four hearts would shut out East's club bid.

3—With a bidding partner, East's hand presents slight possibilities and these are shown by the club bid, which, by inference, implies a willingness to see the hand played in four spades.

4—Satisfied that opponents can score game and that the set should not be more than 2 tricks.

5—Obviously, the hand requires further action. Partner's Rebid and the strength held by North in the heart suit clearly place honor strength in clubs in the South hand. This pass is a gross example of underbidding.

6—Misled by partner's inadequate Raise and by the failure to take any action after the four spade bid, South accepts a sure penalty rather than continue the bidding.

In the play, the contract was defeated 2 tricks, a penalty of 600 points, less 140 for the honors held. As the game was Duplicate, this was an entirely inadequate compensation. As a matter of fact, North and South have a Slam available at either one of two declarations—hearts or diamonds. The Slam should not be particularly difficult to reach in the bidding, which might well have gone as follows:

South	West	North	East
			Pass
1♡	1♠	4♡	Pass
5♡	Pass	6♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

With the direct Raise to game, South's hand is fully strong enough to suggest the possibility of a Slam, provided North has anything further to say. North, under these circumstances, would have something further to say. North knows that there is but one spade loser and that South probably does not know. With this bidding, which is both safe and sane, but free from the bane of underbidding, the makable Slam might well have been reached.

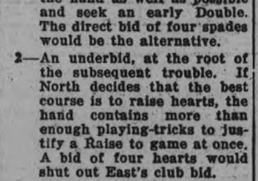
TODAY'S POINTER

Underbidding is at the root of more losses at the Contract table than overbidding. A player who habitually underbids soon finds, despite the underbidding, that he is often suffering penalties. The reason is psychological. Partners attempt to cure the underbidding by overbidding.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Facts And Fancies

APPLE CRISP

Peel and slice enough apples (about quarter inch) to make four cups. Place in buttered dish and add half cup water and one teaspoon cinnamon. Mix one cup sugar, half cup butter and three-quarter cup flour together and sprinkle crumbs over apples. Bake until brown and well done. This is a delicious dessert served with cream.

FAT GIVES CRISPNESS

A factor which aids in the crispness and tenderness of waffles is the fat used. Waffles to be at their best must be fairly rich in melted butter or other fat.

Favor Maiden Names For Political Arena

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 29 (A.P.)—The right of a married woman to use her maiden name in running for public office now is being agitated by the United States Woman's Party.

Toward Connecticut the campaign is directed, in behalf of Miss Elsie Hill, of Norfolk, 11 years married to Prof. Albert Levitt.

Feministic Miss Hill, running for Congress on the Independent Republican ticket, wants the seat her father, the late Ebenezer Hill, held for 21 years. The name of Hill, therefore, might logically be expected to be of some help at the polls.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY EXAMINER

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

Life In The Hay Lot

"MEADY" was a small, green, meadow grasshopper (we always called him "Meady" for short) and he was the proudest and most pompous little creature that ever swung on a grass-blade. Speaking of grass blades, — the long, shiny, rustling kind that you see in the hay lot, well, it was from one of those, probably the tallest one in the lot that "Meady" disappeared one day and never was seen again.

It was after he had shed his

"Come Down And Hide," She Said

hard skin for the fifth time. Of course, every grasshopper knew that he was as big as he would get. He had stuffed himself with grass seeds and pollen after each molt to stretch his new skin as much as he could. He was larger than most grasshoppers of five molts old, and he put on more airs than any of his neighbors.

Many times a little mother grasshopper who had taken quite an interest in him since he grew up had warned him not to climb so high; but he would say: "Haven't I got hundreds of eyes on each side of my head, and three extra eyes besides? If the tiniest shadow touches me, quick as a flash, I am out of sight behind a leaf." You know grasshoppers can't see anything but shadows.

It was glorious fun, he thought, to sway on the tip of the tallest grass blade he could find and play on the rasping little musical instrument which he carried on his back. Or was it played by the glittering sunrays, or the merry breezes that swung him up and down and sideways? Anyway, the music delighted his little grasshopper heart. He kept it up all day long, and away into the night —only he made slower music after sunset.

One day the little mother grasshopper called sharply to "Meady":

"Come down and hide," she said. "I saw a big shadow and I think there is a bird somewhere near."

"I haven't seen any shadows," said "Meady"; and he stopped to wash his six feet. He moistened each foot in his queer mouth of many lips, waving his antennae and looking as sober as a judge all the time. Then he scrubbed the top of his head and his big compound eyes with a moistened foot. He drew his long antennae through his mouth parts like a whip, and then began to eat.

Suddenly there was a blight of shadow, the snap of a beak and "Meady" had slipped under a milk weed leaf, quicker by the one thousandth part of a second than the sharp eyes of the sparrow hawk that pursued him. He still held a mouth full of pollen in his square jaws.

Several seconds elapsed before "Meady" ventured even to peep out from under the leaf. But a grasshopper's life is made up of hairbreadth escapes. He soon came boldly out, climbed with agility to the top of a high grass blade and began to sing as blithely and defiantly as if he hadn't a care in the world.

"Come down!" cried, the little mother grasshopper, "stay down on the ground with me." Zip-r-r-r-r-r, no! I won't!" rattled "Meady," making his musical instrument sound very harsh, and all unmindful of the bright-eyed sparrow hawk that was scanning the meadow from the old stone wall. Spying "Meady" she swoped down again, and this time the sun cast her shadow behind her. There was a snap, the movement of a single grass blade, and little "Meady's" delicate, glassy body, all crushed and lifeless, was borne away from the old hay lot forever.

BROWN-haired Teddy is asking YELLOW-haired Susie May which one of the big YELLOW (use a touch of RED in it) sunflowers she wants.

Susie May has a light-BLUE frock on and stands on one side of the tall RED (use a bit of PURPLE to darken and shade it) brick wall. Teddy is on a YELLOW ladder and has his hand on the GRAY (use BLACK lightly) top of the wall. There are some bright YELLOW and RED flowers with leaves a good deal brighter GREEN than those of the sunflower.

Teddy wears a PINK (use RED lightly) sweater and his trousers are BROWN.

"I think I like the big one that isn't so far up!" says Susie May, pointing.

"You can have either one!" says Teddy. "I can climb right up on the wall you know!"

Both children have PINK cheeks and RED lips. The sky is BLUE.

You can paint the border of this picture BLUE and the lettering a very light YELLOW.

Teddy is a very fine climber so you need not be afraid he will fall even if he has to get the highest sunflower!

RICE AND CARROTS

Rice is a very fine summer vegetable, especially when served in combination.

Put one quart of boiling water and one teaspoon salt in a double boiler.

Cook without stirring for 30 minutes. As soon as the rice has taken up all the moisture, c er tightly.

Pour into the center of a hot platter and around it arrange freshly cooked carrots which have been cut in long strips.

Season both rice and carrots with melted butter.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE ANSWER

BOASTING

OH why do the trees in the forest blow wild,
And rustle and bend and creak?
To call the attention of people, my child,
For this is the way they speak.

And why are the trees in the orchard so still?
They've business in life to do;
They don't have to stand there and blow of their skill—
They've blossoms and fruits for you!

And why is the freshet so noisy and loud?
It harbors no secret wishes
Like pools that are silent and deep and proud,
And shelter the little fishes!

From North Pole to South Pole from far West to East,
The children who know the most
Are always the children who brag of it least,
While stupid ones readily boast!

The Last Day At Camp

CAMP BRADFORD was on a hillside fronting the salt water and whenever swimming call was sounded there was always a mad rush for the beach. I missed Ken Buckley on the last day of camp and went back to find him. He was in his tent sitting on the edge of a bunk with his head in his hands. He looked as though he had lost his best friend.

"What's the matter, Ken?" I asked, in surprise. "You're not ill, are you?"

He shook his head.

"Then why aren't you swimming?"

In replying he handed me a letter he had just received from home. I read only the first sentence.

"Dear Ken:

We will not be able to send you back to Camp Bradford next year, and for that reason we are not forwarding you the five dollars you asked for."

"Gosh, Ken," I said, "that's a tough break. I wish I had enough money for the both of us."

"Thanks, Frank," answered Ken. "I guess I shouldn't be taking the disappointment so hard, but I've had such a good time here this summer that it seems hard not to be able to come back."

"Cheer up," I offered. "You've got one more day anyway in which to enjoy camp life. Let's forget about next year and go swimming."

"I'll try to forget about it," replied Ken, gamely. "I'll make this the longest swim I ever had. I'll swim out to Duck Island and back again."

As we were running across the field we were joined by Hunkey, the Director's dog. He and Ken had made good friends during the summer and were always seen together.

"You can swim out to the island with me," cried Ken. "It'll be our last swim together, old curly head."

When we got to the water, however, we found that one of the smaller boys had cut his foot on a broken bottle which had been buried in the sand. Ken had been a big brother to this little fellow as well as to a lot of the others, and so he stopped to give what first aid he could.

"Here, now, don't cry," he soothed. "I'll have it cleaned and bound for you in a few minutes, and your foot will be every bit as good as new."

But by the time this had been done and Ken was ready to take his swim, the period was over and everybody began to dress. Ken didn't even have a chance to get wet.

"Let's do it anyway," I said. "What's a camp rule or two on the last day?"

"I'd rather not," said Ken. "There's plenty of other things I can do, such as knocking a few home runs in the baseball game."

We followed the fellows to the diamond and lined up for choices. I was picked almost at once by the captain of one team and I thought sure that Ken would be chosen next. But when one side took the field and the other stayed in bats, Ken was left standing on the sidelines.

"What's the matter with me?" he cried, good-naturedly. "Have I done something wrong?"

The two captains laughed.

"It's your turn to be the referee," explained one of them. "Didn't you see your name on the list this morning?"

"But I was on yesterday, too!" protested Ken.

"Maybe they liked the way you did it," was the reply. "It's an honor, you know."

"Not much fun, though," answered Ken. "All right, 'batter up' and let's get started."

It proved to be a close game because the teams had been evenly matched. There were many ticklish decisions but Ken called them fairly, keeping the game under control from the first inning until the last. He called every strike accurately and was on the spot whenever there was a slide for the bases or a man trying to beat the ball to the home plate.

"This is fun for everybody but you, Ken," I remarked.

"I'm satisfied," was the response. "If one can't be senational, the next best thing is to be useful."

After the game was over we went to the mess hall for dinner.

"What is it, cook?" I cried.

"Chicken!" he answered.

"Oh—boy!" said Ken. "Here's where I make up for a lot of lost time. The least I can do with my last meal at Camp Bradford is to make it a good one!"

Ken sat at the head of his table with Fatty Marlow at his right. After the Director asked the blessing, the plates were handed around with just so much chicken for each fellow. Then there was a mad scramble for the vegetables. Fatty stood up to reach for a dish of mashed potatoes, and Hunkey took the opportunity to steal his chicken. At first Fatty thought Ken had taken it, but he soon caught sight of the dog calmly tearing it apart.

"Don't say anything," advised Ken. "You'll get the dog in trouble."

"But he isn't allowed in here, anyway," blubbered Fatty. "I want my chicken."

"I'll get you some more," Ken said.

He took Fatty's plate to the kitchen.

"Sorry, Ken," said the cook. "Only one piece to each fellow. I can't play favorites, you know."

Before Marlow could open his mouth to complain, as he was going to do, Ken was back to touch him on the shoulder and motion him to sit down.

"I'll give you my chicken," he said, changing his full plate for Fatty's empty one. "A vegetable dinner does a fellow good once in a while."

"You were dumb to do that, Ken," I said. "Fatty eats too much anyway."

"It wasn't that," replied Ken. "I didn't want to see Hunkey get into trouble."

After dinner the word was passed for everybody who intended to register for camp next year to come to the office and sign up.

"As you all know," announced the Director, "there's a small fee of five dollars which must be paid at this time. Have your money ready."

There was a rush for the office and for a place in line. I got about tenth from the front and from where I stood I could see Ken walking slowly to his tent, followed by Hunkey, who seemed to sense that his friend was unhappy. Ken hadn't reached his tent nor the line begun to move, however, before the Director stuck his head out of the door and cried:

"Is Ken Buckley in line?"

"No, sir, he isn't," I replied.

"Has he heard the news?"

"What news, sir?"

"He's been elected. Will you ask him to come here, please?"

I stepped out of line and went to Ken's tent, wondering what this election was and what Ken would have to do. He was packing his bag, getting ready to start for

Ken Stopped To Give What First Aid He Could home.

"You're elected," I told him.

"To what?"

"I don't know. You'll have to ask the Director. He wants to see you."

A moment later Ken was in the office.

"I want you to sign at the top of the list, Ken," said the Director, turning the book around and handing Ken a pen.

"But I can't, sir," replied Ken. "I haven't got the money, not even the first payment of five dollars."

"Don't worry about that," was the answer. "It's an old custom at this camp to allow some one boy to come back each year as a camp Councillor. This year you have been chosen and so all your expenses will be paid by me."

"I can't take it, sir," replied Ken. "I don't think I deserve it."

"Let me be the judge of that," was the Director's kind reply. "You've got the helpful spirit. I've been watching you today and every time when you would have rather done one thing for your own pleasure, you did another for somebody else's good. Besides," he went on, patting Hunkey on the head affectionately, "you seem to be good company for my dog."

—So it was that when all the boys had signed Camp Bradford's register, the name of Ken Buckley was at the head of the list.

The Newspaper Fleet

COME out, my brave young sailors,
The wind is blowing free,
And down the hollow meadow
The rain has left a sea.

Put on your caps and rubbers,
Each bring your paper boat;
We'll see which sails the farthest
And longest keeps afloat.

Here's Nelly's jaunty cutter,
And Tommy's splendid ship,
With Baby's tiny shallop,
All ready for the trip.

Now launch away, my hearties,
Let's off in gallant style;
Alas! poor Nelly's cutter
Strands on a grassy isle.

And Tommy's ship turns over
And sinks to sail no more;
Hurrah! the Baby's shallop
Has reached the other shore.

COOLING & CARRYING RACK FOR JARS

JUST what mother has wanted during busy canning days though perhaps she didn't know it. Any "Handy Boy" can make one or several of these racks with but a few tools and of materials that often may be found around the house, pieces of packing boxes, for example. Anyone who has tried to carry hot or wet and slippery jars in his hands will appreciate this method of handling them more than one who has never tried that stunt.

Make two sides ⅝" x 3½" x 15¾", bore 1" ventilating holes as indicated; two ends ⅝" x 3½" x 9⅜" and the hole shown. Also one bottom 10¼" x 15¾". Cut grooves ⅜" x ⅛" x 1½" in the sides as at A, get out two partitions ¾" x 1½" x 9⅜" and assemble with 3½d and 4d nails. Make two lifts ⅝" x 2½" x 13", also a broomstick handle, say 1" x 17½"; bore a hole to fit the broomstick, make partition ¾" x 1¼" x 16". Cut a mortise ½" x 1½" at B of each lift, bore a 1" hole to coincide with the holes in the ends and assemble with screws or with 4d nails driven slantingly and clinched on the inside. Drive a nail at each end of the handle through each lift, and if mother isn't proud of her boy's craftsmanship, she will be an odd one.

HOOVER BIDS FOR FARM VOTE

President Directs Only 25 Per Cent to be Accepted of Loans Due From Farmers.

EXTENDS MORATORIUM.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. —(CP)— United States voters digested today a relief grant by President Herbert Hoover to wheat farmers facing mortgage foreclosures, and a tactful simultaneous attack by the Republican high command on the Democratic agricultural policy.

The president directed only 25 percent was to be accepted of the loans due from farmers who borrowed millions of finance corporation funds made available for crop-production. He said congress would be asked to enact a definite extension of the temporary moratorium he felt compelled to declare on the balance of the borrowings because of present low wheat prices.

Harry S. New of Indiana, postmaster in the Harding and Coolidge administration, led the barrage on the Democratic farm-betterment proposals with which presidential nominee Franklin D. Roosevelt has electioneered in a swing through the west. New said there was nothing specific or workable in the policies. The Rooseveltian farm-plan would not be financed by the government but "by farmers who in many instances are broke."

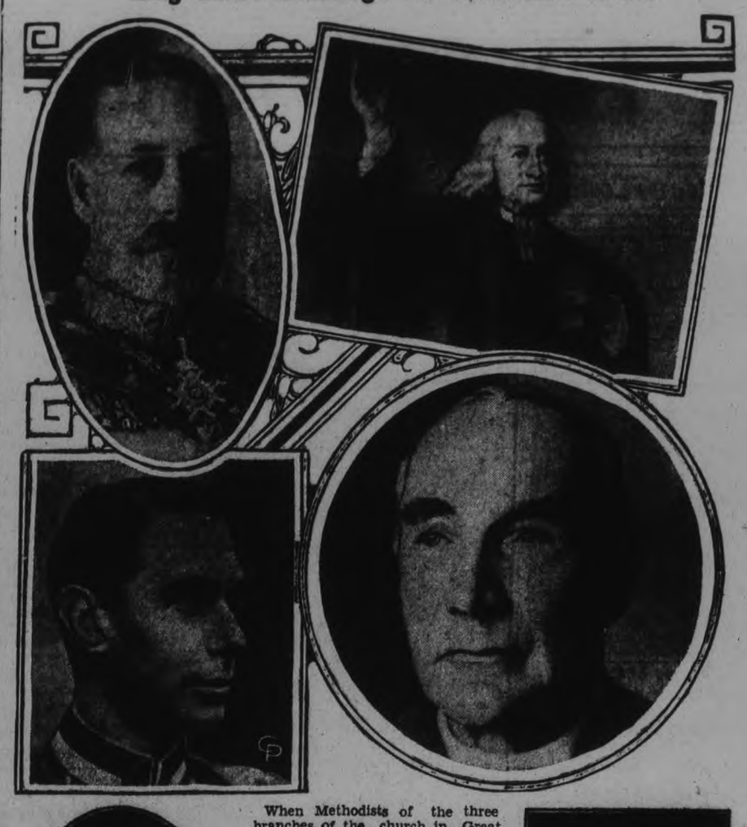
Norris—Roosevelt

Meanwhile Governor Roosevelt and Senator George W. Norris, Progressive-Republican, were shaking hands before a McCook audience in the Nebraskan farming country and eulogizing each other to the skies. Norris said the nomination of Roosevelt had marked a break in the control corporate interests held over political machines.

Newest attacks of the Socialist party of America was levelled at both major parties and came in the form of a bulky booklet setting forth the reasons why Norman Thomas should be chosen president in the November balloting. The Republican and Democratic parties were castigated for fighting about prohibition "in the presence of starvation"

When Joseph McCartney, Ulster and Irish professional golf champion, was married in Belfast, Ireland, recently, he and his bride left the church under an arch of golf clubs held by friends.

King Sends Greetings As Methodists Unite



When Methodists of the three branches of the church in Great Britain gathered in London to effect a union of over two and a half millions of the denomination in Albert Hall, London, congratulations were read by the Duke of York (lower left) from his majesty King George. The principal speaker of the evening, Rt. Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington Ingram, Bishop of London (lower right), expressed the hope that in time all Christian denominations would follow the example of their Methodist brethren. The King's message read: "I congratulate the United churches on the attainment of this happy result. They may well see in it a token of divine guidance and blessing. I welcome it as marking one step toward the unity of the Christian people, a cause that is always near my heart." Upper right is a traditional portrait of the founder of Methodism, John Wesley, in whose doctrine and teachings the denominations find a common inspiration.

CUBS OUTHIT YANKEES BUT LOSE OUT 12-6

Ruth's First Inning Error Gives Chicago Cubs an Early Lead.

BUSH'S WILDNESS COSTLY.

Lou Gehrig's Homer in Fourth Starts Team on Way to Decisive Win.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.— Thanks to an old established act, as dependable for drama, thrills, and the triumph of virtue as was "East Lynne" back in the gas-lit days, the Yankees were booming again along the victory trail to-day, possessors of their ninth straight world series triumph.

Just when the skies were darkest in more ways than one, when it seemed as though Guy Bush was well on the way to breaking up an act that flourished through the post-season championship struggles of 1926, 1927 and 1928, the team of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig rose in their might, smote the transgressor, and shattered the morale of the Chicago Cubs in the opening game of the world series.

At the end of a stormy day, next to the poorest in the matter of attendance a Yankee world series ever has known, a day that started in a rain storm and ended in a glistening sunshine, the score stood 12 to 6 in favor of the American League champions, but the final score told nothing of the gaudy return to world series play of the heroes of 1927 and 1928, when the Yankees won two world titles from the Pirates and Cardinals in eight successive games.

It was Ruth, just recovered from a mild attack of appendicitis, who marched to the plate in the third inning with the Cubs leading 2 to 0, and Earle Combs, the first Yankee runner Bush had allowed on base, erstwhile on second through the medium of a base on balls and an infield out.

The Babe smashed a long single to right and the grey haired Kentucky colonel raced home. Lou Gehrig tramped to the plate. The count reached three and two. He laid into the deciding pitch, a "screw" ball on the outside corner, and belted it far on a line into the deep reaches of the right field stands. The Yankees led, 3 to 2, and the game might just as well have ended there.

That home run smash unsettled Bush, king pin of the Cub curvers, and shattered the morale of a team that had pranced into battle, cocky and confident, to grab a quick two run lead off Burley Charley Ruffing, best of the Yankee right hand pitchers. Bush lost his control and his stuff. His mates faltered behind him, and the game wore on to its inevitable conclusion, a dreary, pountless sort of duel, like two friends boxing for the fun of it. Ruth and Gehrig, their work done, faded into the background of the general scramble.

Only 41,459 spectators, far under the record for world series attendance set at 63,600 by the Yankees in 1926, braved a chilly, rainy morning and the decreasing showers that delayed the start of the opening game 15 minutes, to see the highly-favored Yankees tear away to an impressive start.

It wasn't so much that the Yankees, famed for their hitting array, overpowered the Cubs as was expected, or that the giant red-headed Ruffing handcuffed the National League hitters with his fireball crackling curve. Neither of those things happened.

The Cubs, as a matter of fact, banged Rufus the Red briskly in spots, but only after the Yanks had sprinted far to the front; the Bruins picked up ten hits, among them a pair of doubles and a triple, while the men of Joe McCarthy touched Bush, and his successors, Burleigh Grimes and Bob Smith, for only eight.

Instead the Yankees took advantage of every lapse in the Cub defense, of the streaks of wildness that afflicted both Bush at the end of his stay, and Grimes during his brief return to the spotlight that last shone upon him when he stood on the Cardinal peak last fall and twice whipped the champion Athletics.

Both managers have nominated starting pitchers for to-day. Vernon Gomez, crack young southpaw, was McCarthy's choice, and Lon Warneke, the sensational youngster of the Cub staff, the hope of Charlie Grimm to even the series before the two teams leave to-night to resume the battle in three straight games starting on the Chicago front Saturday.

Only one possible change appeared in the line-ups. Koenig aggravated his damaged wrist sliding into third in the eighth inning, and Bill Jurges was scheduled to replace him at shortstop in the Bruin array.

SPYING ON SPORTS

International — Canadian

"Gossip and Such"

For the first time since the world series came to New York, you could walk right into Yankee offices on Tuesday eve, slap down the simoleons and get in return reasonably good seats practically any place in the park. In former years, at that stage of the proceedings you could not get within a mile of the gate, even though you were a son-in-law of Jake Ruppert or a twin brother of Babe Ruth.

* * *

And the cause of it all, according to Gotham sport scribes is that Landis took too much stock in President Hoover's recent speeches that prosperity was just around the corner (he must have been thinking of the crossroads). He thought there was enough money in circulation to continue the practice of selling the series tickets in three-game blocks instead of singly.

* * *

There are plenty of people who annually made the world series the holiday of the year but who have been on speaking terms with Old Man Depression for a lengthy period and could not ably scare up enough jack for train fare let alone scale the stadium walls which are slightly higher than the fences around the local ball parks.

* * *

Nevertheless the situation in Chicago is just the reverse. Though there is less money in circulation there, World Series are more of a novelty and the Cubs' park is sold out for all three home games. The capacity of the Bruins' home grounds is 51,900 and the receipts from that mob could pay the taxes of any baseball pasture.

* * *

Speaking into the "mike" during a broadcast from New York last night, Jack Dempsey, still the ring idol of a good many million fight fans in Canada and the United States, commented briefly on the Schmeling-Walker bout on Monday evening. 'Twas a good battle from start to finish, he said, with Schmeling easily the better man.

"Did you see the Schmeling-Sharkey fight a few months ago?" the announcer inquired of Dempsey.

"No, I didn't," said Jack, "but I heard all about it."

"What do you mean, 'you heard all about it'?"

"Why, I understand Schmeling was a pretty lucky fellow."

"How do you make that out?" the announcer queried.

"Why, he's lucky that they didn't take his watch away from him, too."—C.H.O.

MORE SERIES RECORDS ESTABLISHED BY RUTH

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Although participating somewhat mildly in the opening day's world series scramble, Babe Ruth nevertheless cracked five of his own records for the baseball championship.

By merely going out to his position in the first inning, the Yankee slugger set a new mark of taking part in ten world series. He also boosted his records for total series performances to 34 runs, 28 runs batted in, 86 total bases, and 31 bases on balls.

His only safe blow being a mere single, Ruth did not touch any of the numerous long-distance clouting records marked to his credit in the books.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS 2ND GAME BY 3-2 SCORE

Grey-topped Jess Petty Turns Back Young Bruins for Nine Innings.

STRIKES OUT ELEVEN.

(By B. Gregory Hewlett, Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 29. — The Newark Bears and Minneapolis Millers, champions of the International League and American Association, respectively, had a day of rest to-day after two games of the Little World series competition that gave neither team a shade of advantage.

After losing the opener by a one-sided score, the Millers landed on even terms by winning the second game, 3 to 2, under lights last night and to-day Manager Donie Bush had ample opportunity to make careful plans for the third and final battle at Ruppert Stadium to-morow.

Petty Holds Bruins.

Seemingly at a disadvantage as the result of using four veteran hurlers in the opener against Don Brennan, ace of the Bears, Bush last night shoved the gray-topped Jess Petty, 41 year old ex-Major League southpaw, into the mound breach, and Petty, who used his speed for the Bears during part of the 1930 season, was good enough to go the nine-inning stretch and befuddle the young Bruins completely.

There was no question about whom was the hero last night. Given only seven-hit support by his mates, Petty was pretty nearly the whole show. He caused 11 Newark batters to whiff the air for strike-outs, walked not a man, and granted only five hits.

Harry Holsclaw, the choice of Manager Al Mamaux to start last night, was even more effective than Petty—until he weakened in the fifth.

Pete Jablonowski is expected to perform on the mound for Newark in the third game to-morrow, with Dutch Henry, another left-hander, his probable opponent. After the game, the teams move to Minneapolis to finish the series.

AL SIMMONS SOLD TO SOX

A's Hitting Star Goes to White Sox With Haas and Dykes.

A CASH TRANSACTION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(A.P.)—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, tonight announced the sale of outfielders Al Simmons and "Mule" Haas, and infielder Jimmy Dykes to the Chicago White Sox for an unannounced amount of cash.

Al Simmons

Mack declined to comment on the deal, one of the most sensational in recent years, but said he might make some further announcement after the World Series.

The tall Athletic manager declined to say whether the deal presaged a break-up of the Athletic machine which galloped to three successive American League championships from 1929 through 1931, but which was distanced by the New York Yankees this year.

Neither would Mack give any indication of how much cash the White Sox had laid on the line. Baseball observers figured, however, that at least $150,000 must have changed hands.

Biggest individual sale price in American League history was the $135,000 the Yankees gave the Boston Red Sox for Babe Ruth.

Simmons, principal figure in the amazing deal, twice won the American League batting championship, in 1930 and 1931, and has a nine-year major league batting average of well over .350. He fell off in his hitting this season, yet compiled the creditable average of around .325, collected about 220 hits and drove in about 150 runs.

Haas held down centrefield most of the current season, and hit above .300. Dykes has been the official handyman of the Athletic infield, playing every position in the inner works at one time or another during his 15-year major league career, all of it spent in Philadelphia.

Surprises Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—Sale of Outfielder Simmons and Haas and Infielder Dykes of the Athletics, announced in New York yesterday, caused surprise among baseball fans in this city.

Rumors had been current during the summer that Simmons was playing his last season with the Athletics. He was understood to be desirous of returning to the Middle West, to be near his home city, Milwaukee. Fans held his work seemed to suffer under the praise that was heaped on Jimmy Foxx, his successor for batting honors in this city, and the new idol of the A.'s followers.

Americans recently searched the former haunts of London's once-famous Bohemians in Soho, but found only one young man with a long black beard and velvet jacket.

Cotton piece-goods imported into the Philippines from the United States in the first half of this year were valued at $4,931,000, compared with $2,568,000 in the same period of 1931.

MINORS WITHOUT RINK.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., September 29 (C.P.). — A few scrapes of a pen to-day and Pittsburgh Pirates will be as good as back into the National Hockey League fold.

Clouds which cast a doubtful shadow over the possibility of the "Smoky City" marching alongside Ottawa in a return trek to the major league were brushed aside last night with announcement that agreement had been reached between the Pirate franchise holders and Dequesne Garden lessors. The Pirates hadn't a home rink until President James Callahan of the Buccaneer Club emerged from a huddle with representatives of the lessors and announced a five-year contract would be signed on Thursday. Seating capacity of the garden-rink heretofore small, will be enlarged to 7,000, he said.

And as Callahan and Bill Dwyer, New Yorker, who is the principal shareholder of the Pittsburgh franchise, departed for a National League meeting, in Montreal on Saturday, with the intention of recruiting playing material, possibility of the International Hockey League continuing operations in Pittsburgh all but disappeared.

Plans Uncertain.

When the Pirates went into oblivion two winters back because of lack of support and finances, the International hurried a team into the city. But the operators of the minor league club are now without a home rink, and their plans for the future are uncertain.

Ed. Powers, who made a success of managing Boston Tigers of the Canadian-American League last season, is widely mentioned as the probable manager of the new Pirate entry for N.H.L. honors and the Stanley Cup. It is said Hip Milks will be back at centre and that three New York Ranger stalwarts John Ross Roach, tiny netman, Dutch Gainor, and Vic Desjardines, will likely wear the black and yellow Pittsburgh jersey.

SPORTS Day by Day

Baseball — Softball — Lacrosse
Boxing — Wrestling — Acquatic

(BY C. J. P.)

A real promising softball double-header is listed for the Brock to-night, Westclox and Maple Leafs of the girls' section meeting at 7.15, with the men's teams, Red and White Stores and Sugar Bowl going on at 8.45. Followers of the game know the calibre of softball dished up by these teams, so we need say no more.

* * * * * *

The fall loop schedule ends in some two weeks, Oct. 13th to be exact. And then the playoffs of both sections, the first two men's teams and the first two gals' outfits meeting in the best three-out-of-five series for the respective championships. The races will be closer and harder-fought from now on.

* * * * * *

An exhibition girls' softball contest will be played at the Brock tomorrow night at seven between Port Hope and C.G.E. They are followed by the City Lacrosse League game, Millbrook vs Brintons, a postponed fixture. We are informed that if the Millbrook aggregation fails to show up for this game, they will be suspended from the league—no more of that stuff pulled by them last night.

* * * * * *

The Millbrook team was scheduled to play a loop game with Orde's up here last night, and they were advertised for several days, but failed to appear—disappointing quite a crowd and disrupting the schedule again. Don't the out-of-towners believe in keeping promises? Of course, if it were an unavoidable accident, that's different, but they sent no word.

* * * * * *

This team has been the cause of considerable annoyance since they were accepted into the league. It seems as if every game they play or are supposed to play ends in a protest, a dispute or else a default. It seems to us—and we are not unduly prejudiced, not having a thing against the manager or players except their odd actions lately—that this outfit doesn't swing into line and play the game as the other three teams are doing, the league should take strong action, and no fooling. The game last night was awarded to Orde's by default.

* * * * * *

Yesterday was tough luck day for local fans. Not only did the Millbrook lacrosse team disappoint a bunch by failing to appear in the evening, but the Pickering College football team stood up a good crowd at Stevenson Park in the afternoon, not putting in an appearance. However, the rugby outfit had a real excuse, their bus hopping the road near Cannington on the way here. No one was hurt as far as we know, but it was sure tough luck for the P. C. I. squad and their followers who were banking on this exhibition tilt.

* * * * * *

The locals stack up against Cobourg Seniors in the first scheduled game of the season this Saturday, playing at three in Nicholls Oval—Stevenson Park being taken for the baseball finals. A huge football crowd will most likely trek to the wide, flat field in the northern end of Ashburnham, and will be looking for a thrilling game. P. C. I. gals and boys will be out in force with their warcrys.

* * * * * *

We have an intermediate football game Saturday, too. The Collegiate intermediates tangle with those from Cobourg in the morning at ten in Stevenson Park. We haven't any line on either team ye', but would guess they'll be pretty well matched, and put up a hard fight. So local fans have three choices of games here this week-end, an intermediate rugby game in the morning, a senior tussle in the afternoon or a baseball playoff contest also in the afternoon.

* * * * * *

The ball fixture is between Maple Leafs of Peterborough and Canadian Nationals of Niagara Falls—the second game of the final O.B.A.A. series for the juvenile title. It should be a pitchers' duel between Bill Calladine and Senese, with two smart young teams who go in for the squeeze plays, sacrifics, hit-and-run, etc. The Leafs can't afford to lose it, nohow!

* * * * * *

Belleville Vics, playing in Belleville yesterday, evened the count in their intermediate playdown series with North Bay by winning, 4 to 3. They got their last run in the ninth. Campbell pitched nice ball for the Vics, allowing six hits, only one until the seventh frame.

* * * * * *

We were just sort of dilly-dallying over summer fancies, sort of glancing back wistfully over a long list of hot weather sports, when rudely jolted out of it by an article in the Lindsay Post this a.m. It concerned the chances of the Lindsay Vics, and the Scugog Midgets—intermediate and junior hockey teams—for this winter! On the same sport page was a piece about Lindsay's football team this fall, and the formation of a baseball league—believe it or not—for next summer. . . . .

* * * * * *

There is a sportswriter, we thought, who doesn't fool; one who not only lives for to-day, and for tomorrow, but also for the day after tomorrow! We've been busy getting ready for this fall's rugby, with only the odd thought of the coming winter. But he's already thinking of minor league baseball for next summer—and we haven't completed our baseball for this year yet. Oh, well, it's good stuff; there's never any harm in looking ahead, provided we don't forget all about the present. They say a prophet is without honor in his own country.

Play Points to International Final Between Glenna Collet Vare and Enid Wilson.

ADA MACKENZIE IN.

(By Bill King—A.P. Sports Writer).

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 29.—The golfing galleryites who demand upsets for their money would probably find to-day's women's championship play at the Salem Country Club a tame spectacle, for the quarter-finals line-up promised but little in the way of surprising reversals.

The eight survivors of the two rounds of match play appeared on the brink of taking another step toward the logical international final between Glenna Collett Vare, about the best in United States, and Enid Wilson, the British champion, who is determined to duplicate the grand slam made in 1909 by Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, who quit England for Philadelphia several years later.

Mrs. Vare had to overcome Peggy Wattles of Buffalo to qualify, and Miss Wilson faced opposition from Charlotte Glutting the long hitter from Short Hills, N.J.

Orcutt vs. Mackenzie.

Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N.J., a strong bidder for national honors during the past 10 years, had an engagement with a worthy opponent, Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, a former Canadian titlist and a seasoned campaigner in American championship golf. Miss Orcutt topped the draw, in the same half with Mrs. Vare.

The other clash on the card pitted Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, against Rosalie Knapp, the Glenwood, N.Y., girl who survived one of the weirdest championship matches in history during yesterday's heavy rain.

She was just two feet from defeat on the home green when Mrs. Harley Higbie, of Detroit, missed a putt from that distance to lose the hole and square the match with her three-putting.

AT THE REGENT

"HOLLYWOOD SPEAKS."

This is one of those entertaining talkies that have to do with Hollywood and its inner mechanism. The vogue just now is to throw aside the veil of mystery about the great centre of activity in matters that have to do with the silver screen, and let the public know how the wheels go 'round.

The blonde Genevieve Tobin and Pat O'Brien, whose voice is admirable for the talking pictures, have the stellar roles.

"Hollywood Speaks" is the true story of the extra girl. But the extra girl in this instance has an "angel" in the form of a newspaper man who saves her from suicide and then goes in for press-agenting on a big scale. Through the medium of print, he makes her famous, almost overnight.

Gertie Smith, who becomes Greta Swan for the talkies, has a yen to meet the big director of the say, Frederic Landau, a gentleman, by the way, who is modelled on the well-known Eric Von Stroheim. He is the man on whom she sets her eyes and she finally meets him, and, through him, disaster. It is only in the last scenes of the picture that she becomes natural, instead of artificial, in her acting and demeanor.

It is good entertainment and shows just how matters work in the big factory where they turn out the talking pictures that entrance multitudes the world over. It also shows what happens to pretty girls who go movie-mad and try to crash the gates of Hollywood.

The short reels include an amusing "Scrappy" film that features a gargling dinosaur and a shimmying Venus. —Jeanette.

ROOT'S LAST SERIES EFFORT IS BITTER NIGHTMARE TO HIM

Cub Pitching Star Awaits Chance to Establish Himself a Winner.

IS FAMILY MAN

Special to The Examiner

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—If Horatio Alger were alive today and wanted a subject he could get it from Charley Root's career.

Root, married young, settled down in one of those vine-covered cottages in a small place in southern Ohio, and prepared himself for an exciting life as a pattern-maker. Baseball was just a side line to his regular work, but even then he was good enough to be rated the 'star,' which entitled him to wear two stockings of different color. But because an ex-major league pitcher with an eye for talent, saw him work, Root abandoned his trade and never went back. He didn't have to.

But it's always been "Home Sweet Home" for Charley. He is the family man of the Cub players.

Winter labor since he came into big money doesn't intrigue him. The Cub pitching veteran lives for and with his family. Where he goes they go, and that's from coast to coast annually. The Roots have two children, a boy and a girl.

He owns his own home in the Wilshire district of Los Angeles, a palatial pink stucco structure with large plate glass front window, peculiar to that section.

He also drives an expensive car when Mrs. Root isn't driving it, and boasts a cabin on a lake hidden back in the mountains 35 miles from Los Angeles. One good leap off the front porch thereof and you're down in the lake, 150 feet below. Charley shoots there occasionally in the winter months and Mrs. Root, a southpaw shot, claims to have peppered a few animals which weren't domestic cats as charged by the neighbors.

When it comes to the matter of Root engaging in another world's series, the north side hero hardly could be blamed if he expresses some apprehension. His previous effort was more or less of a nightmare. And not much of it was Charley's fault. He pitched the opened against the Athletics in Chicago Oct. 8, 1929, and lost, 3 to 1. That was the day Howard Ehmke slow balled the Cubs into 13 strikeouts. Root, while he was in there, was almost as good as his opponents, although he didn't say it with strikes.

Root returned in the fourth game, played at Philadelphia. The count on victories was two for the American Leaguers and one for the Cubs. On this day Root pitched just as he had in the opener. Three hits, but no runs were made off him in six innings and he had a lead of 7 to 0. In the seventh the lead increased to 8 to 0. Then came the greatest crash in world series history. Hack Wilson made his memorable muff at the wrong time, and the Cub lead was wiped out completely, the A's going on to win the series.

STUDENTS DEFEAT WESLEY NINE 10-2

Lakefield Rink Softball League Gets Away to Start on Tuesday.

The Rink Softball League got away to a good start on Tuesday night in spite of torrents of rain. J. W. Kidpath pitched the first ball, with W. J. Charlton at bat and T. W. Chaplin the catcher, in the inaugural ceremonies which were announced by A. G. Lawless, president of the Rink Co., The season was declared open and the games went with a good deal of enthusiasm shown by all the players.

The first game, between Wesley and High School was a walk-over for the Students, who landed the big end of a 10-2 score. The first game in the rink where several played for the first time in a lighted building, always means lots of errors and dropped balls and the games on Tuesday night were no exception to the usual rule. C. Chittick at the plate and L. Sabatino at bases handled the game. The line-up was as follows:—

Wesley.—W. Elewett, p; M. Wilson, c; G. Nicholls, 1b; C. Northey, 2b; M. Montgomery, 3b; C. Wilson, ss; A. Cummings, ss; B. Armstrong, rf; R. Armstrong, lf; W. Trude, sub.

High School.—T. Graham, p; D. White, c; W. Wingett, 1b; C. Tanner, 2b; H. Morrison, 3b; J. Elewett, ss; R. Elliott, ss; H. Jewell, rf; A. Kingdon, lf.

The second game between Selwyn and Crusties was a walkover for the outside team, who landed a 10-1 score against the Crusties, who were rather short-handed, but as they said, "We had just as much fun as they had," so they faced their defeat with real sportsmanship. Selwyn has a snappy nine and every man was "right on" every minute.

L. Sabatino was at the plate and C. Chittick at bases. The line-up was as follows:

Selwyn.—J. McConkey, c; FitzGerald, p; D. McConkey, 1b; O. McConkey, 2b; D. Darling, 3b; H. Oliver, ss; Galvin, ss; J. Nicholls, rf; B. Nicholls, lf; R. Tully, sub.

Crusties.—G. O'Neill, c; Chaplin, p; Hurl, 1b; Edwards, 2b; N. Graham, 3b; W. Graham, ss; J. Charlton, ss; Hamblin, rf; V. Payne, lf;

A cup has been donated by D. H. Webster for the competition in the league, and A. G. Lawless, president of the Rink Co., has promised a club supper to the winning team and the officials of the games. In spit of rain the league is away to a good start.

The Irish Free State has established reciprocal income tax relief relative to the United States, which grants exemption to many American citizens and corporations in the Free State.

CATARACTS HERE ON SATURDAY P.M.

Meet Calladine's Leafs in Second Game of Juvenile Final Series.

The Niagara Falls' Canadian Nationals, finalists for the juvenile O.B.A.A. titular series with the local Maple Leafs, will journey here tomorrow. The team will put up at a local hotel so as to be properly rested and in the best possible shape for their important game with the Leafs Saturday. If they win, they will carry the juvenile championship of Ontario back to the Falls with them. If they lose, a third game will be played in Toronto next week.

Manager Pat Calladine has been working out with his Maple Leafs all week and is confident they can reverse the score of the first game of the series when his team lost, 6-2, in the Cataract City last Saturday. He will hurl his ace, Bill Calladine, the local star right-hander, who shut-out Toronto St. Andrew's two games in a row in the semi-final series. The team will again be at full strength, and will wage a desperate battle to send the Falls' home defeated, if possible. It promises to be a memorable, as well as the final, baseball game of the year, and will likely be seen by a record crowd of fans.

Hawk Head Same For 60 Million Years

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (C.P.). —The skull of a bird whose family might well have invented the slogan, "what was good enough for grandpa is good enough for me," was added to the story of evolution by the Smithsonian Institution.

The skull, which belongs to the hawk family, reveals that these birds were real conservatives in the process of evolution. The skull is 60,000,000 years old, but shows that in all that time hawks have changed very little.

Discovery of the skull is considered an important addition to knowledge of the distant past, for fossil remains of birds are much more rare than bones of extinct animals which lived at the same time.

NOTABLE FIGHTERS ON MONTREAL CHARITY BOARD

MONTREAL, Sept. 29 (C.P.). — The most ambitious program of boxing events in the history of Montreal is scheduled for to-night, when fighters clash in the interests of sweet charity.

The Direct Aid Fund, for unemployment relief, will be the recipient of whatever profits are shown after purses and other expenses are met. A crowd that will tax the capacity of the International League Ball Park is expected to see the program, headlined by the appearance of Maxie Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight champ; Bobby Leitham, Canadian bantamweight titleist; Eddy Ran and others

BARS BIRMINGHAM BOXER

DETROIT, Sept. 29 (C.P.).—Battling Bozo, the Birmingham, Ala., clown, was suspended indefinitely to-day by Chairman Brown of the Detroit Boxing Commission, for accusing the referee of "robbing" him of a fight he had lost to Jack O'Dowd, Detroit heavyweight.

After Harry Tuthill, referee, had left the ring, Bozo called to him, "That's the second time you robbed me. If you come into the ring I'll beat you up."

Tuthill replied that, "If I come into the ring I'll knock you silly," but Bozo's protest was taken up by some of the fans and Tuthill had to force his way through a crowd to the dressing-room.

WHAT JERRY MUSKRAT WAS DOING

(By Thornton W. Burgess)

Did you ever watch a house being built? Of course you have. You know, first of all a cellar is dug. You know how sewer and water pipes are laid. You must know what a lot of work is done in the ground which doesn't go into the house itself, but which is a part of the building of the house just the same.

It was the same way with Jerry Muskrat and his new house. He had a lot to do before he could build the house itself, which would rise above the surface of the water. Grandfather Frog had been right when he said that that part of the work would be the easiest for Jerry.

First of all Jerry had to dig a sort of cellar. The mud from this he piled around him to make a sort of wall. It was really the beginning of the foundations of the new house. When he had this cellar finished of course the water was quite a lot deeper there than it was around it. This was why he had dug it. He knew that the water was so shallow around it that it would very likely freeze clear to the bottom in the winter. He didn't want that to happen under his house, or should I say inside his house? You see the cellar really was a part of his house, I suppose.

Anyway, it was the way by which he would go in and out, and so it had to be made safe. It wouldn't do to leave a chance of being frozen in. So he took pains to make it deep enough.

Then from that cellar he started a tunnel over to the bank of the Smiling Pool. It took time to dig that tunnel. When he reached the bank he kept right on, slanting up until he had reached a place where it was dry and where he felt sure that the spring flood would not reach unless it happened to be such an unusual flood as the one which had swept away his old house last spring. There he made a comfortable and roomy chamber wherein he would later make a nice bed of grass.

Then Jerry went back to his cellar and started another tunnel. This one headed straight for the deepest part of the Smiling Pool, where he knew there would be water no matter how thick the ice above might be. When this was finished he dug another to the bank and another to deep water so that in case of accidents to the first one he would still have tunnels he could use. Jerry believes in being prepared.

It takes time and a lot of hard work to dig tunnels like these. It was this that Jerry was doing while Peter Rabbit was so impatiently watching for some signs of the new house above water. The bits of earth and sod which Jerry dug out he used to broaden the foundation around his cellar. And of course it was this work that made the water so muddy.

The truth is these tunnels were quite as important as the house itself. In fact, in some ways they were more important. So Jerry took great pains in digging them. He knew that the time might come when his life would depend on them. He intended that if that time did come there should be nothing wrong with those tunnels. Not until they were finished did he give much thought to the rest of the house.

What To-Day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If September 29th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 2.20 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 10.15 p.m. The danger hours are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 6.45 p.m.

The planetary aspects of September 29th denote a day of unexpected happenings. Risk of accident is clearly foretold, and more than usual care should be exercised. While success along usual lines of work can be safely anticipated, any efforts in untried fields of endeavor will be fraught with danger.

A child born on this September 29th will, as it matures, develop an interesting and pleasing personality. It will be entertaining, persevering, studious and ambitious, and the signs indicate for it a fair measure of worldly success. Its affections will be strong and its loyalty to kith and kin will never waver.

You, if born on September 29th, are endowed with a happy disposition, and never allow worries to trouble, or troubles to worry you. Always willing and ready to assume responsibilities, you, whilst not shirking them, rarely appreciate their full importance, and yet you invariably "get away with it." You neither take life nor yourself seriously, and, gifted with an unusually keen, and at times inappropriate sense of humor, you get fun out of every situation, be it one of comedy or tragedy. You skim the surface; you do not touch the depths. Consequently, you get a large measure of contentment and happiness out of life.

An omnivorous reader, with a retentive memory, and facility of expression, you are invariably a welcome guest at all social gatherings. The signs say that you will travel extensively, chiefly, however, off the beaten track. Your ready adaptability will on these peregrinations serve you in good stead. You are not assured any outstanding success, but, on the other hand, you will never be "up against it."

In the family circle, your perennial cheerfulness will always drive away all clouds of disharmony and disagreement, and, though your emotional character is not strongly developed, your care-free disposition will invariably ensure happiness and generate sunshine.

GRAB BAG

Who is the senior senator from Michigan?

Who were "the tongue, the pen and the sword of the Revolution?"

Why did John Hancock sign the Declaration of Independence first?

Correctly Speaking—

"You was" is a vulgarism. You, though it may designate one person, is grammatically plural, and its verb always must be plural. Say "you were."

Today's Anniversary

On this day, in 1918, the Twenty-seventh division of the A.E.F. broke the Hindenburg line.

Today's Horoscope

Persons born on this day are bold, determined and fearless.

Answers to Foregoing Questions

1. James Couzens.
2. Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson and George Washington comprised this trio.
3. As president of the convention he naturally headed the signers.

POWER OVER ROD RIDERS.

OTTAWA.—The Province of British Columbia itself has full power to deal with "riding the rods" into the Pacific coast province by unemployed. This is the substance of a telegram sent by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, at noon to-day, to Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney General for British Columbia.

Frozen In The Ice In September

Hail storms in Missouri are not common in September, so half the populace in Sedalia turned out, soon after this photo was taken, to get a look at this car which became stuck in the ice. The machine, driven by Hugh Janes, ran into the drift, and stalled.

HOLD FOWL SUPPER THANKSGIVING DAY

Women's Association of Omemee United Church Plans Annual Event.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, Sept. 28. — The Women's Association of Trinity United church held its September meeting in the church basement Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Bushnel presided and after a general discussion it was decided to hold the annual fowl supper on Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 10th.

Committees were appointed and canvassers for the different areas in the village and country were chosen.

Women's Institute.

The Women's Institute was entertained for its September meeting at the home of Mrs. E. MacPherson, Wednesday evening.

An interesting program, consisting of a vocal solo, "The Voice in the Old Village Choir," sung by Mrs. Laidley. A piano solo by Miss Florence Sloan, and a reading, "It takes a Mighty Lot of Living to make a Home," by Mrs. Rutherford, was well received by the listeners.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the business session, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. McConnell, and Mrs. Henderson.

Christ Church Society.

The Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church held their September meeting at the Rectory, Thursday afternoon, with a fair attendance. The president Mrs. Weir, was in charge. After the business the hostess served tea.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 22

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

(...tan Newspaper Service, Inc.)

©1931, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

The life of the ape-man in his constant battle for survival had taught him both to think and act quickly. He knew that in all this savage company he had no friends. But perhaps here was a chance to make an ally of Tar-gash, who certainly needed a friend at this moment. For it was evident that none of the tribe dared aid him from the king's sudden rage. So, Tarzan of the Apes, prompted by his hopes and the desire for fair play, sprang forward so suddenly that he had already acted before any hand could be raised to stop him.

"Kreeg-ah, Tar-gash!" he cried. And at the same instant he sprang quickly forward, brushing To-yad aside with a single sweep of his giant arm. It sent the Sagoth sprawling into the underbrush. At the cry "Kreeg-ah," which in the language of the great apes, means "Beware!" Tar-gash wheeled to see the infuriated king-gorilla-man almost upon him. Then he also saw something that filled him with amazement. The strange gilak whom he had taken prisoner, had leaped close to M'wa-lot from behind. A smooth, bronzed arm slipped quickly about the king's neck and tightened.

Tar-gash saw the gilak turn, stoop and surge forward with the king across his hip. Then the strange prisoner threw the great, hairy bull completely over his head and sent him sprawling at the feet of his astonished warriors. This gilak quickly leaped to Tar-gash's side and, wheeling, faced the tribe with Tar-gash. Instantly a score of clubs were raised against the two. "Shall we remain and fight, Tar-gash?" demanded the ape-man. "They will kill us," said Tar-gash. "If you were not a gilak, we might escape through the trees, but as you cannot escape that way we shall have to remain and fight."

"Lead the way," cried Tarzan. "There is no Sagoth trail that Tarzan cannot follow!" "Come then," shouted Tar-gash, and as he spoke he hurled his club into the faces of the oncoming warriors. A dozen mighty bounds he took and then leaped to the branch of an overhanging tree, and close behind him came the hairless gilak. M'wa-lot's hairy warrior bulls pursued the two a short distance and then gave up the chase, as they considered it sufficient to run an unruly bull out of the tribe. When Tar-gash knew they had abandoned pursuit, he halted in the branches and addressed Tarzan.

SECOND BROTHER GOES ON TRIAL

Jury Finds One Guilty of Murdering Mounted Police Officer.

SENTENCE SATURDAY.

YORKTON, Sask., Sept. 29 (C.P.)—Trial of Michael Kurulak, the second of two brothers charged with the murder of Corporal Leonard V. Ralls of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, began to-day. Last night the other brother, William, was found guilty and remanded until Saturday for sentence.

A story of a long list of robberies, burglaries and thefts committed by the three alleged slayers of the policeman was unfolded at William's trial. Police allege criminal pursuits took the trio over a wide area of Northern Alberta and Saskatchewan, culminating in the greatest manhunt in the history of Saskatchewan following the shooting of Ralls.

Taken by Armed Posse

The two Kurulak brothers were captured by an armed posse of police and farmers which scoured the rough bush country around Kelvington with the aid of airplanes, motor cars and horses. The third alleged murdered, Bill Miller, died of a self-inflicted bullet wound rather than fall into the hands of his pursuers.

Ralls was shot at Foam Lake, July 5, when he attempted to halt a motor car, allegedly occupied by the two Kurulaks and Miller.

For the defense, Donald Matheson argued there was no common intention between the three men to resist arrest at any cost. He claimed the fatal shots were not fired by William Kurulak. A similar defense will likely be offered on behalf of Michael.

MEN STRANDED ON LONELY ISLE

Freighter Nevada is Total Wreck on Aleutian Islands.

BOATS RUSH TO RESCUE.

SEATTLE, Sept. 29 (C.P.)—The following message to Capt. Erik G. Groberg, of the American Mail Lines, was received from the President Madison, which is speeding to the aid of the grounded freighter Nevada in the Aleutian Islands:

"Oregon Maru reports at two p.m. sent boat towards island with ten men but could not land on account high swell; were barely able to get back to ship. They see about four men on the island. Our course and weather the same. Will arrive daylight our time. ((Signed) Healy."

The message, relayed through a San Francisco radio station, was the second he received last night.

An earlier one declared that a westerly gale and high seas were running at the position of the President Madison. The Oregon Maru reported to them, the message said, that the Nevada would be a total loss.

ROME—Rt. Rev. Gobriel Breynat, apostolic vicar of the diocese of Mackenzie, province of Edmonton Alta., has been created a chevalier of the Legion of Honor and Insignia. It was conferred upon him here today by th e French ambassador to Italy, Charles Roux, during an impressive ceremony.

ADMISSION FREE.

BETHANY, W. Va.—Says President Goodnight of Bethany College: "No admission prices will be charged hereafter to any athletic contests at Bethany College. We want our friends to see our team on the field because they are made up of bona fide college students, and we shall not continue to parade them like prime horses at the county fair."

$2,000,000 DEFICIT.

MONTREAL.—A civic deficit for the year of $2,000,000 was estimated by Mayor Fernand Rinfret in a service club address to-day. Reports that the deficit would approximae $3,500,000 were exaggerated, Mayor Rinfret said.

LONG ENOUGH

CHICAGO—Two years is more than enough to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel. Mrs. Bessie Smolen charged in a bill for divorce that her husband, George, left home two years ago last April, saying he was going over the Falls in a barrel. She scanned the papers for reports of the exploit, but none came.

She waited two years before filing the writ. Yesterday Judge Charles A. Williams gave her a decree. The charge was desertion.

SEVEN DROWNED MEXICAN FLOOD

Heavy Rains Worst in 20 Years, Paralyze Railroad Traffic.

MUCH STOCK LOST.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 30 (C.P.).—Reports of the most serious floods in 20 years, in which at least seven lives have been lost, came from Northern Mexican points to-day.

Heavy rains have been falling all week, paralysing railroad traffic. Serious further dangre to life was reported from three widely separated points, Tampico, Monterrey and the city of Chihuahua.

Six persons were known to be dead at Neujutla, State of Hidalgo, and one death was reported from Monterrey. Thousands of cattle and other live stock perished, but no complete estimate or property damage could be made.

IL DUCE TAKES NEW PORTFOLIO

Becomes Minister of Defense With Control of Air, War, Navy Departments.

NO OBJECTIONS RAISED.

ROME, Sept. 30 (C.P.).—Unconfirmed reports to-day said Premier Mussolini had decided to take over the Ministry of Defence himself, including under it control of the Air, War and Navy Departments, all of which posts he has previously held.

He has often been reported considering such a move, but always has postponed it. Last spring when the possibility was reported, Il Duce was understood to have presented the notion to King Victor Emmanuel. The King was reported to have approved it, but to have advocated that a military man hold the portfolio, while Mussolini preferred a civilian.

At that time Il Duce did not consider taking the portfolio himself. However, to-day's reports said he had decided to assume the post personally and that, therefore, the King would not object.

JOSEPH FRITH IS FOUND GUILTY OF OPENING PIT

Magistrate's Judgment is Upset on Appeal to Judge.

FINED $15 AND COSTS.

Finds That Hole Dug Was Pit in Meaning of Statute.

Any threat of further excavations of gravel or sand pits in Ashburnham, which residents there consider a grave menace to the beauty and future progress of that district, appears to be removed definitely by a judgment handed down yesterday by His Honor Judge Huycke.

The judgment was in the appeal brought before His Honor by Roy Parsons, City Engineer, against an order of Police Magistrate Langley in which Joseph Frith, contractor, was acquitted on a charge of opening a pit contrary to the city by-law prohibiting the opening of pits in the city within a distance of 200 feet of a street.

His Honor found Frith guilty under the by-law and fined him $15 and costs.

Was It A Pit

Quoting a part of Judge Huycke's judgment—"The question I have to decide is—was this a pit within the meaning of the Statute and by-law based upon the said Statute. If so Frith was guilty of its infraction. If it was not a pit it is otherwise. I find with all due respect that the excavation was at the time of complaint a pit and there the respondent Frith is guilty of contrawening the Statute and by-law. The maximum penalty is $50 and costs. I would make this the penalty except for one consideration. These by-laws were of comparatively recent date. Before they were passed the condition was very unfortunate and people seemed to think it was quite proper to dig holes of all kinds in city lots thereby destroying the beauty, value and efficiency not only of the lots in question but the surrounding property. The Council is to be congratulated that at length it arose to the necessity and passed the necessary by-law. Every man is supposed to know the law, whereas really he does not do so. Lack of knowledge on the part of Frith is no defence, but it is not shown that he knew of the existence of the by-law, or that the by-law was in any way made public so that the people generally would know of its passing and existence. Had that been done the full penalty would have been imposed. It may be that Frith was in total ignorance and if so the extreme penalty would seem severe."

Also in his judgment His Honor comments that "The word 'pit' has very many meanings and quotations from many dictionaries were placed before me during the argument." In an addendum to his decision, His Honor states, "In my search for information as to what a pit really was or is, I find in Wharton's Law Lexicon the following: 'Pit, a hole wherein the Scots used to drown women thieves'".

Ada Mackenzie Meets Glenna Vare To-Day

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 30.—(CP)—The gallant bid Ada Mackenzie is making to take the United States womens' golf championship to Canada as a companion-piece to the male title recently won by Silent Sandy Somerville, faced a formidable test today.

The Toronto veteran, who has been shooting great golf in the pinches this week over the tough Salem club course, found Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare blocking her path in the semi-finals today. The Philadelphia shot-wizard has won the title five times in the last 10 days and is one of America's topmost players.

BOWLING ALLEY TAX IS REDUCED FROM $15 TO $5

Committees of Council Meet But Business is Not Heavy.

RECOMMEND STOP-LIGHTS.

Unemployed Single Man Asks to be Deported to England.

That the city's by-law applying for control over the erection of sgns and other advertising devices can not be improved upon was the decision reached last night by the Legal Committee of the City Council following a study of the by-law.

The by-law states that no sign or other advertising device shall be erected in the city without the permission of the building inspector. "We can't improve on it," was the judgment of Alderman J. Fitzpatrick, and in that the view the committee concurred. "The only way it can be improved is by enforcing it," suggested Alderman Tuggey.

All committees of the Council met last evening, but there was little business awaiting their attention.

Request of a single man who came to Canada four years ago that the city recommend to the Federal authorities his deportation back to England was granted.

That the tax on bowling alleys was reduced from $15 per alley to five dollars was the recommendation of the Finance Committee. The reduction in this tax followed the request made by J. J Duffus, whose bowling alleys are the only ones to come under this tax, that the tax be given some consideration by the committee.

It was pointed out by Alderman G A Macdonald, chairman, that receipts from bowling have suffered due to the depression, while several of the aldermen expressed the tax was "exorbitant" under any condition. Alderman Hamilton suggested that the tax was imposed in past years when bowling was considered objectionable and not a popular sport as now.

A vote of thanks will be expressed by the Council to F. Dela Fosse, librarian, for his gift to the city of five years' history of Peterborough, which is a continuation of the history of the city commenced by the late Frank H. Dobbin.

Aldermen McNab b and Colton, a special committee of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, tabled a recommendation that stop-lights be installed at the corner of Park and Charlotte streets. It was pointed out that this is a dangerous corner.

Insurance Claims Adjustor Struck as He Drives on Track Near Tottenham.

IN QUEST ORDERED.

TOTTENHAM, Ont., Sept. 30 (C.P.)—Victor R. Sleeso, 51, resident of Edgar, east of Barrie, and Claims Adjustor for the Wawanesa Mutual Fire Insurance Company, Owen Sound, was fatally injured to-day when his automobile was struck by a Canadian National Railways passenger train at a level crossing just south of the station here. The body was taken to Allandale.

Coroner W. C. Little, Barrie, said an injuri would be held. A jury will be empanelled to view the body to-day.

HAWKER'S ESTELLE V.

Here is Bert Hawker, Canadian speedboat racer, for whom a boat may be built to represent the Dominion in the next B.I.T. races at Detroit next fall. In the upper picture Hawker is driving Estelle V. at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour, according to unofficial timing. This photo was taken recently on the Detroit river during a trial run in which Hawker passed Gar Wood. In doing so he became the first challenger ever to show Wood the stern of a boat in a race. Faulty gasoline tanks cost Hawker his chance of beating Wood in this trial run, because free gasoline in the hold of the boat forced him to fall out.

BIG CONVENTION OF A. M. O. S. IS OPENED IN CITY

F. R. Thomas, D.S.M., Opens Convention in Oddfellows' Hall.

PARADE TO-NIGHT.

Delegates Are Welcomed to City by Alderman Jack McNabb.

Success attending the opening sessions of the 18th District Convention and Ceremonial of the Northern Division Ancient and Mystic Order of Samaritans, under the chairmanship of F. R. Thomos, D.S.M., of Lindsay in the Oddfellows' Hall here this afternoon, augurs well for the future welfare of the Order.

Although the main body of delegates had not yet arrived, there was a goodly representation of the Division (which covers the territory bounded on the north by Timmins and on the south of Toledo, Ohio) present, while telegrams had been received by the Reception Committee informing them that other groups of delegates were on their way. A ladies' Zuamna is expected in from Toronto in the morning, while the arrival of the Buffalo Zuanna ladies" drum and fife band is also looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

In his opening address to the Sheiks and Samaritans, District Supreme Monarchist Thomas thanked them for the honor they had conferred by selecting him to preside over the deliberations of the sessions during the coming year.

"I value the compliment, especially as coming from a society, the members of which are so intelligent and well informed," he said, "and I esteem the honor also, because you have bestowed it upon me of your own free will, entirely unsolicited upon my part. I prize it, because in my humble way, I hope to aid you in the accomplish-

GREEK CITIZENS FLEE IN TERROR FROM TREMORS

Death Toll Steadily Mounts in Chalcidice as Bodies Are Dug From Ruins.

16 MILE CREVASSE.

Salonika Being Deserted—Fear Mountain May Fall—Relief Rushed In.

ATHENS, Sept. 30 (C.P.).—The count of victims of the week's earthquake at Chalcidice, set yesterday at more than 200 dead, continued [illegible] as many dead are [illegible] crumbled ruins in the city.

Meanwhile, the shocks continued and most of the frightened people spent the night in the open air. Geologists said the 'quakes at Chalcidice and Salonika had the same epicentre.

Survivors of the Chalcidice shocks asked the Government for transportation away from the city, declaring they did not care to remain there any longer.

A crevasse 16 miles long and of great depth has been opened in the 'quake area. From the sea the great fissure can be seen climbing the side of one mountain and the inhabitants of the district were terror-stricken to-day lest the mountain slide and engulf them. Many were preparing to leave their homes.

Corpses Re-appear.

Burial of the dead was made difficult by the fact that the shocks continued and the buried corpses often re-appeared from the earth, giving rise to fears of an outbreak of disease. British sailors continued distributing food and medicines to the stricken people.

Inhabitants of Salonika who were thrown into a panic by yesterday's shocks poured in here to-day by rail, steamer and by air. The director of the Geological Bureau urged them to maintain their nerve, declaring the nature of the subsoil at Salonika made even serious shifings not dangerous.

Ottawa Conference Rich In Experience

LONDON, Sept. 30 (C.P. Cable).—"The agreements signed at Ottawa far exceeded anything the British delegation expected, and although perhaps only a little good will come of the conference, the experience gained will enable the Empire statesmen to take a big step forward at any future conference," declared Sir Gilbert Vyle to-day, who accompanied the British delegates to Ottawa as a business adviser.

Sir Gilbert was speaking at the autumn convention of the Associated British Chambers of Commerce held at Nottingham. Several other speakers strongly criticized those who had showered premature congratulations to the British delegates on the results achieved at Ottawa.

Many municipal housing projects are to be started shortly in the Irish Free State.

KEPT BALANCE BY MORTGAGES OF NO WORTH

Accountant States He Was Called on Aug. 8 By "J. A." to See How He "Stood."

$55,600 BAD HOLDINGS.

Officials Told Reports 1917-24 on University Books Apparently Incorrect.

WINNIPEG, September 30 (C.P.). — Worthless or unwanted mortgages were used by the investment firm of Machray & Sharpe to bolster security accounts of the University of Manitoba, it was disclosed in evidence before a board of inquiry to-day.

The board, under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon, investigating the loss of nearly $1,000,000 of university endowment funds, also heard from John Parton, chartered accountant, that auditors' reports of the university books between 1917 and 1924 apparently were incorrect.

He was called on August 8 by J. A. Machray, K.C., senior partner of the investment firm, to find how Mr. Machray "stood" in regard to university and accounts of other clients.

Worthless Mortgages.

Parton said in the university accounts, some $55,600 had been shown as sundry mortgages in order to bolster university security accounts. These were either worthless or unwanted by the university, at any rate, he added, they were not authorized by the university.

King Tries Hand at Business

LONDON, Sept. 30. (C. P. Cable).—The King has reduced by 20 per cent the rents for allotments of the Sandringham estate. One year ago the King took over the adjoining 1,200 acre farm when no new tenant was forthcoming and it will now be used by 60 work'ng-men who will hold their allotments by tenancies let by the King personally at $4.00 an acre.

RESCUE VESSELS ABLE TO PICK UP ONLY 3 SAILORS

Ill-fated Nevada Pounds to Pieces on Shores of Aleutian Island.

DRAMATIC SCENES.

Crews of Ships Standing By Battle Hours Before Reaching Stranded Men.

SEATTLE, September 30 (C.P.). — Three men only survivors of a crew of 35 of the ill-fated freighter Nevada, were safely aboard a rescue vessel in the far North Pacific to-day, saved from the death which had overtaken their companions in a "graveyard" for lost ships.

After many hours in which small boats of the Oregon Maru, a Japanese freighter, and the President Madison, had fought through high seas to reach the rocky shores of Amatignak Island, which the survivors had reached, a laconic radio message from the President Madison told of their rescue

"Have rescued three only survivors of Nevada. Now hoisting boats. Details later" it read.

Within a short time another message said the Madison had left the scene, headed for Victoria, its dramatic rescue work after a 300-mile overnight dash through stormy weather completed.

The Three Saved

The three men rescued were C. James Phorsen, cadet, who asked that Mrs. E. Sturgeon, Portland, Ore., be notified; Fritz Dewell, able-bodied seaman, no address; and Lucent N. Decanay, ordinary seaman, Manila, P.I.

In an additional message the President Madison confirmed the loss of the remaining officers and crew of the stricken Nevada.

"Rest of crew drowned. The rescue work by our officers and crew was magnificent. (Signed) Healy," it read. The message was sent to the American Mail Lines, owners of the President Madison, with headquarters here.

Weak From Exposure

The rescued men were so weak when taken aboard the President Madison they could tell only snatches of the horror they witnessed when

UNITED CHURCH TO CUT DOWN ITS ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES

Means Reducing Boards From Six to Four, Besides Letting Members Go.

NO COLLEGES TO CLOSE.

HAMILTON, Sept. 30. —(CP)—The proposal of retrenchment in church expenditures, mooted long before the United church commissioners assembled here for their fifth general council, reached the floor of the council for the first time today when the special committee on economy brought down its report.

The committee, headed by A. E. Ames, Toronto stated that salaries of church officers had been already cut to an "irreducible minimum" but found a way to retrenchment in a general curtailment of administrative offices. This would mean reducing the number of general church boards from six to four and dispensing with the services of many board members, superintendents and field secretaries.

Church Colleges

The suggestion that some of the church colleges should be closed was not accepted by the theological colleges section of the committee and this decision will forestall previously expected debates over the integrity of the colleges.

Argument for proponents and opponents of retrenchment will be found in the accounts of the missionary and maintenace fund. This fund is charged with a debit balance in the treasurer's statement of $1,140,963 but the missionary and maintenance fund report, submitted at today's session by Rev. Peter Bryce, Toronto, declares that last year's contributions of $2,405,320 represent a proportionate increase in giving over the preceding two years because the capacity to give was greatly reduced in 1931.

Island Vanishes

PEACE PARLEYS BEGIN WITH SAO PAULO REBELS

RIO DE JANEIRO, September 30 (C.P.). — Peace parleys to end the fighting between the Sao Paulo rebel forces and the Government began to-day at the headquarters of the Federal forces at Cruzeiro, but reports from there said hostilities had not ceased.

Two representatives of General Bartholdo Klalinger, rebel commander, arrived there late last night, and immediately conferred with Pantaleao Pessoa, a member of the staff of General Goes Monteiro, the commander of the Federals.

GOOD SHOWING MADE THURSDAY IN TROT EVENTS

Campbellford Horse, Lou Ganot, Wins Three Firsts in Free-for-all Race.

SECOND DAY OF FAIR.

Largest Cattle Entry in Years —Cobourg Breeders Among Winners.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 30 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). —Success in every way attended the second and big day of the Campbellford Fall Fair held yesterday, and despite two very heavy showers of rain, one before noon and another just before the start of the track events. A very large crowd attended, indicative of the fact that had the atmospheric conditions been favorable this annual function would have also gone over the top in attendance.

The main events of this day were the judging of the cattle, sheep, horses and hogs, the three very speedy track events, two ball games of note, and the midway, with its many wheels and booths and the big ferris wheel, which proved to be the delight of the children.

Horse racing was one of the biggest attractions and drew large crowds of fans. All races were fast although a slightly muddied track cut down speed records. Campbellford's own speedy track performer, Lou Ganot, owned by Percy Morgan, again made a name for herself winning in the free-for-all three firsts and a second and taking first money, the time being 2.19.

The races—

The officials for the track events were: Judges, H. S. Aylsworth, of Warkworth, H. F. Bennett, Campbellford. Tom McCook, Campbellford; timers, Charles Armstrong, of Havelock, J. R. Battisby, Campbellford; starter, Mayor George O. Tice Belleville; clerk, D. A. Owen, Campbellford.

Largest in Years

Entries in the cattle classes were perhaps the largest for some years. Holstein, Shorthorn and Ayrshires were very much in evidence and some splendid herds were in competition for honors. The W. H. Rutherford herd of Ayrshires was placed well with several firsts and seconds, while the Alex Hume and Son herd of the same breed took a large proportion of the honors, winning among other places, three firsts with their bulls.

And among the Holsteins, the J. C. Nelson and the Hoskins herd were very much to the fore, and ran close with all types of stock. The Nelson herd took a first for bull calf and won the blue ribbon for the best bull on exhibit. The

Angry Socialist Hurls Mace Away

BELFAST, Ireland, Sept. 30. —(AP)—Members of the parliament of Northern Ireland were surprised today when John Beattie, only Socialist in the house, picked up the mace, emblem of authority, and threw it across the room, declaring it was "only an emblem of hypocrisy."

Beattie was angered at a ruling of the speaker and had refused to accept a motion regarding unemployment.

"Out of the road with this," he shouted as he grasped the mace and flung it across the floor. "It is only an emblem of hypocrisy. I will not stand here and allow this sort of thing to continue."

Hutchinson Plane Smashing to Pieces on Greenland Reef

WHERE "FLYING FAMILY" HAD NARROW ESCAPE

This tragic picture shows the seaplane in which George Hutchinson of Baltimore, his wife and their two small daughters, were flying to Europe, slowly smashing to pieces as it is pounded against the icy reef in Ikersuak fjord, where the family landed when forced down on the coast of Greenland, Sunday, Sept. 11. The photo was made by Norman Alley, skilful cameraman, who accompanied the aerial expedition. The Hutchinsons were rescued by the British ship, "Lord Talbot" and brought back to civilization, after facing death for two days.

POPE PROTESTS PERSECUTIONS ACROSS MEXICO

Objects to Law Limiting One Priest to 35,000 or More People.

WANTS LAWS CHANGED.

Likens Situation to That of Many Regions Throughout Russia.

ROME, Sept. 30. — (A.P.)— Pope Pius XI met what he called the new and "legal persecution" of the church and Catholics in Mexico today with an encyclical announcing a policy of "formal co-operation" without renouncing principles in the slightest degree or withdrawing past denunciations.

Instead, he revived his protest directed particularly at the varied application of the laws limiting the number of priests in each State to from one for each 35,000 people to one for each 100,000.

"To approve such an iniquitous law, or to give it spontaneously a true and real co-operation," he said, "is undoubtedly forbidden and sacrilligious; but absolutely different is the case of him who subjects himself to such an unjust prescription only against his will and protests and who does all he can to diminish the unhappy effects of the unhappy law."

Plan of Co-operation.

Under this plan of formal co-operation, the Pontiff permits the priests to ask the Mexican Government for permission to exercise their ministry.

This conduct, he said, "is therefore not much different from that of the man who, having been despoiled of his possessions, sees himself forced to ask the unjust despoiler to grant him at least the use of his possessions."

The Pontiff charged the Mexican government with "acting against the spirit in which the modus vivendi was concluded in 1929.

This agreement regulated the operation of the church, but, he said, many parts of it have been violated by expulsion and imprisonment of bishops, priests and the faithful, and by failure to recall all bishops from exile.

The Pontiff urged the Episcopacy and the faithful to continue to protest against the limitation laws, declaring that although the protests might be vain they would serve to convince the faithful that the government "offends liberties of the church which the church never will renounce, even in the face of violence of persecutors."

He likened the Mexican situation to that of Russia. After summing up a long series of alleged persecutions in Mexico, he said:

Sums Up Points

"We wanted to sum up briefly the principal points on the grave situation of the church in Mexico so all those who love order and the peace of peoples, seeing that such unheard of persecution, especially in some states, is not much different from that which burst upon the unhappy regions of Russia, may draw from this evil the coincidence of the intentions of the new inspiration to dam up the flood, overthrowing every social order."

Urging the priests to swallow their pride and continue requesting the provilege of performing their duties, the pontiff reminded them on the example of the early christians. Scripture relates, he said, that priests of that day requested permission to visit the early martyrs in the prisons, even offering money for the privilege, in order to administer the sacraments.

CUP PRESENTED TO ST ANDREW'S

Winners of Campbellford Softball League Banqueted at Cole's Point.

V. FARRELL RECEIVES GIFT.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 30 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Honoring the St. Andrew's softball team, champions for 1932 of the Campbellford Town Softball League, a banquet was tendered them on Wednesday evening by the local softball club, when about thirty sat down to a delightful chicken supper in the spacious dining hall of the Cole's Point summer resort at Crow Bay.

The occasion marked the presentation of the cup, donated by the Campbellford Cloth Company through the courtesy of C. Hayes. Representing the company, the superintendent of the local plant, J. H. Cunningham, was present but designated the honor of the presentation to Mayor H. N. Carr, who in performing the pleasing office, congratulated the winning team and expressed the wish for a more successful softball season than ever in 1933.

The trophy was received on behalf of the team by "Buster" Whitton, Campbellford's popular sportsman(who expressed the thanks of his fellow ball players in a short but well-chosen address. All those present were called upon for short speaches. The chair was taken by A. J. Meyers, president of the club, the program following the toast to the King.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of a pencil to Vincent Farrell, chief of the umpires, who is responsible for the well-run and orderly games that have been a feature this year of the town's activities and have been so popular with the general public. The presentation was made by the secretary, H. Dunk. Mr. Farrell acknowledging the gifts in a pleasing manner.

LEAGUE TO GIVE CHINA HEARING

Will Consider Her Protest of Delay in Debate on Manchurian Report.

SESSION SATURDAY.

GENEVA, Sept. 30 (C.P.).—President Paul Hymans of the extraordinary session of the League of Nations Assembly, to-day called a meeting of the League Committee of 19 for to-morrow to consider the protest of the Chinese delegate, W. W. Yen, against the League Council's decision to delay consideration of the report on Manchuria compiled by the commission headed by Lord Lytton.

The delay was approved after it was requested by Japan.

The Chinese delegate challenged the Council's competence to delay consideration, contending the Assembly only has such authority. The text of the report is to be published October 2.

Sittings as a committee, the Assembly addressed an appeal to nations which have not ratified the protocol for revision of the world court statute to expedite the ratification. The nations which have not ratified are Bolivia, the Dominican Republic, Guatemala, United States, Nicaragua and Paraguay.

CONDUCTOR DIES AS TRAINS MEET

Crew Blinded By Light of Approaching Engine Pile Into Freight Ahead.

INQUEST ORDERED.

GLENCOE, Ont., Sept 29 (C.P.). —An inquest was ordered to-day into the death of Conductor Fred Litsky of London, killed last night in a rear-end collision between freight trains of the Canadian National and Wabash Railways, about a quarter of a mile west of the station here.

The Wabash train crashed into the rear end of the Canadian National train and crushed Conductor Litsky just as he was about to jump from the rear platform of the Canadian National caboose.

The crew of the Wabash locomotive set the brakes and jumped when they saw a collision was inevitable.

The Wabash train, No. 98, was moving through the yards, and the crew, apparently blinded by the headlight of a locomotive approaching on another track, did not notice the Canadian National train, No. 418, blocking their clearance.

Dr. L. M. Freele investigated. No date was set for the inquest.

Charge Fur Buyer Aided in Smuggling

KETCHIKAN, Alska, Sept. 30. —(C.P.)—Capt. Emil Lange, fish buyer, storekeeper and postmaster at Meyerschuck, near here, was arrested last night by the Alaska game warden on a charge of aiding Frank Dorbandt, Alaska aviator, an illegal transportation of furs.

The flier and three other men were charged in Seattle recently with smuggling beaver skins into Washington State from British Columbia.

Captain Lange, after a talk with officers, was released on his own recognizance.

On a trip south last July Dorbandt stopped at Meyerschuck, presumbaly to make repairs to his plane, and then came to Ketchikan. He put his ship in at the hydroplane port where he said he stored a packet of 14 beaver skins overnight. He later reported these had been stolen.

Ontario's Prosperity Depends on

YOU

BELIEVING that Prosperity, like Charity, should begin at home, the Department of Agriculture of Ontario has marshalled all the organized forces of this great province in an earnest, practical endeavour to make Prosperity a real actual fact.

Ontario has an agricultural wealth of 2,287,684,000 dollars—a stupendous sum, far exceeding that of any other province in Canada. This colossal investment represents the keystone of Ontario's arch of Prosperity.

You can help to put it back in place by purchasing more of Ontario's Farm Produce.

During the week of October 17th to 22nd, the Stores, Hotels, Restaurants, Churches, Schools, and every other organized body in the province, will cooperate with the Ontario Department of Agriculture in one grand effort to stimulate the purchase and consumption of Ontario's fine farm products.

No campaign of this nature can be a success without the hearty, sincere support of each individual. No matter how small your purchase of Ontario Farm Products may be, it really is valuable . . . an extra apple . . . another vegetable . . . a little more cheese . . . each small additional purchase of Ontario's Farm Produce means something truly gigantic when it is duplicated by Ontario's 754,733 families.

A prosperous Ontario means more buildings, more freight, more travel, more clothing . . . more and better paid employment for all.

Ontario's prosperity is your prosperity and you are the only one who can definitely assure it.

MANY ATTEND CAMPBELLFORD STREET DANCE

"Buster" Whitton is Lucky Winner of Grandfather Clock in Ticket Draw.

UNDER LEGION AUSPICES.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept 30. — Bringing to a climax a big day in Campbellford the annual street fair and dance, staged by the Campbellford Branch of the Canadian Legion went over with a bang last evening and gave an evening's entertainment to a large crowd of citizens and visitors. Held on Front street, which was fenced off for the purpose, the early part of the evening was spent in taking chances at the many attractions in the way of bingo games, wheels, blanket chances and the fish pond, and these booths were very generously supported by the public.

The lucky winner of the grandfather clock in the free draw was Buster Whitton, Mrs. Wm. Marsh drawing second place and winning a cedar chest. The third prize was a pair of blankets, won by Mrs. Wm. Southwell. All prizes went to Campbellford residents.

The drawing was made in Denye's store, little Shirley Bromley pulling the lucky tickets from the can. The five dollar prize to the girl selling the most tickets for the dance went to Betty McMullen, Margaret Morrison coming second with a three dollar award and Rosina Clarke winning a third prize of two dollars.

Dancing for the event was provided with music by Mel Booth's orchestra, which was placed in Denye's store being broadcast over a loud speaker to the dancers in the street. Ward Archer called off for the square dancing and Miss Ada Archer sang refrains to many of the round dance numbers.

The fair was under the management of G. H. Free, the ticket selling being handledby G. C. Bromley and J. D. McEachern looking after the goods with the branch treasurer, A. C. Thompson handling the cash. The blanket booth was handled by Major J. M. Bygott; the fish pond by Mrs. G. A. Ironside and bingo games by G. A. Ironside, Chas. Holmes and H. Redden. Several refreshment stands were included in the array.

Obituary

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, September 30. — The funeral of the late Mrs. Geo. Thomas Linton, one of Alnwick township's native born residents, who passed away on Thursday night, September 22nd, took place from the family residence on Monday afternoon, to Merrill's Cemetery for interment.

The deceased, who was a daughter of pioneer settlers in this township, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Dunnett, whose home was along the shores of Rice Lake, and what is known better as "Dunnett's Landing," although the property is now owned by C. Brown, was where Mrs. Linton with her brothers and sisters spent their childhood days.

Rev. R. W. Paton, M. A., conducted the service at the house and at the graveside as well. Reading portions of Scripture, Psalm 23; verses from Corinthians, Revelations and St. John's Gospel, chapter 14.

Those who deeply mourn her loss are her sorrowing husband, and four daughters: Mrs. Norman Isaac of Harwood, Mrs. Cephas Brown, Alnwick Township, and Misses Maggie and Cora at home. Also three sisters, Mrs. Alfred Matters, Peterborough, Mrs. Scriver, Lang, Ont., and Mrs. McMillan, Toronto, and four brothers, William and James Dunnett of Peterborough, John Dunnett, Toronto, and Joseph Dunnett, Rice Lake.

MRS. WALLACE MOON.

TWEED, September 30 (Examiner Correspondence). — Death came suddenly to Bertha Lillian Orr, wife of Constable Wallace Moon, at her late home on South Victoria Street, Tweed. Although her health had not been of the best during the past few months, she was somewhat improved and her passing away was a shock to numerous friends both in Tweed and outside points. At five o'clock she was stricken and her death occurred at nine o'clock the same evening.

Fifty-seven years of age, she was born at Blenheim, Ontario, near Chatham, a daughter of the late Samuel and Mrs. Orr. After coming to Tweed she was married to Charles Moon, who was later killed in the powder works explosion here twenty-nine years ago. Two children by her first marriage survive, Clarence Moon of Tweed and Mrs. John Fleming of Orillia. A year after the death of her first husband she was united in marriage to Wallace Moon, who along with three children, Clara, Carson, and Lyman, a lof Tweed, remain.

The late Mrs. Moon had resided in Tweed practically all her life, where she had made many friends. She was a member of the Tweed United Church. Two brothers Thomas Orr and Charles Orr were killed overseas. Three sisters, Mrs. James Murdoff, Peterborough, Mrs. James Joslin, Belleville, and Mrs. John Masters, also remain. Mrs. Stewart Marsh, who died at Sulphide a few years ago was another sister.

The funeral was held from her late home with a large attendance of friends. A wealth of floral tributes bore testimony to the high esteem in which she was held. The service was conducted by the Rev R. R. Nicholson, of Tweed United Church. Interment was made in Victoria Cemetery. The bearers were: James Lowery, Eli Myles, George Francis, Chesley Countryman, Thomas Beatty, and C. J. Hayes.

OAKLEY O'COIN.

TWEED, September 30 (Examiner Correspondence). — Oakley, seventeen-year-old son of Levi O'Coin, residing north of Tweed died on Tuesday evening following a brief illness of one week. The young man had attended a dance in Tweed only a week previouly, and was stricken with a cold on his return home. He had been in poor health for the past several months, although his condition was not serious at any time. He had always lived in the vicinity of Bogart and Tweed. He was a member of the Roman Catholic Church. Besides his parents, he is survived by seven brothers and sisters. Burial was made at St. Edmund's Church, Stoco, on Thursday. Mass was said in St. Carthagh's Church, in Tweed by Rev. Father O'Riordan.

MRS. ANNE GALLAHER

The funeral of the late Anne Conway Gallaher, whose death occurred on Monday morning, took place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. T. Fitzpatrick at Cordova Mines Wednesday morning, leaving the house at 8.15 for High Mass at Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, and was very largely attended by old friends and neighbors.

The casket was borne to its last resting place in the family plot in the cemetery adjoining the church by six old friends, Messrs. Edward Bowen, Thomas Quinlan, George Wiggins, Alphonse Madden, Hugh Maloney and Wellington Billings.

Left to mourn the loss are Mrs. Fitzpatrick of Cordova, and W. J. Gallaher of Peterborough. Also three grandsons with whom she spent many happy hours, Vincent, Jack and Jim Fitzpatrick, and a devoted granddaughter, Loretto Fitzpatrick.

Rev. Father Keeley, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, sang High Mass, and said the prayers at the graveside.

Backache and Burning

Niagara Falls, Ont.—"An accident several years ago affected my kidneys. My back would ache and torture me for several weeks at a time. My kidneys were sluggish in action and the kidney secretions were scant in passage and there was a burning sensation," said Albert Enns of 744 Park St. "Finally, I happened to see Dr. Pierce's Anuric advertised and less than two bottles of these tablets rid me of that miserable pain and my kidneys were in good shape again." All druggists.

FEWER EXHIBITS HAVELOCK FAIR

Pupils Keep Standard High and Excell in Other Departments.

FINE SPEAKERS.

HAVELOCK, Sept. 30 (Examiner Correspondence)—The heavy downpour of rain yesterday morning tended to put a damper on the enthusiasm of the exhibitors at the rural school fair, held here in the park grounds, resulting in fewer exhibits, and a greatly diminished attendance. However, those who did brave the elements made a good showing, and the standard of other years was kept in the quality of the exhibits.

Carefully scrubbed vegetables, shown by the seasoned exhibitor were in sharp contrast to the ones shown with all roots and earth adhering, and in some classes the varieties were mixed, Dooley and Green Mountain potatoes being shown among the Irish Cobblers, etc. However as the exhibits were fewer in all classes, the vegetables were judged as in the class to which they properly belonged. Mr. Gardner warned the exhibitors, however, that the same leniency might not be exercised another year.

Five schools took part in the school parade, giving an exhibition of physical training, drill, singing, and school yell. The schools taking part, were No. 1 known as North School; No. 4, Rush Point; No. 6, Old Havelock; No. 8, McGill, and No. 2, Preneveau.

The shield, which was donated by the Recreation Club, Havelock, for the best parade, was won last year by No. 2 School for the third time in succession, and became the permanent property of that school. No other shield has been donated to replace it, and so this year there was none given.

The physical training and marching were remarkably good in all five schools taking part, and drew warm praise from Mr. Copp, Inspector of Public Schools.

In the school chorus and yell, No. 1 took first place, with Miss Lena Buchanan, teacher. Mr. Copp explained that it was permitted to have any one interested in the singing, lead the chorus for the competition. This was not generally known before, and it is thought another year there will be better work done along these lines by all the schools.

Before naming the prize winners in the reciation contests, Mr. Copp outlined the method of judging and awarding points. He stated that the ease with which the piece is given, the enunciation, the inflection of the voice, and many other things are taken into consideration. The two competitors in the Third Book recitation were very close, but Pauline Steenburg was awarded a few more points, because of clearer enunciation. He stated that Sabra Deschane would make a very good speaker when she had corrected the few slight mistakes in pronunciation. Sabra won second place.

Olive Deschane and her sister were first and second respectively in the First Class recitation. Anna McNeilly and Grace Stewart were first and second in the Second Book recitation, "Water."

Four schools entered teams in the spelling match, which was won by Jeanne Blakely. Not many words were spelled, as there were a few catch words before which a number went down. "Accent" and "corps" were the two stumbling blocks.

Mr. Copp stated that he could not understand why, with so much good material to choose from there had been no entries made in the public speaking contest. He hoped there would be a number of entries in that class another year.

GOOD SHOWING MADE THURSDAY

Hoskins of Cobourg cattle took a first for senior bull calf, a first for yearling bulls and a first for a milking cow over three years. Added to these were a number of seconds and thirds which went to make up a good showing for the herds. The W. H. Honey and Son herd of Holsteins also featured prominently in the awards as did a splendid herd of Shorthorns owned by the Elmhirst farm. These outclassed any in the field.

Sheep classes were all full, and this was a very encouraging sign as several classes of this stock were added this year and denotes the fact that sheep are becoming more popular in this section of the province. These classes included: Long wool Cotswold; Leicester and Lincolns; Short wool Dorsets; Shropshires, Oxfords and Southdown.

And in the pig classes a very fine exhibit of Yorkshires was to be seen, although there were some fine breeds of Tamworth and Berkshire hogs.

Horse Classes

Entries in the horse classes this year were very heavy and exceeded last year's total. Especiall was this to be seen in the general purpose and agricultural classes, while the roadsters made a good showing. Some very fine pure bred draft horses were to be seen and the carriage classes had more than the usual number of contestants. In the Boys' Foal Club class, entries were considerably increased over last year.

The judges for these classes were: Light horses, A. E. Webster, Oakwood; heavy horses, R. C. Grandy, Brooklyn; beef cattle and sheep,—J. A. Knox, Norwood; dairy cattle, swine, Fred Hubbs, Bloomfield; Ayrshire cattle, Melvin Begg, Moose Creek.

Two Ball Games

And to please the lovers of ball two good games were staged on a perfect diamond. Starting the games, the Seymour West girls clashed with the girl players of Seymour East (Menie) and a real fight was staged. Menie came out on top, with a 12-5 count, but not until they had been forced to play seven innings of real fast softball. The game was featured by its splendid batting, both aggregations doing their stuff along this line.

The teams:

Menie — Evelyn Scotts, Jean Peake Edna Hutcheon, Clare Curtiss, Gladys Whitton, Gladys Little, Leafa Linn, Edith Wallace, Edna Whitton.

Seymour West—Gladys Nichols, Bernice Orser, Isabel McArthur, Sarah Atkinson, Josephine Locke, Eva Lang, Pauline Tingdam, Hattie Hooper, Doris Scott.

In the baseball game between Campbellford and the Alderville Indians a different tale was told. The local outfit won hands down with a 14-3 count and handed out to the visitors a pretty exhibition of ball. Hitting good and with strong bases, they piled up the runs, getting away in the last two innings for seven runs.

The teams:

Campbellford—Whitton, ss; Bush rf; Cowell, c; A. Zufelt, cf; K. Zufelt, 1b; Palejuiln, p; Maybee, lf; Darling 3b; DeCarroll, 2b.

Alderville—P. Simpson, cf; Marsden, 1b; Louke c; Chubb, 2b; Beaver, lf; G. Smoke, 3b; Bigwan, p; W. Smoke, rf; J. Simpson, lf.

Scouts Assist

The fair was officially opened by Mayor H. N. Carr at 1.30 p.m. who marched with the First Campbellford troop of Boy Scouts headed by the Northumberland Regimental band under Bandmaster W. Pearson, from the centre of town to the grounds. The Scouts assisted the officials of the fair in every way possible, and the band was on duty all the afternoon, delighting the crowd with fine musical selections. The Vitale-Mitchell midway shows, which supplied the crowd with much of the fun of the fair was well backed by a host of private concessions and the public seemed to be in good humor for the midway was filled all the afternoon and responded very generously to the appeals of the vendors.

INCREASE IN REVENUE SHOWN IN LOCAL GAS DEPARTMENT

Slight Decrease is Also Shown in Cost of Operation.

NO COLORED LIGHTS

Presented at yesterday's meeting of the Utilities Commission, by Harry L. Beal, manager of the gas department the report of the department's operations for the month of August this year shows healthy comparison with the corresponding period of the previous year. A total of 5,684,800 cubic feet of gas was sold last month as compared with 5,463,700 in August of 1931, while the total cash receipts for the department were $8,931.81 or an increase of $383.58. Total expenses for the month were $6,635.71 also a slight decrease.

In placing the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Ltd. plant in Class A for the purpose of assessing their power costs during the time that the plant will be operating over 10 hours a day, it would, Ross L. Dobbin, managerof the Utilities stated, "mean a little extra revenue to the Commission at no extra cost".

The application was made by David G. H. Melton, manager of Bonnerworth Mill, who stated that as usual at this period of the year one department of the plant was running into a busy season which would probably last for two months.

A letter was read from the Canadian Raybestos Company Limited asking the removal of two poles from outside their plant. One of the poles it was stated was blocking a driveway that had been made between the old and new sections of the plant. This pole is to be removed by the Commission at an approximate cost of $10. The other pole which it was also desired to have moved to improve the appearance of the property, is to remain for the time being on the ground of economy.

Write City Trust

A resolution was passed in which it was decided, "that the City Trust be written to and have it pointed out to them that they must have a surplus and a sinking fund on account of debentures, and to ask them to provide for an interest rate out of the sinking fund for those debentures that are issued on New York."

The Commission which sat under the chairmanship of Gordon S. Matthews decided also that in view of the cost entailed for the erection of colored lights, which had little practical value they could not accede to a request to illuminate the streets with colored lights during "Prosperity Week" which is being contemplated for the end of October.

The resolution in this connection stated, that in view of the fact that the cost of power to the city has increased $2 per horse power per year and that the rate of exchange on interest payable at New York is higher, the Commission has decided that it cannot undertake any unnecessary expense.

Labor costs alone in the putting up of colored street lights Mr. Dobbin remarked were $150.00.

East Emily

Mrs. Milton Clark was in Stouffville this week attending the wedding of her niece, Miss Klinck.

The annual rally day-service was held in Bethel United Church on Sunday afternoon. Mr. William Harrison, superintendent of the Sunday School, had charge of the service. Rev. Dr. Reddick gave a very appropriate talk on "Reaching Jesus To-Day."

Mr. and Mrs. Keegan of Toronto spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Thompson.

Miss Marion Storey is visiting with her aunt, Mrs. Rea, on Margaret Avenue, Peterborough.

Mrs. Mary Deyell has returned home after spending an extended visit with her son, Mr. Orville Deyell, in Toronto.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Dunlop of Peterborough was largely attended by Emily Cemetery on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Hunter spent Sunday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. Hunter in Peterborough.

Dr. Seymour, Dr. Campbell and Dr. Gibson of Rochester, N.Y., spent a few days last week the guest of the latter's aunt, Mrs. Margaret Mills, Sr.

Mr. Orville Deyell, of Toronto, spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. Harry Deyell.

Mrs. Wylie Guthrie, of Mumford, N.Y., spent a few days last week with her mother, Mrs. Chas. Mills, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Switzer and Mr. Eugene Switzer and sister, Miss Ida spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Drain of Clarina.

Mrs. Evans Storey entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of Bethel United Church on Monday evening. The first part of the evening took the form of a business meeting, with the president, Mrs. Ira Switzer, in the chair. It was decided that the Ladies' Aid would not hold a fowl supper this fall. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and music, after which the hostess served a very dainty lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. David McAdam entertained about seventy-five of their friends and neighbors at their home on Wednesday evening. The evening was spent in cards and dancing until midnight, when a very dainty lunch was served. Dancing continued until the wee small hours of the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. McAdam and Bob are moving to their new home in Smith Township this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Franks and Messrs. Albert and Jim Franks attended the Deyell-Middleton wedding on Wednesday.

RESCUE VESSELS

their Japan-bound freighter piled on the rocks and then began to break to pieces. Of the officers and crew of 37, they were the only ones to reach shore, fighting their way successfully through breakers which a day later kept a small boat of the Japanese freighter Oregon Maru from reaching the uninhabited island to take them off.

Before their eyes, they said their Captain T. W. Johansen of Portland, Ore., and the first officer, E. T. Wendt, also of Portland, leaped overboard into the foaming surf to disappear.

Heroism of rescued and rescuers was told in a laconic message from Captain R. J. Healy of the President Madison, hero of a previous less tragic rescue in Aleutian waters. He wirelessed: "We have taken aboard the three survivors of the freighter Navada. Rest were drowned in the surf. The rescue work by our officers and crew was magnificent."

Several Injured

During rescue attempts in gale and high seas, a small boat of the Oregon Maru was lost and several men injured. Food was thrown over the side of the Japanese freighter in hope it would float to shore where the trio was marooned.

One of those aboard the ship was a passenger, Portius D. Berry, 26, of Seattle, who was making a trip to the Orient for his health.

The cause of the disaster to the ship, owned by the States Steamship Company of Portland, had not been revealed in messages as its wireless went silent after its first S.O.S. late Tuesday night.

The Nevada, a 410-foot freighter of 5,645 gross tons, left Portland September 16 for the Orient.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1932

CANADIAN LIVESTOCK.

A good deal is heard about the vanishing horse, but a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows that there are still plenty of horses left in Canada, and that the decrease during the ten-year period from 1921 to 1931 was not as great as many people imagine.

In 1931 there were 3,451,752 horses in the Dominion, last year the total was 3,115,562, a decrease of 9.74 per cent., so that it is evident it will be a long time before old Dobbin is entirely extinct.

Other interesting figures in the same report show an increase of 8.72 per cent. in the number of cows in calf or in milk, and a decrease in the same period of 12.49 per cent. in the number of other cattle in the Dominion.

Altogether the agricultural census of last year showed the Dominion as possessing 7,906,820 cows, 3,662,474 sheep, an increase of 13.18 per cent., and 4,667,559 swine, an increase of 40.41 per cent. in the ten years.

The poultry in Canada, too, showed a surprising increase, for the total reported last year was 65,722,223, as against 43,347,194 a decade ago, an increase of 51.62 per cent., with every province registering a big gain and British Columbia heading the list with 118.78 per cent. more than in 1921.

And in case you are interested, 2,974 Canadian farmers reported that they owned some 6,504 mules.

TO-MORROW'S CHALLENGE.

There are unusual times, and it is altogether likely that a good many people who in prosperous years have gladly helped the Children's Aid Society will not be in a position to do so to-morrow; their income has been cut off or materially reduced by unemployment or short hours, and it will not be possible for them, much as they would like to do so, to make their usual donation.

That condition would seem to put a challenge squarely up to more fortunate citizens who have not suffered because of the slump to not only subscribe to-morrow as usual but to increase their offering, realizing as they must that the call for assistance is an urgent one and that the work of caring for neglected and dependent children cannot, this year of all years, be allowed to falter.

It should not take much imagination to see that under the conditions that prevail to-day there is a heavy demand upon the Children's Aid Society, and that there is therefore a great need of funds.

In that connection much depends upon to-morrow's campaign, which is one of the chief sources of revenue for the organization.

The Examiner echoes Mayor Denne's appeal to the citizens generally to give liberally to this most excellent cause.

REMEMBRANCE DAY.

The old argument is being advanced in regard to Remembrance Day that the best tribute that can be paid to the memory of Canada's war dead is to observe the two-minute silence at 11 o'clock on November 11th, and that to make that anniversary a general holiday simply means a day of pleasure and recreation with nothing to mark the significance of the occasion.

The Examiner is sure that Peterborough citizens who recall the deeply impressive memorial service held in Confederation Square last Remembrance Day will not be in accord with that view; the fact that the day was a holiday made possible a splendid attendance of ex-service men and the presence of several thousand citizens who joined in the service, and the result was undoubtedly the most dignified and most stirring tribute that has yet been paid to the memory of the Peterborough men who gave up their lives in the Great War.

The contention that a two-minute pause in ordinary activities is better than such a service will not be generally held, particularly as there is reason to believe that the period of silence has never been as faithfully observed as it should have been.

Again, the holding of Remembrance Day as a holiday is justified by reason of the fact that such a course meets the wishes of the ex-service men of Canada, and surely they are entitled to have one day in every year set apart to do honor to their comrades who did not come back with them.

MR. KING'S SPEECH.

In view of the fact that it was his first public address in some time, there was unusual interest in the speech delivered by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King in the Huron by-election campaign on Wednesday.

The Liberal leader made a number of important points.

Seizing upon a statement of Hon. Donald Sutherland, Minister of Defence in the Federal Cabinet, that the Government only desired high tariffs so long as they were considered necessary, Mr. King declared his belief that the time to reduce tariffs was right now, arguing that Canada could not hope to build up her trade unless restrictions were removed. He promised an immediate lowering of duties when his party returned to power.

The speech also included a gesture intended obviously to placate the Progressives who are not satisfied with the present financial system. Mr. King urged the necessity of establishing a national credit bank. Again he swung in the direction of recognized Progressive policies by stressing the need of proportional representation in federal elections.

Many people will believe that the Liberal leader was on firm ground when he declared that until the details of the conference agreements were made known, and this could not be until Parliament met, the Government was not entitled to ask for support on the strength of those agreements.

While admitting that world conditions were in a measure responsible for the falling off in Canada's trade and for the railway situation, Mr. King contended forcibly that the tariff policy of the Bennett Government had made conditions decidedly worse.

THE DISARMAMENT PROBLEM.

The problem of disarmament has become exceedingly acute, now that Russia has pledged unqualified support to the demand of Germany for arms equality. With delegates absent from both Russia and Germany, it is difficult to see how any binding agreements can possibly be made by the disarmament conference at Geneva. As the Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, former Secretary of Foreign Affairs in Britain, has remarked, "everything that has happened since we adjourned has only served to strengthen our case. We are before the crossroads where final decisions must be made."

For this reason there is strength in the argument that nearly eight months after the opening of the conference the various countries of Europe are still struggling in the slough of financial and economic difficulties. The supreme question for the nations to decide is whether, in view of these conditions when the people are already overburdened with excessive taxation, the individual governments will continue to make huge expenditures for the maintenance of armaments, rendered necessary by mutual suspicions and jealousies. If ever there was a time in the world when something real ought to be accomplished in regard to disarmament it is at the present juncture.

The Russian representative told the committee that the conference should take steps toward disarmament at once. "We all desire the speedy return of Germany," he said, "so let us put aside secondary questions and attack the primary problem. Quantitative disarmament as proposed in the Soviet and American schemes is the only real method." Now is the time for all the organizations throughout the world that are advocating and supporting disarmament and the substitution of judicial tribunals instead of war as a weapon for the settlement of international controversies, to make their influence felt at Geneva before the final disruption of the conference takes place and it is too late to remedy the situation.—Brantford Expositor.

A YEAR AFTER.

Many were the speculations which followed Britain's departure from the gold standard. So inexact is economic science, however, and so weighted with the imponderables of human hopes and fears, that most of last year's predictions have been wrong. Britain has not descended into ruin. Neither has it obtained the extravagant advantages foreseen by too-hopeful commentators.

One type of comment, based on the totally incomparable record of post-war Germany, was that the pound, deprived of its gold prop, would degenerate into worthlessness. There are two versions of worthlessness. One is the price of sterling in gold as measured in dollar exchange. This has shown an average depreciation of about 25 per cent. That, however, was merely a retreat from the artificial level of pre-war parity to which the pound was hoisted in 1926.

But that is sterling's "foreign" value, so to say. The worth of the pound inside Britain is the only kind of worth that interests the vast bulk of the British people—what it will fetch in food and clothing. The yardstick here is the commodity price level. Up until mid-July this had gone down about 3 per cent., so that, far from growing less valuable in Britain, the pound had actually appreciated.

This latter result is a complete refutation of the hazards foreseen by many conservative commentators. Even those who did not prophesy that the paper pound would fetch practically nothing in goods stated that almost of a surety it would suffer a curtailment in its purchasing power corresponding to the decline in its "foreign," or gold, value of 25 per cent.

There are several reasons for the failure of this prognostication. The one of general interest is that the influence of prices in gold standard countries has been more potent on British prices, even in their seclusion from the orbit of gold, than was generally conceded in Britain twelve months ago. Gold prices, taking the American figures as an illustration, have dropped 15 per cent. since last year. These have undoubtedly proved a drag on British prices. At the Ottawa conference, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, admitted the connection. The absence of a rise in gold prices, he said, "inevitably imposes limitations upon what can be done for sterling."

This conclusion may be an indication that very soon the British will return to gold. In spite of considerable opposition among non-bankers and in non-government circles, the general trend of British monetary policy is in that direction. Mr. Chamberlain's statement may be set side by side with the adhesion of Mr. Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, to the World Bank resolution in July calling for a general return to the gold standard. The bank itself has been steadily accumulating gold, having added nearly $100,000,000 to its reserves since the middle of May.

Perhaps the British are waiting for the meeting of the World Economic Conference to find out whether the nations intend to pursue policies which will make the international gold standard workable again. —Christian Science Monitor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Give liberally to the Children's Aid Society to-morrow. The need is great.

A sign across George street reads, "Welcome AMOS." Why the failure to extend similar greetings to Andy?

Only some 41,000 people saw the first game of the world's series. The players may not get as big a cut as was expected, but at that they probably won't have to worry about eating money during the winter months.

South Huron electors are doubtless not sorry that the time for talking is practically over, and that their verdict will soon be returned.

Parliament opens on Thursday of next week, and the session promises to be one of the most interesting in recent years.

SUBURBAN HEIGHTS

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

Who's Who in Ottawa

By CHARLES ROSS, Jr.

HON. WESLEY GORDON

A few years ago a middle-aged Haileybury lawyer, who had gained a mild sort of recognition as the organizer of technical schooling for the sons of Northern Ontario miners, stood in the court house wherein was being held the inquiry into the great Hollinger mines disaster, and found his name blazoned across the country as the champion of the miners, through his pitiless cross-examinations into mines conditions. For the miner this later resulted in representations which have been a boon to every man who goes down into the earth for his wage, and for Wesley Gordon an overwhelming personal popularity which enabled him to go to Ottawa as outstanding cabinet minister material.

Mr. Gordon is one of the first ministers to head up mines who himself understands to the full the business of mining. All his life since graduation from Osgoode Hall as a briefless young lawyer, Mr. Gordon has carried on literally at the mouth of the pit. He rubbed shoulders with the pioneers, watched the northland grow, saw the T. and N.O. extend the frontiers and watched an industry develop from a struggling infant to third place in the national scale. Wesley Gordon comes from a family of Conservatives, but his heart is on the side of the liberal and radical. He has spent a lifetime as champion of the needy, and earned himself the name of the "Darrow of the North Country" At a time when other industries are laboring under difficulties, Canada's gold production is reaching new heights. If the present minister is not responsible, at least he has given assistance with might and main and has helped—no one knows how much.

Motor road services supplied by the railway administration in Rhodesia, which had a skyrocket start, are reported to be losing business and profist because of the rough roads, which discourage riding and cause high equipment repairs.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—Supplies of fresh eggs were quite scarce on this market yesterday and prices took another move upward. Brokers found no difficulty in clearing receipts and, with no Western eggs offered, the demand was greater than the supply. There were reports of storage stocks being moved at the week-end, but it was the opinion of most of those in the business that this quality would not be offered until next week. Yesterday brokers sold graded eggs in free cases at 23c for extras, 24c for firsts and 16c for seconds, while wholesalers quoted the trade fresh supplies at 30c to 31c for extras in cartons, 29c to 30c for extras loose, 26c for firsts loose and 18c for seconds loose. Country shippers were offered slightly higher prices on extras and steady prices on the other grades at 25c to 26c for extras, 22c for firsts and 14c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned.

Poultry.

New price lists on poultry were issued yesterday and showed changes in weights desired by local buyers. Prices, however, were unchanged from previous lists on spring chickens, fatted hens and ducklings.

Butter.

The butter market did not seem to be weakening any, but prices quoted by brokers were nominal only, and there was no trading. Receipts were about normal for the season, and the lack of buyers resulted in some accumulation, though not enough to prove burdensome when the needs of the not distant future were considered. Nominal figures on creamery solids were 21¾c for No. 1 and 20¾c for No. 2, while prices to retailers for prints were unchanged at 25c for No. 1 and 24c for No. 2.

Cheese.

The demand for new makes of cheese was a little better and prices were slightly higher. Brokers quoted new makes at 11¼c for large, 11½c for twins and 11¾c for triplets. Wholesalers held to steady levels in offerings to the trade.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 30.—Reports that 8,000 boxes of New Zealand butter were en route to Canada on consignment caused butter prices to decline on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Some dealers reported that offerings were being made at 20½c a pound for current make No. 1, half a cent lower than Wednesday's quotation. Other dealers who were not as disturbed about the New Zealand shipment were asking 21c. With a 5c duty on this butter, another cent for other charges and the English market at 19¼c a lb., they felt that New Zealand would not sell butter any lower here than could be obtained in England. It was said that the butter had been shipped in anticipation of the Canadian market being on an import level by early winter which would be likely around 25c, although it depended on the English market not going down from present levels. Receipts were 573 boxes.

Egg Prices Higher.

Eggs advanced, fresh Ontario extras, in less than carlots, being quoted at 30c to 32c, firsts at 21c to 22c and seconds at 15c to 16c a dozen. Fresh Prairie extras were 28c to 30c, firsts 21c to 22c and seconds 14c to 16c. Effective to-day, prices to retailers will be advanced from 1c to 2c a dozen. Receipts were 346 cases.

Cheese was firm, Ontarios selling at 10 7-8c to 11c and Quebecs at 10¼c to 10 5-8.

Potatoes held unchanged, New Brunswick Green Mountains being 75c and New Brunswick Cobblers 70c per 80-pound bag. Montreal potatoes were 40c to 60c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. — Dragged down by a fall in Winnipeg prices putting Canadian wheat below 50 cents the first time this season, all grain values here weakened yesterday.

A collapse of the corn market carried every delivery of corn to bottom quotations unequalled in years. The drop in corn values was in the face of news that a delegation of Chicago grain men had called on President Hoover yesterday regarding use of Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds to facilitate grain exports, corn in particular.

All Cereals Decline.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅝-1c under Wednesday's finish, corn ⅝c-1⅛c down, oats ⅝c-⅞c off, and provisions unchanged to 17c lower.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, September 30. — Orders appeared on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange here yesterday in sufficient numbers to prevent a serious decline in futures, and although October sank to a new low for all time, none of the options closed more than 1c lower.

October closed at 49⅝c, November at 50⅝c, December at 51⅛c, and May at 56⅛c to 56⅝c.

Resting orders looked like export business, and it was believed importers were willing to buy large amounts around 50 cents, and on a scale down, and despite stop-loss selling the brakes were effectively applied around 49½c for October.

Farmers Hold Wheat.

In the face of such low prices, farmers appeared disposed to hold their wheat, and hedging pressure was accordingly lighter. Russian shipments were close to 2,000,000 bushels this week, but Broomhall reported this had little effect upon sentiment abroad since the contracts were old.

Demand for most grades of cash wheat was fairly good, but offerings of all grades continued light, and the volume of business done was small. A good export worked in No. 2 C.W. and feed oats since the close on Wednesday featured the cash coarse grains market, and a fairly good inquiry for barley was also in evidence, but cash interest in rye and flax was negligible.

BY CRAIG CARROLL

INSTALMENT No. 29.

Judy sigalled a page boy who stood near by.

"How do I reach Mr. Flavin?" she asked.

"Call him on the house phone. Right there. I'll get him for you."

He rang, waited, rang again. —"Here you are, Miss Allison."

"Mr. Flavin?"

"Yes?"

"This is Judy Allison."

"Oh, Miss Allison! Say, I have been waiting to tell you. That was a smart piece of work you and Day put over on Jenks the other day. Smart as could be! That's real salesmanship, all right. And you'll earn the money, too; Jenks is tickled to death with the mail. And everybody says your voice is a knockout. Why, if you weren't under exclusive contract now I could put you on another program to-day."

"Mr. Flavin, I'm calling about Dick Mason."

"Oh." There was a faint change in his voice, a lessening of enthusiasm. But Judy went on.

"Dick Mason——he's gone, he's gone, you know."

"Yes, I heard about it."

"Well, Mr. Jenks isn't satisfied with the new announcer. He's trying to get Dick Mason back on the program now. And he says he'll not take anybody else."

"Oh, I'd better see him, then. Jenks is the kind that'll bust everything wide open if he thinks he's not getting what he's paying for. Thanks for the tip, Miss Allison. I'll get after him right away."

"But I wanted to tell you——"

"Yes. Yes. You bet! Thanks, Miss Allison."

He hung up. Calling back would do no good, Judy knew. Flavin would be on his way already going through the various departments, hunting for Jenks, talking to him, soothing him.

Somewhere in one of the studios, a canary with an amazingly strong voice was singing, happy, deliriously gay against the slow music of a piano. Somewhere else Paul Whiteman's bandsmen rehearsed, rehearsed, going over and over some new tune.

Judy Allison would have thrilled to all this a very few days ago — would have waited to see Paul Whiteman emerge from the studio; would have wondered about the distinguished, quiet man somebody said was Lowell Thomas. Would have wished to meet the energetic young man she knew—from pictures she had seen—was Fred Waring, hurrying to play somewhere with his orchestra. Not now.

Dick Mason mattered. Nobody else in the world. She knew that for sure.

* * *

At 7.10 Elton Day telephoned.

"Tell him I'm not in," Judy asked Elsie. He was told.

At 8 he telephoned again.

"Tell him I won't be back at all this evening." He was told.

At 8.30 he reported at the house, and Mrs. Malone, fluttering, excited, reported: "He's a very nice young man. Afid he's got a big bunch of flowers. Roses, I think. And...."

"Tell him I'm not in——"

"I did. And he said he'll wait."

"Then——"

"Might as well see him and get it over with," Elsie suggested.

"I don't want to see him!"

"Of course not. And I don't want to see the sun go down. But it goes just the same. And that person will be sitting there from now on, if you don't talk to him."

"But——"

"I could throw him out for you, if you wanted me to," Elsie suggested, surveying her strong arms with considerable pride."

"No. That wouldn't do any good."

"'Course it wouldn't. Just tell him to be on the way. You told him plenty to-day, anyhow. He ought to know when he's not wanted."

""He doesn't care if he's wanted or not. I think he honestly believes nobody can resist him, if he just keeps on trying."

"Maybe he's right," Elsie said.

"Not about me."

"Then——"

"All right. I'll see him. Tell him I'll be down in just a minute; will you, Elsie?"

"Sure."

Judy dabbed a little powder on her nose. No use in putting on much. No use in taking any trouble. She didn't care if Elton Day noticed that she didn't look dressed up. Why dress up for him? Why bother at all?

Still asking herself that, she entered the living room. He jumped up quickly. "Judy!"

"Hello."

"Judy, I don't know if you like flowers or not. Silly, taking flowers to a girl. Like the hero in a book. Well, I'll be a hero then. Just once. Here's flowers!"

"Thank you."

"But you ought to open the box and stare at the flowers and be overcome. That's the way they do it in the movies."

"This isn't a novel."

"Right you are. This is life. Life my friends, is a problem. Life is a thing I can't get along without seeing anything of. Life is a thing that grows darker and darker. Life is a poem by Dorothy Parker. Life——"

Judy called Elsie. "Elsie, I have always wanted to give some flowers to old Mrs. Williams in the third floor front. How about these?"

Elsie surveyed the box dubiously. "Maybe," she said. "I wouldn't know. She's kind of particular. But, well, I'll ask if she wants 'em. And if she doesn't——" She made a gesture, intended to picture the act of throwing things out of a window. "See you, Judy."

"Yes."

Judy saw the flush on Elton's face; she knew the small, unpleasant, childish gesture had hurt him more than honest cruelty ever could. She was glad.

"You——" he began, then stopped. "You don't even want flowers from me, then?"

"No."

"Then why did I come up here at all?" he asked himself, out loud. Why——"

"I don't know," Judy answered. Whatever it was, let's finish with it. Because I'm in a hurry."

"Still in a hurry?"

"Yes," she said positively.

"And you'll always be in a hurry. As far as I am concerned?"

She nodded.

"I see. Yes, I see, Judy——" He tugged at his necktie. For the first time since she had known him, his tie was not quite perfect, his hair was not quite smooth. As though he had not bothered much about himself, this evening. "Well, I guess I'm silly to keep sticking my chin out when it keeps getting punched. So I'll be going."

"But you must have had some reason for coming?"

"No. None."

He put his shoulders back. They were thin shoulders. He was not a big man, Judy saw; he only seemed tall and impressive when he could sneer at people, when he could master with his words and his eyes. And words and eyes were not serving him now. He should not have seemed at all pitiful, he had done things that should have put him outside of sympathy. Yet she knew she was faintly corry for him. If for no other reason then because he was so ineffectual; because his cleverness was empty and pointless when he needed it most.

"Good night," he said quietly.

"Good night Mr. Day."

"Mister——" He began with a flash of his old insolence. Then it was gone. "Yes. Good night, Miss Allison. One thing, though. You can expect some news to-morrow."

"News?"

"Yes. Ought to be good news for you."

"Wait. Tell me, Elton."

The door slammed behind him, leaving Judy puzzled, suddenly excited, suddenly happy, without quite knowing why.

"Elsie!" she called. "Elsie!"

"Yes!" Elsie, a grin wrinkling her stubby nose, appeared from the next room. "I have been eavedropping. I have, Naughty, naughty thing to do. Little pitchers have big ears, and I have got bigger ears than that. And here's your flowers, Judy." She extended the long box.

"I thought you were going to give them to Mrs. Williams."

"These? Not a chance. Look, here!" She opened the box, and Judy saw deep red roses, enormous roses, dozens of them, she was sure, crowded into the box. "Aren't they elegant, Judy?"

"Yes. They're nice, I guess."

"And you really don't want 'em?"

"No."

"Then——" Suddenly Elsie was half serious. "Judy, nobody ever brought me flowers in my life. Not even Billy. He'd bring a new tube for the ralo set. And show me how a super-super-super something or other works on an eight tube set. But if you don't want them yourself I'm gonna put 'em all over my room. And I'm gonna to sit there and make myself believe somebody brought 'em to me. And get all happy about it. And shut my eyes so I can't see myself in the looking glass, and think what a beautiful gal is I. And—hey! Your'e not with me at all! Your'e up in the clouds! You!"

"Elsie, Dick's coming back."

"He, what? What did you say?"

"Dick's coming back. To-morrow."

"How do you know? Who said so?"

"Nobody said so. But I know."

"You got second sight, maybe?"

"No. But I know he's coming this time. I'm sure. I'm as sure as can be, Elsie. Just from what Elsie said. And al he said was that he had bad news, or that I was going to get news in the morning. And he didn't even say what news. But I know."

Lindsay Man Missing Friends Are Alarmed

LINDSAY, Sept. 30.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Police have received information that Fred. Parker, the local citizen who disappeared on Sunday and caused his relatives and friends much concern, left town by bus for Toronto. He has not been located in the Queen City, police stated this evening.

Chief Lawler and Provincial Constable Nelson went to Barrie on Wednesday to look into the arrest in that town of a man who, it was thought, was responsible for a series of burglaries in this town about a fortnight ago, which culminated in the theft as well as wrecking of a car in South Ops. He turned out to be the wrong man, however.

A Malayan bear broke loose in a circus at Koenigsberg, Germany, recently, and killed an attendant.

WHITE STORES BEING UNITED

Porter S. White Company Been on George Street for 33 Years.

CENTRALIZE BUSINESS.

The announcement made last night that the George Street Store of the Porter S. White Company chain would be closed in the near future is an important item of news inasmuch as the company has been operating in the same stand for over thirty-three years, and has built up a fine reputation during these years. It was one of the oldest established businesses on George Street. The object of the company is to centralize its business in their store at 342 Charlotte Street, where a complete stock of groceries, meats, fruits and vegetables will be kept. As many people either use the telephone or shop with their cars, the company is asking all George Street customers to either use phone numbers, 2960 or 2961 at the Charlotte Street store, where they will obtain courteous and prompt service and delivery of all orders.

With the removal of this business and that of L. Potvin to Charlotte Street, two of the oldest established businesses will be lost to George Street.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—(CP)—The following wholesale prices on fruit and vegetables were reported by White and Co.

Wolf River Apples, per bushel 75c to $1.25.

Leono Peaches, No. 1, 6 qt. basket 25c to 26c.

Leono Peaches, No. 1, 11 qt. basket, 45c to 50c.

Leono peaches No. 2, 6 qt. basket, 22½c to 25c.

Leono peaches No. 2, 11 qt. basket 30c to 35c.

Grapes, 6 qt. basket, 10c to 20c.

Leno grapes, 6 qt. basket, 25c to 30c.

Domestic vegetables are reported unchanged from yesterday.

HEALTH WORK IS OUTLINED

ing power and reduced the cost of maintaining hospital facilities, workmen's compensation and mothers' allowance.

In beginning, Hon. Dr. Robb declared that the members of the medical profession in Peterborough stand in the highest respect among the medical profession of other cities. The work of the local Kiwanis Club in aiding under-privileged children and in maintaining the Fresh Air Camp at Jackson Park throughout the summers he praised highly.

The ancient Romans, he said, besides being the greatest colonizers and greatest law givers in history had also been among the first to determine the importance of its people's health. "Let the health of the people be the greatest law," was the first law written into their code of laws. The National Government of Great Britain showed that it appreciated the importance of health when, although drastic reductions were made in the expenditures of all other departments the cost of the health department was not reduced.

"The health of a people is any nation's greatest asset," declared Hon. Dr. Robb, "and any individual's good health is his greatest asset."

Medical Account

He urged business men to become aware of the important of health in the carrying on of their business. "Open up a medical account as chief among your other accounts," he said. "And have a periodic account of your health taken at least once a year."

For people who have reached middle-age there are four diseases for which they must take precautions. These four diseases to which they must be concerned he listed as: disease of the kidneys and its various complications, which a medical examination will quickly show; diabetes, which is also quickly detected by examination; cancer, which is not so easily detected; and diseases associated with overstrain—heart diseases.

Public health he enunciated as the ways and means adopted to prevent disease and preserve life. He said that last year Ontario people spent $106,000,000 for the care of the sick, while but $3,000,000 was spent on prevention of disease. "If more was spent on prevention, then less would be required for curing, since there wouldn't be as many sick to cure," he declared.

The Ontario Government last year spent $600,000 on the support of sanitoriums and $2,100,000 on public hospitals and mental hospitals. He warned that because of economic conditions expenditures of this nature by the Government this year would have to be increased $200,000. The municipalities this year, he said, will have to donate $400,000 more to hospitals this year than two years ago.

No thought of health was given by those legislators who drew up the British North American Act, but since Confederation each province has been looking after its own health matters.

"We are interested in the health of everyone," he said, speaking of his department. "We are interested in the child before it is born." Maternal death rate is still considerable, he stated; last year 440 mothers dying. The rate is now 5.6 per 1,000 births, which still can be much reduced.

Child welfare, he declared, is the weak part in connection with the medical profession. He stated that there was as many deaths before four years of age as all after that age. And there are as many deaths under one year as between one year and 36 years of age.

A dental department is also maintained by the Department of Health. This consists mainly of a car which travels through the outlying parts of the province, giving dental clinics and furnishing dental education.

Speaking of the biological department of the province, he declared, "Ontario has no competitor. There is no place where toxoids and other serums to fight disease are more freely distributed." Insulin is now being distributed to 1,500 sufferers with diabetes. "If the insulin were cut off, within four month 400 or 500 of them would be dead," he stated.

Sanitary engineers and inspectors are also sent out. In this connection the speaker stated that last year 1,700 tourist camps had been inspected and only 300 had received the approval of the department. A great deal of work must be done to bring the tourist camps up to the proper standard. Industrial hygiene is also an important task of the department, and in this connection the health of many workmen has been protected, reducing the cost of workmen's compensation and mothers' allowance.

Prevention of Disease

To prove that disease can be prevented, he gave the figures on tuberculosis, which showed that in the past ten years deaths from this disease have been reduced 50 per cent. In this connection, he said the Government is keeping 553 families under the Mothers' Allowance whose male parent died of tuberculosis, and under the Workmen's Compensation is maintaing 407 families whose male parent is in sanitariums. The annual cost of maintaining the people is $415,000, which could be reduced if these cases of tuberculosis had been prevented.

He also stressed the manner in which diphtheria had almost been eliminated due to the immunizing of school children by inoculation. "If any child dies of diphtheria these days it is a scandal, and should be investigated," he declared. Diphtheria among school children ten years ago cost the city of Hamilton $40,000 annually, and now costs practically nothing.

"The most important man in your community should be your Medical Officer of Health," he declared in conclusion, stressing the importance of the preventive work this officer should carry on.

Dr. F. C. Neal introduced Hon. Dr. Robb, who was a classmate of Dr. Neal and Dr. A. Moir. Rev. Douglas Paterson expressed the thanks of the club to the distinguished speaker. A. Robertson delighted the club with several splendid violin solos.

RETAILERS TO MEET MONDAY EVENING

Invitation is Issued to all to Attend Important Meeting.

Another important meeting to all retailers in the city is to be held in the Chamber of Commerce on Monday evening next at 7.30 o'clock. All retailers of any class are invited, whether you are a member of the Chamber of Commerce Retail Merchants' Association or not.

These meetings are not for the purpose of getting anyone to join an organization or to extract money from anyone, but are in the best interests of the merchants and citizens generally.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (C.P.).—After yielding 1 to 3 points, stocks had recovered most of their losses as the market entered the late trading to-day and the list was steady. American Telephone, U.S. Steel, Case, Harvester and Allied Chemical, after dipping more than 2 points, were unchanged in final dealings. Santa Fe, Lackawanna and American Tobacco "B" were somewhat heavy, selling off a point or more. Northern Pacific was a strong spot, gaining 2. Transfers totalled about 1,300,000 shares.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.— With one or two exceptions price changes were downward in a featureless session on the standard stock and mining exchange market to-day. Interlisted stocks set the easier trend from the opening, with specialties in the various groupings facing the most persistent selling. Volume was light, however.

Noranda fell around 35 and Nickel, Hudson Bay and Base Metals lost 10 apiece. Lindaleys encountered some liquidation, Sudbury Basin dipping 6 and Ventures and Falconbridge 3 each.

Hollinger managed to recover yesterday's 10 cent decline, but Dome and Wright Hargreaves both showed minor setbacks. Siscoe was down 2 and Algoma Mining, McLeod River and Canadian Kirkland recorded small losses.

INTERLISTED ISSUES LEAD

Prices Develop Easier Tendency in Quiet Turnover on Standard.

NORANDA SELLS DOWN 45.

TORONTO, Sept. 30. — (CP) — Prices developed an easier tendency in quiet turnover on the Standard Stock and Mining exchange market in the forenoon today, midday changes fractionally all taking the form of minor recessions from last night's finals. Interlisted stocks set the trend and displayed the widest movements.

Noranda sold down 45 to $20.25 and International Nickel lost 35 to $10.25. Hudson Bay was off 15 at $3.70. Lindsleys showed some buoyancy but Sudbury Basin was off a couple at 69 and Sherritt Gordon a cent at 55.

Golds were rather mixed. Lake Shore and Pioneer of B. C. were slightly higher at $29.60 and $4.05, respectively, but Teck-Hughes lost a cent to $3.30. Northern Canada and Brettthrethewey showed a reactionary tendency ,former dipping 2 and the latter a cent. Granada was off 3 at 73 and Siscoe, Malrobic and Elgoma Mining lost some ground.

KINSMEN DINE AT SOUTH BEACH

New Member is Admitted in Young Men's Service Club.

INFORMAL PROGRAM.

South Beach Hotel was last evening chosen by the Kinsmen Club of Peterborough as the venue for their fortnightly dinner meeting where a delightfully informal program was staged.

One of the features of the evening was the initiation into Kinship of David Jones, by Immediate Past President Dr. Ralph Houey.

President G. Wilson Craw, who had charge of the earlier part of the proceedings, afterwards handed over the duties to Paul Johnston, who called upon the entertainers, William Stewart and William Dougall. The former provided a series of cornet selections accompanied by Mr. Dougall at the piano.

The guests included C. W. Meekins of Hamilton and A. W. Johnston of Athens, and were honored with a toast proposed by Adrian Macdonald. Mr. Johnston, the father of H. H. P. Johnston of the club, claimed to be one of the oldest men present. He remarked upon the high ideals back of the various service organizations, and felt that he had missed a great deal by not having had the opportunity in his younger days of being associated with such an endeavor. He believed that such organizations were productive of much good. Other guests were Max Rishor, Gordon Hill, Leslie Freemantle and John Dewart.

IDA MACKENZIE ELIMINATED IN WOMEN'S GOLF

Toronto Golfer Beaten by Mrs. Glenna Vare 5 and 4 in Semi-finals.

FOR U.S. GOLF HONORS.

Virginia Van Wie Takes Decision From Charlotte Glutting to Enter Finals.

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 30. (CP) Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia qualified for her seventh women's United States championship golf final since 1922 to-day by overwhelming Ada Makenzie of Toronto, a former Canadian titlist, five and four, on the Salem Country Club course.

Virginia Van Wie of Chicago gained the title round by defeating Charlotte Glutting of Short Hills, N.J., four and three.

Ideal Conditions.

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 30.—Ada Mackenzie, Toronto veteran of numerous international golfing battles, and Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, five times champion of United States, to-day opened the semi-final play in the women's United States tournament. Conditions were ideal.

Miss Mackenzie had the honor and sliced her drive to the edge of the rough. Mrs. Vare hooked her first shot and a bad bound carried the ball far off the fairway, barely in bounds. She conceded the hole.

Mrs. Vare, however, pulled back even on the 366-yard second, where Miss Mackenzie trapped her drive and took two to get out. Mrs. Vare's second wood was 20 feet to the right of the green, and she chipped to 10 feet of the pin, taking two putts for a five.

Mrs. Vare got her par three on the 140-yard third to go one up, Miss Mackenzie missing the green with her drive, and chipping to five feet of the pin. She missed the putt.

Mrs. Vare won the fourth to go two up. She put her second in back of a trap to the left of the green, and then chipped to five feet, holing out in a birdie four. Miss Mackenzie was much too strong with her approach, taking five.

Regains Hole.

Miss Mackenzie gained back a hole by taking the 468-yard fifth with a par five. Mrs. Vare was on in three, 12 feet away. Her second putt hung on the lip of the cup and stayed out.

Mrs. Vare and Miss Mackenzie halved the sixth with par threes, but the Canadian had to hole a 30-footer to do it. She trapped her drive, but put her recovery shot on. Mrs. Vare drove the green, but missed a 12-footer for a birdie deuce.

Miss Mackenzie pulled even with Mrs. Ware by playing a par four on the seventh, where the latter trapped her second, an iron. She was 22 feet short of the pin after exploding out and needed two putts to go down. Miss Mackenzie put her second on 10 feet from the pin.

Mrs. Vare took the lead on the eighth with a par five, overcoming a stymie to do it. Both were about 20 feet short of the green with their seconds. The stymie resulted when Miss Mackenzie rolled her second putt to within two inches of the pin.

Mrs. Vare halved the ninth with the Canadian in fives to make the turn one up.

Mrs. Vare snagged second birdie on the tenth to go two up. She made the edge of the green with her second wood shot and holed out on a short putt after a nice run up. The Canadian girl used an iron for her second and was 35 feet short for her second.

Mrs. Vare Takes Lead

Mrs. Vare became three up by matching par for the 451 yard 11th with a five. Her third was on 18 feet from the pin. Miss Mackenzie trapped her drive, came out of the rough short and was on in four. She took six.

Mrs. Vare maintained her three up lead by halving the 12th with a four, one over. She missed the green with her iron from the tee and went out into the rough. Miss Mackenzie followed her example, finding the rough on the left. She chipped and then had to use two putts, as did Mrs. Vare.

Mrs. Vare became four up with a five on the par four 13th. Miss Mackenzie topped her second shot into the trap guarding the green and exploded out over the putting surface. She chipped on and two-putted for her win.

Mrs. Vare won the match on the 14th, where her four, one over par, gave her a five and four victory.

Miss Mackenzie trapped her drive, had trouble getting out, and chipped to eight feet with her third. Glenna was just off the green from the tee, and she chipped beyond the putt. She putted to three feet, and Miss Mackenzie conceded her the next putt and the match.

The cards—In:

Miss Mackenzie	564 65xx
Mrs. Vare	454 54xx

(Mrs. Vare 5 and 4).

BOWLING ALLEY

No definite action was taken by the committee.

The Board of Works committee passed a motion requesting Parks Committee to prepare for the planting next Spring of 300 trees on the streets recently curbed and guttered. Repairs to the pavement at the corner of George and Charlotte streets made necessary by the damage incurred in constructing the new Eaton store will be made by the Board of Works and paid for by the Eaton Company, it was decided unanimously. Eaton's had informed the committee that the company was prepared to make the repairs or pay for the city doing the work.

In order to improve the background of the war memorial at Confederation Square two half-grown trees will be cut down and the semi-circular of recently planted blue spruce and maples will be completed by the planting of four more trees of the same kind. Alderman Stocker stated that the newly planted trees would not grow unless the older trees were removed. The Parks Committee granted him authority to proceed with the beautification of the memorial's background.

Alderman Stocker reported that during the past two weeks workmen of the Parks Committee have been engaged in cutting down and trimming trees. An average of ten loads of trunks and limbs have been cut down each day, he said, and the work is practically completed now. Within a few days the men will return to the job of planting and preparing the parks for the winter.

BIG CONVENTION

ment of that object for which we labor in common."

He hoped that their work together would be both pleasant and productive of good results.

In conclusion he remarked, "I enter upon my duties with a full realization of the fact that my success will depend largely upon your support and co-operation. Hoping for that, I assume the position and trust that I may discharge its duties, partially, at least, to your satisfaction."

Following the District Supreme Monarchist's address Alderman Jack McNabb, on behalf of the city tendered the visiting delegates a Civic Welcome, the warmth of which was not left in doubt.

D.S.M. Thomas who deemed it a pleasure to have the honor of responding on behalf of his associate officers, and all others who constitute the membership of the Order, stated, "I am sure I voice the sentiment of every member present when I say that we heartily appreciate our cordial reception in this city. Your sincere and gracious words of welcome will, I know, be an incentive to the officers and representatives to devote themselves more ardently to the duties devoting upon them, and when we are finished and return to our homes, we will carry back with us tender recollections of your hospitality and of the friendships formed during our stay in your city."

Later addressing the officers and members of Cyzicus Sanctorum No. 24 Peterborough, he remarked that for the past six months "we have looked forward to this meeting in your city. We know we are welcome, for we have been assured of it on every hand, and in every way. On behalf of every visitor present I desire to thank you. We appreciate the arrangements you have made for our entertainment and comfort. We feel we are indeed among friends and brothers in the truest conception of the word" he said in closing with the following quotation of poetry:

"In after years my memory will turn
To these bright days, and in my heart will burn
A grateful love; and as my pathway trends down the years
I'll think of you, my friends."

Sheik James H. Price, local chairman of the Reception, registration and patrols committees extended a welcome to the visiting brethren on behalf of the members of Cyzicus Sanctorum and also introduced Alderman Holland to the assembly.

Wreath At War Memorial

Following the preliminary exchangeof greetings the patrol of Mycerinus Sanctorum No. 42 Lindsay provided the guard of honor and preceded the Divisional and Supreme Officers. They afterwards gave a drill in the Lodge Rooms, and at the conclusion of a brief business session the entire representation marched in procession to the War Memorial in Confederation Park, where at a short but impressive ceremony, a wreath was deposited by Brother Price on behalf of the Convention Committee of the Northern Division.

Tonight a big street parade has been planned to precede the monster dance to be held in the armouries, the music for which is being provided by Watson's orchestra. The dance is held under the auspices of the Order but is open to members of the general public.

The chairmen of the Convention Committees are as follows: General Chairman, Sheik G. Wyatt, P. G. M.; Entertainment, Sheik Fred Batten, P.G.M., P.D.D.S.M.; Reception, Sheik J. Price, P.G.M.; billets, Sam F. Mowry, P.G.M.; Financial, Sheik T. Doughty; Privileges, Alderman F. T. Tugwey; General Secretary, Sam W. Bull, G.M.; Decorations ,Sheik C. Mowry, P.G.M.

SOCIETY GROUPS HOLD MEETINGS

Group F of W.M.S. of George Street Church Meets at Home of President.

Satisfactory Reports Read.

The members of Group F of the W.M.S. of George Street United Church met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Morton, Sophia street, and despite the rainy evening, a record number were in attendance.

Mrs. R. Powell read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. Morton gave a paper on the Kingdom of God's Movement; Mrs. T. H. Squire led in prayer.

Satisfactory reports were submitted by Mrs. J. W. Hales and Mrs. J. M. Fanning. It was decided to make the next meeting particularly of a Thanksgiving nature and each member was asked to respond to the roll call by repeating a Thanksgiving gem. Mrs. W. Flannery invited the group to meet at her home on the last Friday in October.

Arrangements were completed for the refreshments for the supper being held in celebration of the Golden Anniversary of the W.M.S. of George Street Church.

Mrs. Ludbrooke was added to the program for the remaining three months of the year.

The meeting closed with prayer after dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Girvin, Powell and Boreman (members of her section. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Morton for her hospitality by Mrs. Squire and Mrs. G. Helson.

Group A Meets

The members of Group A met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Wood, Water street, for their regular meeting. After singing the Doxology the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. A. F. Hagerman, followed by repeating The Lord's Prayer in unison. The secertary, Mrs. W. H. Copp, called the roll and each member responded by repeating a verse of Scripture.

A splendid missionary reading was given by Mrs. Fairbrother.

The meeting then took up the business part of the program which consisted chiefly in making arrangements for their part in the Golden Anniversary celebration of W.M.S. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

CHICAGO GRAIN EXCHANGE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. — (C.P. — With Liverpool reporting increased seling pressure of Canadian wheat abraod, grain values here suffered fresh early setbacks to-day. Wheat at Winnipeg outdid the season's low price record, and corn in Chicago reached bottommost levels since 1897. Opening ¼-⅝ off, wheat subsequently underwent additional declines. Corn started unchanged to ¼ down and continued to drop.

HEPBURN ENTERS S. HURON FIGHT

Summarizes Present Conditions in Canada "Tories, Tariffs, Taxation, Troubles.

CHARGES EXPLOITATION.

CREDITON, Ont., Sept. 30 (C.P.)—"Tories, Tariffs, Taxation and Troubles." Thus Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., Ontario Liberal Leader summarizes present conditions in Canada. Speaking here last night in support of the candidature of William Golding in the South Huron by-election, Mr. Hepburn centered his remarks upon tariff and trade policies. Hon. W. D. Euler, M.P., former Minister of Inland Revenue, also addressed the gathering.

"High protection has driven butter to the lowest price in Canada's history," declared Mr. Hepburn. "The Bennett tariff policy of allowing great industries to exploit the Canadian people for the benefit of their stockholders, in some cases corporations in the United States."

No matter what the preference Canadian farmers are given on wheat in the United Kingdom market, the price will be fixed by world prices, the law of supply and demand, he said.

C.N.R. Situation

Mr. Euler confined his remarks to the Canadian National Railways situation. He thought Sir Henry Thornton did a great service for the Canadian people and had been most disgracefully treated.

"When Parliament was voting the Canadian National Railway estimates they saw what they later discovered as extravagances," Mr. Euler sid. "But I don't know of a Euler said. "But I don't know of a at the time."

He advocated amalgamation under public ownership as a means of overcoming the wasteful competition, which he said was the real trouble with Canadian railways.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

"LOVE ME TO-NIGHT"

With Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald, with Charlie Ruggles and Charles Butterworth and Myrna Loy, this is an exceptionally entertaining picture. A clever little American magazine which goes in for reviewing talking pictures said in a recent issue that "Love Me To-night" was full of objectionable jokes and double entendre. The writer was either quite squeamish or else the picture has been cut. The latter is probable the case. It is quite proper and has nothing more than a little love-making to spice its gay scenes and the lilting music that runs through it.

Chevalier, albeit his lower lip is just as pendulous as ever, and just as prominent in profile bits, is also just as attractive, and Jeanette MacDonald makes a great foil, with her beauty and her lovely singing voice.

There is a Gilbert and Sullivan flavor to several of the scenes, where the entire ensemblle of surrounding people take up the music and repeat it according to varied fancies. The bit where "He's nothing but a tailor" is echoed and re-echoed by everyone from the villain himself to the duke and the chambermaid and the laundress, in turn, is an excellent example of this sort of treatment. And it make for splendid entertainment.

A tailor let loose in a chateeu with a duke for a host and a lovely princess for a sweetheart, is the role assigned to Chevalier in this picture. He sings and smiles and capers his way through a series of entertaining episodes, in which a stag hunt figures largely.

Jeanette MacDonald is the lovely Princess; Charlie Ruggles is the duke's nephew, a prevaricating Viscomte; Maurice is himself, as Maurice the tailor, and there is an excellent supporting cast, including three ancient dames who form an admiring trio for the attractive Maurice. "Love Me To-night" is good entertainment.—Jeanette.

ABLE TO "TAKE IT"

COMO, Miss.—The lions can "take it". When a truck and trailer in which two lions were being transported to an amusement company's winter quarters went into a ditch, the truck driver suffered a broken collar bone and cuts. The lions didn't even get angry.

VICTORIA WOMEN'S AUXILIARY HOLD CONFERENCE AT MILLBROOK

One Hundred and Sixty Delegates Attend Annual Anglican Deanery Meeting.

REPORT ACTIVE YEAR

MILLBROOK, Sept. 29.— Rev. Professor Isherwood, of Wycliffe College, Toronto, preached the sermon at the morning gathering in connection with the eleventh annual conference of the Victoria Deanery Women's Auxiliary to the M.S. C.C., held at Millbrook on Wednesday, Sept. 28, with approximately one hundred and sixty delegates in attendance, including a number of clergymen from the various parishes.

The rector, Rev. William Simpson, B. A., and the Rev. Rural Dean A. T. Weir, of Omemee, were the celebrants of Holy Communion at 10.30 a.m. at St. Thomas' church, the clergy forming the choir, and Professor Isherwood delivering an address based upon the text, "Cast thy bread upon the waters, and thou shalt find it after many days"; his discourse emphasizing the wonderful faith and patience of a beautiful Christian life, and dwelling particularly upon the efficacy of a strong and simple faith, which with earnest labor will accomplish wonders for the Kingdom of God.

Mrs. (Canon) W. Cartwright Allen, Deanery officer, presided at the afternoon session which was in the parish hall, the rector of the parish, Rev. Mr. Simpson, giving the address of welcome and declaring the honor and pleasure the parish had in entertaining the W. A. delegates, "in view of what you have done, and of what you are doing. Your society has service for its motto, and is entirely altruistic, seeking nothing for itself, but going out into all the world carrying the message of redeeming love. It was born the same year as myself, and like the grain of mustard seed has grown into a great tree the original seven consecrated women being now increased to 50,000 adult members, and with the junior organizations reaching 90,000 in all, while over one-quarter of a million dollars passed through the Dominion treasurer's hands last year."

Professor Isherwood

Professor Isherwood, who was taking the place of Rev. Dr. McEllheran, president of Wycliffe College, who was unable to be present, brought a most inspiring message to the assembled W. A. officers and members, using the story of Caleb, with his mighty valor, and absolute dependence upon God's faithfulness, to illustrate to the delegates how they might make their service really effective and dynamic in face of the growing indifference, and other evils of the times.

The points emphasized were along three lines: Caleb was 'different' because he was a man of vision; a man of endurance waiting forty-five years for the portion of the holy land God had specially mentioned as His and then interpreting its possession in terms of further fighting and service; he was a man of adventure, with a spirit of God-given youth to the last, and "I challenge you to press forward meeting the difficulties of the day like Caleb, and finding that it is as we learn the secret of the life and death and supreme victory of Jesus Christ, that we are lured on to become more than conquerors through Him that loved us and gave Himself for us."

The report of the deanery expense fund was given by the secretary, Miss Rose Macnamara, and when the offerings of the day had been counted, later in the meeting, it was found there would be probably twenty dollars once expenses had been cleared, to send to the McKenzie River Diocese toward the one hundred dollars asked to provide furniture for the missionary's house at Fort McPherson, and fish nets for use in varying the diet at that far northern point. The alternative appeal was from the Brandon diocese where forty dollars was required to complete the three hundred dollar request for help for the workers at Swan River. Decision on the two appeals was by ballot, the former winning the large number of votes.

The Roll Call

The roll call was a most instructive feature, bringing as it did responses from sixteen of the nineteen parishes of the Deanery, and in each case the recital of work accomplished, meetings held, bales shipped to Saskatchewan for relief as well as to the home mission fields; of pledges fully met and other money raised for the local churches and for various other purposes, of study books faithfully taken up at regular meetings, and special efforts made to increase funds and to further missionary activity and knowledge, made up a story of entrancing interest. The auxiliaries responding to the roll call were: Bailieboro, Bethany, Blackstock, Bobcaygeon, Cannington, St. John's Cavan, Holy Trinity, Manvers, Victoria Road, Cobocconk, Dunsford, St. John's Emily, Lindsay Senior branch, Junior W. A. and Evening Branch. St. Thomas', Millbrook and Omemee. Cameron, Sunderland and Fenelon Falls were the three parishes not heard from.

Miss Chappell, a Diocesan Officer from Toronto, who is the "extra cent a day" treasurer, was heard with both profit and pleasure as she first replied to the queries in the 'question box', as a preliminary to her address on the "General Work of the W A." The question whether a missionary reading was not preferable to a chapter from the study book read once each month, brought an earnest appeal for preparedness "in order to bring something vivid before the meeting", the study of the chapter being essential to interest and success. Another question on how to interest the members of a small branch drew forth helpful suggestions on bringing home to the individual member her individual responsibility, an understanding that personality counts, and that it is God's work, "and if everyone gives of herself, and of her means, just what she feels she can give, we'd have our money."

Speaking of the W. A. as a net stretching from coast to coast with each branch a mesh, Miss Chappell made a strong plea for help for the mothers and children of the west. "The W. A. is unique since it is the only organization entirely of women and girls working for women and girls; it conducts its own finances; clothes about nine hundred children each year; is responsible for the medical and missionary work among the women and children of India, China, and Japan; for the mission schools among the Eskimos; and the mission work for the women and children of our own great west. It's a great corner stone in religion, the tie which binds us to God, and its foundation is our members' prayers."

The various departments of the W. A. and its separate funds were dealt with in detail, the speaker giving some special time to the concrete help the 'extra cent a day' fund had provided in numerous instances, and also to the 'Sunday School by Post' which brings Christian literature to isolated homes in the west so the mothers may teach their children as an offset to the Communistic literature distributed among them. "Canada has been given to us with all its riches, and it is left to us to give it a Christian prosperity; if we each put our best into the work, relying on God's guidance, we shall go forward in faith that He will help us to do the task He has assigned to our hands."

Secretary's Report

A hearty vote of thanks was given Miss Chappell for her most constructive address, and the secretary presented a summary of the Deanery work telling of seventeen auxiliaries and one girls' branch, with a membership of 337; of four Junior W. A.'s, with eighty enrolled, one new Junior Auxiliary having been organized at Cobocconk during the year; of eighty-eight Little Helpers in five branches; of 150 subscribers to the Living Message; of $638.43 raised in general pledges; $68.67 for the United Thankoffering; $30.48 to the extra cent a day fund; $4.50 to the Jubilee Fund from one branch of seven miscellaneous bales under the Dorcas department; ten branches taking the study book regularly; and of eight branches sending bales for western relief in the distress of last year.

Previous to the election Mrs. Allen, who has held the position of Deanery Officer for the past three years, expressed the pleasure of the three auxiliaries of Cavan parish in entertaining the convention, and noted the growth in the course of the eight years since membership in the Victoria Deanery had replaced alliance with the Deanery of Durham and Northumberland. "Forward" was the motto stressed, and mention of the sad bereavement recently experienced by Rev. Canon Marsh, of Lindsay, in the death of his beloved wife, led to the unanimous passing of a vote of sympathy.

Cannington's Invitation

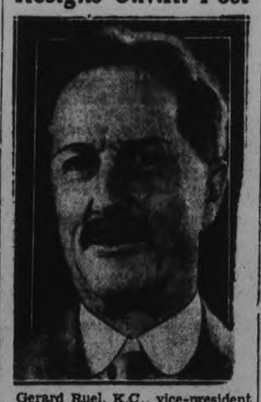
The invitation from the W. A. of All Saints' church, Cannington, to hold the next Deanery meeting there was accepted with warm thanks, Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard, wife of the rector of Cannington and Sunderland, adding a personal word to the written note conveying the request, and promising a hearty welcome. Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, president of the St. Thomas' W. A., took the chair for the election of officers, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. (Rev.) A. T. Weir, being re-elected as president and vice-president, though Miss Macnamara declined again taking her office as secretary-treasurer, this position to be filled later.

On motion, it was decided not to print programs another year but to supply the officers with typewritten copies, and on motion of Miss Vivian Lough, Ida, and Mrs. Dreyer, of Bobcaygeon, it was agreed to appoint the presidents of the various branches as a nominating committee to bring in a slate of officers and present it before the convention at Cannington, previous to the election.

The afternoon gathering was dismissed by Rev. A. T. Weir, Rural Dean, with prayer; Mrs. L. H. Winslow presided at the piano. The clergy held their meeting at the Rectory, while the W. A. session was in progress, Rev. Professor Isherwood addressing them, and discussion of parochial matters being taken up. Among those present were Reverends A. T. Weir, Omemee; Dr. C. E. Whittaker of Blackstock; E. Dreyer, of Bobcaygeon; F. H. Howard, of Cannington; R. E. Lemon, of Coboconk; and G. Holden, of Bethany.

The three auxiliaries of the Cavan parish acted as hostesses at the dinner and tea hour, serving meals in the armouries, the usual votes of thanks for the hospitality extended being passed during the social hour round the attractively-laid tables at the close of the noon meal.

Resigns C.N.R. Post



Gerard Ruel, K.C., vice-president in charge of legal affairs for the Canadian National Railways, has resigned the position in order to devote his time to legal practice with the newly-formed firm of White, Ruel and Bristol of Toronto. The original firm, now dissolved, was Bain, Bicknell, White and Bristol.

PRICE CUT WOULD SELL ALBERTA'S COAL OUPUT

OTTAWA, Sept. 30 (C.P.)—The sale of Alberta coal in Ontario could be increased 30,0000 or 400,000 ton sannually if the selling price could be reduced $1.75 a ton. This was the contention of E. G. Clarry of Toronto, Assistant Trade Commissioner for Alberta giving evidence before the Board of Railway Commissioners here to-day. The hearing was in connection with fixing the rate per ton the railways were to receive for drawing Alberta coal to Ontario during the 1931 movement. Judgment was reserved.

Hastings Society Officers Elected

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, September 30. — The regular meeting of the Young People's Society of Trinity United Church, was held on Monday night in the basement of the church, and was very largely attended. A short program was given after which the election of officers for the coming season took place.

The meeting opened with Hymn No. 347, followed by the Scripture lesson. Prayer by Rev. Mr. Bell. The topic was taken by Rev. V. McNeeley of Keene, followed by Hymn No. 133.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Arthur Beamish.
Vice-President—Miss J. Lamb.
Secretary—Miss Jessie Fleming.
Treasurer—Lloyd Fleming.
Pianist—Miss Marjorie Scriver.
Committees—Convenors and assistants: Christian Fellowship — Messrs. Walter Dodd and G. Fairman.
Missionary — Misses Marjory Scriver and C. Hoard.
Citizenship — Rhea Preston and K. Smith.
Social — Misses Dorothy Turner, and Helen Collins.
Temperance — Grace Orr and Fred Hand.

The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of Hymn No. 133 and the Mizpah Benediction.

The Hastings council at a recent meeting passed a resolution to be forwarded to the Railway Board, asking that the watchman at the corner of Bridge and Water streets be discontinued, and that signs and a signal system be placed here instead. The corporation pay two hundred dollars a year towards the watchman's salary. Since the resolution was sent in by the council a petition was sent in by some of the ratepayers requesting that the protection be continued.

On Tuesday morning the council received a letter from the Railway Board, that the watchman would be kept on.

HARVEST FESTIVAL AT MOUNT JULIAN

Rev. Mr. Riding Preached at Special Service.

MOUNT JULIAN, Sept. 30.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The harvest festival service was held in Eden United Church at eleven o'clock on Sunday morning. The church was tastefully decorated with an abundance of fruit, vegetables and grain, giving evidence of the bountiful harvest. Rev. Riding choose his text from the book of the Prophet Jeremiah 8:20. "The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved," speaking of our present depression and the plight of the Jews in the days of that prophet.

The service was attended by a large congregation.

At 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon further evidence of the bountiful harvest was given at the harvest festival service at Holy Trinity Anglican Church. The pews were well filled by the large congregation present and the church beautifully decorated with a profusion of the products of the soil from the surrounding country. Rev. Moore spoke of the beauty of the harvest and the beauty of the spirit of the people in this work.

Are you handicapped at the office?

To put in a full day's work, you need a full man's strength. A man, half-sick from constipation, has less chance to succeed in today's keen competition.

This insidious condition often causes headaches, loss of energy, sleeplessness. It takes the edge from your working hours.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs — so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

HAVELOCK MAN HAS LEG BROKEN

Herbert Hoard Rushed to Hospital After Being Kicked By Horse.

KNOX SOCIAL EVENING.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, September 30. — Hornets stinging a horse owned by F. J. Squire, local merchant, are thought to be responsible for the breaking of Herbert Hoard's leg at the town dump on Wednesday afternoon.

Hoard together with James Squire, had taken a load of old plaster and other material from Mr. Squire's house on the corner of Ottawa and Quebec streets, and had just finished dumping the load, when the mare struck out with her hind legs and caught him on the left knee cap. He was sitting on the driver's seat of the delivery wagon. It is thought the hornets' nest must have been disturbed by unloading the wagon.

Jim Squire immediately summoned Dr. A. S. Thompson, who ordered the injured man removed to the Nicholls Hospital, where X-ray plates will be made to ascertain the seriousness of the injury.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Knox Church (Presbyterian) held a very successful social evening on Monday, September 26th.

Vocal numbers were contributed by members of the society and the children of the Sabbath school, and Miss Davidson of Toronto, a niece of Mrs. Harold Mathison of the village, gave a masterful rendition of a pianoforte solo. Rev. L. Beaton, presided as chairman and enlightened the audience with an outline of the purpose and the activities of the C.E.S.

During the summer a night shirt and pair of pyjamas were used by the members in a novel manner to collect funds for the society. Various members took the garments at different times and asked their friends to sew a patch on them underneath which they placed a voluntary contribution, and a ticket with the name of the donor. In the course of the holidays these garments travelled far and wide, and on Monday evening the "Parade of the Patches" provided much merriment for all present. Afterwards the patches were removed by a committee appointed, and the magnificent sum of $83.35 was found to be the total amount underneath; $8.35 was given at the door in a silver collection.

The game of musical chairs was played and much enjoyed by both children and grown-ups. A daintily prepared lunch was served at the conclusion of the evening.

The society is indebted to Mrs. Dave McAdam for the idea of the "Travelling Night Shirt," as the method of collecting funds was termed. The chairman in his closing remarks thanked all who worked in any way to make the evening the success it proved to be.

FINE RECORDS MADE BY BORLAND'S COWS

Two of Henry Borland, Three of W. E. Pakenham Complete Records.

In the official reports of cows that have completed records under the Record of Performance rules for August there are several Peterborough county names.

In the Holstein Friesian list two cows belonging to Henry S. Borland of Indian River, have made very fine records. One 7 year old cow gave during the past year over 17,000 lbs. of milk, and 658 lbs. of butter fat.

And one 4 year old cow gave 18,000 lbs. of milk and 568 lbs. of butter fat.

In the Jersey list three cows belonging to W. E. Pakenham of Norwood, have made some splendid records:

One mature cow gave almost 10,000 lbs. of milk and 464 lbs. of butter fat.

4 year old cow gave 7,700 lbs. of milk and 389 lbs. of butter fat.

2 year old cow in 10 months gave over 5,000 lbs. of milk and 265 lbs. of butter fat.

New Record Is Set For Lakefield Tree

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 30 (Examiner Correspondence). — Lakefield has a new record and one of which the whole village may be proud: A peach tree which this year bore six large baskets of peaches of large size and good flavor. The tree which is in the garden of Miss Hetherington's home on William street, is ten of age and frew from a peach stone planted by Miss Hetherington. The tree grew year by year, and last year had a few blossoms but no fruit, but this year it was covered with beautiful pink bloom which later became a good crop of peaches. This, in a district not considered a good fruit country, is remarkable and worthy of special notice. Probably there will be many peach stone planted this autumn in the hope of future harvests.

ENNISMORE.

Mr. and Mrs. M. McAuliffe, of Peterborough, visited friends here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rice, of Detroit, were guests of friends here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Perdue, of Downeyville, called on friends here on Tuesday evening.

Scouts In Marmora Have New Quarters

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 20. — New headquarters have been taken over by the 1st Marmora Troop of Boy Scouts. They woll now occupy the room over Mrs. Alex. Anderson's garage, and will carry on their meetings on Wednesday evenings as heretofore under Scoutmaster P. Gray and Assistant Scout Master W. Kerr. The boys are keen on equipping the room, and will be adding gymnasium equipment from time to time. The present strength of the Troop is about 30 and as it is only a year old, may be said to be thriving.

The Cubs, under Cubmaster Lorne Forestell, are about 25 strong, and they will meet on Tuesday evenings.

Festival Services In Warkworth Church

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, September 30. — St. John's Anglican church, was beautifully decorated on Sunday evening for the annual harvest home service. The church never looked so beautiful with flowers and foliage of many colors, also products of the fields, garden and orchard tastefully arranged on windows and banked in the front of the church. These served as a token of God's wonderful goodness and abundant harvest.

Rev. E. A. Slemin of Brighton, was the special preacher and the Campbellford organist and choir furnished special music. Suitable Thanksgiving hymns were sung and the anthem, "He watereth the Hills," was beautifully rendered.

A large congregation enjoyed a most helpful service.

The minister chose as his text Genesis 8th chapter, and 22nd vs.: "While the earth remaineth seed time and harvest and cold and heat and summer and winter and day and night, shall not cease."

A big help to General Housework

Yes, Bon Ami has a whole regiment of uses! Keeps the entire bathroom spick and span—tub and tile sparkling—nickel agleam—mirrors glistening! And in the kitchen it cleans and polishes pots and pans, sinks, enameled stoves, smooth painted woodwork and walls, windows, linoleum, etc. Best of all, it won't redden or roughen your hands.

Rely on Bon Ami—Powder or Cake. There's not a scratch in the life history of either.

KITCHEN SHOWER FOR HELEN LEAN

By Women's Association and Choir of Apsley Church.

APSLEY, Sept. 30.—On Tuesday evening, September 27, the Women's Association and choir of the United Church, Apsley, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Lean, where they held a kitchen shower for Miss Helen Lean, whose marriage to Mr. Gordon Hazelwood will take place Monday, October 3.

As part of the entertainment a mock wedding was performed, those taking part being: The bride, Mr. W. F. Riding; the groom, Miss B. Scott; the bridesmaid, Mr. Roland Tucker; the best man, Miss Eva Tucker; minister, Mrs. T. E. Lean.

After the wedding ceremony the following address was read by Mrs. Roy Brown and two large baskets of gifts were presented to Miss Lean:

"Dear Helen:

"We rejoice with you in the happiness which is to be yours, but it is with regret that we must lose you from our midst. At all times we have found you always so ready to help and of such splendid assistance in our choir and in the Women's Association that we shall indeed miss you.

"In your new home to which you are going we hope that you may have every happiness and joy abundant. We ask only that sometimes you may think of us as we shall always keep the memory of you in our hearts.

"That the memory of the folks here may be ever before you, we offer these little tokens of our friendship as a small expression of our appreciation for your help with us in the past and for your greater happiness in the future.

"Signed on behalf of the Women's Association and choir—Mrs. Jack Tucker, Bertha Earnshaw."

Miss Lean replied to the presentation with a few words, thanking the guests for the pleasant surprise. After the gifts were opened and the verses which accompanied them read, there was a singing led by Rev. W. F. Riding, with Mrs. J. Bull playing the accompaniment on the organ. A floral contest, which was won by Mrs. M. L. Nichols, caused much merriment.

There were over sixty persons present despite the heavy rain. After lunch the evening was happily ended with the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Scheduled air transport services operating in the United States flew 2,201,395 miles during the first six months of 1932.

Millbrook Society Holds Social Evening

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, September 30. — The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's church, held its opening meeting, following reorganization, in the form of an "At Home," in the Sunday school auditorium, on Monday evening, the literary and social vice-president, occupying the chair.

Features of the program, following the devotional period, were selections by the Continuation School Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. H. W. Jordan; two brief plays, "Big Business," with B. B. Dawson as William Ufford, a young attorney, Miss Marjorie Sayles, as Miss Osborne, his secretary, and Gordon Jones, Henry Parker, an employee of the Bell Telephone Company, taking part; the second comery being, "While you Wait," those participating being Jack Stinson, who as Mr. Richmond, has invited his lady friend, Mary Burnham (Margaret), to a restaurant, for lunch; Bryar Edmunds, was the waitress, and the lengthy wait while the order was being filled, justified the playlet in its title.

A literary number of instructive interest was the sketch of Sir Walter Scott, by Miss Jean Burnham, the centenary of the death of this popular writer taking place this month. Games of various kinds filled in the time happily at the conclusion of the program, the service of refreshments and the Mizpah benediction bringing the enjoyable gathering to a close.

Three department stores in Canton, China, have opened roof gardens, where for the equivalent of about five cents one may see motion pictures, vaudeville and Chinese dramatic performances.

London's largest clock, recently installed in a new commercial building, has a face two and a half feet larger than Big Ben, but its hands are shorter than those of the older timepiece.

BUT they hadn't tried the New Oxydol that makes 50% more suds

Richer, longer lasting suds—that's why the New Oxydol can safely float dirt out of clothes and hold it out so no rubbing is needed. Oxydol suds don't collapse and let the dirt fall back on the clothes. Rinses clean, softens water. Fine for dishes, too. Procter & Gamble, Toronto, Ont.

OTTAWA TRIP IS HIGHLY ENJOYED BY LOCAL PARTY

Found to be a Calm and Aristocratic City by Jeanette.

PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS

(By Jeanette)

Ottawa is a calm and artistocratic place. To the casual visitor it conveys an impression of aloof and detached leisure. The pall of black from reeking smoke stacks that rises from the factories in Hull does not cross the river, and the air in Ottawa seems to take on a clarity that makes a short stay there very pleasant.

The train goes through the mean streets of Hull. Wood is piled high in the yards of dirty houses. Smudge covers everything, even the pale black suit of men's underwear that flapped drearily from a line strung across the balcony in front of a branch of the Banque Provinciale du Canada. The signs are in French and English. "Bois et chabon" appears above the Anglicized "Wood and Coal" sign And "Caramel popcorn" is "Ble d'Inde corn smax."

In contrast to the prevailing smudge is the pure white building of the Eddy Match Company, with tons and tons of wood piled at its rear.

Even the river seems lazy. Trails of white spume float on its surface and logs from a late boom bump against each other in a tiny landlocked bay. Across the way against the horizon is the low blue ridge of the Laurentian hills, and the tall spires of the Parliament Buildings look down on the city, perched high above like that "castled crag of Drachenfels" that looked down on "the broad and misty Rhine."

Near the entrance to the Legislative halls, which, by the way, are divided into three separate buildings, the Main, the East and the West,—their green lawns studded with formal circular beds filled with tall red bouga invillea and foliages and red and pink geraniums, while bronze statues of dead notables stand forever amidst the placid surroundings,—we paused to glance back across the centuries at the section of a British Columbia fir tree which was 1,500 years old when Columbus sailed across the ocean to the new India.

Suave Manners

Those placid and polite guards that haunt the corridors of the Parliament Buildings showed us around in dignified fashion. They all looked as if they were quietly enjoying some excellent little joke, but they explained matters in lofty and entertaining style.

"Why has Senator Cairine Wilson a much better seat here than Miss McPhail has in the House of Commons?" enquired a lady visitor.

"Because this is a permanent job, madame," explained the polite conductor. "This means four thousand a year for life."

At the top of the Tower, 225 feet in the air after we had squeezed ourselves, with six others, into one of those tiny little elevators they use in the Parliament Buildings, we had a bagpipe solo. "The Flowers o' the Forest" from a member of the group of the 21st Battalion members who were meeting in Ottawa for their fourteenth annual reunion, over the week-end. The piper was a gorgeously-clad man, complete with sporran and kilts and dirk stuck in his garter. His dagger scabbard glittered with cairngorms. "We are here on a party," explained the leader of the group. "I'll say it's a party," said one of the ladies who stepped out behind him.

Through the elevator lattice we caught glimpses at each floor, as we descended, of the bells that rose in tiers, weighing from ten pounds to ten tons apiece, in graduating sizes, from which the carillon rises during the hours of the day and on Sunday night. The tiny place where the player sits, resembling an organ console, was also visible.

The guide pointed out the strange devices which appear in the limestone corridor walls, the little defects in the substance which resemble human heads and fish and birds.

The entrance is impressive. Gothic springing arches rise up in grey limestone with black marble pillars. Down the two and one-half miles of corridor one goes, to look out at intervals through glass panes at enclosed courtyards, stone-paved, that have a curiously prison-like appearance. These corridors are lined with paintings, large in size, old-time in their fashion of very flat application of the paint, of dead and gone notables who have helped to steer the ship of state for the Dominion, in days gone by.

The Red Chamber

Agnes McPhail, on a visit here, spoke about the manner in which, if one survives the temptations of the Green Chamber in the House of Parliament, one is rewarded by admission to the lifelong security of the Red Chamber, which is the Senate.

Green is the prevailing color, at least as far as the floor covering is concerned, of the House of Commons, where the lion and the unicorn fight for the crown over the Speaker's Chair, which is of English wood, five hundred years old. The ceiling is covered with hand-painted Irish linen.

The Senate is luxurious in atmosphere. It is rich red in its coverings and draperies. The walls are of hand-carved brown wood and the lighting comes from bronze chandeliers weighing two and one-half tons apiece. Covering the upper portion of the walls are beautiful paintings from original photographs of war scenes; the ruined Cathedral at Rheims; that famous painting which depicts the arrival of the "Ladies from Hell," the kilties, at St. Nazaire, France, and Ypres after the shelling.

The Houses of Parliament are of grey stone, with a glint of sea green in their tiled and pointed roofs, and white awnings hanging over their lower windows.

The Chateau Laurier is a gorgeous place and of a very impressive type of architecture. In its long lounges are fresh flowers and Oriental rugs of quietly glowing colors. The grand ballroom is walled in blue and gold. At its entrance is a superb room where large circular flower beds are filled with fresh green ferns and bronzes are on low tables. Bianca Capela, whoever she may be, is at the doorway, an early Roman matron, if one may judge by her looks, with a strong and forbidding countenance.

In the reception room off the ballroom there are painted screens and painted cabinets, with bronze wall flambeaux, pale green walls and green velours curtains. In the main entrance hall, the mezzanine floor is panelled with paintings that depict early scenes, like the Spirit of the Chaudiere and the Building of the Rideau Canal.

Allegorical Mode

We saw the main building in Canada of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. There was a very polite attendant who regretted that we could not see everything about it, on Saturday afternoon. It has a wonderful rose pink rug in the main hall and its entrance vestibule is quite extraordinary with mural decorations carried out in inlaid mosaic in colors. This is allegorical in type and depicts the company as the Great Mother of the policy-holders and employees, the different lunettes in the design showing how she guards against all manner of calamities.

The churches are very interesting and varied in type. The Basilica has a sanctuary whose walls are covered with statues of characters from the Old Testament: Abraham, Isaac, Noe, Moses, all with tiny overhead canopies. The windows, like so many of the church windows in Ottawa, are of plain glass. The altar is wreathed with golden grapes and there is a little golden statue of Our Lady. The side pillars are of green marble in divided sections, and the pillars at the rear of the nave are spiralled in red, white and blue. The gilt ornaments of the altar contrast with the simplicity of the main body of the church and the high ceiling of the nave contrasts with the low ceilings of the side aisles.

There are many houses of stucco and square cut limestone. One pretty place was based with grey field stone, its upper portion of grey stucco, banded with green wood.

The door-yards are very badly kept, in most instances. One sees why Peterborough, with its trim gardens, is considered so pretty by visitors. Grass grows tall in many front yards of imposing houses and there are many bare patches of grass, even in the public parks and gardens. Echo Drive, with its long expanse around the canal, is interesting.

The streets are badly paved also, and the uneven bricking of many sections causes the street cars to jolt surprisingly.

Quiet and Calm.

Contrary to the custom in Montreal, where the conductors are surprisingly rude, the Ottawa street car men are most courteous and painstaking. In fact, politeness is the rule. The ushers in the theatres are also extremely attentive, as are the clerks in the stores. The young lady who took our order for honey toast in one of the downtown eating places said she had never before been asked for that pleasing food, but she obligingly brought a large quantity of toast and a large pot of honey for each of us, and only charged us fifteen cents apiece.

They have quiet theatres in Ottawa, they have quiet congregations in the churches, and even the collection seems to fall noiselessly into velvet-lined plates.

We saw the large red brick and green and white awninged ugly house of J. R. Booth and the dignified old grey stone house where Mackenzie King lives. And we caught a passing glimpse of the gorgeous bright rose-pink automobile used by Proulx, Fleuriste.

The crowd at the station did not hurry and seethe and fume as in other places. It is a large and dignified station with courteous attendants.

On the train coming back was a young woman of twenty-two years of age, with two small children, one about two years of age, the other a few months. She had gone to live in Windsor four years ago and hadn't been able to see her family in Ottawa until the prospect of a cheap trip tempted her. Her husband, although possessed of little employment, promised her the trip, and she was in the height of glowing happiness over the fun she had with her family. She had been so excited and so busy visiting relatives that she never once had taken her shoes off, lying down on a couch to rise at the infant's need. She boarded the train at Ottawa at close to midnight on Sunday and wouldn't arrive in Windsor until about six o'clock, the following evening, a journey of eighteen hours. The baby slept placidly all night, its little arms stretched out wide, and the other youngster had a 'comfort' to keep it from too much irritation. The young mother dozed fitfully. She was more occupied with the remembrance of the "heavenly time" she had had with her family, after a four years' absence, to think of the long train journey still ahead and the fact that her feet were hurting her dreadfully and she was afraid to remove her shoes for fear she couldn't get them on again!

That Body of Yours

THE FLYING START IN DIGESTION

When we were youngsters and one boy could run faster than another, it was customary in order to make a race more even to give the slower boy what was called "a flying start." This meant that the slower boy went back about twenty yards and thus was at full speed when he reached the starting point, when the faster runner made his start. This meant that the slower runner got a considerable lead over the faster runner before the latter got into his stride.

I often think that if we all would try to get a flying start on digestion it would do away with a lot of distress, pain, lack of appetite, and constipation.

A flying start on digestion means being "hungry for your food." Being hungry for your food means that digestice juice in the stomach, and the digastive juice in the pancreatic gland, have all started to flow before you even start to eat your meal.

What can give you this flying start in digestion? What can make you real hungry?

Any outdoor work or play that brings your muscles into use and yet does not tire you too much will give you an appetite for food; will give this flying start in digestion. Even the outdoors itself by burning up the wastes by means of the oxygen in the air makes you ready for your food.

What can prevent the flying start in digestion? What prevents healthy appetite?

Having your meals too close together and being overtired when you eat are the two most important factors in preventing you from getting this flying start in digestion.

When the meals are too close together, some of the food from the previous meal may be still lying in the stomach and the stomach naturally doesn't want any more until this food has passed from the stomach into the small intestine.

When you are overtired, none of the digestive juices flow out before you eat because the sight and smell of food do not interest you.

The first thought then in securing a flying start for digestion which will mean freedom from indigestion and constipation is to spread your meals well apart, and to lie down on your right side for fifteen minutes before each meal.

KINDNESS OF HEART shows itself in the little courtesies of life no less than in larger matters of importance.

• • • • • • •

A person can be highly educated and lack a gracious manner and a pleasant attitude toward others. The opposite is also true. A person with no education can have such a charm of manner springing from a kind heart that he or she would not do an ungracious or discourteous thing, even though placed in an awkward position.

• • • • • • •

The two things, education and inate courtesy, are quite separate and apart. It is true that the educated courteous person has a double advantage. Such a one shines in a home or in society.

• • • • • • •

Kindness and courtesy are elements of greatness.

• • • • • • •

One of the little things which a kindly soul shuns is to criticize when a favor is done her. For example, one person invites another to go to a theatre or some entertainment. Let us suppose it is not as good as was expected.

• • • • • • •

The one accepting the invitation and who has a gracious manner, will be very careful not to stress the poor qualities of the performance, but to select such good points as are present, and discuss them, merely referring to the other portions in a light way.

• • • • • • •

Of course, to criticize would be easier, but it would make the other feel rather embarrassed, as it was her intention to afford her guest pleasure.

• • • • • • •

It sometimes happens that one person goes to a good deal of trouble to get something which she believes another would particularly like. Suppose it does not appeal to the one for whom it was secured, it certainly would be ungracious to say so or to say anything which could be construed as reflecting in any way on the excellence of the article.

• • • • • • •

It requires tact to say the right thing, to find the good and accent that, but a kind heart would see beyond the gift to the given, and love her for her attempt to gratify.

• • • • • • •

She would see some good, something nice to mention as to her liking, and this without expressing an untruth.

• • • • • • •

It is well to become accustomed to mentioning the pleasant things in home life. It helps one to be on the lookout for good. Then when outside the home, this habit stands one in good stead.

• • • • • • •

It is never a fault to call attention to pleasant things, to the things one likes. There must be the ring of sincerity about the words, however, to make them convincing.

• • • • • • •

The kind heart knows the secret.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

INADEQUATE DEFENSE

Occasionally, a hand is played at the Contract table, the results of which are so amazing that, in analyzing them, it is almost impossible to determine how they were reached. Either the Declarer fails to realize the trick-taking possibilities of his hand, or defending players fail to utilize the defensive power of theirs, so that cards, otherwise almost worthless, assume, for the moment, the guise of Aces and Kings and take tricks with triumphant abandon.

Such a hand is one, played recently in a team-of-four match at the Deschapelles Club, New York.

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ A J 7 2 ♡ 7 ◇ A 7 ♣ A 10 8 6 5 2
♠ 8 3 ♡ J 6 5 ◇ Q 8 5 4 ♣ K Q J 3	W E N S	♠ K 10 9 6 ♡ Q 9 8 4 ◇ 10 9 3 ♣ 9 7
	♠ Q 5 4 ♡ A K 10 3 2 ◇ K J 8 2 ♣ 4

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	2♣	Pass
2NT	Pass	3♠(1)	Pass
4♠(2)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—North's three spade bid is perhaps questionable, but the unbalance of his hand suggests trying out all the suit roads to game before selecting the shortest, but perilous notrump route.

2—South has adequate support for the spade suit, although realizing that North does not hold more than four spades. The failure to support hearts, and South's singleton club, suggest the danger of play at notrump.

Against the contract of four spades, East opened the Ten of diamonds. The Knave was played from Dummy, West played the Queen and North won with the Ace. North now led the singleton heart and followed with the King from Dummy, discarding a club. A small heart was then led and trumped in the closed hand. North now led the Ace of clubs and the deuce of clubs was trumped with a low spade in Dummy. The King of diamonds was then led, followed by a small diamond, which Declarer trumped. The next lead from the North hand was a club, upon which East elected to discard the heart Queen. This was a bad play and gave the Declarer an extra trick. The trick was trumped with the spade five in Dummy, and the last diamond led and trumped with the spade Ace. East, of course, was forced to undertrump. North now led another round of clubs, and nothing East could do could prevent the Declarer from making another trick.

The Declarer thus had the satisfaction of scoring all the tricks but the two final ones on a hand upon which game appeared doubtful, if there was an unfavorable break in trumps.

The plan of play adopted here was the only one through which game could have been made. To have played the hand other than as a cross-ruff would have resulted in losing control of the trump situation entirely.

At other tables, this hand was played at notrump by South, but the unfavorable distribution of all the suits caused the defeat of a game contract wherever it was undertaken.

TODAY'S POINTER

The play of a hand at Contract Bridge not only involves a good plan, but the immediate capitalization of defensive errors by the opposing players. Inadequate defense permits the making of many a lost contract.

ORILLIA, Ont., Sept. 30. (CP) — Martin Insull, partner in the defunct Insull Utilities of Chicago, today refused to comment on reports subpoenas would be sought requiring his brother Samuel, his nephew Samuel, Jr., and himself to appear before a Chicago Board of inquiry.

Mr. Insull, who is living with his wife in a $30-a-week boarding house, said he did not wish to discuss the situation with anyone.

How to Get Relief From Catarrh

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, you should know this simple home treatment which frequently overcomes these distressing conditions. Secure from your druggist one ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint hot water and a little sugar.

Take one tablespoonful four times a day, breathing should become easier, while the distressing catarrhal head noises, dropping mucous and defective hearing should gradually disappear under Parmint's tonic action. Catarrh sufferers find Parmint just what they need.

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORE HOLDS FALL FASHION SHOW

Madam Hale Miller Outlines Latest in Styles at Capitol.

BLACK LEADING COLOR.

(By Jeanette)

"A woman will often buy an evening gown, even though she can't dance; she will buy a riding habit even though she can't sit on a horse, and she will buy a bathing suit when the sight of the water turns her sick. But when she buys a wedding gown, she means business.

"Take care of yourselves, girls. A man has his face massaged regularly. A tired face to-day may be an old face to-morrow. Those expression lines around the mouth may go too deep. To get rid of them, say 'oh' loudly and clearly and rub in a good skin food. And to get rid of a double chin, say 'ah.' To keep your hands nice, close them tightly, then open them suddenly, a dozen times a day.

"And, if you want an excellent hip exercise, throw a pack of cards on the floor, and bend fifty-two times to pick up one at a time."

Madam Hale Miller, popular stylist for the T. Eaton Company, Limited, gave a Fall Fashion talk, illustrated by mannequins, at the Capitol Theatre last night. Introduced by J. C. Hall, manager of the local Canadian Department Store, she was as bright and sparkling as usual, and her style talk was interspersed by little bits of wisdom of which the above are just a sample.

She appeared first in a trim gown of black velvet that had bell-shaped "bracelet" sleeves, of white, with scarf of brown kolinsy fur and a tiny "Mickey Mouse" hat perched alluringly over her right eyebrow.

Just to illustrate the mode in evening wear, she came out later in a peach-toned satin evening frock, form-fitting, with a high front neckline and a V-shaped decolletage at the back, descending to the waist and outlined by orange velvet that fell in a pointed sash to the hem of the gown.

A la Mode

"Clothes got together and had a heart-to-heart talk this Fall. And this is what they decided. The sleeves said, 'Let's get full'; the collar said, 'Let's get trim'; the ribs said, 'Let's get tight'; the shoulders said, 'Let's get broad,' and the skirt said, 'Let's get slender.'

"We are wearing sixty-five per cent black this Fall, with wine and green close rivals for second place, then grey, sometimes combined with brown and red. There is a broad shoulder, a high waistline and a full sleeve."

The talk was illustrated by a bevy of living models, who showed in turn what is being worn by the young miss, the stylish stout and the lady with a size 42 bust.

"And, if you are size 42, stick to black. It's your best friend," advised Madam Miller. "If you have only one coat at any time or in any size, also choose a black one. You can wear so many other colors with black."

An idea of many types of clothing was given in the showing which was punctuated by the stylist's zippy comments.

A "four-leaf clover" suit, "because it is a lucky suit to possess," was shown, in dark brown, with the straight skirt of the mode, in knitted material, a tiny bert to match and a scarf of brown and orange sections. For another suit, worn with a hand-knitted sweater, a very wide scarf, worn in Ascot tie fashion, was of dark blue, with orange and yellow striping.

"Remember your traffic regulations this year and keep your hat to the right.

"We go to the nursery for some of our ideas. Here is the jumper dress, so convenient for general use, and so trim with the cowl neckline."

Blouses were shown, one in satin, with the high necklines of the year, and the short sleeves. Spice hose were favorites and hair, under the tiny hat, was sleek and trim and close to the head.

For the Collegian

A good-looking outfit for the college freshie was in tweed, made with the long swagger coat a jersey, a tiny hat and long scarf, all in harmonizing tones.

Buttons were prominent on skirts and blouses, one model in leaf green being trimmed with extremely large white buttons, down the right front. It was made in "wrap around" style.

Peter Pan and nun collars, "that give that wide-eyed look so valuable to the sophisticated" were shown.

Rough silks and velvets "(they are using velvets for dresses and trimmings and hats and scarfs and even gloves this year") and wool lace, are prominent style notes in materials.

One afternoon frock in black velvet had a stunning note in the puff sleeves to the elbow, of American Beauty red, while another Princess line gown had diagonal treatment of red in the sleeves.

"Freshen up your old black lace gown with bands of fur, or get little velvet roses and sew them on, for trimming," directed Madam Miller.

The coats were very interesting. There were several models in wine shades, form-fitting and uniquely old-fashioned in their modern outlines. One had a detachable shoulder cape of black fur and a tiny melon-shaped fur muff to match. Another wine-colored model TWO—Send back for head ... ... had black fur in flat bands above the elbow and a high collar of the same, while a green model was trimmed with light-colored fitch. A brown coat had a great deal of fur in the swathing collar that encircled the face and head.

Evening Gowns

The evening frocks were very striking. "Simplicity and practicality" were enunciated as the style notes of the clothes of this season, and simplicity, combined with outstanding treatment of material and graceful lines, seems to be the emphatic note for evening wear.

Cut and transparent velvet was used in the afternoon and evening frocks shown. One of the former, with a high cowl neckline, was worn with a scarf of white fox fur. A dress for a size 42 form was of black transparent velvet with a top of black lace and long elbow cuffs of the velvet.

A white evening gown owed its originality to the narrow bands of brown fur which trimmed the low decolletage at the back, and the matching long brown gloves.

Wine red with tiny puffed sleeves made another enticing dress, and there was a beautiful soft pink satin that had a detachable shoulder cape trimmed with a wide band of white fur.

A stunning model was in white, worn with a black cape, almost to the waist in length and finished with a deep fringe. A fat white flower was worn in the coiffure of this mannequin.

A dazzling garment was of black with shoulders and short sleeves developed in sequins, worn with a short jacket of the same glittering material.

During an intermission in the Style Show, which was staged against the silver curtains at the rear, with a single little vanity table and a tall modernistic garnet screen as highlights, Miss Rosalie Clancy stepped to gay music, in a clever tap dance that brought much applause. She wore a trig bellboy's outfit in Deauville blue, with adornment of silver braid and silver buttons, and a tiny blue and silver "muffin" cap.

Four Men Arrested For Cuban Murder

HAVANA, Sept. 30 (A.P.)—Four unnamed men were held by police here to-day in connection with the slaying of Dr. Clemente Vasquez Bello, President of the Cuban Senate, early this week.

Dr. Octavio Zubizarreta, Secretary of the Interior, who announced last night the arrests had been made, said the men would be accused of having assassinated the prominent Liberal leader, who was shot down by a spray of bullets from an automobile which roared past his car last Tuesday.

Information that led to the arrest of the four was understood to have been given police by Louis Arture Belt, son of Jorge Belt, Havana Registrar of Deeds.

JUVENILE GAME STARTS AT 2.30

Local Leafs Confident They Can Defeat Niagara Falls in Second Game.

CALLADINE ON MOUND.

The second game of the O.B.A.A. juvenile finals starts at 2.30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Stevenson Park, Maple Leafs meeting Niagara Falls. The latter team won the first game, 8-2, and hope to win the title in two straight. They have their full team on hand, staying overnight for this game after journeying up this afternoon.

Pat Calladine's boys are ready for this crucial tussle, and confidently look for a Peterborough win. Bill Calladine, star right-hander who, practically alone, defeated Toronto St. Andrew's in the semi-finals, will pitch with Doug Mowry catching. The infield will likely be made up of Gardner at first, Begley at second, Murdock on short and McKinley at third. Burton, Williamson and Dixon are slated to play the outfield.

The Leafs have been working out all week, and should put up a fine game. Both these juvenile finalists are composed of star players for their ages. The boys hit and field well, receive good hurling, and play smart inside baseball. They are very well matched, and tomorrow's game should be worthy the name "Ontario finals."

Wrestling Last Night.

WASHINGTON—Jim Londos, 202, threw Jim McMillen, 218, Chicago, 58 minutes.

TORONTO—Bibber McCoy, Boston, defeated Charlie Strack, Omaha, two out of three falls.

GOMEZ HURLS EFFECTIVE BALL AS McCARTHY'S YANKEES WIN SECOND GAME OF SERIES 5-2

Cubs Face Almost Impossible Task to Win Major Baseball Pennant.

PITCHERS' WILDNESS.

Collective Hits Play Big Part in Yanks' Victory—Root and Pipgrass Saturday.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Enroute to Chicago with Cubs' Special, Sept. 30.—The World Series of 1932 rolled westward to-day, bound for Chicago and the third game between the Yankees and the Cubs there Saturday, and the sudden end of baseball's classic engagement as well, unless the Bruins do something drastic immediately about a very serious situation indeed.

As the battle scene shifted from the Yankee Stadium to Wrigley Field, from the American League hunting ground to the stronghold of the National League, the Yankees had stowed away their 10th straight World Series victory, a record no other club in the history of baseball can challenge.

To-day, as the two teams steamed westward on separate trains, the Yankees had added the first two games of the current warfare to the eight straight victories battered out over the Pirates of 1927 and the Cardinals of 1928.

They belted Guy Bush, Burleigh Grimes and Bob Smith when hits meant runs to win a dreary opener, 12 to 6, and yesterday, still making a minimum of effort do a maximum of work, they clubbed away at young Lon Warneke, the tall, spare Arkansas farmer boy, and took a brilliant, exciting duel, 5 to 2.

Desperate for a victory that could have evened the game count before the struggle moved on to the home grounds, where an exhilarated fandom and the natural inspiration of familiar surroundings might turn the tide, Charley Grimm and his warriors threw every resource back of the lanky youngster who was ranked the best pitcher in the National League this season.

The Bruin manager lifted Mark Koenig, veteran of past world series triumphs with the Yankees, from his newly-won post at shorttop because the former infield mate of Tony Lazzeri had damaged his left wrist. He dropped Bill Jurges into Koenig's place and supplanted Johnny Moore in centre field with Frank Demaree, a right-handed hitter who the laws of baseball say should have better luck than a south-paw swinger against left-handed pitching.

Figured in Plays

He did all these things. He started the best pitcher he has, as far as records go; and his strategy worked. Young Demaree knocked in one of the two Bruin runs. Jurges, brilliant afield though he failed to hit, safely, figured in three double plays. Warneke pitched a courageous, studious, sometimes sparkling ball game.

And still manager Grimm and his Cubs rolled through the outlands to-day, two games down in the battle for the world championship, facing the task of winning four of the next five games considered one of baseball's absolute impossibilities. Never in the history of seven game series has a team come back to win the title after losing the first two engagements.

Only once, in fact back in the days of nine-game series, did a team turn that trick. The Giants of 1921 walloped the Yanks in eight games after suffering defeats in the first two.

Always hanging over the Cubs, laying in wait for every fleeting weakness of Warneke, was that figure of the all-powerful Yankee goblin, the greatest hitting club in baseball, the menace of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Earle Combs, and the rest.

"Bases on balls" said Grimm to-day, as he summed up the situation, "that's the thing that has licked us so far, we're trying too hard. We're too tense in the pinches."

Against the Cub back ground of regret there showed to-day even more brilliant by comparison the masterly pitching of another youngster, 21 year old Vernon Gomez, the left handed Spaniard from California.

He was as loose in yesterday's pinches, as pliable and cutting as a black snake whip.

Carrying on the effectiveness of Charley Ruffing, who fanned ten with his fireball in the murk of the dull first game, the slender Castilian who chews on $1,200 worth of bridge work bought by the Yankee business office, set eight of the Bruins down on strikes. He allowed but eight hits, two of them doubles by Bill Herman and Riggs Stephenson, and one a triple by Kiki Cuyler that amounted to nothing with two out in the fifth.

Two doubles led to the only Chicago run.

The battle resumes in Chicago Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Grimm to-day named Charley Root his starting pitcher Saturday. George Pipgras probably will work for the Yankees.

"Gossip and Such"

Just when Uncle Sam had come to the conclusion that what sport titles remained to be fought for in the U.S. were assuredly to remain his very own, with no chance of a Ross Somerville or Lauri Lehtinen muscling in, the women's national golf championship tournament breaks out.

• • •

It's a blow to the old gentleman with the striped suit and the goatee. The girls' golf classic really caught him unawares. So much has been written and printed and profusely illustrated, about the world series and the Schmeling-Walker fight that there was no room for pre-tourney notices about the ladies' own little niblick war.

• • •

But there it is. The girls are battling it out over the wind-swept fairways at Peabody, Mass. And there is considerable of foreign contingent at hand.

• • •

One of the invaders who threatens to emulate Sandy Somerville and carry off a treasured American golf cup is the brilliant Miss Ada Mackenzie who in the past has made several attempts to wrest the U.S. title, now held by Miss Helen Hicks of L.I. who astonished the gallery by failing to qualify.

• • •

Yesterday this Toronto golfer provides the first big upset of the match play by defeating Miss Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N.J., and to enter the semi-finals. The latter had been established as an outstanding favorite to reach the finals after sharing medalist honors with a par 77, but not once during their play yesterday did Maureen hold a lead.

• • •

Miss Mackenzie is the ace of Canadian entries. A splendid driver and an excellent iron player, she possesses the qualities that carried Somerville to supremacy in the recent national amateur. She is a seasoned tournament player and when on her game a match for the best of Uncle Sam's nieces.

LEITHAM'S FIGHT SAVES THE SHOW

Boxers Give Uninteresting Display in Montreal Charity Club Fight.

MONTREAL, Sept. 30.—(CP) —A sparkling display by Bobby Leitham, Canadian bantamweight champion, saved from a mediocrity the direct aid boxing fund's bouts at the ball park here last night.

Leitham fought Antole Kocsis of Hungary, winning the decision after having badly bruised his right thumb in the early stages of the sixth round. The fight went over the 10-round stretch with Kocsis opening a cut over Leitham's left eye in the seventh.

The match billed as the main bout showed Maxie Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight title claimant, in anything but a championship role. He and Lou Scozza from Buffalo cuffed each other about for 10 rounds in a dull uninteresting affair which was enlivened a bit by the appearance of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight world champion, as the third man in the ring. Rosenbloom was awarded the decision, earning it chiefly through keeping his opponent away after Scozza had landed a straight right cross to the jaw in the first round.

Eddie Ran scored an easy victory over Eddie Beaurivage of Montreal, the European boxer landing punches with plenty of sting in them. Beaurivage surprised his supporters by going the full route.

Bobby Leitham showed to his best advantage in winning from the up and coming Kocsis. They battled toe to toe until the sixth round, the Canadian doing most of the leading, when Leitham hurt his thumb and was forced to rely on left jabs to carry him through to victory by a narrow margin.

"DUTCH" HENRY BUSH'S CHOICE FOR THIRD GAME

Winner of To-day's Newark-Minneapolis Game Will Be Favored to Win Title.

GO WEST SATURDAY.

By B. GREGORY HEWLETT
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Newark, N.J., Sept. 30.—Whether or not the Newark Bears can solve the curves of a left handed hurler may be the deciding point in the little world series which resumes to-day at Ruppert Stadium with neither the International League chafpions nor the Minneapolis Millers a git further ahead than when they started.

Apparently arriving at the conclusion southpaws are his strong forte as the result of Jess Petty's brilliant work Wednesday night, Daniel Bush, manager of the American Association titleholders, decided definitely during yesterday's vacation to shoot another lefty into the mound breach to-day.

Frank "Dutch" Henry will be Bush's choice for the starting post in the third game and what he does may well mean success or failure in the series which moves to Minneapolis after to-day's conflict. It certainly will be an important factor, as the winner will be highly favored to capture the minor league classic.

Manager Al Mamaux of the Bears will again depend upon a fast-ball righthander, sticking to original plans to use Pete Jablonowski and saving Don Brennan, winner of the opener, for the first title in the mid-western city Sunday.

Without opposition from the world series of the major leagues to-day, with fair weather virtually assured for the first time and with the teams deadlocked, prospects for the best crowd of the week were good.

PRINCE OF WALES BEATS WESTENDERS

Four Goals to Nothing in Exhibition Game—Queen Alex. and Central in Exhibition.

Prince of Wales soccer eleven defeated the Queen Mary aggregation to the tune of four clear goals to nil, in the vrst schodule game, of the Public School championship, on King Edward Park, last night. Millard, Queen Mary custodian, making spectacular saves, while McIlmoyle was the successful marksman of the winners.

First Half

Queen Mary won the toss and elected to kick with the sun at their backs. In the early stages the players were more accurate in their combination but fell away considerably when shooting opportunities were presented. Both front ranks would break through the full backs to miss the uprights at close range. Repeatedly the Prince of Wales centre forward forced his way through but his timely passes went abegging as he shot the ball right across the goal. Just before the interval, Millard, Queen Mary goalie, saved a rocket drive from the foot of McIlmoyle but the referee adjudged the ball on the goal line, instead of being through. Half time—No scoringn.

Second Half

On resuming, the Prince of Wales boys laid down a barrage of shots upon the Queen Mary citadel to rattle in two goals in succession, first through the aid of an opponent being hit with the ball to be deflected into the net. A little later a smart combination play added to the second counter. Queen Mary team were small in physical appearance in comparison with their opponents who made use of their weight. They added two more to their total before the finish. Prince of Wales 4, Queen Mary 0.

On Wednesday evening, the Queen Alexandra and Central boys played an exhibition game, instead of the regular schedule, owing to the field not being marked out properly and the regulations goals not in position. Arrangements were completed whereby the goals will bep laced and the ground marked out properly, instead of the temporary goal posts as in previous years. This game will be played at a later date. The game ended in a two-all draw.

SET NEW WORLD MARK OF 12 STRAIGHT WINS IN 3 CHAMPIONSHIPS

"Marse Joe" McCarthy Lays Yankees' Success So Far To Effective Pitching Of Ruffing and Gomez, Together With Collective Hitting.

RUTH FULLY CONFIDENT HE CAN INCREASE HIS WORLD SERIES OUTPUT OF HOME RUNS.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

ENROUTE TO CHICAGO with Yankee Special, Sept. 30.—Rolling along the shores of Lake Erie today, manifesting no more concern than though it was an early season swing into the west, the Yankees spun a tune of confidence in their ability to make it four straight over the Cubs and a world record of 12 straight victories in three baseball championships.

"We're two up and two to go" remarked the eminent golfer, Babe Ruth, who figures he has shaken off most of the effects of his recent illness and is about due to increase his world series output of home runs.

"Unless the Cubs are tougher on their home grounds than they have been so far, we ought to clean up this series quick" added the Yankee slugger.

The big Yankee party, accompanied by baseball Commissioner Landis, numbered only one outstanding fellow who did seem so confident the American League champions would continue to have things their own way, through their own efforts or the generosity of the Cubs. He was "Marse Joe" McCarthy, the manager, who admits he takes his baseball seriously and likes it that way.

"This hasn't been so one-sided as a lot of you fellows think" demurred McCarthy. "One long hit for the Cubs in the early stages of a game might have changed the whole complexion of things. They are a good ball club.

A Tough Combination

"We've looked good because Ruffing and Gomez gave us the pitching and we hit in the pinches. That's a tough combination to beat.

"Just take Ben Chapman for an example for the way our team has been doing the right thing in the right spot. With the bases full in the first game, Chapman raced over to make a great running catch of Herman's drive that looked like a double. That's the best piece of defensive work so far in the series.

"At bat Chapman has had only on hit but he delivered it with the bases full and the score tied yesterday in the third inning."

As they played cards, sang and otherwise passed away the traveling time to-day the Yankees kidded each other about their new record of making 10 hits—all singles—off Warneke.

Lou Gehrig said he could not recall a game when anything as strange had happened in this slugging troupe's output of base hits.

(BY C. J. P.)

Niagara Falls and Maple Leafs meet at Stevenson Park at 2.30 tomorrow afternoon in the second game of their O.B.A.A. final series. Leafs dropped the first one in the Falls last week, 6 to 2, but if they win tomorrow, a third contest will be necessary to settle the title—it being played in Toronto next Wednesday.

* * * * * *

This is the last baseball game to be seen here before next spring, and it should be one of the best witnessed all year. Both teams are worthy Ontario finalists, playing all-around smart ball and receiving great hurling. Senese of the Cataracts and Bill Calladine of the locals will hook up in a pitchers' battle that will be watched with interest in all baseball centres of the province. A record crowd is expected to take in this playoff game.

* * * * * * *

Tonight at the Brock, an exhibition girls' softball game will be followed by a lacrosse league fixture. Port Hope gals and C.G.E. meet there at seven, with Orde's and C.G.E. playing their lacrosse game at 8.30. It was originally billed as between Brintons and Millbrook, but the latter team has been suspended from the league for failure to appear for their game with Orde's at the Brock Wednesday night.

* * * * * * *

The Millbrook moguls will have to do some tall explaining if they want to be re-instated. They've caused plenty of grief ever since taken into the City League, and now that they're thrown out, may not get back. Managers of the other teams are all plenty peeved at them, and we don't blame the managers a bit. Sports here are much bigger than the individual or any one team.

* * * * * * *

We were informed last night that there would be no rugby games here tomorrow, the two fixtures billed between local teams and Cobourg for Stevenson Park being changed around. Both P.C.I. Firsts, and the Intermediates will journey to Cobourg to open their season tomorrow, while P.C.I. second team will open in Lindsay. It's too bad, as a flock of football fans wanted to see the Collegians in action, and not have to wait a week or two first.

* * * * * * *

The reason for the changes is because of the O.B.A.A. game in Stevenson Park tomorrow. Nobody can be blamed for that, unless it is the O.B.A.A. for not letting Niagara Falls come here last Saturday for their ball game instead of sending the Leafs to the Falls. Just a tough break for P.C.I., that's all. And it's right now, at the first of the season, when the football squads find it tough meeting expenses.

* * * * * * *

A meeting of the senior ball club executive will be held at 7.30 this evening in the Chamber of Commerce, and every member should attend. Committee reports on the financial problem, plans for balancing the books, and other business will be taken up.

* * * * * * *

Jack Dane, local pro pug, did his stuff before a huge crowd in Albert Hall London, England, last week—many society people attending the bout. Larry Gains and some Italian heavy were the headliners, but put up a poor show, Gains getting the decision. Dane was on in the preliminary against Jeff Wilson, and the former won on points in six rounds. While Jack wasn't born here, he broke into the moneyed fight game in Peterborough, and did practically all his mitt-slinging right at the Brock until leaving for England on a tour.

* * * * * * *

Our own amateur leather-pushers are rounding into shape and working off the avoirdupois—or just plain fat, if you wish—at the local gyms, getting set for their ring campaigns again. The game here has always gone over pretty fair, and then those two heavyweight pro bouts recently in the States, between Walker and Schmeling, and Griffiths and Baer (which were real scraps) will do the sport a lot of good everywhere. The "manly art" has a good following here, and deservedly, as some fine amateur battles have been shown in the past.

* * * * * * *

We'd like to see district—or even Central Ontario—amateur belts put up for competition for the championships in each division, flyweight, bantam, featherweight, lightweight, welter, middle, lightheavy, and heavyweight—though the last two classes are pretty scarce around this part of the province. It would be necessary to get permission of the Amateur Boxing Union before these titular bouts which we'd like to see held here, would be recognized.

* * * * * * *

Local boxers should be able to cop two or three Central Ontario titles in the simon-pure ranks. We've got some good boxers in every class up to, and perhaps including, the middleweight. And then, think of the fine elimination and final bouts to be seen between the best fighters from here and places like Belleville, Oshawa, Lindsay, etc., coming on spring. It's an idea, anyway.

* * * * * * *

Carpet ball, that indoor form of winter bowling, starts off locally next Monday, games being played the first five days of the week. Results and schedules will be printed in The Examiner every Saturday, and the first schedule will be in to-morrow. The teams are all looking for a bigger season than ever.

* * * * * * *

Efforts will be made to have the complete stories of the Maple Leaf-Niagara Falls final juvenile game here, and the World Series game in Chicago, published in The Examiner to-morrow, though the paper may have to be held up a short while. So much interest is apparent in both games, that it is worth it.

RETURN SOUGHT OF TWO INSULLS

Chicago Attorney States if Subpoenaes Are Ignored Other Steps Will Be Taken.

ONE IN ORILLIA.

CHICAGO, Ill., September 30 (C.P.). — The return of Samuel Insull from Paris and his brother, Martin J. Insull, from Orillia, Ont., will be sought, it was announced by one of the attorneys for investors in the bankrupt Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

Attorney Lewis Jacobson, who made the announcement said that he and his associates would seek to have subpoenaes issued for the brothers, who left the country shortly after the collapse of the Insull Utility Empire.

Attorney's Hint.

Jacobson said, however, that the subpoenaes would not be enforceable outside of the jurisdiction of the Court in which they were issued, but added that if the brothers failed to reply to them, other steps might be taken. At the same time Jacobson said he would seek to stop the annual pension of $18,000 which Samuel Insull is receiving from three operating Chicago utilities.

Jacobson made his statement yesterday during Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley's inquiry into the affairs of one of the bankrupt Insull Investment companies.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson also indicated he would like to question the Insull brothers as well as Samuel Insull's son, Samuel, Jr., still vice-chairman of the three Chicago operating utilities, who left on Saturday to visit his parents in Paris.

CLOCK MAKERS DEFEAT LEAFS FOR 20-10 WIN

Red and White Stores Bow to Sugar Bowl 7 to 5 in Men's Fixture.

INDOOR SOFTBALL LOOP.

Two fast softball games were run off in the Brock last night before a fair crowd. Both contests were fair; the men's being close. Westclox girls took a 20-10 decision over Maple Leafs in the first part of the double-header, while Red and White Stores bowed to Sugar Bowl, 7 to 5, in the men's game.

By copping the opener, the Westclox Maidens moved up to within striking distance of C.G.E. in first place, being just one game behind the loop-leaders. The Ashburnham outfit started off strong against the Leafs, hammering in eight runs in the first. They got one in the third, two each in the fourth and fifth and seven in the last. The losers shoved across one in the first, two in the fourth, four in the fifth and their last three runs in the seventh.

G. Mann was on the rubber for the Leafs, but she was touched for 22 safe bingles, while her players had several bad errors. The winners played fair ball behind good pitching by B. Blade. The teams:

Westclox.—G. Mortimer, 1b; D. Webb, c; M. Ferguson, ss; D. Merrett, lf; L. Chartren, 3b; B. Blade, p; A. Crary, 2b; M. Blade, rf; G. Hawkes, cf.

Leafs .....100 240 3—10

Bowl Heads League

Sugar Bowl moved into first place last night in the men's section by handing the Red and Whites a 7-5 licking, in a fine ball game. Both teams turned in a real smart performance, with the opposing twirlers, Curry and Sturgeon, going great. Curry had a few more strikeouts, but "Lefty" hurled himself out of several holes, going better in the pinches.

The Bowlmen got their runs, two each in the third and fourth, with three big ones in the sixth. The Grocers countered twice in the fourth, once in the fifth, and scored their last two in the seventh. The teams:

Red and Whites.—Dorrington, 3b; Russell, 2b; Ellis, 1b; Starr, c; Foley, lf; McCarrol, ss; Curry, p; Crary, cf; Montgomery, rf.

Sugar Bowl.—H. Dormer, 2b; W. Calladine, ss; Playford, cf; P. Calladine, c; Dallin, lf; Weir, rf; Wilshaw, 3b; Smith, 1b; Sturgeon, p. Score by innings:—

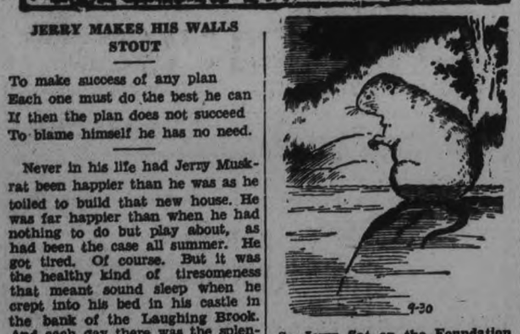
BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES



JERRY MAKES HIS WALLS STOUT

To make success of any plan
Each one must do the best he can
If then the plan does not succeed
To blame himself he has no need.

Never in his life had Jerry Muskrat been happier than he was as he toiled to build that new house. He was far happier than when he had nothing to do but play about, as had been the case all summer. He got tired. Of course. But it was the healthy kind of tiresomeness that meant sound sleep when he crept into his bed in his castle in the bank of the Laughing Brook. And each day there was the splendid feeling that what he had done counted for something; that there had been no waste of time.

So Jerry Muskrat was happy, and because he was happy he talked, and because there was no one near to talk to he talked to himself. He had just cut the roots of a bulrush and was resting for a moment before taking the whole plant over to use in building his new house. "It was hard work getting this plant up by the roots," said he, "and that was because the roots were fastened to the ground. Whatever is well rooted is hard to move. Think it over, Jerry. Just think it over. The flood that swept away your house last spring didn't sweep away the bulrushes or the trees along the bank of the Laughing Brook. That was because they were so well rooted. The foundations of your house are its roots so to speak. Just keep that in mind, Jerry, and see that the foundation walls are broad and stout."

Jerry chuckled at the funny notion of calling the foundations of his house roots. Then he swam over to use that bulrush in the foundation of his house. Remembering how his old house had been swept away, Jerry spent a great deal of time and attention on the foundations of his new house. The bits of sod he had dug up and the mud he had taken from his tunnels and cellar were good as far as they went, but Jerry was too good a builder not to know that if he used nothing else his foundations would be weak. So he brought roots and bits of sticks and the stalks of rushes, and these he worked into his foundation walls with the mud and the bits of sod.

And he made these walls broad and stout and went over and over them to make sure that there were no weak places in them. So gradually the walls rose until when Jerry stood on them only his feet were in the water. By the end of another night he could sit on them without so much as wetting his feet. All the hard work under water was finished. There was still a lot of hard work to be done, but it would be pleasanter and therefore easier than the work already done.

So Jerry Sat on the Foundation Walls of His House and Was Happy.

So Jerry sat on the foundation walls of his new house and was happy and dreamed dreams of how he would build the finest house that ever a muskrat built, a house so fine that even his big cousin, Paddy the Beaver, would be envious of him. And dreaming his fine dreams under the twinkling stars Jerry forgot the one thing that none of the little people of the Green Forest or the Green Meadows or the Laughing Brook or the Smiling Pool or the Old Orchard ever should forget for a wee, wee minute—to watch out for danger.

And this was quite as Hooty the Owl had hoped it would be when he had first discovered what Jerry Muskrat was doing there in the Smiling Pool.

"LIBRA"

If September 30th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7.15 a.m. to 9.30 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and from 7.20 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 10.25 a.m. to 12.05 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 6.50 p.m.

September 30th, according to astrological indications, promises to be, from the commercial viewpoint, an uneventful and a quiet day. The prevailing influences denote unexpected trips into the Land of Romance, where long-dreamed-of rewards await those who have courage and tenacity of purpose.

A child born on this September 30th will be endowed with a robust constitution, a loving disposition and a desire, as well as a will, to succeed. These inherent gifts will serve it in good stead in its maturity, and its horoscope denotes a career of useful as well as profitable achievement.

You, if born on September 30th, are rather weak in character, and your besetting difficulty is your unwillingness to say "no." Even though your reason tells you that things are foolish or wrong; even though your conscience is no "still, small voice," but a loud speaker; even though you know what is the right thing to do, you go ahead and commit acts of criticable nature, simply because you do not wish to offend others by a refusal. You "get yourself in Dutch" not by the gratification of your individual desires, but by yielding weakly and foolishly to the persuasions of others.

You are a pleasing companion, but a poor friend. Without strong conviction, without definite opinions, you always agree with the last person that speaks to you, and are afraid at all times of voicing an idea that may be contrary to the one that, at the moment, is being expounded. Your work is done conscientiously, and in a subordinate position where neither originality nor initiative are needed, you will be a steady and reliable worker.

In the home circle, you will never dominate, but will always elect the path of least resistance — the one that will ensure you, as far as possible, freedom from care—and as much as comfort as is attainable.

Trent River Couple Honored By Friends

Over 90 Guests Attend Social Evening as Mr. and Mrs. H. VanVolkenburg arrive Home.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, September 30. — A reception was held on Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George VanVolkenburg, for the newly-weds—Mr. and Mrs. Harold VanVolkenburg (formerly Helen Scott), who arrived home the same day from their honeymoon trip in the north country. Members of the Young Ladies' Class and the Young Men's Class (of which the bride and groom were members) together with relatives and friends, brought the attendance up to over 90.

The bride was gowned in her wedding dress, while Miss Hazel Elliott wore her bridesmaid dress. Individual tables were arranged in the dining room where a dainty luncheon was served from 8.30 to 9.30. Each table was decorated with cut flowers.

The following young ladies assisted in serving the guests: The Misses Helen Waters, Dorothy Waters, Fleda Thompson, Ethel Longmuir, Fern Longmuir, Ada McArthur, Mary Brown, Doris Scott, Reta Longmuir, Bessie Inkster, Leatha Davidson, Fleda Wildman, Madge Hubble and Myrtle Carnrite. Also the following young men assisted: Messrs. Rufus Redden, Gerald Morton, Harold Thompson, Billie Longmuir, and Jim Inkster.

The luncheon consisted of different varieties of sandwiches, tea, coffee, jellies, and many delicious cakes and macaroons.

After the tables were served the guests were entertained by community singing, a vocal solo "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," by Miss Hazel Elliott, vocal duet by Messrs Learl and Hamilton Humphries, a vocal number (comic) by Mr. Humphries, Sr., Miss B. G. French played the accompaniments. The guests departed about midnight.

CAR THEFT RING IS BROKEN UP

Three Hamilton Men Plead Guilty to Seven Charges in Court.

PROBE EXTENDED.

HAMILTON, Sept. 30.—Months of work on the part of the Hamilton Police Department was crowned with success in police court today when three Hamilton men, Edward Freeman, Edward Blasdell and Howard Patterson pleaded guilty to seven charges of stealing automobiles.

With the conviction of the three men, police declare that they have broken up a car stealing business which had reached unprecedented proportions during the past summer For months automobiles have been vanishing from Hamilton, not to be recovered a few days after, but to disappear apparently, forever. With today's convictions, the mystery has been solved.

Among the thefts traced to the three men were the theft of a car owned by S. F. Day, Hamilton on August 17 and the theft of a car owned by a motor sales company on September 2. This automobile was recovered in Dunnville.

A third theft was that of Abraham Poultur's car, which was later found in Mount Pleasant where it had been sold to Albert Barton for $75. A car owned by Robert Simpson was recovered in a local garage. One stolen from Frank Radigan, Hamilton, was recovered in Dunnville.

Police declare that cars were brought to this city to be remodelled and sold from Toronto, Galt and London. They intimate that the men will be wanted in Toronto.

Magistrate Burbidge remanded the trio for further investigation.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 23

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service, Inc.)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"Why did you warn me, gilak?" asked Targash, the Sagoth. "I told you I did not come among you as an enemy," answered Tarzan. "I warned you, for you it was who kept the bulls from killing me when I was captured." Tar-gash looked puzzled, but asked: "What were you doing in the Sagoth's country and where do you want to go now?" "I was hunting," replied Tarzan, "I shall return to my people." "Where are they?" Tarzan hesitated. The never-moving sun told him nothing, and neither foliage nor trees indicated direction. Tarzan of the Apes was lost!

Many miles away, as it would be reckoned on the earth's surface, Jason Gridley watched from his tree prison the horrible carnage wrought by the great saber-tooth tigers beneath him. Thirst and hunger assailed him. He wondered how long he had been away from the 0-220. As he glanced at the sun to note the time, he realized anew that forever, throughout eternity, here in Pellucidar it would always be noontime. An overpowering desire to sleep overcame him. Yet he dared not while those grisly hyaenodons continued their gruesome feasting.

© 1932, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

How long he dozed, Gridley could not guess but when he awoke somewhat refreshed, there was no sign of living man or beast in all the clearing. The American struggled to the ground. He cut himself some strips of flesh from a slain thag, gathered twigs and branches, built a little fire and ate his fill. Then he took to the trail, not knowing in which direction to go. That baffling noonday sun shone always down as if to taunt him with his helplessness. At length he came to a small stream, drank and flung himself down beside it in utter despair and exhaustion.

Aboard the giant airship, the 0-220, seventy-two hours passed and neither Tarzan nor the searching party had been accounted for. Constantly from the walkingaway of the ship, a watch had scanned the Pellucidarian landscape in all directions with powerful glasses. And at last their vigil seemed rewarded. Lieut. Hines gave a sudden exclamation: "It's a man, I'm sure of it." The captain ordered ten of the crew, well armed, off to investigate. All were hoping against hope that the distant, lone figure might prove to be Tarzan of the Apes or Jason Gridley.

Obituary

HUGH McCULLOCH.

While out visiting yesterday afternoon, Hugh McCulloch, resident of this city for the past twenty years, was stricken with a seizure and died a few minutes afterwards. He was 67 years of age.

The stricken man had been visiting with an old friend, Peter McArthur at the latter's home on Frank Street. He was conveyed to the residence of his daughter, Mrs. R. B. Hay, 608 Chamberlain Street, where death occurred.

Mr. McCulloch was born in Maybole, Ayrshire, Scotland, and after serving many years in a large shoe factory in his native town, he came to this country and established himself in a shoe repairing business here at 310 Sherbrooke Street. He retired from business a little over a year ago.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Jean McKelvie, and by five sons and seven daughters.

The sons are George of Perry Street, Hugh of Moir Street, David of William Street, James of Olive Avenue and Oswald of Bolivar Street, and the daughters: Mrs. O H. Wilson of Bolivar Street, Mrs. Stroyan Leith of Gilmour Street, Mrs. Eric Vincent of Lake Street, Mrs. R. B. Hay of Chamberlain Street, Mrs. Gordon Hicks and Mrs. E. C. L. Black of Detroit, and Mrs Leo O'Brien of Edwin Avenue, Toronto.

The funeral is to be held from 608 Chamberlain Street Saturday at 2.30 p.m., with the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

WILLIAM H. GRAHAM

William Henry Graham, a resident of Kingston for over forty years, passed away at his home, 198 Bagot Street, early Thursday morning after a long illness. Deceased had been with the Robertson Crockery Company for many years and travelled for that concern. He was well known in the city and in the area in which he travelled.

He came here from Ashfield, Ireland, about forty years ago and had lived here ever since. For the past ten years Mr. Graham had been retired. He was a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church and also a member of Minden Lodge, A.F. and A.M.

Surviving him are his wife, his brother, Robert of Lindsay, and two sisters and a brother in Ireland. The remains will be taken to Peterborough, where interment will take place.—Kingston Standard.

Mr. Graham was a brother-in-law of Mayor Roland Denne.

TIME EXTENSION.

Notice of time extension has been given by the Department of Highways, Toronto, with regard to submitting tenders on concrete work for the proposed high-level bridge to be built on Highway No. 7, over the Otonabee River. Tenders for concrete work will now close at 12 o'clock noon, Monday, October 24, instead of October 10 as was originally intended.

Designed by engineers of the Department, the bridge will be over 500 feet long, with three main arches, two approaches, two approach arches, reinforced concrete abutments, steel superstructure, 35-foot roadway, and two five-foot walks.

BABY CLOTHES WANTED.

The Examiner have been asked to secure some men's underwear. Please call The Examiner, and it will be called for.

AWARDED CONTRACT

Grant and Thorpe, electrical contractors and supply dealers of this city have recently been awarded a substantial contract by the Imperial Oil Company through their local agent, for the electrical and service work for the next five years on Gilbert and Barker oil burners.

In honor of his brother members of the Order who are now meeting in convention here, "Samaritan 'Joe" Dean has gone to a great deal of effort to prepare an attractive window display in his Charlotte street restaurant. The display consists of two large yellow and red streamers bearing the legend 'Welcome A.M.O.S.' which form the side-pieces for the central tableaux. Inside a tent are seated four little figures, each wearing a tiny fez and other regalia. They are partaking of a meal and a tiny trussed bird, roasted to a turn occupies a platter in the middle of the table

At a meeting of Cyrcus Sanctorum No 24 last evening Samaritan Dean, was accorded a vote of thanks for his effor to add to the numerous other decorations prepared by the citizens in voicing Peterborough's welcome to her visitors.

MORNING DEVOTIONS.

Starting Monday morning and continuing on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings of each week at 8.00 o'clock, the morning devotions conducted by Rev. William Allan, former pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, will be broadcast over CFRB.

DIED

GRAHAM. — At Kingston, on Thursday, September 29th, 1932, William H. Graham, beloved husband of Anne Denne, Peterborough.

Remains resting at the Comstock's Parlors. Funeral at 10.30 Saturday morning. Service in Little Lake Cemetery Chapel.

Payless Teachers Stick With Jobs

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 30. (AP)—Payless or not, Chicago's school teachers refuse to quit.

Proposals for a general strike unless they are paid their back salaries were voted down last night by the High School Teachers' Association. Earlier similar proposals were rejected by the delegates from 100 schools on the west and north sides.

Nearly $13,000,000 is due the teachers.

Umpires—Dell and Fair of Oshawa.

FIRST INNING.

Niagara Falls—McQuade fanned. Stuart grounded out to second. Fowle was thrown out by McKinley. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Maple Leafs—Begley grounded out to short. Moreau bungled Williamson's grounder. Gardner singled to centre. Calladine filled out to left and both runners moved up on [illegible] ton grounded out to short. No runs, one hit, two errors.

SECOND INNING

Falls—Jim Wilson swung at three. Mcreau did the same. O'Banion also whiffed on Calladine's smoke-ball.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Leafs—McKinley rolled to McQuade. Dixon hit over second. Murdock flied out to centre. Mowry rolled to the pitcher.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

THIRD INNING

MISS VIRGINIA VAN WIE TAKES U.S. GOLF TITLE

Glenna Collet Vare Beaten 10 and 8 in 36-hole Final Match To-day.

NEARLY BREAKS RECORD.

PEABODY, Mass., Oct. 1 (C.P.).—Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, striving for the women's national golf championship annually since 1925, gained that title by crushing Glenna Collett Vare, five times winner, ten and 8 to-day in the 36-hole final match at the Salem Country Club.

Miss Van Wie's winning margin was the second largest in the 36 years of women's championship play. Four years ago Mrs. Vare set up the record by beating Miss Van Wie 13 and 12.

The afternoon cards:

Miss Van Wie (Out) 543 355 456—40
Mrs. Vare (Out) .... 453 463 555—40
(Miss Van Wie 9 up).

Mrs. Vare needed a win on the 36th to prolong the match, and when she missed a 10-footer for a four she conceded a similar putt and gave her opponent the hole and match.

TWELVE PERISH SCORES MISSING IN CLOUDBURST

Victims Trapped as Wave of Water 40 Feet High Rushes Down Pass.

IN CALIFORNIA.

Station and Track Washed Away and Freight Plunged Into Canyon.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., October 1 (C.P.). — Twelve persons were known to be dead and a score of others may have been drowned in a terrific cloudburst in the mountainous Tehachipi region fifty miles south-east of here last night.

Wire communication with Tehachipi was cut off and no definite information was available as to the actual total of victims.

A wall of fater, 40 feet high, swept down the narrow canyon of Tehachipi Pass, demolishing the Southern Pacific Station, plunging a freight train, locomotive, and seven cars into a canyon at Woodford, and tearing out long sections of rail lines and highways.

INTERMEDIATES WIN 1ST GAME

Local Collegiate Squad Takes 7 to 1 Victory at Cobourg.

FASTER ON PLAYS.

Peterborough Collegiate intermediates scored their first victory in the opening game of interscholastic rugby-footgall this morning by defeating the Cobourg high school squal 7 to 1 on the latter's home grounds. Although the home team were a much heavier outfit, the visitors were faster in their plays which resulted in the play being fairly close throughout the game.

Governor Roosevelt Watches Third Game

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 1 (A.P.) — George Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York Democratic candidate for the presidency and his party arrived at 1.04 this afternoon to join a crowd of 50,000 for the third game of the world's series between the Yankees and the Cubs.

The world's population in 1927 was estimated at 1,960,000,000 by the League of Nations.

Aston Crew Defeats Chelsea 3 to 1 in One of Feature Games To-day.

SOCCER RESULTS.

Arsenal Takes 2-1 Victory From Blackpool—Bradford and Stoke Win.

LONDON, Oct. 1 (C.P. Cable).—Aston Villa kept on top of the heap in the First Division of the English League to-day when they defeated Chelsea 3-1 in one of the feature matches on the day's soccer bill.

The chase for leadership continued intense, however, with the Arsenal travelling to Blackpool to gain a 2-1 victory and keep within a point of Aston Villa.

Leadership of the Second Division was still knotted up with Bradford City and Stoke winning their matches with Port Vale and Burnley respectively.

Held To Tie.

Brentford were held to a tie by Bournemouth, but remained well in front of the Southern section of the Third Division, while in the Northern Section Chester moved into undisputed first place by a 3-2 victory over Barrow.

The Rangers-Motherwell struggle at Ibrox Park, chief of the Scottish fixtures, ended in a two-all draw and the Rangers managed to retain their one-point lead over Motherwell.

Queen of the South amassed 10 goals against Bo'ness, who were held scoreless, and thereby went into the Second Division leadership a point ahead of Albion Rovers.

DRIFTING CREW ARE PICKED UP 2 HOURS LATER

Bright Star Crashes Into Iceberg Just Before Dawn of Sub-Arctic.

EUROPE-BOUND.

Thirty Seamen Taken to Wakeham Bay to Await Passage Home.

OTTAWA, October 1 (C.P.). — Grain-laden and Europe-bound from Churchill in Northern Manitoba, the steamer Bright Fan sank to-day in the chill waters of Hudson Straits—first casualty in the modern march of trade across Hudson Bay from Canada's West country. The crew of 30 took to the boats in the dull sub-Arctic dawn, and were picked up two hours later by the Government patrol boat N. B. McLean.

Before daylight, the 2,357-ton vessel crashed into an iceberg 18 miles north-east of Wales Island, a tiny spot on the map along the south shore of the Straits some 150 miles inside the western entry. The forepeak of the ship filled quickly with water and the crew were ordered by Captain Oliver to take to the two boats at 7.06 a.m., just two hours and forty-eight minutes after the collision.

SOS Quits at 7.23.

The radio operator left his apparatus in operation so that the vessel could be located by the McLean, weather-worn guide of vessels in the Straits. The signals stopped at 7.23 a.m., indicating the Bright Fan foundered at that hour. The vessel sank in 115 fathoms of water.

The "N. B. McLean" reached the scene of the accident at 9 o'clock and picked up the two boats in which the crew was drifting. The "N.B. McLean" then proceeded to Wakeham Bay, where she is waiting for instructions as to the care of the crew.

Carried 250,000 Bushels.

The Bright Fan is a steel steamer of 2,791 tons and is owned by the Fancott Shipping Co., Ltd., of Cardiff. She carried approximately, it is understood, 250,000 bushels of grain. The vessel sank in 115 fathoms of water.

The Italian ship "Juventus" docked at Churchill this morning and will probably take the shipwrecked crew back to Europe on its return trip. This is the first accident to shipping since Churchill was officially opened last year.

Combs Snapped on Way to First Yankee Score

Earl Combs, veteran centerfelder of the Yankees, is safe in the first inning on a play at second at Yankee Stadium. He had walked, advanced when Sewell also got a free trip, and scored the first New York run on Gehrig's single. Bill Jurges is shown making the catch from Warneke.

RUTH AND GEHRIG HIT HOMERS WHEN YANKEES DEFEAT CUBS FOR 3RD TIME IN WORLD SERIES

Hartnett Hits Homer in Ninth For Cubs With None On.

SCORE 7 RUNS TO 5.

Cubs Outhit Yankees But Errors Are Most Costly.

(By Edward J. Neil—A.P. Sports Writer).

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 1 (C.P.).—Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig smashed out a pair of home runs apiece to-day to crush the Cubs for the third straight time, 7 to 5, and gave Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and a capacity crowd of over 50,000 one of the greatest demonstrations of long distance hitting in world series history. Kiki Cuyler and Gabby Hartnett hit homers for the Cubs in the thrilling battle.

It was a lively picture, and a strange contrast to the blase indifference of New Yorkers who failed to rally in capacity numbers for the first two games played Wednesday and Thursday in New York, where the Yankee steam roller twice crushed the Cubs and sent the annual duel for the world championship westward with every prospect of ending right here.

In order to swell the capacity of one of the finest baseball establishments in the National League to slightly above 51,000, temporary bleachers had been built beyond the walls of the park. Undismayed by the double defeat of the beloved warriors of Charley Grimm, the Bruin faithful started through the gates toward those temporary seats as soon as tickets went on sale at 6.30 a.m., and by 11 a.m., cheering and shouting as though the Cubs were just beginning their assault the fandom had all but filled the temporary stands looking in on the field. These seats hold 9,000 persons.

The line-ups:

Yankees—Combs, cf; Sewell, 3b; Ruth, lf; Gehrig, 1b; Lazzeri, 2b; Dickey, c; Chapman, rf; Crossetti, ss; Pipgras, p.

Cubs—Herman, 2b; English, 3b; Cuyler, rf; Stephenson, lf; Moore, cf; Grimm, 1b; Hartnet, c; Jurges, ss; Root, p.

First Inning

Yankees —Combs first man up grounded to Jurges and went to second on the short stop's wild throw into the Yankee dugout. Sewell walked, the fourth ball being wide. Ruth up. Ball one outside, ball two, low. Ruth smashed a home run into the right center bleachers, scoring Combs and Sewell. It was the Babe's fourteenth home run in world's series competition. Gehrig grounded out, German to Grimm. Lazzeri fanned on a third called strike. Dickey lashed a single down the first base line. Chapman singled to left Dickey stopped at second and Crosetti drove a high fly to Stephenson.

Three runs, three hits, one error, two left.

Herman first up for the Cubs walked, the fourth ball being inside. English flied out to Ruth and Herman held first. Cuyler hit against the right field screen for two bases, scoring Herman. Stephenson grounded out Crosetti to Gehrig. Cuyler holding second. Moore walked, the fourth ball being outside again and Grimm bounced to Crosetti and was out at first.

One run, one hit, no errors, two left.

Second Inning.

No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Cubs—Hartnett grounded out, Crosetti to Gehrig. Jurges singles past Crosetti. Root fanned, swinging. The Cubs protested he moved his bat merely to get out of the way of the pitch. Herman up. Jurges stole second. Dickey's throw being high and almost getting away from Lazzeri. Herman flied out to Ruth near the foul line.

Third Inning

Yankees—Gehrig slashed a home run high into the right field bleachers. It was his second circuit clout of the series. Lazzeri grounded out, Jurges to Grimm, who made a nice pickup of the short stop's low throw. Dickey lifted a high fly to Moore. Chapman walked, the fourth being low. Crosetti up. Ball one, low. Ball two, Chapman was thrown out trying to steal, Hartnett to Jurges.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Cubs—English bounced to Crosetti and was out at first. Cuyler walloped a home run into the right field bleachers. The crowd went wild. Stephenson dropped a Texas leaguer single into short right center. Moore grounded to Gehrig and Stephenson was forced at second, Gehrig to Crosetti. Moore beat the relay to first. Grimm lashed a hit through Chapman's legs, scoring Moore. It was scored as a two bagger. Hartnett fouled out to Sewell.

Two runs, three hits, no errors, one left.

Fourth Inning

Yankees—Crosetti bounced out, English to Grimm on a pretty play. Pipgras struck out on a called third strike. Combs fanned on a called third strike that broke over the outside corner.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Cubs—Jurges hit to left field and reached second base as Ruth fell and missed an attempt for a shoe-string catch. It was scored as a double. Root grounded out, Sewell to Gehrig, Jurges holding second. Herman popped to Lazzeri who made a great catch over his shoulders in short centre field. Tony hurt a finger making the catch. English bounced to Lazzeri who fumbled, Jurges scoring and English reaching first. Cuyler up: Pipgras threw to Gehrig. English was thrownout trying to steal second, Dickey to Lazzeri.

One run, one hit, one error, none left.

FIFTH INNING.

Yankees—Sewell bounced to Jurges and was out on a close play at first. Ruth up. The crowd booed. Strike one called. Ball one, low. Strike two called. It cut the outside corner. Ruth hit a high drive for a home run, clearing the wire fence in deep centre field. Gehrig up. Gehrig hit a home run on a ball that struck the flag pole a few feet inside the right field line. It bounced against the brick wall over the screen. The Cubs held a council of war with Root. Malone was warming up briskly, and received the call to replace Root. Gehrig's home run was his seventh in world's series competition, and Ruth's was his fifteenth. Lazzeri walked, the fourth ball being wide. Dickey walked, the fourth ball being high and outside. Chapman bounced out, English to Grimm, both runners advancing a base. Crosetti up. Grimm ordered Crosetti purposely passed and the bases were filled. Pipgras fanned on a third called strike. He kicked at the decision. Two runs, two hits, no errors. Three left.

Cubs.—Cuyler up. Cuyler bounced a single over second base. Lazzeri stopped the ball, but his throw was too late. Stephenson bounced to Sewell and the Yankees pulled off a double play, Sewell to Lazzeri to Gehrig. Moore grounded out, Lazzeri to Gehrig. No runs, one hit, no errors. None left.

SIXTH INNINGS.

Yankees. — Combs lined out to Grimm, who fell making a nice stab of the ball.

Sewell flied out to Moore.

Ruth Up.

The crowd gave the Babe a big hand this time. Ball one, inside. Ball two, inside. Ball three, inside, forcing Ruth back from the plate. Ruth walked, the fourth ball almost dusting him off.

Gehrig fanned on a called third strike that cut the outside corner.

Cubs. — Grimm grounded out, Lazzeri to Gehrig. Hartnett popped to Sewell, who took the ball just inside foul territory. Jurges bounced over Pipgras' head and was called out on a close play, Lazzeri to Gehrig. Umpire Magerkurth reversed himself after momentarily calling Jurges safe.

No runs, no hits, no errors now left.

Seventh Innings.

Yankees—Lazzeri bounded to English and was out at first. Dickey bounded to Jurges and Dickey was safe as Grimm was pulled off the bag by the shortstop's wide throw. It was an error for Jurges. Chapman fanned, swinging at a low fast one. Crosetti smashed a single past English. Dickey stopping at second. Pipgras fanned for the fourth time, tying the world's series record. No runs, one hit, one error, two left.

Cubs.—Gudat batted for Malone and popped to Crosetti. Herman grounded out to Gehrig unassisted. English walked, the fourth ball being inside. Cuyler grounded to Crosetti, who picked up the ball after momentarily fumbling and steped on second base for the force out. No runs, no hits, no erros. One left.

EIGHTH INNING.

Yankees. — Jakie May, veteran southpaw, went to the box for the Cubs. Combs fanned, swinging at the third strike. Sewell was hit by a pitched ball and took his base. Ruth hit into a double play on a sharp grounder, Herman to Jurges to Grimm. No runs, no hits, no errors, None left.

Cubs — Stephenson hoisted to Combs in deep center. Moore popped to Crosetti, who made the catch in short left field. Grimm bounced out to Gehrig, unassisted.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Ninth Inning.

Yankees—Gehrig popped out to Jurges, who grabbed the ball in a huddle of Cub players around the pitcher's box. Lazzeri reached first on a high pop fly that Hartnett got his glove on but failed to hold. It was an error for Hartnett. Lazzeri reached second and Dickey got to first when Herman muffed Dickey's short fly to right. Lazzeri scored and Dickey reached third on Chapman's slashing double down the left field line. Crosetti up. May was taken out of the box and replaced by Bud Tinning young right hander. Crosetti popped to Herman. Pipgras fanned for the fifth time, setting a new world's series record.

Cubs—Hartnett slashed a home run high into the bleachers in left field. Jurges singled to left. Hemsley fanned, swinging at a slow curve. Herman bounced out, Pennock to Gehrig, Jurges reaching second. English grounded out to Gehrig, unassisted.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

BEACH SCORES EASY VICTORY

St. Mike's Suffer 29-12 Setback at Hands of Toronto Club Team.

WILD SCORING SPLURGE.

VARSITY STADIUM, Toronto, October 1 (C.P.). — Balmy Beach ploughed to an overwhelming 29 to 12 victory to-day over a lighter, less experienced team from St. Michael's College in the final exhibition game the two will play before starting their Ontario Rugby Football Union schedules.

Too much power along the front line spelled defeat for the newcomers to the O.R.F.U., but they made a battle of it all the way with a peppery attack based on Bill Mark's brilliant forward passing.

In front by 13 to 6 at half-time, Balmy Beach ran wild in the third quarter, scoring two touchdowns within five minutes.

CLAIM INFLATION INSULL EMPIRE OF $21,200,000

Auditor Believes Items Charged to Income That Belonged to Capital.

BANKRUPT IN DECEMBER.

Officials Continue Search for $250,000,000 Assets of Investment Concern.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (CP)—A new chapter to the story of high finance of the fallen Insull Utility Empire has come to light with testimony of an auditor that the value of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., had in his opinion, been inflated $21,200,000.

Frank E. White, a member of the auditing firm of Arthur Anderson and Co., appearing as a witness before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley in the search for assets of the $250,000,000 bankrupt concern, said that his calculations indicated the inflation was made by charging to income items which he believed should have been charged to capital. His testimony was disputed, however, by John E. Wing, member of a law firm which gave its approval to some of the company's securities.

Broke in December

White's testimony came after Harry L. Stuart of the brokerage house of Halsey, Stuart and Co., and an associate of Samuel Insull, had told the court that the Insull investment concern was virtually bankrupt last December when he and Samuel Insull, Jr., went to New York to seek the aid of eastern bankers.

White said his examination of the Insull books from January 1, 1929 to April 14 of this year, when the company went into receivership, showed an inflation of $16,000,000 in the handling of stock rights placed under the income account. He added that an additional inflation of $5,200,000 was indicated in the crediting of stock dividends to surplus.

The Chicago Tribune said to-day that State's Attorney John A. Swanson was making plans for the return to Chicago of Samuel Insull Sr., and his brother, Martin. The former is in Paris and the latter in Orillia, Ont.

PASSES COSTLY TO RAILROADS

London Spectator Comments Upon Duff Commission Report.

POINTS TO AUSTRALIA.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—C. P. Cable) — The granting of passes and other unremunerative services has accounted to a large extent for the heavy losses incurred by the Canadian National Railways, says the London Spectator commenting upon the findings of the Duff commission.

"Unremunerative services to please influential politicians or friends granted by the state owned railway," declared the Spectator, "caused great loss." Approving the intimation given in the summary of the report that the commission recommended free the management of the Canadian National Railway from political interference the Spectator commented, "the Australian experience has shown conclusively that the management of state-owned railways by non-political commissioners is practicable provided the right men are chosen."

TWO PRINCIPALS ARE INSTALLED

Dr. W. T. Brown and Rev. Richard Davidson in Charge of United Church Units.

COLORFUL CEREMONY.

TORONTO, October 1.— Over the arched doorway of Victoria College runs the legend, "The Truth Shall Make You Free.' The same theme, amplified and reiterated, set the keynote of last night's assembly in Convocation Hall, when Victoria Univerity passed into the third great epoch of it existence with the installation of separate Principals for its Arts and Theological wings.

Education seeks truth, said the speakers. But it finds freedom only when guided by a directive force of religion. The federated colleges of the University of Toronto, now augmented by the two United Church units of Arts and Theology, form an educational system unequalled over the face of the earth for diligent seeking after living truth, the Convocation gathering was told.

Colorful and Dignified.

Dr. W. T. Brown, old Lakefield boy, and Rev. Richard Davidson were the two Principals installed. The ceremony was a gala academic event, touched with the usual color of Convocation proceedings, marked by their customary dignity. All colleges and faculties of the federation were represented on the dais. Sister universities sent delegates. Students punctuated the proceedings with university yells. But the general atmosphere was one of solemnity.

Subtle forces are at work, endeavoring to rob education of its real purpose, said Dr. Brown, new Principal of Victoria College. A wholesome setting of religion, such as the system of colleges provides, remains the strongest anchor of hope for the future of the ship of society.

Sectarianism must be more generous, declared his Principal-companion, Rev. Mr. Davidson, new head of Emmanuel College. Religious truth must be re-examined and its presentation modified as the times change, if it is to continue as a vital and essential force.

SIX ELDERS ASK REINSTATEMENT NORWICH CHURCH

Rev. Dr. D. B. Marsh, Minister, Astronomer Has His Resignation Rejected.

EXONERATED IN PROBE.

Climax to Three Years' Difference Between Pastor, Choir and Y.P.S.

NORWICH, Ont., Sept. 1.—(CP)—Six elders, suspended from office at Knox Presbyterian church moved for reinstatement today and at the same time it became known Rev. Dr. D. B. Marsh, minister and astronomer, had placed his resignation in the hands of the Paris presbytery only to have it rejected.

A statement from the Paris presbytery said: "Owing to unsatisfactory conditions at Knox church, Norwich, Dr. Marsh one week ago placed his resignation in the hands of the Paris Presbytery. The Presbytery did not see fit to accept his resignation, but sent a commission to investigate with the result that the minister was exonerated and several elders of the church congregation left themselves open to suspension. In the meantime the presbytery is dealing with the situation and an amicable settlement is looked for."

Origin of Trouble

The trouble was said to have its origin in frequent differences between Dr. Marsh and the choir and young people's society of the church over the entire period of his three years as minister.

It came to a head last spring, it was said, when the choir "walked out" following what its members considered a criticism of themselves from the minister.

Since that time the church has been without a choir, and a number of members, sympathizing with the attitude of the choir, have refused to attend services. As a result the board has experienced difficulties in financing the church.

The church session and choir were unable to reach an agreement on the difficulties and called in the Paris presbytery which also failed to bring a reconciliation.

Complaints Groundless

The presbytery thereafter appointed a commission which met and heard complaints of the congregation against Dr. Marsh and found them groundless.

Decision of the commission was read at last Sunday's service. Subsequently the committee at a meeting Thursday night asked each elder individually if he would get behind the minister in an effort to promote harmony, six negative answers brought automatic suspension.

Taxi Price-War On in Galt

GALT, Ont., Sept. 30.— (By the Canadian Press.)—Galt residents who had 10 cents to-day found they could go "anywhere in the city" for that amount.

A taxi war last week knocked prices from 25 cents a passenger to 15 cents for the first two miles and five cents a mile thereafter.

Another firm, however, has posted an announcement that it will carry passengers anywhere in the city for 10 cents flat.

BEAUHARNOIS POWER READY

First Stage of Development Complete—35,000 H.P. Sent to Montreal.

25,000 FOR ONTARIO.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1 (C.P.)—Power was flowing to-day over high tension wires from the Beauharnois power plant at Melocheville on Lake St. Louis and the first stage of the huge development was in operation.

Two years work was brought to a head when the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company began delivery to the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated of 35,000 horespower contracted for delivery on October 1.

Twenty-five thousand horsepower for delivery to the Ontario Hydro Commission was on tap, and the Commission will take delivery of it in one or two days, a little work remaining to be done on the transmission facilities on the Ontario side of the boundary.

The present plant is capable of development of 500,000 horsepower and it will gradually be increased to that amount as demand occurs. Ample provision of ground and water supply has been made for an eventual production of 2,000,000 horsepower when all projected units for power development are built.

ARMED FARMERS GUARDING SHEEP

Claim Mysterious Animal Attacks Flocks, Tearing Animals to Pieces.

SOME SUSPECT LYNX.

STOUFFVILLE, Ont., Oct. 1. — (C.P.)—Armed farmers to-day stood guard over their flocks of sheep and told of a mysterious animal which crept upon the animals and tore them to pieces.

Pat Murphy, district farmer of Whitchurch, said he found two lambs dead to-day among his flock. Their hindquarters had been torn away.

Murphy discounted belief of neighbors that a lynx was raiding the sheep, and said he thought the killing was done by a large dog.

DAY OF ATONEMENT IN JEWISH YEAR

Day is Marked by Fasting and Self-examination.

To-day being the tenth of the Hebrew month Tishri, will mark the beginning of the most sacred day in the Jewish calendar—"Yom Kippur," the Day of Atonement. In Jewish life this Holy Day is also known as the "Sabbath of Sabbaths" and the "Great White Fast."

Unlike the observance of any other Jewish holiday, the Day of Atonement is marked by the unique feature of fasting, which begins with the chanting of the Kol Nidre melody and ends with sunset the following day.

The prayers on Yom Kippur strive to convey the thought that the Day of Atonement is a day of self-examination and self-criticism —a day upon which man is to scrutinize his activities of the past year, judge them, weigh them, and henceforth resolve to turn from that which his best conscience considers evil and to follow that which his higher self regards as good.

British Princes Visiting Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 1 (A.P.)—The Prince of Wales and Prince George arrived here by train to-day and directly to the Royal castle, where they are to be guests four days of King Gustaf Adolf.

The Prince of Wales came directly from a visit to Denmark, where he spent a week familiarizing himself with trade conditions, in connection with an exposition at Copenhagen of British export products.

An extensive program has been arranged for the two Royal emissaries, starting with a dinner tonight at the castle. Next Wednesday the Prince of Wales will honor King Gustaf at a dinner at the British Embassy.

AL SMITH COMES OUT STRONGLY APPROVING DEMOCRATIC TICKET

Article in "New Outlook" Boosts Spirit of Roosevelt Followers.

"BIG PUSH" NEAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (C.P.).—Alfred E. Smith, ex-New York Governor, whose precariously tilted brown derby and rise to power from the "sidewalks of New York," make him one of the United States most popular figures, has approved the Democratic ticket. His action had to-day brought great cheer to the hearts of those working overtime to put Franklin D. Roosevelt, New York's present Governor, in the White House and his Democratic party in power.

Now Editor Smith of "The New Outlook," Al came out in a signed article in the first edition of the magazine under his guidance, to wholeheartedly back the Democratic ticket. He opposed nomination of Roosevelt at the Chicago convention. He hoped to be named himself for the election fight, now less than six weeks away. Nowhere was the name of Roosevelt mentioned in his article, but there was no doubting his party allegiance after his declaration: "The best interests of the country will be served by the election of the Democratic ticket."

Ready For Big Push.

First lieutenants of President Hoover meanwhile continued marshalling forces for the "big push" of October. They announced 260 volunteer speakers were ready to carry the Republican appeal into the Middle West and the farm belt, through which Roosevelt has been marching triumphantly the past week.

The President has not been taking a major part in the speaking campaign, but if actions still speak louder than words he is nevertheless a bulky figure in the electioneering. He has provided the ground work of plans to assist corn export by use of Government guaranteed funds; has enlisted private and government agencies in a move to mitigate immediate burdens upon mortgage-laden farmers through moratorium action on a major portion of their debts.

BUSES RUNNING IN BRANTFORD

Twenty-two Coaches Replace Trolleys For Two Months' Trial.

INJUNCTION SOUGHT.

BRANTFORD, Ont., October 1. (C.P.). — Brantford streets were unusually quiet to-day. In place of municipal street railway cars ran 25 buses, introduced on two months' trial. At the expiration of that time, electors will have a say as to whether they prefer street cars or buses.

Growing street railway deficit led to the substitution of buses for the street cars.

The change may be short-lived, however. Three citizens, headed by Fred Corey, seek an injunction to prevent the buses from starting. County Judge A. D. Hardy declined to grant the injunction, referring the petitioners to the Supreme Court of Ontario at Osgoode Hall. It is expected the petitioners will carry their injunction request before that Court.

NO TEMPERANCE DEBATE ARISES

Dr. A. J. Irwin Fails to Arrive at Church Session in Time to Give Survey.

PREPARING REPORTS.

HAMILTON, Oct. 1. (CP) — An official survey of the Canadian temperance situation from the viewpoint of prohibition forces was expected to be a feature of to-day's sessions of the United Church general council but failed to fill its place in the agenda.

Rev. Dr. A. J. Irwin, Toronto, who was to have delivered the address, was not present when his name was called. When he arrived later, council was hastening towards an early adjournment so that committees might prepare their reports for next week. At the request of the Moderator, Rev. Dr. Irwin, consented to postpone his speech. If he is given an opportunity to speak next week, Rev. Dr. Irwin told the Canadian Press, he would deal chiefly with the Dominion temperance outlook. He would not say whether he would bring before general council the question raised in Ontario by the Ontario Moderation League's advocacy of beer and wine sale.

Before the council business session adjourned for the week-end, Rev. E. H. Oliver, Saskatoon conducted the memorial service for deceased ministers and Rev. Dr. A. L. Ritchie, Montreal, led the devotional period.

Gold Ring Clings To Real Carrots

STRATHOY, Ont., Sept. 30.—(C.P.)—Lost 12 years ago on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Waugh, near Komoka, a gold ring was found in a extraordinary manner recently.

A bunch of carrots were pulled from the Waugh garden and a gold band, through which a carrot had sent its first shoot and solidly grown through, attracted attention. Investigation proved it to be the ring which had been lost more than a decade ago.

CHURCH UNION GAINING GROUND

Dr. Endicott Back From Rallies in England Sees Great Movement Started.

MAY BE WORLD WIDE.

HAMILTON, Oct. 1 (C.P.).—The union of Wesleyan, Primitive and United Methodists of Great Britain gave an impetus to world-wide church union that will have far-reaching results, Rev. Dr. James Endicott, Toronto, declared to-day before the General Council of the United Church.

The former Moderator was reporting to the Council on his trip to London, where he went as fraternal delegate from the United Church to take part in the formal completion of the union between the Methodist elements in the Old Country. "Extraordinary and impressive fervor" he said, marked the union rallies in Albert Hall.

"A great movement has been started towards a wider union," asserted Rev. Dr. Endicott. "It cannot stop now."

The session also heard reports from social service agencies of the Church. Commissioners visited Niagara Falls during the afternoon and on their return to Hamilton they will be the guests at a reception tendered by Mrs. W. E. Sanford.

Pulpits throughout the city will be occupied by a number of visiting preachers Sunday. Special services will be held for the other commissioners at which sermons will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Bruce Hunter, London, and Rev. Dr. George Pidgeon, Toronto.

Aspirin has SPEED!

When you take Aspirin, you are sure of immediate relief. Because these tablets dissolve at once. Their action is almost instantaneous. Your pain is gone before a slower tablet could have any effect!

So, stick to the tablets that relieve your suffering promptly. Time counts, when you're in pain! You can always depend on the reliable and uniform action of genuine Aspirin.

And tablets of Aspirin are perfectly safe. Doctors will tell you they contain nothing to depress the heart.

Aspirin tablets cost so very little, there's really no economy in buying anything less effective.

"Aspirin" is a trade-mark registered in Canada

FLYER STRIKES PILE OF ROCKS

Engineer Slows Down From 60 Miles an Hour to Find Only Minor Damage.

CULPRITS UNKNOWN.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Sept. 30. — (CP). Officials of the Michigan Central Railway to-day were investigating the placing of rocks on the line at Springfield, 15 miles east of here, which were struck by the Wolverine Flyer from Detroit to Buffalo last night with minor damage.

The express was tearing along at a 60-mile an hour clip rate last night when the locomotive crashed into the number of pieces of rock or boulder which had been placed on the track a small distance from the Springfield station.

The engineer immediately pulled up to find if the engine was seriously damaged but found there was nothing to prevent his continuing the journey.

The rocks, however, were sent flying in all directions by the impact, some smashing windows of the station while some of the train windows were also smashed. No one suffered any injuries, so far as could be ascertained. Some of the rocks were picked up to-day in adjacent fields.

Officials were reluctant to advance any theory for the incident.

Ready to Help YOU

"I wish I had met your representative Mr.—— ten years ago, or that I had been fortunate enough to have met someone who presented Life Insurance in the manner in which he does. He has given me an entirely new angle . . . . . "

—Extract from a letter received by us on August 23rd from a prominent Canadian citizen.

WE ARE pleased to pass this on to you because it is an example of what we are constantly hearing about our representatives, all of whom are carefully selected and well-trained to give courteous advice and service to those who are already policyholders and those who contemplate insuring in Canada's original mutual life insurance company.

(Over 46% of the new business written by the Company during the current year was on the lives of those who were already policyholders.)

Do not hesitate to ask the Mutual Life of Canada representative in your community for an interview. His friendly service is yours for the asking. If you prefer mail the coupon below to our Head Office and we shall be pleased to forward it to your nearest representative.

Everyday Christianity

WE live in an age of speed. Gone are the days of the horse and buggy, and with them the demerattive spirit that prevailed before the hurry of motor cars and aeroplanes brought speed into our lives. Gone are the days when a few excellent magazines constituted our monthly grist before sensational sheets and lurid tabloids filled our newstands. We elive in an age of hurry and bustle; of multitudinous interests and diversified entertainments.

Speed is our middle name. With this hodge-podge existence, too often starting with dusk and ending with dawn, our family existence has become unsettled. Drinking in homes has become all too frequent. Automobiles have injected a sexual problem into our midst. Now, if never before, the rising generation demands the influence and restraining hand of a Christian home.

How, then, is this to be obtained?

The answer is a simple one. By example. It matters not what our neighbors may do. It is not necessary for us to join in their carousing and fly-by-night living just because "it's the proper thing to do." The proper thing to do is the thing best suited to our immediate good and the good of our offspring. And unless we set them the example, we cannot expect them to follow what we preach.

It is time that we returned to the old-fashioned ways of yesterday. It is time that the Bibe became more of home centre as it did in the past when its position was the centre table, when family prayers were part of each day's program, and when propositions of right living were discussed at the family table.

The youth of to-day is the man of to-morrow. The man of to-morrow is the nation of the future. Let us train our children to be truly Christian in spirit and practice, that they help hasten the great end of peace and prosperity of the world which all hope to see.

THE DEATH OF MOSES

OF all the incidents recorded in the Old Testament, none is fraught with a greater lesson than that portion of the Book of Deuteronomy dealing with the death of Moses.

His had been a well spent life. For forty years, he had led his people through a wilderness, welding them from a rabble of freedmen into a nation of strength and character. He had brought them to the very outskirts of Canaan, the promised land, and now, his work done, he ascended to the heights of Mount Nebo and gazed down upon the goal he never might attain. And so, he died.

It may not be given to all of us to attain a great age before the grim messenger calls us home. It is certain—if we strive as we should—that, like Moses, we never will attain our Canaan, since no matter what goal we achieve, we will remain unsatisfied. Beyond will be another goal to attain—something nearer the perfection we seek—and beyond that another, and another. So the end can never be.

But by our deeds are we remembered. We say that a man who has done great good for his fellows—Thomas Edison, for instance—attained his ambition. To us this may be true. But in his inner heart when he passed on was a sense of things undone, of hopes unsatisfied, of dreams unfulfilled.

It is for us to live a day at a time—to crowd into each twenty-four hours the ultimate of accomplishment—to attain all within our capacity. Then, when the last day comes and we leave the world behind, may we find ourselves ready:

"Like one who wraps the draperies of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Self-Conceit

IT appears to me that the high opinion which a man has of himself is the nursing mother of all the false opinions that prevail in the world, whether public or private. Those people who perch themselves astride upon the epicycle of Mercury, who can dive so far into the heavens, are more annoying to me than a toothdrawer.—Montagne.

A Chat with Young Peterboro

ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR OCTOBER 9

IT isn't four walls and a roof that make a home. That's only a house. It's the people inside the building that make the home. There's truth in the old song, "Wherever I hang up my hat, it's Home Sweet Home to me." There's no child too small to have a real part in making a happy home. The wheels in a watch are small, some of them very tiny, but the watch won't go if they are not all in good running order. Every home needs two animals in it. Not cats and dogs, but just a couple of bears. Bears! you say. Yes. Just two: bear and forbear. Then another thing. Don't save all your smiles for the parlor; use a few in the kitchen. That's for the girls, and this is for the boys. When you come into the house and take off your coat, don't take your manners off at the same time. One of the most wonderful things I read about the Saviour is that when He was a boy, He was subject to His mother and to Joseph, His foster-father. Some boys and girls think it's smart to be disobedient. A merchant once advertised "Boy Wanted." He got so many applicants that he didn't know how to choose. So he advertised again, "Boy wanted. One who obeys his mother." That thinned the mout some. Some girls life to have nice hands. Well, here's a way. Soak them in dishwater three times a day after meals, and give mother a chance to rest hers. It'll work wonders. Home's the place for real religion. Somebody once asked Whitefield, the great preacher, "Is so and so a Christian?" "How should I know," says he, "I have never lived with him." To be a real Christian at home keep this word in mind—CHOP. Yes, C for cheerfulness, H for helpfulness, O for obedience, P for patience.—Young Canada.

THE ANCIENT GOSPEL FOR A MODERN WORLD

3—DOES MODERN PSYCHOLOGY HELP OR HINDER THE GOSPEL?

MANY MINDS, BUT ONE GOSPEL OF REDEMPTION. HEAR ABOUT IT.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

QUESTIONS.

1. What is the purpose of to-day's lesson?
2. What three incidents are used to illustrate it?
3. Recount the incident of Joseph?
4. When and where did it occur?
5. What was the Feast of the Passover?
6. How was it celebrated by religious Jews during the time of Christ?
7. What happened when Mary and Joseph took Jesus to Jerusalem?
8. When did the incident of Mary and Jesus take place?
9. What feast were they preparing to celebrate?
10. Describe the incident?

ANSWERS.

1. The purpose of to-day's lesson is, to emphasize the Christian life in the home.
2. The lesson is illustrated by the incidents of the meeting of Joseph and his brethren in the court of Pharaoh; Christ, the boy, disputing the wise men in the temple; and Mary, sister of Lazarus, anointing the feet of Jesus.
3. When Joseph had become the prime minister of Pharaoh, his brothers came to the court in time of depression, seeking food. Joseph disclosed himself to them, reassured them that he had forgiven their selling him into slavery, and sent them to bring their father to live with him.
4. This occurred at Tanis in the year 1698 B.C.
5. The Feast of the Passover was the feast celebrated by the Jews in commemoration of the time when the angel of death passed over the homes of the Israelites but slew the first born of the Egyptians.
6. In the time of Christ, it was customary for the strictly religious Jews to make a pilgrimage to Jerusalem to observe the feast in the temple.
7. Mary and Joseph took Jesus to Jerusalem to celebrate this feast when he was twelve years of age. They lost him in the city and three days later they came upon him arguing with the wise men in the temple. This was the first real exhibition of the divinity of Jesus.
8. The incident of Mary and Jesus took place in December 29, A.D., not a great time before the crucifixion.
9. They were preparing to celebrate the feast of the rededication of the temple after its destruction by Antiochus Epiphanes in 168 B.C.
10. Jesus rested at the home of Martha and Mary, sisters of Lazarus. In Bethany, outside Jesusalem. Mary came to him, anointed his feet with precious ointment, and wiped it with her hair, as a votary offering to our Saviour.

Seven Mistakes of Man

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by cursing others down.
2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected.
3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot accomplish it.
4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences in order that important things may be accomplished.
5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind by not acquirir the habit of reading.
6. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do.
7. The failure to establish the habit of saving money.

How do you score upon them, after you have made a fair inventory of yourself?—Exchange.

SPECIAL LECTURES PLANNED FOR CITY

Series of Lectures Arranged by Workers' Educational Association.

A series of lectures on current events, extending over a period of twenty weeks, has been arranged by the Workers' Educational Association. They will begin on Monday, October 17 at the Collegiate Institute under the buition of a professor from the University of Toronto. Professor Baker of the Faculty of Economics will likely be the first speaker. The fee for the course is two dollars. It is confined entirely to working people, and is sponsored by Queen's, Western and the University of Toronto. The entire expense of supplying tutors is borne by the universities.

Arrangements for the course were discussed by the local association Thursday night, and it was believed that a large number of the working people of the city who are interested in current events will avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity of acquiring information on preesnt day trends.

The association has also planned a public meeting for October 8 at which two one-act plays will be presented by the Toronto Players' Club. Mr. Drummond Wren of Toronto, general secretary of the Workers' Educational Association will explain its aims and purposes during the intermission.

Japan now nas 1,500 movie theatres.

Cheerfulness

CHEERFULNESS and good spirits depend in a great degree upon bodily causes, but much may be done for the promotion of this turn of mind. Persons subject to low spirits should make the rooms in which they live as cheerful as possible; taking care that the paper with which the wall is covered should be of brilliant, lively color, hanging up pictures or prints, and covering the chimney-piece with beautiful china. A bay window looking upon pleasant objects, and, above all, a large fire whenever the weather will permit, are favorable to good spirits, and the tables near should be strewn with books and pamphlets. To this must be added as much eating and drinking as is consistent with health; and, some manual employment.—S. Smith.

Nothing is Cast Aside

DETACHED, separated. I say there is no such separation; nothing hitherto was ever stranded, cast aside; but all, were it only a withered leaf, works together with all; is borne forward on the bottomless, shoreless flood of action, and lives through perpetual metamorphoses. The withered leaf is not dead and lost; there are forces in it and around it, though working in inverse order; else how could it rot? Despise not the rag from which man makes paper, or the little seed from which the earth makes corn. Rightly viewed no meanest object is insignificant; all objects are as windows, through which the philosophic eye looks into Infinitude itself.

Secret Faults

AS with a blight upon a rose tree, the little green creatures lurk on the underside of the leaves, and in all the folds of the buds, and, because unseen, they increase with alarming rapidity. The very fact that we have faults in our characters, which everybody sees but ourselves, makes it certain that they will grow unchecked, and so will prove terribly perilous. Many a Christian man and woman has the whole Christian life arrested and all but annihilated by the unsuspected influence of a secret sin. —MacLaren.

Christ In The Temple

Sunday School Lesson

By Harlowe R, Hoyt
Walter Scott

When Jesus was a boy in the town of Nazareth, it was the custom of Joseph and Mary to travel each year to Jerusalem to attend the feast of the Passover. When he was twelve years of age, they made this annual pilgrimage, taking him with them. They celebrated the period of the feast and prepared to return home, when they found that Jesus was missing. But they thought him with relatives.

After a bit, Joseph and Mary were convinced that Jesus was lost. They questioned their kinsfolk and visited the inns where they were staying, but no sign of the youth could be found. For three days the distracted parents sought the boy, up and down the streets and by-ways of Jerusalem. At last, when they despaired of finding him, they turned their feet toward the entrance of the temple.

Passing through the crowds of money changers and dealers in sacrificial live stock, Mary and Joseph came to the cool porticos of the temple, where the wise men and scribes were wont to gather and discuss the law and the prophets. There, to their amazement, they found the young Jesus seated in the midst of the teachers, asking them questions and arguing with them. And all who heard him were impressed.

When they found Jesus, Mary spoke to him. "Son, why has thou dealt thus with us?" she rebuked him. "Behold, thy father and I sought thee sorrowing." But Jesus said: "How is it that ye sought me so? Knew ye not that I must be in my father's house?" So he returned with them to their home in Nazareth, where he continued to help Joseph, who was a carpenter. And he advanced in wisdom and stature.

WELCOME, A.M.O.S.!

Peterborough is glad to-day to throw open its doors and extend the heartiest of welcomes to the members of the Ancient and Mystic Order of Samaritans, who are holding their divisional convention in the city.

This, we hasten to assure those of our visitors who are here for the first time, is a hospitable community and is always appreciative of an opportunity to act as host, particularly when the guests are such all-round good fellows as the delegates who are in our midst to-day.

The Samaritans manage to get a great deal of fun out of their connection with the mystic order, but it should be remembered that the play feature of the organization is only one side of the thing, and that the members of their social service work help to smooth life's path for the less fortunate.

The selection of Peterborough as the scene of their convention this year is appreciated by the citizens generally, and there will be a widespread hope that their sessions here will be profitable and their sojourn full of enjoyment, so that they will carry away with them the most pleasant of memories.

DANGEROUS PRACTICES.

The Ottawa Journal in a timely editorial calls attention to dangerous practices followed by bicycle riders in that city, and every word of the warning applies with equal force to conditions here.

There are a good many cyclists in this district who have not seen fit to protect themselves by having their bicycles lighted and the result is, now that darkness sets in early, that these machines constitute a constant source of trouble to motorists, inasmuch as an unlighted bicycle cannot be detected in the gloom until it comes within the range of the car's headlights.

If only for the protection of the bicycle riders themselves the authorities should see that every bicycle should have proper lights.

Other dangerous habits complained of by the Journal, and also to be noticed daily on Peterborough's streets, include the tendency that young people have of riding their bicycles, two and three abreast on heavily travelled streets, and that other perilous practice of carrying a passenger on the handlebars, to say nothing of the cyclists who ride recklessly on sidewalks to the peril of pedestrians.

In the interest of general safety, there should be a campaign against these and other dangerous actions of the many people who use the bicycle as a means of transportation.

INSURANCE COMPANIES SOUND.

A notable tribute to the essential soundness and stability of the life insurance companies in Canada was that paid the other day by G. D. Finlayson, the Dominion Superintendent of Insurance, in an address at Montreal when he said that the companies have proved that they could stand up against war, pestilence and depression.

Certainly the insurance companies of the country have established a wonderful record in meeting and overcoming conditions that might well have been expected to crush the organization, and throughout the unexpected strain of the war years, the heavy demand represented by the abnormal death rate during the influenza epidemic of 1918 and the depression of the past three years have paid every dollar of their obligations.

Life insurance policies have as a matter of fact been a lifesaver to many people hard hit by unusual economic conditions, for it is the case that in recent months the life insurance companies have been paying out in loans on policies more than double the amount paid on death claims.

"We believe," says Mr. Finlayson, "that every life insurance company merits the confidence of the Canadian public for the stable way in which its affairs have been handled. The companies are standing up strongly against the present depression and paying all their obligations."

Such approval from the Federal Superintendent of Insurance is indeed a striking endorsation of the stability of life insurance organizations, and it has been earned by the record established by the companies.

AN IMPORTANT CAMPAIGN.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture is to be congratulated in its decision, as explained in a striking advertisement in The Examiner last evening, to marshal the organized forces of the province in an effort to restore prosperity to Ontario farmers and thus to the whole population.

Prosperity Week, beginning October 22, is a campaign to increase the purchase of Ontario farm products, than which the world offers nothing finer.

There is nothing intricate about the object sought; it is simply to endeavor to persuade the people of the province to buy a little more of the produce of Ontario farms.

The introductory advertisement gives it all in a paragraph when it says:

"No matter how small your purchase of Ontario farm products may be, it really is valuable. An extra apple, another vegetable, a little more cheese—each small additional purchase of Ontario farm produce means something truly gigantic when it is duplicated by Ontario's 754,733 families."

This is an effort that should have the hearty and enthusiastic support of every citizen, for it is surely obvious that if the spending power of Ontario's farmers is increased by a larger sale of their products business and industry will benefit accordingly, and there will be a proportionate decrease in the unemployment total.

MR. BENNETT'S CHANCE IN STATESMANSHIP.

Canada's Prime Minister faces one of the most important problems of his career in having to select a chairman and two other trustees for the Canadian National Railways. It is probably safe to say that the difference between a good selection and a poor selection will mean at least 30 to 50 million dollars a year to Canadian taxpayers. It means the difference between the gradual, successful working out of the Canadian National Railway's problem and a further descent into the slough of national bankruptcy.

Mr. Bennett will have to show all the qualities of courage, impartiality, judgment and political honor, that he has on more than one occasion shown in the past.

Preferably the trustees should be Canadians. Surely there is in Canada financial ability, national spirit, and business genius in sufficient quantity to warrant the hope and assumption that the new chairman will be a Canadian.

One thing should be made clear by the Prime Minister; that no appointment will be made to this board of trustees to represent any portion of the country, or any class in the country. Already Labor has been demanding a place on the board. No doubt agriculture will feel that it should be represented. The Maritimes and British Columbia will each want a trustee. Such considerations should not prevail at all. It is a national problem and every part of Canada and every interest in Canada is more concerned in finding skillful management for the railway than in being honored by the choice of a native son or a class representative.

For chairman, Mr. Bennett must find a man still in the prime of life, with the relentless financial genius of Sir Herbert Holt, the intellectual statesmanship of Sir Joseph Flavelle, the working knowledge of Canada of E. W. Beatty and the political courage of Mr. Bennett himself.—Financial Post.

THE CASE OF JUDGE STUBBS.

Following a protest from the Attorney-General of Manitoba the Federal Government has appointed Mr. Justice Ford, of Alberta, to conduct an inquiry into statements made in his judicial capacity by Judge L. St. G. Stubbs, of the Winnipeg County Court.

Judge Stubbs, in his own words, insists upon being himself "and not an official phonograph and judicial rubber stamp." That appears to be the main cause of the trouble, the explanation of the disfavor in which he is held by the Manitoba Government. Certainly the judge speaks his mind with great frankness. He is reported to have said flatly that there was one law for the rich and another for the poor. He taxed school boards with "criminal responsibility" for shutting out unemployed young men who wanted to attend. He asked in sarcastic tones what would be the proper penalty for an alleged theft of $2,500 when an appeal court had held 18 months a suitable term for stealing $284,000. He raises embarrassing questions, propounds unanswerable conundrums, stirs to a frenzy the dry bones of those who look upon the implicit following of tradition as the highest good.

As the Journal sees it, there is something honest, wholesome, and admirable in the calculated indiscretions of a judge who uses wisely the authority of his high post for calling attention to grievances and inequities. We like to think of His Majesty's judges as blazing with passion for the larger justice which is not bounded by law and limited by tradition; we like to see them as men who would rather achieve substantial justice by a cheerful disregard for precedent than blindly follow the law and custom laid down for them to no matter what end. The law is a human device representative of human weakness, a well-meant attempt to apply to the individual certain general laws derived from observation of mankind in masses. There is a higher law of equity, and its application for the most part rests in the hands of the judges, is dependent upon their humanity, their broad general experience of men and things, their wisdom and kindliness.

The great figures of the English Bench are the judges who spoke out their thoughts, who hated injustice and loved righteousness, whose judicial vision was not obscured by technicalities and precedents. The Canadian Bench has been, is fortunate in possessing such figures: men like Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice Latchford, big enough and brave enough to blaze a path of justice through the forest of laws. Judge Stubbs, if we mistake not, belongs to this tradition.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

A.M.O.S. seems to have captured the city, but the invasion is a harmless one.

The Minister of Agriculture is one farmer who is seemingly well satisfied with the Bennett Government and its achievements.

Let us hope October lives up to its reputation of providing some of the most delightful weather of the year.

Never in the past ten years, remarks the Ottawa Journal, has there been a time when you could buy so much with the dollar you haven't got.

News of Our Own Village

Jim Hawthorne of Dummer is to be the Grit candidate in the next provincial set-to and general opinion is Jim and Perce Lancaster oughta make a great bout.

This is a noisy week end in the village a lotta Samaritans or something from far and near gathering in our midst for their annual picnic. It looks like a big nite to-nite.

Uncle Johnny Potvin, who has been dishing out ice cream and such on Main St. for the last 50 years, has moved out to Charlotte St. and the old neighborhood won't seem the same, your scribe fears.

Gord Miller, 1 of our village jewellers, took himself to New York, south east of here, this week, to see some ball games between the team of that town and a nine from Chicago, well to the west. Gord overlooked a good ball game right here at home this Sat., many thinks.

They was some snow fall here last Thurs. a.m., but not enuogh for the snow plows to be out we are glad to state, but Reg. Turner and other fuel dealers was seen smiling or something or other.

Village hunters is getting the old shot gun oiled up, partridge shooting being on the cards this month. Better not forget your red sweaters, lads, warn we.

Fall fairs was held at Lakefield and Millbrook this week, but they aint no statistics available as to the no. of hot dogs, etc., consumed at the same.

They aint no truth in the rumor that the village council is going to let the old brewery across the crick stand as a souvenir of what some folks call the good old days.

Christmas shopping aint taking much hold here at present, but the store keepers is hoping it won't be long now.

What Moments Do You Regret?
Moments of Sorrow?
Moments of Wounded Vanity?

By MARSHALL MASLIN

ARE THERE moments you do not wish to remember?

Moments that sent the blood to your face when they flash unbidden to memory?

Are you like that, too?

* * *

Marshall Maslin

I thought back through the years wondering about that, stirred to reflection by a distasteful memory.

And I remembered moments when I lay beneath an army truck and heard a bombing plane rumbling overhead in the dark and trembled at the thought of rushing bombs. . . A moment when I saw sudden death clutching for me on a mountain highway . . . and avoided him miraculously . . . and shivered at my narrow escape. . . .Many moments like that I remember.

I remembered moments when I was stupid, moments when I was reckless, moments when I was lazy or arrogant or silly . . .blind, jealous, selfish, over-generous, pathetic, weak or hard or soft or sullen or stubborn. . . . A crowd of such moments marched past me in my memory, and suddenly I realized that of none of these moments was I deeply ashamed. They were a part of life. They come to all people. They must be faced, endured, accepted, even welcomed. Making mistakes, doing crazy things, getting experience — thus you grow or seem, at least, to grow.

* * *

What are the remembered moments, then, that do send the flush of almost unbearable shame to the face?

I wondered and wondered and thought them over and picked them to pieces and suddenly I had the answer. . . .Those moments when our vanity was most grievously assaulted. Those instants when we made fools of ourselves before one human being or before a crowd. . . .Those are the shameful moments we can neither forget nor smooth away into insignificance. They stand out and they will not go away though we scold, though we pretend we do not see them, though we hum a little tune and pretend we do not see them.

Just a vain human being, that's all, tortured by moments when his vanity was exposed. (Well, it's too bad, but that's the way we are. We? Yes, we! Everybody. . . .You look back, too, over the moments that hurt you most and see for yourself just which ones they are. See whether they aren't old vanityty wounds).

Is Business Likely To Go Back To Old Ways After Depression

By H. W. L. MAHOOD.

The day of the obstructionist has passed in the United States. Brookhart of Iowa was one of the rawest. He was a candidate at the recent Iowa primaries, for the United States senate. He was dirty in his abuse of Hoover, in the campaign of 1928. During the four years of Hoover's leadership of Congress, Brookhart was an obstructionist in the way of every policy, advocated by the President. Iowa Republicans chose in his place Henry Field, a dirt farmer, and a supporter of Hoover. Obstructionist politicians in times of distress are wreckers and delay recovery.

The defeat of Governor La Follette of Wisconsin, of the obstructionist type, was the first defeat in forty years, for the La Follette family. Kohler a staunch supporter of Hoover was chosen. Senator Blaine of the La Follettee stripe was defeated by John B. Chapple, a young man, and an avowed friend of Hoover. The electors of the United States are doing some political house-cleaning. Easy it is in times of depression to tear down. Constructive support of constructive leadership hastens recovery.

In looking about for signs of economic recovery this trend in American politics is a good omen.

But there are other good omens. Henry I. Harriman is President of the United States Chamber of Commerce. He points to the probability of drastic and widespread readjustment. He holds that economic dawn of a better day will come from a direction in many ways different from the anticipation of economists and statesmen. How true his words are. Following a widespread depression of the past, many people looked for a revival of the wagon and buggy industry. Instead there came a bigger industry. The automobile ushered in a new day and a better. Thousands found employment at much higher wages where hundreds had been. Neither business nor industry have been the same ever since. Both have been on a vastly different and larger scale.

This depression may witness the creation of new commodities. What an awakening will come if new industries spring out of the barren soil of this commercial back-set. The methods of manufacturing and distribution may undergo as drastic change as the world has ever witnessed. Harriman holds there are reasons for believing that we are on the brink of major economic readjustment, and that it is well under way. The coming of the steam engine was abrupt. It came before the world was ready to give it welcome. The world never seems to be ready for better things. Last Summer, in September, this writer in travelling through Michigan visited a little town by the name of Combine. On a farm, near by, a monument has been built by the people in memory of the man, one Hiram Miller, who invented the first combine harvester, in 1868. It consisted of reaper, binder, and thresher. In one day he harvested and threshed twenty-five acres of wheat. He could find no capitalist nor manufacturre to risk putting it on the market in wholesale. The Combine was an inventive success. The inventor did not live to see it a financial success. Then one day came the looms. The weavers smashed them. Antipathy to the machine still exists. Yet, in the face of all this luxuries, which lay beyond the horizon of the masses, a half century ago, are now commonplace. The expanding capacity of the machine is coming to the end. With present capacity the world needs not be troubled about ability to produce all that is needed for comfort.

Business will never take up its march by beginning again where it left off. It will not continue building new industrial plants, and opening up new areas, with the plow in the old way. One feature at least in the new industrial order will to produce things that the people will desire enough to work for. Whatever is produced must be brought within the earning capacity for the worker. To have a home is the great ambition of a family. Two thirds of the American people are improperly housed. One half of the homes in America and Canada are without bathrooms. Forty percent of the population of these countries are without electrical conveniences.

The purchasing capacity must keep step with the productive. Wages determine the strength of the market. The standard of living cannot be stabilized by production alone. Wages and reasonable returns on invested capital make possible stable consuming power. One third of the Canadian and American people are farmers. Prosperity cannot come with any degree of permenancy before the farmer receives a reasonable profit on what he produces.

Quotations For To-Day

Now nature is not at variance with art, nor art with nature, they being both servants of his providence: art is the perfection of nature; were the world now as it was the sixth day, there were yet chaos; nature hath made one world and art another. In brief, all things are artificial; for nature is the art of God.

STATION L-O-V-E

BY CRAIG CARROLL

INSTALMENT 30

"Listen!" Elsie said to Judy. She went to the big radio set in the corner of the dining room, snapped on the power, twisted the dials. A cacophonous mixture of voice, of music, of shouts, of static, filled the room. Then the melee ended.

Suddenly, loud and clear, Judy heard the music of some distant orchestra, slow, smooth. And it faded away, there was a sound of applause from a dance place Judy never would see. Then—

"This concludes our program from the Hollenden House cafe in Cleveland. Your announcer has been Richard Mason, who bids you good night and goo d luck."

Dick! Dick's own voice! The same deep, clear voice, the same way of making words sing when they had no reason to sing, the same voice that thousands of girls were hearing and thrilling to at this moment, all over the country.

Girls as pretty as Judy Allison. Girls nicer than Judy Allison. Maybe one of them was sitting with Dick right now, as Judy had with him the night when Dick took her to meet Ben Bernie and Paul Whiteman.

Maybe he was saying things to some girl in the same deep clear voice she remembered so well. Saying the same things he had said to her, and meaning them, and thinking of Judy Allison only as a girl who had lied to him and cheated him.

* * *

So again it was morning and again they stopped at the restaurant, and again Judy and Elsie parted as before. But this time Judy did not ride South, far south. She walked, instead. Up Michigan, then down Michigan. Then on State street, for a long time. Here, in big windows, were gowns she would be talking about, perhaps, in today's show; this kind of bolero, that kind of bias cut, that sort of fur trimming high around the throat, that new little hat with the four cornered effect. Clothes she would have loved to have because she loved clothes; she loved looking at clothes she couldn't possibly afford. But now they were only dresses in a window.

As going to WAOA, being there just before 10.45 ready to go on the air, was just going on the air again now; not an adventure, not a great triumph, not a thrill at all.

So she waited in the studio. She was early. She had not read through her script. Mustn't get careless. Mustn't forget that words are more than words when you say them to many thousand people. She read them carefully.

A good script, again. With the same fresh, eager tone Elton Day seemed to be able to put into every script he wrote. Yet he hated them, he hated doing the work; he really didn't care anything about all this.

Then how could he do it? By detaching himself completely, by forgetting himself. And he had done the trick so often, he had learned it so well, that he was not able to come back to himself any more.

* * *

She saw the clock hands, creeping close to 10.45. Three minutes to go. With professional deftness, learned already, she arranged the script carefully on the little table. She stood up very straight, filling her lungs with air, exhaling deeply, inhaling again. Ten times over.

Dick said it was a trick, it tightened up your muscles, it quieted the nerves, made your voice steady. He was right. Dick was always right. He knew his job. Anything Judy Allison did to make her program right, to send her voice over the air as it should go, she did because Dick Mason had taught her how.

Ten-forty-four. A minute to go. The announcer was at the microphone, his back to her, ready. The man in the control room looked strangely familiar. But there was no time to look again. Overhead, the red light flashed. Judy Allison was on the air again.

She could not hear the announcer. But she knew what he was reading —"thousands of letters—she hopes to hear from you as she hears from so many other women—she wil be glad to give you the benefit of her experience and her special contacts."

"Ready, Judy. Go ahead."

She read carefully, quietly. No desire to shout, any more, as there had been her first few times when she faced the microphone. This was a job. As long as you could believe you were talking to only one person, you couldn't go wrong. Just go straight ahead. Hit the high points sharply and slowly, so nobody will misunderstand. Go specially slow in the sales talk, so it will really sell. So. It was done.

The announcer took up as she left off. The final sales talk, the address so women could write for the Beauty Builder's advice. Now the light was off. Now it was over.

* * *

Judy gathered up the sheets of the script carefully, folded them, put them in her bag. Tomorrow she'd send a whole file of them home to mother. Mother would show them to the neighbors and be proud of them, and with pathetic determination she'd try to follow all the suggestions, all the exercises, but in a day or two she'd forget the old ones, she'd be so busy trying the new ones. But she would be proud of her daughter, telling so many women all these things. Very proud.

The days work was done. Fifteen minutes a day and you get a $100 check every Saturday. And in a hundred thousand offices a million girls work all six days in a week, and get much less. Lucky Judy Allison. Lucky!

Her mind stood still. She could not breathe. Her eyes were wrong. What she saw was wrong. It couldn't happen. But it had!

Dick Mason himself turned away from the microphone, folded up his script, stuffed it in his pocket, started out of the studio.

But something must be done.

TRIMMING TREES

The Editor, The Examiner.

Dear sir:

If the City Council walked out to the West end and viewed the results of the whims of one of its members, I am sure there would be some immediate action to repair the damage.

One of the prettiest streets in Peterborough has been shorn of its beauty and even October with her brush and palette cannot bring Gilmour street back to what it was until three days ago.

While the chairman of the Parks Committee is to be congratulated on the condition of our City Parks (and I am sure that every citizen appreciates his untiring efforts in this regard) yet it would have been much better for everyone concerned, had he left the pruning of trees in the West end to an experienced person. Until this week, an arch of Maples formed a beautiful canopy above Gilmour street, from end to end. Now when standing at Park, you can see the sidewalk right up past Monaghan road, with none of the green foliage to "mar the vision." Perhaps this is the result Mr. Stocker desired.

The three Elms at the southwest corner of Park and Gilmour are bare to a height of nearly 30 feet since Mr. Stocker and his pole passed up the street. Every tree on the street suffered, and no cyclone could have done more damage. No attempt has been made to treat the wounds on these beautiful Maples and Elms and even the person most inexperienced in forestry knows the fatal results of such abuse to a tree.

The city has been pleased with good administration thus far—surely a Mayor and Council such as we have will attempt to restore this once beautiful spot to its former state.

Hoping this will be read by every resident of Gilmour and the other stricken streets, and thanking you your space, I am,

A DOWNHEARTED RESIDENT.

A flash of lightning knocked down P. Gellaty near Glamos, Scotland, traveled along a wire fence splintering the posts, struck a hay stack setting it ablaze, and felled three horses, one of which died instantly.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

THERE ARE CERTAIN ROOMS in which a clock is a necessity, and others where they are desirable, and still others where they can lend decoration although not essential.

* * * * * * *

A clock is necessary in a kitchen. Many foods must be cooked during a definite length of time or they are spoiled, while others are better for restricted or prolonged cooking.

* * * * * * *

A good cook would not consider cooking without a clock to consult, than she would go without a preserving kettle or a kitchen spoon. Then, too, she must have the clock in order to serve meals on time.

* * * * * * *

Kitchen clocks have become decorative assets to-day, the color of the cases matching the decorative scheme for the room.

* * * * * * *

The dining-room should have a clock in it. Those who have trains to catch in the mornings should not be obliged to consult their watches, when a glance at a clock is sufficient.

* * * * * * *

Dining-room clocks are frequently wall clocks, of which there are endless varieties, from the familiar banjo clock to the amusing cuckoo clocks with a wide range of styles in between.

* * * * * * *

A grandfather's clock is dignified in a dining-room, or the smaller floor clocks termed grandmother's clocks. Mantel clocks are even more usual than these types named.

* * * * * * *

A clock is desirable, too, in a hall. Floor clocks, such as mentioned, are the preferred clocks for halls, with wall clocks of somewhat stately designs as second choice.

* * * * * * *

* * * * * * *

It would be a mistake to deprive a room of such an asset as a boudoir clock, although, as the occupant will be sure to have her own watch, its necessity is diminished.

* * * * * * *

A maid's room should have a clock in it—an alarm clock. It is customary in many places for the kitchen clock to do double duty for this room and the maid's room also.

* * * * * * *

If it is one of the light and yet substantial alarm cocks, such double duty eliminates the purchase of two clocks without any inconvenience.

CHURCH RECITAL WELL RECEIVED

Successful Event Sponsored By Women's Association of Mark Street Church.

POPULAR ARTISTS.

The recital given last night by Pearl Newton, assisted by the Georgian Singers of Toronto, was one of those rare occasions when a discriminating Peterborough audience made a delightful discovery in dramatic and musical art.

This entertainment was presented in the auditorium of Mark Street United Church and was sponsored by the Women's Association.

Rev. C. D. Daniel, the pastor introduced the entertainers and later voiced the appreciation of the well-pleased audience for their splendid work.

While Pearl Newton is a well-known Peterborough favourite, the Georgian Singers, Miss Phyllis their musical ofefrings by an in-wide voice range and John Edmonton the popular baritone singer, are friends of radio fame. opened the program with a delightful little group singing first in duet "Funiculi Funicula," followed by the charming English ballad "Come where my love lies dreaming." In these numbers Miss Henne's clear bell-like soprano was shown to advantage and in the next group of solo numbers she demonstrated her deep and melodious contralto voice in a negro melody of her own composition "In the Silver Moonlight" followed by the lilting strains of "Down Old Kentucky Way."

Mr. Edmondson interspersed chords in the appreciative audi-formal and chatty commentary of witticisms which won the constant applause of the audience. "When Mammy Sings the Old-time Songs" and "Gospel Train," both tender negro lulabies, touched responsive chords in the apreciative audience, recalling the singers again and again.

Popular Artist

In her amazing versatility which has brought her deserved fame, Pearl Newton once again held a Peterborough audience enthralled. Possessed of a flexible and vibrant voice, coupled with a high degree of imaginative power, and dramatic ability, her characterization was most realistic.

The first number in a happily chosen program, "The proposals of Bridget O'Brien," was a prose story which depended for its humor and colour on the speaker's interpretation of the Irish brogue. As a catchy and highly amusing encore, she gave "Fred's Little Mistake."

Miss Newton's most outstanding number, in point of dramaticforce and character delineation was "The Trial Scene from the Merchant of Venice," in which she in turn portrayed the roles of the Duke, Shylock Antonio, Bassanio and Portia. Particularly fine was her impersonation of the malignant usurer whose domineering lust for justice was changed to a cringing plea for mercy.

The famous "Mercy speech" by Portia was a masterpiece in fine enunciation.

"Aren't men funny?" as an encore gave her free scope to display the full powers of humorous expression which she possesses to a high degree.

A "4 to 6 reception in the village of Bethany" as told by the village gossip, showed in an amusing story, the extent to which the social climber wil go to Keep up with the Jonsses, and was done in Pearl Newton's best style.

Musical Numbers

An interlude of musical numbers brought back the pleasing Georgian Singers. Comparing lovers of yesterday with the lovers of to-day, in story and song their numbers ranged from the sublime to the young girl," and "The Second Minridiculous and includeds "Love' Song," "When Grandma was a uet." Two more serious selections followed, "Thinking I hear thee call," and the beautiful hymn "In the Garden."

In solo Mr. Edmondson skilfully handled the exacting number "The Bass Viol."

In addition to her vocal talent, Miss Henne is also a brilliant pianist and provided sympathetic accompaniment for the song program.

With faultless technique she also played in piano solo the familiar composition, Listz's Hungarian Rhapsody. In response to the insistent appreciation, Miss Henne played a bright encore which was her own conception of "Glow Worm."

Among the many old songs of the evening "Seeing Nellie Home," and "Moonlight and Roses," were in high favour.

In duet and solo, another group of Darky songs, "Open your eyes Picaninny," and 'Stay in your own back yard," met sincere approval.

For their concluding number, the voices of the Georgian Singers were particularly attuned to the beautifully sung "O Sole Mio."

Pearl Newton's final offering was one of the best received on her splendid program, and was given especially for the children in the audience. In taking the role of a little girl of six she artfully presented the story of her trip to the drug store on "an important errand."

Her last recall was a poem of a more serious vein yet with a strong optimistic note as its title "The blue above the grey" suggests.

The artists of the evening led in the singing of the National Anthem, which concluded an unusually fine concert.

This talented trio present an evening of well-balanced yet varied entertainment and the ladies of Mark Street United Church are to be congratulated upon giving a Peterborough audience such a pleasure.

Financial Writer R. S. Mortley Dies

TORONTO, October 1 (C.P.). — Randolph S. Mortley, widely known financial writer and trade journalist, died at his home to-day after a long illness.

Mr. Mortley had held posts on the Globe and Telegram in Toronto and on the Witness and Post in Montreal. He served also with the Monitary Times, Toronto, and as assistant editor of the Journal of Commerce, Montreal.

In 1884 he founded The Merchant, a financial and commercial journal in Toronto, which he edited and published until he took office as publicity director of an insurance company.

The number of fur farms in Canada showed an eleven-fold increase from 1920 to 1930, or from 587 to 6,524.

Not So Easy

ISTANBUL, Oct. 1. — (AP) — Turkish men, who once could obtain divorces from their wives merely by saying "I divorce you" in the presence of two witnesses, now must plead their cases in court. Recently a young man won his freedom after long arduous proceedings. "Long live the Republic! long live justice!" he shouted and then fainted away. Court attendants revived him with a lemonade.

TROUBLE FLARES IN 7 REPUBLICS

Only Three States in South America at Peace—Conflicts Worst in History.

BRAZIL FIGHTING HEAVY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(CP)—Disturbances of the public order, running all the way from comparatively minor attempts at revolution to first class civil war, are afflicting seven of the 10 republics in South America.

Paraguay and Bolivia are having an "undeclared war" over the Gran Chaco territory which lies on their borders. Colombia and Peru are at loggerheads as a result of the seizure of the Colombian city of Leticia by Peru. Brazil is racked by civil war.

Another long series of revolts is underway in Chile, and in Ecuador, which is ruled by a provisional government as a result of a military uprising a month ago, the administration has just ousted the Minister of War, charging him with being involved in a plot to set up a military dictatorship.

After weeks of the heaviest fighting South America has witnessed since modern machines of war were devised, the Brazilian federal government and the rebels of the state of Sao Paulo now are negotiating for an armistice, but at the same time fighting continues and the government has placed an order with a United States firm for a large consignment of light weapons of warfare.

Travellers' Aid Work Is Explained

An interesting talk on Travellers' Aid work was given to members of the W.M.S. of Mark street United Church, at their meeting this week, by Miss Harris of Toronto, sister of the Rev. Mr. Harris of Rogers street.

Mrs. C. Daniel, the president of the society, was in the chair for the first part of the meeting, which was presided over later by Mrs. Harris, leader of Group A. Mrs. Payne gave the Bible lesson in story form, Mesdames Scriver and Mitchell sang a duett, "The Old Rugged Cross" in sweet voice and Mrs. D. White gave a short reading. The Study Book, Dominion of Canada, was capably taken by Mrs. E. Wand.

Windsor Police Seek Second Missing Girl

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 1.—(CP)—Windsor police, already faced with the task of searching for one girl, missing since Monday, today had another added to their list when parents of Miss Mabel Collins, 20, Gesto, asked their aid in a search for their daughter whom they had not seen since Tuesday.

Miss Collins had left home on a purported visit to friends in Windsor and failed to return.

The other missing girl Miss Norma Tessie 17-year-old Windsor-Walkerville technical school student had not been traced today.

"My friends all ask me what I used"

"I had a lovely, delicately-colored silk scarf from Paris which was my pride,' 'writes an enthusiastic woman from Quebec. "It became so soiled I had to wash it — which ruined its beauty. I was heart-broken. One day I saw in the drug store a new kind of tints—Diamond Tints. The druggist said they were for light shades and needed no boiling. When I found they were made by the makers of Diamond Dyes, I knew that there was something I would dare to use on my precious scarf. (You see, I had dyed all my mourning clothes with Diamond Dyes and knew they were wonderful.) I got a package of Diamond Tints, dipped my scarf, and it came out as gorgeously colorful as a sunset! My druggist says repeated washings will not fade it. My friends were as delighted as I and wanted to know what I used. Indeed, I'm enthusiastic about Diamond Tints!"

SALVATION ARMY IS CELEBRATING GOLDEN JUBILEE

Army Has Been Established in Canada for 50 Years.

PLAN LARGE RALLIES.

The Canadian Salvation Army is celebrating the 50th anniversary of its founding on Sunday and Monday, and the Peterborough Corps has completed plans for great meetings to commemorate the golden jubilee. The large rallies on both days will be attended by Colonel and Mrs. Burrows of the Salvation Army, who are outstanding in the work.

A fifty year birthday cake will be cut at the temple on Monday, and everyone attending the rallies will be invited to partake of the great cake. A general invitation is being issued to all citizens to join with the Army in the celebration.

For a short time after its foundation in Canada the Salvation Army in this country was managed by the U.S.A. Salvation Army headquarters. However, in a short time a commission was sent from London, England, to take charge as a Canadian Salvation Army.

The work grew very fast, so fast in fact that it could not be checked properly, and the Army had a re-action some five years after opening. But in time it became consolidated and has traced a forward march of progress ever since.

Forty-five years ago it was stated by critics of the Salvation Army that "the Booths got all the money and the Army will be penniless in the long run." However, the record of the Army in financial matters, as in all others, has remained clean—no scandal has touched. This is more amazing when it is remembered that tne Army will take anyone, no matter how low or how criminal, irrespective of race or religion, and give them an opportunity to work in the ranks

It has been stated by auditors and financiers that the system and code of rules and regulations completed by General William Booth compare most favorably with the highest financial institutions in the world, and that the Army books are audited and checked from the smallest corps to the largest in as efficient a manner as the system in the Bank of Montreal.

The books of the Peterborough Corps are checked by an efficient auditor three and four times every year. Every officer who gives his whole time to the Army is paid by a living wage. All the members of the local corps receive no remuneration whatever, and must buy their own uniforms and books.

The local corps consists of: 120 officers, 50 senior bandsmen, 30 junior bandsmen, 60 songsters, all without pay; 270 active members, 200 congregation followers, 450 children. There is a board called the Senior Census Board, which transacts the business of the Peterborough Corps. This board is composed of the following: Adjutant and Mrs. E. M. Fallis, commanding officers; J. J. Cunningham, treasurer; Howard Young, secretary; Thomas Brooks, Stanley J. Richardson, bandmaster; Mrs. E. M. Sutherland, C. C. Guardian; Mrs. J. Halcrow, Sergeant of the League of Mercy; R. C. Braund, Young People's Sergeant-Major. This board takes inside and outside command and is responsible to district headquarters for certain and efficient management of the whole work.

STIRRING MARCH BY LADIES' BAND

Brilliantly Attired Corps in City Attending Samaritan Rally.

DELEGATES VISIT LOCKS.

A ladies' drum, fife and bugle band was a novelty that attracted widespread interest here this afternoon, as they parade George street at one of the busiest periods of the afternoon.

Here in connection with the Northern Division Ancient and Mystic Order of Samaritans 18th District Convention and Ceremonial, the Fife and Drum Corps of Futura Zuanna No. 15, Buffalo, have the distinction of being the only ladies' band connected with the organization.

Interest in their appearance was not caused merely by curiosity on the part of the crowds that lined the sidewalks, but by a genuine admiration for their smart appearance and "military" bearing. The corps was attired in scarlet and white and at their heads marched one of the most impressive of drum majors. She was attired in a dress of white satin with scarlet-lined cape flowing from her shoulders; a shako of white with a wide scarlet band and a tall nodding white plume, sat at a jaunty angle on her head.

While the parade was in progress preparations were being made for start of the big motorcade of delegates that left a short time afterwards for an inpection of the Hydraulic Lift Lock. Special permission had been obtained from the Department of Railways and Canals at Ottawa, so that the delegates had the privilege of seeing the masterpiece of life-lock engineering in operation.

The motorcade consisted of from 75 to 100 automobiles all bearing capacity loads of delegates.

HARVEST FESTIV AL SERVICES IS HELD IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Rev. W. R. Armitage, Toronto, is Special Preacher for Occasion.

CHURCH DECORATED.

Seldom has the pulpit of St. John's church been occupied by a more virile and engaging visiting preacher than the Rev. W. R. Armitage, rector of the Church of the Messiah, Toronto, who last evening delivered an inspiring message to a large congregation.

The occasion was the annual Harvest Festival Service which will again be held on Sunday. Archdeacon Rev. R. C. Biagrave, D.D., conducted the service and was assisted by the Rev. E. R. James.

Full significance of the words of the old hymn were conveyed in the produce of farm and garden, with which the church was decorated:

"All that spring with bounteous hand
Scatters o'er the smiling land;
All that liberal autumn pours
From her rich o'erflowing stores."

"Harvest time brings home to each one of us a full realization of our utter dependance on God," remarked the speaker during the course of his sermon," and it also warns us against forgetfulness, while reminding us of our inter-dependance one with the other."

The Christian religion, the minister averred was one of joy and gladness and harvest time in particular was a time of joy and thankfulness. He read portions of a chapter from "Lorna Doone," referring to harvest customs in Somersetshire, and also spoke of similar customs which were held in Shropshire. All the world around there were many religious customs centering around harvest time and they were not all distinctive of the Christian church. For instance he mentioned the Feast of the Passover and also the Feast of Pentecost, and others.

It was claimed by some people that harvest festival services were out of place in city churches, but he claimed, "we have a real part in it. The harvest deals with fundamental things upon which our very life is founded."

Speaking of bread, which had been referred to so extensively in the Scriptures and which was used figuratively in many of the lessons taught by the Saviour, the speaker said, "the problem of the peoples' bread was ever upon the Lord's mind.

Back of the loaf of bread, he pointed out, was the mill; back of the mill, the fields of golden grain and the rain showers, and back of all that was God. 'It all goes back to God, and it is well we should ponder on that thought and realize the peril of forgetfulness," he said.

In stressing the fact of the interdependance of one person with another, the Rev. Mr. Armitage stated, "the loaf of bread as it were took a thousand men to make." One had to think of those who sow the grain; of the harvester and the machinery he needed; the miller and the mill; the grain trains and the Great Lakes freighters; the iron and steel workers who produced the machinery; the baker who baked the loaf and so on. 'We being one are all of one body for we are partakers of the same bread."

Special music was provided by the full surpliced choir that was in attendance at the service under the direction of the organist and choirmaster, F. G. Mann, L.Mus. The anthem was Garrett's Harvest Cantata, with H. Ridgeley, bass soloist and Victor Coleman, boy soloist.

Estimates 200 Dead

A death toll of more than 200, with at least 1,000 injured, is the estimate made by James R. Beverley, above, governor of the island, as a result of the hurricane which swept across Porto Rico. Additional reports would probably revise the list upward, the governor said.

Hastings

Lynch's hall was a place of much merriment on Thursday evening, September 29th, when a miscellaneous shower was bestowed upon Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beamish (nee Edythe Buck, of Norwood.)

Three young men, friends of the groom, Messrs. Fred Morrow, Leo Cleary, and Cecil Oliver, invited the many guests, who numbered around two or three hundred.

The greater part of the evening was spent in dancing. O'Grady's orchestra supplied the music; also comic songs by Frank Taylor.

The guests of honor occupied a prominent place in the large assemblage, and Fred Morrow acted as chairman.

The groom thanked all those present for their kindness.

The gifts bestowed upon the happy couple were numerous, some costly and many useful.

Weddings

(Examiner Correspondence)

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 1.—The following news item taken from the Grand Forks (B. C.) Gazette will have much local interest as the bride was a former resident of Lakefield and was prominently identified with the activities of St. John's church and also was the first president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion.

HAWLEY—BREWSTER

(Examiner Correspondence)

TRENT RIVER, Oct. 1.—A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 1 when Gladys Irene Brewster, only daughter of Mr. Charles and the late Mrs. Brewster of "Rio Vista" cottage, Trent River (formerly of Havelock) became the bride of Claud Llewelyn Hawley of Toronto.

The ceremony took place at three o'clock in the afternoon at the United church parsonage, 33 Heath street, Toronto. Rev. G. W. McColl (formerly of Havelock) officiated. The bride and groom were unattended.

Immediately after the nuptional knot was tied the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip motoring to Detroit, Mich. and Northern Ontario.

The bride wore a suit of heavy brown crepe with chalk pink crepe satin faced top waist and sash, with steel trimming on jacket, shoes hose and assessories to match, her travelling coat was of baise lapin swagger trimmed with broom lapin. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Hawley will reside in Toronto.

FORESTER—HILLIARD

On Friday afternoon, September Immediately after the nuptial 2nd the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. ty wedding, when the latter's niece, Miss Dorothy Grace Hilliard, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hilliard of Oak Bay, Victoria, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Douglas Forrester of Grand Forks. There were no attendants and Mr. Atwood gave his niece in marriage. Rev. Mr. Archibald performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives of the bride who was dressed in a charming shell pink jacquette costume of flat crepe trimmed with an amythest blue velvet girdle which formed a bow in front, and wore a corsage bouquet of pink and white rose buds and asparagus fern. The color scheme was carried in the room decoration which were charming with masses of gladioli, larkspur and cosmos.

Mr. and Mrs. Forester left by motor for Christina Lake and will later reside at the Riverside Nurseries, Grand Forks.

BEAUTIFUL ALTARS ARE BLESSED BY BISHOP O'CONNOR IN LINDSAY

Main, Side Altars and Communion Rail Presented by Richard Kylie.

GIFTS ARE WORKS OF ART

A beautiful ceremony took place in Lindsay on Thursday when the magnificent main and side altars and communion rail, donated to St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church by Mr. Richard Kylie in memory of his wife, the late Nora Regan, and his son, the late Professor Edward Kylie, were blessed and accepted at a Pontifical High Mass solemnized by His Excellency the Rt. Rev. Denis O'Connor, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough.

Gleaming white in their pristine purity, the gifts of Mr. Kylie are works of art. The main altar, the altar of the Blessed Virgin, depicts the Last Supper, while the west altar represents the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes.

Occupying the enlarged east transept is the altar of the Sacred Heart, with St. Margaret Mary kneeling at the feet of Our Lord. The altars are constructed on Gothic lines, and they presented a strikingly beautiful picture, decorated with lighted candles and gold lace and flowers.

Forming an admirable background are the murals and decorative panels of the sanctuary, all of which have been re-decorated. The sacred figures on the altars are so beautifully executed that they seem to glow with life. Four new flood lights installed within the sanctuary complete a very decorative interior.

His Excellency the Bishop, who blessed the altars and offered Pontifical High Mass, was assisted by the Rev. Paul Costello, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral in Peterborough, as High Priest, while the Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan of Wooler and the Rev. Vincent Corkery of Peterborough, were deacons of honor. The Rev. J. V. McAuley of Ennismore was deacon of the Mass, the Rev. C. J. McCarney of Lindsay was sub-deacon, and Masters of Ceremonies were the Rev. J. Finn of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, and the Rev. Kevin Corkery of Lindsay. The sermon was preached by the Rev. P. J. Galvin of Downeyville, and a choir of fifty children's voices, trained by the Sisters of St. Joseph, sang the music of the Mass.

Places of honor within the sanctuary were occupied by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor W. J. McColl, D.P., V.G., of Lindsay; the Rt. Rev. Monsignor A. F. Kelly, D.P., of Cobourg; the Very Rev. Dean F. J. O'Sullivan of Peterborough, and the Very Rev. Dean M. J. O'Leary of Bracebridge.

Old Church.

The ceremony marked the blessing of a portion of the church which has been unchanged for many long years. The main altar remained untouched since the first foundation was laid in 1859, and the side altars since they were installed in the late '90's. The construction of the new altars of regalico trimmed with white marble, and the cost was $6,600.

"Truly you must love this church, and surely you must rejoice on this occasion, when it is rendered more beautiful and more fitted for the great work which is performed within its walls," said Father Galvin, the special preacher for the occasion.

"In this church the majority of the congregation were baptized. In it their burden of sin has been removed in the sacrament of penance, in it many have been married and it is here that the bodies of loved ones are brought before being taken to their final resting place.

"The work performed within the church transcends in importance all other works upon which we may be engaged on this earth.

"This morning you witnessed a sacrifice offered up by His Excellency the Bishop on an altar blessed and dedicated by him. It is a sacrifice that carries us back to the day when Our Lord took bread and blessed it and said, 'This is My Body,' when He took wine and blessed it and said, 'This is My Blood'—a sacrifice that links us with the early days of Christianity, offered, as it is, on a stone that contains the relics of some of God's great saints. It is a ceremony that fulfills the prophecy of Malachias, who, 2,300 years ago, spoke of the sacrifice that would be offered up from the rising of the sun even to the going down thereof.

"Your rejoicing can therefore be well understood. The sacrifice of the altar will always continue in your church, and these new altars and the other improvements will add to the impressiveness of the sacred ceremonies."

Mr. Kylie's Gifts.

Father Galvin congratulated the parishioners and Monsignor McColl upon the completion of the work. He made special reference to Mr. Richard Kylie, donor of the three altars.

"Mr. Kylie has been for many years a valued member of this congregation and a prominent member of the town of Lindsay. He has served Church and State well, and has done much for the advancement of both. May God bless him for his generosity and may he live long to enjoy the reward of deeds well done and of a life well spent."

Speaking briefly at the close of Father Galvin's discourse, His Excellency Bishop O'Connor commented on the beauty of the new additions to the church.

"The offering of sacrifice in the Blessed Sacrament is the very soul of our holy religion," he declared. "The sacrifice of the Mass is a perpetuation of Christ's own sacrifice on the cross. To the altar, the rest of a church's equipment and decoration is only an accessory. The altar and what it symbolizes forms the very soul and core of the church.

"To-day we signalize the magnificent gift of these altars to our church by one parishioner, Mr. Kylie. In the name of all the parishioners, in the name of the pastor, and in my own name, I congratulate him. In these altars he has created a monument to his faith that is more lasting than bronze and the memory of it will endure for years."

Priests who were present for the ceremony included the Rev. Fathers P. P. Butler of Kinmount, G. J. Maher of Huntsville, E. A. Welsh of Trout Creek, C. J. Carroll of Peterborough, V. J. Gilloghy of Victoria Road, J. J. Guiry of Port Hope, Leo Rishea of Trout Creek, C. J. Maloney of Peterborough, C. J. Phelan of Campbellford, C. J. Begley of Peterborough and M. J. McGuire of Douro.

Following the Mass, the visiting priests dined in the parish hall, the ladies of the parish providing the service.

MISS O'CONNELL DESCRIBES TRIP AROUND WORLD

Beautiful Travelogue is Given in the Collegiate Institute.

MORE THAN PICTURE.

A glimpse of something new in a Travelogue was afforded the audience, about three hundred in number, that assembled in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute last night, to see the travel pictures and hear the illustrative concert that accompanied the presentation by Miss Marguerite E. O'Connell, of views of her recent trip around the world.

It was an entertaining program, with a novel touch in the musical and recitative numbers that were presented on the stage as the story of Miss O'Connell's travels unfolded itself in slides that were beautifully and appropriately colored. The entertainment was more like a moving picture show than the usual run of travelogues.

Miss O'Connell, whose home is in Peterborough, is a member of the staff of Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute in Toronto, and her 'round the world trip was made possible when she received a Government scholarship to study abroad and took the long way around the globe to reach her destination in France.

The slides included views of Canada, the Hawaiian Islands, the Fijian Islands, New Zealand, Australia, Ceylon, India, Arabia, Egypt, France, Italy and Switzerland. The exquisite coloring made them especially interesting.

A hidden chorus of well-trained voices, singing songs appropriate to the view portrayed, added much to the interest and attraction of the program. The accompaniment included also organ, piano, Hawaiian guitar, banjo and violin music, as well as whistling numbers and recitations.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., opened the program with a few well-chosen words and closed it with an eloquent tribute to Miss O'Connell and her work, in a characteristically entertaining little speech.

Beauties of the Homeland

The loveliness of Lake Louise and the Canadian Rockies, the totem poles of British Columbia, preceded the showing of foreign scenes. Then came Hawaii, with Diamond Head in the background; fair damsels with welcoming floral leis and hula skirts; the surf-riders of Waikiki and the golden sunset behind Honolulu.

In the Fiji Islands, one paused to see the fire dancers and the Waitone caves; in New Zealand, the native Maoris looked out from fine slides that showed their fierce faces and the unbobbed, luxuriant locks of the women.

"God made the world, and found it a failure; then He looked around and made Australia," announced triumphantly the small lad who made a momentary appearance on the stage during the showing of pictures of "Down Under." Here was Sydney's famous Harbor Bridge; tall sugar cane plantations and orange groves; a glimpse of the railway that runs for 300 miles without a single curve; a reminder on the screen in the shape of four warm-looking sheep, that Australia's sheep population, just 29 in number in the year 1788, has now increased to the total of 108,481,068; the kangaroo and the bird called the laughing jackass; the wonderful stalactites of New South Wales.

In the town of Nhill, Miss O'Connell found some relatives and several of the slides portrayed their families.

Then came the Island of Ceylon, with the pearl and rose-tinted mosque of Colombo; India and Bombay, with its sacred camels and elephants; Benares and the sacred Ganges that Gordon Sinclair has made famous; the marvellous Jain Temple at Calcutta; the banyan tree that grows across instead of up, and the snake charmers of that ancient land.

Aden in Arabia came next, and the main pass through the mountains; Egypt and the gold-domed mosque of Cairo; the white Arabian mares of the desert and the beauties, veiled and unveiled; the age-old Sphinx and the pyramids.

La Belle France

France followed swiftly in the series of pictures; Paris with its Arc de Triomphe, the domed church of Sacre Coeur, the Louvre and the Luxembourg Palace, the Place ed la Concorde, and the Avenue des Champs Elysees; Versailles; the pale rose bedchamber of Napoleon and the blue room of Marie Antoinette; the state coach of Charles 10th, and the Petit Trianon, where Marie Antoinette played at being a milkmaid.

Italy—the Temple of Love; the Cathedral of San Angelo; the ruins of the Colliseum and the ancient Forum; the Arch of Constantine, and the dome of St. Peter's; Milan Cathedral, like a dream immortalized in stone lace; St. Mark's and Venice with the blue waters of the lagoon.

Then Switzerland, with the famous St. Gothard Pass cutting through the everlasting peaks; St. Bernard's Monastery; the pale Matterhorn with a ribbon of blue river at its foot.

Coming back across the blue ocean, the slides swiftly turned to "Home, Sweet Home," and Montreal and Toronto bits followed, with a fine view of the handsome buildings of Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute and a very appropriate conclusion in a colored picture of Peterborough's own Life Lock.

A chorus about Canada and a little whimsical sketch by a tiny bell-hop who regards his red cap and his load of baggage as non-essential and a good education as the thing to strive for, formed a fitting period, with Mr. Kerr's remarks following, and finally, an ensemble appearance on the stage of Miss O'Connell and her assistants.

In a very brief little speech, Miss O'Connell thanked the audience and Mr. Kerr and her helpers! also V. R. Henry, who manipulated the slide machine in his usual very satisfactory fashion.

A lovely bouquet of flowers was presented to Miss O'Connell, at the close of the program.

Assisting in the musical interludes and accompaniments were the following: Chorus of voices, the Misses Helen Ross, Phyllis Cowle, Louise Flynn, Madeline Flynn, Geraldine McAuliffe, Peggy Donaldson, Veronica Scollard, Leona Hummel.

Miss Helen Ross had a vocal solo; Miss Mignon Mayneord whistled very charmingly, for the "Home, Sweet Home" portion of the showing; Frank Clarke played banjo; Harry McDonald the violin, and Hawaiian guitars were played by the Misses Helen Ludbrook, Veronica Scollard and Violet McNevan.

The organ music was played by Miss Veronica Scollard, and the piano by Miss Eleanor Grisdale. Miss Josephine Lynch, who is attending the University in Toronto, played the piano for the practices of several weeks past.

A very catchy tambourine dance, a Tarantelle, in the Italian section, was done by Miss Sophie Yeotes and Miss Thelma Buller, in native costume. A Sailor's horpipe was danced by the Misses Sophie Yeotes, Thelma Buller, Audrey Johnson, Dorothy Allen, Audrey Flynn and Barbara Cavalier. Miss Mary Thomas played the dance accompaniments.

Messrs. Joseph Clancy and J. Kirkcaldy sang "On The Road to Mandalay," and other appropriate numbers; Miss Thelma Buller and Leonard Thomas recited, and little Donald Perks was the small "redcap," for the finale.

Ushers were the Misses Mary Westbye, Dorothy Couper, Grace Comstock, Jean Duffus, Dorothy Gavine, Elizabeth Mulholland and Mary Comstock.

This afternoon, the entertainment was repeated in the Collegiate Institute auditorium, for the benefit of the children.

THE TOM MONTGOMERY PROSPECTING SYNDICATE

Offers Now

25 Units at $200.00 per Unit

To further prospect and partially develop 15 gold claims in the Townships of Swayze and Dore in the Sudbury District.

The claims adjoin the J. and Miner Kenty claims on the south and east.

A road has been completed to the property from Sultan on the C.P.R., 22 miles to the south.

Already seven veins have been indicated and the extension of the ore zone on the Kenty claims will shortly be disclosed.

This offering will provide $5,000.00, sufficient to erect a winter camp, and it is hoped put valuable ore in sight.

A number of these units have been disposed of at $150.00 per unit.

In addition to these claims, certain other claims in Greenlow Township adjoining Swayze on the southwest and adjoining the recent find staked by Newbec Mines have been staked by Tom Montgomery.

The structure of the Syndicate is 1,000 units, of which after this offering is taken up, there will remain in the treasury 600 units.

The Gold situation in Canada to-day is attracting the attention of new capital, but from the development angle rather than from the promotional angle.

The entire $200.00 per unit of this offering goes into the treasury of the Syndicate, less the cost of advertising.

Make all cheques payable to C. H. Ackerman, Trustee, Peterborough.

Announcing

THE MONTHLY INVESTOR'S BOND

THE London Life takes pleasure in announcing an important extension of its service. It has perfected and offers a new plan to monthly investors---an investment as secure as the London Life's financial position itself---the Monthly Investor's Bond.

It is designed for men and women who can save regularly—at least $25.00 a month—and will appeal both to those who cannot afford to "take chances," and to those who want to have a guaranteed minimum income to fall back upon for retirement in case their other ventures should fail them.

Annual dividends on the London Life's high scale make this an exceptionally attractive investment.

Furthermore, the Monthly Investor's Bond can be insured, so that in the event of your death before the Bond would ordinarily mature, it would become payable in full immediately to whomsoever you have directed.

If you have been waiting for some institution to offer an investment like this, get full particulars from any London Life representative or from your nearest Branch Office.

LEGION FAIR BIG SUCCESS

Approximately $500 Taken in With Estimate Profit of $250.

MONEY FOR RELIEF.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 1 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Financial success attended the efforts of the Campbellford Branch of Canadian Legion on Thursday evening, when they staged their annual street fair and dance, when approximately $500 was taken in and with deduction of expenses it is estimated that there will be a clear profit to the branch of about $250. Coming, as it does, after many similar functions in Campbellford, this can be considered a successful affair.

And in addition to this, the branch was under an added expense this year, for instead of renting booths it decided to make its own, with the result that now the local Legion possesses its own equipment for future fairs, and will not be under the expense renting this equipment from other organizations. This materially increased this year's expenditures, however. All money is used for relief work.

STUDENTS FORM LITERARY GROUPS

Evelyn Leng, Gwen Rutherford, Gray Kemp Presidents of Havelock Societies.

HAVELOCK, Oct. 1. (Examiner Correspondence). — Since the reopening of school for the fall term, the students of the Continuation School, have been busy in after-school hours, forming into three Literary groups, to be known as Lits One, Two and Three.

After three students had been elected to head each group as president they chose sides to form the respective societies, and elected other officers, as follows:

Lit. One—President, Evelyn Leng; Vice Pres., Will Rose; Editor, Ernest Aboud; Associate Editors, Irene Pollock, Marjory Leng; Pianist, Francis Thompson, Assistant, E. Long.

Lit. Two—President, Gwen Rutherford; Vice Pres., Dorothy Davidson; Editor, Campbell Rowat; Pianist, Cordie McColl, Assistant Pianist, Maurice Williams.

Lit. Three — President, Gray Kemp; Vice Pres., Lorraine McQuigge; Editor, Helen Bedford; Associate editors, Howard Hartin, Eric Anderson; Pianist, Helena Spencer; Assistant Pianist, Reta Leeson.

Three programs will be given before the end of the year, one by each group, beginning with Lit. One which will put on a program at the end of October; the other two will put on an entertainment at the end of November and December. Each group will select the form of entertainment, and prepare it without any help from the teachers. In the past many fine concerts have been prepared by these groups, and it is expected the ones given this term will be up to the high standard set by previous school Literary societies here.

Backache is Sign of Kidney Trouble

Backache is Nature's warning that there is something wrong with your Kidneys. Never neglect it. Backache, if not corrected, is often followed by more serious forms of Kidney trouble such as Rheumatism, Dropsy or even Bright's Disease. At the first sign of Kidney trouble, such as Backache, turn unhesitatingly to Dodd's Kidney Pills — which for over three generations has been the favourite Kidney tonic and Remedy. 242

CHICKEN SUPPER AT COLDSPRINGS

Elmer Frost is Re-elected President of Young People's Society.

REPORTS GOOD YEAR.

A very successful banquet was held on Wednesday evening at Coldsprings Union Sunday School, Otonabee, when the Young People's Society were hosts to the officers and members of the Sunday School. About ninety guests enjoyed a very excellent chicken supper and community singing. A splendid program followed, when speeches and reports were given by the officers of the Young People's Society, with the president, Mr. Elmer Frost, in the chair. The toast to the King was proposed in a few well-chosen words by Mr. Ernest Kitney, and was responded to by the singing of the National Anthem. The toast to the Sunday School was proposed in a very able manner by Miss Mary Tully and replied to by the superintendent, Miss Laura Bennett who gave a short history of the Sunday School work. Then Miss Madge Huston very capable proposed a toast to the Young People's Society, to which the president responded, paying tribute to the Sunday School and the co-operation of the parents for the success of the Society.

Following this short reports were given by the different officers, showing that a very successful year's work had been achieved. The officers for the past year were as follows:

Devotional—Mrs. Harold Bennett.
Missionary—Miss Mary Huston.
Citizenship—Mr. Percy Windrim.
Social—Mrs. Donald Rose.
Secretary—Miss Jean Gillespie.
Treasurer—Mr. David Wilson.

A very pleasing part of the evening's program was the presentation of a number of cheques for substantial amounts to help in the work of the Sunday School as the contribution from the Young People's Society, the cheques being presented by the treasurer, Mr. David Wilson.

The audience was then entertained in the customary enjoyable manner by Messrs. David and Harold Wilson in several cornet selections and by Mrs. Ernest Kitney, who sang in her usual pleasing way. A humorous reading by Mrs. Harold Bennett was also much enjoyed. Mr. Elmer Frost, the president of the society, then gave a splendid address, basing his topic on Ephesians 6, 7th verse: "With good-will doing service to the Lord and not to men," stressing the word "Service." Much of the success of the society during the past year was due to Mr. Frost's capable leadership and untiring efforts. He was unanimously re-elected.

The new officers were elected by ballot and are as follows:

Hon. President—Miss Laura Bennett
President—Mr Elmer Frost.
1st Vice-President (Devotional)—Miss Jean Wilson.
2nd Vice-President (Missionary)—Miss Mary Huston.
3rd Vice-President (Citizenship)—Mr. Harold Wilson.
4th Vice-President (Social)—Mrs. Harold Bennett.
Secretary—Miss Mary Tully.
Treasurer—Mr. David Wilson.
Pianist—Mr. Harold Kidney.

While the ballots were being counted by the scrutineers, Miss Marjorie Huston, Mr. E. Kitney and Mr. Art Sayer, a sing-song was enjoyed by all present. The meeting closed with the singing of 'Blest be the tie that binds," and the pronouncing of the benediction by the superintendent of the Sunday School.

HASTINGS, Oct. 1. (Examiner Correspondence). — Monday night has been set for the first game of the finals for the Tip Top Cup on the local bowling greens. The same two teams will meet again this year, Dr. W. W. Campbell and H. Dodd. Dr. Campbell won the cup last year.

CHURCH BAZAAR AT FLEETWOOD

Annual Event is Held Under Auspices of Women's Association of Church.

ENJOYABLE EVENT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

FLEETWOOD, October 1. — The frequent showers on Wednesday evening failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the group of ambitious workers connected with the Fleetwood Women's Association, when they held their annual bazaar at the "Brick Corners."

The fair-sized crowd privileged to be present enjoyed a real treat in a delicious roast chicken supper, followed by jolly social intercourse, and a delightful program.

Two long, well filled tables were laid at the rear of the school building. At the left side an attractive table of fancy work and hand made novelties received continual attention from groups of generous buyers. A gaily decorated booth containing home made candy, etc., did a good business all the evening. The mystic fish pond attracted the interest of the younger crowd of eager fishermen, who went away delighted with the fruits of their labor.

By eight o'clock the crowd had assembled at the church, ready for the musical program for which Rev. Mr. Scott of Bethany, pastor of the church, was the able chairman, his introductory remarks being of the usual kindly and humorous type.

The Fleetwood five-piece orchestra, with Mrs. Cummiskey, Ida Shea, Margaret Hart, George Tims, and Mr. Hamilton, were most generous with their lively and much appreciated music.

Mr. Adam of Lindsay, who has successfully entertained the Fleetwood people on former occasions, received heartiest applause for his well chosen numbers and serious nature alternately.

From a financial standpoint the entire event was a decided success, over $50 being the net proceeds of the evening's activities.

It was announced that the fine new communion set which has recently been placed in the church by the efforts of the Women's Association, would be used initially at the church service next Sunday.

A word of appreciation was voiced in favour of Wellesly Staples, M.P.P., who during his stay at his summer home at Lake Scugog has been a helpful attendant at the Fleetwood services, teaching the adult Bible class in the Sunday school and creating interest in various ways with his numerous talents.

5TH ST. ANDREW'S.

The Pack Group Committee held a meeting in the parlor of St. Andrew's Sunday School Hall recently, when those present included Rev. C. V. McLean, Pack Chaplain; J. Ridyard and I. Lillico, Cubmaster W. V. Hains-Howard and Assistant Cubmaster D. Kerr.

During this meeting the Cub Pack was re-organized and also the Group Charter for the Pack was granted on behalf of the Boy Scout Provincial Association which the Pack is proud to have The Pack s sorry to lose its former Assistant Cubmaster, Bill McPherson who has helped the Pack a great deal, and they also welcome their new leader, Assistant Cubmaster Don Kerr

The Pack will be ready to commence its winter activities on Friday evening, October 7. Cubmaster W. V. Hains-Howard invites all boys who are between the ages of 8 and 12 and who wish to join the Pack, to come along at 7 p.m. sharp to St. Andrew's Sunday School Hall.

St. Andrew's is also in hopes of having a Boy Scout Troop so any boy between the age of 12 and 18 who is interested in Scouting or wishes to become a Scout is invited to come next Friday evening at 7 p.m. sharp to St. Andrew's Hall.

LOCAL TALENT PLAYING CAMPBELLFORD THEATRE

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 1. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The Hollywood Theatre, Campbellford, resembled Massey Hall on Thursday evening when in addition to the regular program, an hour of classical and popular vocal and instrumental entertainment was staged by local and Toronto talent. This feature, which will continue for the balance of the week, not only added to the splendid program of pictures but gave the lovers of music a treat which they greatly arpreciated.

The program consisted of vocal selections by Mrs. Dorothy Stanley Windrim, pianoforte solos by Mrs. Gwendolin E. Lewis and violin selections by W. Hauffman of Toronto. Mr. Lewis was the accompanist for the artists.

Obituary

JAMES GRAHAM.

KEENE, Oct. 1.—(Examiner Correspondence.) — Death yesterday claimed one of the oldest residents of Otonabee township when James Graham passed away at his home near Villiers at the age of 82 years. He had been in ill health for some time but was confined to his bed five weeks ago following the death of his wife. He was born in the township and lived all his life here.

He is survived by two sons, James of Colborne; William, at home, and one daughter, Mrs. John McAdam, at home; also one brother, Alexander of Tarberry, Manitoba.

The funeral will be held Sunday at 1 p.m. from the family residence to Fife's cemetery, the Rev. J. V. McNeely of the United church, officiating.

EDITH TULLY

The funeral was held this morning from Comstock's Funeral Home, of Edith Tully of Smith Township, who died at Nicholls Hospital on Friday. She was 53 years of age. Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Tyler, with interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. T. H. MILBURN.

Word has been received of the death in Brandon, Manitoba, of Susannah Mann, wife of the late Thomas H. Milburn, on September 20.

The late Mrs. Milburn will be remembered by many, having lived for many years on the farm at present owned by Mr. Dalton Stewart, Chmeong Road.

Interment was made at Brandon.

Two Charter Members Of Otonabee Lodge Which Was Organized in 1882 Now Survive

Probably none of the delegates to the 16th District Convention Ceremonial of the Northern Division Ancient and Mystic Order of Samaritans now in session here, can claim a more lengthy and honored connection with the Order than Samaritan M. M. Mowry of Cyzicus Sanctorum No. 24 of this city.

Samaritan Mowry who bears his seventy-nine years well, was this morning one of the most active men at the Oddfellows Hall and was on hand with others to welcome delegates as they came in from various parts of the Northern Division which embraces a territory from Timmins in the north to Toledo, Ohio in the south.

His connection with Oddfellowship dates back to his initiation into Aurora Lodge No. 148 I.O.O.F. on September 17, 1874—just a few days over 58 years back. He is also one of the two surviving charter members of Otonabee Lodge I.O.O.F. Peterborough which was resuscitated on December 8, 1882. There were ten charter members Samaritan Mowry recalls, and he and G. Earley of Cannington are the only two now living.

He is a Past Noble Grand of Otonabee Lodge, having occupied the chair in 1887 and is also Past Chief Patriarch of Hiawatha Encampment.

HARVEST SERVICE HELD IN LAKEFIELD

Archdeacon Blagrave is Special Speaker—Daubuz Memorial Window Unveiled.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 1 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Harvest Festival service in St. John's Church was held on Thursday night, with Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A., in charge, and Venerable Archdeacon Blagrave of Peterborough as the special preacher.

A special feature was the dedication of a memorial window placed in the church by Miss Daubuz, in memory of her parents. The window was unveiled by Archdeacon Blagrave and dedicated to the glory of God and in loving memory of Henry James Daubuz and Mary Isabella, his wife. The ceremony was a solemn and very impressive one, and appropriate to the service of thanksgiving to God for His manifold gifts.

The harvest hymns, familiar to everyone, were heartily sung, with Mrs. J. W. Todd at the organ.

Touching Address.

Dr. Blagrave took his text from the first part of the 19th verse of the 22nd chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke: "And He took bread and gave thanks and break it," and gave a very thoughtful and timely sermon on thanksgiving to God for blessings given. In this year when there is so much need, the harvest has been exceedingly bountiful; God's mercy to man is boundless, and He has never failed in His promise given so long ago that there would always be seed time and harvest. Man goes back to the soil, for it is from the soil that all these gifts of harvest come. Our Lord gives us the gift of life which is one of God's greatest gifts to us. The shadow of depression over the world is caused by the bungling of man, for God never bungles, and over all is God's power which is revealed to man in many ways. We have a manifestation of this in the growth and harvest of the fruits of the soil. Every day should be a day of thanksgiving to God; every Lord's Day should be a day of thanksgiving, and the Holy Eucharist is a service of thanksgiving to God for His greatest gift to us—His only Son given for our redemption.

Dr. Blagrave commended the donor of the memorial window for her gift, which not only perpetuates the service of those who are gone but beautifies the church which they loved, and in which they worshipped. God's white light filtering through the memorial windows adds to the House of God a greater atmosphere of reverence. This church is one of the most beautiful, both outside and inside, in all the countryside, and this gift adds much to its beauty, and it is a fitting season to dedicate such a gift."

Rector Speaks.

Rev. W. J. Creighton, rector of the parish, also spoke a few words of appreciation to Miss Daubuz for her generous gift, which has added so much to the beauty of the church. He also expressed pleasure and gratitude to Archdeacon Blagrave for his presence at the service.

The window has been placed on the east side of the church, and is near the pew occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Daubuz. The work is beautiful, and is symbolic of the resurrection, the greatest of all miracles. "He is Risen" is inscribed under the central figure, and the inscription, "In loving memory of Henry James Daubuz and Mary Isabella, his wife, erected by their daughter Edith."

OMEMEE A.Y.P.A. HOLDS FALL MEET

Interesting Debate Features Program—News of the District.

OMEMEE, Oct. 1. — The first meeting this fall of the A.Y.P.A., was held in the church basement on Monday evening, with a good attendance present.

A debate, "Resolved that Women should exercise a Leap Year Prerogative," was the main feature of the program. The affirmative side was victorious and was upheld by Miss Audrey Weir and Horace Hill. The negative side, taken by Miss Mabel Thorn and Wm. Gallagher, put up a stiff argument, and lost only by a few points.

Allan Adams was installed into the office of secretary.

This year's program promises to be very interesting, and it is to be hoped that the attendance will be good.

Re-organize Society.

A meeting for the purpose of re-organizing the society and electing new officers was held by the Young People's Society of Trinity United Church in the church basement, on Monday evening.

Dr. Reddick opened the meeting with prayer after which a resolution endorsed by the society, was read by Dr. McPhee, the retiring president. This motion was accepted by the young people and the election of officers followed.

The new officers are Wm. Weir, president, Miss Faulkner, vice-president, H. Vaughan, secretary, Wm. Earle, treasurer. A committee of three was appointed to act with the officers to form an executive body.

Miss Eileen Johnston, Miss M. Faulkner and Dr. McPhee, were appointed to look after the securing of a play for the society to to put on at Christmas.

The young people then adjourned to Green's Landing on Pigeon River for the purpose of holding a weiner roast. Over fifty were present and an evening full of fun and pleasure was enjoyed by all.

Millers Gain 1 Game Lead in Little World Series

CIRCUIT BLOW IN 10TH FRAME DEFEATS BEARS

Minneapolis Makes it Two Straight Victories Over Newark.

FINAL SCORE 2-1.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 1—(AP)—A smashing home run over the left-field bleachers ended a ten-inning pitchers classic yesterday and sent the Minneapolis Millers into a one-game lead over Newark's Bears in the Little World Series, feature attraction of minor league baseball.

Foster Ganzel, third baseman of the American Association pennant-winners, caught one of Pete Jablonowski's fast balls in the first half of the tenth, and the ride his bat gave it presented a 2-to-1 triumph to southpaw "Dutch" Henry.

Two previous four-base hits accouted for all the scoring, and were the only bad spots on two brilliant hurling exhibitions. Joe Hauser, first baseman of the Millers, who poled 49 homers during the regular season, and who set a record of 63 with Baltimore two years ago, smacked the first one in the seventh to give Henry a lead. Then Charlie Hargreaves, catcher of the International League champions, sent one over the left field stands in the last half of the same inning to knot the count again.

Jablonowski's Hard Luck

Aside from the two round-trip hits he allowed, Jablonowski's performance was even better than that of Henry. For the first five innings the right-hander was supreme, and set the Millers down in one-two-three order without a semblance of a hit. He permitted two safeties in the sixth, but smart fielding prevented a score. Hauser's homer was the lone hit in the seventh, there was a harmless single in the eighth, and no more until Ganzel's blow in the extra inning. Jablonowski fanned four and walked one.

The Bears touched Henry for a total of seven hits, but were able to put two together only in the seventh. The Minneapolis left-hander was best in tight places, and left nine Newark runners stranded on the bases.

Bears Field Well

Saltzgaver and Rolfe turned in exceptional fielding jobs and kept Jablonowski outof troubles on more than one occasion. Saltzgaver handled eight chances, all of them difficult, without a miscue, and Rolfe was credited with four assists.

The game marked the second straight defeat for Colonel Jacob Ruppert's Yankee Juniors by a portsider. Old Jess Petty set them down with five hits in a night battle Wednesday, and probably will be Manager Donie Bush's choice again in the opening game at Minneapolis on Sunday.

Don Brennan, ace right-hander of the Bears, is expected to get the call against Petty by Manager Mamaux. He won the opener here with a four-hit show.

TWEED TEAM WINS AT MARMORA FAIR

Leafs Battle Rawdon for Eleven Innings to Take 31-12 Victory.

TWEED, Oct. 1 (Examiner Correspondence).—Tweed Leafs captured the softball championship at Marmora Fair when they defeated Rawdon in the finals by a score of 13—12. Eleven innings were necessary to settle the argument and it was only after Tweed came from behind with two out in the ninth, that they clinched the engagement. The locals trounced Madoc in the second game 11-3. The Rawdon team was awarded the game after a Thurlow player refused to leave the field at the invitation of the umpires. Some smart fielding plays were made by Terry, Rollins, Rashotte and Meraw during the afternoon. Pete Clarke was on the hill top for the Leaflets.

Annual Field Day

On Thursday afternoon the students of Tweed High School met to elect officers from the student body to help conduct the Annual Field Day.

Mr. Moffat was in charge and nominations were made. As a result of the election the following officers were elected:

Kiki Cuyler, right fielder of the Cubs, is safe at second after a steal in the third inning of the first game of the 1932 World Series in Yankee Stadium, New York. Despite an early inning lead Chicago failed to hold its advantage and lost to the Yanke, 12 to 6.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, our 2 young ball clubs didn't have much luck last Sat., our Kiwanis bantams dropping the 3rd game of their final serious to Hamilton 7 to 6, while Mister Calladine's Maple Leaves absorbed a beating at Niagara Falls in the 1st battle of the juvenile finals.

The 1st of these setbacks hurt the worse, of course, for it thumbed the Kiwanis kids right outa the championship. However, you gotta hand it to the local lads. They played a swell serious with Hamilton after knocking the Toronto bantams outa the race, and they were in the running until the last man was out in the last inning of the 3rd game, than which you can't get nothing closer. The Hams took a early lead, and at 1 stage was in front 6 to 2, but the K.K.'s showed their gameness by a 4-run rally in the 7th with a mighty 4-base rap by Mister Dunkley as the big punch and tied up the score, only to drop a run behind in the 8th on a unlucky play. They was certainly not disgraced or out-classed, and only the brakes of the final game beat them.

As for the Leaves, they didn't have much luck either, for they was outscored 6 to 2 in spite of out-hitting their opposition. They couldn't collect the hits when they needed them, but for all that the local fans is confident they'll come through and cop the serious.

As to the big show, Mac, more than ever I'm confident the Yanks is going to cop, and how.

Of course, 1 ball game don't make a world's serious, but that 1st clash between the Cubs and the Yanks certainly saw the dope run true to form. It wasn't nothing like a good ball game what with inaccurate gunning and someshaky fielding, but the McCarthy machine came through with the punch when needed and win a hollow victory, getting enough runs for any pitcher on the New York staff to have coasted through to victory on. This Mister Guy Bush, I figger, musta read so much about the Yanks' dynamite that when Mister Gehrig poured the pine on 1 of his pet offerings and drove it into the stand for a homer the Cub heaver dev eloped a bad attack of jitters and proceeded to toss the game away with a flock of complimentaries, which the Yanks with their well-known ability to produce hits in the pinches turned into runs. You can't hope to spot a team like that ½ dozen passes and then expect to lick them, and so the 1st engagement was soft for the Yanks. If they was any hero to the loose battle I'd nominate Mister Columbia Lou Gehrig, whose mighty wallop knocked the Cubs right off their stride. And them that like to talk about youth having to be served should take a look at the box score and explain away them 3 sound hits from the bat of Old Hoss Stephenson, who supplied the motive power for ½ his team's runs.

No Pepper Martins has developed as yet, but, of course, they's still plenty of time for a yearling to bust in and grab the headlines.

1 improvement is to be noted in the serious, Mac,—Mister Graham McNamee is letting a coupla other fellows do the play-by-play broadcasting. And they're good, what I mean.

Well, enough for to-day.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

SENIOR CLUB TO HOLD DANCE

Public Affair Will Be Sponsored in Effort to Pay Off Season's Deficit.

VALUABLE PRIZES.

Definite plans were made at last night's senior ball club meeting for a prize-draw and dance to be put on about the end of October. The purpose of this is to clear up the deficit incurred by the Peterborough Club the past two years. A good turnout of members adopted the plan with enthusiasm at the meeting which was held in the Chamber of Commerce.

The draw, it was stated, would be run on a large scale, some twenty or more valuable prizes being offered. In addition, the same ticket would entitle the holder to attend the big dance (where the draw would be made) held downtown some date close to Hallowe'en. The plans had been carefully studied by a committee, and met with the approval of the executive.

This same committee, composed of Jack Bell, George Hewitt and Charles ("Chuck") Cummings, was named to make the proper arrangements, with the aid of other committees which could be appointed. This trio will meet this evening to decide upon team captains to sell tickets. A number of names were suggested last night.

The original amount of $250.00 decided upon as prize-money at the draw was extended to $300.00. It will be expended for good merchandise and other valuable premiums. Members of the executive and regular selling-teams will take care of the sale of tickets which will commence within a few days. Team-prizes will be offered, and a twenty-per cent discount on sales for the individual seller met with general approval.

In connection with the dance, it was suggested that door-prizes might prove an added attraction. An outstanding orchestra will be obtained for the occasion, if satisfactory arrangements can be made. The place and the date were not definitely decided upon last night, but it will be held downtown about the end of October.

The Transportation Committee offered to transport the Maple Leaf juvenile ball club free to wherever the third game of the final O.B.A.A. series will be played —if a third game is necessary. Various other matters came in for much discussion, but nothing more could be done for the present, and they adjourned.

CAPACITY CROWD TO SEE FIRST GAME AT CHICAGO

Root and Pipgrass Selected to Work in Opening Game at Wrigley Field.

TAKE DETERMINED STAND.

(By Edward J. Neil, A.P. Sports Writer.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Like weary warriors new-born at the feel of homeland under their feet, the Chicago Cubs rose in their native haunts of Wrigley Field to-day to face a fresh onslaught of the New York Yankees, as the World Series, injected with new life and vigor, moved into its second phase.

Undismayed by two crushing defeats of their warriors in the open-conflict in New York, the worshipping faithful of the Bruin clad rallied to an all-but-hopeless cause with the zest of zealots. To add to the excitement, Franklin D. oRosevelt and his Presidential campaign party, were scheduled to view the show. Every reserved seat in Wrigley Field was sold; throngs waited in line for the early morning sale of 13,500 bleacher seats, and 3,500 standing room tickets, and there was every indication that a crowd of 50,000, loyal as only Chicago crowds can be, was the least to expect for the third battle of the championship series, first of three straight games here.

From every side came declarations, amounting almost to fighting challenges, of a Cub revival, a desperate counter-attack that would sweep away the almost overwhelming advantage of the Yankees opening conquests, and bring the series down to a bitter last ditch duel that the Bruins just could not lose.

The spearhead of that almost fantastic hope was the veteran sidearm fast ball pitcher, Charlie Root ,the nominee of Manager Charlie Grimm for the task of holding in check the bats of Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth, Bill Dickey and all the rest of the marauding Yankees who battered down Guy Bush, Burleigh Grimes and Bob Smith, 12 to 6 in the opening game, clubbed young Lon Warneke into 5 to 2 defeat in the second, and left the entire Bruin array with a mild case of shell shock.

It was Root who might have been the hero of the opening game of the 1929 World Series between the Cubs and the Philadelphia Athletics, but for the fact that he happened to oppose a pitching wizard for a day, ancient Howard Ehmke, on the historical occasion that the old slow-baller, in his last great effort, struck out 13 men, still a World Series record.

There was little possibility of such a happening to-day, although Joe McCarthy had named the veteran George Pipgras as his choice to carry on the masterful pitching performances of Charley Ruffing and Lefty Gomez in the two New York engagements. Back in the glamorous days of the Yankees World Series battles of 1926, 1927, and 1928, Pipgras won two post season battles and never has met defeat in world championship play. But he has ranked all season long behind Ruffing, Gomez, and even young Johnny Allen, in effectiveness.

Benefitted by an enforced day's rest as the two clubs sped westward aboard special trains to arrive amid cheering crowds early in the afternoon, the Cubs were obviously heartened by the demonstration of loyalty and affection that waited them there.

Outclouted Yanks, 19-18.

Despondency at their double defeat, although they out-clouted the famed belting Yankees, 19 hits to 18 in two games, faded before the encouraging clamor of 3,000 who milled about the Lasalle Street Station, all trying at once to reach the warriors, pat them on the back, assure them everything was all right and that the tide would certainly turn to-day.

From Root, tightlipped and determined, came assurance of relief from a problem that vexed the Cubs in both games and led directly to most of the Yankee's critical scoring.

"You can just bet" said Charlie, measuring each word, "that there'll be none of that 'too-careful' pitching for our side in there to-morrow. They'll get no unnecessary bases on balls from me."

While the Yankees could see nothing but another clean sweep, there were physical problems to take into consideration.

Wrigley Field, with shirt-sleeved crowds in the left-centre field bleachers on a warm day, always hitters swinging against a right- has been the bane of left handed hitters swinging against a right handed sidearm pitcher such as Root.

Five Portside Hitters

The effect on the Yankees, of course, would be little short of disasterous if things worked out as the Cubs predicted. Five of the first six men in the Yankee batting order swing from the left side of the plate.

The prospect of a warm day, although there was a threat of cloudiness, assured the theory being put to a decisive test. From an impartial viewpoint it seemed that something, anyway, had to come to the aid of the Cubs if the issue were to be prolonged beyond the week-end.

WARKWORTH TIES COLBORNE 4 TO 4

Champs and Ex-Champs Battle for Supremacy in Colborne Fair Fixture.

CAMPBLLFORD, Oct. 1. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Clashing in a fast game of hard ball, the feature of the Colborne Fair this week, Warkworth, last year's champions of Northumberland County Baseball League held Colborne, this year's champs to a tie game with a score of 4-4. The Colborne outfit were outclassed during most of the play, and only in the second inning, when they got a break away on an error and drove home four runs, did they come up to form.

Plequiln, in the box for the Warkworth squad, hurled brilliant ball and did his share in keeping a fast team in its place. Warkworth registered four hits, Colborne three.

The teams:

Warkworth—Dawson, cf; Whitton, ss; Cowell, c; A. Zufelt, 1b; K. Zufelt, 1b; Plequiln, p; DeCarroll, 2b; Campbell, 3b; Carr, rf.

Colorne—Willoughy, cf; Purdy, p; Clay, lf; Grant, 2b; Gards, 3b; Bilcox, 1b; Smith, rf; Post, ss; Harry, c.

Score by innings:

Warkworth	002 020 0—4
Colborne	040 000 0—4

First Hit Of The World Series

Bill Herman, Chicago Cubs' second baseman, is snapped rounding first base on a single, the first hit of the 1932 World Series, at Yankee Stadium, New York. While the Cubs got off to a flying start to draw first blood in the first inning the Yanks won 12 to 6.

WEST TO HAVE HOCKEY LEAGUE

Five Cities Will Have Teams on New Prairie Professional Circuit.

MANY PLAYERS AVAILABLE.

EDMONTON, Oct. 1. (CP) — Prospects of an idle winter for many of Western Canada's professional hockey players had vanished to-day. Chances for landing a berth in the newly-formed Western Canada Hockey League were bright following announcement made here last night that the program would be revived on the prairies after a lapse of six years.

Five cities will have teams on the prairie circuit—Edmonton, Calgary, Moose Jaw, Regina and Saskatoon—and affiliation with the National Hockey League will be sought immediately.

Many top-notch puck chasers, former members of the National League, Canadian-American, the American and the California Hockey Leagues, will be available, and negotiations are already underway for the signing of contracts. Many faced a jobless winter, released from the eastern and coast clubs.

The schedule, now being drawn up by a special committee, will, it is expected, call for the opening games to be played December 3, with play continuing until early in March, including in all 28 games for each club, giving each 14 home-battles.

The fox farming industry appears to have had its beginning over 50 years ago as there is an authentic record of foxes having been raised in captivity about the year 1878 on a farm near Tignish, Prince Edward Island.

When John Gilbert wants to leave his studio bungalow in secret he steps before a full-length mirror in his second floor dressing room and manipulates a concealed switch. The mirror swings aside, revealing a stairway which leads to the garage at the rear of the bungalow. By going down this stairway he is able to reach his car and leave the studio without detection.

Much of the money paid by motion picture studios for the use of location sites in the vicinity of Hollywood goes to organized charities. Owners of many estates and other places desirable for location sequences list them with the Hollywood Welfare League. Studios then make arrangements with the league for the use of the location they desire and the rental fee is turned over to charity.

Years ago George M. Cohan wrote the song, "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy," for "Little Johnny Jones," a play which he produced. Cohan was born on the 4th of July and the song, referring in theme to a person born on Independence Day was of a type typically his. When he wanted to sing it, however, in "The Phantom President" which he is now filming he had to get permission from the copyright owners! He had sold "Little Johnny Jones" to Warner Brothers and had to secure their permission to sing the featured song.

BATTING MARKS ARE HIGHER IN NATIONAL LOOP

"Lefty" O'Doul, of Brooklyn, Captures Championship With .366 Average.

HURLING ALSO HIGHER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (C.P.).—Batting in the National League showed a distinct improvement in 1932 over 1931, the final unofficial batting marks for the season which ended last week reveal. Nearly every one of the winning totals were higher than the "firsts" of a year ago. But pitching performances also looked up.

Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, of Brooklyn captured the batting championship with a .366 average. In 1931 a .3489 mark gave Chick Hafey of St. Louis the lead by a fraction of a point. O'Doul also led in singles with 158.

Highest marks in the various slugging departments were 154 runs by Chuck Klein of Philadelphia, 235 hits by Klein and Bill Terry of New York; 63 doubles by Paul Waner of Pittsburg, a new league record; 19 triples by Babe Herman of Cincinnati; 38 home runs by Klein and Mel Ott of New York and 141 runs batted in by Don Hurst of Philadelphia.

Leads Only In Runs.

After leading through most of the season, Klein was tied or beaten at the end in everything but runs. Even his base stealing mark of 21 thefts was tied by Tony Piet of Pittsburg.

Terry, who hit at a terrific clip in the last few weeks, took second place among the leading "regulars" with a .349 average. Behind him came Klein, .346; P. Waner, .341; Hurst, .340; V. Davis, Philadelphia, and Orsatti, St. Louis, .337; L. Waner, Pittsburg, .333; Traynor, Pittsburg, .330; and Herman, Cincinnati, .326.

The Phillies led in club batting at .292, and the Boston Braves in fielding with a .975 mark.

Lonnie Warneke of the Chicago Cubs led the moundsmen with a record of 22 victories and six defeats for a .786 average, somewhat better than Paul Derringer's 18 and 8 mark of 1931. The St. Louis Cardinals' brilliant "freshman" pitcher, Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, was the year's strikeout king, fanning 191 rivals.

(BY C. J. P.)

The senior ball club executive doesn't fool when it has to make up some money. The members met last night and took steps to wipe out their debt in a hurry. They're going to throw a big hop around the end of the month with a prize-draw connected with it, more than twenty valuable prizes being put up. But wait until the list is announced and see for yourself. Three hundred smackers or more will be spent on these prizes.

* * * * * * *

A regular selling campaign will be run off during the next four weeks, sales-prizes, team-prizes, weekly luncheons, and all the color and efficiency that goes with a live-wire campaign. Jack Bell, George Hewitt and Chuck Cummings will be responsible for the forming of the selling organization, etc., but they'll have power to appoint other executive members to assist. The place and date for the dance, with all the details will be made public very shortly.

* * * * * * *

We think this is a fine idea. The club has to raise money to balance it's books, and to have some dough on hand next spring for its own start and to assist the local minor teams to get going in "33. Instead of looking for a few "angels" to dig down and pull the roll out of their pockets, or else taking up a subscription around town, the senior club will without a doubt raise the money, give the ticket-purchaser more than value in return, and still be under obligation to no one. There's some good business-men on this club executive, and they're all good sports.

* * * * * * *

How did they incur the debt? That's a fair question but hardly necessary to ask these times. No amateur sport is breaking even these days, and every team in the C.O.B.L. dropped plenty this year, though Belleville and Kingston must have done pretty fair at the last with their rousing playoff series. The Petes lost quite a bit last year getting started back, uniforms, etc. And they didn't draw big gates this year, they cut prices, and these two factors along with the usual ones of long trips, new material, and all the rest, shoved them deeper into debt than ever. But they ought to start out next year with money in the bank, and we hope so.

* * * * * * *

Another fine lacrosse game was run off at the Brock last night, with Orde's winning out over the C.G.E. after a hard struggle. These City League teams battle hard in every game and give fans something to yell about. The Electrics are looking better every time out, but the strong Orde outfit still shaded them last night. Ira Dundas played goal for the Barbers last night, opposite Johnny Dundas in the other net, and both looked good. But then all the players went fine. Monday, Millbrook and C.G.E. are scheduled to meet.

* * * * * * *

Oh, yes, Millbrook is back! They were re-instated last night at a meeting held right after the game. Hot words and windmill gestures marked the early stages of the session, with the dove of peace finally fluttering wearily down to rest in the room. The Millbrook moguls objected violently to their suspension, and used as an excuse for their failure to show up here Wednesday for a scheduled game, the fact that some of the players had to work Wednesdays. But they could have notified the Peterborough authorities.

* * * * * * *

Both the C.G.E. and Orde management last night gave the out-of-towners to understand they would not play games in Millbrook as it was agreed by the league to play all games at the Brock. After plenty of discussion, it was decided that Millbrook play here on this Monday night, and then the schedule will be re-arranged so that this team would not be called upon to play on Wednesdays.

* * * * * * *

Since the Millbrook management was satisfied to remain in the circuit and abide by all league rulings, those present of the City League last night, concluded that it would be better to operate a four-team loop, so the Millbrook team was re-instated. As a matter of fact, the villagers have a real good team, a bunch of battlers and a crew that will have quite a bit to say about where the trophy goes in this loop, and now that the trouble is over, we're looking for a hard old race down the stretch.

* * * * * * *

Those who follow the ponies around here may bet a laugh out of the following paragraph, dug up by Walter Winchell, showing the ingenuity of someone connected with the race-tracks in Yankeeland: In Phoenix, Arizona, racetrack-goers beat the State's anti-gambling laws by buying an "interest" in a horse for the duration of a race. If it finishes in the money, a dividend is paid to investors!

* * * * * * *

The C.G.E. gals' softball team had little trouble walloping the Port Hopers in an exhibition game at the Brock last night. In fact, the electrics have their minds all made up to win the local league title this fall, and while it's woman's privilege to change her mind, these maidens have shown no indication of changing theirs since the start. They'll be hard to beat.

Service "de luxer" for local fandom.

MILLBROOK CLUB IS RE-INSTATED

League Decides to Re-arrange Schedule, Not Calling for Games on Wednesday.

The Orde City Lacrosse League team tightened its hold on first place at the Brock last night by pulling out a 9-4 win over C.G.E. A strong finish gave the Barbers the edge in a fast, clean and exciting game played before a fair attendance.

Quick, short passes, hard shots on the net, stiff checking and fast travelling, with both teams playing pretty equally, made it an interesting contest to watch. The opposing goalies had to have a flock of tough shots, and Johnny Dundas in the Electrics' net was sensational on some of his work. Mickey Magee received a bad cut on the head when he stopped Gardner's shot on the goal.

It would be impossible and unfair to name individual stars, defence and forward players all turning in a fine performance to make it a battle all the way. Weir got one and Cadd got two for Orde's in the first quarter, while Fisher put C.G.E. in with one. He and Andrews countered in the second, as Routly slipped one by Dundas. In the third, Jack Gardner blazed two in for the Barbers while C.G.E. were blanked. Andrews scored the last Electric goal in the fourth stanza, while McLeish got one and Routly two for the winners. The teams:

C.G.E.—Goal, J. Dundas; defence, Swanger and McMillen; rover, Magee; centre, McGregor; wings, Meagher and Palmer; subs., Price, Fisher and Andrews.

Orde's.—Goal, Ira Dundas; defence, Howe and Hutchinson; rover, Gardner; centre, Mein; wings, Routly and Cadd; subs, Francis, Weir and Orde.

Referee, K. Sine.

Following the game a lively meeting was held, with Millbrook protesting their suspension. They claimed that all their players could not come to Peterborough Wednesday, work interfering. After considerable discussion, and upon the assurance that Millbrook would play all games here and live up to the league rules, they were re-instated and the schedule will be re-arranged so that Millbrook will not be called upon to play on Wednesdays.

BOSTON HITTER .367 AVERAGE FOR 124 GAMES

But Jimmy Foxx, of Athletics, Stamped Most Valuable Player in League.

SIMMONS LEADS HITS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(AP)— Big Dale Alexander of the Boston Red Sox, snatched the 1932 batting championship of the American baseball league from Jimmy Foxx, but the star first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics collected enough individual leaderships to stamp him as the most valuable batsman in his organization.

Semi-official figures, which have been checked and double checked, give Alexander an average of .367 for 124 games, while Foxx amassed a mark of .364, in 154 contests. Foxx however, batted in the most runs, scored the most runs, had the most home runs and the most total bases. His 58 homers left him just two short of Babe Ruth's major league record, but ahead of the mark of 54 for right handed swatters, set by Hack Wilson of the 1930 Chicago Cubs.

He slugged in 169 runs, scored 151 himself, and his 213 hits were good for 438 bases.

Simmons Leads Hits

Foxx's teammate, Al Simmons, who will be with the Chicago White Sox next season, led in hits with 216, with Heinie Manush of Washington, right behind with 214. Eric McNair, young Philadelphia infielder, won the two base hit crown with 46, while Joe Cronin of Washington, had 18 three base hits for a leadership. In stolen bases, Ben Chapman of the Yankees, repeated as champion with 37.

Alexander went to bat officially 392 times, made 144 hits, of which 27 were doubles, three were triples and eight were home runs. Ranking behind the new champion and Foxx were the following regulars: Gehrig, New York, .349; Manush, Washington, .342; Ruth, New York, .341; Cramer, Philadelphia, .366; Simmons Philadelphia .323; Walker, Detroit .323; Rice, Washington, .321; Combs, New York; Cronin, Washington, and R. Ferrell, St. Louis .319.

Athletics Repeat

In team batting the Athletics repeated as leader with .290, four points better than the champion Yankees. The Yanks, however, led in scoring with 1,002 runs. Washington held hostiles to the lowest total in scoring, allowing 716 runs.

Johnn Allen, the Yankee freshman, had the top per centage among the regular pitchers, winning 17 and losing four for a mark of .810. General Alvin Crowder, the veteran Washington right hander, won the most games, 26, but lost 13, while Bob Grove won 25 and lost 10; Vernon Gomez won 24 and lost seven.

Charlie (Red) Ruffing of the Yankees, was the strikeout king, fanning 190 batsmen in 259 innings.

BASKETBALL NOTES

CHURCH LEAGUE

The church basketball league is away to an early start, with entry forms being sent out to the different Sunday schools. This league is starting its second year with its same officers as last year. Harold Rehill who as chairman of interchurch sports committee of the Peterborough Boys Work board also heads the church hockey and softball leagues is president; J. C. McClenaghan, Boys' Work Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and Don Charlton, secretary are the officers.

Entries will all be in by the 15th of October and the first games will be held on Oct. 22nd. The Y. M. C. A. have kindly loaned their gym to the league every Saturday night from 6 to 8.

The league will be in two sections, Junior 18 and under and Juvenile, 15 and under by October 15, the same as year. Senior city league players are inelegible this year which ought to make the Senior section stronger. Attendance and membership rules our the same as in other church sports.

Last year there were eight entries in each section. In the finals George street A won the Juvenile section from Trinity, and Mark street won the Junior section from George street C to win shields presented by the Boys' Work Board.

Any Sunday school groups caring to enter should get in touch with the league secretary, Don Charlton, at 159 Rubidge street.

Thirteen Teams In Six-Day Bike Race

TORONTO, Oct. 1. (CP)—Six-day bicycle racing re-enters Toronto's sport calendar after a lapse of six months, at midnight Sunday, when 13 international teams, comprising some of the world's greatest pedalling artists, start a week's continuous grind.

Averaging 40 to 45 miles per hour during their sprints, and forced to maintain a speed of 25 miles an hour to take the banked turns of the huge wooden saucer, the pedal-pushers in the Spring convinced Toronto sportsmen that theirs was one of the most exciting sports in the world.

Torchy Peden, Vancouver's pride, "Iron Man" Regie McNamara, young Jules Audy from Montreal, Reggie Fielding, the blonde Toronto youngster and Bernard Stubeck, world's professional sprint champion are listed among the entries, who will indulge in series of wild sprints and jams throughout the week for the edification of local bike enthusiasts.

BRADMAN NOT PLAYING.

SYDNEY, Australia, October 1.—(C.P. Cable). — Don Bradman, famous batsman who holds the test match batting record, is definitely out of the coming tests with M.C.C. Bradman refuses to cancel his contract with the Associated Newspapers for whom he is writing cricket articles, and is therefore ineligible to play, by a ruling of the Australian Cricket Control Board.

The Smiling Pool no more I'll fret
Till Jerry Muskrat shall forget.

This is what Hooty the Owl had decided in his own mind when he discovered that Jerry Muskrat had begun to build. So he had kept away from the Smiling Pool, going each night just near enough to see but not near enough to be seen. So Jerry Muskrat had worked in peace and, because not once had he seen even a suspicious black shadow, he had almost forgotten that there was such a person as Hooty the Owl.

The night when he raisd the walls of his house above the surface of the Smiling Pool so that he could sit on them without wetting his feet he quite forgot. You remember that he was so sleepy that he fell to dreaming dreams of building the most wonderful house that ever a muskrat built. Now there is a time for dreaming and a place for dreaming, but for a muskrat that time is not when gentle Mistress Moon is flooding the earth with silvery light and that place is not right out in the open for whoever comes along to see. But that is just the time and the place Jerry had chosen.

Now and then a little cloud drifted across the face of Mistress Moon, and when this happened it made a black shadow that drifted across the face of the earth and sometimes drifted straight across the Smiling Pool. After this had happened once or twice Jerry Muskrat, dreaming his pleasant dreams, took no notice of these drifting shadows. They were harmless. There was nothing to worry about.

"I've waited a long time Jerry Muskrat, but I've got you this time."

By and by a shadow a little blacker than the others but just as silent drifted out from the Green Meadows toward the Smiling Pool. It didn't hurry. It seemed to drift along just as the others had drifted. If Jerry saw it he gave no heed. So it drifted out over the Smiling Pool and across to where Jerry sat dreaming. He had just reached the point in his beautiful dream where his big cousin, Paddy the Beaver, the most famous of all builders of houses, had come to ask him for advice on the building of a new house, when he just happened to look up.

That shadow was right above him, and it was black, very black. Then Jerry came out of his dreaming with a cold chill that ran down his backbone to the very roots of his tail. That shadow had too great round fierce eyes, and reaching down from it were great curved cruel claws. Those claws were reaching for him. There wasn't a bit of doubt about that. Do you wonder that a cold chill ran down Jerry's backbone to the roots of his tail? Do you wonder that for just a wee, wee bit of time he was absolutely still because he was too frightened to move?

Jerry's eyes grew wide with sheer terror as he saw those great cruel claws stretched wide to seize him, and Hooty the Owl hissed:

"I've waited a long time, Jerry Muskrat but I've got you this time."

What Today Means to YOU

By Mary Blake

If October 1st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a.m. to 10.35 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7.40 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from noon to 1.45 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11.30 p.m.

A jaundiced outlook upon life will be engendered by astrological influences on October 1st, and nothing will seem to go right. The world, through your eyes, will appear both hostile and unfriendly. You may be precipitated into a new world by an event of a startling and an unexpected nature.

The child born on this October 1st will have an agreeable nature, and will merit the affection of many people. It will lean more to the spiritual and intellectual sides of life than to the purely physical. A sense of justice will control all its action of life, and it will be very sympathetic.

You have a very intense nature if born on October 1st, and put your whole heart and soul into things. You are apt to ride your hobbies to premature death and your pleasures or fads are usually short-lived. There is nothing set about your ideas or views, and you are always liable to be found on the opposite side of the fence. At times you are too cautious, and lose out by waiting for developments or to see what move the other fellow makes.

You cannot enter readily into conversation with every one, and there are many people with whom you feel decidedly out of tune. You are very sensitive to atmospheres, and will always strive for harmonious surroundings. You would rather live in a hall-bedroom in peace than in a palace with those with whom you clash. As you grow older, your extreme likes and dislikes will not be so pronounced, and you will submit more amiably to inevitable factors.

You are too high-strung for your emotional life to be subdued or humdrum, and are capable of either being moved to ecstasy or prostrated with despair. If a man, there is a woman capable of living up to your ideal, and it is not probable that you will find much marital happiness. Success lies near to your native land or town. Travel will not bring your happiness.

"LIBRA"

If October 2nd is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1.15 p.m.; from 6 p.m. to 7.15 p.m. and from 9.10 p.m. to 10.50 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. and from 3.15 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Sunday, October 2nd, astrologically considered is clearly divisible into two parts; a morning and an afternoon of quiet repose and harmonious influences and an evening characterized by reverse conditions, distinguished by an "out-of-sorts" feeling, and a disposition to act and speak impulsively and foolishly.

A child born on this October 2nd will, from both a physical and moral standpoint, need much care and disciplining. It will be very self-willed, and will sulk when it cannot have its own way. Slow to learn, it will not excel at school, but a dogged determination to make good will ensure success in later years.

You, if born on October 2nd, have a determined, resolute character. Once you have committed yourself to a given task, you stick at it, regardless of time and effort, until it is completed. You, however, are frequently a victim of your own obsessions. Your judgment is often unsound, and though evidence of this may be cumulative you ignore all danger signals and persist in the course that you have chosen until your original ideas are wrecked on the rocks of impracticability.

In the same way, your choice of friends and associates is quite frequently marked by lack of discernment. Once, however, your mind is made up, nothing can alter your blind loyalty and unswerving devotion. This sticking to ideas and to individuals has, of course, its commendable points, but it is largely attributable to the influence of a foolish pride, which does not permit you to admit that you are wrong.

Your horoscope denotes some signal successes. On the other hand, it foretells some ghastly failures. Under any and all circumstances, you will always have done your best. In your home life, you will be blinded by your disposition to the defects of your family, and you will find happiness in clothing its members, whether they fit them or not, with all the virtues that you think they should possess.

FACES CHARGE KILLING WOMAN

Evidence Centres Around Two Knives Allegedly Used in Murder.

COURT CROWDED.

JOLIETTE, Que., Oct. 1 (C.P.)—A large crowd to-day swarmed around the doors of the court house where Albert Preville was battling for his life on a murder charge. He is accused of slaying Mrs. Joseph Mondor of St. Damien, Que., in her home last January. His brother, Alphonese, is to be tried on a similar charge later.

Mrs. Mondor bore bullet and knife wounds in her body, the knife wounds being fatal, in the opinion of medico-legal experts. That morning both the Preville Brothers were in her house, witnesses showed yesterday, and Alphonse, with a bullet wound in his leg, left while Mrs. Mondor was still alive.

Albert Preville told Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Frappier he was "Going to see God." Later to his uncle, he said: "Good-bye, Uncle, we will meet again in heaven." These statements were made after he left the Mondor home on the morning of the killing, witnesses testified.

Considerable evidence was presented, centering around two knives. One of these was given by Albert Preville to his uncle to be cleaned of bloodstains and wrapped up, while the other was surrendered by Albert to Mayor Como Mondor when he gave himself up.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP GIVEN MRS. HUGHES

Presentation is Made at Annual Conference of Deanery.

The presentation of a gold pin, denoting life membership in the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada, was the honor conferred upon Mrs. J. L. Hughes, Deanery Officer of the Peterborough Deanery, at the annual conference held in St. George's Church on Wednesday last.

The church was filled to capacity when the impressive little service was conducted by Miss Violet Summerhayes, Diocesan President. Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. H. F. Battersby, President of Hastings W. A., read the following address, which was beautifully written in Old English lettering.

Dear Mrs. Hughes.—We, the members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Deanery of Peterborough desire to express our deep appreciation of your five years of faithful service as Deanery Officer. You have always made our Deanery meetings wonderfully helpful and have ever been willing to attend our branch meetings with your encouraging message. We ask you to accept this certificate of life membership in the Woman's Auxiliary as a token of our love.

Signed on behalf of the Deanery, Agatha J. Battersby; Mabel J. Tucker.

Mrs. E. Tucker, President of St. George's Branch, pinned the gold cross in position, and also read the Certificate of Life Membership. Mrs. Hughes, who was taken completely by surprise, responded briefly by expressing sincere thanks; the Rector, later in the afternoon responding on behalf of his wife.

Interesting addresses during the afternoon were given by Miss Summerhayes, who spoke on several matters of W.A. work and also answered questions placed in the question box, and Canon Simmons, M.A., D.D., missionary on furlough from Honan, China. The latter speaker brought the country of China very near to his hearers, describing vividly the lives of the missionaries, and the tremendous progress being made among the natives, despite the present days of difficulty and unrest.

Interesting reports showing success in all departments were read by the branch secretaries.

At the morning service of Holy Communion, Rev. W. J. Creighton of Lakefield preached an instructive sermon from the W.A. motto, "The love of Christ constraineth us." Rev. J. L. Hughes was Celebrant, and was assisted by Revs. G. J. Bousfield (Rural Dean), W. J. Creighton, and H. F. Battersby.

Rev. J. L. Hughes welcomed the delegates to the parish; this being the first visit from the Deanery. The guests were entertained to lunch by the combined branches of St. George's and St. Mark's, Otonabee; also to afternoon tea.

Deep regret was expressed by all members present that Mrs. Hughes did not wish to stand for re-election for Deanery Officer, and Miss Della Plant, of Hastings, was elected to the position. The collections were voted to the diocese of Mackenzie River, towards house furnishings for a missionary.

The afternoon meeting was presided over by Mrs. Hughes, Deanery Officer.

Mrs. E. Tucker extended a cordial welcome to the delegates on behalf of St. George's and St. Mark's branches, and trusted that they may receive much benefit from the conference.

The church was again filled in the evening when the conference for Juniors, Girls, and Evening branches was held. Canon Simmons delighted his audience with stories of China, and Miss Summerhayes spoke some helpful words especially for the Juniors.

Splendid reports showed a most successful year, the missionary study especially occupying a prominent place.

The guests at the evening meeting were entertained afterwards by St. George's Juniors, when refreshments were served in the church basement.

Few Turkeys Ready For Thanksgiving

One result of the early Thanksgiving Day—October 10—this year is that the lordly turkey has been pushed from his pedestal as the king of fowl for the Thanksgiving dinner, according to local meat merchants. The modest chicken has usurped his place, with ducks and geese coming along as second and third choice.

It is still much too early to expect many turkeys on the market, local butchers state, and Thanksgiving Day is little more than a week off. Chickens which are plentiful and are being offered at an extremely modest price, form the best bet for Thanksgiving for those who insist on fowl. The quality of chickens for sale this fall is unusually high, butchers state.

Ducks and geese, now on sale in limited quantities, are not at their best yet, as it is too early in the season. Frosty weather brings the water fowl to their best for eating, said one butcher. Saturday's market will undoubtedly bring out a larger offering of geese and ducks than previous Saturdays but it is predicted that the majority of the housewives will be interested mostly in chickens, which are likely to be offered in large numbers.

One reason suggested for the better quality of chickens this fall is that grain is so cheap that more of it is being fed. The low price of milk, also a factor in feeding chickens, is another reason.

MARKET BOARD IS WEIR'S HOPE

Also Would See People From United Kingdom on Canada's Vacant Land.

SPEAKS FOR RADER.

CLINTON, Ont., Oct. 1. (C.P.) Beginning a series of four meetings in South Huron in the interests of Louis H. Rader, Conservative Standard bearer, Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, spoke to a large audience here last night. The minister reviewed the efforts of his department to aid the farmers, expressing a hope that the marketing board would become an actuality next year, and that the near future would see immigration from the the United Kingdom peopling the vacant lands of Canada.

He would be greatly surprised, agreements did not bring immense benefits to the Canadian farmers. He defended the Conservative parties placing the Conference agreements to the forefront in the by-election campaign on the ground that the people of South Huron were mainly interested in farming, and all the clauses were relating to agriculture had been made public.

To-night Mr. Weir will speak in Hensall and Zurich and Saturday he will speak in Seaforth. Polling will be on Monday next.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, will address a meeting here to-night in the interests of William H. Golding, ex-mayor of Seaforth, selected to retain the seat for the Liberal party. It was vacated by the death last June of Thomas MacMillan.

POLICE RECOVER ABANDONED CAR

Believed One Used By Thug Who Slugged and Robbed Garageman.

GOT $80 LOOT.

HAMILTON, Oct. 1.—Police today recovered an automobile thought to have been that used last night by bandits who robbed a service station and sent its attendant to hospital with severe head wounds.

The car was found abandoned on the street some distance from the service station were Leonard Rummery was bashed over the head and robbed of $80 last night.

Police said they were inclined to connect the robbery with another of similar nature which occurred about an hour before in the town of Grimsby, 14 miles east of here.

Description of the two men figuring in each robbery did not differ materially, they said.

A.M.O.S. PARADE TO BE COLORFUL

Parade Will Leave the Armouries at 7 O'clock To-night.

FIRST HELD IN CITY.

The parade of the Samaritans last night was only a foretaste or sample of to-night's demonstration which will be largely extended by to-day's incoming patrols and Zuannas from Toronto, Ottawa, Detroit, Buffalo, St. Catharines, Toledo, Windsor and other cities.

Last night's affair was mainly local in its personel, being comprised of Samaritans from Cyzzicus Sanctorum of Peterborough, Mycerinus Sanctorum of Lindsay and visiting officers, the vanguard of the delegates who reached their full strength here to-day.

To-night's parade will leave the armouries at 7 o'clock and proceed down George street to Charlotte, turn west to Aylmer street, south to Dalhousie street, east to George and return up George street to the armouries. It will be the main public event of the convention of the A.M.O.S. and will be the first ever held in Peterborough. It will include the ladies' Zuanna patrols from Toronto and Buffalo, the latter patrol being accompanied by their fife and drum band.

The Samaritan patrols in the parade will be from Toronto and Ottawa, also Detroit and Buffalo, with their own bands, St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Windsor, and it was intimated that Toledo would also be represented. The patrols and Zuannas will be in uniform.

Sheik Past Grand Monarch Fred Batten of Cyzicus Sanctorum was in charge of last night's parade which was preceded by their own band. One of the Samaritans was dressed as a police constable and with a companion provided a comic touch. Two of the Lindsay Samaritans added to the humor of the occasion fitting themselves into the figure of a horse which one of their companions led by a halter.

This fractious caricature made a lot of fun for the crowds of spectators. Bill Brown of Lindsay, the gentleman in the "soup and fish" suit and the black gloves may have been the official greeter, and was willing to shake hands with all and sundry. Bill's right hand glove concealed an electric shocker that added a sharp thrill to his greeting. Some of those who extended a welcome to Mr. Brown along the route will remember him. To-night he will probably be out saying goodbye, so have a care when you see him coming.

THROWN DOWN STAIRS MAN DIES, WOMAN HELD

MONTREAL, October 1 (C.P.).—Police to-day held Grace Hunter, 40, as a material witness for investigation into the death of James Smith alias Young, aged 40, found dead in the doorway of her house early to-day.

Detectives called to investigate the case, reported that Smith had been thrown down the stairs, receiving fatal injuries through the fall.

The body was removed to the morgue, and Grace Hunter was taken to detective headquarters for questioning. She will be detained pending the inquest.

Weddings

TRACEY—MERRELL.

The marriage of Marguerite Iva Merrell, daughter of Mr. W. S. Merrell, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, to Mr. Allwyn M. Tracey of Brandon, son of Mrs. Tracey, of Simcoe, Ont., took place in the chapel of St. Ignatius' church, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Saturday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock. Palms, ferns and standards of gladioli decorated the chapel, and made a lovely setting for the ceremony, which was performed by Father O'Gara.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Arthur L. Brown, wore a becoming imported gown of beige crepe roma, made on princess lines with puffed sleeves caught into a long narrow cuff showing touches of ecru lace. Her hat was a brimmed model of golden brown velvet, and she wore brown accessories, and corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Brown, Wellington crescent. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Tracey left for a motor trip to eastern Canada. Going away Mrs. Tracey donned a coat of imported brown cloth, showing a wide collar and cuffs of Canadian mink, and small brown felt hat. On their return they will reside in Brandon, Manitoba.

Mrs. Arthur L. Brown, sister of the bride, had a graceful frock of brown triple crepe, edged with beige lace at the wrist and neckline. Her hat was of brown felt, and she wore a marten scarf, and corsage bouquet of Janna Hill roses.

GARATT—WALSH.

The wedding was quietly solemnized on Saturday, September 24th, in James Street Baptist Church, Toronto, of Hazel Alberta Walsh, daughter of Mrs. A. E. Walsh and the late A. E. Walsh, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, and James Sidney Garatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Garatt, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields.

The bride and bridegroom, who were unattended, left on a honeymoon trip. On their return, they will reside in Toronto.

LINDSAY—SNOWDEN.

The marriage took place at high noon to-day, at the home of her parents at 805 George street, of Ann Olive Merrell Snowden, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Snowden, and Mr. Frederick Robert Lindsay, of North Bay, son of Mr. S. E. Lindsay, K.C., and Mrs. Lindsay, of Hagersville, Ontario. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay will live in North Bay.

Sir Herbert Samuel Under Press Fire

LONDON, October 1 (C.P. Cable) —The London New Statesman poked fun at Sir Herbert Samuel, retired Home Secretary, to-day editorially when it freely interpreted Sir Herbert's contention that the terms of the Ottawa agreements when legalized would preclude the United Kingdom from controlling its own tariff schedules.

"Sir Herbert will have a great time when the Ottawa Conference is debated in the House," declares the New Statesman. "Perhaps he will lead a movement for Dominion rights for Britain since fiscal freedom is always first among the Dominion rights."

Obituary

RICHARD COLMER.

The death occurred this morning of Richard Colmer, of 497 Bolivar street, at the age of 65 years. A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Colmer, the deceased was born in Nova Scotia, but had resided in this city for the past thirty years. He had been in ill health for some time.

He is survived by his wife and five sons, Herbert, Clifford, Roland and Gordon, all of this city, and Percy in Toronto, also one daughter, Miss Ruby at home, and two brothers, John and Albert, Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. D. Raby of Fenelon Falls.

The funeral is to be held on Monday at 2 p.m. from the residence, 497 Bolivar street, to Little Lake cemetery. Services will be conducted by the Rev. David Wren, pastor of Trinity United Church, of which Mr. Colmer was a member.

Ireland Defeated By England 5 To 2

BELFAST, Oct. 1.—(CP)—England defeated Ireland 5 to 2 today in the 34th renewal of the Anglo-Irish football match played at Windsor Park.

The game was rather a one-sided affair, the play being unimpressive for the first half with the English team having much the better of things. Harkins nearly scored for the Irish at the outset but his shot just overtipped the bar. Bambrick opened the score to give Ireland a one goal lead when he scored off Kelly's corner kick, after 18 minutes of play. Brown equalled the count five minutes later and when Hine, of Huddersfield, scored off Worrall's pass it gave the English team the lead. Just before the interval Kelly nearly scored on England but Moss made a brilliant save and Brown added to the English margin by scoring on a lone effort.

Male Voice Choir Plans Two Concerts

At a recent meeting of Peterborough Male Voice Choir, when rehearsals were resumed for the season, it was unanimously decided to give concerts in Toronto and Oshawa, and dates were fixed.

The season opened this year when an octette from the Male Voice Choir went to Wellington. They received a great reception.

At the first rehearsal at the Y.M.C.A. a short meeting followed, after which a social hour was spent. President Dr. C. H. Fulford was in the chair. Dainty refreshments were served, after which a male quartette from Port Hope gave several selections in good style, which were highly appreciated.

H. G. Lewes, chairman of the Social Committee gave an amusing entertainment of lightning cartoons, and as ventriloquist he showed great skill. It was decided to hold another social hour at an early date.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 24

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service, Inc.)

Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Jason Gridley doggedly struggled on for what seemed like weeks to him. It was the rarest bit of luck that he had taken the right direction and at length had stumbled into view of the lookout on the 0-220. The rescue party reached him just in time; he could not have gone a step further. As they escorted him back to the airship, his first words were concerning the other members of the searching party. He was told that he alone had returned, and now there were but twenty-seven of the company left aboard the ship.

After a period of rest Gridley was apparently no worse for his horrible experience. He went over the details of the situation with the captain, who asked when he had ended the tale: "Do you think you could find that spot again?" "Yes," said Gridley, "and I am going to. This time I intend to go alone and in the scout plane." Upon hearing this the others attempted to dissuade him, but the American held firmly to his resolve. "Then you must have every chance for success," said Captain Zuppner. "You'll need strength. Try to get some sleep."

While Gridley was deep in sleep, the scout plane was lowered to the ground, where it underwent a careful inspection by the engineers of the 0-220. When he appeared, ready to take off, he carried a heavy rifle. "My recent experiences," he said, "have taught me not to venture far in Pellucidar unarmed. I expect to land, for somewhere, out there those fellows are waiting and hoping for aid. I shall not return until I have brought it to them." "Goodbye, old man," said Zuppner, "and may luck go with you."

Gridley shook hands with the men, all now his staunch friends, and took his seat in the open cockpit of the scout plane. Two mechanics spun the propellor, the motor roared and a moment later she rolled across the grassy meadowland toward the forest at the far side. The watchers saw it rise swiftly and make a great circle and they knew that Gridley was looking for a landmark. Twice it circled above the open plain and then darted away across the forest. Now began the troubles of the brave American who had courted the unknown dangers of Pellucidar's noonday sky.

20 WEDDINGS IN SEPTEMBER.
September is still pushing June for honors as the month of brides. There were twenty weddings in the city last month, just double the number in August. Septembe a year ago there were also twenty marriages.

The natural increase in the population during the month was 39, there being 56 births and 17 deaths. A year ago in September births totalled 60 and deaths numbered 23.

LITTLE SEPTEMBER BUILDING.
Building in the city suffered a reverse during the month of September, permits issued at the city engineer's office totalling on $1,395. The total was made up of six garages to a value of 415 and 11 miscellaneoeus permits to a value of $980.

In September last year there were 22 permits taken out to a total value of $8,555. Building figures to date this year total $177,491 as compared with a total of $212,936 for the same period last year.

RETAIL MEETING ON TUESDAY.
On Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock — no Monday as was previously announced, another important meeting open to all retailers in the city, is to be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Alderman J. A. McNabb, who will be in the chair, urges the full attendance of all retailers, whether members of the Chamber of Commerce Retail Merchants' Section or not. The meetings are not for the purpose of getting anyone to join an organisation or to extract money from anyone, but are in the best interests of the merchants and citizens generally.

CARROT WEIGHS OVER 3 LBS.
A giant of the vegetable kingdom, and an oddity, are the latest contributions to reach The Examiner Editorial Department from subscribers. The giant referred to is a carrot weighing 3 pounds 6 ounces grown by Robert Findlay, 418 Water Street. It has a circumference around the neck of 20 inches. Seeing is believing, and the specimen is on display in the window at this office.

Taken from the garden of G. A. Barrie, of Birdsalls, a 10-in-1 potato is the oddity aforementioned. Weighing 2 pounds 10 ounces, the tuber consists of a cluster of ten potatoes joined together.

Economic conditions in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan are rapidly improving.

FATHER ADMITS BEATING BABY

Second Offence — Recently Freed After Arrest for Placing Child in Cold Water.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 1 (C.P.).—With a smile on his face, William R. McIntyre, young Glencoe father, pleaded guilty in county police court to-day to a charge of assaulting his one-year-old baby, William McIntyre, Junior. Magistrate F. T. Zapfe remanded him to jail for one week for sentence.

No evidence was heard in the case, the Glencoe man readily admitting the offence and throwing himself on the mercy of the police court by electing summary trial.

Only a few months ago the Glencoe father was released from court after his arrest on a charge of placing the baby in cold water. He admitted at that time that the baby cried a good deal and he subjected it to discipline.

RAILWAY POLICE MUM UPON WRECK ATTEMPT

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 1 (C.P.).—Michigan Central Railway officials here to-day refused to reveal any results of their investigation into a supposed attempt to wreck the Wolverine flyer at Springfield Station Thursday night.

They said they had taken statements from the crew of the train which scattered a pile of large stones placed on the track. Several officials went out on the track yesterday and spent several hours examining rails and debris spread around when the locomotive plowed through the stones at 60 miles an hour.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO EXCHANGE.
TORONTO, Oct. 1. — (C.P.)— Closing session of the week on the local stock exchange was dull and uninspiring. List worked fractionally lower with leaders taking small declines until the close when they strengthened somewhat. Brazilian was the leader advancing 5-8 of a point at the finish on fairly good volume.

In the oil stocks, uniform declines of a quarter point were shown by International Petroleum, Imperial, Crown Dominion and Supertest while all or B.A.'s transactions for the short session were put through unchanged at 10.

One group, the Banks and Institutions, were an exception to the generally weaker trend of the list. Two point gains were made by Nova Scotia and a point each by Canadian Bank of Commerce, Canada Permanent, Ontario Loan and Royal Bank.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.
TORONTO, October 1 (C.P.). — Some light selling appeared in a few specialties on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market to-day, but general price trend was merely irregular in quiet turnover. Gold shares received the bulk of attention, Base Metals turning in a dull performance.

Teck-Hughes sold a couple, Dome and Wright-Hargreaves were firm, but Hollinger slipped 10 under persistent offerings. Sylvanite and Siscoe lost ground and Macassa, Howey, San Antonio, and Egoma were easy. Northern Canada, Bobjo, Mairobic, and Alexandria were in fair demand.

Both Noranda and Nickel were up 10 on end, and Lindsleys were holding. Eldorado dropped 2 and other silvers were quiet. In the oil section Olga regained a couple of cents, Vacuum Gas was fractionally higher, but Pen Pete recorded a small loss.

WALL STREET.
NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (C.P.).—The Stock Market stood virtually still until the last quarter hour to-day, when late short covering gave the list a mild shake-up.

Activity was at the lowest ebb since early summer. What trading there was appeared to consist almost entirely of professional operations. Transactions approximated 400,000 shares for the two full hours.

Net advances of a point or thereabouts appeared in U.S. Steel, Allied Chemical and American Telephone. Rails, which had been slightly lower, steadied toward the close and the closing tone of the market as a whole was firm.

An increase of 8,444 cars was reported in the weekly statement of carloadings, a rise somewhat under many advance estimates.

Grain Reviews

WINNIPEG GRAIN EXCHANGE
WINNIPEG, Oct. 1 (C.P.)—Establishing new low levels on five successive days and setting a new all-time low of 49 cents, wheat prices declined steadily on the Winnipeg Grain Market this week. The decline was stubbornly contested throughout the week, and to-day values rest at levels only a little more than one cent under the previous week. A moderate recovery Friday lifted prices fractionally above the lowest mark ever reached on the local exchange.

Little speculative support entered the market, and good purchases by foreign buyers were unable to halt the steady pressure of Western Canada's rush of new-crop wheat to country elevators.

Greatest Decline
October delivery, showing the greatest decline of the four futures, closed the six-day period at 49¼, a net loss of 1⅜ cents. November at 50½ and December at 51½ eased 1⅛ to 1⅛, respectively. May displayed comparative firmness ending the week at 58½ to ⅝, off ⅞ to 1 cent.

Not since December, 1930, have wheat prices threatened the previous all-time low mark. At that time prices went to 50 cents a bushel for the December option and the Dominion Government intervened.

No trace of stabilization efforts was seen on this latest decline.

Purchases for export shipment while considered good, have not maintained the volume attained earlier in the month. United Kingdom millers are said to be now using 50 per cent of Canadian wheat in their grist, a large increase during the past four months.

CHICAGO GRAIN EXCHANGE
(By John P. Boughan, A.P. Market Editor.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 1. — With corn cheaper than coal and at the lowest quotations in 36 years, possibilities of United States corn export business are no longer considered remote.

One of the largest grain houses in Chicago went on record to-day with a statement that undoubtedly a large amount of corn would be burned as fuel this winter by farmers. Current bids for new No. 4 grades of cash corn, not allowing for husking or hauling, make the grain in Western Iowa at present worth $2.15 a ton.

Compared with a week ago; corn prices this morning were 1¼ to 2 cents a bushel lower, wheat ⅛ to ⅜ down; oats, ⅜ to ⅞ off, and provision varying from 27 cents decline to a rise of 12 cents.

Heavy selling of corn by the country is among the reasons given for low prices prevailing. Should rural offerings diminish, a better speculative demand appears likely.

Back of the rural pressure to sell corn of late is the fact that weather conditions have been unusually favorable and that the crop has matured in excellent shape.

A bearish element of the wheat situation is that cheap prices for corn indicate likelihood of much less farm feeding of wheat than has been the case for two years or more. Oats prices depend chiefly on corn and wheat.

Provisions are irregular; lard down, meats up.

Eggs Sell At 25 Cts. Dozen This Morning

Eggs were 25 cents a dozen on the farmers' market this morning. Butter sold at 25 cents a pound and chickens were 23 to 27 cents a pound. Honey was 40 cents in 5 pound pails. Cream was 20 and 25 cents a pint.

Potatoes were 25 and 30 cents a peck, grapes were 30 cents a basket and tomatoes 20 cents for large baskets. Pears were 20 to 40 cents in small and large containers. Apples sold at 20 to 30 cents a peck. Squash were a dime a piece, beets and carrots 3 bunches for 10 cents, eggplant 15 cents each.

Hardwood was $8 a load.

Seven slight shocks were felt yesterday. A total of 3,000 houses were reported collapsed or uninhabitable.

POLICE RAID LIVERY BARN

Six Cases of Beer Are Found in Fontaine Barn.

3 MEN IN COURT.

Six cases of beer were found by police in a raid Saturday night on the stable at the corner of Aylmer and Brock streets, alleged to be operated by Leo Fontaine. The beer was located after considerable search behind a wooden wall on the ground floor. A large quantity of empty bottles were found also.

Fontaine was arrested and will appear in police court to-morrow on a charge of keeping liquor for sale contrary to the L. C. A.

Three local men found in the establishment by police were charged in court today. Two pleaded guilty to drinking in a place other than their own residence and each paid a fine of $15, the other man pleaded guilty to vagrancy the case being adjourned for a day without sentence.

New Free State tariffs are blamed for the closing of a tobacco factory at Dublin which employed 300 men.

CITY'S POSITION REMAINS STRONG FIGURES REVEAL

Population According to Assessor's Roll is 22,850.

TOTAL ASSESSMENT UP.

Increases Are Shown in Many Lines of City's Assessments.

That Peterborough's financial bulwarks, the value of its properties and business enterprises, remain sound despite the severe testing of the past two years is shown by the figures of the city's assessment rolls made known to-day by City Clerk S. R. Armstrong, who has received the rolls from City Assessor W. J. Henry.

In but four cases do the figures show a reduction from last year. The amount of taxable incomes is down $7,125, incomes coming under the tax totalling $802,015 in 1931 but falling to $794,890 last year, the income on which this year's tax is collected. Business assessment liable for school rates only shows a reduction of $137,400 from last year, the total being $1,673,775 as compared with 1931's total of $1,811,175. The total value of property liable for school rates only is also down, last year's total being $2,886,300 while the total for this year is $2,726,350 a decrease of $157,950. The actual value of real property exclusive of buildings has decreased $2,655, from $6,723,265 in 1931 to $6,720,610 this year.

However in every other case the figures reflect the continued forward progress of the city.

The population, according to the assessor's count, shows an increase of 41, being now 22,850. But Mr. Henry points out that inaccuracies develop in because of the constant moving of families and the difficulties of a checkup. It is his opinion that the city's true population is probably higher than his figures show.

The value of buildings is up $131,590, the increase being from $17,723,605 in 1931 to $17,855, 195 this year. Also the total actual value of real property shows an increase of $128,935, from a total of $24,446,870 last year to a total of $24,575,806 this year. The total amount of taxable real property has jumped $264,635, the increase being from $17,887,030 to $18,151,665 this year. The total value of property exempt from taxation are liable for local improvements only shows an increase of $22,250, from $3,673,540 last year to $3,695,790 this year.

The total amount of business assessment is also up $53,490. Busi-

JAMES McNEILL RESIGNS AS HEAD OF FREE STATE

Official Announcement of Governor General's Move Made By Irish Government.

CLIMAX TO FRICTION.

King Approves Action on Advance Tendered By President De Valera.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—(AP)— An official announcement on behalf of the Irish Free State Government said today James McNeill, has relinquished the office of governor-general of the Free State.

John W. Dulanty, Free State high commissioner to London, issued a statement saying:

"In accordance with advice tendered his majesty by the president of the executive council of the Irish Free State, the king has approved of Mr. James McNeill relinquishing the office of governor-general of the Free State."

Snubbed

Athe time the government's bill for abolition of the oath of allegiance to the king was going its tortuous way through the dail and the senate the governor was snubbed on several occasions by the Free State Republican ministers. On one occasion members of the government pointedly left a function at which the governor was present when a band played "God Save The King," while the governor was denied invitations for several government functions in connection with the Eucharistic Congress.

GREATER MEASURE OF SOCIALISM URGED ON LABOR BY HENDERSON

Chieftain Presses For International Outlook and Firm Stand on Disarmament.

FROWNS ON REVOLUTION.

(By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Writer.)

LEICESTER, England, Oct. 3.—(C. P. Cable.)— The anual conference of the Labor party of Great Britain opened here to-day with a swing towards the left.

Through speech and draft resolution rang the call for a greater measure of Socialism. Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, leader of the party, threw cold water on any suggestion of revolutionary methods, but he declared the need for a definite advance towards Socialism was more imperative now than ever before.

New Social Order.

"Hard facts," exclaimed Mr. Henderson, "have reinforced the essential truth of our position; the aim of fundamental purpose of organized labor is wholly to transform the existing sytem by measures of social reconstruction and to replace it by a new social order." There must be the closest collaboration between the Labor party and the organized industrial workers and in the future it should become even more intimate, he declared.

"Labor must be definitely International in its outlook and should stand for disarmament and arbitration on International problems. Labor stands for Socialism because it is convinced its workers can only realize freedom and social equality by substituting publicly owned industries and services for disorganized competition and domination of vested interests," said Mr. Henderson.

Bambino Sets Up New Ball Record

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 3 (A.P.)—He's "Dr." Babe Ruth to Buddy McGinnis now. Buddy, 16, lay for 10 days in a respirator, unable to breathe naturally. He listened to a world series broadcast when the Bambino slammed out a homer in the first inning Saturday, Buddy, excited, suddenly began to breathe naturally, and physicians credited "Dr." Ruth with an "assist" as well as a hit and a run.

Check-Up In Windsor For Rdaio Licenses

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 3 (C.P.)— Pressure to collect radio licenses is to be made in this area, it was announced to-day by R. G. Gooding, district inspector.

A. T. St. Pierre has been named as supervisor of radio tax collections and will have a staff of 20 to 30 men. A systematic house to house canvass of the area is to be made and where 1932-33 licenses have not been purchased they will be issued at once unless the set is disconnected.

For those who are out of work time extension will be given till November and then the sets must be disconnected unless the license fee is paid or else, a fine will be imposed.

DR. McMULLEN WIDELY KNOWN MINISTER DEAD

Veteran Cleric Passes Away in His 102nd Year in Woodstock.

FUNERAL TUESDAY.

Elected Moderator of Presbyterian Church in 1888.

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 3 (C.P.). — Rev. Dr. W. T. McMullen, 101-year-old minister who spent half a century of his eventful life as an active cleric, is dead.

Dr. McMullen, one of Canada's most widely known Churchmen, passed away Saturday night. His health had been failing steadily for nearly a year.

Wonderful 100 Years.

He had lived for a century which he liked to describe as "the most wonderful in the history of the world in respect of invention and general progress," and he was always happy to think he had chosen the ministry as his calling.

"Had I my life to live over again" he said on the eve of his last birthday, "I would choose the ministry of the Gospel as the noblest calling to which any young man can devote his life."

Dr. McMullen, who was born in County Monaghan, Ireland, on Jan. 9, 1831, of Scottish ancestry, came to Canada with his father and mother when a boy. The family settled near Fergus, Ont.

During the early years of his life before he began his training for the ministry, he experienced all the hardships of pioneer life, unrelieved by any of the conveniences which have since tended to mitigate its roughness.

Educated In Toronto.

He received his college education at University College and Knox College of the University of Toronto, and was ordained a minister in 1856. He at once accepted a call to Millbank, Ont., and stayed there four years, beginning a career which was to make him eventually one of this country's best-known pulpit speakers.

Dr. McMullen made only one move after he took his first call. He went to Woodstock as minister at Knox Church, and remained in the pulpit for 46 years, retiring in 1908, but remaining in the town whose people had listened to his words for nearly half a century.

After his retirement he spoke often from various pulpits as a supply or guest preacher, and made his last appearance as a minister on Thanksgiving Day, 1930.

Birthday Messages.

The white-bearded patriarch, as he became, never celebrated a birthday after his retirement without delivering a message to the people of Woodstock.

Dr. McMullen did not spend his fifty years in the ministry without honor. In 1888 the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, sitting that year in Halifax, unanimously elected him Moderator.

The aged minister was remarkably active until his final illness and failing strength overtook him last year.

Seriously Ill Once.

He had been seriously ill once. In 1873, he used to say, he was threatened with a breakdown induced by insomnia. The people of Knox Church raised a purse of money, and sent him to England for a rest. Seven went with him. They all died before he did.

During his ministry in this town

Hooper In Business For Forty-Five Years

Saturday was probably just another day to George Street merchants, but to T. H. Hooper it was the forty-fifth anniversary of his opening in business in the lower store near Charlotte Street. For forty-four years without a break the Hooper confectionery has been a landmark of that main street block between Charlotte and Simcoe streets, nearly half a century of continuous service which the public has manifestly appreciated. The years have rested lightly upon Mr. Hooper, whose early labors and close attention to business established a solid foundation upon which other Hooper stores were subsequently built up and are today operating with the assistance of Mr. Hooper's two sons.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC HELD LIABILITY

United Church Officials Find Opposition Difficult Owing To Its Revenue.

CONTINUE STRUGGLE.

HAMILTON, Oct. 3 (C.P.)—"The liquor traffic remains stubbornly entrenched in Canada. Because of the financial condition of our country, the revenue to dominion and provincial treasuries renders opposition to it exceedingly difficult," declares the Board of Evangelism and social service of the United Church in its annual report to the general council of the church here to-day.

The dominion bureau of statistics is cited as authority for the statement that in 1931 the Dominion revenue derived from the manufacture and sale of liquor was $43,263,871. "In 11 years," the board states, "the Quebec government has received 70 million dollars from the liquor traffic, British Columbia in the same period received 35 million and in five years the Ontario government received 43 million dollars. Other government control provinces have received revenue in like proportion."

"Much education work remains to be done," the report concludes regarding the temperance question," to bring about a conviction that the liquor traffic is a social liability that must be removed. This cannot be accomplished by magic but by mastering the facts concerning alcohol and faithfully presenting them to young and old."

Prayers Offered.

The Council authorized Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore, Moderator, to name a delegation to attend the funeral of Rev. Dr. W. T. McMullen, Woodstock centenarian, who died yesterday. The Council joined in prayer to the memory of Rev. Mr. McMullen and the wife of Rev. W. Harold Young, Toronto. Mrs. Young died early to-day from burns received in her home Sunday while her husband was preaching in Ryerson United Church here.

Rev. D. N. McLachlan, secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service, began his address by asking Council to stand for a minute in memory of the late Prof. J. W. McMillan, Toronto. The work of Professor McMillan, he said, had served to "humanize" the minimum wage legislation in Ontario and Manitoba.

CRIMES FEWER ESSEX COUNTY

Year Ending Sept. 30 Shows 14 Indictable Offences Against 59 in 1931. . . .

TEN CONVICTIONS.

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 3 (C.P.)— Decrease in serious crime in Essex County is indicated by court records, according to A. A. McKinnon, local registrar for Ontario Supreme Court and county court.

In the year ending Sept. 30 there were 14 indictable offence cases before the supreme court while in the preceding court year there were 59 in supreme court and one in county court.

Of the 14 cases this year there were 10 convictions and of these four were connected with drugs and only one for robbery armed, in cases where sentences were three years or over.

BADLY BURNED WHEN CLOTHING CATCHES FIRE

Wife of Rev. Harold Young Passes Away in Toronto Hospital.

HUSBAND WAS AWAY.

Dr. Young and His Wife Came to George Street in 1920.

TORONTO, October 3 (C. P.). — Terribly burned about the head and body when her clothes caught fire from an unknown cause, Mrs. W. H. Young, wife of the Rev. W. H. Young, M.A., D.D., died here early to-day. Her husband was preaching in Ryerson United Church, Hamilton, at the time she was burned.

For some time, identification of Mrs. Young was delayed at the General Hospital here. She was unofficials of the hospital were unconscious when brought in and able to learn her identity for some hours.

Accomplished Pianist.

Born in Montreal, Mrs. Young was a daughter of N. W. McLaren. She was educated at Westmount Public Schools and Westmount Academy. After her graduation, she took up the study of music and was well known in musical circles as an accomplished pianist.

Dr. and Mrs. Young lived in Montreal for some time after their marriage in 1918, until Dr. Young accepted the George Street charge in Peterborough in 1920. They moved to Toronto in 1925 to take over the pulpit of St. Paul's, and have since been continuous residents here.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Young is survived by a son William 13, a daughter Mary 10, and her mother and brother in Montreal.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday.

Rev. Harold Young, M.A., D.D., was pastor of George Street United Church for five years, his tenure being from 1920 to 1925. He and his wife were popular throughout the city. Dr. Young's sermons appealed to the young people of the city, and the church drew large congregations during his time in Peterborough.

Mrs. Young took an active part in the church's organizations, being a leader in the women's organizations, and also a teacher in the Sunday School. She and Dr. Young were the guiding spirits in most of the junior groups of the church, and the effect of their work was felt long after they had left Peterborough to accept a charge in Toronto.

PANTS BURGLAR PLAYS HOUDINI

Dives Through Plate Glass Window and Vanishes Before Householder's Eyes.

TAKES LOOT WIT HHIM.

HAMILTON, Oct. 3 — Hamilton has a pants burglar who is something of a Houdini as well. In the early hours of the morning Mrs. Robert Redding, 836 Main street east, awoke to see a man methodically going through the dresser in her bedroom. Her husband awoke a moment later to see the intruder folding the Redding trousers neatly over his arm and making for the door. Mr. Redding leaped from his bed and dashed downstairs after the burglar. The front door was reached and the fugitive took a flying head-first dive through the big panel of glass, vanishing into the night with a resounding crash. Mr. Redding searched the verandah and vicinity but there was no trace of the burglar to be seen. He seemed to have vanished into thin air as he passed through the glass.

BANDIT WOUNDED 4 POSSEMEN HIT RUNNING BATTLE

Gunman's Car Careens Into Tree as Police Shots Take Effect.

VICTIM MAY DIE.

Aides Are Wounded as State Officer Picks Up Shotgun From Pavement.

FLINT, Mich., Oct. 3 (C.P.).—A bandit was shot and probably fatally wounded and four members of a posse were wounded by the accidental discharge of a shotgun today during a mile-long running gun fight on the outskirts of this city.

The bandit, unidentified, was shot as he sped in his automobile along the highway after returning the fire of State police, who had been advised of his approach. His car careened into a telephone pole and was demolished.

The four persons were wounded when James Smith, State police officer, picked up his shotgun from the pavement near the wrecked car. The gun discharged, wounding Patrolman Herbert Fitzgerald, 35; Joseph Gilbert, 20, Steve Vargo, 22, and Cyriel Hoornaert, 42. None, physicians said, was seriously injured.

The bandit was sought for a series of lunch stand and garage holdups on the highway between Pontiac and Flint.

ALLAN B. MANN IS RE-ELECTED

Reeve of Smith is Returned to Complete Term of Office.

GIVEN ACCLAMATION.

Allan B. Mann was this afternoon re-elected by acclamation as Reeve of Smith Township, at the township nomination meeting held at the Court House here presided over by Percy Udy, clerk.

Reeve Mann was the only nominee, his name having been proposed by A. K. Nicholls and seconded by Eli Burston. About sixteen ratepayers of the township were present at the proceedings.

It will be recalled that Reeve Mann resigned from the municipal council upon representations made by a ratepayer of the township, Ed M. Elliott, county clerk and treasurer.

Reeve Mann filed a disclaimer of office after notice of motion was served upon him of an application that was to be made in the Supreme Court of Ontario, asking for an order, "to declare that Allan B. Mann has since his election as Reeve of Smith Township become disqualified and ineligible to sit or vote as a member of the council."

The protest was made as a result of Reeve Mann having received the sum of $31.65 from the township treasury for work done on the road division in his neighbourhood. The money has since been repaid by Reeve Mann.

RADIO OPERATOR STICKS TO LAST AS BOAT SINKS

Action Brings Rescue for Crew Shortly After Freighter Disappears.

VICTIM OF ICEBERG.

Luckless Sailors Being Returned to Churchill—Then to Winnipeg.

HOPE'S ADVANCE, Que., Oct. 3 (C.P.). — Thirty sailors from the sunken ship Bright Fan were safe aboard the Government patrol-boat N. B. McLean to-day, and the crowded forecastle rang with their praise for a radio operator who remained at his post until the last man was ready to abandon the ship—and then left his apparatus running, sputtering the ship's position through the thin Arctic air.

The Bright Fan, six days out of Churchill with a cargo of grain, foundered after ramming an iceberg in Hudson Straits. Its S.O.S. pierced the chill pre-dawn and was picked up by the patrol boat less than 30 miles away. Again and again the three dots, three dashes, three dots flashed through the Arctic air as the Government boat churned the waters on its rescue mission.

With all hope abandoned of saving the ship, the crew put off in two open boats, led by Capt Oliver. The radio operator was one of the last to leave, remaining at his key until the boats were launched. And when the crew pulled away from the ship's side, the wireless kept sputtering away, guiding the patrol boat to the rescue.

Runs Three Hours.

Three hours after the grain boat was abandoned the waters reached the wireless generators. The signals stopped. The Bright Fan went to the bottom. But the McLean was in sight, guided over the Arctic waters by the radio signals.

Putting about for Wakeham Bay, after picking up the Bright Fan's crew, the McLean anchored in that old harbor, remaining there overnight. Contact is expected to be made to-day with the steamer Pensilva, bound from Barry, Wales and Churchill. Capt. Oliver and his men will be transhipped to the ingoing vessel. They will return to Churchill and from there to Winnipeg.

The wreck was the first ship-loss over the northern grain route since modern shipping opened last season. The Bright Fan owned by the Fancott Shipping Company, Cardiff, Wales, had a cargo of 253,000 bushels of Prairie grain. It was of 2,357 tons net.

WOMAN IS FINED FOR BEING DRUNK

Court Action is Climax to Frantic 'Phone Call "Man Kille din Fight."

DID IT TO HURRY POLICE.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 3. (CP) — Mrs. Minnie Myers, Westminster township, was fined $10 and costs to-day when she was convicted of being drunk in a public place. Before she was arrested Saturday, Mrs. Myers had thrown considerable stir into the little town of Lambeth, near here.

A woman's voice reported a man had "just been killed in a fight" and squads of county provincial, city and district police, rushed to Lambeth. Immediately, the village was surrounded and an exciting manhunt for the alleged murderer commenced.

When Mrs. Myers appeared in court to-day she explained it all. "Two men were fighting and I phoned for the police. I said one had been killed, but I just said it to hurry the police.

John Lester, London, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and was fined $10 while Charles Benn, Sarnia, also involved in the general mixup, paid $100 and costs for having liquor in other than his home.

LIVESTOCK CLASSES FILLED AT ANNUAL MILLBROOK FAIR

Fine Showing of Horses is One of Outstanding Features of Event.

LOWER ATTENDANCE.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 3. (Examiner Correspondence).—Classes all well filled, particularly in the livestock sections, and quality quite up to standard, were characteristics of the annual fall fair held at Millbrook, under the auspices of the Agricultural Society, on Saturday, opening at 1 p.m., ideal autumn weather conditions prevailing, and only regrettable feature being the lowered attendance, estimated at approximately twenty-four hundred, the gate receipts running probably one hundred and fifty dollars below that of last year.

Holding the fair on a Saturday was tried out for the first time this year but apparently they change from the usual Friday had no effect on the general success exhibitors being practically as numerous as in other years, but the sale of tickets not reaching the expected figure; the blame may possibly be largely placed on prevailing economic conditions. A fine showing of horses is always an outstanding feature of the Millbrook fair, the judging of the various classes in the large ring before the well-filled grandstand not being completed until after six o'clock, though it had been going on continuously all afternoon. A popular attraction this year was the Lindsay Boys' Band, natty in trim uniforms light sand in color, with scarlet trimmings, their music which so delighted the listeners undoubtedly being one major reason why seats on the grandstand practically never went unoccupied throughout the entire time the fair lasted.

Showing of Colts

The Boys' Foal Club, with a very fine showing of heavy and light colts, was a new feature this year, ten prizes being offered, the first fourteen of the entries being placed as follows: Allan Earle, George Murphy, Jay Whittington, Arthur Breckenridge, Jack Whittington, Arnold Bonner, Marshal Pallis; Ernest Breckenridge, Earl Armstrong, Wilfrid Lunn, Gordon Smith, Joe Palmer, Ivan Eggleston, and Melbourne Perritt. The Ontario Horse Breeders' Association the local Agricultural Society each donate twenty-five dollars toward the prize money, and the Young Farmers' Club, one dollar to each boy showing a colt and not being receiving an award from the judge.

Ladies' Work

In the main building there was the usual remarkably good exhibition of ladies' with several outstanding entries in such numbers as cut work, filet crochet, library, dining-room, kitchen, and bathroom accessories, etc., one crocheted bed spread of ivory linen thread in floral pattern being particularly admired. A red knitted sweater coat, with cross stitch design in black making the border drew many admiring comments, and my lady's aprons were well represented in dainty organdie creations, and also in gingham for more utilitarian purposes. Young Wooler Lad Shot Through Knee

WOOLER, Oct. 3 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCall's young son was unfortunately shot in the leg by a comrade who was shooting at a target. The boy was taken to Belleville hospital for anX-ray and found bullet lodged near the knee. An operation was performed and found a bone in the knee splintered by the bullet and the lad is in a serious condition.

22,444 RESIDE IN OSHAWA CITY

Assessment Figures Show Decreases in All But School Rate.

POPULATION DOWN 921.

OSHAWA Oct. 3 — Assessment Commissioner Cyril G. Luke has now completed all his statistics derived from the assessment roll, and reports that the total taxable assessment for all purposes in 1932 is placed at $16,743,490, as compared with the revised assessment for 1931 of $16,901,840, a decrease of $158,350, representing about $8,272 revenue on the existing mill rate for this year.

Assessment on income tax shows a decrease of $183,940. Assessment on business tax has decreased by $8,830. Building assessment, however, has increased by $21,470 and the increase on land assessment is placed at $12,950.

Assessment for school rates amounts to $125 800, as compared with the 1931 assessment of $101,275, an increase of $24.525.

The population of the city, according to the returns of the Assessment Commissioner, this year is 22,444, as compared with 23,002 in 1931, a decrease of 558.

In connection with these figures it is of interest to note that the figures given in the Dominion Government census returns for 1931 give the population as 23,365, the Assessment Commissioner's figures for this year being 921 fewer than those of the last census.

CHURCH COUNCIL STUDIES DEPARTMENT REPORTS

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 3 (By The Canadian Press)—The general council of the United Church today labored to complete reception of departmental reports while sessional committees held lengthy conferences to prepare their recommendations to general council upon matters referred to them.

The missionary work of the church, both in the home and foreign fields, was reviewed in detail by the respective departments. Accounts were also submitted by the boards on pensions and evangelism and social service. If routine reports are completed before the end of the day's session the council hopes to begin consideration of the findings made by the sessional committees.

That Alberta has gone in strongly for raising of hogs in the last decade is shown by the 1931 census of 1,062,968 for the swine population of that province, a gain of 151 per cent over 1921.

Camper In North Defies Old Warning Shoots Peeved Bruin With .22 Rifle

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Oct. 3.—(CP)—Steve Pruce broke the law of the north and killed a bear with a .22 calibre rifle. And that, according to many experts, is something. Usually, warnings are issued to neophytes in the north. And they run something like this:

Don't ever shoot at a bear with a .22. You'll only insult him and make him mad."

However, Steve and Mrs. Pruce were camping near Tabor on the Algoma Central railway. Mrs. Pruce walking behind her husband, heard something behind her. She turned, saw the bear standing upright and advancing, eight feet away. She screamed and handed the light rifle to Steve. Steve promptly placed a single shell directly into Bruin's brain. The bear dropped, and Steven pumped several more bullets into the carcass.

Pea Vine Grows 91 Inches Long

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 3.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—Growth in and around Campbellford this year has been plentiful and some excellent crops have matured, but perhaps Thomas E. It was in no way hurt by the recent heavy frost.

HOOVER STARTS TOUR OF WEST

Opens Campaign With Hurried Visit to Home State of Iowa.

ROOSEVELT SLOWS UP.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's electioneering tour of the west at an end, Herbert Hoover prepared today to leave on a brief "rebuttal trip," the president planned to take train at Washington this afternoon for a hurried trip to his home state of Iowa to deliver at Des Moines Tuesday night what many regard as the keynote speech of his campaign.

Burdened with administration tasks and the work of planning relief for mortgage-laden farmers, the many thousands of unemployed— a work which no doubt lights him up warmly before the eyes of many voters—Mr. Hoover intended making his sally into the west as quickly as possible. But the Des Moines address, in which it is known he will discuss farm relief and answer recent Democratic charges of governmental inefficiency, will be carried by radio to every part of the country.

Roosevelt On Way Home

Overnight a slightly wearied Governor Roosevelt travelled toward Albany and home, his trip through 21 state personally considered a success. Review of the speeches he made during the busy trip revealed that should the Democratic presidential candidate be successful at the polls five weeks hence, he would work for: As low a tariff as the prosperity of industry would permit; public ownership of waterpower; a conference of farm leaders to work out solution of the farm problem; an international silver conference; a national transportation plan.

Week-end announcement was made of the formation of "the national Progressive league," described as organized under the leadership of powerful Senator George W. Norris, Independent Republican from Nebraska, to support Democratic Roosevelt. Donald R. Richberg of Chicago, general counsel for the Railway Labor executives association, is executive chairman of the league.

ELECTORS HEAD TOWARD POLLS IN SOUTH HURON

Voting Follows Most Vigorous Campaign County Has Ever Witnessed.

HEAVY VOTE EXPECTED.

Leading Lights of Both Parties Played Active Part in Fight.

CLINTON, Ont., Oct. 3 (C.P.).—The electors of South Huron went to the polls to-day to choose a successor to the late Thomas MacMillan, Liberal member of the House of Commons, who died last June. To-day's voting follows a campaign of such vigor and effort as Huron County has never witnessed before in a by-election, and seldom have so many platform appeals been made in a general election.

The choice is between William H. Golding, foreman of a Seaforth machine shop, and nine times Mayor of that town, and Louis H. Rader, a successful farmer of Hay Township, and Warden of Huron County, Liberal and Conservative respectively.

Seldom in any by-election has there been such effort by the two old parties to sway the vote of the electorate. Five Cabinet Ministers of the present Government and as many ex-Ministers of the last Government, including the Liberal chieftain, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and numerous present members of the House of Commons, have campaigned through the riding in the past two weeks.

Divided In 1914.

The constituency was created by the Redistribution Act of 1914, dividing the county into two ridings, North and South. In 1917 J. J. Merner, Conservative, was elected. William Black, Progressive, was the victor in 1921, and in 1925 the late member, Thomas MacMillan, Liberal, won the seat with a majority of 253. In the 1926 election, Mr. MacMillan was returned with a majority of 1,153 votes, and in 1930 his majority was 349.

There are 77 polls and an electorate of 14,400. It was expected that a high percentage of the qualified voters would be at the polls to-day.

Both parties expressed confidence as the campaign closed Saturday night. The Conservatives based their hopes on their complete organization of the Province and the fact that the constituency, mainly agricultural, stood to benefit directly from the recently completed Imperial Economic Conference in Ottawa. Apart from the meetings addressed by five Cabinet Ministers, the campaign for Mr. Rader was personal.

The Liberals, with meetings almost nightly for the past two weeks, were equally confident that their appeal, based on the alleged failure of the Government to meet the present economic depression by lessened trading restrictions and greater economy, would sway the people in their favor.

D. H. McNaughton, returning officer, was here to-day to collect the returns, and he expected to have a definite indication of the result within three hours after the close of the polls at six o'clock tonight.

Young Newark Girl Ends All By Hanging

NEWARK, Del., Oct. 3 (C.P.).—Ann Hall Anderson, 15-year-old daughter of J. Hall Anderson, former Lieutenant-Governor of Delaware, committed suicide last night, authorities said, by hanging herself in a garage at the rear of her home.

Members of her family were at a loss to account for the girl's act, but said she had been melancholy since her enrollment in the Newark High School at the beginning of this term. She previously had been educated exclusively by private tutors, it was stated.

She had recently returned from a trip to Rome and the Riviera.

LYTTON REPORT TO BE LEAGUE'S GREATEST TEST

Analysis Finds New State Not Supported by Manchurian People.

BOTH NATIONS RAPPED.

Japan Theatens to Withdraw From League if Assembly Adopts Suggestions.

By P. I. Lipsey

GENEVA, Oct. 3.—(A.P.)—The League of Nations was definitely at grips today with the Manchurian problem—one of the greatest tests it has faced in its history—following publication of the report of the investigating commission headed by Lord Lytton of Great Britain.

The commission, in an exhaustive analysis of the situation which began with the opening of the Japanese army's drive in September of last year found that the military campaign was unjustified and that the new state of Manchukuo is not supported by the Manchurian people.

It proposed a special autonomous regime for the territory, with China retaining full sovereignty over the three provinces, and suggested a special Sino-Japanese conference to be worked out on the basis of a permanent settlement, with the provision that the League Council take a hand if the Chinese and Japanese themselves fail to agree.

Because of the delay requested by Japan and granted last week by the league, consideration of the report will not be taken up until November 14. It was signed and approved by all five members of the commission, Lord Lytton of Great Britain, General Frank McCoy of the United States, Count Luigi Albrovandi Marescotti of Italy, Dr. Hermann Schnee of Germany and General Henri Claudel of France.

INTERESTING FEATURES IN Y.W.C.A. PROGRAM

With the beginning of October and fall and winter activities at the Y.W.C.A. will be resumed and new and interesting features added.

The opening events of the season will be the fall rallies.

The senior rally and open house will be held on Wednesday evening, October 5, at eight o'clock. This is an oportunity for all High school girls, Normal school and Business College students, business girls, young women and citizens of Peterborough, men and women to know the Y.W.C.A. and the splendid program of character building activities carried on all year round by this Association. The rally and fall classes will be opened by a talk on "Playing the Game" by Rev. C. D. Daniel. Rev. Daniel is recognized as a leader of young people's work and his address will be interesting and inspiring. Gymnasium and swimming classes will give an exhibition of work and there will be an opportunity to see some exhibits of handcraft work which "Y" members are finding most interesting. Educational classes also include, Current Events, First Aid and Home Nursing, French Conversation, Elocution, Interior Decoration, Practical Housekeeping, Bible Study and Leadership Training Course.

The first issue of an attractive "Y" magazine is ready for distribution and every girl is entitled to a copy as long as the supply lasts. Come in to the Y.M.C.A. and receive your copy free. You will enjoy reading about "Y" events.

All gymnasium classes and dancing classe open at the Y.M.C.A. on Monday, October 3rd. There are classes for every age. Classes for business girls are proving very popular and considerable interest has already been shown this season in a class for older business and professional women who feel the need of systematic exercise and supervised recreation. The "Y" gym is a popular place for badminton and basketball where girls like to keep that summer pep. Swimming in the warm filtered water with advantages of hot and cold showers, hair dryers and warm building is a real attraction these fall days.

The Y.W.C.A. is the community centre for all girls of the city and ever strives in its program of activities to be of real service. The employment bureau will help you find work. The classes and clubs will fit you for healthy, happy living and give you opportunity for new accomplishments, broader views, friends and a chance to serve others. The "Y" residence is a real home for girls away from home.

A welcome awaits every girl at the Y.W.C.A. The rally marks the opening of fall classes. A prominent business man recommends every girl to invest a share of her time at the Y.W.C.A.

THE WRONG TRAIN

NIAGARA FALLS—Locked in a box car for 14 hours without food or water, Samuel Erlich and Hubert Rickell were rescued by railway police here. The pair stated they climbed into the side-door pullman at Detroit intending to go to Chicago. Someone came along and locked the door. They found on arrival here they had taken the eastbound train instead of that heading for the west.

Thanks!

SUDBURY, Ont., Oct. 3 (C. P.)—Alderman J. D. McInnes thanked game warden George Charsley for catching six Sudbury citizens who were shooting partridge out of season. Then he turned right round and thanked the six citizens for shooting the birds.

And this is the reason: The birds were turned over to Mr. McInnes. One went to an 80-year-old woman who is confined to her home; two went to a woman who has been sick for some months; a mother and daughter who are ill received another brace; a man and his wife, cripled and sick, received some more.

The six men paid a total of $150 in fines, averaging around $10 per bird.

Hastings Brigade Called On Saturday

HASTINGS, Oct. 3 (Examiner Correspondence) — The local fire brigade were called out on Sunday morning to Mr. George Jeffries' house on Front street, where it was at first thought a fire had started in the attic but after careful examination it was found that there was no fire but smoke apeared to have backed up from the chimney. The alarm coming in when it did just as the churches were getting out drew a large crowd to the scene.

Trent River Barns Are Razed By Fire

TRENT RIVER October 3 (Examiner Correspondence).—Fire broke out in a barn about half-past nine o'clock on Saturday night on Lot 3 Concession 11, Seymour West, owned by Andrew Brown. The blaze spread to the second barn and both were completely destroyed. The barns were 30 feet by 50 feet. A quantity of hay was burned, the loss being partly covered by insurance.

Youth Is Cleared Murder Unsolved

BATTLEFORD, Sask., Oct. 3 (C. P.)—The seven-year-old murder of Mary Kozlowski, wife of a section man at Highgate, north of here, is still a mystery.

After a two-day trial Joe Kozlowski was acquitted of the capital charge against him. Kozlowski, who was only 14 when his stepmother was found dead in bed, has since been in a mental hospital and following his acquittal, Chief Justice J. T. Brown warned of the necessity of still keeping the accused under observation.

5 Years Before QUEEN VICTORIA'S ACCESSION to the Throne

In 1837, five years after the foundation of The Bank of Nova Scotia, Princess Victoria, a girl of 18, ascended the throne of England.

The accession of Princess Victoria marked the commencement of an era of unprecedented industrial expansion in Great Britain. The founding of The Bank of Nova Scotia likewise marked the beginning of a new era—it was one of the early steps which led to the development of an independent corporation banking system in Canada. Today The Bank of Nova Scotia serves its customers with a nation-wide system of Branches and old established world-wide banking connections. It places at their disposal the accumulated experience of a century of successful banking

The smart coat-like dress is engaging the attention of the fashionables this season.

Exceedingly lovely is today's model. And it's a style that will adapt itself to numberless delightful color schems.

The wrapped arrangement at the front is decidedly slimming and modish.

The original in black crepe satin had its tricky rever collar that ends in a scarf tie of the reverse side of the crepe, which appears again in the vest, novel cuffs and buttons.

Style No. 3422 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39-inch material with ⅞ yard of 39-inch contrasting.

Wine red sheer woolen is also very smart.

"My Only Medicine"

Mrs. McEachnie Says Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Helped Her at Every Crisis in Life.

Greatly Benefitted Her

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a real friend to me in all stages of life," writes Mrs. Archie McEachnie, Hopeville, Ont. "I commenced taking the Pills when I was just budding into womanhood as a very delicate girl. I was much benefitted. Then at the critical time of life, I again took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they certainly helped me through that period safely. Now at 60, every time I feel a little out of sorts, I take them—they have really been my only medicine."

Growing girls, and women at the dreaded time of life, have special need of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The rich new blood cells created by these Pills carry to every part of run-down systems the vigor-building properties required to restore health and strength. Try them. RIBBON EMBROIDERY is again coming into evidence.

* * * * * * *

It has been many years since it was in vogue. As it is effective and quickly done it fits into modern requirements admirably.

* * * * * * *

It is of two kinds, wide ribbon embroidery and narrow ribbon embroidery. In the former, ribbon is used for appliqueing, not flat patchwork, but a sort of repousse work whereby twisted and puffed pieces of ribbon are sewed to a foundation of satin or silk and sometimes to other textiles.

* * * * * * *

These bits of ribbon form realistic flowers, buds, and foliage, and occasionally other motifs. When colors are true and patches are sewed down correctly, the work is dainty and decorative, and, as mentioned before it is done with rapidity.

* * * * * * *

The second type of ribbon embroidery is that in which narrow ribbon or ribbon tape is used as working strands in the same way that yarn is employed as an embroidery medium.

* * * * * * *

The ribbon is threaded into a sharp or blunt crewel needle, and the design is outlined or filled in with stitches best suited to the foundation.

* * * * * * *

If the foundation is lace or any textile with a mesh, the ribbon-threaded needle is run up and down through the interstices. If the foundation is without meshes, it should be loosely woven so that the heavy working medium can pass readily through it.

* * * * * * *

While this latter foundation may call for a sharp needle, it is wise to use a blunt one whenever possible.

* * * * * * *

Darning stitch is not generally used in ribbon embroidery, althought it may be. The quicker method, of long stitches taken over many threads, can be used successfully.

* * * * * * *

The ribbon should be kept as flat as possible on the right side as this gives a more pleasing and smooth appearance than when the strands are twisted.

* * * * * * *

A dainty pillow top for a boudoir pillow is made with number one ribbon in pink or blue worked in filet mesh and lined with silk the color of the ribbon.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

JUMP OVERCALLS BY THE DEFENDING HAND

LESSON No. 22

The Defending Hand, which must enter the bidding after an opponent's Opening bid, may make a regulation (minimum) Overcall with a biddable suit and about 1½ to 2½ honor-tricks and a stopper in the opponents' suit, a simple Overcall may be made at notrump. With a strong hand containing 3 or more honor-tricks and possible (usually preferably) a biddable suit, and some strength in the major suits to support partner's possible Takeout in a major, a Double for a Takeout may be made.

Many hands are exceptionally strong in honor-tricks, containing more than 3, with two biddable suits or a powerful single suit. These hands may be shown by jumping the Defensive Overcall—that is, bidding a suit higher than necessary in order to overcall the opponent's bid. This Jump Overcall is not a Forcing bid, but it does strongly invite partner to support the suit, if able.

If South (Dealer) has opened the bidding with one club, and you hold:

Spades A K 6 5 4
Hearts A Q 10 9 7
Diamonds K 5
Clubs 6

you have 4 honor-tricks and two biddable suits. A Takeout Double would show your honor-trick strength, but might force your partner to bid on a very poor hand. However, if you show one of your biddable suits and also your exceptional strength, partner may be able to offer you support at once. The proper bid is a Jump Overcall of two spades.

If partner holds:

Spades 9 8 7
Hearts 3 2
Diamonds A 7 5 4
Clubs 10 9 7 4

his response to a Takeout Double could not be spades or hearts, but he can raise the suit of the Jump Overcall with about 1 honor-trick, to keep the bidding open. A Jump Overcall strongly invites partner to make a weak response, but permits him to pass if he holds a bust. With the hand just given, partner's proper response in three spades.

The Opening Hand now passes and the Defending player can show his strong heart suit by bidding four hearts. The two-suited nature of the hand is thus revealed to partner. This could not have happened, probably, if the Takeout Double had been used. Also, the Defending player has learned from his partner's Raise that partner is not trickless—an important and vital bit of information. Partner is now given the opportunity to choose between spades and hearts. With only two hearts as against three small spades, in his hand, partner makes the choice by bidding four spades.

Notice that a Jump Overcall is made either with a two-suiter—a hand containing two five-card suits, or a five and a six-card suit—or a hand with a long and strong suit (a freak) A Jump Overcall is almost certainly an indication of a five-card trump suit with about 4 trump tricks, or, if the Jump is made to three (as three hearts over one spade) the suit probably is about as strong as a suit bid to three (when unsupported(by a player opening the bidding. Partner can support a Jump Overcall of two with Q x or three small trumps. If he has an honor-trick (probably meaning that he has 2 supporting-tricks), or a higher Jump Overcall with only one trump and an honor-trick somewhere in the hand.

In a defending position and holding:

Spades K J 5
Hearts K Q 10
Diamonds A J 10
Clubs K J 5 3

the proper bid is either a Take-out Double or notrump, after a bid of one spade With 5 honor-tricks in this hand and 2½ in the Opening Hand, it is unlikely that Opening Hand's partner holds enough to raise It is also probable that this player's partner has a very weak hand ,too, so that notrump may be rather preferable to a Takeout Double, especially with the stopper in spades

If the hand, however, is:

Spades J
Hearts A Q J 10 8 4
Diamonds K J
Clubs A K J 5

the bid is three hearts The hand contains between 8 and 9 tricks if hearts are trump, so that if partner raises on 1 honor-tricks and a heart or two, it is not overly optimistic

Another reason that the Jump Overcall is to be preferred to the Takeout Double when holding strong two-suiter or a hand with a powerful single suit is that even when a Takeout Double is made, partner may still pass for a penalty or may make a minimum notrump or minor suit response, shutting out important information that might better have been given by the Jump Overcall Though not strictly Forcing, since partner may pass with a blank hand, the Jump Overcall is a very strong bid, showing a hand of unusual strength, and urgently requesting partner not to let the bidding die if there is the slightest excuse for keeping it open (the "excuse" being about 1 hoonr-trick somewhere in the hand)

TODAY'S POINTER

The Jump Overcall is one of the most effective bids in Contract, provided such a bid is safeguarded with adequate honor and playing-tricks.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

A Sound Pass

Question: The Dealer passed. He held:

Spades 7 6 5 2
Hearts A 10 6 4 3
Diamonds J 3
Clubs J 3

The Second Hand bid one club. Third Hand bid one heart and Fourth Hand bid one spade. What should the Dealer's next bid be, or should he pass? Neither side was vulnerable and neither side had anything toward game.

Answer: In support of partner's Overcall bid of one heart, the Dealer holds 2 tricks in hearts and 1 trick for the doubleton club or diamond. He cannot count both. The hand, therefore, counts 3 tricks in support of the heart Overcall and is not strong enough to justify any bidding.

The Choice of a Lead

Question: When partner has bid, what card do you lead of partner's bid suit when you have three with the Knave, Queen, King or Ace?

Answer: In leading to your partner's bid suit, the lowest and not the top is best, holding Knave, Queen or King. Of course, against the suit declaration, if you hold the Ace, you should always lead it.

RAW OR COOKED FOODS

A few years ago it was not unusual to hear and read the arguments for and against raw foods. To-day it is recognized that while a little raw food in the form of fruit or vegetables might well be eaten every day because of their minerals, vitamins, and roughage, nevertheless a diet consisting of raw foods only is not wise for man in the present state of his civilization.

While it must be admitted that some methods of cooking meats and vegetables remove some of their valuable food qualities, nevertheless, the advantage to health and digestion from the proper cooking of foods far outnumber those of raw foods.

Dr. Julius Friedenwald points out that food is cooked to improve its flavor, to soften it so that it can be thoroughly chewed and more easily digested ,and finally to destroy all parasites and germs that may be present in the raw state.

Cooking develops certain flavors which increase the appetite and the taste for food. Cooking moreover destroys the tough fibrous envelopes that surround many foods, thus permitting the foods to be more easily acted on by the digestive juices.

The raw food enthusiasts point out that in eating food in the raw state you get the benefit of all the food value, but if the digestive juices cannot break through all the fibrous coverings of the food cells, then only the food cells through whose covering the juices break through, will be digested.

It must be admitted however that a sufficient amount of this fibrous tissue should be eaten in order to stimulate the walls of the intestine and so prevent constipation.

However to the vast majority of people food in its raw state is not attractive to the eye, to the smell, or to the taste, and if appetite is not created naturally by hard outdoor work, it must be created by sight, smell and taste. This is called "brain appetite." Brain appetite causes the juices to flow before food is eaten.

Further, E. B. Boldyreff, the renowned research worker at Battle Creek Sanitarium has been able to prove that the stomach digestive juice which pours out at the sight, smell, or taste remembrance of appetizing food is richer in hydrochloric acid and pepsin than is the digestive juice that is poured out in the stomach when food is eaten.

This would seem like a most excellent argument for cooked foods.

OUR MAIL

Dear Anne Wilcox:

Isn't it surprising how one will put off writing—but here I am.

It must take a lot of time and thought to write your articles, giving so much variety and so much of human nature. I really do enjoy them. Well, by the look of things, summer has been and gone, and the saddest part of the year has come. Wasn't it nice of Old Sol to inquire for me?

I had a wonderful summer—for me, weeks without being sick, and how I enjoyed it. But my old enemy ill-health, overtook me when I wasn't looking. However, I fought him again, and was more or less victorious. Do you know it is a hateful thing to get sick often. You not only have the pain and discomfort, but the knowledge that you are giving trouble to others.

Then again, some folks get a sort of fatalistic slant on your health, and seem to think it is all you can look for. But personally, I keep thinking that "next year" I'll be strong and healthy. No pain, no headache, bronchitis, heart trouble, etc.—just plain heathy.

Wouldn't that be grand? Oh, well, I just keep doing the best I can with what I have. At least I don't look sick, so that's one comfort, or is it?

Old Man Depression still walks around, but I think he is definitely on the run, and we shall see a big difference in the spring. I have had a number of letters planned to write, but now I've started I can't recall the gist of them at all. I get a Western paper, and every week two pages are crammed with letters and I always read them, although I have never written one to them. Wouldn't it be nice if we had it in our paper? Quid Est does her bit, and one or two others, but I wish they would all get started.

I often laugh at the view town people have of the farmer's life and vice-versa. Each of us has our troubles and each thinks his the worst. But honestly, Anne, most of our troubles never happen. And there are compensations in every life which make it bearable.

Now my various duties are clamoring to be attended to, so hoping that the members will write long letters and cheer us all up, and wishing you all the best, Anne,

Your friend,
Ad Infinitum.

Thank you, Ad Infinitum, I was sorry to learn that you had been ill, but glad, indeed, to know that you enjoyed the summer. I agree with you when you say many of our troubles never happen—at least, I think they are imagined. Perhaps now that you and Qu'd Est and Ruralite have started writing, the rest will write, too. With kind regards,—Sincerely,

Anne Wilcox

Cottage Pudding Sauce Coffee

The cottage pudding is an economical and tasty dish. If your family is small the same pudding will serve for two meals at least, by steaming it the second day and serving with a different sauce. Recipes for three different sauces are included in to-day's recipes.

To-Day's Recipes.

Quick Cottage Pudding. — One-fourth cup butter, two-thirds cup sugar, one egg, one cup milk, two and one-fourth cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt. Cream the butter, add sugar gradually, and egg well beaten; mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt; add alternately with milk to first mixture. Bake in a shallow pan in a moderate oven, 425 degrees Fahrenheit, 30 minutes and serve hot with a sauce.

Chocolate Sauce.—Two squares of chocolate, or one-half cup cocoa, one cup cold water, two cups sugar, pinch salt, two teaspoons vanilla, or one teaspoon essence of mint, two tablespoons butter Cut chocolate into five or six pieces or use cocoa and stir over direct heat with the water until smooth and thick. Add sugar and salt and stil until dissolved. Boil three minutes, add vanilla, or mint, and butter and serve hot. This sauce may be stored in an air-tight jar in the refrigerator and reheated when needed.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT

"THE FINAL EDITION"

One of those very entertaining newspaper talkies that delineate the struggles of the fourth estate to procure interesting items for the great reading public. It is better than the usual run of newspaper pictures. Although business affairs around an ordinary newspaper office are conducted with an ordinary manner, and editors, as a rule, do not shout at the top of their voices when issuing orders, these talkies always picture matters as keyed up to a terrific pitch of excitement. However, perhaps a tabloid paper requires this tempo in order to get itself off the press.

A criminal lawyer with criminal tendencies gets involved with the murder of a noted person. Sam Bradshaw's "Daily Bulletin" undertakes to uncover the real criminals. Sam Bradshaw is played by Pat O'Brien, whose tough face and vibrant voice go well in a delineation of this sort. The heroine is Mae Clarke, as Ann Woodman, girl reporter and sleuth who uses her own methods, including a "shameless bathing suit" to find the villains.

The villains are a smooth pair, Bradley Page and Mary Doran. The love interest is negligible and is supplied by Bradshaw and Ann. The interest of the picture, which is sustained from start to finish, lies in the electric vitality injected into the tale by the newspaper background. It is entertaining in the extreme.—(Jeanette).

OUTLINES CAREER OF H. P. KENNEDY

Old Peterborough Boy Appears in Jack Moran's Corner.

The illustrated personal corner of the Toronto Globe conducted by Jack Moranz presented on Saturday a sketch of H. P. Kennedy, former prominent citizen of Peterborough, who has attained a high place in the business world of Canada.

Mr. Kennedy was born in Otonabee township, three miles from this city, and one of his earliest jobs at the age of eleven was raising prize poultry. To quote Mr. Moranz: "Mr. Kennedy was educated in the public and high schools of Peterborough and later he was a member of that city's Board of Education. His boyhood ambition was to find the best marketing centre for farmers' livestock. He entered the livestock business for himself at the age of eighteen years. When he was twenty-two he had completed a buying organization of forty men. He has established several stock yards. He is president and managing director of the Edmonton Stock Yards Limited and the Union Stock Yards of Saskatoon. He is the owner of the H. P. Kennedy Live Stock Commission Company and the Union Stock Yards, Toronto, and he is one of the organizers and president and managing director of the Pekto Corporation Limited. Mr. Kennedy's favorite hobbies are making moving pictures and lawn bowling. He is secretary of the trustee board of Trinity United Church, a member of the Y.M.C.A., the Canadian Lawn Bowling Club, Granite Club and the Royal Canadian Yacht Club."

That Mrs. Arsenio T. Garcia No. 1 helped her husband win the affections of Mrs. Garcia No. 2 was revealed in the bigamy trial of a Manila, P.I., optician recently, and Garcia was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment.

AUTOMOBILE FATALITIES.

Speaking over the radio the other night in the interest of the safety first campaign a Toronto man contrasted the excitement caused by the death of a number of American football players last season with the calmness with which the public received the heavy daily toll of automobile killings.

When fatal accidents were reported from the football field there was a loud and insistent demand for safer football, and the rules have been amended accordingly, but the deaths on the highways and on city streets occasion no such clamor.

The speaker declared that only an aroused public opinion could produce the desired improvement, and he is right.

Safety campaigns help to develop that opinion, the newspapers have been doing their part and the traffic laws, imperfectly enforced though they are, are of some assistance, but in spite of all these agencies there is a surprising apathy on the part of many people to the loss of life in automobile accidents.

It is impossible to believe that this condition will always be found; there will probably come a time when the public will demand of those who drive cars that they handle their machines with some regard for the safety of others or that they be deprived of the privilege of driving.

THE SALVATION GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Peterborough citizens generally should be interested in the golden jubilee ceremonies of the local Salvation Army which will terminate to-night with an entertainment in the Temple.

Fifty years ago the Salvation Army began its activities in Peterborough, and every day of the half century that has intervened has seen the devoted band of workers helping to lift fallen humanity and striving to make conditions happier for the down and out.

It is a long jump from the handful of Salvationists of fifty years ago to the large corps of to-day with its splendid bands and commodious and well appointed quarters, but the spirit of the organization has never changed—there has always been a helping hand for those in need and always an unselfish desire to serve that has made the Salvation Army a real force for good in the community.

There was a time when Salvationists had to expect contempt and sometimes abuse when they ventured to hold their open-air meetings, but that day has long since passed and the Army has gained the respect and confidence of the public, even of that section which sometimes finds fault with its methods.

It is to be hoped that when ten years from now the local corps celebrates its diamond jubilee its record will be even more notable and its work correspondingly more successful.

THE SOUTH HURON CONTEST.

To-day the electors of South Huron are deciding by their ballots whether they will elect another Liberal to fill the seat of the late Thomas McMillan or whether for the first time in the history of the riding they will send a Conservative to Ottawa to support the policies of the Bennett Government.

The political history of the constituency and the tendency of most electors to blame whatever government happens to be in power for hard-time conditions would suggest that the former course will be followed, and that South Huron will remain in the Liberal column.

A political fight, however, is always a difficult thing upon which to base prophecies, and there is always the possibility of an upset.

Both parties have devoted a large amount of attention to the campaign which has been notable for the number of front benchers whose services as orators have been called upon.

Mr. Bennett has not gone into the riding, but his Ministers have done their bit, while both the Liberal federal leader, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, and the provincial chieftain, Mitchell F. Hepburn, have made their contribution toward the success of Wm. H. Golding, the Liberal candidate.

Unless the Liberal majority is greatly increased or the Government wins a surprising victory, the verdict will not have a great deal of political significance; as has been said, South Huron has never elected a Conservative and a failure to do so on this occasion should cause little surprise.

SPORTS NEWS VERSUS FINANCIAL NEWS.

"The criticism directed against the emphasis given sports by the newspapers, the slighting criticism of the man who buys and reads the newspaper for its sports section alone, the criticism of the over-emphasis placed on football, never disturbs me," says Fielding H. Yost, athletic director at the University of Michigan, in an article in the Rotarian Magazine.

"I believe that if there are enough men, in the welter and turmoil of the modern world, who find time to interest themselves in clean, virile sport, we can point to these men as unfailing signs of an ultimate salvation for us all.

"I would far rather have American be called a nation of sports' enthusiasts than a nation of money-grabbers," contends the veteran football mentor. "I would far rather have my boy study the sports section than the stock-market pages, or, for that matter, the lurid first-page stories of the world's woes and sordid scandals.

"Much has been said about the sacrifice the boy must make in order to prepare himself for, or to make, the athletic team in our schools, colleges and universities," Mr. Yost continues. "Just what is a boy expected to do? Only this! Stop doing all the things that harm him and begin doing all the things that build him; that develop him physically, mentally and morally; that make him cleaner, keener, stronger, finer, more courageous and more efficient.

"In other words, he does the opposite of making a sacrifice. No one training for an athletic team is expected to do anything other than what any boy should do who wants to give himself a fair chance in the game of life.

"If football teaches temperance, right living, regular habits, sportsmanship, co-operation, confidence, courage, spirit of service, study of the game and the lesson of loyalty, can it fail to endow the characters of those who play it with something that will live with the boys all their lives and make them bigger and better men, men considerate in victory and without despair or alibi in defeat? I say 'Yes' in most emphatic terms because I have seen it happen, time after time to scores of my own boys—and some of them are grandfathers now."

HOBBIES.

The name of Rothschild is one of those names that mean important money. Like Rockefeller, Mellon and Morgan, it stands for finance and the power of finance. So when Lord Rothschild was listed as a speaker at a recent meeting of a British scientific association, everybody stood by for a heavy speech about the world depression and what not.

But Lord Rothschild, without a smile, got up and made a speech which began as follows:

"The queerest looking fleas yet discovered originated in South America. They are found only there and in a modified form in Australia. The only explanation that is at all satisfactory is the assumption that at one time there was a bridge between South America and Australia."

And he went on to deliver a scholarly scientific speech that did not have the faintest relation to finance, trade or industry.

As a revelation that a king of finance can have an interest aside from money bags, this little story is rather illuminating. We ordinarily assume that a man like Rothschild must be a monkish gentleman whose veins run ice water and who can interest himself in nothing that does not bear the sign of the dollar or the pound sterling.

The scientific study of South American fleas, then, comes as a shock. An odd hobby for a rich man to have? Perhaps, but a useful one, just the same, and one that betokens an active, cultured mind.

It sometimes seems as if you can tell more about a man by his hobby than by his profession.

A man can slip into a job more or less by accident, and through force of circumstances can stay in it all his life when there are other things he would rather do. But his hobby—that is his own choice, and he can change it any time he pleases.

And this story about one of the world's richest men makes one wonder, if things had happened just a little differently, might England not have one less financier and one more scientist?—Vancouver Sun.

BRITAIN'S FINANCIAL PROGRESS.

Beyond a doubt Great Britain has made remarkable progress in the stabilization of her financial condition since the crisis occurred a year ago this summer. She has put her financial house in order, and her recent achievement in converting more than $8,000,000,000 worth of government securities from a five per cent. to a three and one-half per cent. interest basis excited world-wide admiration. Added to this, a recent cable announces that with the repayment of 2,500,000,000 francs to France on September 10, next, the United Kingdom will have repaid in full the entire amount of the foreign credits obtained by the treasury during the financial crisis in September, 1931. These credits aggregated $200,000,000 from the United States, and 5,000,000,000 francs from France. The last of the United States credit was repaid in March and April, with the right to reborrow 650,000,000 at any time up to August 28, last. As this privilege was not exercised, it has finally lapsed. This certainly records one of the most astounding financial recoveries that have occurred in the history of the world.

It is regrettable, however, that British industrial progress has not been as rapid as that of finance. Exports are still declining, as the following table shows:

	Exports	No. of Unemployed
July, 1929	£65,519,000	1,123,000
July, 1930	50,746,000	2,012,000
July, 1931	34,251,000	2,713,000
July, 1932	29,290,000	2,811,792

These figures represent British products only. In addition to the foregoing Britain does a large re-export business. Goods entering her ports are re-shipped to almost every commercial emporium in the world. These latter have fallen from £9,916,000 in July, 1929, to £3,300,000 in July, 1932, which gives a fair idea of the shrinkage that has taken place in Britain's shipping trade.

This shows why the British delegation at the Ottawa conference was so anxious to find increased markets for British products. There must be a substantial increase in Britain's export trade before the country's prosperity is restored. With industry flagging and unemployment aggregating 2,811,792 in July, it can readily be seen why the British Government is slow to risk an increase in the cost of living by imposing duties on food supplies.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Neither Mr. George H. Ruth nor Mr. Lou Gehrig is likely to be the next mayor of Chicago, Ill.

South Huron electors, having been deluged with oratory for several weeks, are to-day doing the only campaign work that really counts, that is marking their ballots.

When Mr. King said the other night that the Canadian National Railways form one of Canada's greatest assets, a good many people began to wonder what method of bookkeeping the ex-Premier follows in arriving at such a conclusion.

It is getting to a pretty pass when a presidential candidate has to go to a world's series ball game to get his name into the papers.

Reading of the loss of a grain boat in Hudson Straits, opponents of the Hudson Bay Railway will chortle in unison, "We told you so."

What Moments Do You Regret?
Moments of Sorrow?
Moments of Wounded Vanity?

By MARSHALL MASLIN
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

Marshall Maslin

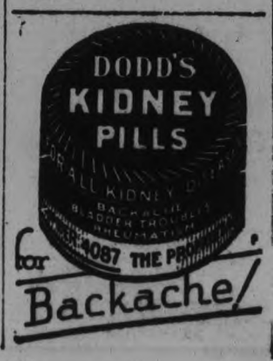
When she was a little girl in Nebraska she used to sit by herself on the sidewalk in front of the store and play jacks in the warm summer moonlight. Sit there and listen to two old friends talk about business and moonlight and the various incidentals of existence. And sitting there, listening there, she came to know her land so well that everything she writes about it is magic with meaning and beauty. . . . Even the dust in the road before the store.

Willa Cather is the one I mean. "Two Friends" is the story in which I found this paragraph, and I think that no one who has lived in a country town and seen the dust sift back from the wagon wheels can read these three sentences without a slow, sweet tightening round about the heart.

"The road, just in front of the sidewalk where I sat and played jacks, would be ankle-deep in dust, and seemed to drink up the moonlight like folds of velvet. It drank up sound, too; muffled the wagon wheels and hoof beat; lay soft and meek like the last residuum of material things — the soft bottom resting place. Nothing in the world, not show mountains of blue seas, is so beautiful in moonlight as the soft, dry summer roads in a farming country, roads where the white dust falls back from the slow wagon wheel."

Just white dust in the moonlight. The wheel sinking into it, the dust slopping over the rim, rising as it rises, slipping slowly off and dropping slowly and softly to the dust again. . . . Such a commonplace thing that it. And so many millions—little boys, little girls, shopkeepers, anxious farmers tired farm wives, busy town folk—have seen that dust in the moonlight and have not truly seen it at all, or have found no beauty in it. But Willa Cather, looking back through the years, found a loveliness in the common dust, and wrote one unforgettable paragraph.

And you read that paragraph and your heart turns to other common dust. To common experience. To common worries. To common adventures. To all the common facts of life that go on unregarded in our daily lives. And your heart, lifted up by Willa Cather's wisdom, sees a beauty you have not seen before in all these common things. And we see that even the common dust that is man can be almost unbearably beautiful if we have the eyes to see him as he is. No snow mountains nor blue seas are so beautiful.



GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 3. — Butter showed the least decline as regards dairy receipts at Montreal last week. Butter arrivals totalled 13,219 boxes against 13,970 in the previous week, a drop of only 700 boxes, whereas in the same week last year the seasonal drop was over 2,000 boxes.

Egg receipts again declined sharply, totalling only 3,825 cases against 5,369 cases in the previous week and 4,436 cases in the same week last year. Cheese receipts were 29,770 boxes compared with 35,044 boxes a week ago and 34,831 boxes a year ago.

Exports of cheese to the United Kingdom during the week from Montreal were 44,024 baxes against 30,531 boxes in the previous week, bringing the season's shipments to date to 656,042 boxes compared with 646,669 boxes at the same date last year.

Egg Prices Advance.

Eggs advanced materially in price last week here; butter declined 1c per pound, while cheese held steady. Closing prices follow: Eggs, graded Ontarios in cartons or less, extras, 30c to 32c per dozen; firsts, 21c to 22c; seconds, 15c to 16c; graded prairies, 28c to 30c for extras; 21c to 22c for firsts and 15c to 16c for seconds. The butter market ended the week at 20½c to 20¾c per lb. for cartons or less of No. 1 current make. The cheese market ended 10¾c to 11c per lb. for Ontarios and 10½c to 10¾c for Quebecs.

The potato market is 60c to 65c per 80-lb. bags for New Brunswick Green Mountains, and 45c per 80-lb. bags for local whites.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Stubborn advancing tendencies developed in Chicago grain values Saturday, influenced by suggestions that the Winnipeg wheat market was receiving powerful support.

Evening up of accounts to prepare for monthly unofficial domestic crop summaries on Monday served also to give wheat prices a firm undertone. One private monthly report issued yesterday contained a forecast that United States winter wheat acreage for 1933 would be about 6 per cent. less than last year.

Wheat closed steadfast at the day's top level, ¼c to ⅝c higher than Friday's finish, corn unchanged at ⅛c advance, oats unchanged to ⅛c up, and provisions unchanged to 10c decline.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, October 3. — With activity at the lowest ebb this season, the wheat market drifted through a short week-end session on Saturday to close with prices little changed from Friday's final figures. Closing values were ⅛c higher to ¼c lower.

October finished at 49¼c, November at 50¾c, December at 51¼c to 51¾c, and May at 56¼c.

The market was narrow and colorless throughout. Export interest was slow, but dips were avoided by a fair class of resting orders.

New York interests made a few purchases chiefly in the May contract, but the remainder of the buying was largely by locals and consisted of spreading operations.

Country marketings for Friday were estimated at 5,696,000 bushels, but hedging pressure remained on a moderate scale.

Cash wheat and coarse grain prices shower little change. Trade continued well on the slow side.

Six Fishing Boats Are Missing

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 1.—(C.P.)—Six motor boats with 19 men fishing out of Bay De Verde, failed to reach their home ports after a storm yesterday. It was believed quite possible, however, that they had taken shelter on Baccalieu Island or in some isolated coves of the mainland. A heavy sea was reported at Baccalieu today.

STATION L-O-V-E

INSTALMENT 31

Judy saw Elton Day at the studio often. He was always polite, always distant, saying little or nothing to Judy, putting what was said in calm business words.

One day Jenks telephoned her and said, 'I'm having some of our district managers in for a convention tomorrow. I'm asking our advertising department men to be here. And I'd like to have you there at lunch. Can you make it?

"Yes," Judy said. "I'll be there."

"Fine. The Blackstone, then, 11.45." So she went shopping, spending some of the money that came so easily now and seemed to mean so little. A new dress. As she tried on the particular sort of dress she had wanted, she remembered talking about this same model in a Beauty Builder program. And when she gave the salesgirl her name the girl stared suddenly. "Miss Allison? Why, aren't you on the radio?"

"Yes. A little."

"A little!" the girl said. "Oh, Mr. Tallaferro! This is Miss Allison. You know. The Beauty Builder."

"Of course, of course," he said, rubbing his hands together. Immediately he launched into a discussion of styles, of new suggestions, of this model and that, and Judy, not understanding most of it, totally out of her depth, still did as well as she could, still kept the pose—but knew the man was wondering how a girl so brilliant on the air could be so uninformed when he talked to her about the very things she knew so much about.

She was glad to escape. And when she appeared the next day, wearing the new black dress and the new hat, Jenks was waiting at the door of the restaurant, watch in hand.

"Oh, I was afraid you weren't coming."

"But I'm here."

"Of course. Of course. And that's just fine, Miss Allison. Here—We'll go up along this way. We've got a place for you up at the head table, you see." He giggled. "Want you to be up where everybody can see you."

"Oh—" She drew back. "Must I sit up there? Up in front of everybody?"

"Oh, yes. Yes. Of course. So they can all see you. Come alonf, Miss Allison. Come along."

He led the way, crowding past chairs, and Judy, following slowly, resolutely staring straight ahead, heard whispers, heard murmurs, heard men saying out loud, "That's the Beauty Builder," and "That's she, all right," and, "No wonder she got the job."

She slipped into the chair quickly, she looked down at the table, she found a water glass and drank quickly, then put it down. Then, for the first time, she realized what Jenks had done.

On her right sat Dick Mason. On her left sat Elton Day. And both of them looked straight ahead, as though Judy Allison did not even exist.

• • •

Lunch came, and was taken away, and coffee came, and that was carried away, and then men leaned back in their chairs, puffing on gift cigars, and the air was blue and thick and there was an undercurrent of chuckles, of arguments. But Judy, knowing nothing about all this, thought that every moment was an hour long, thought the long wait for something more terrible still to come would never end.

Jenks stood up, clearing his throat.

"I know how interested all of you are in what we're doing on the air," Jenks said "So I've asked the three people who've made our programs so successful to come here and meet you for the first time. And I'm not going to make any speeches for them, I'm going to leave the speeches to them, because—" he giggled and some of the men nearest chuckled dutifully—"because that's what they get paid for, talking. And I don't get a nickel for it." He giggled self-consciously again and more of the men chuckled in answer, knowingly. "So I take this opportunity to present the regular announcer of our Beauty Builder programs, who will tell you about himself and will introduce his partners. Mr. Richard Mason. Come along, Dick. Stand up and face the music. Here you are boys, Dick Mason himself. Call him Dick. He likes it."

There was a patter of applause from the men, then, suddenly, from their wives, a much greater outburst. Now the noise was amazing. Women who heard Richard Mason's voice many times saw him now for the first time. He fitted the picture. Tall, broad-shouldered, smiling, he faced them without any embarrassment at all. Judy could not help seeing how much success had done to change him. She could not help wishing the little boy had not gone from his smile and his eyes. But she could not help admiring him now. For he said almost nothing, yet nothing he said betrayed any feeling at all. Because there was no feeling? Because he had ceased to care at all?

• • •

He said, "Thank you, Mr. Jenks. And thank you, ladies and gentlemen. Btu I must tell you—an announcer means little or nothing. He is simply there to set the stage. And when his very brief moment of glory is over the real voice is heard. The voice I know you want to hear now. The voice of Miss Judy Allison, who is the Beauty Builder."

He took her hand casually, and she stood up, facing all these people, fighting down her terror, her wild desire to run madly out of the room.

"Say something, Judy," Dick said quietly. "Anything. Just talk."

"I—"

"Go ahead. Hurry."

She fought for composure for words to say. There was nothing to be said. All these people—any one of them knew more than Judy Allison knew about the thing she was paid to talk about. And yet they were waiting. They stared, studying her, wondering about her. And beside her was Dick Mason. And on the other side, Elton Day. Two men. A man she loved, who did not love her at all; a man she did not love, who said he loved her, but would do nothing to prove it. Two men.

Suddenly Judy Allison saw the way. She knew what to say now. She knew what could be done.

"Thank you," she said quietly to Dick Mason. "Thank you, Mr. Jenks. I have something to say. Something very important." Then a little louder but still so softly that people down along the table strained eagerly to hear, and still heard only a little, Judy Allison said what had waited to be said for a long time.

"Mr. Jenks," she began. "Dick, Elton. This is my last day; I'm all through with radio. I'll never go on the air again."

Jenks started up, bue he paused, waiting, unbelieving, almost convinced that it was a play, a comedy. So much so that he giggled self-consciously, a little uncertainly. And, hearing him, other men along the table chuckled, too. This Allison girl was a card. She could stand right up and put over comedy with a straight face and without even letting you know she meant to be funny. You hear that, Ed? Says shes through with radio? And her getting $500 a week, I heard. Something like that. Listen! She's saying more. She's a card, I tell you! Listen!

Judy Allison moved down along the table a little. The door was not very far away. The people were waiting. Dick had not moved. He only stared strangely, his eyes deep, his mouth drawn tight and hard. And Elton Day looked down at the table, not at her, but he was listening, she knew he would hear every word.

"Im going to tell you a story," Judy said suddenly, clearly, in the same voice they all had heard over the air a dozen times. But she was not talking about beauty now. She was talking about herself and about Dick and about Elton. And she said, "I'm telling the truth, which ought to have been told a long time ago. I'm on the air, I've been on the air just because of a trick. There were a dozen voices as good or better than mine. But a man who is in this room now though he wanted to hep me. So he cheated. And I got the job. And—"

"Judy! Be still! Don't, Judy! Don't!"

Elton Day, frantic, shouting, faced her down the length of the table. But suddenly he was caught by strong hands, by Dick Mason's strong hands; he was jerked back into the his chair. And, remorselessly, loudly, with no one to stop her, Judy went on.

"I didn't know anything about the trick. I really thought I deserved the job. But I didn't. And the man who cheated for me put the blame on another man, on a man who sits in this room right now. And that man thought I was to blame when he lost his job, and he hasn't forgiven me, he never, never will. All right. I deserve to lose him. I didn't play fair. But I'm playing fair now. I'm leaving. Im through. Nobody will ever hear me on the air again. And good-by to all of you!"

Suddenly she ran headlong from the room. She heard people shouting after her, she heard Dick Mason's voice calling, "Judy! Judy! Judy!"

She did not stop. She found a taxicab at the hotel steps, she was inside, she said breathlessly, "Drive as fast as you can! There's somebody following me! Somebody I've got to get away from! Drive!"

The car swung sharply into the street, down to Wabash, up Wabash, roaring in and out around the elevated track standards. It turned again on Randolph, going east; shot into the alley that leads north, cut back to the street, cut through another alley. Then they were crossing the river, speeding north, turning on Grand, speeding north again, Judy looked back. Cars, many cars, but no car following. She didn't know, she couldn't know, that Dick Mason had stopped, had caught Elton in his strong hands, held him against the wall—ignoring Jenks, ignoring peace-makers, saying coldly, "So it was you? So you did that?"

She didn't know, not then, at least, that Elton squirmed suddenly straightened suddenly, said calmly, quietly: "Yes, it was I. But don't bother. I'll always be here. You can do what you want to me when you get back. But go after Judy, now. Don't let her go She's yours! Find her! Hurry!"

An she didn't know that Dick Mason heard those strange, quiet words, and that suddenly he let go of Day, suddenly he ran through the crowd, found his car, raced after her.

Too late. Much too late.

WOODMEN WIN TWO APPEALS

Hon. G. N. Gordon, Acting For Woodmen of World, Wins Appeals.

JUDGMENTS UPHELD.

(Special to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—The Court of Appeal delivered judgment this morning in the case of Woodmen of the World vs. P. C. Hooper.

Mr. Hooper was the Head Clerk of the Woodmen and was held responsible by the Court for the loss of $8,000.00, in buying bonds that were not authorized. His appeal was dismissed with costs.

I. F. Hellmuth, K. C. appeared for Mr. Hooper and the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. appeared for the Woodmen of the World.

Woodmen of the World vs. Edwards Morgan & Co.

Judgment was delivered by the Court of Appeal today and the Court of Appeal found that Edwards, Morgan & Company, the auditors of the Woodmen of the World were guilty of a breach of duty in failing to disclose the fact that the Head Clerk, Mr. P. C. Hooper had not purchased Grand Trunk Pacific bonds and had purchased Ravina Property bonds, causing the Woodmen a loss of about $8,000.00. The Court of Appeal ordered that a reference to the Master in Chambers at Toronto be held to ascertain what value the Ravina Property bonds had, but, otherwise the judgment against Edwards, Morgan & Company was maintained.

Mr. H. H. Davis, K.C. and F. G. Farquharson appeared for Edwards, Morgan & Company and the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. appeared for the Woodmen of the World.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Oct. 3. — (C.P.) — Prices drifted lower in the quietest trading in over three months on the stock exchange to-day.

Quiet in the forenoon trading failed to improve and turned extremely dull in the afternoon. Public interest was at a low ebb, with the result transactions were scattered across a board that showed many bare spots. While majority of issues closed lower losses were practically all fractional and, with no activity whatever, the movement carried no significance. Leaders failed to get going and idled back and forth throughout. Losses here were fractional with C.P.R. down 5-8, International Nickel ¼, Ford ¼ and Brazilian Traction ¼.

Consolidated Smelters dipped to 79 and recovered to 80 for a loss of a point.

STANDARD EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Oct. 3—Though price trend developed a slightly stronger tone in late trading on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market to-day losses predominated throughout various groups on end. Trading was unusually sluggish the ticker remaining still for long periods between sales.

Central Patricia, advancing on rumors of early financing, stood out, price moving up 3 in brisk demand. Wright-Hargreaves, off 3, showed the only change among higher-priced golds.

International Nickel recovered some of its early recession but finished down 25 on the day. Noranda and Amulet were unchaged to slightly lower. Eldorado encountered some selling and was off 4.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.— (C.P.) — The stock had a quiet sinking spell to-day, but recovered at least half its losses in the late trading. The closing tone was steady with a number of issues off a point or so net. Turnover approximated 1,100,000 shares. Losses of 2 to 3 points were about half recovered by such issues as American Telephone, American Can, Case, U. S. Steel, New York Central, Dupont, Westinghouse, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Santa Fe, Lackawanna and others. Rails were conspicuously heavy for a time.

Down To Bread Lines

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(A.P.) It's bright lights to bread lines for Joseph Pokorny—the old, old tale of Broadway.

But a few years ago Broadway knew Pokorny as a music master, virtuoso of the violin, collector of rare musical instruments. His fortune was $50,000.

"Canned" music took its toll. Hard times crushed out securities values. Now Pokorny is penniless, and, so Pokorny says, his children, successful in life, have refused all pleas for aid.

Major Discoveries In Swayze Township

The following article is taken from the Northern Miner of September 29. The whole article is a report of five major discoveries in Swayze Township. We are reprinting that part of the article on the Tom Montgomery Syndicate holdings which is one of the five major discoveries mentioned, and in which Peterborough citizens, including Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, are financially interested:

On the holdings of the Tom Montgomery Prospecting Syndicate, to the south of the Kenty Brothers' property, the main vein has been opened up for a length of 100 feet. It shows a width of one and one-half feet of quartz and while no free gold is showing, liberal pannings have been obtained. This vein was traced 400 feet into Montgomery Lake. No. 2 vein, recently opened up, and has been traced 700 feet into the lake. Very little work has been done on this vein.

Three other veins have been located in a radius of 2,000 feet, averaging three feet wide, and traced for approximately 200 feet each. One of these veins carries heavy pyrite mineralization. The others show chalcopyrite, pyrite and galena. Two other veins have been found approximately half a mile east of the Swayze-Dore line, averaging three feet wide and carrying heavy mineralization.

Surface work has been stopped temporarily while camp buildings are being erected in anticipation of an enlarged crew expected next month. Col. Ackerman is associated with Thomas Montgomery in the syndicate.

While we have briefly attempted to review some of the outstanding properties in the Swayze area, it would be impossible to enumerate all places where work is going ahead. While numerous prospectors are working in Denyes and Halcrow, the vogue of the moment is Raney and Rollo Townships. However, as only a small part of Rollo Township is considered favorable prospecting ground, it is assumed that ground will be quickly staked.

Plenty of Airplanes.

Swayze is certainly the active spot in Ontario mining at the present moment. It is well served by planes and six or seven machines operate on regular schedules into the area. National Air Transport with three machines operate services from both Chapleau and Gogama; General Airways, Limited, with a large Fokker, operate from Chapleau, and a recently formed air company to be known as Eclipse Airways, will operate with two machines.

Splendid headway is being made with the wagon road from Sultan, on the C.P.R., and, as mentioned previously, this should be finished by the end of the month. This road will aid greatly in the bringing of heavy machinery and in reducing the freight rate on supplies, although the present air freight rate of six cents a pound is not considered unreasonable.

At Chapleau the town is very much alive to the possibilities which Swayze offers. A few live merchants make a great deal of difference to the "hopping off" place for a new mining camp, and Chapleau is fortunate in having these. Chapleau is a hive of activity, preparing shipments for the field. Prospectors were departing and arriving from the field almost hourly. A considerable amount of passengers and freight for the Swayze field is also handled in Gogama on the C.N.R.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, October 3 (C.P.). — Trading on the Toronto live stock market was slow to-day, with heavy offerings in all classes. Cattle trade opened dull; calves dull; hogs unsettled; sheep and lambs no market.

Leftovers from last week were 1,000 head. The run included 1,120 Western cattle. Supplies are much too heavy for market requirements and prices will probably be lower on any sales made.

Calves brought $6 00 to $7.00 for choice vealers with no early sales on common vealers or grass calves.

Bids on hogs were 25c lower at $4 25 f.o.b. for bacon or at $4.75 off cars. Salesmen are holding for higher prices.

There were no sales on sheep or lambs up to 11 a.m. and prices are expected to be lower.

Quotations as supplied by the Dominion Live Stock Branch:

No cattle quotations.

Veal calves — Good end choice, $5.00 to $7.00; common and medium, $3.50 to $5.75; grassers, $2.00 to $3.00.

Hogs—No quotations.

Sheep and lambs—No quotations.

PUBLISHER SUED CRIMINAL LIBEL

J. J. Harpell Pleads Not Guilty to Charge Laid by Head of Sun Life Company.

BAIL SET AT $950.

MONTREAL, Oct. 3. —(CP)— A plea of not guilty was entered before Judge Maurice Tetreau in court of sessions today by James J. Harpell, president of the Journal of Commerce Publishing Company, when he appeared to answer a charge of criminal libel brought by Thomas Bassett Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

Bail was set at $950 and preliminary hearing set for next Tuesday, Oct. 11.

Harpell was arrested earlier in the day on a warrant sworn out on the complaint of Mr. Macaulay. An article appearing in the last issue of the Journal of Commerce is the basis of the action. The article referred to Mr. Macaulay and the Sun Life Assurance Company.

New Trial Ordered For Herbert Bigelow

TORONTO, Oct. 3. (Special) — Hearing the appeal of Herbert Bigelow, of Cavan Township, against his conviction by Judge E. C. S. Huycke on a charge of criminal negligence, the Court of Appeal here to-day quashed the conviction and ordered a new trial. Bigelow will be retried here at the General Sessions in December.

The charge against Bigelow arose from a motor accident in the early Spring in which Lawrence Bristow was killed. Bristow was alleged to be a passenger in the car driven by Bigelow, the car running off the highway on the wrong side and crashing into the ditch. At the inquest Bigelow maintained that Bristow and not himself was the driver, but at his trial he refused to give evidence.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for Bigelow and Josephine Frederick appeared for the Attorney General's Department.

Wily Thief Fools Patrolman

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Patrolman William B. Dooley sulked in a station house in the west end; the while he made certain caustic comments concerning one Joseph Danserau.

Patrolman Dooley had been sent previously to Christ Lutheran church to catch the thief who was stealing money from women's purses. He collared Danserau but a search of his prisoner at the station house disclosed no money. Still more disturbing was the discovery by Patrolman Dooley that there was a strange roll of bills in his own watch pocket.

Nevertheless, Danserau was held under suspicion and later, police said, admitted stealing $1.40.

SEATTLE TRIP DESCRIBED BY REV. R. C. TAIT

Campbellford Rotarian Says Journey to Convention Was Wonderful Experience.

FINE HOSPPITALITY.

Delegates on Special Train Entertained by Members All Along Route.

The wonderful spirit of hospitality and good fellowship that animated the Rotary delegation to the convention of Rotary International at Seattle last June was stressed in an address to Peterborough Rotarians today by Rotarian Rev. R. C. Tait of Campbellford who by proxy represented the Peterborough club at the great gathering.

Introduced by Past President R. F. Downey, Rotarian Tait remarked that he would confine himself largely to the eight day trip on the special Rotary train enroute to Seattle rather than the convention itself. With Rotarian Hart Seely in command and some 125 Rotarians on board, the special started out from Chicago and the trip that followed the speaker described as one of the outstanding events in his life. Every where the train stopped, he said, Rotarians went the limit in hospitality. The delegates were treated to strawberries and cream at the stations and so many flowers were presented that the train was full of them.

The speaker described some of the high lights of the trip, telling of the hospitality extended at Denver, a visit to the top of pike's Peak, experiences of the Grand Canyon, Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah, Boise, Idaho, the rose festival at Portland, Oregon, and the fine reception tendered Rotarians at Seattle where 1600 guest automobiles were at the constant service of the visitors. One of the big features of the convention itself, he said, was the dinner of the British Empire delegates which was an inspiration to all who attended.

In conclusion Rotarian Tait urged every Rotarian who had a chance to make a trip to the International convention, not to miss the opportunity.

The appreciation of the club to the speaker was voiced by Rotarian W. R. Morris.

On account of next Monday being Thanksgiving Day it was announced that the luncheon next week would be held on Tuesday.

NO ENLARGING OF HYDRO PROBE

Henry States Royal Commission's Powers Are Sufficiently Wide.

WAIT ON JUSTICE RIDDELL.

TORONTO, Oct. 3 (C.P.)—The powers of the royal commission investigating certain affairs of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission are sufficiently wide, and will not be enlarged, declared Premier George S. Henry of Ontario to-day.

The commission has investigated the payment of $50,000 to John Aird, Jr., Toronto by the Hydro in connection with the purchase of power rights on the Madawaska River; the payment of $126,000 to Aird by the Beauharnois Power Corporation in connection with the purchase of power Hydro, and the payment of $22,000,000 for the Dominion Power and Transmission, Ltd., of Hamilton.

Illness of Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell, one of the two commissioners will not necessitate the appointment of another commission, Premier Henry said.

Merchants' Meeting On Tuesday Evening

The committee of merchants composed of down town and outlying retailers who have the program in hand for a big event later on are anxious that all retail merchants be represented at the meeting to be held in the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow (Tuesday) night at eight o'clock sharp. Every retailer, no matter what line of business or activity will get something helpful if he attends.

PARADE CLOSES A.M.O.S. MEET

Lodges Were Seen in Parade on Saturday Night.

CUP PRESENTED.

Apart from the large amount of business that was transacted within the privacy of the lodge rooms during the 18th District Convention and Ceremonial of the Northern Division Ancient and Mystic Order of Samaritans, the delegates succeeded in adding a brilliant touch of color and gaiety to the normal life of this city during their brief stay here.

The two-day sessions culminated on Saturday evening with a parade of the various Zuannas, Sanctorums and Patrols which attracted great interest. Down the entire length of George street from Murray to Charlotte the procession marched between the crowds of citizens who thronged the sidewalks. It was headed by the Ladies' Drum, Fife and Bugle Band of Mitra Zuanna No. 6 Buffalo, the members of which had previously been the centre of a unique little ceremony at the Armouries.

In recognition of the part they had played in making the proceedings so successful a handsome silk Canadian flag, was presented to Drum-Major Mrs. J. Bonness of the Bufalo Ladies' Band by F. H. Gore, D.S.S. of Toronto on behalf of Cyzicus Sanctorum No. 24 Peterborough.

Calling upon Sheik Gore to make the presentation Sheik James H. Price, P.G.M. of the local Sanctorum thanked the Buffalo ladies for the part they had taken in the convention, and stated that he wished on some future occasion to make recognition also of the visit here of Taj Mahal L.O.T.O. No. 50 of Toronto, and who made a particularly smart apearance in their regalia.

The ladies of the Taj Mahal patrol wore purple pantaloons, white satin blouses with red jackets and yellow sashes.

Trophy Winners

Another interesting presentation that was made before the parade moved from the Armouries was that of the Macdonald Brier Trophy to Beber Patrol No. 6 Windsor.

The handsome silver cup given for competition by the Macdonald Tobacco Company, was presented to T. Earl Taylor, captain of the patrol by Sheik James H. Price on behalf of the local committee of Cyzicus Sanctorum No. 24 Peterborough.

Following the ceremony the band accorded the patrol musical honors. The members of the patrol looked very smart in the regalia consisting of purple jackets, scarlet pantaloons, yellow gaiters and red fezzes.

The cup was carried in the procession that followed, by Sheik Ambrose Carney, P.C.P., of Beber Patrol No. 6, a seventy-eight year old veteran of the Order with fifty-six years service to his credit.

The order of the parade was as follows: Standard bearer, Sheik Fred Batten, P.G.M., Sheik Jas. H. Price, P.G.M., marshal; Divisional officers, including F. R. Thomas, D.S.M. of Lindsay; "The goat of Cyzicus Sanctorum," led by Samaritan K. N. Sine, and loaned for the occasion by Joe Spencely; Buffalo Ladies' Band; Taj Mahal Patrol No. 50 preceded by the Canadian Ensign and the Stars and Stripes; Xerces Sanctorum No. 1 Toronto; Gatno Sanctorum, Ottawa; Brass Band under the direction of Samaritan Reg Dyer; Cyzicus Sanctorum, Samataritan W. J. Bull, G. M.; Windsor Patrol preceded by the Caledonian Pipe Band; Mycerinus Patrol, iLndsay and members of Sanctorums from Bowmanville, Hamilton, Sarnia, St. Thomas, St. Catharines, Guelph and other parts.

Five Cows Killed During Bad Storm

WARSAW, Oct. 3. — (Examiner Correspondence.) — Huddled in a group under a tree where they had apparently sought shelter, five valuable milch cows were killed by lightning during the height of a severe electrical storm Saturday night, on the farm of Lorne Lonsberry situated a mile north-east of here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonsberry who were in the house during the storm feared that some damage had been caused by the lightning, and before retiring for the night they had looked around the barn and the house. It was not until Sunday morning, however, when Mr. Lonsberry went to bring up the cows for milking that he discovered that five of the herd had been killed.

Old Peterboro' Boys Aid In Investigation

Two former residents of Peterborough have had much to do with the successful investigation of the defalcations of University of Manitoba funds by J. A. MacIray, K.C. Dr. W. J. Spence, registrar of the university and chief witness during the first day of investigation, was born in Dummer Township. He attended Public and High School in Peterborough and was one of the most brilliant students ever to graduate here, winning the Prince of Wales gold medal on matriculation. R. F. McWilliams, K.C., counsel for the university, is a Peterborough man and was mayor of the city in 1907.

THE TOM MONTGOMERY PROSPECTING SYNDICATE

Offers Now

25 Units at $200.00 per Unit

To further prospect and partially develop 15 gold claims in the Townships of Swayze and Dore in the Sudbury District.

The claims adjoin the J. and Miner Kenty claims on the south and east.

A road has been completed to the property from Sultan on the C.P.R., 22 miles to the south.

Already seven veins have been indicated and the extension of the ore zone on the Kenty claims will shortly be disclosed.

This offering will provide $5,000.00, sufficient to erect a winter camp, and it is hoped put valuable ore in sight.

A number of these units have been disposed of at $150.00 per unit.

In addition to these claims, certain other claims in Greenlow Township adjoining Swayze on the southwest and adjoining the recent find staked by Newbec Mines have been staked by Tom Montgomery.

The structure of the Syndicate is 1,000 units, of which after this offering is taken up, there will remain in the treasury 600 units.

The Gold situation in Canada to-day is attracting the attention of new capital, but from the development angle rather than from the promotional angle.

The entire $200.00 per unit of this offering goes into the treasury of the Syndicate, less the cost of advertising.

Make all cheques payable to C. H. Ackerman, Trustee, Peterborough.

CHRIST CHURCH, CAMPBELLFORD OBSERVES HARVEST FESTIVAL

Rev. J. D. Paterson of Peterborough is Guest Preacher at Evening Service.

Remember To Be Thankful.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 3.— With large congregations attending both morning and evening services yesterday Christ Church, Campbellford observed its annual harvest festival. At the morning hour of worship Holy Communion was observed with the rector, Rev. T. H. Floyd as celebrant and preacher. At this service a farewell pastoral letter was read from Archbishop Sweeny, recently retired head of the Diocese of Toronto. Special music was featured by the choir under the direction of the organist W. Pearson, the soloist being Mrs. F. de Free.

The church was beautifully decorated with the fruits of the harvest in commemoration of this annual observance. At the evening service the guest preacher was the Rev. J. D. Paterson, rector of All Saints' church, Peterborough.

Preaching a very thoughtful sermon on the theme of thanksgiving Mr. Paterson took his text from Deuteronomy 16, verse 10 "And thou salt keep the feast of weeks unto the Lord thy God—according as the Lord thy God has blessed thee." There was no happier day of the year, he said, than harvest home, when the people celebrated the gathering in of the harvest. It was one of the most ancient festivals also. Easter went back 1900 years. Christmas thirty years more, but the harvest festival went back into the dim ages of history. It went back to the time when the Jewish people entered after many long years into the promised land, and what God commanded them then he still commands.

And the first lesson we learn, Mr. Paterson pointed out, was that we had to be thankful for the increase. The Jews had to be thankful for the increase of grain, wine and oil, the things that God had promised them. To say "thank you" to God, that was the first thing that had to be learned on this festal day. To be thankful that God had given us our daily food. We do not realize the beauty of that harvest hymn he said.

"We plough the fields and scatter,
The good seed on the land.
But it is fed and watered
By God's almighty hand."

We do what we can, but God gives us the increase. "How wonderfully favoured we are in this land of ours" he said, pointing out that at present there were about six hundred million bushels of grain in Canada and yet people were talking depression and many more going hungry, because something was wrong. "People are talking hard times because they are getting no dividends, people are talking hard times because prices are low", he said. "But we have to learn, for what we actually have to be thankful for. When people are dreaming of things not actually real, Mr. Patterson stated, God will send us back and make us thankful for what we have, then he will provide for the days before us. If we were thankful we would have no time for complaining."

And the second thought the preacher emphasized was that God told the Jews to remember the days when they had not, and to remember all the way their God had led them.

We all recognized the association of ideas he said, and this was what God had told the Jews to remember. When they had plenty to remember their hunger, when they were idle to remember their toil and when they had homes to remember their wonderings. And so with us, to remember and be thankful that from the ages past God had never failed to give us the harvest. "God has been very good to us, do we ever sit down and think how good. The tragedy is we don't, with the result that we worry and complain," the preacher said.

And finally we should remember that God's promises never fail. The promise of the harvest was the eternal promise of God and down through the years it had been kept, for God keeps all his promises. Many people were talking depressed times and finding many solutions to the present difficulties, but Mr. Paterson said he did not think that many of them knew what they were talking about. "There is only one thing we know. God is going to keep his promise and that makes all the difference," he declared. It was for us to quietly abide what God gives, knowing that in our hearts that he will keep his promise.

Robbers Hold-up Armored Truck

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. — Five robbers to-day held up the three-man crew of an armored truck in front of the entrance to Pier 49, Hudson river, at the foot of Bank street, and escaped with a $10,000 payroll consigned to the Southern Pacific Steamship Company.

LIVESTOCK CLASSES FULL AT MILLBROOK

made an attractive display, one in the 'Chinese plate' pattern on a white ground with blue strips and binding, and another in the large star design, seven vari-colored smaller stars being placed to make the big star, with some intricate examples of fine quilting, were among the many that attracted special attention.

Not for many years has the flower show been so well filled, overflow space having to be arranged on one of the long side tables, H. Cardwell, of Wallace Point, having a special exhibit of gladioli the lovely blossoms showing off beautifully against a background of greenery, and every specimen having the name attached. In the regular classes Mr. Cardwell carried off four firsts and one second, and at the recent Peterborough Exhibition had a record of twenty firsts and four seconds. In the decorative section the baskets of flowers were tastefully and daintily arranged, Mrs. H. McLeod taking a first with her collection of dahlias, coloring and size not only in this, but in several other entries winning much admiration. Other prize winners include Mrs. J. W. Hilton, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, Mrs. H. C. Lord, Mrs. G. F. Harrington, Mrs. C. Thorndyke, Mrs. R. Lowery. The judge was D. Jordan, of Peterborough.

Domestic Classes.

Mrs. Huffman, of Toronto, was the departmental judge in the fancy work, art, and domestic classes, Mrs. W. A. McCall, of Wooler, being the premier exhibitor carrying off twenty firsts, and Mrs. A. E Bogue, of Lakefield, twelve, a number of second prizes coming also to their share. Fruit entries, for some reason, were considerably down this year, but vegetables boasted some extra large heads of cabbage, field squash, and nice, white cauliflowers. W. J. Oke judged the fruit and Joseph Hickson the roots and vegetables, grain and seed.

Production classes only were featured in the poultry building, some dissatisfaction being apparently felt with the decisions of the judge, B. J. Philp of Brighton. F. W. L. Tamblyn had some entries of geese, and among other exhibitors were Mrs. C. E. Van Allen of Peterborough, M. McDowell, J. J. Smith & Son, Mrs. W. G. Rowland, H. Cardwell, and James Balson & Sons of Hampton.

A radio telling the story of the World Series ball game helped in drawing an interested crowd about the exhibit of used and new cars shown by A. Tinney & Son and H. Tinney of Cavan, and by J. J. Duffus of Peterborough.

Apparently the midway had any number of schemes for separating the public from its stray coins, the booths operated by local organizations including a wheel of fortune, sponsored by the Cosmos Club, offering hams, blankets, etc., with C. E. Sutton, B. B. Dawson, H. W. Jordan and others in charge; a refreshment booth by the Women's Association of St. Andrew's Church, with hot dogs, home-made ice-cream and other attractions, Mrs. Offa Williamson, Mrs. J. McKnight and Mrs. W. A. O'Brian serving; and a second wheel of fortune which was a private venture on the part of Harry Dawson and J. Nelson, with a pen of good fat geese tempting many to make a try for a lucky number.

Trotting Events.

A total entry of seventeen horses established a record for the speeding in the ring events, A. E. Juby and W. S. McElroy, V.S., Peterborough, acting as judges. Dean Pickell of Bowmanville as timer, J. Begg, of Lindsay, starter, and T. H. Collins, clerk. In Class A the winners were: Tod Grattan, J. Sutherland,

Peterborough 1 1 1
Colonel Peters, F. Lowe,
Port Hope 2 2 3
Black Mac, E. Jones, Peterborough 3 4 2
Dona Bell, W. A. Fanning,

Class B.

Minnie Patchen, C. Quinlan, Peterborough 1 1 1
Furrie Mildred, E. Jones, Peterborough 2 2 2
Great McKeeney, Dr. Demo, Port Hope 3 3 3
Merry Private, Fanning, Lindsay 4 4 4

Green Race.

Peter Patch, Boyd, Orono 1 2 1 1

Bert Abdell, F. Hicks,
Leta Todd, Brown, Orono 2 3 3 3

Hon. Vincent Massey's fine Jersey cattle from Batterwood Farm, Canton (G. H. Watkins, manager) took up a considerable space in the cattle sheds; James Seymour & Son of Ida and W. Seymour of Cavan being also on hand with their widely-known Holsteins, taking nine firsts, five seconds, and three thirds among them; Hoskin of Cobourg and W. I. Larmer, Cavan, had also a good showing of Holstein cattle, and in Herefords E. A. Rosevear of Cobourg took six firsts and two seconds, besides the special by Hood & Cummings, Peterborough, for best female over two years in classes 9 10, and 11. Will Seymour carried off Eaton's Special, for best group of three dairy cows, a handsome case of silver flatware valued at $11.95. R. Matchett & Son, Emery Smith, and Roy Ferren had some fine Shorthorns, as had also J. H. Forder, of Blackstock, W. A. Neals, Manvers, cleared the slate in the Polled Angus c'ass, and in the Grades Roy Ferren and J. A. Smith & Son headed the list.

Not for many years had the swine classes been so well filled, G. N. Graham, Udora, taking eleven firsts and also the Special for the largest exhibit of hogs; others showing were L. C. McNeil, J. D. Elliott, of Newburgh James Balson & Son, of Hampton, W. R. Robbins, Hampton, H Skinner, Tyrone. Judges for the cattle, swine, and sheep were Thomas L. Chalmers and C. L. Moyncs.

J. M. Gardhouse judged heavy horses, and Nelson McAdoo the light classes, exhibitors in the latter section including Lloyd Kennedy, of Bethany, whose array of ribbons decorating the stall of his roadsters showed at least two firsts taken at Millbrook, one each at Lindsay and Blackstock, three at Orono, and two at Belleville, besides a number of seconds and thirds. Mervin Smith, Cavan, Harry Jamelson, Mt. Pleasant, J. S. Chandler, Peterborough, H. Cardwell, Wallace Point (first on yearling colt), J. W. Boyd, Orono, J. O. Ball and son, W. Breckenridge, W. B. Ferguson, and M. Reid all had entries in this class. In the heavy draught classes some of those shown were W. J. Whittington and son, S. S. Staples, R. J. McKnight and son, W. Breckenridge and son, M. Skelding, H. A. Earle, and a number of others.

A competition in horse shoe pitching kept a number of enthusiasts actively engaged for the afternoon, and at night both on Friday and Saturday the Orono Dramatic Club presented the thre act play, "Oh Susannah" in the Town Hall, a dance, with Red Moncrief's orchestra suplying music, following the concert on Friday evening. The characters taking part in the comedy-drama, which was cleverly given and exceedingly funny, were: John Shepard, M.D., a young absent-minded doctor, Neil Porter; Lieutenant Andrew Merry, R.N., his greatest friend, Raymond Chapman; Hon. Waverly Vane, Merry's friend, Donald Gibson; Mr. Plant, a South Sea solicitor, Donald Robb; Tupper, the doctor's buttons, Bill Brown; Miss Susannah Shepard, his aunt, Mrs. J. H. Lowery; Flora, his bride, Miss Nora Gibson; Ruby and Pearl, Mr. Plant's daughters, Olive Davey and Jean Richard; Mrs. O'Hara, his landlady, Mrs. F. W. Bowen; Aurora, the maid, Mrs. J. C. Gamey.

The Women's League, of Grace Presbyterian Church, had the dining-hall, as in former years, serving good hot meals, and receiving a fair amount of patronage, the number sitting down at the dinner and tea hours being not quite as large as in other seasons. F. W. Bowen, M.P. and Mrs. Bowen, and George Greer, of Cobourg, county road superintendent, were among those noted at the fair on Saturday.

Obituary

MRS. FREDERICK ABBOTT.

Mrs. Frederick Abbott died at her residence, R.R. 2, Lakefield, on Sunday, following a brief illness. She was 59 years of age.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Waldon, the deceased was a native of Lakefield, and had lived in the district all her life. She was a member of Regent Street United Church.

Besides her mother and her husband, Mrs. Abbott is survived by four daughters and one son. The daughters are Mrs. Albert Bullock and Mrs. Orr Sage, both of Douro; Mrs. Weldon McCourt of Peterborough, and Mrs. Milford Bullock of North Monaghan, and one son, Wilbert of Lakefield. A daughter, Mrs. Roland Darling, predeceased her a year ago.

The funeral is to be held on Tuesday at 2 p.m., from the family residence to Ray's Cemetery, Lakefield. Services will be conducted by the Rev. W. R. Archer of Regent United Church.

LYTTON REPORT

Chinese versions of the events which which provoked the outbreak of hostilities at Mukden on Sept. 18, 1931, the committe said "the military operations of Japanese troops cannot be regarded as measures of legitimate self-defence."

The government of the new state of Manchukuo under Henry Pu-yi was characterized as one formed and suported artificially by Japanese military and civil officals, without genuine suport from the local Manchurian population.

"Since September 18, 1931," the commission said, "the activities of the Japanese military authorities, in civil as well as military matters, were marked by essentially political considerations. It is clear that the independence movement, which never had been heard of in Manchuria before September, 1931, was made possible only by the presence of Japanese troops." The commission did not hold China blameless for the situation in the east, however, and it sharply indicted the Chinese government for its weakness and for administrative disorders. It also insisted China must have regard for Japanese economic interests in Manchuria.

International Co-operation

"The final requisite for a satisfactory solution," the report said, "is temporary international co-operation in the international reconstruction of China. It is quite as much in the interests of the powers now as it was in 1922 to assist in the reconstruction of China and the maintenance of her sovereignty, her territorial and administrative integrity, as indispensable to the mainteance of peace."

The results of the proposed advisory conference between China and Japan should be embodied in four separate instruments, the report suggested, as follows:

1—A declaration by the Chinese Government constituting a special administration for the three Eastern (Manchurian) Provinces.

3—A Sino-Japanese treaty of conciliation, arbitration, non-aggression, and mutual assistance.

4—A Sino-Japanese commercial treaty.

"The interdependence of the trade of these two neighboring countries," the report said, "and the interests of both call for an economic rapproachement, but there can be no such rapproachement as long as the political relations between them are so unsatisfactory as to call for the use of military force by the one and the force of the boycott by the other."

Japan Angry.

TOKYO, Oct. 3.—(A.P.)— Publication of the Lytton report on Manchuria was met with a chorus of denunciation in the Japanese press to-day and with a declaration from the Government that if the League Assembly adopts the report Japan will withdraw from the League and oppose its action with the firmest determination.

"Japan must quite the League. The report insults Manchukuo!" were the headlines in the newspaper Nichi Nichi. The Kokumin said it was "absolutely prejudiced and unfair." The Jiji Shimpo said it was "worse than was expected," and "filled with error."

he saw three church buildings crumble away and be replaced. Only one of those which were here when he arrived survive him.

Since Church Union, Dr. McMullen had been a member of Central United Church, and the occasion of his centenary was marked in noteworthy manner by Oxford Presbytery of the United Church by a luncheon in the Central Church, at which many dignitaries of the Church paid their tribute to the great work of Dr. McMullen on behalf of the Protestant Church in Canada.

Presbyterian Tribute.

At the same time, at a service in Knox Church, the Presbyterian Church in Canada paid similar tribute to the man who had labored so long and so effectively in the ministry of that Church. An address on the life and achievements of Dr. McMullen, prepared by the Church's historian, Rev. Austin L. Budge, was placed in the records of the Church.

Dr. McMullen was married in 1857 to Susanna Gilbert of Toronto, who died many years ago.

Four son, Robert M. McMullen of New York City, Charles B. McMullen of New York City, James E. McMullen of Vancouver, and Lieut.-Col. W. T. McMullen, K.C., of Woodstock, and two daughters, Mrs. W. J. Clarke of Montreal and Mrs. J. Maxwell of Toronto, survive.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon, with a private service at the residence at 2 o'clock, followed by a public service in Knox Church at 2.30, which will be conducted jointly by Presbyterian and United Church ministers.

Rush Point

Mr. Arthur Parker of Toronto returned home on Monday after spending the past month the guest of Mr. George Cook at Round Lake.

Mrs. James McCutcheon, Miss Katie McCutcheon, and Mr. Joe McCutcheon have returned home after visiting for the past week with friends and relatives in Perth and Smith's Falls.

Messrs. Roy and Wert Bush and Mr. Rulley of Washington, C.H., are holidaying at Round Lake.

Dr. and Mrs. Bonney, of Toronto, spent the week-end at their summer cottage at Round Lake.

Mrs. J. Charles and daughter Isobel spent the week-end the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James McCutcheon.

We are all glad to know that Mrs. Roy Bonney is able to be around again after her recent illness.

The many friend of Mr. Herbert Hoard learned with regret of his serious injury last week, when he was kicked in the knee by a horse. Mr. Hoard is in Nicholls Hospital at present.

C. G. Petherick and Mr. Doland of Wooler left Rush Point early on Saturday morning for Angus with a truckload of sphagnum moss for the Forestry Branch there. This is the third load delivered there this week, and completes the first carload on contract.

Master Donald Pollock, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollock, of Rush Point, is recovering nicely from injuries received when he accidentally pulled the plug out of the washing machine, letting out a quantity of boiling water which severely scalded his feet.

Only a small number of League members were able to be present at the last meeting owing to several social gatherings being held the same evening in the neighborhood. A reading given by Miss Menzies and an interesting talk by Rev. Mr. Kemp made the program very interesting.

Pumpkins are a bumper crop here. One Rush Point resident counted 700 in his garden this week after the recent hard frost.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Cook were the honor guests at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Cook at Round Lake, on Thursday evening, September 29. The young couple received numerous useful and beautiful gifts, showing the high esteem in which they are held in this neighborhood. The evening was spent in dancing and games, interrupted about midnight by the serving of a delightful lunch. The guests departed in the wee sma' 'oors of the morning with many expressions of goodwill to the young couple. The music for the dancing was furnished by Messrs. Murnie Barton and Joe McCutcheon assited by several other able young musicians of the vicinity.

Seventy-five Years of Stability

DR. Adam Shortt in 1906 wrote in his "History of Canadian Currency, Banking and Exchange":

"Since its origin in 1855, The Bank of Toronto has maintained a remarkably strong position. Both in practice and principles, it has stood for stability and safety."

Throughout its history, The Bank of Toronto has safeguarded the interests of its customers. In its financial relationship with agriculture, commerce, industry and mining, it has consistently followed the principle of sound, conservative banking laid down by its founders. Today the strength and management of The Bank of Toronto are such as to inspire confidence in every client. Its range of banking facilities, its long familiarity with commercial and other activities, make its services of real value to every citizen.

EXPERTS SEEKING TO MEASURE HEIGHT OF NORTHERN LIGHTS

Special Cameras Are Set Up at Point Barrow and Nome.

RADIO PLAYS PART

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(A.P.)—The Northern Lights are now under the closest scrutiny to which they have ever been subjected.

Hoping to obtain more definite information on the height of the aurora as an aid in calculating the height and composition of the atmosphere, meteorologists taking part in the second International Polar year are combing the arts of photographer and radio.

Representatives of the United States' weather bureau have set up special cameras at two stations in Alaska—Point Barrow and Nome. These stations, together with one at Fairbanks, Alaska, established by the Carnegie Institution of Washington, will be in communication by radio at all times.

Sighted on Star.

When an aurora is sighted, the cameras will be sighted on a certain selected star and all will be snapped simultaneously. The United States' Army Signal Corps, which operates the Government communication in Alaska, will give the signals for taking the pictures and as many as possible of these synchronized photographs will be made.

Meteoroligsts, using these photographs and the star charts, will be able to compute the height of the aurora from its position with reference to the selected star at the three observation points.

Slain Statesman

Dr. Clemente Vasquez Bello, president ofthe Cuban Senate, whose assassination in Havana has created a crisis in Cuba. The slain statesman was head of the Liberal party and a possible candidate for president of the Cuban republic. He was a close friend and supporter of President Machado.

WARSAW W.A.

Ladies Lay Plans for Annual Fowl Supper.

WARSAW, Oct. 3.—The regular meeting of United Church W. A. was held in the S. S. room on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. A. Edwards was in the chair, and the attendance was fair.

After the opening exercises plans were made for details of the fowl supper. Mrs. Edwards read a very interesting paper on "Hobbies", stressing the idea that everyone should have a hobby and ride it. The hobby in itself is of benefit, because, from the very fact that it is a hobby it is loved and therefore engaging in it is a relaxation to mind and body.

Often the hobby is profitable from a financial point of view, and always because it helps one. Sometimes a pursuit begun as a hobby ends as a life work.

Bridgenorth W.M.S. Loses Two Members

BRIDGENORTH, Oct. 3 (Examiner Correspondence).—A good program was given by the Bridgenorth W.M.S. on Thursday afternoon at the parsonage. The president, Mrs. R. J. Merriam, presided. This meeting took the form of a farewell to the Misses Udy, who intend to leave shortly to spend the winter in London, Ont.

Besides the devotional and business part of the program, readings were given by Mrs. Harry Jopling and Rev. R. J. Merriam, and Miss E. McElhiney sang a solo, and Mesdames A. Nichol and C. Telford a duet, both of which were much appreciated.

Pile Sufferers

Your itching, bleeding, or protruding piles will go and not come back when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel—and not one minute before. Salves or suppositories can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out the thick, impure blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of success in even the most stubborn cases that McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store and druggists everywhere urge every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today. They must end your pile agony or money back.

Trent River

The Efficiency League met Friday night. The president, Mrs. John Scott, was absent. Mr. Isaac Lawson opened the meeting. The vice-president was also absent, and an impromptu program was given. Mr. Isaac Lawson told a Bible story; vocal solo by Mrs. Gordon Shearer; reading, Clifford Chaplin. The League members expressed a hearty vote of thanks for the generous donation of $2 from Mrs. Holmes, a cottager from Toronto, who is interested in League work. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

A meeting of the Board of Managers was held at the United Church Friday night.

Quarterly services were held at the United Church Sundady afternoon. The official board of the circuit meets Wednesday night at Havelock United Church. The Young People's League will be withdrawn for Friday night.

The Ladies' Aid meets Wednesday afternoon at the church.

A miscellaneous shower is being tendered Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van Volkenburg on Friday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Scott.

Born—On Wednesday, September 28, to Mr. and Mrs. George Bronsell, Trent River, a daughter.

Pittsburg Not In National League

MONTREAL, Oct. 1. (CP)—Pittsburgh will not be in the National Hockey League this season, the league's board of governors decided to-day at their semi-annual meeting. There will be a nine-club schedule with each team playing each of the others three home games and three away, with 24 home games.

P.C.I. Seniors Gain 15 to 5 Victory at Cobourg

GARNET AND GREY SQUAD OUTCLASSES LAKESHORE CLUB IN OPENING BATTLE

Cobourg Scores Their Only Touchdown of Game When Hodgetts Intercepts One of Richardson's Forward Passes and Runs Thirty Yards for Marker.

WESTBYE, ARMSTRONG AND KELLY ARE POINT-GETTERS FOR LOCAL STUDENTS

Opening the rugby season in the Central Ontario Interscholastic League at Cobourg on Saturday afternoon, the Peterborough Collegiate senior A team, the school's first string squad, earned an easy 15 to 5 victory over the Cobourg Collegiate twelve.

The Garnet and Grey displayed much of the same cleverness in their play that has carried them year after year to the championship of the league. The marked superiority of the Petes made the game uninteresting from a spectator's viewpoint, since Cobourg was seldom within striking distance of a score. Cobourg's touchdown came in the final quarter when Hodgetts intercepted one of Richardson's forward passes and ran thirty yards for a try.

Starting with two points secured in the first quarter when Westbye in attempting field goals which narrowly missed the uprights, kicked to the deadline, the Petes steadily forged to the front.

A fumble by Cobourg which Sloane scooped up put the Petes in scoring position at the start of second quarter and Westbye booted for a rouge. Later a Cobourg kick was blocked and following a series of plunges Armstrong crashed over the line for the first touchdown of the game.

P. C. I.'s other major score came in the third quarter when the Petes crossed up their opposition by having Westbye hurl a forward pass on the third down, Cobourg fully expecting a kick. Kelly snared the pass and galloped twenty yards for a touchdown.

Later, a Cobourg half fumbled in making the catch on one of Westbye's hoists and Marsh fell on the ball. Westbye booted for a rouge. A few minutes later the Petes broke to block a Cobourg kick and again Westbye was enabled to kick for another point.

P. C. I. continued to have the better of the play in the final quarter, but lost ground when called back for offside play along the line. Hodgetts put Cobourg on the score card by picking off one of Richardson's forwards and running clear for a touchdown.

The usual fumbles and looseness of early-season play marked the game, the P. C. I. rearguard showing marked weakness in handling kicks. However, both teams displayed nice interference.

Westbye's kicking, Richardson's running and throwing and the tackling of the outsides gave the Petes their greatest margin of strength. It was evident that P.C.I. have been well-coached in the use of the forward pass and the team has a variety of formations to mask the play.

The teams:

Peterborough Collegiate — Snap, Marsh; insides, Parnall, Sloane; middles, Clark, Kirkwood; outsides, Kelly and Dearborn; quarter, Thirnbeck; halves, Richardson, Armstrong, Jopling; flying wing, Westbye; subs, Wainman, Glover, Sedgwick, Mackey and Darcy.

Cobourg Collegiate—Snap, Turpin; insides, Hayden, Weese; middles, Crate, Spooner; outsides, G. Dufton, Willoughby; quarter, Hodgetts; halves, Stuart, McCaig, J. Dufton; flying wing, Mitchell; subs, Comrie, Davidson, Lucas, McIntyre, Staples and Wicks.

BABE RUTH SETS ANOTHER RECORD

Bambino Hits National Pitchers for .305 Average in 10 World's Series.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—(C.P.)—Babe Ruth, participating in 10 world's series in a period of 17 years, has batted the pitching of National League champions for an all-time series average of .305.

The Babe did not begin to figure as a batting star in the baseball classic until he joined the Yankees back in 1921. While a member of the Boston Red Sox, he served only as a pinch hitter or as a pitcher. In his three world series classics as a member of the Red Sox he garnered only one hit, but he only participated in five games, going to the plate 11 times.

The one hit the Babe collected, however, in the 1928 series against the Cubs was a smashing three-bagger, and was the beginning of his career as batting champion.

Ruth's greatest year in the world series was in 1928 when he wound up with an average of .625.

The number of poultry on Canadian farms increased from 43,347,194 in 1921 to 65,722,223 in 1931, a gain of 51 per cent and a greater increase than for any other class of farm live stock in the decade.

Yankees Win Pennant in Four Straight

KOGUT-SPEARS IN FINAL BOUT

Promoter Jack Corcoran Arranges for Card Here on Friday Night.

VICTOR OVER WILSON.

With a record of never having lost a bout in this city, Jack Kogut, the "Canadian Sonnenberg" was given a chance for advancement at the Queensbury Club show here on September 23 and he made good in big league style by beating Dr. Ralph Wilson, the "flying surgeon" from Philadelphia. Kogut has been a consistent winner during the past couple of months since returning to competition after an absence due to injuries received in an automobile accident. He has won all his bouts here and has been victor in most of his matches elsewhere.

Promoter Jack Corcoran promised Kogut another main bout against an outstanding man if he beat Wilson and he has kept his promise by matching him with Frank Speers of Atlanta, Ga., for the feature of next Friday's show at the Brock street rink.

Corcoran is certainly not giving Kogut any easy tasks these days. Speers is a great wrestler as those who saw him throw "Tiny" Ruff at the last show realize. However, Kogut surprised the experts when he beat Wilson and he may do the same in his match with Speers. Many thought him lucky to win from the surgeon-grappler but the fact remains that he came from behind after losing the first fall and made such a thorough job of scoring the second one that Wilson was unable to return to the ring and was forced to default the third fall.

Kogut has one of the greatest flying tackles in the game and few can stand up under his aerial attacks when he connects solidly. Wilson has twice wrestled Jim McMillen of Chicago, the former all-American football star who introduced the tackle to the wrestling game, and he say that McMillen never hit him as hard as did Kogut.

While Kogut is a veteran in wrestling experience, he is just at his best as a grappler. He started the game when he was sixteen and is now 29, the age at which heavyweight grapplers are supposed to be at their peak. He feels that he is ready for the most important bouts of his career and, far from balking at meeting such a man as Speers, welcomes the opportunity to add to his record. A victory over Speers, following that over Wilson, will mean much to Kogut and he is smart enough to realize that such is the case.

P.C. Intermediates Lose Out At Cobourg

A blocked kick led to the defeat in Cobourg Saturday morning of the Peterborough Collegiate intermediate rugby team in the first game of the season with the Cobourg Collegiate second team. Cobourg won the game 7 to 1. In the first quarter the winners scored two single points on rouges. Then in the second quarter one of Williamson's kicks was blocked and the ball rolled behind the Petes' line, a Cobourg player falling on it for a touchdown.

Cobourg had the heavier team, but in the second half the Petes began to take a big share in the play. However, it was the final minute of the game but before they gained a count, Williamson booting for a rouge.

Partridge Season Opens October 10th

The open season for partridge hunting in Ontario begins October 10th and closes October 20th, both days inclusive, in this part of the province. In Northern Ontario, the closing date is extended some time. No person may kill or have in his possession during the open season more than five birds a day, and not more than fifteen for the season. Birds taken must be disposed of either as an article of food or mounted no later than ten days after the close of the season, unless a permit to keep possession of such birds after the dates be procured from the Department of Game and Fisheries.

The following birds may be shot in open season: Ruffed grouse (commonly known as birch partridge); Canada grouse (commonly known as spruce partridge); sharp-tailed grouse (commonly known as prairie chicken); prairie hen (commonly known as pinnated grouse); and ptarmigan. Following are the dates and regions where these birds may be hunted:

(a) In that portion of the province lying north of the line of the C.N. railway from Sarnia to Toronto, via Thedford, Lucan Crossing, Stratford, Kitchener, Guelph and Brampton, and the line of the C.P. railway from Toronto to Ottawa, via Peterborough, Tweed, Smith's Falls, and Bedell (Kempton) and south of the French and Mattawa Rivers and Lake Nipissing from October 10th to October 20th, inclusive.

(b) In that portion of the province lying north of the French and Mattawa Rivers and Lake Nipissing and south of the main line of the C.N. railway (formerly the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway) from Quebec to Manitoba boundary line, from Oct. 10th to Oct. 26th inclusive.

(c) In that portion of the province lying north of the main line of the C.N. railway from Quebec to the Manitoba boundary line, from Oct. 10th to November 5th, both days inclusive.

It shall be lawful to hunt only upon these lands; Crown game preserves, provincial parks, and certain other regions being prohibited to hunters of these birds. This is in accord with the Game and Fisheries Act.

MARY KINGSBURY WINS Y.W. ACQUATIC HONORS

Sports Hour at the Y.W.C.A. Pool Friday evening again attracted a large number of swimmers.

Mary Kingsbury an outstanding "Y" swimmer took honors in senior speed and diving.

In the Junior events Dora Doukas came first in speed with Lily Long and Eleanor Bestard first in racers back stroke. Dora Doukas was first in diving and Lily Long second.

Jimmie Cummings had the field to himself in speed, back stroke and diving.

Miss Littlefield announced the opening of all gym and dancing classes October first. The senior rally will be Wednesday evening when there will be a special program.

Sports hour in the pool will be held every Friday evening during October.

Mink farming appears to have become a permanently established industry in Canada, attaisitics for 1930 showing almost 800 of such fur farms throughout Canada.

SLUGGING NEW YORKERS BLAST FIVE CHICAGO CLUB PITCHERS FOR 19 HITS IN FOURTH GAME

Cubs' Early Lead Gained Off Johnny Allen Wiped Out Under Slugfest.

Broadway Bambinos Silent.

Combs, Lazzeri and Sewell Supply Hitting Punch of One-sided Fracas.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.— The World Series of 1932 trailed off to-day toward its final resting place among baseball's legends, leaving the realm of the national pastime once more under the absolute rule of the American League, and one of the greatest champions in all sports history —the New York Yankees.

Never before in all the glamorous past of the game has any ball club approached the amazing record of the belting behemoths from Broadway, conquerors of the Chicago Cubs in four straight games, possessors of a streak of 12 successive world series triumphs.

It was something to set down in the record books with a proper touch of awe and veneration when the Yankees of 1927 and 1928 swept through the Pittsburgh Pirates and then the St. Louis Cardinals to win two world series without a single defeat. Now the Cubs have been added to that amazing record, without having even extended the mighty cast of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Tony Lazzeri and the rest of the dynamiters.

And worse still for the National League and its sorry attempts to keep from being trampled on by the marauding giant, there seems little prospect of the present situation taking any immediate turn for anything but worse.

Almost as a big good natured St. Bernard unaware of its own strength, cuffs in fun at a little puppy, all but mortally wounding its playmate with even the lightest touches, did the Yankees leap upon the National League champions to shatter them yesterday for the fourth straight time 13 to 6 in the final match of a series that for lack of real competition has only been equalled in the past by the Yankee conquests of 1927 and 1928.

For one day the bats of Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth that boomed like 16 inch guns in the victory of the first game here Saturday lapsed into comparative silence, but there was no relief for the desperate cause of the shattered Cubs. From new, and hitherto peaceful quarters, the firing broke out with sudden, terrific effect, and five pitchers, Guy Bush, Lon Warneke, Jakie May, Bud Tinning and even old Burleigh Grimes went down under a stunning 19 hit barrage.

The composite picture of the five hurlers, the first two aces of the National League, gave the impression of a Dutch boy with no fingers at all trying to stem breaks in a dozen dykes at once.

Hit Allen Hard

There was but one last flare of hope for the vanquished in the final episode, as the Cubs, hitting almost like the Yankees at the start, soundly belied young Johnny Allen, freshman right handed and disposed of him with a four run assault in the opening inning that was climaxed by Frank Demaree's home run smash into the left field bleachers with two hitters on base ahead of him.

It was a hope that quickly faded into disillusionment for the 50,000 militant Chicago faithful who twice in the two games here crowded the tight little band box of Wrigley Field to capacity and never stopped hoping for the miracle that never came.

The Yanks slugged Bush from the peak in less than a round, although they counted but once, bashed Warneke for a pair of runs in the third, and drove him out of there in the fourth, then they nicked Jake May for a couple in the sixth, and piled up a force on to the unfortunate southpaw for four runs in the seventh, and the staggering Grimes for another four in the ninth.

But by that time the Cubs had nothing left but gestures, as effective as a campaign orator who had lost his voice, and when Riggs Stephenson sailed the last put out to Ben Chapman in left field, they seemed to join in the general relief of the crowd and the critics that the humiliation at last was over.

In fact, it seems now as though the Bruins themselves, though they waged the gamest fight they knew, never at any time had much belief in their own ability to conquer the human juggernaut that had been turned loose upon them.

Indoor Lacrosse Tilt This Evening

Millbrook and C.G.E. play at City Lacrosse League game at the Brock at 8.30 this evening, and it should be an interesting battle. The fighting Millbrook players will be at full strength and expect to pull up on the Electrics in this fixture.

C.G.E. has been playing better lacrosse lately and if their strongest team can be fielded, they may turn back the husky visitors again. Every game in which the out-of-towners have participated in here has been worth seeing as they put real fight into their games and never slow up. They have recently been reinstated after some league trouble and this will add to their desire to win to-night's game. On the other hand, the C.G.E. crew will look for a victory to pull up closer to top place in the loop standing. Fans may be assured of a thrilling game whichever way it goes.

TO SUE LLOYDS

CHICAGO—United States District Judge Walter C. Lindley today authorized the receiver of the Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment company, an Insull concern, to sue Lloyds of London and the new Amsterdam Casualty Company for $300,000 representing their liability for nearly $400,000 owed the company by Martin J. Insull, now in Orillia, Ont.

Boxing Is Popular Among Hastings Fans

HASTINGS, Oct. 3 (Examiner Correspondence) — The sport fans of Hastings and district through William Wellman have at last found something to amuse themselves this coming fall and winter. Mr. Wellman has been training a string of boxers for the past few weeks and on Saturday night put on his first card of the season and drew a bumper crowd. All bouts were hard fought and the boys showed remarkable condition for the short time they have been in training. The card was made up of three bouts all of three rounds. The opener brought together two light-middleweights in "Gil" Herrington and "Dinty" Thompson, the boys put on a smart exhibition for a draw decision.

In the semi-final matchmaker Wellman put two lightweights in the ring for a tough three round bout between "Freckles" McCarthy and "Lefty" McCoy which ended in a draw. The main bout of the night between Foley and Wilson kept the big crowd in an uproar the whole session, both boys landed some hefty blows, Foley winning the decision in the last round.

If Saturday night's crowd is any indication of the number of boxing fans in the village it won't be long until Matchmaker Wellman will be able to crowd the Town Hall.

The next card is billed for Saturday, October 8th, with two main bouts in place of one.

THIRD BATTLE IS SCHEDULED FOR TORONTO

Begley Leads Local Hitters on Saturday With Four in Six Times Up.

IN JUVENILE PLAY-OFFS.

Brilliant Pitching, Perfect Fielding and Hard Hitting Features Leafs' Play.

Brilliant pitching, perfect fielding and hard hitting combined to give Pat Calladine's Maple Leafs a 15 to 0 win over Niagara Falls in the second game of the juvenile finals here Saturday. The championship series is now tied up, the deciding game being played in Toronto this Wednesday. A big crowd of fans saw the locals turn back the Cataracts, showing great superiority in every department.

The Leafs pounded two twirlers hard to send them to the showers, while the Falls' batters could do nothing with the heady and superb hurling dished up by Bill Calladine. He held them to a scratch single, only one batter reaching first, as he fanned thirteen, gave no walks nor threw one wild pitch. He came within an ace of hurling a perfect game. Bill had perfect support from his teammates, while the visitors were guilty of six errors.

Play Tight Ball.

For three frames, it was a good game with neither side doing anything. Then, the Leafs began to connect, chasing Senese in the fourth as they scored six runs. They got one apiece in the next three innings off Swayze, and hammered him out of the box in the eighth, scoring six more big ones. Scott managed to retire the side then.

Begley led the local hitters with four in six times. Dixon, McKinley, Burton, Calladine and Gardner all got two, a number of doubles being included. The other Leaf batters got one hit apiece.

GROVE WINS FROM UPPER CANADA COLLEGE

Upper Canada College "Seventeen Team" played in Lakefield against the Prep School team on Saturday afternoon, the latter winning 18-7.

The two teams were very even in regard line work, but the superior open field work of Macrae of Lakefield, resulted in the win for Lakefield. The game itself was very open, good kicking and catching by both team, and perhaps Lakefield with the edge on line plays, but so small an advantage as to be negligible.

With the usual tight close bucking game of these days, it is very refreshing to see two senior school teams playing an open game.

For her role of the young matron in "The First Year," Janet Gaynor attempted to add a sophisticated note by dressing her hair in simulation of a short bob. Fans disapproved of the change, however, and a flood of more than 5,000 letters descended upon her requesting that she return to the shoulder-length type of bob she previously has affected. She will comply with the demands in her future films.

Actors invariably are generous in donating their time and talents to performances staged for the benefit of charities,, but Eddie Cantor and George Jessel established a record when they made seen appearances of this nature in one evening. After volunteering their services at seven theatres where benefits were being given and elaborating their act in each instance, they finished early in the morning by giving thir act for the stage doorman of the final theatre.

In the early days of the theatre, when most actors were impoverished and unable to buy the cosmetics necessary to remove make-up, they used a piece of ham rind for that purpose. The public referred to them as "hams" and now the term is applied to actors of mediocre talent.

SCOTS GO INTO PHELAN FINAL, BEAT PACKERS

Listless Playing Fails to Impress Fans—Scots Easily Outplay Losers.

FINAL COUNT 4-2.

A fair crowd of spectators witnessed the semi-final of the Father Phelan Charity Cup on Saturday afternoon, between the Caledonians and the Canada Packers, when the former won by 4 to 2. The play lacked the vim of the regular cup ties until the last fifteen minutes. Melrose, Packers, played a great game in goal, while Craig was the outstanding playmaker.

Erratic Opening.

The Caledonians won the toss, only to be repulsed when they opened up a bombardment of close passing tactics in which the Packers' full backs tackled fearlessly to hold their charge . From a combination attack on the Packers' right wing, they penetrated the Scots' defence to get the opening counter. Dyer worked close in towards goal until he placed the ball in front of the posts, where Nichol's met it with a perfect header. On the next visit the Packers again registered an offside goal. The Scots kept up the pressure. Hanson and Adkinson carried the attacks down the wing and centred into goal where the inside men peppered shots at Melrose, who made some spectacular saves.

Ding-Dong Play.

On resuming, the Packers introduced the long swinging passes to baffle the Scots on the defence. After George Downer had travelled down the wing and drew out the defence, Agnew punted clear to Hanson on the right wing. He outwitted the Packers" defence as he placed the ball to the foot of his team-mate to get the equalizer Within five minutes the Scots were a goal up through the play of Tom McPhate at outside left, as he beat three men in succession and finally shot the ball against the upright to rebound back into the net. The Packers went right back to get the even count again through Buchan when he placed a drop shot into the net that Bolton failed to see. During the last 20 minutes the Scots held the upper hand to add two more goals when Rankin hustled the ball through the goal. The other counter was one of the cleverest goals scored this season. A long shot by Tommy Craig landed below the bar. Melrose put up his hands to grasp the ball, but A. McPhate headed into the net. Caledonians 4, Canada Packers 2.

Goal scorers—Scots, Rankin (2), T McPhate and A. McPhate; Canada Packers, Nicholls and Buchan.

Canada Packers — L. Melrose, goal; H. Hotson and A. Downer, backs; T. Foster, J. Buchan, and A Bromley, halves; A. Downer, F Dyer, D. Evans, F. Nicholls, and G. Downer, forwards.

NEWARK EVENS MINOR SERIES

Brennan Hurls Bears to 5-2 Win Over Millers on Sunday.

8,509 SEE GAME.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 3.—(C.P.).—If it shall come to pass that Col. Jacob Ruppert feels help is needed for Messrs. Ruffing, Pennock, Pipgras, Allen et al, there's a burly hand on his farm ready and willing to abet the Colonel's New York Yankees in tackling the job of winning another world's title.

He is barrel-chested Don Brennan, who throws curves and stirs his coffee with a big right hand which yesterday put Ruppert's Newark farm club back in the running for the little world's series title.

For Brennan, it was victory No. 27 of the season. Besides 25 wins in the regular campaign when his club won the International League pennant, the potency of his pitching has accounted for both of Newark's victories in the series against Minneapolis, champions of the American Association.

Sunday's win, 5 to 2, before 8,509 persons who paid to see, squared the series at two-all. Last week in the opener at Newark, he blanked the Millers, 11 to 0, and to-day as both clubs in th "double A" tourney observed wash-day by resting, Newark's manager, Al Mamaux, laid plans to call on his ace for more work in the sixth game Wednesday. His pitching selection for Tuesday was unannounced.

OPENING UNDECIDED

THE PAS, Man.—The opening of the townsite of Churchill, northern ocean port and terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway, is still indefinite, Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, provincial Minister of Mines and Natural Resources, stated here. He is en route north to make his first inspection of the port.

Three Times Champion

There's plenty of reason for the broad smile this young English girl is wearing. She is Miss Pauline Doran, of London, who for the third successive year has just been victorious in the girls' golf championship of Great Britain. Miss Doran defeated Mlle. Gunsbourg of France, in the final round at Sloges Poges. The trophy is emblematic of the girls' national title.

(BY C. J. P.)

Toronto Wednesday will tell the tale. That's where the O.B.A.A. juvenile championship will be settled this year, Peterborough Maple Leafs meeting Niagara Falls there in the third game of their titular series, both teams having won their home games. There isn't much doubt how it will end, unless the unusual happens with a vengeance. Our Leafs should stand the Cataracts on their ears after the pasting they gave them here Saturday.

• • • • • • •

The score was 15-0, and the local boys were trying to make it 20-0 if possible, just to break the hearts of the other players for this third game. They succeeded pretty well, we imagine, as there was no fight left in the visitors after the game. Bill Calladine will pitch the third game again, and he's certainly got their numbers. He pitched almost perfect ball Saturday, 28 players facing him, just one getting on on the only hit, a scratch single. Thirteen struck out, and no one got a walk.

• • • • • •

In the fifth, Moreau, Falls' shorstop, bunted a slow one toward third. It was scooped up and the ball and runner reached first together. The umps started to call him out, then changed and spread his hands. After the game, he (Reg. Fair of Oshawa) said it could have been called either way as it was that close. And that's the only semblance of a hit gained of Bill's delivery all afternoon!

• • • • • •

Back in '25 on August 29th here, the Rotary Bantams defeated Toronto Elizabeths, 10-0, in the first game of the semi-finals, and Jack Crary hurled a no-hit, no-run game, that was almost perfect. Just 28 batters faced him, an error letting one on the sacks. But games like these happen very, very seldm. Every year, you hear of one or two no-hit games, but nearly always more than one runner gets on base, or there is a walk issued, or something.

• • • • • •

Burton began hitting again Saturday, driving out two long doubles that would have been homers in Toronto. Three other doubles were included in the 17 hits for the Leafs. Everyone got at least one hit, and every player contributed his part to the win. They got a good crowd, and the fans had plenty to yell about. "Shiner" Johnston was in the Leafs' dugout coaching them along with Pat Calladine.

• • • • • •

We were screwy on our choice of the Cubs in this World's Series, and no fooling. Those Yank maulers played up to form, perhaps even a little above it, while the Bruins didn't go so well. And then, we had figured on Ruth as being out of the game or at least of not much use in these as a sick man. But the Babe didn't look like an invalid Saturday. There's no doubt this year about the winners being real world's champions.

• • • • • •

Millbrook and C.G.E. are scheduled to meet in a City Lacrosse League game at the Brock this evening, and it should be worth seeing. The battling Millbrook outfit is peeved over their recent suspension and reinstatement and will make it hot for someone. But C.G.E. wont be any setup, make no mistake about that.

Did you know that: Belleville intermediates were eliminated from the O.B.A.A. race Saturday, 11-6 by North Bay? . . . . Oshawa Dodgers evened the intermediate O.A.S.A. series up by trimming Davey's Indians of Toronto, 5 to 0? . . . . Guelph nosed out Toronto Danforths, 3-2, in Toronto Saturday to take the first game of the senior O.B.A.A. finals, the great Guelph southpaw, Judd, holding 'em to four hits and fanning sixteen?

• • • • • •

We had one win and two losses in football Saturday, our Senior A team defeating Cobourg, 15 to 5; our Senior B getting the wrong side of a 34-5 count in Lindsay; and the local intermediates getting licked, 7 to 1, by the Cobourg lads. This last score was balled up in the report Saturday evening, so many local fans thought over the week-end that P.C.I. won it, but it was just the opposite.

• • • • • •

Although early season play marked the Senior A team's play Saturday, still they looked good, and their system of plays built around the forward pass will prove a great offensive weapon in future games. The P. C. I. gridders are fast and tricky. Their last touchdown, a forward pass when Cobourg was expecting a kick, was smart. The kicking of Westbye, Richardson's forward-passing and running, and the tackling of the outsides, were outstanding. They should go far.

• • • • • •

At this early stage of the rugby season, weight is an important factor, and that's what our Senior B and our intermediate teams found out Saturday. Both losses were caused by superior bulk, with Lindsay team also showing surprising condition and all-around experience so soon. However, both P.C.I. teams will show a great deal of improvement in another week or so, without a doubt.

Tomorrow night's indoor softball games at the Brock find Daily Stars playing Sugar Bowl in the opener, with the Brin'ons and Maple Leafs meeting in the girls' fixture. GENERAL CREW MEETS DEFEAT AT PORT HOPE

Eric Jones is the Outstanding Player for the Winners.

HOMESTERS 3, C.G.E. 2.

Port Hope team now faces the Caledonians in the Father Phelan charity cup final through their successful win against the C.G.E. at home, on Saturday afternoon. The boys from the lake front won 3 to 2. The visitors were minus their regular team owing to some of the players being unfit and they played throughout the 90 minutes with only ten men.

First Half

There was no choice in the selection of the toss of the coin. The early stages proved interesting. The forwards always on the alert to test the custodians but their efforts were frustrated through the opportune tackling of the half backs. From a well planned combination play by the Mitchell brothers on the right wing, Jim gave Curtis, Port Hope, no chance to counteract the goal. Within five minutes, Jones gained the equaliser from an individual efort that Daynes had no chance to save. The display of combination attacks, backed up by systematic half back play delighted the fans as one goal then the other went under a bombardment. During one of these visits, A. Mitchell put the Peterborough team ahead before the interval arrived. Half time—Canadian General 2, Port Hope 1.

Half Time

The second half revealed that the Lakeshore eleven meant to carry the play against the visitors to the limit and they were successful through the timely shot of John Black. At centre forward, Eric Jones, Port Hope, was the outstanding player by his distributing of the ball or the tackling to break down the positive full back defence. His objective was reached when he headed the winning tally past Joe Daynes which carried the Lakeshore team into the final series. Port Hope 3, Canadian General 2.

Goal scorers—C.G.E., A. Mitchell and J. Mitchell; Port Hope, Jones (2) and J. Black.

Port Hope—W. Curtis, goal; D. Green and J. Watson, full backs; J. Cameron, . Black and J. New, halves; J. Jarvis, C. Morrison, J. Shaw, R. Black and T. Boon, forwards.

C.G.E.—J. Daynes, goal; R. Clyde and B. Bolam, full backs; S. Clark, W. Robb, Halves; A. Mitchell, J. Mitchell, J. Quinn, G. Earl and H. Darling, forwards.

Referee—J. Clark.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

WHAT HAPPENED WHEN A COAT TORE

If the discovery that what he had supposed was just a shadow was in reality Hooty the Owl just reaching for him with great cruel claws, had frightened Jerry Muskrat so that he couldn't move, the sound of Hooty's hiss did for him just the opposite thing. Jerry didn't stop to think what he should do. There was no time for that. He simply did it. He dived for the water as if Hooty's hiss had released a stout spring under him.

Now, Jerry Muskrat is big and looks rather clumsy, but Jerry can move quickly when occasion demands. You would have thought so if you could have seen him making that dive in the moonlight. But quick as he was he wasn't quick enough. No, sir, he wasn't quite quick enough. Those great reaching claws were just ready to close when he dived and they did close. Only Jerry's hand and head reached the water he was so frantically diving for. Then he squealed with pain and terror as he was lifted and, hanging head down, was carried across the Smiling Pool. Hooty the Owl had spoken truly when he said, "I've got you now." Poor, poor Jerry Muskrat! Hanging head down he gazed at his beloved Smiling Pool for what he believed to be the last time. Those claws hurt dreadfully. Then being carried head down made him feel as if his heart and stomach and everything else inside him had slipped out of place. His beautiful new house would never be finished. This was the last he would ever see of all the things he loved so. He had been caught at last, and all through his own carelessness. To make Hooty the Owl, whom he so long been too smart for, a dinner was to be his end. Poor, poor Jerry Muskrat.

If Jerry could have known what was passing through Hooty's head perhaps he would have felt just a wee bit less helpless. Hooty knew what Jerry didn't, and those great claws had not clutched Jerry where they should have, and where Hooty had meant to have them. He had intended to clutch Jerry right by the middle of the back and drive those great claws 'way in on both sides of Jerry's backbone. But Jerry's quick dive had forced Hooty to clutch at what he could, and the result was that those great cruel claws had caught in Jerry's coat near his tail. This was why he was being carried head down.

Hanging Head Down He Gazed at His Beloved Smiling Pool

Now, Jerry's coat was rather loose fitting, for Jerry had been working hard and had not fattened up for the winter. So those claws had simply gone through the coat, but not into Jerry's flesh enough for a good hold. Hooty was not yet sure of his dinner as he would have liked to have been. Jerry was big and heavy and his coat might tear. There was no getting another and better grip up there in the air. For that Hooty must alight somewhere. Hooty hoped with all his might that that coat of Jerry's would prove too stout to tear.

If Hooty could have hurried this story might have had a different ending. But Jerry Muskrat was heavy and though Hooty did his very best with his great wings, he moved rather slowly and only just a little above the water. As they drew near the bank Hooty felt one claw tear loose and then another. Jerry began to struggle with all his might and his coat gave way so that Hooty held him with only one foot. Then as Hooty vainly tried to clutch him again with the claws from which he had torn loose, his weight was too much for the claws still gripping his coat. It tore loose from them, and with a splash Jerry struck the dear, cool, beautiful water of the Smiling Pool, while with a scream of rage and disappointment Hooty the Owl flew on toward the Green Forest. Jerry's life had been saved by the tearing of his coat.

What Today Means to YOU

By MARY BLAKE

"LIBRA"

If October 3rd is your birthday, you will find your best hours are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 4.30 to 5.30 p.m. and from 11.15 p.m. to midnight. The danger hours are from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. and from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Fate seems to make this day a happy one for you in that it will be one of great activity and accomplishment. You will find that problems that have been troubling you for some time can on this day be satisfactorily cleared up, and that new ventures and ideas will be presented to you for consideration. It would seem to be a good day on which to embark on any new plans you have in mind.

Children born on October 3rd will be restless little ones and endowed with an abundance of energy which will keep them ever on the look-out for adventure and excitement of some kind or other. They will not be willful or difficult to handle, but due to the great energy they possess, they will demand a good deal of watching on the part of the parents, who should at all times endeavor to guide them in and along the right lines.

Born on October 3rd, you will find yourself eventually among that group of people classed as successful. You are a thorough person in all things that you do You are a ready and willing listener, and are possessed of that happy faculty of being willing to act upon the advice of another, but not of course until you have satisfied yourself that it is the right course to follow. At times you appear to be moody, but in reality these periods seem more to be times when you withdraw into yourself for thought and meditation. These periods should prove profitable to you. Both men and women born on this day are not naturally religious, but appear to be seeking some truth or philosophy that will enable them to put proper values on the various phases of life. You are straight-forward, and an honest person, honest in your thinking in so far as it applies both to yourself and others with whom you may be in contact.

You will find yourself the member of one or more local social groups, clubs or lodges. You are the type of person of great value to such organizations, due to your willingness and desires to help others.

PERIOD WEAKNESS

London, Ont.—"When developing into womanhood I became in a terribly run-down condition, lost weight and energy, suffered from periodical weakness and felt miserable all over," said Mrs. John Goode of 248 Ottaway Ave. "But after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a short time I was relieved of this misery.

"A few months ago I had pains in the center of my back, I also had nervous headaches and poor appetite. I took two bottles of the 'Prescription' and have had no trouble since."

Sold by druggists everywhere.

"Splitting" Headaches

Until she learned why she was always miserable — and found out about NR Tablets (Nature's Remedy). Now she gets along fine with everybody. This safe, dependable, all-vegetable laxative brought quick relief and quiet nerves because it cleared her system of poisonous wastes—made bowel action easy and regular. Thousands take NR daily. It's such a sure, pleasant corrective. Mild, non-habit-forming. No bad after-effects. At your druggist's—25c.

CHURCH CONTRACT LET

DUNDAS—At a meeting of the trustee board of St. Paul's United church last night, the bulk contract for the construction of the new $100,000 church to replace the structure destroyed by fire last year was awarded to Col. E. H. Greenwood. It is expected that the work will provide Jobs for many of Dundas' unemployed.

Bradman May Quit Cricket

Don Bradman, wonder batsman of first-class cricket, who was with the famous Australian team on their recent tour of Canada, may not take the field for the Aussies in the all-important test matches with the English team now on its way to the commonwealth. The Australian cricket board of control has ruled that players are not to be allowed to write or comment on any of the 1932-33 season test matches, and Bradman has signed a lucrative contract with three Sydney business groups to write on cricket. If the board does not modify its decision Bradman says he will not play.

Golf Safest

KANSAS CITY, October 3 (C. P.). — Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, believe golf is a better game than football, but that golfers who rage at lost strokes have no business in the sport.

Dr. Fishbein said there are instances in which football shortened the players' lives.

'But golf," he explained, "is as harmless as any athletics for a man over 40. I never knew but two men who died on a golf course. One was struck by lightning and one died when he made a hole in one."

Maple Leaf Team Leads Bike Grind

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Climaxing a night of furious riding, Saveer Von Slambrouck and Reggie Fielding, the Toronto Maple Leaf team in the six-day bicycle race which started at one minute after midnight, were one full lap in front of the field at eight o'clock this morning.

The first two hours of the race saw perhaps the craziest, most thrilling riding in six-day bike history. The world's record for laps gained in the first hour fell with a resounding thump as 46 laps were won by the desperate riders. The previous record of 32 laps gained was made in Madison Square Garden, New York, in March of 1928. At the end of the second hour, another hung up when the riders had gained a total of 117 laps and had covered 58 miles eight laps.

Four teams were tied for second place this morning. They were Reggie McNamara-Al Crossley; Lew Elder-Freddie Zach; Frank Bartel-Dave Laus; and the Polly Parrott-Horance Horder combination.

191,998 FANS PAID $713,377 TO SEE FOUR GAMES OF SERIES

Cub Players to Receive $4,000 Each While Yankees Get About $5,000.

"GLAD IT'S OVER"—GRIMM.

(By Paul Mickelson, Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Happy days are here again for the Cub pitchers. They don't have to worry about Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig for a long, long time, if ever.

As the Cubs broke up baseball housekeeping today and turned their thoughts to putting in a winter's supplyof groceries, every one of them admitted they were glad the world series was over.

"Sure we're disappointed at our showing," remarked Manager Charlie Grimm, "but those guys just were unbeatable. Any one who says Ruth is through is crazier than a dove hooking up with a grizzly bear. How that guy and Gehrig can clout 'em. Well, it's back to St. Louis and home for me."

Cubs fans, who first heard of the Yankee long distance bombings at Yankee stadium and then saw it with their own eyes at Wrigley Field, where the Ruppert brigade made their heroes look like a fourth place club in a class B league, were more amazed than downhearted about the 1932 world series show. As they watched the Yanks mop up in the final game yesterday, 13 to 6, with a shower of 19 hits, they first felt sorry for the Cubs and ended by cheering the new world's champions. All but a few stuck to the finish of that final runaway to see two more home runs bounce off the bats of Earl Combe and Tony Lazzeri.

Will Receive $4,000

There was only one solace for the Cubs today as they tried to forget the past week. Twenty-four of them were assured of receiving a cheque of approximately $4,000 from the baseball commissioner's office as their "cut" and that sum was only about $1,000 less than the individual plunder collected by the Yankees. Although the Yankees' team share totaled $152,805.35 to $101,870.24 for the Cubs, the champions got less individually because they divided the purse into 30½ shares whereas the Cubs split their's 24 ways, leaving their former manager, Rogers Hornsby out without a cent and giving Mark Koenig a half share. Hornsby has filed a protest against his exclusion in the division to Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis but there was little chance for it to be successful as no ineligible player for the world series can be cut in. The "Rajah" was deposed as Cub pilot on August 2 and was not named on the list of Cub players eligible for the big show.

$363,822 Player Melon

The player melon, $363,822.27, wasn't as large as the record breaker of 1928, but it was surprising for this year because of business conditions. During the four games, 191,988 fans crowded into Yankee Stadium and Wrigley Field and paid $713,377. The high receipts also were surprising for players of the second, third and fourth place teams of each league, which were cut in generously. Philadelphia's Athletics and Pittsburgh, runners-up in the current races, each received purses of $29,788.67; Washington and Brooklyn were given $18,174.44 each while each fourth place in the two major leagues, Cleveland and the Philadelphia Nations, were awarded $6,812.23 each for division among players.

Lindsay C.I. Beats P.C.I. Squad 24-5

A heavy, experienced Lindsay senior rugby team opened its season at home Saturday with a 34-5 victory over P. C. I.'s Senior B outfit. A fair crowd saw the game, which was good except for fumbles by the losers which figured in nearly all the Lindsay scoring.

The count at half-time was 18-0 for Lindsay, and only in the third quarter did P.C.I. show superior play, Hascott plunging ten yards for a Peterborough try following a nice end run by Hutchison, and the homesters being blanked. In the other three quarters, Lindsay had a decided edge, outweighing their opponents nearly thirty pounds to a man, and having considerably more experience over last year's local intermediates. The P. C. I. backfield was guilty of a number of costly fumbles, but more experience will improve the team in short order.

Campbell got two touchdowns for the victors on backfield fumbles, Lamb got Harton for a safety touch and Thomas followed with a try. Tripp followed with a rouge. The next countering was done by P.C.I. on good work by Hutchison and Hascot for a try, which was not converted. Harton fumbled and Tripp went over with the ball. Lamb followed suit on another P. C. I. fumble. Thomas carried the pigskin across on successive bucks, with Campbell converting. McKone and Weddell, of the losers, showed some fine tackling.

The teams:

P. C. I.—Flying wings, McKone, Weddell, Mark; halves, Hutchison, Harton, Hickey, Johnston; quarterback, Gemmell; snap, Dnucan; insides, Hascot, Clark, Rowan; middles, Beatty, Bradshaw, Morrow, Lundy; outsides, Kirkwood, Waddell, Young, McIntyre.

Lindsay—Flying wing, Galaugher; halves, Kane, Thomas, Campbell, Tripp; quarter-back, Lamb; snaps, Tillcock, Hashon; insides, Cole, McIlmoyle, Ringland, Thompson; middles, Begley, Hodgson, McKee, Williams; outsides, Groves and Reid.

Umpire, Fleming of Peterborough; referee, Beall of Lindsay.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 25 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service, Inc.)

© 1932, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

The scout plane made a great circle over the forests and rolling country beneath. Then, for the first time, Jason Gridley realized his chances of returning to the O-220 were very slim. For there was no horizon in all Pellucidar, no guiding landmark. Instead, the whole landscape curved upward and merely merged into the distant haze. Fearing to waste time and fuel searching longer for a landmark, he set off in a straight line, his keen eyes watching carefully for a signal.

For two hours the plane roared above the leafy roof of the primeval forest. Nowhere did Gridley see any signs of those he sought. Upon coming to a range of lofty mountains he determined to turn back. As he banked the plane to make the turn he caught a glimpse out of the corner of his eye of something in the air above him. Looking quickly back, the American gasped in astonishment. Hovering now, almost above him, was a gigantic creature, the enormous spread of whose wings almost equalled that of the plane he was piloting.

The American caught a single glimpse of tremendous jaws armed with terrible teeth. In that instant he realized that this mighty thing of a prehistoric age was bent on attacking him. Gridley was flying at an altitude of about three thousand feet when the huge pteranodon launched itself straight at the ship. He sought to elude it by diving. There was a terrific crash, a roar, a splintering of wood and a grinding of metal as the pteranodon swooped down upon its prey and fell into the propellor.

The plane turned completely over and at the same time Gridley jumped. He jerked the rip cord of his parachute. Something struck him upon the head and he lost consciousness.... Far below, attracted by the shattering and tearing in the sky, a lovely girl looked up. She saw what she believed to be two great flying reptiles meet in battle and out of one of them had come a man. It was incredible, but more than all it was terrifying. And so Jana, the Red Flower of Zoram, turned and fled.

Obituary

JAMES JOSEPH TEEVIN

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Following an illness of six months, the death occurred in St. Michael's Hospital, of James Joseph Teevin, son of the late James Teevin and Mary Hutton, pioneer settlers of Lindsay.

He resided on Marion Street, Toronto, for the past fourteen years, having retired from business about six years ago as representative of Peter Hamilton Company, Peterborough. Many friends attended the funeral Mass at St. Vincent de Paul Church, of which he was a member, afterward motoring to Lindsay, where relatives and friends accompanied the remains to St. Mary's Cemetery, where services were conducted by Rev. Father Corkery of St. Mary's Church, and Rev. Father Galvin of Downeyville. Surviving are his widow, Mary Flynn Teevin; two sons, Frank J., Toronto, and James A. of New York; three daughters, Mrs. Basil McQuillan, and Violette, both of Toronto; Mrs. Hubert Fox of Lindsay; one sister, Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Sacramento, Cal., and six grandchildren.

Y.W.C.A. WEEK'S ACTIVITIES

FALL RALLY:

The annual Fall Rally will be held on Wednesday evening. A cordial invitation is extended to every one to visit the 'Y' and learn about classes, clubs, parties advantages and opportunities included in the 'Y' program. Rev. C. D. Daniels will be the guest speaker and will have an interesting message. There will also be a gymnasium and swimming exhibition, musical numbers, games, exhibits of handicraft and refreshments. Come and bring others.

GYMNNASIUM:

All classes commence this week and new and former pupils will all be registering. There is a class for every child, school girl, business girl and woman. A number of senior business girls and teachers have been enquiring and a special class is being arranged. Classes will include health giving gymnastics, graceful folk and interpretive dancing, tap and toe dancing and recreational games. If you have never been to "Gym" come this week and watch or join the fun. If you belonged to a class before, why not join a more advanced class this year? The physical director will be glad to meet pupils one half hour before class and advise them about classes.

SCHEDULE OF GYMNASIUM CLASSES:

School girls (12 to 15) Monday, 4.30; Senior school girls (15 to 17) Friday, 4.30; Business girls (elementary) Monday, 8.00; Business girls (special) Thursday, 8.00; Business girls (advanced) Tuesday, 8.00; Ladies class, Tuesday, 10.00 a.m.; Juniors (8 to 12) Saturday, 9.30; Babies (3 to 8) Saturday, 10.45; Toe dancing (special) Thursday, 6.30; Interpretive dancing (advanced) Thursday 7.30; Tap and interpretive (intermediate) Friday 7.00; Tap dancing (juniors) Wednesday 5.30; Interpretive dancing (babies) Wednesday, 4.30.

Babies' and juniors' gymanasium fees, $2; School girls' gynasium fees $2.50; Business girls' gynasium fees $3; Ladies' gymnasium fees, $4; Dancing classes, $5; Badminton Club fees, $2, $3; Junior membership, 50c; Senior membership, $1.

SWIMMING:

The pool is open for swimmers afternoons and evenings. The pool is well heated and swimming is a delightful recreation.

Life saving and stunt classes will continue all month and the weekly swimming meet will be held each Friday evening.

Senior life saving and stunt classes Monday, 7.00 p.m.; Junior life saving and stunt classes Thursday, 4.30 p.m.

Y.W.C.A. CLUBS:

"Y" Club programs offer girls a chance to do things together, dramatics, handicraft, games, parties, hikes, discussions, talks and service for others. Every girl, junior, intermediate and senior, will find a welcome at a "Y" club. New clubs formed on request of ten girls.

Tuesday, 8 p.m., Old Country Club; Wednesday, 7.30 p.m., Wohelo Club; Thursday, 6.00 p.m., Supper Club; Friday, 4.30 p.m., Polly Anna Club; Saturday, 2 p.m., Ever Bright and Sunshine Club.

ELOCUTION:

Lessons commence this week. Teacher, Miss Viola Payton.

FIRST AID:

St. John Ambulance Corps meet each Wednesday 8 p.m.

OTHER CLASSES:

As soon as sufficient register the following classes will commence: Current Events, French, Better English, Interior Decoration, Entertaining, Home Nursing, Household Worker's Course, Handicraft, including instruction in hooked rugs, needlepoint, basketry, wood carving, etching, block printing, batik and leather work. The handicraft course offers an opportunity to make pretty Christmas gifts.

Members of the Y.W.C.A. staff will be glad to talk over your interests and help you plan a helpful, worth-while program for the winter.

GIRLS' CONFERENCE:

Plans are being made for the annual conference to be held at Stoney Lake, October 15 and 16.

"Y" MAGAZINE:

A free copy of our "Y" magazine may be had at the office.

GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATED BY GEORGE STREET SOCIETY

W. M. S. Has Been Organized and Doing Good Work For 50 Years.

HISTORY OF SOCIETY.

Sunday was a very special day in the annals of George Street United Church, when the W.M.S. celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of the organization of the society in this city. In 1880 the first Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church in Canada was organized in Hamilton, and two years later the George Street Auxiliary was instituted. The earliest history of the society is not available, but it is recorded that in 1887 Mrs. Dixon became president, followed five years later by Mrs. James Kendry, who filled the office for 25 years, during which time a Baby Band, a Mission Band and Mission Circle were formed. Later the Circle dissolved itself in a Young Ladies' Auxiliary, now known as the Evening Auxiliary, and is open to those of all ages. In 1926 a new Circle was formed, with Mrs. W. H. Morton as leader, and during the last year the C.G.I.T. has become affiliated, thus making a place for missionary work among all the women and girls of the church.

Upon the retirement of Mrs. Kendry from the office of president in 1917, Mrs. A. J. Thomas was elected to that office, and two years later Mrs. S. R. Armstrong took the chair. Mrs. Armstrong was succeeded in 1926 by Mrs. E. W. Coon, who held the position until the end of last year when Mrs. Armstrong was re-elected and is assisted by a most efficient staff of officers. Since 1924 the Women's Auxiliary has been divided in groups which have assumed the responsibility of raising four-fifths of the allocation of $1000 per year, the rest being provided by thankoffering fees and donations, etc., and the full amount has been obtained annually.

According to the last report the membership of the Auxiliary was 148, of which 37 are life members; the Evening Auxiliary, 16; the Twilight Mission Circle, 23, and the Fidelis Mission Band, 72, making a total of 259 connected directly with the work. Last year $1,533.99 was contributed to the work of the Women's Missionary Society to be used especially for the help of the women and children in Canada, Africa, Central India, China, Formosa, Korea, Trinidad and Japan. There are 63 engaged helpers in home missions and 106 in foreign missions.

Sunday's Service.

Sunday's service was a fitting tribute to this great work which was begun fifty years ago, when a very large number of workers from all divisions met in the Sunday school auditorium and marched in a body to the church, occupying all the central pews. Associated with Rev. J. E. J. Millyard in the pulpit was the president, Mrs. S. R. Armstrong and Mrs. G. R. Carscallen of Whitby Ladies' College.

Mrs. Carscallen, who has spent several years doing missionary work in China, was listened to with rapt attention, as she delivered a stirring message, taking her text from Peter's words at the gate of the temple. "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I thee: in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk."

The speaker referred to the many slogans formed from W.M.S. as, We must sacrifice, We must serve, We must study, We must share, taking the last as the special theme of her address. "The thought naturally comes to our mind, what must we share? What have we to share?

"First, our money—I would not like to think money the most important thing we can share, but only through it can most of us share in the work of the missionaries in foreign land. Secondly, we can share our religious experience. Peter knew this when he said, 'Such as I have give I thee.' Why do we come back to certain Psalms, Proverbs and chapters of the Bible so often? To receive comfort and peace through the religious experience of these passages of Scripture. The world is hungering for such experience today. Can we not share it with them? The W.M.S. was formed so that the women of our Church might especially take part in this work of sharing their religious experience with those who have not our opportunities. It is a great philosophical law that what we share we save. It is the utmost step in human life. If sharing is more than money, how important is sharing intangible things of the spirit. One of the qualities of sharing is to share abundantly, and one of the necessary requisites is the gift of imagination, to put yourself in the place of another, the power of looking behind an experience to see how it feels. For instance, to be able to put yourself in the place of a woman of India. This quality of imagination is needed in our home life, our hospitality, our ability to understand. We need it in our international life, our political life, our financial life, and our religious life. Think of some of the headlines of the press recently: Exchange, Sharing, Hands across the World. If sharing is needed in politicals for the sake of finance; If needed in commercial life for the sake of prosperity, is it not particularly needed in religious life today? We must get in the frame of mind by prayer and study. Interest is greatly a matter of knowing. From this day let us take this slogan, 'Pray, study, give and ask ourselves with whom should we share.' We have a story to tell to the nations, particularly to the womanhood of other nations, and wherever personality is being submerged. In Canada we have many lonesome, unemployed, discouraged women hungering for help and friendship. Can we not share with them our social and intellectual life as well as our money? This is a question every member of the W.M.S. should ask herself. The missionares are sharing, and this is the secret of their power. The whole Christian life can be summed up in two words, Christ and Sharing.

The music was of a special order, with a duet by Mrs. J. B. Nelson and Miss Pearl Carruthers, "Sweet Hour of Prayer." A ladies' quartette, composed of Miss Dorothy Sager, Mrs. S. Wildman, Miss E. McKay and Miss E. Robinson, and an anthem by the choir, "Christians Awake, the Morn," with solo and duet parts taken by Miss Sager and Edwin Rowe.

The evening service took the form of a young people's rally with Rev. J. E. J. Millyard preaching from his text from Proverbs, 9th chapters, 1st verse: "Wisdom hath builded her house, she hath hewn out her seven pillars," taking this text to speak to the young people of the seven pillars which they should incorporate in the structure of life: 1st, Health—If you want to make good you will need a strong, healthy body. 2nd, Knowledge—As knowledge is the key to power. 3rd, Pillar of Ambition—Every young man and young woman will cherish high ideals who has aspirations for high things. 4th, Pillar of Industry—Work is the plan of God's wisdom for every human being. Find something to do if not for remuneration for your own sake as well as for the sake of society. 5th, Pillar of Honesty—This was one of the outstanding pillars in the life of Jesus. He spoke the truth clearly and fearlessly. We are living in an age when there is an appalling lack of honesty and dishonesty; it has put the world where it is today. 6th, Pillar of Philanthropy (Love of Fellow Man)—Let us live not for self alone but to help others. 7th, Pillar of Religion—Young people incorporate this pillar in your structure of life. The inward and outward experience of regeneration, the recognition of the Bible and the power of prayer.

WORKING MODEL OF HOLY LAND WORTH SEEING

Ganci Brothers' Exhibit Will Remain Two More Weeks.

AT CURLING RINK.

Depicts Biblical Scenes of Holy Land in Life of Christ.

The working model of the Holy Land which has been attracting so much favorable comment since its arrival here, will remain at the Curling Rink on Charlotte street, where it is installed, for another two weeks, thus giving more people the opportunity to see something distinctly novel and unique.

This model, which covers a large section of the floor space at the rink, took eleven years to complete and is the work of the Ganci Brothers, former residents of Edmonton, Alberta, and natives of Detroit. It has been sold to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, D.C. and will shortly be installed at the museum there, where it will remain in perpetuity.

The model works out in fine detail the story of the life of Christ. The hills and valleys, and the figures and mechanical appliances, such as water-wheels, the vineyards and trees and flowers, of Palestine, are reproduced on a miniature scale, and the little figures are animated by electricity, going through motions descriptive of their various tasks. The Crucifician scene on Calvary is a notable example of the marvellous nature of this exhibit, as well as the animated figures and animals of the nativity scene at Bethlehem, and other famous Biblical episodes.

JOHNSON MOTOR COMPANY ADDS NEW INDUSTRY

Start the Manufacture of Vacu-Draft in Offseason Months.

SHIPMENTS READY.

No Increase in Staff But There Will Be More Steady Employment.

The Canadian Johnson Motor Company has recently acquired the sole patent rights for the manufacture and sale of the Vacu-Draft steam, hot water or warm-air furnace equipment, formerly made by Vacu-Draft Limited, Toronto.

Shipment was made to Belleville this week of the first Vacu-Draft to be manufactured in this city, and with it was inaugurated another industry subsidiary to the manufacture of Johnson outboard motors and boats, which will insure virtual year-round employment for the workers at present on the company's payroll.

Hugh M. Campbell, general manager Canadian Johnson Motor Company was enthusiastic this morning as to the future prospects of this new industry here. For two years, he said, his firm had been looking for some outlet that would enable them to operate the plant here in the off-season months.

"We had considered the manufacture of oil burners, blowers and in fact almost everything connected with heating. Our survey was most thorough and in deciding to take over the manufacturing and sales rights and also the equipment from Vacu-Draft Limited Toronto, we did so after having come to the conclusion that Vacu-Draft is the only thing. It has so many advantages over the blower" he said.

Mr. Campbell hastened to point out that at present entry into this new field of industry by Johnson Motors would not mean any increase in the payroll. It would, he explained, take care of all those at present in the employment of the company, who would otherwise now be entering upon the off-season so far as the manufacture of outboard motors and boats was concerned.

Vacu-Draft, it is claimed, is the only equipment of its kind on the market, and since it was first manufactured in Toronto two years ago it has met with remarkable success. In taking over the patent rights the Canadian Johnson Motor Company will manufacture Vacu-Draft at the local plant for the Canadian trade exclusively and will also conduct the sales and national advertising through the Peterborough office.

Another local industry will receive benefit from the new venture, in so much as all the electric motors used in the Vacu-Draft are to be obtained through the Canadian General Electric Company, it is learned. The unit weighs forty pounds and is powered with a fifteen h.p. electric motor.

Miller Powell and Company are local agents for Vacu-Draft and it is understood that they already have a stock on hand.

An interesting sidelight was revealed by Mr. Campbell, who explained that before deciding to undertake the manufacture of Vacu-Draft over one hundred users of the equipment in Toronto were interviewed by him. Without exception it was agreed that Vacu-Draft was the finest installation of its kind, and the most outstanding development in coal-burning equipment on the market to-day.

Among the satisfied users of the equipment in Toronto are: University of Toronto, City of Toronto, Liquor Control Board of Ontario, Bank of Montreal; Bell Telephone Company and Victoria College, etc.

Through its principle of "suction" Vacu-Draft has the action of a powerful vacuum cleaner on the furnace. Dust and fine ashes, it is claimed, cannot escape into the house, no matter how leaky a furnace may be. In warm-air furnaces Vacu-Draft prevents the escape of ashes and dust from the heating chamber to war-air ducts and through the registers to the various rooms, settling on rugs, curtains and fine decorations.

It creates draft in the natural way, by drawing air through the furnace or boiler, drawing dangerous goal gases completely out of the entire heating system. The claim is also made for Vacu-Draft that it is a remarkable fuel saver.

IN MEMORIAM.

MOWRY. — In loving memory of our darling son, Eddie, who passed away October 1st, 1931.

There the buds from earth transplanted,
For our coming, watch and wait—
In the upper gardens growing,
Just within the pearly gate.

Though our hearts may break with sorrow,
By grief so hard to bear,
We shall meet some bright morning
In the upper garden there.

—Affectionately remembered by his Parents and Brothers.

Missing Fishermen Return Home Safe

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., October 3 (C. P.). — Six fishing boats with 19 men, missing from Burnt Point since Friday night, are safe at their home port, it was learned to-day.

They turned up at Bay de Verde on Saturday evening, and later continued to Burnt Point, farther south along Conception Bay. The fishermen set on on Friday, before a storm broke, and failed to return that night.
